TWO THOUSAND ACRES TERRACED DURING 1936, ACCORDING TO REPORT BY COUNTY AGENT JOHN NAGY

A total of 2,747 acres of farm land were terraced or contoured in Foard County during 1936, according to the annual report of John Nagy, Foard County Agricultural Agent. These lines were made by the county agent. Other farm engineering projects under the supervision of the agent were the construction of tanks and trench silos.

In the year 1936, according to the report, the work of the county Agricultural Agent was divided into two parts, one part being termed as general assistance rendered to the farmers and ranchmen of the county, and the other the administration of the Agricultural Conservation program.

Approximately forty-five per cent of the agent's time was spent in the Agricultural Conservation program while the rest of his time was spent demonstrating to the farmers how different things should be done. Under the agent's supervision there were held poultry raising and raising demonstrations, terracing and contour demonstrations, and cotton demonstrations. Advice was given along agricultural lines when sought by farmers.

Under the Agricultural Conservation program there were 579 work sheets signed by Foard County farmers. These signers diverted 21,238 acres of cotton land and 8,563 acres of general crop land from depleting crops to soil conserving and soil building practices. To date all except four work sheets which were in compliance have been approved.

Foard County was the second county in the state of Texas to receive five checks on the 1936 Soil Conservation program. The first checks were received Nov. 23, and up to date the farmers of Foard County have been paid $100,272.32 on the 1936 program.

There were also 182 wheat applications in Foard County from which the farmers diverted 1,615 acres of land for which they have received $20,736.03.

Other payments that have been received in connection with the various Government programs are $873.35 as last payment on

COTTON SEED FOR PLANTING NEED TESTING

High Germination Test Necessary for a Good Yield

The quality of seed planted determines to a large extent the quality and yield of the cotton crop to be harvested, stated John Nagy, County Agricultural Agent, Wednesday. If a producer plants seed that have a low germination he will have to plant more seed in order to get a stand and the seed that show low germination test also show a large per cent of weak plants from the seed that do germinate, he also stated.

The agent said further that in many instances where cotton seed from the 1936 cotton crop have had a germination test, the tests have run as low as 40 per cent germination. These tests come in a large measure from seed that the producer saved from his best cotton and these seed were saved back to be used in planting the 1937 crop or to be sold to his neighbor for planting. In cotton in district No. 23, which includes Foard, Hardeman and Knox counties, 48.8 per cent of the cotton produced in 1936 was unmerchantable, less than 3/4 staple and below middling grade, as against 26.5 for the state. That means that the cotton seed that was carried back to the farm to be planted next spring came from cotton that was of low quality. It also stands to reason that the seed will have a very low percentage of germination. For his own protection every farmer should run a germination test or have a test made on the seed which he expects to use in planting his 1937 crop.

A simple test known as the "rag doll test" could be used by the farmer himself, or if enough farmers are interested, arrangements could be made whereby these tests could be made in Crowell at a minimum cost to the farmer. If you are interested in having germination tests made on your seed, it is urged that you communicate with the county agent's office or your ginster and they will co-operate in seeing that the tests are made. It is also

Rialto Replaces Old Style Projector Parts

The Rialto Theatre installed a new style double bearing intermittent movement in each of their two projection machines Wednesday, replacing the old style single bearing movements.

The new intermittent movement is known as "the heart of the projector" and upon it depends the steadiness and sharpness of the picture cast upon the screen. These new parts have two distinct improvements over the old style ones. First, more light is able to reach the screen and a constant flutter of the picture is eliminated. Second, when wear takes place in the old type intermittents a haze is noticeable in the picture from the first few rows and as wear continues this annoyance extends to the rear of the theatre. This is eliminated by the new type.

This type of equipment is being installed by all of the leading theatres.

The deposits showed a gain in the first half of 1936 over 1935, but in the latter half of the year a decrease was shown owing to the extreme dry weather and the resulting short cotton and feed crops.

The points made by the Bobcats as results of fouls kept the Wildcats in hot water throughout the game. The Foard County quintet registered 12 field goals and the Childress lads only sank 8, but they dropped in 7 of the

UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION in TEXAS

How Long Can I Draw Benefits

Question 4: "If I lost my job and was unable to find another, how long could I continue to draw compensation under the Unemployment Compensation Act? Indefinitely?"

Answer: In answering this question, it becomes increasingly plain why the worker must guard his "credits"—the possible benefits or compensation he may draw—and save them for a rainy day. These compensation benefits are meant to reduce unemployment, not to encourage it; and benefits are designed only to help tide a man over from the time he loses one job until he finds another. The number of weeks you can draw compensation depends entirely upon your record of employment in previous months.

