She is a member of the Adelphean Club and has held various offices in it.

Mr. Girsch was formerly in the employ of a lumber company at Winograd, Wisconsin. He resigned his position there on May 23 to take care of personal business affairs preparatory to the wedding.

First Load of 1931 Wheat Brought to Foard City Elevator

The first load of 1931 Foard County wheat was brought to the Self-Bell Grain Co. elevator at Foard City Tuesday afternoon by E. V. Halbert. This elevator is operated jointly by B. W. Self and J. W. Bell and is run by John Lilly. The wheat was grown on Mr. Halbert's farm west of Foard City. It tested 56 pounds and as a premium for the first load fifty cents per bushel was paid.

The first load of Foard wheat was brought in last year on June 6 by John Carter, two days earlier than this year.

Que Miller Brings First Load of Wheat To local Elevator

The first Foard County wheat for 1931 that was brought to Crowell came in Wednesday afternoon and was delivered to the Bell Mill and Elevator Co. It was grown by Que Miller on Mrs. N. A. Crowell's place, about four miles southwest of Crowell and tested 59 pounds. A special price of 50 cents per bushel was paid for the wheat.

Dr. R. L. Kincaid had the first load of wheat brought in to the Hughton elevator Thursday morning. It tested 61 pounds, number one. It was grown on his place, just south of Crowell.

Several loads of wheat were brought to the local elevators Thursday.

TWO FORMS OF SMUT APPEAR IN FOARD CO.

Smut in two forms has been discovered in several fields of wheat throughout the county. Loose smut is one of these and shows up on the outside of the grain. It results in a complete head being a loss and gets its name because of the fact that the first wind blows it from the stalk to the ground and unless examination is made when the wheat first heads it is more or less difficult to discover.

Stinking smut has also made an appearance this year. Instead of being found on the outside of the grain, the inside of the grain and when the grain is broken it has a decidedly bad odor, which explains the reason for its name, stinking smut.

These diseases may be combated in the state of prevalence at this time if everyone will co-operate with the object in view of preventing its spread, according to the county agent, Fred Rennels. Everyone in selecting their planting seed for the next season should be sure that it comes from clean seed and with no opportunity to become inoculated with the smut spores, or it should be treated.

The control for loose smut is a hot-water treatment of the seed immediately before planting, while control of stinking smut is accomplished with copper-carbonate dust. Either of the treatments are not difficult or very expensive.

"Fighting Caravans," featuring Gary Cooper and Lily Damita is one of the big features that the Rialto will show next week. It will be shown on Wednesday and Thursday. "Don't Bet on Women" is being shown this Friday and Saturday and "Part Time Wife" is to be shown on Monday and Tuesday.

SINGING AT FOARD CITY

A singing is to be conducted at Foard City Sunday afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock. An invitation is extended to the public to attend the event.

FEEDING OF WHEAT TO POULTRY, DAIRY COWS, BEEF CATTLE AND HOGS URGED BY COUNTY AGENT

"In spite of depressing times we should be able to see a brighter side to conditions," stated Fred Rennels, county agent. "With the county full of wheat and oats and the fact that these products may be fed to dairy cattle, poultry, hogs, horses, beef cattle, and also the fact that they may be traded to the mill in exchange for flour and meal, our people should be able to establish to a great extent a real live-at-home program and times are not so bad as they might be otherwise."

With the cheap price now being paid for wheat and oats the feeding of livestock and poultry should prove the most profitable outlet for a portion of these products. Even with the low prices for livestock and poultry and their products, the fact that these products may be consumed at home still makes a feeding program of this type attractive.

For Hogs

One hundred pounds of pork may be produced from four hundred pounds of the proper kind of feed, principally wheat, according to practical feeding tests.

Three hundred and forty pounds of ground wheat, supplemented with sixty pounds of tankage, placed before the hogs in self-feeders, where they balance their own rations, has proven a satisfactory and convenient method of producing pork, according to these tests.

