The McClellan Construction Company of Wichita Falls was awarded a contract by the State Highway Department at Austin Monday for the construction of the grade and drainage structures on seven and one-half miles from Crowell north to Pease River on Highway No. 16.

C. H. McClellan of this company is well known here, having completed work on the grade and drainage structures from Crowell to the Wilbarger County line on Highway 28 in 1929. His partner, W. S. He stated that he would be ready to start his work as soon as a work order was received from the Highway Department. It is expected that bridge and culvert work will be started by Nov. 1, according to B. K. Garrett, resident engineer for the Department.

Between 60 and 70 Foard County men will be given employment on this new project. A thirty-hour week will be the maximum for unskilled labor and the minimum wage will be fifty-five cents per hour. For skilled labor the maximum week will be 48 hours and the minimum wage will be 45c per hour. The contract calls for completion of the project in 140 working days after the work order is issued.

A contract will be let on Oct. 23 for the grade and drainage structures on Highway 16 from Benjamin to the Haskell County line.

Mrs. Mullins, whose maiden name was Harriett Catherine Gilley, was born on Nov. 9, 1849, in Georgia. At an early age she moved with her parents to Woodbury, Tenn., where at the age of 18 she was married to George Richey, to which union one son, Jim Richey, now of Gould, Okla., was born.

In 1874 she was married to J. C. Mullins and to this union six children were born, three of whom died in infancy. The others are Mrs. Julia O'Neal of Fort Sumner, N. M., Noel Mullins of Childress, and C. D. Mullins of Crowell. Besides these, there are 21 grandchildren and 28 great-grandchildren who survive.

FOARD HORSES SUFFER FROM NEW DISEASE

Several cases of "sleeping sickness" (encephalomyelitis) has been reported among the horses of Foard County, according to reports which have been coming to Fred Rennels, county agent.

This disease, which causes a partial paralysis of horses and which resembles what have been known as "blind staggers," is prevalent in several counties on the plains, according to Dr. J. C. Crabb, State veterinarian, who called at Mr. Rennels' office last Saturday.

There is no medical treatment that can be recommended as thoroughly efficient, however, as soon as horses become affected they should be isolated from other horses and given plenty of good clean drinking water. Light feeds should also be kept before affected horses at all times.

In case the disease advances to a stage where the horse is in a delirious state, he should be placed in some sort of a stallion, where he is unable to injure himself. Dr. Crabb reports that about fifty per cent of the cases will recover without treatment.

The Livestock Commission is making experiments by injecting Botulinus Antitoxin into affected animals as a treatment and also using the same remedy for a prevention of the disease in well animals, however, no definite reports of its success can be announced at this time.

It seems that the disease is carried by mosquitoes and flies. Authorities state that attacks should subside with the coming of cold weather.

BUSY SPECIAL SESSION ENDED BY LAWMAKERS

The 30-day special session of the Texas Legislature, which adjourned last Friday night, was one of the busiest sessions in recent years, according to a letter to The News from George Moffett of Chillicothe, representative from this district.

Although the Legislature passed more than the usual number of bills for a special session, yet no new taxes were levied upon the people of Texas. A few new tax bills were introduced, but the members of the Legislature were not in any humor to impose additional tax burdens upon the people, Mr. Moffett wrote.

Among the important bills which the Legislature passed both branches of the Legislature, part of which have already been signed by the governor, are as follows:

- 1. Providing for the issuance of

TEXAS COMPANY WELL ATTRACTS MUCH INTEREST

The importance with which the Texas Company's L. K. Johnson No. 3 oil well, west of Crowell, is being considered in oil centers, was shown in the Wichita Daily Times last Sunday, when the accompanying map appeared on the front page of the Sunday's edition together with an article under a headline entirely across the top of the front page.

Jimmie Maxwell, one of the most prominent oil editors in the Southwest and author of the article, said in part:

"The completion of the big producer by the Texas Company of the Les K. Johnson ranch west of Crowell in Foard County is regarded by oil men and others as the most important happening in North Texas oil circles since the bringing in of the Fowler well at Burk Burnett in the hectic days of 1918-19.

"The bringing in of this 2,500-barrel producer, which was the means of uncovering a new deep lime formation in this portion of Texas, is expected to and may have a far reaching effect on the deeper exploitation of the different counties bordering on Foard in an effort to pick up this prolific formation."

After writing a long history of this test and oil development in this section, Mr. Maxwell concluded with the following paragraph:

"The inception of the well in this absolute wildcat section of the state was the factor in the closing of several acreage deals and with the return to a prosperous condition in the oil industry to a point where the drilling of the deeper areas became a profitable venture, Foard County may be the scene of one of the largest drilling campaigns in northern Texas."

This well is about 18 miles west of Crowell by air line. Besides being a heavy oil producer, it is one of the largest gas wells in Texas. It is capable of producing 106,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily from four different sands. The present depth is 3,577 feet.

The daily allowable for this well has been set at 968 barrels by the Texas Railroad Commission. This production is being transported to the main Gulf pipeline through a 4-inch line recently completed by the Texas Company.

In order to be prepared for future developments, The Texas Co. is now having a large dam built about 3 miles northeast of this well, which when completed will result in a lake covering 50 to 60 acres.

Officials report that no further development of the Foard County properties is planned at this time, however, with the approval of the planning and co-ordinating committee, another well will be drilled about 2,000 feet northwest of the present producer.

