A meeting of county agents and assistants in cotton adjustment in this district was held at Childress last Friday for the purpose of receiving instructions on handling tax-exemption certificates for the crop year of 1935.

D. L. Hardy, who is connected with the Tax-Exemption Certificate Section in Washington, and O. J. Moss, head of the Certificate Section in Texas, were in charge of the meeting.

Any producer holding surplus certificates may sell any other cotton producer situated within the county where originally issued, his remaining unused certificates at the uniform price fixed by the Secretary of Agriculture. The sale of such certificates shall be approved by the appropriate assistant in cotton adjustment, whose approval shall be accorded only when an amount of money or acceptable funds equal in value to the full legal transfer price of the certificates has been paid therefor in the presence of such assistant."

Architectural Work Is Practiced Here by Joe Ben Roberts

Joe Ben Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Roberts of this city, is now putting to practical use knowledge that he gained for about two years in the study of architectural engineering at Texas Technological College, Lubbock, in 1933 and 1934.

Last week he completed plans, specifications and fifty-four blue prints as architect for improvements at the Riverside school, formerly West Rayland. These were submitted in connection with the application for a PWA loan on the project. J. Bailey Rennels, superintendent, carried the plans and application to Fort Worth PWA offices last week.

The improvement program calls for a combination gymnasium and auditorium, with two class rooms; a garage for three school buses; improvements and changes in the present building, and a new teacherage.

At the present time young Roberts is working on plans and making blue prints in connection with the PWA application that is to be made for a Crowell teacherage.

A room at Cicero Smith Lumber Co. serves as his headquarters. He recently completed the installation of blue print equipment and his work along this line has all the "ear-marks" of that produced by a veteran in this profession.

L. L. Saunders, local contractor, submitted general plans for the two projects mentioned above, after which Roberts drew up the plans and specifications in detail and prepared the blue prints. George Carter, has served as assistant to Roberts in some of his work.

NAVY OFFICER AND KIRKPATRICK SPEAK AT ROTARY LUNCHEON

Talks by W. F. Kirkpatrick and Lt. Comdr. S. J. Brune, who has been on duty with the U. S. Navy for the past two years at Honolulu, Hawaii, featured the program at the luncheon of the Rotary Club Wednesday. Vern Walden was in charge of the program.

The first object of Rotary, "the development of acquaintance as an opportunity for service," was discussed by Mr. Kirkpatrick.

Many interesting facts about the U. S. Navy were given by Lt. Comdr. Brune. Besides relating many technical details in this service, he told of the efforts of officers to give proper supervision in developing the boys coming into the Navy.

The recent war games and their purpose were discussed. Constant improvement in equipment and methods and the large number of new men in the service each year make naval maneuvers necessary each year, if this country is to maintain an efficient navy, the speaker stated. He related service maintained by the U. S. Navy in widely separated points of the world and answered a few questions asked by local members.

Lt. Comdr. Brune, Mrs. Brune and son, are visiting Mrs. Brune's sister, Mrs. S. H. Ross, and brother, J. Y. and T. F. Welch. They will leave Saturday for Norfolk, Va., where Mr. Brune has been transferred by the Navy.

LAST DAY FOR TRANSFER OF PUPILS NEAR

Only a few more days remain for transferring scholars from one school district to another, since the month of July offers the final opportunity for this action.

Vance Swain, county school superintendent, warns all parents whose children will attend a school other than the one in which the children are listed in the scholastic census, to apply at his office for transfers at once if they have not already done so.

When pupils transfer, their portion of the state school fund is transferred to the district in which they enter and as a result no tuition will be required. Pupils from rural districts who plan to attend the Crowell schools during the coming year must transfer to the Crowell district, whether or not their grades are taught in their home district, if they wish to avoid paying tuition.

Old Texas Map Showing Pease City and Early Foard County Ballots Are Found in Trunk at M. F. Bowley Home

A Texas map over fifty years old and a number of old ballots used at general elections in the early days of Foard County were among the interesting items found this week by M. F. Bowley, resident of this county since Sept. 1, 1893, while rummaging through an old trunk at his home.

From all indications the map was prepared by Rand, McNally & Co. of Chicago shortly after 1880. Foard County had not been created at that time and Hardeman County included the area which is now Foard. The only towns in Hardeman shown on the map were "Pease," which was at a point about five miles north of where Crowell was later established; and Wormwood Spring, at the edge of Red River.