To be more exact—for every week you work, you build up a "credit" of one-fourth of a week of benefits. You must work four weeks to build up one week of benefit credit.

But there is another restriction—you cannot use more than 15 of these benefit weeks in any one year.

However, if, in any one year, you are unemployed for longer than 15 weeks, it still may be possible for you to get additional weeks of compensation. The "if" is your previous record of employment.

Under the first provision you build up credits at the rate of one week of benefits for four weeks of work. But after you have used up all your benefits, you still may draw benefits at the rate of one-twentieth of a week of benefits for each week of employment during the preceding 260 weeks or five years.

Let's see how this works out: You have been employed for 260 weeks or five years; then you lose your job. For the first 15 weeks you are out of work and drawing benefits, you use up sixty weeks of credit (at a rate of four-to-one), leaving you a credit of 200 weeks.

Now, the rate changes to twenty-to-one, and at the rate of one week of benefits for each 20 weeks you have worked, you still can draw ten more weeks of benefits.

Therefore, the positive maximum of benefits that a person can draw during any one year is 25 weeks.

How Credits Are Used Up

Question 5: "In the previous article, you described the system of credits. Suppose I am only partially unemployed, and receive only partial benefits. Do I use up four weeks of credits, or twenty weeks as the case may be, for each

In other words, if your partial benefit is only $7.50 per week when you were entitled to $15 a week for total unemployment, you will be charged with only $7.50. You will, in such a case, use up two weeks of your credits rather than four.

—O—

If you have any questions concerning the operation of this law as it affects employers or workers, you can have your questions answered by writing to R. B. Anderson, chairman, Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission, Austin.

National park experts have informed the Texas Planning Board that the proposed Big Bend National Park is the most interesting region in the United States.

The industrial survey of the State being made by the Planning Board shows that a majority of the hides produced in Texas are shipped out of the state to be tanned. There is only one tannery in the state.

COTTON SEED SITUATION

On account of the severe drought in the greater part of Texas and Oklahoma during the past year the cotton crop was extremely short and practically all the seed grown in the districts were immature. On account of this condition well matured, fertile cotton seed, suitable for planting are scarce more than they have been in many years.

It is the general opinion of well informed people that there will be a scarcity of good planting seed next spring and that the price will be considerably higher than at the present time. In view of this fact I purchased sometime ago a carload of Cotton Seed that was grown in Ellis County. They were ginned from cotton that was picked during July and August therefore, they should be well matured and fertile seed. I have these seed in the warehouse of the Foard County Mill and I have a limited time only I am making a price of $1.00 per bushel for these seed.

I believe it will pay every farmer who will have to buy seed to buy them now while good seed is obtainable at a reasonable price.

Respectfully,
T. L. HUGHSTON

"BE IT RESOLVED: That I will make use of the Electric Servant in 1937."

One of the best New Year's Resolutions -a really MODERN Kitchen!

The West Texas Utilities Company long ago resolved that it would bring the West Texas housewife the maximum in service at a minimum cost. This vow has been kept to the letter. As proof, it reminds you that the average housewife today enjoys thrice the comforts of electric service known less than a score of years ago.

Yes, this policy of giving the housewife her money's worth, which has reduced the net average rate per kilowatt hour from as much as 20 cents to 5 cents, today makes electric service the cheapest commodity in the average home.

The modern home is equipped with many appliances that use but relatively few watts of electric energy per hour. Electric refrigerators, electric ranges and electric water heaters operate on an incentive rate (discount) schedule that amounts to much less than 5 cents a kilowatt hour. There are 1,000 watts in a kilowatt—1,000 watts of energy for one house for 5 cents.

The new electrified home should be the model West Texas American home under these conditions. There is nothing prohibitive about the cost of operating any electric appliance. They have become staple products, recognized as standard for comfortable, modern homes—as much a feature as the rug on your floor.

Modern housewives will pass a resolution today to modernize their homes in 1937, using the Electric Servant to eliminate drudgery and to stimulate the happiness that electricity served up to you has made possible in this great area.

You can secure your modern Electric Kitchen step by step. As you add each major electric appliance—refrigerator, range and water heater—you automatically receive the benefits of low incentive (discount) rates.

"Billy the Kid Visited Texon"

By Las Vegas Kim

A cowboy was camped for the night just south of Texon several years ago at some springs, the only water between Spring Creek and the Peecos. About dark a rider came up and asked to share camp with the cowboy. Being in the early day when company was welcome, and the old western hospitality universal, the cowboy shared camp and enjoyed the pleasant, jovial visitor. Next morning while breaking camp to move on to San Angelo where the cowboy was headed, the partner for the night told the cowboy he would hear of him in San Angelo for he had killed a man there the day before. Upon reaching San Angelo the cowboy found Billy the Kid had been there and had killed a man. The man who had spent the night with him near what is now Texon was Billy the Kid.