FOARD HAS 165 WHEAT MEN IN GOV'T. PLAN

Foard County's wheat acreage reduction campaign closed Monday night with a total of 165 farmers signing contracts, totaling 30,024 acres with an average production of 474,579 bushels.

Foard's average annual five-year acreage in wheat is 34,000 acres with an average annual production of 434,000 bushels. The county allotment amounts to 234,000 bushels. According to the committees which are working at the wheat sign-up the averages turned in are in line with the allotments given by the Wheat Adjustment Administration.

Ninety per cent of the five-year annual acreage has been secured on application for contracts.

Organization of the Wheat Association of Foard County was perfected Tuesday at which time the following officers were elected: E. V. Halbert, Foard City, chairman; Howard Williams, Thalia, vice-chairman; Hubert Brown, Crowell, secretary; and J. C. Hysinger, Margaret, treasurer.

The Allotment Committee is working on the details of perfecting applications and every effort is being made to get them sent to Washington as early as possible.

The cash payments resulting from the acreage reduction should bring over $30,000.00 to the farmers of Foard County.

Detailed information about each farmer participating in the plan may be found on Page 3 of this issue.

MEDICAL ADVICE

If you want to... keep the bowel action regular and comfortable... make constipated spells as rare as colds... avoid danger of bowel strain... use a liquid laxative

Can constipation be overcome? 'Yes' say medical men. 'Yes' declare thousands who have followed their advice and know.

The right liquid laxative will bring a perfect movement, with no discomfort at the time, or afterward.

The wrong cathartic may keep you constipated as long as you keep on using it!

Why Hospitals use a liquid laxative The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can be controlled. It forms no habit; you need not take a 'double dose' a day or two later. Will not irritate kidneys.

Its very taste tells you syrup pepsin is wholesome. A delightful taste, and delightful action. Safe for expectant mothers, and children. Drugstores have it ready for use, in big bottles.

WEST TEXAS UTILITIES COMPANY

This chart is based on figures from the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics and national electric rate figures. The rate curve of the West Texas Utilities Company follows a more sharply descending slope to a point 32% below the normal level, which is 10% lower than the national average rate reduction shown above.

Your Average Electric Rate Is 85% Below Other Living Costs!

Complete electric service is the most reasonable item of expense in your family budget. It is the only item that has consistently been improved in quality and lowered in cost. Today it is 85% below other items of family expense... and still going down!

During the past ten years your average electric rate has been reduced more than 53%—while in spite of two years of rapidly lowering prices other items entering into the family budget still remain 32.5% ABOVE THE NORMAL LEVEL!

Just think of it! The 1932 dollar spent for general living expenses bought only 26% more than the 1922 dollar (according to the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics), while it bought from the West Texas Utilities Company 115% more residential electric service than the 1922 dollar!

This is a remarkable record! In spite of constantly increasing costs of government, the West Texas Utilities Company has effected economies which have given you the benefit of rate reductions amounting to more than 53%! And now, with commodity prices again following a sharply ascending curve, today's electric rates are even farther below general commodity prices than shown in the above chart.

Your dollar spent for electric service lays you more in real value—and more in comparison with that same dollar spent for other service or commodities—than any money you spend.

WHISPERING ROCK

by JOHN LEBAR

Eleventh installment

SYNOPSIS: . . . Ruth Warren, living in the East, comes into possession of three-quarter interest in an Arizona ranch, left to her in the will of her only business partner. She has died on her husband and small child she goes to Arizona to take possession. Ruth thinking the climate may prove beneficial to her husband's weakened lungs. Arriving at the nearest town, she learns that the ranch, "Dead Lantern", is 85 miles across the desert. Charley Thane, old rancher and rural mail carrier, offers to take them to "Dead Lantern" gate, which was 5 miles from the ranch house. As they wearily walked past a huge overhanging rock in a gulch in coming to the ranch house, a voice whispered "Go back! Go back!" At the ranch house they are greeted suspiciously by the rancher partner, Snavelly and Indian Ann, a herculean woman of mixed negro and indian blood. Snavelly is difficult to understand but regardless, Ruth takes up the task of trying to adjust their three lives to the ranch and its development. Kenneth, Ruth's husband, caught in chilling rain contracts pneumonia and passes away before a doctor arrives. Ruth tries to carry on. She is not encouraged by Snavelly in plans to try and stock the ranch or improve it. She writes to her father in the East asking a loan with which to buy some cattle. She receives no reply. Will Thane comes home to visit his father . . . and Ruth meets him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

An hour—two hours, Ruth cowered by David's crib with her eyes on the door. She had been telling him stories, breathless, incoherent stories. Now he was asleep and she could watch the door unhindered.

She had placed the trunk against the door and she watched the streak of muddy water reach its top, puddle and run along between the slats and drip. She had long before, with her husband, fixed the loops securely in the walls and the bar was now in place.

Something struck the door heavily; little drops of water showered in the air. The knob rattled and Ruth raised the heavy gun. A momentary hush let her hear the squeel of receding feet, then quick running steps, and the door crashed inward, pushing the trunk before it. The lamp went out. Ruth stood before her baby's crib, the gun held in both hands. Ann filled the doorway, the continuous lightning played upon them weirdly. Ann's hair almost covered her face; sparkling water dripped from the straight black locks. Neither woman moved. The figure towering in the doorway muttered—chantlike guttural words which seemed a part of the storm. The silence for a moment, before the giantess crouched low and came forward.

