City awaits phone firm's answer to rate raise offer

10c hike okayed, but 25c extension boost is 'no go'

Post's City Council is awaiting a decision by General Telephone on the city's offer to boost "main station" telephone rates here 10 cents per month in return for extended area service with the new Verbena rural exchange.

The offer was made by a unanimous vote of the council Monday afternoon at its regular November meeting in City Hall.

MAYOR HAROLD LUCAS told the two telephone firm representatives present that the city considers General Telephone's additional request for a 25 cent monthly hike on all phone extensions here at the present time as "poor public relations" and putting the city in a bad light to their rural friends if they refused it.

He told Herb Emery, General Telephone's district manager from Brownfield, and Wayne King, commercial representative from Lamesa, that the request for an increase in the phone extension rate is a rate matter not involved in extended area service and something which should be considered separately at a later date.

The council's proposal came after the first meeting between telephone representatives and the council Oct. 31 at which General Telephone asked for a 10 cent main station boost plus a 25 cent increase in dial extension rates. The council at that session decided it wanted to "think it over" for ten days.

The council had been told in advance that it could expect a 10 cent "main station" boost. The 25 cent per month request on the extension phones caught the council by surprise.

EMERY TOLD THE COUNCIL

Monday that he would report back the city's offer to his company and that the city would be advised of General Telephone's position on the rate matter "in writing."

The councilmen expressed complete disbelief when told by Emery in his rate increase explanation that the first 52 per cent of the monthly rate boost would go to Uncle Sam in corporation taxes.

This would amount to about $1,428 of the $2,858 income to the phone firm in increased rates, figuring both the 10 cent per "main station" increase and the 25 cents per month on extension phones.

Councilmen contended the 52 per cent corporation tax would come off gross income not gross revenue.

Both Emery and King contended it would be taken off gross revenue.

EMERY EXPLAINED he was not a rate expert but he did undertake to show the council with some elementary calculations where the $2,858 rate increase would go if the

To highlight Post's Christmas opening

Plans shaping fast for Nov. 23 parade

Plans are fast shaping up for Post's most colorful Christmas parade ever, Barry Thompson, school superintendent and parade marshal, announced today.

The parade — highlight of the big Post Christmas Opening — is scheduled for 10 a. m. Saturday, Nov. 23.

Nine high school organizations are entering floats on the parade theme, "Christmas Around the World and Through the Ages".

Local merchants are providing for up to $50 for construction materials for each of the floats. The nine organizations, announced last week, will compete for first, second, and third place trophies and a trophy for the most unique float.

Most of the floats are already under construction.

to enter a Christmas float built around an old-time Christmas lamp lighter.

POSTEX COTTON MILLS has been invited to enter a float depicting the cotton industry on a holiday theme, Brown Brothers will enter one as representative of the oil industry, and another Christmas float is being planned to represent the cotton raising industry in the county.

The Post Music Club is considering entering a float and the Texas Mu Alpha chapter of Beta Sigma Phi are making plans for another float.

All who want to enter floats built around the parade's Christmas theme are invited to do so, Thompson said. The only restriction in that they not be commercial floats — but on a holiday theme.

Thompson said three bands have definitely accepted parade invitations — Post High School, Gail High School, and Post Junior High — and that there is a good possibility of two more bands coming.

schools combined into administrative unit here

Post school board voted unanimously Monday night, upon the recommendation of Supt. Barry B. Thompson, to consolidate the Post School and Post Elementary School into one administrative unit.

Raphelt, present principal of Post Elementary School, principal of the new administrative unit, with Mrs. Bettye Williams, a third grade teacher, and Mrs. J. E. Scudder, principal of the consolidated school, were the two units came after it was decided to accept the resignation of Noel Clemmons as principal of the primary school.

The board's only other action at its regular November meeting Monday night was to adopt a sick leave policy for auxiliary employees of the school system. A number of progress reports were heard.

THE NEW administrative unit formed by the consolidation of the two schools has 677 students enrolled in grades 1-5 and 27 faculty members, Thompson told the board.

Raphelt is in his 11th year with the Post schools and has been elementary school principal for about four years. He holds bachelor and master degrees from Hardin-Simmons University.

Mrs. Scott, a graduate of Texas Tech, has been with the schools here for a number of years and was head of the high school speech department until being assigned at her own request to a teaching position in the lower grades.

The superintendent said Mrs. Scott's specific duties as helping teacher will be elementary program development, teacher-pupil planning, demonstration teaching, and the coordination of all elementary programs.

THE NEW administrative organization will be under the direct supervision of the Office of Instruction, Supt. Thompson said.

Members of the school board expressed hope that the new setup would allow the professional staff to do an even more outstanding job of teaching the youngsters of Post.

The superintendent told The Dispatch:

"I am pleased with the sincere efforts of the elementary faculty to provide increased educational opportunities for all of the children. We, as a professional staff, must be a dynamic force for the improvement of education in Post."

Helen Verne's condition is greatly improved following the surgery, which she underwent Oct. 24. The operation was performed by Dr. Irvin S. Cooper, internationally known specialist on cerebral palsy, Parkinson's disease, muscular dys-

Annual meeting Science & Math group Saturday

Representatives of 65 schools in 17 counties will be here Saturday, Nov. 16, to attend the annual South Plains Science and Math Teachers Association workshop, at which the Post Public Schools will be host.

The workshop will be held in the school lunchroom beginning at 10 a. m. with John May and Norman Gee of the Post faculty as co-directors.

This will be the first time the workshop has ever been held in Post.

Outstanding speakers will be featured on the program. The keynote speaker at 10:45 a. m. will be James F. Scuddy, assistant professor of biology at Sul Ross State College, whose topic will be "Southwestern Archaeology and Its Relationship to the Biological Sciences."

Scuddy is considered one of the foremost authorities on the history of the aboriginal in Southwest Texas, and had a successful career in the public schools before entering college teaching.

A luncheon will be held at noon in the lunchroom, at which time various students will speak. Miss Linda C. Hayes of Andrews will be the guest speaker.

Right-of-way purchases soon

Within the next week or ten days, the county commissioners court will begin purchase of right-of-way for the four-laning of US-84 from just above the cap to the county line.

Judge J. E. Parker reported today that deeds for the property, as prepared by the state highway department, are beginning to be received by his office, so purchasing of the land can soon begin.

The purchase of the land has been held up until the highway department approved a new appraisal of the property to be purchased. The state will reimburse the county for half of the cost of the right-of-way purchase, but only up to the amount of the appraisal.

Lions' Pancake Supper Tuesday

The Post Lions Club will hold their annual fund-raising Pancake Supper next Tuesday night, Nov. 19, in the school lunchroom.

Serving will be from 6 to 8 p. m.

Jack Alexander, Lions president, announced that tickets can be purchased from any Lion or at the door for 50 cents per person.

Funds raised from the supper will go into the club's project fund.

Public housing sites purchased here

Public Housing Authority purchased 6.395 acres of Lincoln school property for Post Independent School, at $1,000 per acre to be used for 22 of the city's housing units.

Harper, administrator of the housing project here, said today that the city has received a $6,395 for the land purchase.

The school site will house 22 units for Negro and Mexican families and also the manager's residence building for the project.

Units for white families are located on 220 feet of frontage on South F street which has been purchased from W. F. Owings, G. W. Owen, and Burlington Industries. The city donated the rights to a closed street involved.

Harper said the Public Housing Authority here will meet soon to take action on architectural plans which are now being studied here.

He said an engineer of the public housing administration is due here sometime this week to prepare the way to advertising for construction bids in the near future.

Harper also announced that a public housing regional official from Fort Worth will come here next week for more work preparatory to advertising for construction bids on all 28 housing units and office and storage building.

Our vote vital Saturday in special White River election

On debt assumption

White River vote set for Saturday

Voters in the four member cities of the White River Municipal Water District will go to the polls Saturday in a special election to decide on the assumption of the district's bonded indebtedness by the expanded water district.