Vernon and Doans were the only towns shown in Wilbarger County and Wichita Falls and "Tokuma" in Wichita. Wichita Falls was the terminus of the Fort Worth & Denver Ry. No railroads had been constructed in nearly sixty Panhandle and South Plains counties, however the T. & P. Ry. extended across the state.

The country west of here was so sparsely settled that very few towns were shown on the map. None of the present leading Panhandle cities had come into being, although all of the Panhandle, Lower Panhandle and South Plains counties appeared on the map as they appear today, with the exception of Hardeman.

The only Panhandle points shown on the map were Clarendon, Mobeetie, Fort Elliott, Hayes, Adobe, Lathrop, Mt. Blanco, and

The Griffith family completed moving from Crowell this week after living here since October, 1921. Mrs. Griffith and Miss Florence Griffith returned here Monday to look after details in getting a number of items moved. Miss Florence Griffith will return in September to assume her duties as teacher in the Four Corners school.

The only Panhandle points shown on the map were Clarendon, Mobeetie, Fort Elliott, Hayes, Adobe, Lathrop, Mt. Blanco, and Spring Ranch, Greer County, which is now in Oklahoma, was in Texas then and provided a hump on the map above Hardeman County.

Oklahoma, as it is known today, was shown on the map as "Indian Territory" and was divided into such sections as Choctaw Nation, Chickasaw Nation, Comanches & Aranches, Kiowas, Cheyennes & Arrahoes, Wichitas, Creek Country, Sac & Fox, Pawnees, Pottawatomies and Seminoles.

No towns were shown in Knox, Cottle, Childress and Haskell counties, nor in the counties west of these, except Mt. Blanco in Crosby, Seymour and Oregon Cy. were shown in Baylor.

Population figures regarding states and cities of the nation were also included on the map, according to the U. S. Census of 1880. Texas then had a population of 1,591,749, while now it is above the 6,000,000 mark. Improved lands in the State were shown at 13,000,000 acres with unimproved lands at 146,000,000. At present there are more than 120,000,000 acres of improved lands in the state. United States population was shown at 50,155,783.

Some of the population figures of 1880 for U. S. cities were: New York 1,206,590; Chicago 503,504; Kansas City 55,785; Detroit 116,342; Denver 35,629; Dallas 10,358.

Chevrolet Figures Show Heavy Sales

In announcing the new Chevrolet lines for 1935, officials of the Chevrolet Motor Company predicted last January that the country's gradual recovery of buying power created a heavy demand for the new improved Standard models, which combined the advantages of performance and economy with low first cost.

How correct they were in this prediction may be gauged by figures just released by W. E. Holler, vice president and general sales manager of Chevrolet. Sales of Standard models through June, Mr. Holler said, totalled 137,128 units. This is a gain of more than 366 per cent over the figures for the corresponding period in 1934.

"Automobile buying is following fairly closely along the lines indicated by our advance surveys," Mr. Holler said. "Thousands of individuals whom economic conditions had deprived of their cars entirely are, for the most part, used cars. Other stratum, located in the financial stratum just above these, are graduating from used cars to new cars in the lowest price range, notably Chevrolet Standard models. It is this general increase of purchasing power, all along the line, that has brought about the sharp increase in Standard sales, we believe."

One reason why Chevrolet has been able to secure so much of this business in the lowest priced field, Mr. Holler added, has been the marked improvement in performance engineered into the Standard line. Its engine develops 23 per cent more power than in 1934, and economy and durability also are substantially improved.

You're The Loser

WHEN you allow Headache, Neuritic Muscular, Rheumatic, Sciatic or Periodic Pains to keep you from work or pleasure. You can't go places and do things when you are suffering—and the work or good time won't wait for you.

Why allow Pain to rob you of Health, Happiness, Money?

DR. MILES ANTI-PAIN PILLS have been used for the relief of pain for more than forty years. They taste good, act quickly, do not upset the stomach, nor cause constipation, leave no dull, depressed feeling.

Thousands have used them for twenty, thirty, forty years, and still find that nothing else relieves pain so promptly and effectively.

Why don't you try them? Once you know how pleasant they are to take, how quickly and effectively they relieve, you won't want to go back to disagreeable, slow acting medicines.

You too may find quick relief. Why wait forty minutes for relief when Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills will relieve you in less than twenty minutes?

As a household remedy I have never found anything that equalled Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills.

I never found anything that was so good to stop pain as Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills. I have told many about them and I find they are all over the place.

I have been using Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills for years. I keep them on hand all the time. I can certainly recommend them for pain.