Ruth pulled the trigger—with both hands she pulled frantically, and remembered when the gun was knocked from her hand that she hadn't done something—cocked the hammer, she thought. Thereafter she thought no more; she became a thing of pure instinct, a furious mother animal fighting a black monster that had broken into her den. They crashed against the crib and David called out; once they tripped and for a moment separated but as soon as she could find her enemy again, the mother sprang. She was gripped in a crushing embrace which lifted her from her feet. The girl became a scratching, kicking, writhing demon—every atom of her body struggling with a blind ferocity which would not be quelled. Her fingers, talon-spread, searched for the eyes of the giantess and her teeth bit into a boneless muscle. Suddenly she was flung bodily. Her limbs tingled numbly and for a moment she could not move. It was during this moment that, by a quivering flash of lightning, Ruth saw a dark, jagged crack running from the upper corner of the window to the ceiling. Without thinking, she knew what that crack meant, and heedless of Ann, she started through the sudden darkness to the crib where David lay huddled. The mother stumbled and as she was trying to rise to her feet, the lightning came again. Ruth screamed, lightning shone like a livid snake through the jagged crack. The snake squirmed its way along the top of the wall above the crib and reached the door. Slowly the earthen wall swayed inward, broke into great, ragged chunks and fell. The stout timbers of the crib creaked under the weight of a slab and all was blackness, grinding earth, and pelting rain.

A sheet of blinding light filled the sky. Ruth saw Ann a few feet away, half sitting, half kneeling, a chunk of adobe propped against her. The next lightning flashed the stupid stupid, stunned. The mother screamed at her, "David—my baby!" When next the lightning flashed the stupid face had not changed its expression, but Ann was looking at her. Again the girl screamed. The next flash showed Ann scrambling to her feet and from the quick-thrown blanket of blackness thundered a great, sobbing voice: "My baby!"

Ruth felt Ann beside her, big hands fumbled over her own, a great shoulder edged itself under the end of the fragment. When light came again the giantess was holding up the slab and inside the crib David lay wide-eyed and gasping.

Mingled with the memory of two small arms around her neck, there stood out in Ruth's mind the picture of a livid, tortured face, matted with straight black hair.

This memory seemed to have been with her for a long time—since last month or last year or perhaps in last night's dream. Now she was quite comfortable—she had always liked to be rocked, especially when the chair squeaked at every rock like this one. It was strange, she thought, for a little girl who liked to be rocked to have a memory of a great, straining face with matted hair. . . . No, it wasn't proper, somehow, to be rocked to sleep with one's mother crooning that old colored people's song, and at the same time keep feeling those little arms and seeing that terrible face which oddly enough was a lovely, welcome face. Ruth opened her eyes. Everything swirled about confusingly. Then slowly, taking one thought, one thing at a time, she knew where she was. She was in the sitting room of the Dead Lantern ranch house; David lay asleep on a pile of comforts before the grate fire; the clock on the mantel said five minutes to four. She was being rocked and at every swing forward she was being patted gently. She turned her head and looked into the face of Indian Ann. The face smiled sadly. "Lie asleep honey, lie asleep."

"Ann, I'm awake now."

"Hush, little white girl, lie asleep, lie asleep."

Ruth put up one arm and drew Ann's tear-stained cheek down against her own. It was half an hour before Ruth spoke again. "It's all past, Ann, and I'm hungry—I think."

Reluctantly the giantess placed the girl beside the sleeping child and went into the kitchen. Minutes passed and Ruth became aware that Ann was not moving about in the next room. Painfully, she stood up. In the kitchen Ann was sitting on the woodbox, her big hands over her face. The girl went to her. "Please don't Ann—it's all past—please, Ann dear."

Ruth stood in silence, her arms drawing close against her. After a time she said, "Come on—let's get some coffee. I'll make the fire."

A moment later Ann was making the fire and Ruth stood at the sink, measuring out the coffee. "Ann," she asked, "why did it happen?"

Ann shook her head. "Did the voice tell you to drink and did it tell you to come back to the rock at six o'clock and then when you didn't know what you were doing, did it tell you to—kill—"

Ann nodded and two great tears welled from her eyes. "Ann, why must you obey the voice?"

The Indian woman spoke, her eyes fixed through the window where the eastern sky was faintly tinted. "I don't know why I must—it is the fear"—she touched her breast—"it pulls an' I go."

"But what is the voice?"

"I don't know—different things." Ann's voice dragged slowly, tonelessly. "It's the ol' medicine man who was with my mother's people—he have the power over all his people an' the blood of his people—he have power on my blood which is the blood of them people."

"But that old medicine man must be dead long ago."

"That is why he speak so close 'thout our seein'—his body is no more in th' wavy."

"Ann," said the girl, rising and reaching her hand up to the great shoulder, "when you cried out you said, 'My baby'—have you a baby?"

She nodded. "It seemed to me it was my baby under there. I never knowed until I brought her in here—I grabbed her away from you—I brought her in here an' built the fire an' put her down. Then I seen she was white—David. Afterwhile I went out an' found you."

"Your baby is a girl?" asked Ruth.

"Yes."

The girl looked from the window. The ancient adobe was now a mound of earth. "Ann, how did we ever get out of there alive?"

"It didn't fall all at once—the side towards th' barn jest went down. First it was only th' wall with th' window—then jest as soon as I went back an' got you th' other parts fell."