SAFETY SLOGANS

Safety is a habit not an accident. This is the hunting season and hunting accidents are being reported. Two effective ways of reducing hunting accidents are: never drag a gun through a fence after you, and never take a loaded gun home with you.

After the accident many drivers insist they did not see the other car. They are right. They were not paying attention to the road. A driver who considers himself an excellent driver was checked. He was driving 40 miles an hour. He turned his head to talk to a companion for 28 seconds, less than a half a minute. During this time he drove a quarter of a mile without seeing the road—dangerous.

Knighted

B. P. Newton, vice president of the Gulf Oil Corporation, has just been honored by King Leopold III of Belgium who conferred upon him the decoration "Chevalier de l'Ordre de Leopold." Mr. Newton is one of the few Americans so honored since the order was founded by Leopold I in 1832.

The honor of being knighthood to the order is possible only by nomination of the reigning monarch, or upon the recommendation of high governmental officials. This distinction is extended only to those men who have been of valuable military or civic service to the Belgium government.

A citizen of the United States by birth Mr. Newton is the foreign representative of the Gulf Oil Corporation and from his headquarters in Philadelphia directs the marketing of Gulf Petroleum products outside the limits of this country.

In a statement made to The News, Colonel J. F. Drake, president of the Gulf Oil Corporation, said "We are proud that the exceptional civic qualifications of Mr. Newton have been recognized and rewarded in such an outstanding and unusual manner by the ruler of Belgium."

WHO PAYS FOR TEXAS HIGHWAYS? Texas' highways, to date, have cost Texas taxpayers approximately seven hundred and fifty millions of dollars. License fees from motor vehicles have contributed $202,000,000. Gasoline taxes have accounted for $176,000,000. Federal aid has donated $91,000,000. YOUR PROPERTY TAXES HAVE CONTRIBUTED $281,000,000 — MORE THAN ONE-THIRD OF THE TOTAL. Large trucks—those weighing more than 8000 pounds loaded—have paid a total of $27,000,000 in license fees and gasoline taxes, or 3 3/4 per cent of the total cost. Yet these trucks have been responsible for an additional cost of construction and maintenance amounting to approximately 50 per cent of the total—an amount far in excess of their contribution. These wider trucks result in 25 per cent increase in pavement costs. Their bigger loads have required thicker pavements, costing from 35 to 60 per cent more; their size has made wider and heavier bridges necessary; maintenance costs have increased through their use and abuse of the highways. Such extra expenditures are almost solely for the benefit of the big trucks, and are not necessary for the small trucks and passenger cars. YET THEIR COST IS BORNE BY THE OWNERS OF PASSENGER CARS AND SMALL TRUCKS AND BY THE GENERAL TAXPAYER, WHO MAY NOT EVEN OWN A CAR, WHILE THE BIG TRUCKS THEMSELVES HAVE PAID ONLY 3 3/4 PER CENT. Any increase in present truck loads, size or speed limits will further increase the highway costs which all of us, the people of Texas, must pay. Texas railroads provide and maintain their own rights-of-way; afford employment to 60,000 men and women (who are also taxpayers); pay large taxes in support of city, county, state and federal governments; and, in addition, pay annually more than $900,000 toward state highway costs. The interest of the railroads in highway regulation is precisely parallel to that of the public. THE TEXAS RAILROADS

DEMOCRATIC MAJORITY

Never in the recollection of officials in Washington has any party had such heavy majorities in both branches of the U. S. Government as is the case in the 75th Congress that assembled in Washington Jan. 5, with the Democrats outnumbering the Republicans in the House nearly four to one, and five to one in the Senate. There are 333 Democratic members of the House, 89 Republicans, 7 Progressives, 5 Farmer-Laborites and 1 vacancy in the Senate 76 Democrats and 16 Republicans. The Democratic majorities are so overwhelming that the dividing lines are more of center than ever in the memory of the oldest members.

The Democratic Party gained a majority in Congress in 1931-32 when it had 50.6 per cent to 49.2 per cent for the Republicans. The Democratic majority has risen steadily since that time being 71.2 per cent in 1933-34 to 26.8 per cent for the Republican Party; 1935-36, 74.0 per cent Democrat, 23.4 per cent Republican, and 1937-38, 76.7 per cent Democrat, 20.3 per cent Republican.