The only polling place in Post will be at City Hall. Polls will open at 8 a. m. and close at 7 p. m.

The bonded indebtedness involved will eventually reach close to $4,500,000. The district already has borrowed $4,000,000 from the state ore to complete the project.

4-H awards night set for Nov. 25

Garza County's annual 4-H Achievement Awards program will be held at 6:30 p. m. Monday, Nov. 25, at the 4-H Building, Miss Juanette Williams, county home demonstration agent, announced today.

The public is invited to attend the program, at which the county's 1964 Gold Star Boy and Gold Star Girl will be announced and presented award pins. Other awards will be made to 4-H members and leaders, and the checks for sale of steers at the State Fair of Texas will be presented if they have arrived by that time, Miss Williams said.

The Garza County 4-H Council will be in charge of the program. Speakers will be 4-H members Jo Beth Dillard of Post and David Dabbs of Southland. The Lyntegar Electric Cooperative of Tahoka will furnish the refreshments.

Purchases interest in motor firm

Scott joins Floyd in business

Wesley Scott, well known Garza County farmer, has purchased a half interest in Post's Pontiac-Rambler-GMC truck dealership from Guy Floyd and the two are incorporating their new firm under the name, Floyd-Scott Motors, Inc.

Scott, who has lived in the Pleasant Valley community practically all of his life, plans to take an active part in the business with Floyd.

He will continue to have some farming interests.

The Scotts moved into Post in 1960 and reside at 905 West Sixth street. His wife, Bettye, is a teacher in the Post Primary School.

They have two sons, Teddy, 16, a high school junior, and Mike, who is 12 and a seventh grader.

"I invite all of my friends to come and see me in our new business and to trade with us," Scott said.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1963

The people benefit the most

"Newspapers and other information media in Texas have responded alertly and responsibly to the challenge of reporting and interpreting municipal affairs throughout the State of Texas."

The above statement is contained in a resolution adopted by the delegates of the Texas Municipal League's 51st annual conference in Houston last week.

The resolution continued: "The League urges upon all its member cities and their officials continuation of constructive co-operation with representatives of the public information media, recognizing that the informing of the public is the basic strength from which municipal progress comes and will continue in Texas."

According to The Houston Post, various town officials, interviewed during conference coffee breaks, told stories of open-door City Hall policies.

"We give the reporters the facts, favorable or unfavorable," Mayor James H. McCrocklin of Kingsville said. "We never cover up anything. We kind of feel that the newsmen are ex-officio members of the City Council."

The Kingsville mayor said city officials rely on the news media to tell their story and that he believes that by far most of the cities of Texas have open-door policies.

Mayor Hank Avery of Midland said, "The people are the stockholders in the municipality. It was created by them and exists only for one purpose—to serve them. They have a right to know how their money is spent."

The Midland mayor believes any Midlander can find out about the detailed expenditures of all bond funds in an hour's time at his City Hall.

This trend, that resulted in the resolution at the Texas Municipal League conference, has developed only in the last eight or ten years. Modestly enough, The Dispatch feels that it has played a part in bringing about a greater spirit of co-operation between City Hall and the news media.

What has been, in many Texas towns and cities, a rather unpleasant task of covering City Council meetings and trying to get the news, has progressed to the point where few newspaper reporters or representatives of other news media now feel that they are unwelcome at such meetings.

We are glad to see that the Texas Municipal League placed enough importance upon this co-operation between the City and the information media to adopt a resolution commending it. After all, the people are the ones who benefit the most when City Hall and the news media are cooperating with each other.—CD

Confusing, but vital, election

White River Municipal Water District voters will go to the polls Saturday to decide whether or not they want all property in the expanded four member cities to assume the district's bonded obligations or not.

Sounds confusing doesn't it? Well, it is.

A new Texas law, passed by the Legislature a couple of years ago, permits the water district to take in territory which has been taken into the city limits of the four member cities.

The law also says the district "may vote" on the assumption of the bonded indebtedness by the expanded district. Hence the vote.

It is pretty obvious that the district has assumed a bonded indebtedness of $4,000,000 which can't be voided and has negotiated for up to $500,000 more. The money has been spent to build a dam, filtration plant, and water pipelines to the four towns.

The water district fought for six years to obtain financing for its water project. As the member cities expanded their city limits during this period, the new property wasn't in the water district but was going to obtain full water district benefits.

The only fair thing of course is that everyone share the water district tax load equally.

The only logical step Saturday is vote for the expanded water district to assume the indebtedness of the original district.

That is why Post voters are urged to go to the polls Saturday and vote in favor of the expanded district assuming the bonded indebtedness.

This is your opportunity to show your support for our community representatives who have worked so hard to bring White River water from dream to 1964 reality. This is your water project job—and no one can do it for you.

Everyone votes at City Hall here in Post. You have to have rendered taxable property to be qualified to vote. Voting hours are 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. Saturday. Don't forget.—JC

Safety on an auto license plate

It won't be too long now until the new 1964 automobile license plates begin arriving in every county in Texas, to go on sale during the first quarter of the new year. In fact, most of the counties have already received their shipments of the new tags and they're stored in county tax offices awaiting the sale.

The above is by way of calling attention to the recommendation of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators that "safety" license plates be used as an effective, inexpensive way to reduce rear-end collisions on our highways.

The safety tags, now being used by 13 states and the District of Columbia (and by three more states in 1964), are covered with a reflective material that shines brilliantly at night in the headlights of approaching cars.

The cost of the plates, as compared to standard plates, is only about 25 cents more per car—cheap enough, if accidents and deaths are prevented by their use.

These plates are particularly useful because studies of the operating condition of cars over the past years show that rear lights and stop lights are the parts most commonly defective. In 1962, a National Safety Council found that 34 per cent of cars had defective lights on the rear. The next most common item, front lights, was a distant second with only 11 per cent.

If a car could be equipped with a safety device that can be seen from as far as 1,500 feet at night, even if the car that was parked or disabled had no operating lights, it could prevent many accidents.

And the cost? At a quarter a car, it's worth it.—CD

Shopping adventure begins soon

Christmas shoppers, when they begin reading the Christmas ads in the Nov. 21 edition of The Post Dispatch, will get their first introduction of the season to plenty of variety and high quality for this Yuletide's shopping adventure.

The Nov. 21 edition will be only the beginning, of course, since subsequent editions of the Dispatch also will carry Christmas ads of progressive Post merchants.

"Changing Times," the Kiplinger Magazine, has just completed a survey which indicates that not only will there be plenty of variety and high quality for Christmas shoppers this year, but also that prices will be about the same as last year.

For the toy shopper there will be an increase in power toys—everything from miniature home appliances to tiny cars. A new line of educational toys is designed to teach youngsters basic optics, linear measurements and simple counting.

Among the new dolls is one that is multi-lingual and comes complete with a record library so that it can talk and talk. On the do-it-yourself shelf there are new sets enabling children to mold their own toys. And the combat-minded youngster can be pleased with a guerilla gun set with a camouflaged machine gun (shoots caps), knife (flexible type), or a camouflaged poncho and beret for cat-footed commandos.

For adults, there are new games: "Ticker Tape," based on the working of the stock market; "One Arm Bandit," based on the slot machines of Las Vegas; "Chit Chat," unique in that it involves skilled conversation as well as game playing; "Whirligig," based on the game of musical chairs; "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," challenging players to go up the career ladder from window washer to chairman of the board.

And as always, there is a gift for that difficult person who has everything: a home entertainment console that includes a stereo set, four-track tape recorder, color TV receiver, TV camera and a TV tape recorder that can take programs off the air for replay later on. One little catch: It's nine feet long and costs $30.00.