DA VINCI'S WHEELBARROW

Leonardo da Vinci, born in 1452, the illegitimate son of a Florentine lawyer, is considered by many to have been the most universal genius the world has ever produced. His activities embraced all the fields of art and science in his day.

While he is best known as the painter of Mona Lisa and The Last Supper, he was also accomplished beyond his contemporaries as sculptor, musician, military engineer, astronomer, botanist, anatomist, geologist and what not.

But great as were his contributions to art and science, the most lasting benefits which he conferred upon mankind were probably in the line of mechanical invention, although many of his conceptions were not developed practically until centuries later. It is said that he invented a flying machine which would have been a success with a modern motor, for which the world had to wait another 400 years.

One of his inventions was the wheelbarrow, which, simple as it appears to us, has been one of the greatest labor-savers ever devised through the application of pure mechanics. It seems strange to us that so many centuries elapsed between the invention of the wheel and that of the wheelbarrow.

That da Vinci was the first to hit upon this humble but most useful means of transportation is added proof of his genius.

FALSE ECONOMY

True economy is entirely praiseworthy, particularly for those who have difficulty in making ends meet, but there is a pretty sort of skimping which is not economy, and which is really wasteful in the long run.

Time and effort expended to effect the saving of a penny here and a nickel there often is a source of loss instead of gain. Shopping around for an hour in hope of saving a few cents on a trivial purchase is one example of this. Another is to buy an inferior article when a good one would cost but a little more. The same principle applies in business management. To deny oneself the use of a reasonable amount of up-to-date equipment in an effort to curtail expenditures is not economy because such equipment will usually pay for itself many times over in time and labor saving.

Spending money wisely is one of the surest means of making more money. Skimping is not always economy and stinginess is not always thrift. Too many of us are "penny wise and pound foolish."

Dutchman Has Many Uses for Popular Wood Shoes

The wooden shoe or klomp can take rank as a national institution in Holland. Fashioned usually out of poplar wood, it serves all kinds of uses, in addition to protecting the feet.

On the island of Marken they are more ornamental than elsewhere, but they are always picturesque to an American for all their seeming clumsiness.

The klomp does not, however, appear to bother the movements of a Dutchman, who can jump a stile without losing them. They can be, and are, used for the same purpose as a Britisher uses his fist, and even more effectively, for if a short and tall Dutchman have a quarrel than if they tried to use their hands.

When the klompen are worn out, they make admirable boats for the children to sail on the canals.

SENT TO ETHIOPIA

Some indication of the concern with which the State department viewed the prospect of war between Italy and Ethiopia was given by the shifting of Cornelius Van H. Engert, a specialist in near eastern affairs, from the post of first secretary of the legation at Cairo, Egypt, to that of charge d'affaires and consul general at Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

Cotton Income Since Adjustment Program Above that of 1932

College Station.—The cotton income of Texas farmers in 1934, one of the poorest crop years in history, was almost half again larger than in 1932 before the adjustment program started, according to complete official state and county three-year cotton figures just received by Texas A. & M. College Extension Service for the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Farm value of Texas cotton last year, not including benefit payments, was more than 32 million dollars larger than in 1932. Benefit payments designed to bring cotton prices more nearly into line with industrial prices in normal years acted as farmers' crop insurance last year by adding $34,132,325.09 to the cotton income. This does not include about nine million dollars' worth of unsold Bankhead certificates in farmers' hands.

Total farm value of Texas cotton was $158,343,000 for 1932; $297,964,166.67 for 1933-34; and $224,779,307.61 for 1934-35, exclusive of unsold Bankhead certificates. The farm value of lint and seed for 1933 and 1934, exclusive of benefit payments, was $235,508,000 and $196,646,982.52 respectively, compared with $158,343,000 in 1932.

Averaging the increased income to farmers since the beginning of the adjustment program, Texas has received an average of slightly over 100 million dollars more per year for its cotton under the new order than was received in 1932. The increase was almost equally divided between increased market price, due partly to the adjustment program, and the benefit payments derived entirely from processing taxes.

The farm value of lint and seed given in this report is based upon yield and price figures furnished by the United States Department of Agriculture. Benefit payments include those made to April 30, 1935.

Rhode Island's Capital

Rhode Island in its early days had almost as many capitals as it had towns, as the general assembly met in circuit, first in one town and then in another. Finally, notes a writer in the Philadelphia Inquirer, with the growth of the assembly the meeting places were reduced to two places, Providence and Newport, as the cities which could take care of so many extra people. For many years these two capitals were retained with the legislature opening its annual session in May at Newport, and after a few days adjourning for a more extended one at Providence, which began the following January. Since 1900 the legislature has met at Providence and the state's constitution was so amended as to dispense with the Newport session.

