TEXON TALES

All those who got sample copies of the News and haven't subscribed yet should now. If you can't take but one paper, take the News. If you take any number and don't take the News you have failed. You won't find the Texon Tales in any of them but the News. We wish to announce that the Tales will possibly be much better in the future. One main reason for saying that is because they couldn't be worse. Any kind of change will be an improvement. That's a consolation. We intend to start making pictures instead of writing wise cracks so people who cannot read can look at the pictures. That would be an improvement also. Anything for a change will help.

If the Crowell Wildcats get crippled up any worse we might bring up our Texon Wildcats for a game. We will see Prof. Jesse Davis about it.

One of the leading young men here, that is he is the ring-leader in most of the meanness, anyway he went down to the Mexican border and got in jail so we sent another of the leading guys down to get him out but he got drunk and got in jail too, so then we had to send still another bird down after them both. Well, through mistake, he got them out. These boys said they got to drinking just to forget and forgot to stop drinking. But after they got in the jug they got low in spirits. Poor boys had been saving for a rainy day but one wet night and they were broke. The trouble with these "daze" the flesh is willing but the spirits are too strong. These boys says it was worth a million dollars to be put in a Mexican jail but they wouldn't pay that much for a second trip as experience is supposed to be free.

Some bird has figured out we spent ninety million dollars last year for chewing gum. Now somebody see how much gasoline it took to get it out of our clothes. It seems the wild, open spaces are giving way to the wide open faces.

We got a nice new radio and tuned in on Chicago. Now our radio is all shot. But we heard a talk by a big robber and yegg man. He said Chicago was a big packing center. Packing guns. He said, "Come to Chicago and get a gun-metal finish." The main exercise is putting the shot. Then he makes the remark that people in Chicago never worry about old age and wound up with a ballad entitled, "Daughter, go in and shoot mother goodnight."

Young T. C. U. Student Operator of Radio Station in Ft. Worth

Fort Worth.—In 1920, 10-year old Haling was the youngest amateur radio station operator in Texas.

Haling is a junior in Texas State University and owner and operator of Radio Station W5HY, located in Fort Worth. He recently completed the station's eighth birthday, conversing more than an hour with Station ZAC of New Zealand.

This makes the twelfth time my name has been heard in New Zealand and Australia," Haling says. "I have communicated with every continent in the world and all the states of the Union. I broadcast on a wavelength of 40 meters, with 50 watts of power.

Haling's station, W5HY, is an off-air relay station of the American Relay League and is one of the best in the Army Air Corps.

"I can get Commander Byrd at the South Pole nearly every morning at 11 a. m., and I heard the Graf Zeppelin's signals when it sailed over New York. I also kept in touch with the Shenandoah as it flew over Texas a few years ago. The secretary of the navy sent me a note of thanks for the ill-fated flyer who was in the Pacific, sent out his distress call my station was one of the first to catch his message and inform newspapers."

Haling is majoring in journalism at T. C. U.

Texas U. Has Largest Library in the South

Austin, Texas.—Figures based on a survey compiled in January, 1929, by James A. McMillen, librarian at Louisiana State University, show that there are twice as many books in the library at the University of Texas as in any other university in the South.

Next to the University of Texas, the University of North Carolina, containing 128,192. Others in order were: University of Virginia, with 108,000 volumes; Tulane University with 102,945 volumes; Duke University with 108,865 volumes; the University of South Carolina, with 105,000 volumes; the University of Oklahoma, with 100,000 volumes; Vanderbilt University, with 95,000 volumes; the University of Arkansas, with 88,000 volumes; the University of Tennessee, with 85,534 volumes; Louisiana State University, with 74,000 volumes; the University of Florida, with 58,939 volumes; Peabody College, with 46,040 volumes; the University of Mississippi, with 41,000 volumes; and the University of Alabama, with 30,000 volumes.