Even if you don't see the above-described home entertainment console in the Post merchants' ads, you'll find plenty of other Christmas shopping surprises—just as good as you'll find anywhere else in easy driving distance.—CD

What our contemporaries are saying

There are many more men looking for a position these days than for a job, and more men looking for a job than for work.—Harold Hudson in The Ochiltree County Herald.

Last Sunday, The Star-Telegram had a page one story about both male and female students at Texas Tech, because of a critical housing shortage, sharing one dormitory "to a degree." It read like something out of George Dolan of the same fine newspaper, though the story was playing it straight. "To a degree" is what all those matriculators are there for in the first place. And sharing a college dorm by gals and guys "to a degree" sounds like a heckuva lot of fun. The story probably will create more housing problems with more matriculators with a come-on like that.—Porter L. Oakes in The Haskell Free Press.

When your wife waits to tell you about the dented fender until after you've eaten, that's managed news.—Weldon Tooley in The Floyd County Hesperian.

A necessary evil is one that we like so well that we do not want it abolished.—The Slaton Slatonite.

The average man's body is made up of 65 pounds of muscle and about three pounds of brain . . . which explains a lot of happenings.—James Roberts in The Andrews County News.

AFTER SATURDAY'S decision to stay with the poll tax as a requirement to vote, Texas is going to have some uncomplimentary things said about it, since Arkansas is the only other state where you are required to pay a poll tax if you want to vote.

I was for repealing the poll tax, but I'm not a poor loser. It's just that I don't want to see Texas belittled in the eyes of the other states. So, with that in mind, this is a good place to drag out a few "Texas facts" I've been saving for just such an occasion.

FOR INSTANCE, Texas is 801 miles from south to north and 733 miles from east to west. The state land area is composed of 168,648,320 acres.

Although it is a rare Texan who will admit it, Alaska IS bigger in land area, but, after all, that "frozen" state isn't even connected directly with the continental limits. Agriculturally speaking, there is no comparison between the two—Texas is far in the lead.

IN THE LAST year of record, Texas farmers harvested 21,735,000 acres of land yielding 59 principal crops. Total farm value amounted to $1,575,104,000. Through no fault of our own, farmers, this value only rates second in the United States—California being in the lead. California managed to harvest a smaller acreage of 6,767,000 acres with a production value of $1,814,752,000.

Texas' average cash farm income, including both livestock and crops, is approximately 2.4 billion dollars annually. Government payments average slightly over $100,000,000 a year and brings the state agricultural income figure to near $2½ billion.

TEXAS RANKS sixth in the United States in population with 9,579,677 persons counted in the 1960 census. Population per square mile is 35.4 persons. The state is 75 per cent urban and 25 per cent rural in population distribution. Some 77,186,011 persons live in urban places and 2,393,666 in rural territory.

These are just a few of the figures you can quote as "Texas Brags" the next time you visit outside the state and somebody "dins" you about Texas and Arkansas being the only states in which you still have to pay a poll tax to vote.

THE MAN UP the Street says TV cowboy personalities are eating so regularly these days it's becoming difficult to find anyone to play the role of Slim.

Thank goodness for good neighbors, of whom there are plenty left in this country, particularly in towns the size of Post and smaller. Saturday afternoon, one of our neighboring families was driving past our house and noticed our car lights were on. They stopped and one of them came to the door, knocked and then waited patiently while I shook off my Saturday afternoon doldrums long enough to get to the door. If it hadn't been for these thoughtful neighbors, our car battery would have been down, which can spoil any afternoon. If, by now, you're wondering why our car lights were on in the afternoon, blame it on the unseasonably warm weather. Driving home, we inadvertently pulled the headlight knob instead of an air vent next to it.

IF YOU ARE a holiday lover, it is with sorrow that you will learn that 1964 will be a dismal year. Every single holiday will fall on a Saturday until Labor Day. Fewer long weekends.

Your Postmaster says: "Take a tip from Mr. Zio-shop and mail early and use Zip Code to help speed your Christmas cards and letters."

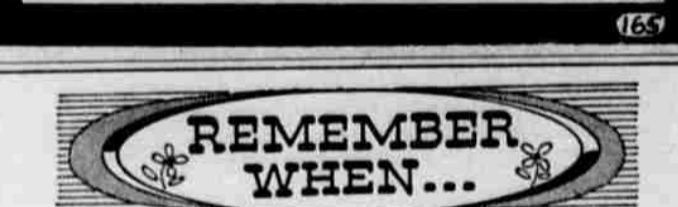

NO MATTER WHAT the scoreboard showed at Denver City Friday night, the Mustangs were not "smottin'" the Antelopes four points. Denver City isn't spottin' anybody anything, and the fact of the matter is that the visitors' side of the scoreboard was just fouled up, with a big "4" showing right at the start of the game instead of a zero. The only way a team could rack up four points would be to score two safeties, and the Antelopes never had the Mustangs backed up far enough to even threaten scoring a safety against them. As I left the press box, some wag remarked, "Charlie still doesn't know where those four points came from, but he says Post will take them."

Draft-Goldwater plans under way

AUSTIN — Republicans are not standing still on the eve of an election year.

State GOP Chairman Peter O'Donnell of Dallas has been in Austin to announce the heads of the Texas drive to draft U. S. Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona as a presidential candidate and to map plans for other races.

State Rep. Dick Morgan of Dallas and Mrs. J. C. Man Jr., a Wichita Falls housewife, were designated co-chairmen of the campaign.

O'Donnell said 2,462 elective offices in Texas "will be up for grabs" next year and Republicans intend to reap a fair share.

He said the Republican calls for a Draft-Goldwater man in each congressional district by Dec. 1. County chairmen appointed by Jan. 1 and chairmen by Jan. 15.

PRICE BULLETIN
Prices of beef do not need to be lowered for more than a year. A new publication of Agricultural Extension Service will know that in most cases for "Choice" cattle is the price for "Standard" cattle, though the price of each grade overlaps the other. "Effects of Grades on Beef Carcasses" reports that this means lower grade cattle bring more than the next higher grade.

Vet's Forum

Q. My husband was recently discharged from a VA hospital because of what the hospital said was "MHB". What does this mean?

A. The letters stand for "Maximum Hospital Benefit". This means that hospital officials believe that the patient's condition has improved to the point that additional time in the hospital would bring about no further improvement.

Q. When I enter a VA hospital next month, may I continue to draw my disability pension?

A. Veterans with dependents will not have their disability pensions reduced while in a VA hospital. Veterans without dependents who draw their pension under Public Law 211 will have it adjusted to $30 per month at the end of the second calendar month of hospitalization. At their discharge from the hospital the full pension will be resumed. Veterans without dependents who draw their pension under the Old Pension Law will have it reduced at the end of six months to 50 per cent of $30 whichever is the greater amount. The full amount will be resumed upon discharge from the hospital. Payments of amounts withheld under the Old Pension Law may be made on termination of hospitalization.

Q. Can a veteran obtain a GI loan to buy a home in Mexico?

A. No. The property must be located in the United States, its territories or possessions.

DANGER NOT OVER
The worst of the fall screwworm season may be over, but the danger period is far from being past, officials of the Southwest Screwworm Eradication Program have warned.

The dry weather which has helped keep native screwworm fly populations down, eradication workers said. However, infestations could appear in many areas of the state that are now screwworm-free, if considerable rain is received and cold weather doesn't help keep down fly migrations.

The number of infestations reported to eradication headquarters at Mission last week was less than half of what it was three weeks ago. Counties reporting the most cases are those that have had some rain in recent weeks, officials pointed out.

Eradication workers said nearly all of the cases are located in the southern parts of the state where screwworms have been known to be able to survive year-round. This makes it even more important that livestock producers take all precautionary steps to prevent additional cases from developing, they stated.

Measures recommended by eradication experts that will aid in the battle to eliminate the screwworm from the Southwest include frequent inspection of livestock, treatment of wounds with smears and sprays and collection of samples from infested wounds so that positive identification of the insect can be made.