Brief Summaries of Proposed Amendments

Brief summaries of the first three constitutional amendments to be voted upon over the state on Aug. 24 were published in The News last week. This week summaries of No. 4 and No. 5 are published and next week the summaries will be concluded with publication of brief facts about No. 6 and No. 7.

Proposed Amendment No. 4—Submission of Amendments at Special Sessions of Legislature

At present the Legislature can submit proposed changes in the Constitution only at regular sessions—held every 2 years. Proposal Number four on the ballot for the August 24th election would revise the Constitution to permit the submission of amendments at special sessions. It is pointed out that in emergency cases, particularly on relief matters, that it might be necessary for Texas voters to vote on an emergency measure at a time when the regular session of the Legislature is quite far distant in the future.

The original purpose of the provision which makes submission possible only at regular sessions was to make the fundamental law hard to amend and change. Two schools of thought are at variance here. The one believing that the Constitution should be easy to change—particularly in emergency cases, and the other that every safeguard should be placed around it to make it difficult to change.

If the proposed amendment is adopted the legislature in any special session can submit proposed amendments to the voters—providing such amendments are submitted by the Governor for the Legislature's consideration. If the amendment is rejected the present system will obtain; that is, constitutional amendments can be submitted to the people only at the regular sessions of the legislature.

The 44th Legislature submitted thirteen amendments to the voters—seven in August of this year and six in November of 1936. These were all submitted during the regular session. Under the proposed change the 44th might yet submit additional amendments for the voters' consideration.

Proposed Amendment Number 5

Suspended Sentence or Probation Amendment
Proposition Number 5 on the ballot of the August 24th election reads: "For (and against) the Amendment to the State Constitution authorizing the Court to place defendants on probation." Proponents claim that if amendment is passed, many who are now sent to the penitentiary for first offenses will be permitted to enjoy suspended sentences or probation. The only restriction on present suspended sentences is the fact that the defendant must not be convicted of a felony—a crime punishable by confinement in the penitentiary. The court or judge or court has no control as to whether it set up or impose any restrictions.

It is the understanding of those who have studied the amendment that if passed it would permit the Legislature to pass laws giving courts the right to suspend sentences and place defendants on probation as the court may deem proper. In other words, the court could suspend sentences subject to certain limitations. If no restrictions or limitations are not observed the court would have the authority to have the defendant committed to the penitentiary without further delay. Many now refuse to grant suspended sentences for the reason that they have no control over the defendant after the same is granted. It is pointed out that this would prevent many first offenders from going to the penitentiary to reclaim many of them for society.

If a suspended sentence is given under the present law the limitation is that the defendant must not be convicted of a felony. The court has no control over the defendant if it imposes other conditions.

- Commissioner: No. 1—C. P. Sandifer, R. W. Ingle, No. 2—J. H. Self, No. 3—John Brown, No. 4—John January, John Moore, Constable—John W. Cass, W. Klepper.
- Justice of Peace: No. 1—J. R. Meason, No. 2—J. E. Meason, No. 3—J. E. Meason, No. 4—J. E. Meason, No. 5—J. E. Meason, No. 6—J. E. Meason, No. 7—J. E. Meason, No. 8—J. E. Meason, No. 9—J. E. Never Lived in His Country

Standing on a hill near London, Wis., is a 40-room mansion which keeps alive the story of Enos Drummond, who built a mansion in 1849, but was never lived in. He died before he carried out his plan of importing 40 slaves in order to live like a plantation gentleman according to a writer in Harper's Weekly. Although the "Northwest Ordinance" prohibited slavery, Drummond was never allowed to import slaves. He was killed by a snake in the house was completed.

"Ravenously Hungry"

The word ravenous is derived from the verb raven which means "To eat voraciously; prey on, as a beast of prey." The meaning does not necessarily denote hunger; they denote rather the manner of appeasing greed. It is permissible, therefore, to say the expression "ravenously hungry," indicating a hunger so intense that one would satisfy it by eating voraciously.—Literary Digest.

HOSTILE VALLEY

By Ben Ames Williams

CHAPTER II—His father's... CHAPTER III—Hurdy, at once... CHAPTER IV—would be a long time before...

mocking: "Go on, then! But time you're done with Seth, there's a plenty more!"