The girl shuddered. "Ann, why did you steal my baby when I pulled David out of the crib?"

The giantess hung her head. "I didn't know how it was—I thought you was stealin' my baby whilst I was a holdin' up the wall. I hit you an' took th' baby. When I seen it was David, I went back an' got you."

The giantess smiled sadly and her huge arm went round the girl's waist. "You feisty little ol' wil' cat!" Then her face was filled with despair. "I ought to be kilt dead."

"Ann, I'm so happy! I've always been afraid of this place and of you and of—of him. But now! With you on my side—why I can do anything! We'll stand together and we'll go ahead and make this the biggest ranch in the world for you and me and David. I'm bound to win now, Ann!"

The huge woman spoke hastily. "You tell Mr. Snavelly that you done come in th' house before th' 'dobe fell an' stayed with me—doan say nothin' 'bout th' voice talking nor th' fight nor nothin'—I got to—I got to—"

Ann did not finish but turned and left the kitchen, crossed the back porch and entered her room.

For a moment Ruth was too surprised to move, then she ran to Ann's door. "Ann," she called, "oh, Ann!" There was no response, but Ruth thought she heard a slight movement just beyond the door. "Ann, please answer me one thing; have I done anything, are you angry with me?"

Ruth waited before the silent door, then a muffled voice cried out, "No, Miss Ruth, no! 'Fore Gawd, I loves you!"

The key turned in the lock and there came a sound of heavy footsteps moving away from the door.

A few hours later the two women

Search as she might, Ruth could not find the big revolver which Old Charley had given her; it was hopelessly buried.

Snavelly returned about noon and without any Mexicans. He gave as the reason, that no one in the little border town wanted to come very badly, and then, as he was spending the evening trying to persuade an old man and his son, the storm began. Snavelly knew that the heavy rain would make work on the ponds impossible. After they dried up again he'd get the Mexicans. Ruth was heartbroken—if only the work had been attended to before this rain, there would be water enough for a year. But Snavelly reminded her that the rain must have completely filled the deep pond in the south pasture, and that often held the best part of a year. There was no sense in getting any Mexicans at all now.

He made little comment on the collapse of the old adobe. Ruth and David would have to live in the commissary rooms.

AN HONOR FOR ALL

The News has received numerous congratulations and compliments since the announcement was made that this newspaper won second place in its class for "general excellence" in the newspaper contest conducted by the State Fair of Texas.

Naturally we appreciate the credit given us in this connection, however, we wish to add that the compliments that we have received have automatically been compliments to Crowell business men, whose ads have made the existence of a creditable newspaper here possible, and to all others who have in any way contributed to whatever success we have attained.

After all, the newspaper may be privately owned, yet it takes a place along with the church and the school as a community institution. While its advertising and editorial space belong to the publisher, its news columns are the property of the public it serves.

As the community mirror or mouthpiece, one usually finds a good newspaper in a good community and a poor newspaper in a poor community, therefore we feel that Crowell and Foard County, as well as The Foard County News, were honored at the State Fair and that a number of those who have congratulated us have patting themselves on the back in an indirect manner.

This applied only to State and County taxes now delinquent.

A number of other bills were passed, however, the above are the most important ones. "The anti-trust laws were changed but very little and I believe that it is a good thing for the people of Texas that they were not changed any more," Mr. Moffett stated.

Mr. Moffett wrote that he had received many letters from all over the district and that he was very glad to get them. He has returned to Chillicothe.

Enjoyable Home-coming At M. E. Church Sun.

The reunion and home-coming, which was held at the Methodist Church last Sunday was an enjoyable and memorable day for those who attended.

Rev. J. H. Hamblen of Sweetwater, who was pastor of this church when the building was erected, was present and delivered an uplifting, encouraging sermon at the 11 o'clock hour.

At 12:30 a sumptuous dinner was spread on tables on the lawn of the church and a large crowd of members and friends partook.

A service of song and testimony was held in the afternoon. Special music by the choir at both services was enjoyed as were numbers by a male quartet and a ladies' octet.

Out-of-town visitors for the day included Rev. and Mrs. Hamblen, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Andrews of Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Hankins and Mrs. W. R. Wheat of Quanah, Mrs. Max Miller and daughter, Miss Freda, of Childress, Mr. and Mrs. Glynn Shultz and two children

CROWELL PLAYS CHILICOTHE AT QUANAH TONITE

One of the most interesting football games of the year is expected tonight when the Crowell Wildcats meet the Chillicothe Eagles "under the lights" at Quanah.

The game was originally scheduled to be played Friday afternoon at Chillicothe, however, by mutual agreement the contest was arranged to be played at Quanah on Thursday night. This will prove more convenient to a majority of the fans backing the two clubs who wish to attend this contest.

The keenest rivalry has existed between Crowell and Chillicothe in football for a number of years and games between these two towns are always very interesting and hotly contested.

Last year Crowell broke Chillicothe's undefeated record with a 21 to 14 victory in a game that was claimed by sports writers over this section of Texas as the most exciting game played in Northwest Texas last season. The year before that Crews Cooper's 65-yard return of a punt gave the Wildcats a 7 to 0 victory.

As matters now stand the two teams are even in the number of games won against each other during the past six years. Of seven games played, each squad has won three and tied one.

Coach Grady Graves reports that all members of the local squad are ready for tonight's encounter.