SUBMERGED ALLOY
In the new Glen Canyon Dam on the Upper Colorado River, working parts which are submerged in concrete or deep water are made of a nickel-copper alloy. Since this alloy was specially developed to resist corrosion and wear by sand, silt and water, it is particularly suited for such parts where maintenance and replacement is most difficult.

WORK IN MANY WAYS
Insecticides work in many ways. Stomach poisons are sprayed or dusted on the crop to protect it from chewing insects. There are also contact poisons which kill those insects that they touch and systemic insecticides are absorbed into the plants to do their work. Chemical sterilants remove the insect's capacity to reproduce and some insecticides are a combination of several of these types.

LIGHTNING PROTECTION
Annually lightning causes about $30 million damage and hundreds of deaths. Correct lightning rod systems, with proper interconnection of metal objects, can protect buildings and their occupants.

IN FAVOR—Inspired by the French schoolgirl smock is the model coat of pale blue cotton denim. Smocked across the yoke, it sports jumbo patch pockets and can be worn belted or flowing free. Sprigged cotton adds a soft touch to the Peter Pan collar and long sleeves of this Swirl design.

Arrangements begun for President's dinner

AUSTIN — Some 60,000 Texans soon, if not already, will be getting invitations to dine with the President—for $100 a plate—at Austin's Municipal Auditorium.

Presidential aids now are in Austin making arrangements with top Texas Democrats for a Nov. 22 "Texas Welcome Dinner" for Pres. John F. Kennedy and Vice Pres. Lyndon B. Johnson.

VOTE

SATURDAY, NOV. 16

In Special White River Municipal Water District Election

IN FAVOR OF:

Expanded White River Water District
Assuming District's Present Bond Indebtedness

WHERE AND WHEN:

All Post Voters Will Vote At City Hall
Polls Open At 8 A. M. Saturday, Close At 7 P. M.

WHO IS ELIGIBLE:

Qualified voters living within present city limits who own taxable property rendered for taxation.

WHY THE ELECTION:

This type of election must be called each time the district expands as it did this year.

It's All Reality Now!

For seven long years the citizens of Post have wholeheartedly supported the White River Municipal Water district project to provide the essential water for this community's future.

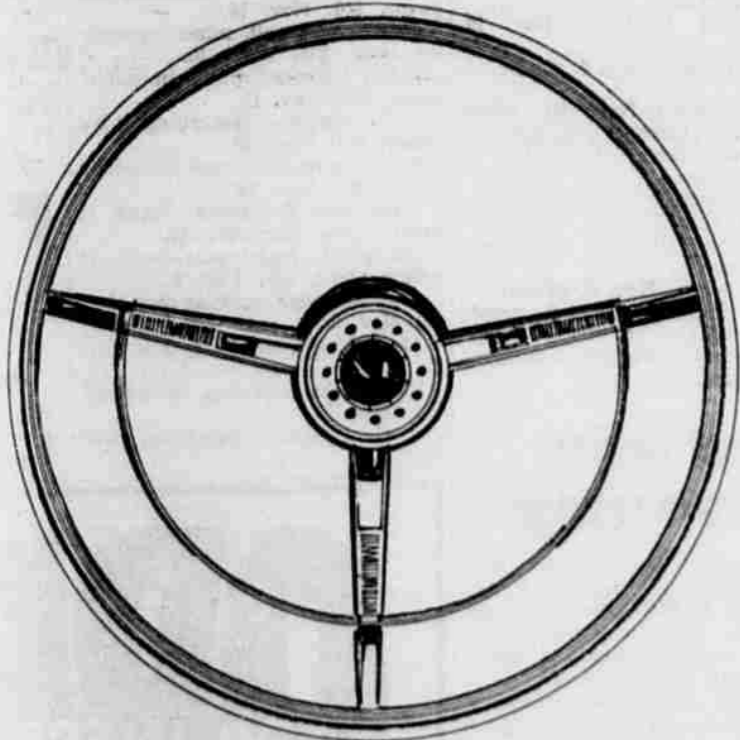

In these seven years, we have seen the project grow from dream to reality. Today our water facilities are ready. The big earthen dam has been completed, the filtration plant built, the water lines to Post and other member cities laid. One good rainy season and the White River lake will be full and we will be using White River water.

Now the voters are being called upon again for another vote of approval on an election to let the expanded White River water district assume the district's present bonded indebtedness.

Such elections will be necessary each time the district expands and takes in new territory.

Each White River election has seen top heavy approval for the district from Post voters. YOU are being called upon to go to the polls Saturday and back your water district directors again.

Show your interest in a great community job well done. Go to the polls and vote. VOTE IN FAVOR of the proposition and YOU will be voting again for a growing future for your community.

Small towns must fight for lives, council is told

Small towns will have to "fight for survival for the next 17 years" Post's city councilmen were told Monday afternoon in their regular November meeting in a report by Mayor Harold Lucas, Councilman Arnold Parrish, and Acting Superintendent Eddie Warren on last week's Texas League of Municipalities convention in Houston.

Lucas said it was emphasized at the meeting that the population shift trend is now running strong for moving from the towns into the cities.

POPULATION EXPERTS figure by 1980 the United States will have 80 metropolitan areas and they think 21 of them will be in Texas, Lucas reported.

But some hope is held for the small towns.

By 1980 the trend is predicted to reverse itself with a population shift back from the cities to the town, Lucas said the convention was told.

"But for 17 years," Lucas commented, "it's up to the small towns to fight with everything they have to hold their population."

Lucas said every town and city apparently has its dog, livestock, police and sanitation problems.

Parrish brought out that a speaker on landing new industry said availability of land is the No. 1 essential to securing new industry. The league went on record as opposed to waiving city taxes as an attraction to industry.

THE THREE GAINED some "second thoughts" on urban renewal too, they reported.

"Everybody we talked to advised us to stay away from urban renewal," Lucas said.

Such a project has been under discussion for Post.

"They told us such a project costs the city more than if the city did the whole job itself," Lucas said. "Relocation of families to clear sub-standard housing areas for re-development is giving most of the trouble."

Lucas said they were told that Quanah, Plainview, and Tahoka all have "backed away" from planned urban renewal projects.

In other actions taken at the council session, besides the action on the telephone rate hike, the council:

REAPPOINTED Dr. A. C. Surman to another two-year term as a director of the White River Municipal Water District.

Voted to make the final $4,000 payment on the fire truck note and save the interest between now and when the payment is due in June. Warren told the council the money is now available from the oil tax fund.

Discussed appointment of a citizens advisory committee to the city council similar to the one set up to research the school district's needs for the next three years.

From the discussion the committee apparently would have no specific assignment.

The council decided to wait until the next meeting to come up with suggested members for such a five member committee.

GAVE THE POST Public Housing Authority a quit claim deed to any interest the city might have in a proposed street on Avenue F which is involved in one of the public housing sites here.

Heard the October police report from Chief Elton Corley which included $795 in fines collected, which included $400 from 19 drunks, $90 from six disturbers of the peace, $15 for indecent exposure, $210 for 14 violations of selling magazines from door to door without a license, and $80 for 10 traffic violations.

Corley explained that the large number of arrests for magazine peddling without a permit came one night when his office was besieged with calls about a crew of magazine salesmen from Alabama (five men and seven girls) who hit town about dusk and started door to door.

He said the last ones were getting people out of bed at 10 p. m. that night trying to sell them magazines before he could get them all arrested and in jail for the night.

"They were hard to catch in the dark," he added with a grin.

4 Post twirlers improve ratings
Four majorettes of the Post High School band participated in a twirling event at Springlake last Saturday, with three receiving Division II (excellent) ratings and one a Division III (good) rating.

The four majorettes also received a Division III rating as a quartet.

Division II ratings went to Marilyn Jones, Arleta Robinson and Pat Martin and a Division III rating to Bobby Neil Compton.