THE QUALITY OF SERVICE

(By Samuel Thomas)

In the town in which I used to live there was the usual number of restaurants that are commonly found in towns of this size. It was generally regarded that there was all the restaurants the population of the community would support, in fact, it was rumored that some of them were not very profitable. There was nothing outstanding about any of them. There was nothing about any one of them that would cause one to choose one of them as a place to eat above any of the others. One day a stranger came to town and rented the one remaining vacant store room in the village. It occasioned considerable surprise when it became known that the stranger intended to open up a restaurant. In due course of time he opened up. From a small beginning his business grew until he was feeding more people every day than all the other restaurants in town. He did it by putting intelligent application and thought to the business, by serving good food, well prepared,

INTRODUCES BILL TO AID FARM TENANTS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—Senator Tom Connally, of Texas, today introduced in the Senate a bill creating the Farm Tenant Home Purchase Corporation.

The measure provides for a comprehensive system of land purchases and loans whereby farm tenants may become home owners and may acquire farm lands in amount sufficient to provide a livelihood for their families and income sufficient to amortize the indebtedness.

Authorization is made for one billion dollars capital stock of the corporation, which is to be provided by allotments and appropriations from time to time as necessity may require. The administration of the plan is vested in a board of five members, including the Secretary of Agriculture and the Governor of the Farm Credit Administration. It outlines a plan whereby the Board may sell individual tracts or loan money for the purchase of individual tracts or may also establish colonies of home owners.

It is provided that the interest rate on such purchases shall be two per cent annually. In addition the purchaser must pay an installment to meet the retirement of the debt over a period of years. It is also provided that purchasers must demonstrate their experience as farmers and shall satisfy the Board as to their thrift and character. It is also required that purchasers shall adopt approval methods of soil conservation and land utilization on the land so purchased. The bill is offered to carry out a widespread demand for a comprehensive, permanent system, whereby farm tenants may become the owners of the land which they till.

by giving a high type of service and by keeping his place immaculate. Not a thing went onto his tables and counters that was not up to a high standard. Every diner was his personal charge. He gave service in capital letters. Instead of merely running another restaurant, in three years there ran in the town he ran the were twice as many people eating at his restaurant as there were in all the restaurants in town before he came. He made new business, business of a profitable type, where before it did not exist. I've thought of this man a good many times as I have visited other towns. There is scarcely a community in the country in which the same thing could not be duplicated—not alone in the restaurant business but in almost any line of business represented in the community. Business after all, whether it is blacksmithing, watch repairing or feeding hungry people is built on the quality of the service sold.

College Station.—The outlook is for further improvement in the economic position of agriculture in 1937.

This is the opinion of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics which annually aids farmers with forecasts as to the trend of various agricultural commodities.

In general, farmers may expect 1937 to be similar in many respects to 1935.

Farm prices are expected to stay at high levels in 1937, although some decline is probable in the last half of the year. Taxes may move up slightly, and costs of labor, building materials, machinery, and fertilizer will probably be a little higher.

Some increase in cotton acreage is expected. Wheat production will be up, both in the United States and the rest of the world, and declining prices are in prospect.

Increased demand from consumers is expected to aid fruit growers. The stronger demand for vegetables will be largely nullified by increased plantings.

Unusually large stocks of rice are on hand and the price outlook is unfavorable.

Hog prices will be high through 1937 and production will be short for several years. Cattle prices will be higher in 1937 than in 1936 and the outlook for several years is good.

Butter prices will rise to highest levels in seven or eight years.

ALL EMPLOYEES COVERED BY OLD-AGE LAW

San Antonio, Jan. 9.—Many employers believe that simply because they employ less than eight persons they are exempt from all provisions of the Social Security Act. This is a mistaken idea, Oscar M. Powell, Regional Director of the Board, declared today.

"All employees under the age of 65 in industry and commerce are covered by the old-age benefits section of the law except those in several types of work specifically named by the act," Powell said.

"Many employers have been misled by the several forms they have been asked to fill out during recent weeks, because these forms have come from several different subjects," Powell continued.

"First of these was the SS-4, the 'employer's application for identification number,' distributed by the Post Office Department. Its primary purpose was to determine the number of employees in the country who might be eligible for old-age benefit accounts."

"Second form was the SS-5, the 'employee's application for account number,' also distributed by the Post Office Department. On the basis of these applications benefit accounts are being set up and account number cards are being returned as fast as possible. Any employers or employees who have not already filled out forms SS-4 should do so at once. Filling out these forms does not prejudice positions of employers or workers who later may wish to claim exemption from the provisions of the act."