Reports from Chillicothe indicate that the Eagles are determined to avenge the bitter defeats handed them the past two seasons and that the Crowell game, above all others, is the one they are wanting to win this season.

and Mrs. J. H. Shultz of Davidson, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Counts Ray and two children of Breckenridge, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Norwood of Vernon, Mrs. Maggie Beatty of Wichita Falls, Mrs. R. A. Stewart and daughter, Miss Virginia, of Vernon.

MEGARGEL TEAM LOSER IN GAME WITH CROWELL

Scoring a touchdown in each quarter of the game, Crowell defeated Megargel 26 to 0 here last Friday in the first conference game of the season for both teams. Dick Todd scored three of the Wildcat's touchdowns, making two of them with runs of 44 and 75 yards. Guy Whitfield scored one of the touchdowns on a sustained drive from the 26-yard line in five attempts at the line.

First Quarter Dalton of Megargel received Todd's kick-off on the 25 and returned to his 40. Three line plays failed to gain and Woods punted out-of-bounds on Crowell's 30. Horn gained 4 yards and the lost the same on a fumble. Todd failed to gain at right end, but the ball was called back and Megargel penalized 5 yards for offside. Moore dropped Todd for a 5-yard loss on the next play.

Megargel Threatens Meade took Todd's punt on his own 30 and returned 8 yards. Dalton and Meade gained 6 yards and Dalton followed with the initial first down of the game to place the ball on the 50. Lovelady downed Dunnam for a 2-yard loss. Dalton also lost 2 yards when tackled by Dunn. On the next play Dalton threw a long pass to Meade, who was stopped on Crowell's 21. Dalton fell and lost 3 yards. Dunn broke through to knock down a pass. Dalton gained 2 yards and then passed over the goal line.

Crowell Gets Started Taking the ball on their 25-yard line, Crowell started a touchdown drive that was not stopped. Horn gained 2 yards. Todd circled right end for 20 yards. Horn gained a yard. Gibson dropped Todd's pass. Todd went around left end for 9 yards and then smashed through center for 44 yards and a touchdown. Horn went through right tackle for the extra point and the score was 7 to 0.

Dalton again took Todd's kick-off on his 25, returning to the 38. Three line plays took the ball to the Megargel 48 just as the first quarter ended.

Second Quarter Meade made a first down to the 49. Making only short gains, Moore killed Wood's punt on Crowell's 14. After an exchange of punts Crowell took the ball on Megargel's 42. A pass, McKown to Todd, gained 9 yards. Horn and Todd carried the ball to the 14, from which Todd passed to Gafford, placing the ball on the 6. Todd gained a yard and then made a long run around left end for a touchdown. His place kick for extra point was blocked, making the score 13 to 0.

Todd's punt was taken on the 27 by Kunkel, who returned 4 yards. Meade gained 3 yards as the first half ended. Score: Crowell 13, Megargel 0.

Last Half McKown returned Dunnam's kick-off from the 30 to the 39. After Whitfield, Horn and Todd carried the ball to the Megargel 48, the visitors held the Wildcats for downs and took the ball on the 50 when a lateral pass, McKown to Todd, lost 2 yards.

A few plays later Crowell started another touchdown drive when Todd intercepted a pass, returning it 17 yards to the Megargel 37. A pass failed. Horn gained 5 yards. Todd added 6 more. Whitfield picked up 3 and then Todd took the ball to the 19 on a 4-yard gain. Whitfield carried the ball on the next 4 consecutive plays, gaining 6 yards, 7 yards, 4 yards and finally going through center for two yards and a touchdown. Todd circled right end for a touchdown, making the score 20 to 0.

Lovern took Todd's kick-off on his 23 and returned to the 36. After taking Woods' punt, Horn and Todd advanced the ball to the Megargel 46, where the visitors again held Crowell for downs and Megargel had the ball on their own 44 as the third quarter ended.

Fourth Quarter Another long pass, Dalton to Meade, was completed to Crowell's 25-yard line. Lovern lost yard. Dalton's pass was incomplete. Lovern gained a yard. Gibson knocked down Dalton's pass on the 4th down and Crowell took the ball on the 30 after the assessment of a 5-yard penalty for second incomplete pass.

The rest of the quarter settled down to only short gains by both teams and a punting duel between Todd and Dunnam. Late in the game Todd received a punt on his own 25-yard line and then with one of the most sensational runs ever seen on a local field, he raced through the entire Megargel team for 75 yards and a touchdown. Horn failed at the line for the extra point and the score was 26 to 0.

Todd's kick-off went only to the 30 and was returned by Kunkel to the 40. Gafford dropped Lovern for a yard loss. A punt was killed on Crowell's 25. Barker gained 3 yards and then lateral to Todd for 2. Todd's quick kick was fumbled by Megargel and Bill Dunagan recovered for Crowell on Megargel's 35-yard line as the game ended. Score: Crowell 26, Megargel 0.