"Ground wheat is approximately fifteen per cent more efficient than whole wheat fed either dry or soaked," Mr. Rennels stated.

Wheat may also be used as the principal ingredient in a poultry ration. In mixing the big five A. & M. ration, which has proven popular in this section, ground wheat may be substituted for shorts and bran.

The big five ration is composed of 100 pounds of yellow corn meal, 100 pounds of meat scraps, or cotton seed meal, 100 pounds of ground oats, 100 pounds of wheat bran and 100 pounds of wheat shorts. Two hundred pounds of ground wheat may be substituted for these last two items, according to Mr. Rennels. Wheat may also be fed in its natural state as a scratch grain for poultry. Oats may also be used for this purpose.

"Wheat cannot be used as a grain feed for dairy cows to the exclusion of all other grains, however, it may be substituted from one-third to one-half of grain ration for dairy cows. Ground wheat and ground oats together make an excellent ration," the county agent stated. This ration depends upon the other ingredients that the farmer has to mix with these two products and is mixed in accordance with the amount and type of roughage that there is on hand for feeding dairy stock.

A farmer may secure a suitable formula for the various rations at the office of the county agent.

Although wheat has not been used extensively in fattening beef cattle, sheep and hogs, yet in practical feeding tests, it has proven almost equal to corn in the production of beef, pork and mutton. The champion car lot of beef cattle at the Kansas City livestock show during 1930 was fed on a ration which consisted principally of wheat.

Foard County has both the cattle and wheat and 1931 should show more feeding of beef cattle than any time in the history of this section.

When used as a breakfast food wheat is worth close to eight dollars per bushel. Miss Dosca Hale, home demonstration agent states that farmers are selling their wheat for forty cents or less per bushel and buying breakfast foods made from wheat at the rate of $8.00 per bushel. Breakfast food of even better food value can be made right at home from the farmer's own wheat, according to Miss Hale.

APPENDICITIS OPERATION

Miss Betty Borchardt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Borchardt of the Beaver community, was brought to the Crowell hospital Saturday morning, when an operation was performed on her for acute appendicitis. She is still in the hospital and is getting along nicely.

AFTER THE DEPRESSION — WHAT?

The following interesting facts concerning business depressions have been furnished The News by the Publishers Autocaster Service of New York City. Rockwell Smith, a real estate man of Van Nuys, California, compiled these facts, which should be valuable in predicting the future. He went through a file of newspapers back to the 1850's and finds these facts:

- There was a business depression in 1857 lasting twelve months.
- There was a business depression in 1869 lasting eight months.
- There was a business depression in 1873 lasting thirty months.
- There was a business depression in 1884 lasting twenty-two months.
- There was a business depression in 1887 lasting ten months.
- There was a business depression in 1893 lasting twenty-five months.
- There was a business depression in 1903 lasting twenty-five months.
- There was a business depression in 1907 lasting nearly 12 months.
- There was a business depression in 1914 lasting eight months.
- There was a business depression in 1921 lasting fourteen months.

The important thing about these past panics, however, is that every one of them has been followed by flush times, and the longer the depression lasted, the longer and more active the "boom."

The present depression has now lasted nearly twenty months. We can hardly say that the "boom" which will surely follow it has begun, but it is clearly on its way. And when it comes—oh, boy!

Miss Lucille Ellis Is Married to Geo. Verne Walden Here Saturday

The wedding of Miss Lucille Ellis, daughter of B. F. Ellis, to George Verne Walden, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Walden of Lubbock, took place at the home of the bride's father Saturday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. Only relatives and intimate friends of the couple were present.

The reception rooms were decorated with cut flowers. Miss Anna Mae Ellis greeted the guests and Miss Gussie Rich presided over the bride's book. The vows were taken before an improvised altar of ferns and floor baskets, filled with pink and white larkspur, and tall pink cathedral candles. Frances Davis, niece of the bride, and Helen Harwell held an entwined arch that formed a passage for the entrance of the bridal party.