"A third form relating to old-age benefits which employers have recently received is the SS-1. It comes from the Internal Revenue Service and was sent to employers of one or more persons. Employers who are unable to determine for themselves whether or not their businesses are subject to the old-age benefits section of the federal law may obtain an interpretation by submitting complete details concerning the nature of their businesses to the Collector of Internal Revenue for their district."

"Another form received by employers," Powell said, "was numbered 940 and also came from the Internal Revenue Service. It relates to unemployment compensation provisions of the Federal Social Security Act and applies to employers of eight or more persons. Form 940 is a tax return form, but employers, in remitting taxes with this form, may credit their contributions to the State Unemployment Compensation Fund against this federal tax, provided these contributions do not exceed 90 per cent of this federal levy. The federal tax for unemployment compensation amounts to one per cent of the employer's total payroll for 1936."

"Texas employers late in December received form TUC-1 from the Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission. The purpose of this form is to enable this state agency to determine which employers have eight or more employees and are subject to the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act. This is merely a status report form, and all employers receiving it should execute and return it, since the executed form itself does not subject employers to provisions of the law."

"Finally, employers may better understand these forms if they remember that old-age benefits provisions of the security act, which apply to employers of one or more, take effect beginning January 1, 1937, and that all taxes for old-age benefits are to be remitted to Collectors of Internal Revenue. On the other hand, employers of eight or more are taxed for unemployment compensation purposes an amount equal to one per cent of

LARGE NUMBER OF REPORTS RECEIVED FROM EMPLOYERS

Austin.—Status reports from more than 20,000 employers have already been received by the Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission, R. B. Anderson, chairman, announced today.

The Commission last week mailed status report forms, known as Form TUC 1, to more than 90,000 Texas employers, requesting data on the number of men employed, the type of business engaged in, the basis of pay for employees and other pertinent information.

"In spite of the Christmas holiday season employers in every section of the State have been very prompt in sending in their filled-out reports," Anderson said.

"While we sought to send these forms to all employers in the State who might come under the Act, we realize that our list is incomplete," he declared. "We therefore urge all persons and firms who have not received these forms and who have employed as many as (6) people at any time during 1935 or 1936 to write to the Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission, Austin, Texas, immediately for their forms, specifying the number of employees they now have."

"These preliminary reports must be in before we can determine the employer's status under the law," Anderson asserted, "and a delay in filing the reports will penalize the employer."

NEWS OF PICTURES AND PLAYERS

In the preparation of the background for "Stepping Toes," a picture in which Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire are starred, a chorus of twenty-four girls was needed. A call was sent out for 1000 beautiful girls who could dance. One thousand and twenty-three appeared. These were divided into groups of 200 each and one group was taken each day. Ten were picked from each group. From the fifty thus selected twenty-four were picked and all the rest dismissed.

In the preparation of "Stepping Toes" starring Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire, the dance numbers were practiced every day for eight weeks before a single scene was made. One dance scene was shot forty-seven times before it was O. K'd by the director.

In many of the singing scenes in which Jeanette McDonald appears the singing is done separately from the taking of the picture. When the picture is being taken the singing is registered in. This is done for the reason that sometimes as high as fifty retakes are necessary in the production of a picture. It would be impractical to have a singer sing the same score repeatedly.

If you have ever wondered what a film star does with her spare time, Sally Eiler's dairy might be a big help. It reveals that Sally has posed for 70,000 still photos, has answered nearly 100,000 fan letters, has sent out 200,000 fan pictures, has had more than 200 special wardrobe fittings and 800 hair dressings.

"Bruin" Means "Brown"
The name "bruin" comes from the Danish language, and means "brown." It was first used in Europe, because of the big brown bears found there, according to an authority. The brown bears of Europe are of very good size, the full-grown males being about six feet long.

Raise, Rise Increase

The form, "a raise in salary" is well established, and since has been accepted as good English. It is found in good literature on both sides of the Atlantic, "increase," as to pay for services rendered, is as common in English as it is in the United States. Rise with the meaning, "advance in wages," is colloquial and dates from 1836. Erery Digest.

developed fast under the direction of Coach Grady Graves.
Returns to Line-Up
J. S. (Cotton) Owens and Jim Whitfield, regular guards, have been absent from the Wildcat line-up since Dec. 4, when they were stricken with pneumonia. Owens returned to his post in the Childress fray and his defensive and offensive work will strengthen the team, as he has been a thorn in the sides of the teams that had to deal with him. Whitfield has returned to school but will be unable to see service for some time and his defensive work is sorely missed.
Fitzgerald, Orr and Nelson, substitutes, have done good jobs of plugging up the holes made by the absence of the two regulars.
In Good Shape
Fresh from their victory over the Bobcats, the Wildcats have settled down to prepare for the flashy Coyotes and with the exception of Whitfield, the entire squad will be in good shape when the whistle blows Friday night and should show their best form against the Wichita cagers.
Probable starting line-up for the Crowell boys will be Kelsey and McLain at forward positions, Middlebrook at center and Owens and Nelson handling guard duties.