NRA A Statement of Fact! ABOUT RELATIVE PRICES ON GOODS WE SELL NOW, two years ago and 23 years ago, before the abnormal high WARTIME PRICES PREVAILED HERE IT IS! People have to be frequently reminded about happenings and events, even about the weather conditions, etc. Then, it is but natural for them to forget PRICES a year or two back, and especially 20 years back. Therefore, we want to talk to our friends frankly about FURNITURE PRICES now, two or three years ago, and even 23 years ago. BECAUSE people complain about PRESENT HIGH PRICES, when, if they would just look around in their homes and check up on what they paid for most any article, two or three years ago, they will find they paid much higher prices for it than they can buy it or even a better article for TODAY—right now. BUT, today's prices are much higher than they were last Fall or even June 1st this year. But people, you must remember, banks were closing, corporations of the largest organizations were going into bankruptcy, merchants were being closed out, rich real estate firms were bankrupt. Factories closing, those that were running, losing money and selling below actual cost, fighting their competitors and selling at a loss. The people that had money and bought gained this loss. Those that did not have the money to buy failed to GAIN by the CRIPPLED MANUFACTURER. It is all stopped now. The Government, through NRA, stepped in and said that more men must be put to work, and that any factory trying to operate MUST make a profit or quit. Consequently all manufacturers are operating on a profit now. Goods made have the profit in them when the retailer buys them. He can do nothing but mark his goods up as he buys, and now prevailing prices on everything bought since July First, 1933, carries this advance. EXAMPLE: A bed room suite, living room suite, or a rug or anything bought two years ago, retail price at $50.00, $75.00 or $125.00 could be bought, all you could pay for, last fall at $35.00, $50.00 to $75.00 or $80.00. (Lowest prices since 1910.) Today you can buy bed room suites, good ones, for $55.00 to $100.00. Living room suites against two years ago, $10.50 to $12.50. All other goods in proportion. No one anywhere has furniture, mattresses, shades, rugs, wall paper, in same quality cheaper than we do, for we bought at the lowest prices without any advance on a THAT WILL ENABLE US TO REPLACE THE ARTICLE SOLD UNTIL THE ENTIRE CAR OF GOODS IS SOLD OUT. THEN WE WILL SELL ON MARKET PRICES. TRY US. WOMACK BROS.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Take Lead In District 4 Race
 Seymour, Olney and Crowell stood out as the outstanding teams in District 4-B following the first week of conference play. Scoring one lucky touchdown the district champions for the past 5 years, Olney, beat Chillicothe 18 to 0 in the district head-liner at Olney. Chillicothe was headed for a touchdown after completing six consecutive passes just as the game ended.
 The Seymour Panthers, for some time regarded as one of the outstanding district threats, strengthened this opinion in trouncing Burk Burnett 33 to 0 at Seymour.
 In the third conference game Crowell downed Megargel 24 to 0, thus the three conference leaders held their opponents scoreless in their initial contests.
 Archer City, playing a non-conference game, beat Newcastle 18 to 13.

 Mrs. Steele graduated the ads and pictures in the form of steps, together with the following wording, appropriately balanced: "These merchants are Taking Steps for the Welfare of Foard County—It Will Pay to Step Around and See Their Bargains."
 Lewis Calvin's entry was one of the very neatest and earliest submitted. It was in practically the same form as it appears in The News this week. The pictures were so perfectly cut and pasted that the solution very closely resembled regular press work.
 In connection with her entry, Miss Lona Johnson had the following comment: "The moral of this contest—briefly analyzed, 'Is—these merchants should be patronized.'"
 Mrs. Cravey, in referring to the contest, wrote: "An excellent way to learn the names and faces 'Of those who operate the best of Crowell's business places.'"
 Mrs. Luther Tamplin had the merchants grouped in a clever and attractive manner, together with appropriate remarks.
 A number of other novel ideas were introduced by the contestants. The News wishes to express its sincerest thanks for all interest shown in this event.

Methodist Church

The home coming last Sunday brought a large crowd of local people and a goodly number of those who had moved to Quanah, Childress, Vernon and other places. The sermon by Brother J. H. Hamblen brought a wonderful response in resolutions of consecration which were manifested by shaking hands at the chancel of the church. There were not many dry eyes in the house and our brotherhood was greatly strengthened. Let us not forget our resolutions of loyalty but come to the services of Sunday School, League, World Club and worship Sunday. Evening worship has been set at 7 o'clock since the shorter days are here. Only three more Sundays remain before Conference. The pastor has received many voluntary contributions to the benevolences which are all the more appreciated because they come without personal solicitation. We cannot afford to retrench any further in these unselfish interests of the Kingdom. We must hold our schools, hospitals, missionaries, and remember the worn out preachers of other days in our offerings now that God is prospering us. George E. Turrentine, Pastor.

These women will sponsor a picnic social at the church on Saturday night, Oct. 21, and will give a Halloween program. The public is cordially invited.—Reporter.

Christian Science Churches

"Probation after Death" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Oct. 22.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "O house of Jacob, come ye, and let us walk in the light of the Lord. . . . For the day of the Lord of hosts shall be upon everyone that is proud and lofty, and upon everyone that is lifted up; and he shall be brought low; . . . and the loftiness of man shall be bowed down, and the haughtiness of men shall be made low; and the Lord shall be exalted in that day" (Isaiah 2:5, 12, 17).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Job said: 'I have heard of Thee by the hearing of the ear; but now my eye seeth Thee.' Mortals will echo Job's thought, when the supposed pain and pleasure of matter cease to predominate. They will drop the false estimate of life and happiness, of joy and sorrow, and attain the bliss of loving unselfishly, working patiently, and conquering all that is unlike God" (page 262).

Health Dept. Issues Warning In Regard To Scarlet Fever

Austin, Texas, Oct. 19—The State Department of Health has just issued a warning in regard to scarlet fever, as the number of cases usually increases during the fall months. Last year over twenty-six hundred cases were reported in Texas. The majority of deaths occur from October through February.