For the pre-nuptial music Miss Mary Clayton Giddings played "Melody of Love" and Miss Hallie Mae Johnson sang "Dearest Mine" accompanied by Miss Dorothy Florence Hinds who also played Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

The minister, the Rev. Elmer Crabtree of Rule, former pastor and friend of the groom, entered first and was followed by the groom and his best man, Mason Brown. Miss Winnie Thomson was maid of honor. She wore a yellow floor length organdie frock with yellow slippers and a large hat of yellow straw and carried sunburst roses. She entered and approached the altar alone followed by the flower girl, little Billie Jo Walden, niece of the groom, who was dainty in blue dotted swiss. The bride entered on the arm of her father, B. F. Ellis, who gave her in marriage. She was lovely in a floor length model of blue organdie over pink satin, with pink slippers and a blue and pink garden hat. She carried a shower bouquet of pink sweetheart roses. Miss Hinds played "The Flower Song" softly during the beautiful double ring ceremony.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. G. B. Walden of Lubbock, B. F. Ellis of Abernathy and Billie Jo Walden of Pecos.

Miss Ellis has been reared in Crowell, being a graduate of Crowell High School and a former student in Baylor College at Belton. She has been a popular teacher in the Crowell schools for the past three years.

Mr. Walden has resided in Crowell for almost exactly a year, in which time he has served as station agent for the Santa Fe Railway. Before coming to this city he was the station agent for the Santa Fe at Southland, Texas.

Immediately after the wedding the young couple left for a short visit to Medicine Park Oklahoma. They returned to Crowell Tuesday and are now residing in the home of Mrs. Joe Johnson.

LEGISLATOR OF THIS DISTRICT VISITOR HERE

George Moffett of Chillicothe, representative of the 114th district in the Texas Legislature, was a visitor in Crowell Wednesday. While here he spoke at the luncheon of the Rotary Club and visited a number of friends during the day. The district he represents is composed of Foard, Hardeeman, Knox and King counties.

Mr. Moffett was the author of two bills that attracted considerable attention and while both passed the house, neither got through the senate.

One of these was a bill to stimulate and promote new uses for cotton through the establishment of a state bureau and a cotton research laboratory at a suitable location that would be used in searching for new uses for cotton and for applying laboratory tests and making experiments.

Mr. Moffett stated that he gained this idea from watching cotton duck being used as a layer between paving material near Gonzales, Texas. He asked, why couldn't hundreds of other uses be found for cotton if proper research was made? "The individual farmer is in no position to seek out new uses for cotton, however, the state should," Mr. Moffett stated. He pointed out that each year more and more cotton is being produced in foreign countries and cited Russia as an example where millions of bales are being produced where no cotton was grown several years ago. He stated that every major industry, such as the auto, carried on extensive research work and that the cotton industry would have to do the same if it was to exist in the face of increased production throughout the world. Since Texas is by far the largest cotton producing state, it is logical for this state to take the lead in this matter, he pointed out.

This bill received a majority vote in the house but was pigeon-holed by the senate. It received endorsements from many different sources.

Representation Bill

The other bill introduced by Mr. Moffett was a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution of Texas which provided that under no apportionment shall any county be entitled to more than five representatives unless the population of such county shall exceed five hundred thousand people, providing for (Continued on Last Page)

Crowell Grain Men Prepared to Handle Foard Grain Harvest

The grain elevators of Foard County are now prepared to handle the big wheat crop and most of them have already received their first loads.

The T. L. Hughton Grain Co. has Curtis Thurman of Anson, nephew of T. L. Hughton, in charge of the Crowell elevator, with W. W. Boyd in charge of weighing and testing the grain. H. A. Bare and Roland Lefevre are in charge of the elevator at Foard City. L. A. Andrews and Mr. Hughton are looking after the work of the company at the office in the First State Bank Building.