THE FIRST PUBLIC UTILITY

Gas was the first of the public utilities. It was followed by electric power, which, in the opinion of many, was to sound the death knell of the gas industry.

It was a logical belief, for the use of gas was restricted almost entirely to lighting. But when electricity took its place in this field, the use of gas began to expand in other fields that are continuing.

A steadily increasing number of industries favor gas-fired heating systems. In industry, where manufacturing and chemical processes require heat, gas has more than 20,000 uses. The gas industry is a major factor in economic and social development. First of the utilities, it remains one of the greatest.

FROM THE LAZY MAN

Perhaps the world has not given the lazy man the credit he deserves for the progress that has been toward the ideal life. When the lazy man is considered dispassionately, it is seen that some important inventions are the result of his disinclination to work.

For example, there is the riding motor, which is said to be the product of the ingenuity of a man who was sure that his legs were never tired to drag along after a hand plow. Not only does the farmer get more cultivating done, but he gets it done with less effort. There is much to be said for the man who refuses to do any work at all. The man who is just lazy enough to do his work in the easiest way has been able to hit upon man ideas that have added to the sum total of human progress.

Many devices that have contributed largely to production may be traced to the desire of some individual to free himself from unnecessary physical effort. Many an inventor who has a reputation for industry may have had only a commendable kind of laziness.

"HOME MAKING" HOURS

More than 63 hours a week is the average "working time" for 700 farm women who kept records and reported to the Bureau of Home Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture.

They reported an average of 52 hours and 17 minutes spent on strict home-making activities alone. This is more than the 44-hour work-week which is the standard in industry, the bureau points out. In addition, these women spent an average of 11 hours and 13 minutes a week on laundry work, care of poultry, gardening, and other outside tasks.

Some of these 700 home makers live in the Middle West, some in the South, and some in three western states. The group as a whole represents rather superior home makers—those likely to cut their working time by intelligent methods. For the country as a whole the average working time would probably be higher.

AIR PROGRESS SATISFACTORY

Unusually satisfactory progress is being made in developing a system of air mail and airplane passenger and freight service, which eventually will link the 22 countries of the American hemisphere.

As carried out to date the program has been actively sponsored by the United States government, and this official patronage has admittedly given United States aviation interests a clear lead in the race to build up a network of air lines over the two continents. German companies are nevertheless still offering serious competition in this respect, according to reports from South America.

Government sponsorship has been directed not only through the state, postoffice and commerce departments, acting independently in their various fields, but also through a governmental committee.

The State Department has sought to enforce the "open door" principles throughout South America, having intervened on behalf of the United States companies upon every occasion when it has appeared that a Latin government was about to give an exclusive mail or passenger or freight contract to a foreign concern.

The postoffice has been active in developing air mail routes connecting the United States with Canada and with countries to the south, while the commerce department has sent experts and trade commissioners into the lower continent to study the situation and to report on South America as a market for American-made airplanes and equipment.

Its principal task being to keep vigilance over the Caribbean and Panama Canal regions in connection with the national defenses, the committee of assistant secretaries has concerned itself primarily with policy matters. While on guard against the establishment of commercial or other air bases that might threaten the Panama Canal or some other part of the defensive system of the United States, the committee has sought to work out policies which at the same time would stimulate the development of aviation to a nature commercially beneficial to the United States.

Two of the more recent moves in the development of the air expansion program have been the opening of air mail services connecting Canada, the United States and Mexico, and the formation of The Aviation Corporation of the Americas for the purpose of connecting "North, Central and South America with passenger and mail lines."

AN ALL IMPORTANT FACTOR

When the poet said that every institution is but the lengthening shadow of a man, he uttered a truth that is one of the essential facts of life.

Personality is the all important factor in every great enterprise, whether it be business, education or community progress.

During the era of great materialistic development, there has been great emphasis on the need of finer equipment in community enterprises. But any policy that stresses the material side to the neglect of the human factor is not a substantial one.