Scarlet fever is a very contagious and serious disease. Grown people may catch scarlet fever, but children under 15 years are most likely to have it, if exposed. It is especially dangerous for children under 5 years, and for babies. Do not let your children take any chances with scarlet fever. Call the doctor as soon as the symptoms appear.

If your child is going to have scarlet fever, the first signs you may notice are that he seems tired, restless and out of sorts. Usually, there is a sore throat, chill, vomiting or convulsion. The child has fever.

His skin is dry and hot. His tongue is furred, and, under this white covering, it is red and swollen. In ordinary cases, these early signs are followed in a day or two by a rash. Little flat red points, close together, appear first on the neck and chest. Soon the rash is over most of the body and brilliant in color.

The doctor is required by law to report the case to the local health officer. Do your part by following carefully the quarantine instructions which the health officer will give you. Children who have had scarlet fever, or who have been exposed, must not return to school until permission is given by the health officer and physician. A severe or fatal case of scarlet fever may develop from contact with some one who has only a light attack.

WHEN WILL THE WONDERS OF RADIO CEASE?

The big daily papers are carrying the news that one of the large telegraph and cable companies is now installing in their large offices in key centers short wave radio transmitters to handle the more important messages that need to be dispatched with speed. We thought telegraphy was speedy, but it is not fast enough for this "split-second age."

This move on the part of this big company seems to us to definitely open up a new and lucrative field for the youngster trained in Radio. Of course, in addition to being trained in the art of Radio, one must also have government license in order to operate a radio transmitter. This is where we specialize. We can properly train you not only to be able to send and receive radio messages, but also prepare you for the government examination for your license.

Should you be Radio minded, write us at once for our booklet, R-6, which describes our School of Radio. It tells you all about the work. Its fortunate that we have a modern up-to-date radio station here in our school for your training. Your training consists of special preparation on how to operate a transmitter under a trained licensed engineer. This is a wonderful advantage for the young men interested in Radio. Booklet R-6 is yours for the asking. Your name _____ Your Address _____

Adelphian Club Has Gentlemen's Evening

The annual gentlemen's evening of the Adelphian Club was observed in a pleasant way last Thursday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Rasor with Mrs. Rasor, Mrs. J. E. Harwell, Mrs. Fred Rennels and Miss Martha Schlagal, hostesses.

Cut flowers added to the attractiveness of the rooms and the individual tables were centered with small bouquets of marigolds.

A delectable two-course turkey dinner was served to ten tables of guests. Several hours were spent following the dinner, in games of 42.

Guests, aside from members of the club and their husbands, were Mr. and Mrs. Marion Hughston, Mr. and Mrs. I. T. Graves, Miss Barbara Cryer, Jim Minnick and Mack Boswell.

Spanish Club Met at Home of A. G. Bell

The Spanish Club of Crowell High School met last Friday evening at 7 o'clock in the home of A. G. Bell. Each member was duly initiated at this time.

Members were escorted to "El Infierno" by the "Hombre Malo" and there they received their initiation. After this, supper was served to twenty-nine students. The favorite dish was "kazanates." Following the meal a number of Spanish games were played. Mr. Black's group won over Miss Ball's in Spanish baseball, however, the highest score was made by Miss Ball herself.

The winning telegram made from S-p-a-n-i-s-h C-I-u-b, written by Loma Johnson and partner, was: "So prohibition, analyzed nuttily, is surely Henry's calamity. Love, Union Brothers."

After other games, the members returned to their homes, having spent a pleasant evening. The date for the next meeting has not yet been determined.—Reporter.

P. T. A. Meet Held Tuesday Afternoon

An interesting talk on "Living Together in the Home" was brought to the Crowell P. T. A. Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Jeff Bruce.

After the devotional led by Mrs. John Long, Mrs. C. W. Thompson and Mrs. T. B. Klepper, representing the mother singers, gave a special song with Mrs. Paul Shirley at the piano. Mrs. N. J. Roberts gave P. T. A. News and Mrs. Clyde McKown was leader.

The prize attendance plants went to Miss Schlagal's room in the primary department, Miss Cryer's room in the intermediate department and to the freshmen in the high school.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend the next meeting on Nov. 21.—Reporter.

COLUMBIAN CLUB

Mrs. T. N. Bell was hostess to the Columbian Club at her home Wednesday afternoon. The club answered to roll-call with quotations on thrift.

Mrs. O. L. Savage gave the "Federation News." Mrs. N. J. Roberts was leader of the study on "Making the Budget Work." She was assisted by Mrs. A. L. Rucker and Mrs. J. R. Self. "Texas, Our Texas" was sung in unison by the club members.

The hostess brought an innovation to the meeting, when, between the business hour and the program she served a delicious turkey dinner instead of the usual refreshment plate. Places at individual tables were designated by the hostess in clever verse. Twenty club members and Mrs. J. W. Allison and Mrs. Marie Rider, sister of the hostess, enjoyed this meeting.

On entering the room, the guests were asked to register in the bride's book. During the afternoon each guest filled out a card with her favorite recipe for the bride's cook book. Mrs. Whitten received many beautiful and useful gifts.