Pete Bell and Lewis Ballard are in charge of the Bell elevator and J. W. Bell is supervising the work of grain selling. He and B. W. Self are operating an elevator jointly at Foard City which is in the charge of John Lilly.

L. G. Andrews is in charge of the Crowell elevator for the Self Grain Company and Roy Ayers is in charge of the elevator at Margaret. Miss Allison Self is assisting her father, B. W. Self, in the office work.

Broken Leg Received By Young Crowell Boy

Bobbie Spears, eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Spears of this city, received a broken leg while playing "raining-through" on the O. O. Hollingsworth lawn Wednesday evening at about 8 o'clock.

Two of his playmates fell on his right leg, causing it to break between the knee and the hip. He was taken to the hospital, where it was set.

Foard Grain Men Attend Grading School

B. W. Self, L. G. Andrews, Floyd Thomas and A. T. Schooley, all of Crowell, John Lilly of Foard City, and Roy Ayers of Margaret attended a wheat grading school at Lubbock last Friday. All of the above are members of the grain buying staff of Self Grain Co. W. B. Wilkins of Paducah, who is to buy grain for Mr. Self at Paducah, also attended the school.

It was conducted under the supervision of Mr. Morris of Kansas City, federal grain supervisor, and C. W. Griffin of Fort Worth, federal grain supervisor for the Fort Worth Grain Exchange.

Over 125 grain men were in attendance and the meeting was a very interesting one, according to Mr. Self. Various steps in the grading of wheat were thoroughly explained.

Annual Census of Texas Farms Plan of New State Law

Austin, Tex., June 11.—Plans were laid here today by state and federal department of agriculture officials for administration of Texas' new farm census law, just approved by Governor Ross Sterling.

The law will be administered jointly by Carl Robinson, senior statistician for the bureau of crop economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, and J. E. McDonald, commissioner of the Texas department. Some eighteen other states already have joint state-federal bureaus of statistics.

The law provided for an annual and continuous farm census, to include acreage, production and livestock. It was sponsored in the legislature by Representatives Westbrook, Olsen and Tarwater, at the request of state and federal agriculture departments, Texas A. & M. College and the Bureau of Business Research, University of Texas.

Heretofore the only statistical information regarding Texas farming was the census taken every five years by the federal government. Because of rapidly changing conditions in the state, this was seldom accurate—often inaccurate by the time it was available after completion of the census.

This was a handicap, the officials pointed out, not only to agriculture but to industry as well. Not only was the crop economics statisticians forced to base their estimates on figures which might have been obsolete; industry planning expansion into a new territory had no exact information concerning the resources of that territory.

One such instance was when a creamery planned establishment of a new branch factory in one Texas community, but before coming to the community demanded a complete agricultural survey. Anxious to obtain the new industry, this community's chamber of commerce paid the expenses of a survey.

The annual census will be taken by county tax assessors, adding an important new function to their office. It will be augmented, and used as a basis for, the weekly and monthly estimates of the federal department, which now will be prepared jointly by the two departments.

"For the first time," Commissioner McDonald commented, "we will now have a background for agricultural and what are the possibilities of our being able to determine what we have and what are the possibilities of our natural resources."

When officers asked a farmer near Arlington, Tex., why he was making his wife pull the plow, he answered, "Because I haven't got a horse."

In a divorce suit in Chicago, Jay D. Weaver charges that his wife tried to take his life with gas but his dog saved it by arousing him.

GREED

If any writer were big enough to gather up all the thousands of stories of the stock market crash, he would have material for the Great American Novel.

For the bull market, and the catastrophe which ended it, represented all that is best and worst in the American character; our optimism, which is at once our strength and our weakness; our rest less desire to better our condition by any available means; our worthy ambition and our unworthy greed.

One of the best of the market stories was told me by a celebrated surgeon whose name I can not reveal.