PATENT LAW WAS ENACTED WHEN IDEAS WERE NEEDED

There were patents before 1836. Some of the colonies granted them, and so did the Federal Government from 1790 on. What set the law of 1836 apart was the provision that patents were to be granted only to first inventors, meaning that priority of invention had to be established by historical research in publications. Before 1836 patents were granted virtually for the asking—and the payment of a government fee of $30, according to a writer in the New York Times.
With the act of 1836, the Patent Office was established, headed by a Commissioner of Patents. It was the principal factor in encouraging the American inventor. The law of 1836 could hardly have been enacted at a more propitious time. Railroads were being constructed, and the country needed locomotives different from those which had proved useful in England—locomotives which burned wood instead of English coals and which could haul heavy loads on flimsy tracks. West of the Alleghenies a new country had been opened by pioneers.
Morse gave up portrait painting and invented a telegraph—just what a country of vast open spaces needed. Howe patented his sewing machine and transferred the making of clothes from the home to the factory. Shoemaking machines were devised by McKay just when a huge army drafted for the Civil War had to be shod. But the most dramatic figure of all was that of Edison. He literally swamped the Patent Office with scores of applications for telegraphs over the same wire at the same time, phonographs, telephones, dynamos and his incredible electric lamp.

Cotton Seed--

suggested that the farmer not buy seed from any source without first getting a germination test.
Producers in Foard County are at a critical stage caused by the intense drouth over parts of Oklahoma and Northwest Texas. The best planting seed are being taken as fast as they are put on the market, so the county agent urges you to check your seed now and if necessary buy your good planting seed before they are exhausted. The use of good seed may mean the difference between success and failure.

A RICH INHERITANCE

(By Samuel Thomas)
Not long ago I received a letter from a young man who formerly lived in my community but some time before had moved away at the death of his parents to a distant state. After telling me about what he was doing in his new location he closed his letter by saying: "You know my father did not leave me anything." I knew his father and I knew that instead of leaving him nothing he had left him much. He had left him a priceless heritage. He had left him the record of a long life in the community about which it could be said that there was no act in its record of which its owner had ever had occasion to be ashamed. I knew that his father had left him an education by sending him to school. I knew from the type of life his father had lived that he had left him a clean mind, a sound physical body and clean blood. I knew that he had left him the memory of a home that had about it that which would produce habits of right thinking and right living. I knew that his father had left him a background of honesty, thrift and industry which are foundation stones of character, and without which there can be no character. I sat down and wrote the young man and pointed out to him these things and suggested to him that he never make the statement again, that if he but knew it his father had left him much. He had left him wealth and treasure of a kind which neither moth nor rust can corrupt nor thieves break through and steal.

FORTRESS OF CHILLON IS POPULAR IN SWITZERLAND

The Swiss town of Villeneuve at the eastern end of Lake Lemane always welcomes visitors, for in spite of its name, "New City," it is a very ancient town, known in the time of the Romans as Penniloci. But as in years past, it yielded to the attractions of the Castle of Chillon, the best known castle in all Switzerland, with whose story, first celebrated by Lord Byron in 1816, few castles in all Europe can compete.
The fortress of Chillon stands a mile from Villeneuve, on an isolated rock about twenty yards from the bank of the lake. It is connected with the shore by a bridge, which in medieval days was a drawbridge. How old the castle may be none can tell, but Bronze Age tombs, nearly 4,000 years old, discovered at its entrance, give one some key to its antiquity. The earliest mention of Chillon Castle in any document is 1005 A. D., when it belonged to the bishops of Sion, but from the twelfth to the sixteenth century it was held by the Dukes of Savoy, during whose reign most of the tortures in it took place.
Although the sixteenth century Francois Bonivard, the subject of Byron's poem, was imprisoned there when he with other Swiss patriots rebelled against the Duke of Savoy, his two years fettered in the dungeon which bears his name was but slight suffering compared to the tortures of most who were thrown into the dark, damp chambers there. The post, erected in 1256, near where the torture by fire was perpetrated shows the scorings and burns made by the executioners in their testings of the heated irons.
The Texas Planning Board recently discovered that practically all of the office furniture used in this state is imported despite the fact that Texas is rich in forests.
Texas red gum, according to the Texas Planning Board, is being successfully used as an interior trim for residences and office buildings.
Texas cordova cream limestone and Texas shell limestone have been used for building purposes in almost every state in the nation and even in Canada, according to a survey recently made by the Texas Planning Board.
Construction of lateral highways during 1936 increased the public highway system in Texas to 160,000 miles, according to Texas Planning Board statisticians.