Band Director Bruce Evans said the four improved on the ratings they received in the same competition last year. The judge of the competition was the same one who judged last year's event, and he remarked favorably on the progress the Post twirlers had made, Evans said.

Post school meet attend meeting held in El Paso

William F. Shiver, director of instruction for the Post Public Schools, and Supt. Harry B. Thompson returned last Friday from El Paso, where they attended the annual convention of the Texas Association of Supervisors and Curriculum Development.

Thompson served as chairman of the state Science Committee. Shiver was a member of the Language Arts Study Committee at the convention.

The Post school men heard William Van Til of Columbia University speak on trends in education and heard Dr. Dr. Drummond of the University of New Mexico speak on the national process for the future.

A critical study of science programs in the public schools of Texas was initiated at the convention. This was necessitated by the changes in American education and the advent of space science.

Shiver and Thompson returned to El Paso with Dr. Joe Taylor of the Texas Tech faculty.

WEEKEND GUESTS
Weekend guests in the home of Bill Mathis were his daughter, Mrs. Jessie McDonald of Dallas, and his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Fisher and family of Garland. They also visited other relatives and friends.

Editor Didway might be a good loser about the poll vote, but I'm not at all. You could even say I'm a sore loser and I intend to stay that way. I announced rather defiantly to Mr. C Sunday morning that I just might not vote anymore in city, county and state elections if I have to keep shelling out money for "my right to vote".

Mr. C just grinned at me and I'm not sure I'm going to cut off my nose to spite the "great state of Texas"—but I'm thinking about it.

Well, on to more pleasant thing (and about anything is)—even apologizing to Glenn Potts for giving him a 25-year pin last week instead of a wrist watch. That's what we call an inadvertent mistake. I think they should have given you both. (I'd rather be half wrong than go the whole way).

Mrs. John Huffman called me last week after the paper came out and was a bit embarrassed at my praise because she said another lady in town had more Scout troops than she. And so now my hat is off to Mrs. J. P. Parnell who modestly says she really only has two troops and just helps with a third. Do any mothers not involved in scout work feel guilty? I'm glad my Misses Cs are past the age so I don't have to feel that way.

Some people get letters (such as the Mr. C of TV fame) but I occasionally get birth announcements. One of the cleverest I've seen in some time arrived last weekend. It was an announcement of the Bowen Stephens' new daughter in Bronco, and quite unique. They used a 3 by 5 item attention-getter such as used in a business house to catch the eye of the customer for a special item.

Preprinted at the top were the words "As Advertised". The rest was Stephens' originality. It read: Special Beginning — Nov. 4, 1963 Item — Girl Brand name — Darris Kim Stephens Packed — 8 lbs., 4 ozs. Product of — Bo & Sheila Stephens Bronco Food & Farm Supply

We've heard so much about the new rice diet and have seen so many results of lost poundage, the Cs have decided to give it a whirl. The thought of it gags me. My hatred of rice is a hang-over from the depression days when it was a plentiful item in my house full of brothers, sisters and parents. But I'm going to give it a try and hope I don't end up with an oriental slant to my eyes nor run around saying such things as "ding how". My Chinese vocabulary is limited to these two words.

One interesting thing about this diet is the in-between meal snacks. One must eat fruit at 10 a. m., 2 and 4 p. m. So if you'll all watch your clocks and not call while I'm eating on the job it will be appreciated.

Tuesday morning postscript: I'll never make it with the rice. One is supposed to eat a cup of rice four times a day on this diet. I have been able to choke down about one-half a cup twice. I think I'll just stay fat and happy. I now understand the problems of China—no wonder the common herds over there are so mixed up about life.

P. P. S. Many thanks to my caller last night who suggested I might enjoy watching the "Donna Reed Show" on TV. I did.

AMAZED.

I tell a few war stories — just like the rest. The censorship of good taste and modesty makes my experiences pretty drab. But Jerry thrills to them. He's proud of his Dad's Purple Heart!

My son would be amazed if I were to tell him the stories we never tell; our thoughts as we hit the beach . . . what it was like in those jungles . . . what war does to its dead . . . and its living.

And in other ways Jerry would be amazed; for he doesn't know me as a man who prays often. He can't realize the depth of my Faith. He has never met the brave chaplain who brought me in when I was hit.

I'll never tell Jerry all of it. I don't think God wants me to!

I pray that Jerry's may be a different world. I want him to learn day by day, step by step, what his religion will mean to him!

That's why we're a church-going family!

1000 students train for Registered Nurses

AUSTIN—About 4,000 students in the state are working to add "R. N." (Registered Nurse) to their names. They are following a revised curriculum free of some of the old-fashioned restrictions that used to cause a high rate of dropouts.

Bernice V. Johnson, secretary of the State Board of Examiners, says many are entering under the so-called "Plan" system, which allows a nurse to take 36 weeks of academic work in the college of her choice and assume the added duties of a hospital trainee.

OBESITY—HEALTH PROBLEM

AUSTIN—Concerned about being overweight? This problem and its grave consequences are certainly not new to mankind. Hundreds of years ago, a wise man said, "He who eats too much digs his grave with his teeth."

Obesity—resulting from overeating—is a major health problem in the nation today. Statisticians estimate that 20 per cent of the adults over 30 years of age are obese, and scores more are overweight.

What harm is there in being fat? Each pound of excessive weight whittles down your lifetime. If you are overweight by 25 per cent or more, you may expect to live only half as long as a person of normal weight according to some researchers.

How you become overweight is a matter of simple mathematics. Consume 500 calories more per day than your body burns and another pound of fat is tucked away in those embarrassingly conspicuous rolls around your mid-section.

Tossing those 500 unneeded calories down the hatch isn't at all difficult. Three martinis, a quarter pound of fudge or a cup of macaroni and cheese will do the trick.

We know how we get fat, but we often don't know why. Childhood eating habits frequently develop into adult obesity. The old concept of a fat child being a healthy, happy one has long since been refuted. Parents are primarily obligated to provide, as well as teach, their children to consume diets well balanced in both quality and quantity.

We may overeat to satisfy psychological needs that we haven't learned to handle in more satisfactory ways. Unfortunately, eating is seldom a matter of stoking the furnace to keep the fires burning.

Mechanically speaking, there are two ways to lose weight. One is to reduce total food intake to the point where body fat is called upon to supply calories. The other method is to increase physical activity to the point that calories expended exceed calories consumed in food. As a rule, a combination of the two works best.

Avoid crash and fad diets for losing weight. They are seldom successful, and may prove harmful to the body. Special foods are unnecessary as well.

Simply eat each day from the four basic food groups—milk products, meat, fruit and vegetables, breads and cereals. And adjust your total food intake to maintain or reduce weight, depending on your goal.

BUTTER CONSUMPTION

During the last decade, about one fourth of the milk produced each year has been consumed as butter, according to the National Dairy Council. Creamery butter, as contrasted to farm-churned butter, accounts for over 98 per cent of the total consumption.

OUR READERS Write

(EDITOR'S NOTE: A few months ago when two Girl Scout Guides from South America came to Post on their tour of the South Plains, Mrs. Katharine Trammell, Girl Scout Neighborhood chairman, took a leading part in making their visit here an enjoyable one. This week, Mrs. Trammell received the following letter of appreciation from one of the girls.)

Dear Mrs. Trammell:

It was really wonderful to be with you and your Girl Scouts during my stay in Texas and if I had your address I surely had written before. But, unfortunately, I put it among the things that were going to be shipped, so I couldn't write earlier than I am doing now. I hope you excuse me. It was not on purpose. Well, Mrs. Katharine, you can't imagine how happy I am and how nice you all were to me. I certainly had a good time at Post. I will never forget this opportunity and you all.

I hope someday you or some girl from Post comes and visits me here in Brazil. It will be wonderful!

Don't forget to say hello to everybody that I met, please. How are your parents? I surely enjoyed meeting them. They are very nice.