Birthday Dinner at B. W. Self Home Sun.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Self was the scene of a birthday celebration last Sunday in honor of Mrs. Elon Young of Breckenridge, whose 79th birthday it was. Mrs. Young is a sister of Mrs. J. W. Allison, Mrs. R. B. Edwards and Mrs. Mary Gordon and formerly resided in Crowell. She came from Breckenridge Saturday afternoon in company with her grandson, Counts Ray, and family, with whom she resides.

MARKHAM SPENCER WITH GRID SQUAD AT AUSTIN

Markham Spencer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Spencer of this city, is a member of the football squad at the Texas School for the Deaf in Austin. In the October issue of "The Lone Star," the school's official publication, Markham was listed among the promising new prospects for this year's squad. His weight was given at 131 pounds.

"The Lone Star" is not only a very interesting and excellent monthly magazine, but it also serves its object well in teaching the printing trade to some of the boys of the school and to assist in the literary work of the school activities. Markham learned considerable about the printing trade in this school.

This-That, Etc.

By Typo Wrighter

The reaction of the public in general to the picture puzzle contest conducted by this newspaper was even greater than we had expected, and we were mighty optimistic about it from the very beginning.

It is just further evidence that people like pictures—especially of people they know and hear about. For that reason The News takes advantage of every opportunity to secure cuts of those figuring in local news. We also have a weekly service furnishing latest pictures of national news interest.

How a newspaper can publish a picture is still a mystery to a majority of the people, so it seems. Knowing that we print pictures, but not knowing what is required to do it, a number of people during a year's time will bring pictures to the office for publication the next day or so.

Before a picture can be printed it must first be sent to an engraving company in some city so that it can be made into a cut. At the engraving company the picture is re-taken, passed through a series of acids and rays of light and finally after going through a great many stages of development the picture is completely transferred on metal, zinc or copper, in such a manner that when attached to a wooden block, the completed cut can then be locked in the newspaper forms along with the regular type.

Through the co-operation of local people, The News has a larger collection of cuts of Crowell and Foard County people on file than is the case with the average newspaper of this size. There are others that we would like to have and we hope to get these before long. We now have over one hundred single-column cuts of local people on file in this office. We also have a great many cuts and mats of state-wide and nationally known people on hand. A mat (short for matrix) is a picture or character on a substance resembling pasteboard. By pouring melted metal over these mats, through the use of special equipment, they result in cuts, ready for publication.

Through the use of its file of mats, The News was able to publish pictures of Mayor Anton Cermak and President-elect Roosevelt a half-day after the occurrence of the incident in which a bullet, intended for the President-elect, struck Cermak, resulting in his death. Through the same method, The News published interesting views of the "Akron" shortly after the crash of that giant dirigible, in which 73 lives were lost.

Pretty Fair Lookers

But to get back to those picture puzzle photos. While comments of every type have come thick and fast, the most unanimous one has been to the effect that after all, Crowell has a pretty good looking bunch of business people, although they may not look that way at times, especially when some of us are trying to dodge them around the first of the month.

tary of Lamesa and a former Crowellite, sends a letter with pictures of Eli Smith, John Rasor and Doc Wright attached to it. In regard to Eli, he commented: "Had I not known 'Old Man Smith' as an urchin back in the 90's, I wouldn't have believed the above to be a picture of him—or is it." And then in regard to John and Doc, he added: "Since when did Richard Dix and Robert Montgomery enter business in Crowell, or is the guy on the right (Doc) Pretty Boy Floyd?"

Incidentally we would like to hear other interesting reactions from readers living away from Crowell.

Youthful Eli

And in defense of Elmer Eli Smith. Despite all comment to the contrary, this picture was not the one used in his high school annual—and we surely ought to know, for we almost had to move Robertson's Studio over to the W. T. U. Co. before Eli consented to look at the little birdie about 3 weeks ago. Nevertheless, one contestant pasted Eli's picture in the space belonging to 19-year old Crews Cooper.

Miscellaneous

We understand that Crowell will have two pep squads over at Quanah tonight for the game with Chillicothe. Over 30 high school girls will compose one and Charlie Thompson will constitute the membership of the other.

This week's bouquet goes to Crews Cooper for his work of cleaning about 20 football jerseys for the Wildcats each week—free of charge at his shop.

And did you know that one of the big events of the year—the football game with Olney—is just two weeks away. Yes, sirc, there will be an overproduction of excitement in Wildcatown on Friday, Nov. 3.

What Others Think

A news dispatch from Olney states that the Cubs are already looking past the Dist. 4 race, for it is all in a day's work for them to win district championships and they are now concerned about their bi-district and regional games.

Any way we believe that Capt. Bill Dunn & Co. will capably answer this insult to their ability on Nov. 3.

Says the Seymour Banner: "We believe the Seymour Panthers will be the champions of Dist. 4 this year for the first time since 1927."

Says the Chillicothe Valley News: "Crowell looked decidedly weak against Quanah."

Says Typo: "The main thing needed by the Wildcats is that good old 1931 and 1932 fighting spirit and if they get that, then watch out Eagles, Cubs, Bulldogs and Panthers—you are going to lose plenty of fur and feathers before Thanksgiving."

MRS. SAPPINGTON DEAD

Mrs. Margaret Fay Sappington was found dead in the bedroom at her home at Galveston on Oct. 10, with a bullet hole through her head and a pistol by her side.

She was the widow of the Dr. H. O. Sappington, former mayor of Galveston, who died on Jan. 1 of this year. Dr. Sappington was early-day county surveyor of Foard County. He and the late Dr. Reavis surveyed the original Foard County at its organization.