THE LAPPS OF FINLAND

The Lapps of Finland wear a long blue blouse gathered at the waist with a belt and slashed with red and yellow, tight blue trousers and caps on which they wear huge red pompons. Their shoes are a moccasin of reindeer hide, bound at the ankle with red and yellow woolen bands and turned up at the toes. Lapps sometimes place a certain type of grass, which they call shoe grass, in their moccasins and so protect them, their feet go unharmed on the roughest ground and keep warm in the coldest weather. Just as they have for centuries, the Lapps still depend on their reindeer herds for both food and shelter. The milk of the reindeer is made into cheese, the flesh used for meat, the skins for clothing, tents and cooking utensils. Even the bones are utilized for needles in sewing and for the hondo which prevents the knot of a lasso from pulling too tight.

Sunday services at 11 a. m.
Wednesday evening services at 8 o'clock.
Sunday, January 17, 1937. Subject: "Life."
The public is cordially invited.

Methodist News Notes
There is a church-wide movement in Southern Methodism at this time known as "The Bishops Crusade."
This crusade will culminate in 1939—the second centennial of John Wesley's experience of Divine Grace when he said "I felt my heart strangely warmed."
The purpose of the crusade is to revive our missionary work and to bring new spiritual life to our people.

A conference-wide gathering of this crusade will be held at Amarillo on Jan. 19. Several of the Crowell church leaders are to go. Next Sunday night we are to have a public burning of the notes of the second lie against the church. What a delight it will be to forever get rid of these annoying notes. And what a pleasure to see them go up in smoke. A proper service will accompany the burning of the notes. Plan to attend this service.

E. L. YEATS.

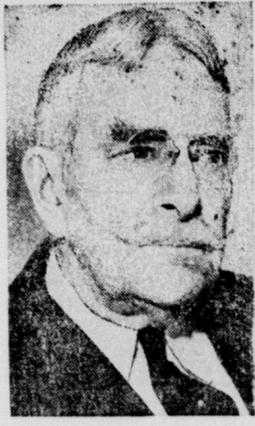

Christian Science Services
"Life is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, January 17.
The Golden Text is: "The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and my cup; my lot, my share, my path of life" (Psalms 16:5, 11).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Lord thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations. Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting, thou art God" (Psalms 90:1, 2).
The Lesson-Sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Life is without beginning and without end. Eternity, not time, expresses the thought of Life, and time is no part of eternity" (page 488.)

Two Minute Sermon (By Thomas Hastwell)

The Annual Inventory: At this season of the year it is a common practice among business men to take an inventory and to check up and determine what the results of the year's business are, what has been the profit and the loss, what mistakes have been made and what changes should be made and what remedies applied. The standard by which a business is judged is comparatively simple. It must answer the question: Has it been profitable? If it has not, then the necessary changes must be made. If it is important to take an inventory at the end of the year and check up on a business, how much more important it is that an occasional check up should be made on one's life to discover if it is as profitable as it might be and to discover if the individual is getting all out of life that he is entitled to, if there is wasted effort here, and lost motion there. In business the standard by which results are judged is profits. In the case of a human life the standard by which its perfection or lack of perfection is judged, is Christ. In the measure that the check up reveals that one's life approaches this example it is a perfect life, and in the measure that it falls short of His example it lacks in perfection. As the good business man takes a periodical check up for the purpose of establishing his policies and course for the next year so should the individual who desires to improve his life check it up from time to time that he may reshape it and redirect it more nearly in accord with the perfect life of Christ.

WHAT WE THINK (By Frank Dixon)

I attended a wedding the other day. The things that usually took place at a wedding took place at this one. After it was over and the bride and groom had left, the usual comment went the rounds among the relatives and friends. "The substance of it was 'I hope they will both be happy.'"
They will unless they interfere with each other's lives too much. If she is forever on the watch to criticize every little thing he does they will not get along. If she sets up in her mind a narrow, childish set of rules that she expects him to follow and grieves, and pouts, and scolds, and nags if he does not, they will not get along. If she attempts to make him over and recast him into her own idea of what a husband should be, she is going to be doomed to a life of disappointment and unhappiness. In fact, I think of nothing that will alienate him more quickly than just that.

If on the other hand he is little minded, and petty, and provincial, and petty, if he must know all she does, and by his manner show that he expects an accounting for every dime and nickel he gives her, then theirs will not be a happy marriage. If he looks upon all her friendships with the opposite sex as incipient clandestine intrigue, then there will be no happiness in that household.