Do you remember the pictures that I took? Well, they are very nice and as soon as possible I am going to send them to you? Okay?

Well, I must stop here. I am going to have a test at school tomorrow. It will be an English test. I am trying to teach everything that I learned there in the United States. My friends are really fascinated.

Bye. Write me soon, please. Much love, Maria Eugenia Pereira Rio De Janeiro, Brazil

NEW TWIST TO OLD CURL

A long-established but nearly forgotten beauty aid for women, the heated hair-curling iron, is being revived—with a modern twist. The portable curling irons, although similar in principle to those used for centuries, are heated by small, rechargeable nickel-cadmium batteries and are one of the newest items in a growing list of cordless electrical appliances being sold today.

Garza rejects poll tax repeal by 221-74 vote

Garza County went with the rest of the state Saturday in turning down three of the proposed constitutional amendments, including poll tax repeal, and in favoring a fourth.

The vote in Garza County on repealing the poll tax as a requirement to voting was 74 for and 221 against repeal.

Latest figures from the Texas Election Bureau show the poll tax amendment failed, 303,763 to 237,524.

The only one of the proposed amendments that carried was one raising the state ceiling on welfare payments.

In Garza County, voters went along with the welfare amendment by a vote of 169 to 116.

The amendment to extend the state program for selling land to war veterans was rejected in Garza County by a vote of 129 for and 145 against.

The county's biggest box, North Post, showed 34 votes for and 60 against poll tax repeal.

The poll tax amendment failed to receive a single vote in its favor at Southland, where the vote was none for and 24 against.

The voting by boxes on the poll tax repeal amendment was as follows:

No. 1 (North Post) — 34 for, 60 against.

against. No. 2 (Southland) — 0 for, 24 against. No. 3 (Verbena) — 5 for, 9 against.

No. 4 (Justiceburg) — 10 for, 9 against. No. 5 (Close City) — 3 for, 19 against. No. 6 (Graham) — 6 for, 17 against.

No. 7 (Pleasant Valley) — 6 for, 21 against. No. 8 (South Post) — 8 for, 48 against. No. 9 (Two Draw) — 2 for, 14 against.

Rate raise—city agreed to both the 10 cent and 25 cent boosts asked. First, Emery said Uncle Sam would get $1,428 of it or slightly more in corporation taxes.

Then there would be the overhead costs of the company which would have to come out of it.

When Emery ended up his figuring, he said there would be only $348 a year left out of the $2,858 rate increase in which to retire the $7,000 investment made by General Telephone in the lines and equipment required for the extended area service hookup with the Verbena exchange.

Emery said that the investment would total $7,071 broken down into $4,585 for "outside investment" (poles, lines and cables) and $2,486 for extra equipment in the automatic dial building here.

IN ANSWER TO A question he said there are 460 extension telephones in Post which at a 25 cents a month boost would bring in $115 per month.

During the discussion about the 52 per cent corporation tax coming off the top, which had the councilmen shaking their heads, Councilman Bob Collier told Emery, "Maybe you ought to give us the extended area service and deduct your losses off your income tax."

Mayor Lucas asked Emery "how your company handled this in other cities with the same problem?"

King replied that Tahoka pays $12.50 for a one party business phone to only $11 in Post. Asked if the Tahoka business phones didn't assume all the added cost for extended area service there, King replied in the negative saying residential phones also got some increase.

MAYOR LUCAS TOLD Emery and King that "I can't follow you on extensions. If you say you are losing money on extension phones here in Post at the present rate, don't your sales people know that? They campaign periodically here to sell more extension phones. Why sell them if you lose money on them?"

Emery replied that all telephone divisions compete for added business such as extension phones and that in most divisions extensions do bring in a profit because the rate is 25 cents higher than Post.

EDDIE WARREN, acting city superintendent, told Emery that "you tell us you've spent $2,486 in added equipment here for the EAS service, yet you did not secure a building permit to put it in as required by statute, nor did you render it as taxable property to us."

Referring to a previous expression used by Emery in saying that "we must maintain our integrity to our stockholders," Warren added the comment, "If we are going to maintain the integrity of the city we should put that increase on the tax rolls."

Warren went on to point out that General Telephone had told the city council that it would spend $180,000 to $200,000 in Post to convert to dial phones when it asked for its dial phone rate increase but that you only rendered $20,000 in additional property for taxes after the conversion.

"In your last two tax renditions you have dropped your property value $2,000 a year," he said.

EMERY SAID HE didn't think a building permit was necessary to install equipment but had no comment to make on the rest of it.

He did say that General Telephone realized it "was a mistake on our part not to have asked before for the 25 cent increase on the extension phone rate."

At the start of the rate discussion, Lucas and Councilman Arnold Parrish asked the General Telephone representatives if no agreement was reached on extended area service "wouldn't toll service into Post from Verbena be more profitable to General?"

CONSTRUCTING TERRACE This Soil Conservation Service photo shows L. G. Thuett Jr. constructing a terrace with an elevator terracer on a Thuett farm west of Post.

Farmer of Post area stays busy with terracing

L. G. Thuett Jr. is in the process of building and rebuilding several miles of terraces on the Thuett farms, where heavy rains caused considerable damage from runoff early this past summer.

Thuett is using an elevator terracer to build the terrace ridges up to a size that will hold the rainfall where it falls and thus prevent excessive loss of soil and water.

There are probably many other Garza County farmers who need to have terraces built this winter. Cost-sharing assistance of 70 per cent is available through the Great Plains Conservation Program.

Those who are interested should contact the Soil Conservation Service to find out about technical and financial assistance.

Xmas parade—

(Continued from Page 1) Many other bands have been invited but the parade falls just in front of the district band contests next week and the bands are busy with contest preparations.

WALTER BOREN and Jack Myers will head the parade on horseback carrying the United States and Texas flags, Thompson said.

Another big parade feature will be 25 or more antique cars which will compete for trophies in a separate parade division. Tom Power is in charge of the antique car division.

The Sam Houston Rifles, ROTC drill team from West Texas State, also will march in the parade as will a color guard from military reserve units in Lubbock.

Parade officials also are hopeful of bringing the Lubbock Shriners here with their motorcycle parade unit.

Miss South Plains, the area beauty queen, also has been invited.

THOMPSON ASKED any other organizations wishing to enter floats to contact him for entry. He pointed out such floats will not be eligible for the trophy competition with the high school parade units.

Local merchants have raised approximately $1,100 to finance the Christmas Opening parade.

Thompson said the parade will be formed behind the courthouse on West Main street and will march east down Main Street, across the Santa Fe tracks, turn around just before the F street intersection, and come back down Main street disbanding at the courthouse.

The antique cars which will appear in the parade will be on display downtown following the parade, Power said.

Floyd has sold automobiles in Post and Lubbock for 12 years and has been selling continuously here since 1955. He became a local dealer for the first time with the purchase of the agency from Brown in 1961.

Scott and Floyd announced they will retain all the present personnel of the Guy Floyd Motor Co. and will add a full-time parts department man and another experienced mechanic.

Mrs. Kay Lamb is bookkeeper of the new firm and Mrs. Sharon Bruton is its secretary. Virgil Simmons is the firm's mechanic and shop foreman. Mrs. Floyd is handling the parts department at the present time.

Plant, animal life of Post area observed on recent PHS field trip

John May's biology class at Post High School made a field trip recently to South Lake for the purpose of identifying some of the typical plant and animal life of the Post area.

Barry B. Thompson, superintendent of schools, commented on the field trip as follows:

"This is an excellent teaching activity in that it is highly motivating and informative. While the field trip is not a new activity to education, the effectiveness of it as a teaching activity is highly dependent upon the ingenuity of the teacher. Mr. May is to be commended for his efforts."