"I work hard for my money," he said, "and have never speculated. However, the fever got me finally, like everybody else. There was one particular stock which was a favorite in my city. Bank presidents and boot-blacks were in it together; it went up by leaps and bounds.

"Against all my traditions, I bought several hundred shares. It continued to climb; I had profit of many thousand dollars.

"One night my wife saw me making penciled calculations on the margin of the newspaper. She said I ought not to be worrying about stocks, and she urged me to sell out and never think about the market again.

"I argued that by holding on for another ten points we could pay for the wing which she wanted to build on the house.

"While we were still talking, my little girl came in to ask my help on her Latin lesson for the next day. It was the translation of Aesop's fable of the dog and the bone. The dog, you remember, saw his reflection in the water and, thinking it was another dog whose bone he would steal, reached down with open jaws and lost his own bone.

"The moral of the fable was, 'Greed usually results in the loss of everything.'

"That night when I went to bed I could not sleep. The fable kept running through my mind. First thing next morning I telephoned my broker to sell me out. It happened that the stock went up a few more points but a couple of weeks later it dropped like a shot. I was very lucky, and had sense enough not to think I had been smart. You can bet that I am done with speculating forever."

I hope that when this editorial is printed we may be in the midst of good times, with increasing business and a rising market. In that case, some young man may see it and appreciate the reminder that "greed usually results in the loss of everything."

"Temptation" for the morning and "Satan, a God and a Prince" for the evening will be the sermon subjects Sunday.
Choir practice and the singing class meet each Wednesday evening. Come and join them both and help us develop a real good choir before our meeting in August.
Rev. Al B. Nelson of Quanah begins a meeting at the Margaret church next Sunday afternoon and we are asked to send a good number of singers to that service. The gospel team will have charge of the Sunday evening service there.
We are planning a new special feature for the teaching service, which will be explained next Sunday morning.

"Be not weary in well doing for in due season ye shall reap if ye faint not."
C. V. ALLEN, Pastor.

At The Methodist Church
Sunday School at 9:45 a. m. Laymen's address at 11 a. m. Preaching at 8:30 p. m. Epworth League at 7:30 p. m. Woman's Missionary Society Monday at 4 p. m. Prayermeeting Wednesday at 8 p. m.
Next Sunday will be laymen's day. We hope to have a full house for the program and address by a layman. The laymen of our church are doing a very fine, constructive work. Many are being called into active service that is very helpful to the church. There is something that we all can do, if we would only be ready and willing to do it.
We hope to have a larger congregation at the evening hour, and will try to have a message that will be appreciated.

The doors will swing open, and a welcome will be extended to each and every person coming to the Methodist Church.
B. J. OSBORN, Pastor.

Baptist Church News
Sunday, June 7, was a day of worship and service in our ranks. The spirit ran high. There were two additions to the church during the day. The pastor spoke at the morning hour on "The Triumphant Church," and at the evening hour on "The Precious Blood of Christ." At 10:00 in the afternoon on "The Parable of the Sowers."
We were delighted to have Prof. H. F. Hatley of Wichita Falls lead our singing Sunday morning. During the day we had a number of visitors with us. Among them were Mrs. Claude Adams, Palacios, Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. Baker of Westlake, Texas.
All departments of the Sunday School made good grades. Some are forming the habit of not staying for church. This is the shortest road to back-sliding.
The pastor plans to preach at the morning hour next Sunday on "Sabbath Observance and Sunday Laws," and at the evening hour, "Our Young People—Are They Better or Worse Than They Were 40 Years Ago?" Come hear these discussions.

Sunday school 9:45, preaching at 11 and 8:15, B. Y. P. U. Training Service at 7:15, prayermeeting at 8 p. m. Wednesday. The Dorcas class will have full charge of the prayer service next Wednesday evening. Come and back them in this good work.
A welcome awaits one and all. A good place to spend Sunday—First Baptist Church.
WOODIE W. SMITH, Pastor.