But Seth Humphreys, when he slipped away from the house, was more disturbed by the situation.

He had a lively respect for Will's physical powers; and he leaped into the truck and let it coast silently down the hill.

And he did so, Will Ferrin came suddenly out from behind one wide-flung door, and leaped on the truck's running board.

When at last she was no longer needed, she went weakly into the kitchen to wash her hands and clean her garments; she returned to her own room to change into her other gear.

The old woman looked at Jenny in the lamp's pale light, and saw the girl's exhaustion; and she came to say to her softly:

Jenny, there's nothing to do here for a while, it will be long enough till he knows us, or knows anything. You get out of doors, get some air, breathe life back into you.

And Jenny, moving with a curious passivity, obeyed the old woman as she was used to obey.

So Bart produced the revolver, an ancient model, in a heavy holster stained by years of use. "Got quite a history, that gun has," he said proudly.

"I've got an old revolver that throws a heavy slug, if you can hold it straight. You get near enough and you could kill an elephant with it."

And he got into the truck, and laid the pistol on the seat beside him, and went on his way.

The man was afraid! He was as big as Will Ferrin; not quite so tall, but heavier. Nevertheless, just as a dog fights back in its own yard, so does a man in the wrong fight poorly.

He drove down the Valley road and turned into the rough wood track that led to the clearing where the steam mill was set beside a spring brook that furnished water for the boilers.

But Seth did not see Will anywhere about, and knew a deep relief. There was at one side a shed of rough boards, roofed with tar paper, with a dirt floor, in which the truck was customarily stored.

And Will, in silent, deadly purpose, caught Seth's throat with both hands to drag him to the ground.

Seth's hand found the ready pistol; he thumbed the hammer back. As the weapon came into his sight, Will released Seth's throat.

When that which had now to be done was done, Jenny was left drained and empty, her muscles limp, her heart sick. Throughout, she and Marm Pierce had helped the doctor; the old woman administered chloroform drop by drop under strict direction, Jenny holding this and that as she was bidden.

With the first stroke of knife, she was stunned as though by a head blow; had thereafter no sense or strict consciousness of what went forward here at all.

This was a still, cold night, with threat of another frost before dawn. The stars pricking overhead, stooping low, peered brightly down like the eyes of curious children.

They would be taking Seth Humphreys' body away, she thought; and she thought Will had killed him, and thought of the law and what the law would have to say to this; and she thought, loyally that none could blame Will.

And Jenny found herself going at long strides, like a swift avenger, toward the brook, along the woods path, toward Will's farm—where Hurdy now would be waiting.

Jenny turned to the kitchen, chunked the fire, pumped water, put the kettle on the stove; then she came back to the dining room. She had not spoken.

Will's eyelids wavered, opened, then closed again. He said weakly: "My team's tied, up on—ridge road. Somebody fetch 'em home."

"You hush up, Will," Marm Pierce told him. "You'll need all the strength you've got."

"I dunno, Jenny. Seems like I've heard tell you've got to let some blood get through, or the leg'll die. I guess it's going to have to be cut off, though. No bone left, only splinters, for four-five inches down the shin."

"All we can do is keep him quiet till the doctor comes," Marm Pierce confessed. "I can cure some hurts, this here is too much for me."

And later she said: "You put a pillow under his head, and a blanket over him, to keep him warm."

But when these things were done they could only keep vigil, till after a long hour the doctor did arrive.

to thank you. With you gone, maybe he can be happy again!" Hurdy's brows knotted, and her lips moved as though to speak; but she smiled then suddenly, and she rose.

Jenny turned without a word to the door. Her very passivity seemed to drive the other woman into fury.

The stars were clear, the deep wood dark and comforting. Jenny came home in peace. She thought the Valley would be brighter, with Hurdy gone; thought there was a rainbow promise in the starlit sky.

Shower Is Given for Recent Bride

Misses Zell Saunders and Russie Rasberry were hostesses at a pretty shower at the home of Miss Maye Andrews Monday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Lewis Roberts, who was Miss Mary Ennis Carter before her marriage Sunday at Denton.

The guests were received at the door by Miss Rasberry. Miss Saunders directed them to the bride's room, where they registered, from here into the dining room, where Miss Elaine Saunders and Mrs. J. B. Rasberry poured punch. Piano music was given by Mrs. Frances Ricks during the assembling of the guests.