It would be far better to have a million dollar school teacher in a thousand dollar school than a thousand dollar teacher in a million dollar school.

lar school. The first essential for human betterment is to have inspiring personalities in positions of leadership.

It is a splendid thing to provide wonderful school buildings, library buildings, churches, and similar structures, because they have advertising value. People will go into a fine public building and derive good from its use, who would not use one that looks old and behind the times. New school buildings give school work an impression of importance and dignity, and they inspire pupils to better work.

But good work is often done with poor facilities. The little red school house on the whole got good results in training the older people. Its equipment would be called obsolete now, its textbooks and courses of study were not adapted to the practical age in which we now live. But it usually had a brainy and inspiring personality as a teacher. Such a person got results, even if the tools used were poor.

The most important thing in social progress is to have bright and able men and women working in such positions as teachers, ministers and legislators, as their thoughts are shaping the purposes and ideals of the coming generation.

STABILITY OF OIL AND WHEAT

An article in the Lamp, publication of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, says an ample supply of motor fuel and other oil products is as certain for the future as the supply of wheat. Production of crude in excess of consumption requirements is depicted as working to the disadvantage of both producer and consumer.

The Lamp may not be so far wrong at that. Which of us can say that Nature's ingredients which produce wheat are more bountiful than those which produce oil? Science has pretty clearly demonstrated that it can locate and produce oil as needed but the same cannot be said for wheat which is more subject to the whims of the elements.

It is foolhardy to take more oil or more wheat from Nature's storehouse than needed for current demands plus a reasonable reserve for emergency. "The supreme achievement of the petroleum industry is to know the volume of crop it can produce this year, next year and for years to come," says the Lamp. "Wide fluctuation in petroleum prices, due to threatened famine or threatened over-supply, would not occur if the production of crude were economically regulated."

MILLIONS FOR SAFETY

Last year American railroads spent almost 195 millions for the improvement of safety devices, according to a recent report.

Tremendous sums are continually invested in heavier rails, block signals, steel passenger cars, elimination of grade crossings, etc. In every phase of operating steps have been taken to eliminate hazards and minimize risks. As a result, during the last 10 years the number of fatalities on railway property, due to circumstances within the control of the lines, has decreased 61 per cent.

It is a notable, but unhappy fact that accidents outside the control of the railroads have increased during these years. Grade crossing accidents which are within the jurisdiction of the motoring public, have steadily risen, in spite of gigantic expenditures for crossing protection. The public has, apparently, turned a deaf ear to the old plea of "Stop, look and listen."

The safety work of the railroads has been equally important as their work in cutting costs and raising standards of service. It would seem that the least the public can do is to cooperate in preventing accidents which are solely within the control of the public.

Davis and Ownbey Show that Proper Poultry Care Pays

By Fred Rennels

Those who cared for their hens during the summer by feeding them mash, providing shade and plenty of drinking water, are reaping the benefit of their seemingly useless work in the way of increased egg production now.

J. C. Davis, of the Rayland community, during last month, sold $31.50 worth of eggs from a flock of 110 hens. The $31.50 is net price after deducting the price of the feed. The chicken business is a year round business and the flock must be cared for during the entire year, according to Mr. Davis, if the best profits are to be derived.

Ownbey Has Nice Flock

F. L. Ownbey, living south of Crowell, has a nice flock of 300 White Leghorn pullets and has ordered three pedigreed cockerels to mate with some of his best pullets in the spring. It is his intention to build up one of the best producing flocks of leghorns in the country.

FURNITURE RUINED

Practically all of the furniture belonging to C. T. Spangler was ruined Saturday about twelve miles this side of Vernon as it was being moved from Crowell to Tipton, Oklahoma, where Mr. Spangler is to make his home.

The truck and trailer on which the household furnishings were being moved was struck by a car, turning the truck over two times and reducing much of the furniture to splinters. Only a few of the household items belonging to Mr. Spangler were not on the truck at the time.