Christian Science Churches
"God the only Cause and Creator" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, June 7.
The golden text was from Psalms 33:8, 9, "Let all the earth fear the Lord; let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him. For he spoke, and it stood; he commanded, and it stood fast."
Included in the service was the following passage from the Bible (John 1:1, 3): "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. All things were made by him; and without him was not anything made that was made."

The lesson-sermon also included the following citation from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 243):
"Mind is not the author of matter, and the creator of ideas is not the creator of illusions. Either there is no omnipotence, or omnipotence is the only power. God is the infinite, and infinity never began, will never end, and includes nothing unlike God."
Christian Endeavor Program
The Christian Endeavor Society will have a friendship meeting at the church Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Girls invite a friend each, for your group. Boys invite a friend each, for your group, and let's have more boys than girls at the friendship meeting.
Contest will be the main feature of the program.—Reporter.

Sunday School Lesson
International Sunday School Lesson for June 14
THE RESURRECTION AND THE ASCENSION
Luke 24:25-40; 4:51
Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.
First read the accounts in all the gospels and work out an itinerary for all the people named in the lesson. Very early after the Jewish Sabbath was over, a group of named women go forth to the tomb where the body of Jesus had been placed late Friday afternoon that they might complete the embalming for which there had not been time at the burial. On the way they raise the problem about how the heavy stone can be rolled back from the mouth of the sepulchre. As is so often the case, advance worry never accomplishes anything and with blessed frequency the supposed trouble is removed before we arrive.
Meanwhile the resurrection of the body of Jesus had taken place and an angel was there to make the precious announcement.
As Mary Magdalene tarried near the open tomb hunting for the body He appeared to her, even as he did to others that day and in all about fifteen times during the coming forty days. In the late afternoon the event took place which is recorded in the lesson text. As a familiar friend He drew near to walk and talk with the two of them to Emmaus, a few miles from Jerusalem. He became known to them when He asked the blessing upon the food after being persuaded to sup with them. This glorious news was taken to the ten in Jerusalem that night, when He came into their midst. After giving that standing commission about preaching the Gospel everywhere He departed from them at Bethany and returned to His rightful place on the Throne with the Father in heaven.

merely want what they want, without regard to their higher needs, they go down step by step. The steps may be small, scarcely perceptible, but they go down. We never stand still. We either become finer men or coarser men; either better or worse.
And if we aim to give the people just what they want, we must keep step with them; ever a little lower. The history of the theatre has periods when the downward trend ended in degradation that filled even coarse men with nausea, and refined men with indignation.
On the other hand what we give to the people may be too lofty for them, so that they will turn away because they do not understand. That would be a mistake. The ideal is to give the people always a little better than they want. We must come near enough to their level to touch them and raise them. Higher and higher; ever a little higher, even as a good teacher leads his pupils.
That is God's way. He adapts himself to our understanding and gently leads us upwards. No book teaches this better than the Bible. He comes down to us. God enters human life to make us godly.

LUCKY
 A road across the state of Kentucky from Louisville southward into Tennessee a few days ago. The Dixie highway, short route from Chicago to Florida, runs through the county of Abraham Lincoln's forefathers. At the night at Elizabethtown, seat of Hardin County, just miles from Hodgenville, Lincoln's birthplace.

Two years ago I went to Louisville on the one hundredth anniversary of Lincoln's birth, Feb. 12, 1909, in company with President Roosevelt, whose last trip as President of the United States was to lay the cornerstone of the Lincoln Memorial. Even as recently as that there was not a single automobile in Hardin County, and no one that a car could negotiate, if it had been any.