The reason why many people often get along better before they are married is that before marriage each respects the other's right to his own life and refrains from intruding and presuming to direct it. The assumption that some have that the marriage ceremony takes from either party the right to his own life and gives either party the right to intrude into the privacy of the other and reshape their whole life, is one of the reasons why so many marriages go on the rocks.

Many marriages in which this fault exists endure because one or the other of the parties sublimates his own life and yields to an existence next to intolerable in the interest of peace at any price, or because of fear.

Such provincial women should never marry a man of any force, or of any individuality. They should select a man who has no concept of an individual life, who has no desire of maintaining what little individuality he has, who is willing to be made over and twisted about as though he were a mass of damp clay instead of a man.

Such a provincial man should marry a woman who is content to depend upon him for her orders to breathe or smile, who has no desire, no life, no ambition outside his faintest wish and who hangs habitually on his every word.

To me such a life is too insipid to contemplate.

The unfortunate thing about it all is, that these traits, if present, are too often kept in the back ground and submerged. They are difficult to discover even with the most sincere effort. This is unfortunate because they are the vital element in most of the successful and happy marriages.

A new book has been added to the library list this week, "Blue of the Wampee," by Susan Williams Benson.

It is a story dealing with the South, where the author was born and brought up, and offers the charm, the romance, and the adventure that one usually associates with this region. Young Carter Davenant sent to South Carolina by the United States Biological Survey, is bitten by a snake. He is found by Pelham Turnbull, mistress of a decaying mansion and here he is slowly nursed back to health amid mystery, romance, and adventure.

The January issue of the Fortune has many subjects that will interest people of varied tastes in reading. There is a topic on the United States Lighthouse Service, which means 527 lighthouses, lightships, fog signals, radio beacons, and 13,400 buoys. Cook Pork Well To Save Health

Austin, Jan. 12.—Trichinosis, a disease caused by eating pork which has not been thoroughly cooked, is far from an uncommon infection in man, is a warning issued by Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"During the winter season pork and pork products are more freely used, and a warning against insufficient cooking of them is in order," he said, "as the danger of eating pork that is not thoroughly cooked is indicated by the increasing number of cases of this disease being reported.

"If pork is cooked thoroughly, there is no danger from its use save the danger of eating too much of a meat which is more or less difficult of digestion due to its high fat content. Pork, showing a slight red or pink, is a warning signal that this is dangerous to eat for it may contain trichinae which have escaped destruction by insufficient cooking for the meat and thus give the careless consumer the disease trichinosis.

"No method of meat inspection will invariably discover the presence of these parasites. It is next to impossible to detect infested hog flesh by inspection for two reasons: (1) the cysts are extremely small, (2) they are of the same color as muscle tissue in which they are imbedded. These larvae are encysted in the lean portion of the pork ready to develop in the stomach of the person who eats the meat. Heating the meat to 145 degrees Fahrenheit, the temperature used in the pasteurization of milk, will destroy the parasites. But there is often the danger of not maintaining this temperature inside of the meat. Outer portions of the meat may appear well cooked while the inner part is quite raw and will retain the living parasites. Especially is this true if the piece of pork is quite thick. "To be safe, no pork or pork products should ever be eaten unless it has been thoroughly cooked, and until all color disappears throughout the piece of meat."

UPSIDE-DOWN SLOTH'S COAT BLENDS WITH THE FOLIAGE

The upside-down, slow-motion sloth is about 10 times as conspicuous in a zoo as he would be back in his native South American jungles, writes W. H. Shippen Jr., in the Washington Star.

In his usual haunts his coat is a bright, living green to match the foliage into which he blends.

Natural coloration is the strange little creature's only protection from his enemies.

Back in the damp jungles, the sloth's coarse hair is covered with a green parasite plant called alga of the same primitive type which colors the shells of sea turtles. The alga dies when the sloth leaves the steaming climate of the tropics.

The sloth's hair grows the wrong way, he lives upside down, creeps along limbs at night in search of fruit and tender shoots, hangs motionless all day and never descends voluntarily to the ground.

Instead of toes he has strong permanently flexed hooks, and or the ground he cannot walk, but must hitch himself along like a man with a broken leg. Another strange feature of the sloth is the fact that he has one more or one less bone in his neck than any other mammal.

His slothful lazy ways won him his name with the coming of the white man. The sloth is a distant relative of the huge ground sloths which were larger than elephants and which disappeared from South America millions of years ago.

The anteater seems to have descended from this huge prehistoric creature also.