PUBLICITY THAT IS SHUNNED

That publicity attending arrest for commission of crime is one of the penalties paid by the criminal or by the ordinary law violator is being recognized to a greater degree as time goes on. Few, of course, have better opportunities for recognizing it than do the newspaper men and the authorities. That it is also deterrent in divorce cases is quite apparent. Of course, basically this is not so much fear of publicity as it is of public opinion, but it is the publicity that arouses public opinion and keep the public informed. One of the first requests made is that newspapers be uninformed.

The thought of having their offenses blazoned in black and white for all to read is worse than paying the penalty attached to the offense. It is surprising, in view of this, that Deleware has passed a law excluding the public and newspapers from court rooms during the trial of divorce cases. England, for instance passed such a law, and the London Times describes one of the results. At the beginning of the Hillary sitting (a court session) there were 452 undefended divorce cases entered in London, and at the beginning of the present sitting the figure was 488. A further 282 have been entered during the last two months. We have a little doubt that now, owing to the absence of publicity, the divorce courts will be resorted to much more freely.

One who is unscrupulous would hardly hesitate to make charges of any character in asking for a divorce if assured that they (the charges) would not become public. The publicity, however, undoubtedly would serve as a deterrent, and in this way is a constructive force.

Messages Written by Royalty Have Lasted

In a London inn there is preserved an old stained glass window from the Manor house, Abbots Bromley, Staffordshire, which bears an inscription alleged to have been scratched on it with a diamond by Mary Queen of Scots shortly before her execution. The translation of the writing, which is in Latin, is as follows: "Mary, queen of Scotland, passed through this town September 21, 1586, on the way to Burton and Fotheringay."

Another inscription discovered some years ago, at the Mermaid inn at Rye, was written by the king of France, John, who was brought to England as a prisoner after his capture at the battle of Poitiers. This inscription consists of the unhappy monarch's name and title, followed by a few words of gratitude for the kindly reception accorded him by the landlord of the Mermaid in his exile.

A sulphur-bottom whale that was caught some years ago measured 125 feet in length and weighed 130 tons.

THE WORK OF MOLES

Moles, contrary to the opinion of many do not eat roots, bulbs and seeds of plants in important quantities. They cause damage in the garden by tearing plant roots and by fluffing up the soil until it dries out too rapidly. Indirectly, too, they are responsible for the activities of other small animals, such as mice, which do eat roots, tubes and bulbs. The mole runways in the garden are favorite passageways for these little mammals. The mole itself lives principally on insects, earthworms, white grub and other larvae and pupae. But the mole gets—and deserves—some of the blame for the destruction done by others that follow its tunnels.

Poisons and poisonous gases are almost useless against moles, the bureau of the biological survey of the States department of agriculture say this is because of the highly developed sense of smell of which are thus compensated more less for poor eyesight. Also that the moles feed on live insects and earthworms makes it difficult to introduce poison into food that are willing to eat.

Moles continue active throughout winter, but in that season the tunnels run so deep that they cause much damage. Trapping seems the most effective way of disposing of moles, although it is slow and requires patience. Three types of traps are in common use—the spike or loop, the scissor jaw and the used most commonly, but the trap has proved more effective if carefully set, and does not injure the mole.

Six Giant Tires Are Purchased This Week

The largest tires ever sold in Crowell were bought this week from the Crowell Service Station by C. H. Foley of Wichita Falls. Six 44-10 Good Year dump-truck, pneumatic tires were purchased by Mr. Foley for use on the large White trucks that he is operating on highway work. These tires are almost four feet in height and are ten inches thick. They are six ply and carry 130 pounds of air. M. F. Crowell stated that they were the largest tires of standard size made. Mr. Foley has a fleet of 13 large trucks at work hauling gravel from the Malone pit on Pease River to the plant of the McClung Construction Company that is being established east of Thalia. Some of the trucks have hauled gravel to the plant here. Each truck is capable of hauling 4 1/2 yards of gravel, or six tons. The trucks and gravel weigh about 23,000 pounds and there is not a set of scales in town large enough to weigh that amount.

