CHILDREN WONT OBJECT TO COD LIVER OIL NOW!

Although Puretest Cod Liver Oil has no bad taste, there are some children who imagine it has. For such children, we suggest Puretest Mint-Flavored Cod Liver Oil. Combines a really pleasant flavor with the Puretest standardized content of Vitamins A and D. These health-building vitamins store up in the children the strength they'll need to resist the attacks of colds and other winter ailments. Start giving it to the children and take it yourself before winter sets in. Sold only at Rexall Drug Stores.

if this oil were not the finest and safest motor lubricant yet introduced.

It is the Germ Process which gives Conoco the essential points of superiority that make possible these things: 76% less motor wear; reduced earbon formation; lowered operating temperatures; greater gasoline mileage; resistance to dilution; and instant lubrication at the first touch of the starter.

The Germ Process adds to a supremely fine paraffin base oil, a precious oily essence lacking in all other oils. This makes possible the metal-penetrating safety factor that we call "Penetrative Lubricity." Try this new oil today . . . at the sign of the Red Triangle.

DULL MEN

AM getting old enough now so that some of the little acorns which I saw planted are beginning to show up as quite sizeable

For example, there was an office boy in the place where I worked after leaving college. He was not a bright office boy. "We did not think that he would ever amount to very much. He did not think so himself. He had none of the Vision which we read about. He just kept on keeping on.

Well, the other day I picked up a trade paper, and there was a big photograph of our ex-office boy, and the announcement that he had just been elected president of a rather important company.

As years go on, and the business of the country expands, his company will expand with it, for he will be a careful administrator. And some day his associates will give him a dinner and hail him a great leader, and his picture will be hung in the Board Room.

Perhaps you have read Mr. Woodward's biography of General Grant. If so, you remember that he stood low in his classes at West Point, and was later discharged from the army. When the Civil War broke out he was such a failure that his letter offering his services to his country was not even answered by the War Department.

The army was full of more brilliant men. Halleck, for instance, knew all about tactics. In any crisis he could tell just what Napoleon would have done. McClellan had a touch of genius. What did Grant have?

He had a superstition. When he started out on anything he hated to turn back. It applied even to small things. If, when he left the house in the mornings, he found he had forgotten something he never retraced his steps. 'Always he went forward. And when he came to command armies he did the same thing. Doggedly, ploddingly, but inexorably he pushed ahead.

When I was in college, the President said, "Henry Ward Beecher, when a student in Amherst College, stood at, or near, the foot of the his class. Nearly a hundred years have passed, and Amherst College has produced no second Henry Ward Beecher, though many men have stood at, or near, the foot of their class."

Just being dull, or standing at the foot of the class, is no assurance of success, of course. On the other hand, it is nothing to be discouraged about-a fact of which I see more evidence almost every day.

Texas University Oil Lands Included In Amendment to Be Voted on Nov. 4 Cover An Area Larger Than Delaware

There are fewer acres by two and half sections in the four counties one of the reasons back of submitwhereas it is claimed that exemption of four such counties as those shown in the map would be rank injustice and discrimination. The amendment would correct the present status.

One could hide the state of Delaware with its 2,370 square miles and almost three-fourths of Rhode Island with its 1,248 square miles in the hide each of these counties in university holdings in Crockett alone.

October 21, at the home of Mrs. Geo. versity holdings in Crockett alone, amounting to 356,480 acres—Caldwell, Galveston, Gregg, Hood, Madi-son, Marion, Orange, Titus and Wal-ler. Dealing with smaller counties, Camp, Aransas, Delta, Somervell Morris, Rains or Rockwell could be placed twice within the university acreage in Crockett and be bounded by university lands.