(Continued from Page 1) its rate presentation because it simply doesn't make sense any more. What's more the phone firm obviously doesn't believe that "good will" around this community is worth a nickel or they wouldn't try to force the extension phone rate boost at a time when the city and rural patrons want to get extended area service going.

City phone users are willing to pay for EAS across the board on "main station rates" if the requested one can be justified. They were told the cost of EAS would be 10 cents a month and the city wasn't going to quibble about it. But when the extension phone boost was added the council has understandably taken a "good hard look" at General Telephone's explanations.

It's a mess—the phone rate negotiations—but as far as we can see all the blame lies on General Telephone's shoulders and certainly not on the city's. Nobody likes to be caught in the "old squeeze play" tactics.

The Christmas Opening Parade Saturday, Nov. 23, is shaping up as a real humdinger. Lots of floats, lots of antique cars, some bands, and other units will be included with Santa Claus out front in the first parade float. Plan now to attend. Next week's Post Dispatch will be a special Christmas Opening edition. Nobody will be able to say this year that Post didn't have the Christmas spirit early.

A big crowd ought to be out for the high school grid finale here tomorrow night when the Post Antelopes and the Frenship Tigers square off in a battle for second place in district 2AA play. We predict the Antelopes will bounce back with a victory and end the best season in a decade on a winning note. So come on out and cheer them on.

School board—

(Continued from Page 1) The administration stands ready to support this search for excellence in any manner possible. I look for outstanding contributions from the elementary faculty in the next few years, as an atmosphere for quality education is developing.

THE CHANGE IN organization became effective Tuesday of this week.

The sick leave policy for auxiliary employees recommended by the superintendent and adopted by the board states: "Each full-time secretary, custodian and cafeteria worker shall receive five days annual sick leave, cumulative to a maximum of 40. Half-time secretaries and cafeteria workers will receive two days annual sick leave, cumulative to a total of 16 days. Actual illness on the part of the employee or in his or her immediate family will be declared reasons for the use of sick leave."

The progress reports included one on the collection of current taxes and also one on the collection of delinquent taxes. Current tax collections are 82.8 per cent of the total. The board commended Mrs. Greenfield, school tax assessor-collector, for the efficient manner in which he is executing the duties of his office.

THROUGH OCT. 31, the delinquent taxes being collected through a contract with the Austin firm of McGreary & Co. amounted to $3,675.08, the board was informed.

Supt. Thompson went over some of the highlights in the written reports of the consultants who recently evaluated the school program. The superintendent told the board that these findings will be explained and summarized at subsequent board meetings.

A report from William A. Shiver, director of instruction, on the research that has been done on the reading program in the junior high school indicated that a new reading program needs to be implemented for a number of the students tested. The first series of the reading tests was among the 6th grade students.

Antelopes to end season here Friday against Frenship

Second place at stake; tilt for 9 seniors

Place in District 4AA will be at stake here Friday night when the Antelopes and Frenship meet in the final game of the season for both teams. The game will be at 7:30.

The last high school game in the Post is the same number on the squad.

Seniors bring a season record of five wins and five defeats in their night game. They are the Antelopes against Frenship in the district standings, both having lost to leader Denver.

Probable starters and weights for Frenship in Friday night's game are as follows:

Bobby Kindred, 185, and Eugene O'Donnell, 185, ends; Eddie McGinnis, 150, and Rickey Jackson, 185, tackles; Jerry Kindred, 155, and Russell Mayes, 160, guards; Danny Coleman, 160, center; David Burgamy, 145, quarterback; Garland Booser, 180, and Danny Lara, 165, halfbacks; Robert Parham, 145, fullback.

Junior varsity and frosh teams lose to Tullia and Spur

Disaster struck Post's junior varsity and freshman teams in their final games of the season last Thursday night.

Coach Charles Black's junior varsity team was blanked by Tullia, 27 to 0, and Coach Elvin Jones' freshman gridders lost to Spur, 55 to 0. The games were played at Tullia and Spur.

Post's junior varsity held Tullia scoreless in the first half and was behind by only 8-0 at the end of the third quarter. A pass interception, two fumbles and a flock of penalties led to three Tullia touchdowns in the fourth quarter and ruined Post's chances of a win.

Coach Black had only 13 boys suited out for the Tullia game.

Against Spur, the Post freshmen ran into bigger and tougher opposition than was expected. Instead of playing a Spur freshman team, they played the Bulldogs' junior varsity, which included a transfer student who was described as a "whiz" at the quarterback position.

Regular season ends Friday for 4AA teams; Slaton is already through

Except for the Denver City Mustangs, who clinched a playoff berth by Friday night's 48-0 win over the Post Antelopes, the football season will end Friday for District 4AA teams.

One team, Slaton ended its season last Friday in a 26-0 loss to the Frenship Tigers. Slaton, coached by V. F. (Bine) Bingham, former Post coach, finished with a won 2, lost 8 record.

Mustangs drub 'Lopes, 48 to 0, to win title

Upset hopes fade early in game

The Denver City Mustangs scored in every quarter Friday night to defeat the Post Antelopes, 48 to 0, in a game at Denver City that earned the Mustangs the right to represent District 4AA in the bi-district playoff game.

All the hopes the Antelopes and their supporters had stored up for an upset victory over the Mustangs went glimmering in the first half on a 33-yard touchdown pass and two punt returns, both for 75 yards. These three scoring plays and two extra points conversions gave Denver City a 22-0 halftime lead.

Throughout most of the first quarter, it appeared that an upset might be in the making. The Post defense held the Mustangs to only five yards on their first three plays from scrimmage and forced them to punt on fourth down from the Denver City 19.

THEN, AFTER the Antelopes were unable to move, quarterback Pat Cornell's punt bounced out of the Denver City receiver's arms and halfback Butch Cross covered the ball on the Mustang 37. Four plays later, the Antelopes had been pushed back to the 43, with a five-yard penalty thrown in, and Cornell's punt was killed on the Denver City 11.

An offside penalty nudged the Mustangs back to the six-yard line and from there is where the scoring deluge started.

Jimmy Young took Mike Martin's pass to the Post 38, and two plays later, Martin passed to Mike Bicklev for 38 yards and the first touchdown, with 2:15 to go in the quarter.

Denver City scored again on the final play of the period when Kim Freeman returned Cornell's punt 75 yards, breaking loose from three Post defenders at the Antelope 25.

The Mustangs' third touchdown came with 5:30 left in the half when Freeman returned another of Cornell's punts for a touchdown.

THE ANTELOPES made their most serious scoring threat of the game in eating up the rest of the time in the first half.

Tom Clark returned the kickoff 15 yards to the 20, and from there Post racked out four first downs in marching 67 yards to the Denver City 13, where time ran out.

Benny Owen and a 10-yard pass from Cornell to Danny Pierce covered most of the yardage picked up in the drive.

That was about all of it as far as the Antelopes were concerned.

Denver City upped the score to 28-0 with 3:55 to go in the third quarter when Pat Hubbard rambled over from three yards out.

Martin's 16-yard pass to Kenneth Brown early in the fourth quarter, made it 34-0, and the Mustangs upped the score to 40-0 two minutes later when Hubbard went 53 yards on a reverse.

POST FOUND time for one more short surge before the Mustangs added their final six-pointer. Cross, back to pass on the Antelope 11, ran instead and gained 20 yards to the 31. Owen fought his way around end for 12 more yards and another first down on the 43. There, the Mustang defense stiffened and Cornell punted out on the Denver City 29.

The Mustangs' final touchdown came with 58 seconds left when Martin passed 13 yards to Mike Sharp. Freeman ran the points.

Mustang Coach Don Orr played his regulars all the way, as he is in the habit of doing, regardless of the score.

Owen was the leading ground gainer for Post with 66 yards on 17 runs, while Cross netted 45 yards on 11 tries.

Who are Texas hunters and fishermen?

They are you and you and your next door neighbors! In fact, 50 to 60,000,000 of the next door neighbors in all of the 50 states are either fishermen or hunters.