CHURCHES

Christian Science Sunday, 11 A. M., Subject for Sunday, November 3, "Everlasting Punishment." Sunday School at 9:30, Wednesday evening service at 8:00. The public is cordially invited.

Baptist Church News Last Sunday was a fine service when we take into consideration the bad weather. The special program rendered by the Sunday School on State Missions was very fine. Those taking active part were: Supt. A. G. Bell, L. T. Graves, Grady Graves, Mrs. Ida Reavis, Mrs. R. D. Oswalt, E. B. King, Mrs. C. C. McLaughlin, Miss Mae Andrews, Bert Self, Sidney Miller, Junior Sanders, Jimmie Long, Bertha Womack, Jeff Bell, Mrs. W. A. Meadows.

The plasterer has finished his work on the third floor and the other workman is busy and we hope by another week the upper room will be ready for our young people to occupy. It looks good to see this fine work go on. With everybody helping a little, we can go on to the finish of our church building. Next Sunday we begin our revival. Dr. Charles T. Ball, president of the Eastern University, Philadelphia, Pa., will do the preaching and Bible teaching. The singing will be in charge of our local people. Dr. Ball has held these Bible conferences in many sections of the country and wherever he has gone great crowds have heard him gladly. He is one of America's greatest Bible expositors, giving light on many difficult passages of scripture. If you love the Bible and want to know more about it, you will attend these services. We believe we are bringing to Crowell a service unusual in power and inspiration. A real treat that you cannot afford to miss. REPORTER.

Christian Church As a result of a very wet day Sunday the audiences were small. However, we had a very enjoyable day despite the fact that so many of our folks were missed so much. The members of the Beginner's Class who made the honor roll this month are as follows: A. Y. Bell, Edwin Edgin, Donald Ward, John Clark Long, and James Victor Allen. These little folks are to be commended on their faithfulness to the standards set. Plans are going forward in anticipation of home-coming day. You are urged to write your friends and relatives that have been members of this church to be here on November 10th, and if they cannot come to send a letter to be read in their absence. Do it now! Bible School at 9:45; worship at 11 o'clock and Christian Endeavor at 6:15 at the Presbyterian Church. There will be no night services next Sunday night on account of the Baptist revival which begins Sunday. Everyone please make a special effort to be at both Bible School and church service Sunday morning. JOHN G. CLARK.

Catholic Church Services will be held at the Catholic Church Sunday, November 3rd. Holy Mass at 10 a. m. Pastor E. J. GERLICH.

M. E. MISSIONARY SOCIETY The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church met Monday afternoon, October 21, and completed the Mission Study Book, "Roads to the City of God," by Basil Matthews. This book is a report of the great International Missionary Council which met in Jerusalem in the Spring of 1928. This council was a meeting of men and women of fifty different nations, chosen from the leadership of the Christian communities which they represented. They came together to discuss a combination of difficult and baffling situations—social, economic, racial, international and religious. This book has been taught by Mrs. George Self who has for a number of years been our Supt. of Mission Study and who has efficiently and faithfully fulfilled the duties of that office. At this meeting she resigned the local office in order to be able to assume the duties of Supt. of Mission Study of the Northwest Texas Conference to which she has recently been appointed. We are sorry to lose her in this capacity but are proud of the honor thus bestowed upon her and upon our society.