Miss Camille Graves gave a reading "To a Young Bride," as the first number of the program. Miss Peggy Thompson, accompanied by Mrs. Ricks, sang "My Dear." A clever toast to the bride was given by Miss Rasberry. At the conclusion of the program, Joyzelle Tysinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Tysinger, attired in a bathing suit, announced that she had just had a shower and asking the bride if she would like one, led her to an adjoining room where numerous beautiful and useful gifts awaited her in a literal shower.

Mrs. Roberts responded with words of appreciation. The guests were again served to punch before taking their departure. The house was attractive with yard flowers and greens.

MORE OLD PEOPLE NOW

Gradually the number of old persons is increasing, while the number of children is decreasing, according to Dr. O. E. Baker, a government statistician, who declares that there are now about 10 per cent fewer children in the United States than there were five years ago and, about 17 per cent more persons over the age of 65. It is a well-known fact that the nation's birth rate has been declining for more than a century. However, the actual number of births did not start downward until 1921. But this decline has been from nearly 3,000,000 births in 1921 to around 2,300,000 in 1934.

Should the decline in births continue at the pre-depression rate, says Dr. Baker, the population of the nation "will increase slowly for about 10 years when there will be perhaps 5,000,000 more people than now. Soon after this it will decline, providing there is no increase in immigration. Should the decrease in births be less rapid, the increase in population to the peak will be greater and this date farther in the future."

But in the meantime the number of old people will increase by about one-third each decade. This increase, says this authority, is inevitable for they are living now, and the number who will die can be estimated closely.

Hammond, N. J., July 21.—Thomas B. Delker, 65, a Hammond newspaperman, Saturday became the father of his step-grandchild.

Last winter, Delker married Miss Emma Messner, 22, daughter of Joseph Messner, who is the husband of Delker's daughter. The marriage made him the son-in-law of his own son-in-law. His daughter became his step-mother-in-law, while his bride became her own step-grandmother.

Now a baby, Emma Mae Delker, has arrived. She is her step-grandmother's step-sister, her mother's step-aunt and her father's step-sister-in-law.

Miscellaneous Facts

James Henry Kinsey, formerly of Crowell and son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Kinsey of Bogata, Texas, recently enlisted in the U. S. Army training camp at Fort Sill, Okla.

A contract for hard-surfacing State Highway No. 16 from the Haskell County line to Benjamin was let recently. Gradually, improvements on this highway move toward Foard County and within a year or two we predict that this highway will be hard-surfaced from Red River to Abilene, since the only gaps left are in Foard and Knox counties.

Jimmie Doelen, formerly of Crowell, is now sole owner of a drug store in Wichita Falls, located across the street from a hospital on 11th Street.

Billy Owens, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Owens of Foard City, was in this week to find out if an old Indian-headed penny that he possessed had any extra value, as he had heard of cases where certain kinds of pennies brought large sums. He found the old and discolored coin in Foard City recently. It was dated 1891, the year of the birth of Crowell and Foard County, and for sentimental reasons that might make the coin worth more than just a cent. Billy plans to keep it as a good luck piece, anyhow. From Brudge Andrews comes the story of a Mississippi boy who had never seen a jackrabbit, yet had heard of Crowell's Dick Todd. While visiting the Andrews family over the week-end, the 17-year-old boy's first desire was to see a genuine jackrabbit. Taking a spin to the country, his desire was soon satisfied.

Upon the return, Brudge asked the boy if he played football, to which he replied: "Say, that reminds me, Dick Todd lives at Crowell, doesn't he?" Andrews answered affirmatively and then asked how he had ever heard of Todd. "Why, they're still writing about him in Mississippi," came the reply.

Spider Activity

Widow spiders continue to hold the spotlight in Foard County. At least The News office seems to serve as the local depository for most every spider, tarantula or other vicious insect that is captured.

A tarantula brought in from the Jim Owens farm had conquered most everything imaginable in that area, but died before having opportunity to make good its plans. We don't know whether the "hot air" about a news office the "type line" die rather than in our place of business, but how they don't last long, as a husky widow spider, captured the daring Eli Smith furnished other example during the war in this respect.

However, we now have in a widow spider that promises a real long life. It was brought yesterday by Mrs. T. E. Adams and Mrs. F. A. Davis and is very much alive after being placed with a giant horse-fly, which arrived here. Following a long battle of about three hours, the spider finally killed its opponent and has since feasted upon it.

Martin Duvall says the widow spider and its deadly poison match for just a plain grasshopper. According to the experiment, a widow spider after being placed with a grasshopper and from all indications, the spider succumbed to the kicks of its enemy.