Judge by the brisk trade in the shops of Elizabethtown, the patronage of its modern Hardin County today, like the Kentucky, is immensely more than in 1909, in spite of the hard times. The automobile has done more for rural areas in twenty years than any single agency in a hundred years.

ward from Hardin County the Highways runs through the limestone ridge where water and ponds drain through the buried caverns. Mammoth Cave, largest of them all, in a subterranean river swim fish eyes, has been taken over by the Federal Government as a national park. There are hundreds of caves, competing for tourists by signs along the highway. A rising large number of people admission to get the eerie of descending into the interior.

ers College at Bowling Green, spent years persuading the state authorities that beautiful surroundings in a school had a definite cultural value for the students. He has built on top of a hill, overlooking a wide, lovely valley, a group of buildings, including gymnasium and stadium, which are the most perfect examples of classic Greek architecture I have ever seen.

The pure beauty of line which these buildings and the colonnade above the field exhibit stir the deepest artistic sensibilities. Around each of the buildings flanking the stadium is a deep frieze in the Greek manner, depicting athletes in action. These bas-relief figures are colored, the way the ancient Greeks used to paint their statues. We see statuary in museums in pure white marble but do not realize that the originals were painted over the stone in natural colors.

Dr. Cherry has created a thing of beauty which will be a joy forever to the youth of Western Kentucky.

TOBACCO

All the way across the state I passed through the burley tobacco country, the tobacco fields plowed and harrowed and almost ready for transplanting the plants from the canvas-covered seed-beds. Cigarette manufacturers are responsible for the increased prosperity of the burley tobacco growers. Up to a few years ago only the Virginia bright tobacco was used in cigarettes. Then the American Tobacco Company developed and promoted a cigarette made of the burley leaf. And now many of the popular brands are made of this Kentucky-grown tobacco.

HORSES

Approaching the Tennessee border there were more horses and fewer motor cars. South of the ridge the country resembles the blue grass region of eastern Kentucky. It is wonderful pasture and hay land, in which livestock flourishes. There are no pines in the region around Gallatin, Tennessee, where Opie Read grew up. Cedars are the only native evergreens. It is an ideal horse country, and a group of wealthy men have established an estate of twenty-eight square miles on the north bank of the Cumberland River, where they keep their saddle horses and a fine pack of hounds for fox hunting, and enjoy life as it used to be lived on the old English estate.

Considerably more than half the young people of the city picniced by moonlight on the shore of the Orient tank four miles south of town Tuesday night. There were some chaperons in each wagon, and still the havoc wrought by the irresistible combination of shimmering moonlight on the dancing waters and the tender sentiments of bewitching maidens, poured forth in love songs, is said to have been something awful. Many a boastful swain who had gaily gone forth full of self-confidence took the cork clean under and was landed high and dry before he knew he was biting. They took luncheon and bathing suits along and remained till the clock in the steeple struck twelve and then some. They do say that Tully and Stovey and the Colonel look charming in mother hoods and bathing suits. P. S. The News prints the prettiest wedding cards ever.

Christian Science Churches "God the only Cause and Creator" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, June 7. The golden text was from Psalms 33:8, 9. "Let all the earth fear the Lord; let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him. For he spoke, and it was done; he commanded, and it stood fast."

that was made." The lesson-sermon also included the following citation from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 249): "Mind is not the author of matter, and the creator of ideas is not the creator of illusions. Either there is no omnipotence, or omnipotence is the only power. God is the infinite, and infinity never began, will never end, and includes nothing unlike God."

ple merely want what they want, without regard to their higher needs, they go down step by step. The steps may be small, scarcely perceptible, but they go down. We never stand still. We either become finer men or coarser men; either better or worse.

And if we aim to give the people just what they want, we must keep step with them; ever a little lower. The history of the theatre has periods when the downward trend ended in degradation that filled even coarse men with nausea, and refined men with indignation.

On the other hand what we give to the people may be too lofty for them, so that they will turn away because they do not understand. That would be a mistake. The ideal is to give the people always a little better than they want. We must come near enough to their level to touch them, and raise them. Higher and higher; ever a little higher, even as a good teacher leads his pupils.