On the afternoon of October 28, a Japanese tea was given at the home of Mrs. Oscar Boman with Mesdames Boman, Henry Ferguson and George Self as hostesses. The guests were met at the door by Mrs. Ferguson who was dressed in Japanese costume and each was given a flower with which to adorn her hair and was asked to be seated on a cushion on the floor, according to Japanese custom. A very interesting program was carried out, the main feature of which was a playlet, "The Home of Pak Jinsha," a portrayal of the changes of the Japanese homes into which Christ has entered. Those who presented the playlet were Mesdames A. Y. Beverly, H. K. Edwards, W. B. Johnson, H. J. Ferguson and Mrs. McGowan. The house was artistically decorated in chrysanthemums, the favorite flower of Japan. After viewing a collection of curios brought from Japan by Mrs. Boman, who visited that country several years ago, refreshments of tea, sandwiches and cakes were served.—Pub. Supt.

EDUCATION FOR ALL Years ago, education was conceived as something which could only be had by the wealthy people, or by persons of intense desire for learning. The United States has led in the idea of creating public schools for the benefit of all children. But even in this country this plan did not become firmly established until about 100 years ago. In Europe up to a comparatively recent date, the schools, except those conducted by churches, were commonly run as private enterprises and the parents paid for education of their children. If a child's parents could not pay his chances of education were very poor. Our generous country says that every child is entitled to an education, and we propose to give him what he is able to assimilate without direct cost to his family. The way is wide open for the child of the humblest family. If a child has ambition he should not fail to obtain an education. In these times he can find light work after school and on Saturdays and vacations by which he can earn money to pay for such expenses as his parents are not able to meet. No obstacle usually exists to the education of any child except his own lack of ambition. Our system is of course not perfect. Children who can not learn easily from books need some different kind of treatment, which is not always given them. Many children who have good minds suffer from physical defects and more should be done for them. But our public schools have done wonders to increase American intelligence and give our country a foremost place in the world. If automobile dealers allowed their customers to place a value on their second hand cars for trade-in purposes, it would be too bad if his conscience fixed the price.

Frequently we retad where prisoners escape by scaling the walls, which is better than having justice tip the scales. Persons who are accustomed to having their way will be surprised, no doubt, on judgment day. Dogs and cats have a habit of bing at the moon, and it would be nice thing if calamity howlers would do the same. Snow generally ushers in winter and it most generally is an uncome usher.

HONOR ROLL FOR FIRST 6 WEEKS IS ANNOUNCED

The list of pupils of the Crowell schools to be placed on the honor roll for the first six weeks of school has been submitted to the News by I. T. Graves, superintendent.

It is more difficult to get on the honor roll this year than last as the rules now require higher percentages.

To be on the scholarship honor roll a pupil is required to not make below 80 per cent on any one subject or to make an average of 90 per cent if any grade is below 80 per cent.

To be on the high school honor roll a pupil is required to not make below 90 per cent in any one subject or to make an average of 95 per cent if any grade is below 90 per cent.

Airplane Used by Conoco to Introduce Germ-Processed Oil

Another evidence of the value of aviation to big business is found in the trans-continental tour of the Continental Oil Company's six-place Travelair cabin monoplane, "Conoco No. 2," leaving Denver on October 25, on a trip that carries it through the Rocky Mountain states, across the middle-west, to the Atlantic seaboard and back to Denver—a total of over 8,000 miles.

The tour is planned for the purpose of acquainting the Continental Oil Company's sales forces with the details of a new oil, prior to public announcement of the product, which will be known as "Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil."

Technologists of the Continental Company authorize the statement that the new Conoco "Germ-Processed" Motor Oil will be a revolutionizing factor in automotive and general mechanical lubrication. They state that it is a highly patented process. Details of the claims for the new oil are to be explained to sales groups at the various points of call of the "Conoco No. 2." A stop of approximately one day is being made at each city.

Stops for the plane are scheduled at Salt Lake City, Butte, Great Falls, Chicago, New York, Richmond, Kansas City, Ponca City, Wichita Falls, Albuquerque and then back to Denver.

Lubbock Contractor Out With Facts

J. W. Thompson Tells of Benefits He Has Derived From Orgatone

"I can testify to the value of Orgatone because it has done more to rid me of my trouble and build me up than anything I have ever taken," said J. W. Thompson, of 1614 Fifth Street, in relating his experience with Orgatone while talking to the Orgatone representative, Mr. Thompson is a well-known contractor of Lubbock.

"For about a year," continued Mr. Thompson, "I suffered from stomach trouble and liver trouble. I was in general run-down condition, was nervous and restless all the time, but what I could eat would sour on my stomach and the gas would bloat me up so badly I could hardly breathe. I had a chronic case of constipation and was forced to take strong laxatives most all the time. Many nights I just couldn't go to sleep, for I was so nervous and restless and when I would get up in the morning I'd feel all tired and worn out.

"I was in this condition when I began reading about Orgatone, and how it was helping others who were suffering, as I was, so I made up my mind to give it a trial and I have only taken one bottle and I certainly notice a big change. I have a splendid appetite and I eat anything and everything I want. Gas doesn't bother me anymore, and I am not nearly as nervous as I was. I feel better than I have in several months. Orgatone is a wonderful medicine and I feel that it has saved me from a nervous break-down, which might have proven serious. I am glad to recommend Orgatone to my friends."

Genuine Orgatone may be obtained in Crowell at the Reeder Drug Store. (Adv.)

HERE IS $5,000 ALREADY SACKED

WILL YOU PAY THE TAXES ON IT FOR IT?

Why work yourself to death sacking money to pay taxes on when you can have any amount you want simply by paying the taxes?

Really, you will not be required to pay—instead of paying you will merely deposit the taxes; and then at the end of the term of years you have named, all your tax money will be returned to you with interest.

In addition to this straight out savings plan you may have these outstanding features embodied in your contract:

First—And a very important thing to consider, you may not live to finish your plan. So, if you die a natural death all deposits will stop and the $5,000.00 will be paid to your wife, your parents, your creditor, or whoever you have named to receive it.

Second—And this is a good one. If you are killed in an accident or die from accidental means, the deposits will stop and instead of paying the person you have named to receive the $5,000.00 the Alamo Life Insurance Company will pay $10,000.00.

Third—And this is worth understanding. You may lose your health and lose all your money trying to regain that lost health, but this $5,000.00 sack of money will stay with you without further cost in deposits, and besides this you will receive fifty dollars per month each month as long as you live or until your contract has reached its maturity and date when you will be paid the $5,000.00 in cold cash.

Any man within the age limit who can pass the simple physical and moral examination surely can meet the small deposits required to arrange for this sack of money. It will be the safest and surest investment he can possibly make, and in 90 chances out of every hundred it will pay the biggest dividends. You owe it to your family if you die and you owe it to your own old age if you live. Come in and let me tell you more and you owe it to your own old age if you live. Come in and let us tell you more

Tremendous Amount Railroad Equipment Retired from Service

A railroad train 5,740 miles long could be made of the equipment retired from service by the Class 1 railways of the United States in the last seven years, while the new locomotives, freight cars and passenger train cars installed in service like roads in the same period would make a train 7,342 miles in length.

Calculations are made from statistics appearing in "Railway Facts No. 7," the final 1929 edition of the Western Railways' Committee on Public Relations.

Included in this 7,342-mile train of new equipment would be 237 miles of locomotives, 6,851 passenger-cars, and 254 miles of freight train cars. This equipment would be in straight line from New York to Jacksonville, then to Los Angeles, to San Francisco, and back to New York, after the first engine reaches the last car, it would be just less than an hour, it would take 10 hours for this entire train to pass a given point.

That this new equipment installed is much larger and more powerful than the old equipment retired is shown by the fact that from 1921 to 1928 the power of the average locomotive in service was increased almost 50 percent, while the carrying capacity of the average freight car was increased almost 8 percent.

In addition, the foregoing material, the way plant, service, rates, on the employees, and on the increasing efficiency and economy of operation that have been made in recent years.