That is God's way. He adapts himself to our understanding and gently leads us upwards. No book teaches this better than the Bible. He comes down to us. God enters human life to make us godly.

R. B. EDWARDS CO.

Mr. Moffett stated that this resolution was introduced in order to keep a few big counties from eventually ruling Texas. This resolution passed the house by a vote of 107 to 21 and lacked but one vote in gaining the necessary two-thirds majority in the senate. In regard to this resolution Mr. Moffett had the following statements to make:

"In the last ten years the population of Texas has increased 1,191,000 and thirty-two and one-half per cent of the increase took place in three counties, while 20 counties actually lost people. Where will this lead us to? It is not the present condition that is so alarming, but it is the condition that will come about when two or three of our larger cities grow into a million or more.

"Would it be for the welfare of the state as a whole for a few counties to ultimately control the state government? Many other states have thoughtfully provided against this condition by writing precautionary provisions into their state constitutions. For example, in Georgia the 3 counties having the largest population shall have 3 representatives each, and the next 26 in size shall have 2 each, and the remaining counties, one representative.

"In Florida every county must have at least one member, but no county may have over three.

"Over thirty state constitutions provide that each county regardless of its population, shall have at least one member in the house of representatives and many of them, in addition to the others mentioned, definitely limit the maximum number which the larger counties may have.

"If so many other states have adopted the principle of a different ratio of representation for sparsely settled and densely populated areas, this same principle ought to be doubly applicable in Texas, which is the state with the most far flung boundaries and the broadest variety of interests. Concentration of power would be unwise in a state, with such a variety of climate, conditions and people. El Paso is closer to Los Angeles than to Texas. Texarkana is closer to Chicago than to El Paso and Dalhart is closer to North Dakota than to Brownsville.

"If we continue our present system, our largest county would be entitled to 9 members, another to 8, and another to 7. In twenty years more these same counties would almost certainly have 18, 16 and 14, respectively.

"The danger in continuing our present system is not altogether in the fact that one county will obtain such a large number of members, but the fact that as more and more of the 150 members in the house are allocated to three or four counties there will be fewer members left to be allocated to the other 249 counties of the state.

"There are three members now who represent ten-county districts, and one member represents 13 counties. Since more than half of the states do not apportion representatives on a strictly population basis and since a large number place restriction on the number that any one county may have, it would not be improper for Texas to do likewise.

"This matter is not a new principle of government. The Federal government recognizes it to the fullest extent. The president and vice-president may not come from the same state. Nevada, with 92,000 has a member in Congress, yet the correct ratio is 275,000. In the election of the voters in the more sparsely settled areas have more weight than voters in the densely populated areas.

"Nevada, with 92,000 people has 3 votes in the electoral college while New York with 12,588,000 people, or 137 times the population, has only 13 times as many votes in the electoral college."

FOOTBALL STAR VISITS

FOOT HURT LAST FRIDAY IN AUTO ACCIDENT HERE

Robert Oswald, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Oswald, had two toes on his right foot seriously mashed in an auto accident here last Friday night.

Robert was riding on the fender of the coupe driven by Ray Shirley when it struck another car parked in front of Ferguson Bros. His foot was caught between the two connecting bumpers in such a manner as to almost sever one toe. The two toes hurt were next to the big toe and it was thought for awhile that one would have to be amputated, however, Dr. J. M. Hill states that this will not be necessary now. Robert is now getting about on crutches.

LARGE SPLINTER REMOVED

Word has been received by Mrs. Ernest Crosnoe that her nephew, Darrel Meaders, of Clarendon is getting along nicely following the removal of a splinter, 8 to 10 inches in length, from his leg at a Clarendon hospital.

The accident occurred while the young boy was here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Meaders, who were visiting in the Crosnoe home. The splinter pierced his flesh deeply when he was descending at a rapid rate on a playground slide near the Crosnoe home.