They spend well over $116,000,000 a year just for hunting and fishing licenses alone. And the license they buy is the smallest part of the whole expense.

In most cases the hunting and/or fishing license can be had by residents for the price of a box of good shotgun shells and considerably less than the price of a box of high-powered rifle cartridges.

SO ANY TIME YOU feel you are only a small cog in this great outdoors, just remember that you represent perhaps a third or more of the total population of the United States. Your own voice or your own purchasing power may be small, but combined with the voices of others, it is a loud voice.

That voice must continue to speak up. First it must speak up against any and every move by so-called good-goers to do away with your right to own a gun or for that matter as many guns as you can afford.

Every time you hear of some piece of legislation that would rob you of this right, join with all the other millions to let the world know you intend to preserve this right.

There are many other rights and privileges which you also share. Actually the game belongs to you. But game is produced, for the most part, on private property. As a good sportsman, it is up to you to recognize the right of property owners. But at the same time the landowners should recognize some of your rights to harvest the game he has produced. In that way everyone enjoys the benefits of the great outdoors.

YOU HAVE A RIGHT to fish in the lakes and streams, but often these waters are on private property. Even when they are not, they represent not only a monetary investment, but something which must not be desecrated.

If everyone of the 60,000,000 or so persons who buy hunting and fishing licenses will recognize the rights of others and work together, it will be possible to continue with hunting and fishing for a long, long time.

What happened during the last half century is somewhat paradoxical. At the beginning of this century, wildlife was well on its way

Market hunters and game hogs were killing off game faster than it could produce. Then came the first laws to prevent the kill off.

BUT WITH THESE laws came another dangerous program. Soon game habitat was being pushed back as towns developed. Then cities came, with great industrial plants and thousands of miles of highways. All these did away with much of the domain of wildlife.

Eventually science came into the picture, along with reason. Many new land practices were put into use. There were experts in the field of wildlife. It didn't take long for them to realize that the hunter will not destroy all wildlife if there is a place for it to live.

Then engineers came along and built dams to impound water for more fish. Today we have more fish by far than the Indians ever had.

ALSO TODAY WE have a different outlook on wildlife. Once we harvested wildlife for food alone. When we needed meat we killed a buck or a turkey, regardless of the time of the year.

Now we harvest wildlife not only for food, but as a part of our sporting blood. We call ourselves sportsmen but we must play the part.

And who are these hunters and fishermen? They are you, and you and you.

El Paso site of Tech-TWC game Saturday night

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech, already assured of equaling its best record in eight years, seeks to go over the 500 mark by downing Texas Western in El Paso, Saturday night.

El Paso hasn't been the easiest place for Tech teams to win. Texas Tech holds a slight edge—4-3—over Miner elevens in the Border City, but has lost four while winning only one Sun Bowl contest there.

Records fell in all directions as Texas Tech trounced Kansas State 51-13 here last Saturday to send its season mark to 4-4. The best mark a Tech team has compiled since 1955 was 4-6 in 1959 and 1961.

H. L. Daniels' field goal, his eighth of the season, gave him undisputed possession of the Southwest Conference one-season mark and increased the career mark to 14. Also, eight is the most any SWC school is credited with.

Spirit is 'tops' at Friday's pep rally

By Linda McMahon
The response in this pep rally was the best we've ever seen. This was the general idea of the cheerleaders after the pep rally Friday afternoon. The spirit was tops!

The pep rally began with "two bits four bits", which really set things off with a bang. Then Linda McMahon and Margie Harrison hung from a box in the center of the gym, a dummy signifying the Denver City Mustangs.

Visiting cheerleaders, who were really George McLaurin, Lewis Herron, and Paul Walker, all of PHS, led us in a yell against the Mustangs. The boys were dressed as girls.

The pep rally continued with several yells before a speech from a senior football boy, Curtis Hudman.

Next came a skit by the cheerleaders. The skit showed that nothing was too much for the fighting Antelope.

The pep rally was closed with a yell for victory and the school song.

Senior Gossip

By Argan Robinson
It seems the paint on the hoop was not completely dry Friday night. If the football boys emerged slightly discolored, that was the reason.

The juniors and seniors in French I read the "Three Bears" in French dialogue. They really felt they had accomplished something!

Saturday will be a day of activity for several members of the choir. They will go to Lubbock for try-outs for Regional Choir.

Every class and a number of organizations have decided on their individual themes for the floats that are to contribute color and interest to the Christmas Parade on Nov. 23. They sound very interesting.

The gym was decorated exceptionally well. A large sign of "Be a Champion" was hung on the east wall. The school colors were carried out throughout the gym. A lot of work went into its decoration and the school's decoration.

We're still proud of our football team and we know that Friday we will turn the score from last week around with Frenship on the bottom.

MYSTERY STUDENT

Sullivan says this year's team best

By Susan Cornish
Pat Sullivan feels that this year we have the best team that has ever come out of Post.

Pat has lettered in football three years. This year he is a captain and starting center. Pat has been named the outstanding player of the week several times by the 46-56 Club.

Pat was born in Post, Feb. 22, 1945. He is a junior this year, is on the Junior Ways and Means committee and secretary of Vocational Agriculture. He attends the Church of the Nazarene.

Just Junior Talk

Last Saturday the varsity basketball girls attended a Basketball Clinic at Plainview. They were accompanied by their coach, Miss Stockton, Miss Hunt and Miss Halford. Girls attending were Mary Ann Stone, Dee Ann Walker, Pamela Stewart, Becky Thompson, Nita Wilson, Shirley Sappington, Vivian McWhirt and Cheryl Martin.

The Juniors are getting excited about the Junior play. It will be presented, Dec. 13, which does not give us long to work.

Last Monday morning started off with a bang when Linda Gist's car exploded in the parking lot. When the fire trucks arrived, G. T. Mason and Mr. Trimble had the fire under control.

It seems Susan Ramsey and Betsy Shytles have started something really unique. We all know people have nicotine fits, etc., but Susan and Betsy have peanut-patty fits. They can hardly restrain themselves in French class. It has been rumored that they are exchanging boxes of peanut-patties for birthdays, Christmas and Valentine's Day. Really girls!

Highlights of football game are reviewed by school page scribe

By Argan Robinson
The Denver City game, the topic of most conversations around PHS, has caused a few changes in the outlook of the students. The pep rally, Friday, was full of lively spirit and was the most outstanding of the season.

The spirits of a few of the spectators, Friday night, seemed to "lag" a little at intervals, but this

Sophomore Gossip

The Biology students in Mr. May's class took a field trip last Thursday to South Lake. They collected mosses, algae, leaves, insects and different kinds of soil. It seems as though there were some slight accidents. Is that right, Julia Childs and Jerry Julian?

Quite a few couples have been seen around lately. They are: Sharon Borgman and Buddy Howell, Sharla Pierce and Jimmy Kennedy, Carol Camp and Randy Dawkins, Marilyn Jones and Charles Landroop, Beverly Duncan and Ronald Simpson, Delores Stroffer and Curtis Hudman, Judy McCampbell and Jerry Bush, Pat Martin and Jimmy Smith.

Don't be surprised, in the next week, if someone comes up and asks if they may interview you. Mrs. King's English II classes are interviewing people and writing biographies on them. It should prove to be very interesting.

Plans are being made for the Sophomore class party. The date hasn't been set, so keep close watch for further information!

Seventy-four members were present for the Nov. 4 meeting of the Math and Science Club.

The films, "How Did Life Begin?" and "Life on Other Planets," were shown.

Bruce Ledbetter was elected sergeant-at-arms. Dee Ann Walker was elected by the officers to head the float committee.

The next meeting will be Nov. 18. Everyone is urged to attend.

Junior High spotlight turns on Mrs. Black

This week the spotlight is on Mrs. Black.

Mrs. Black was born in Spur and attended high school there. She went to Texas Tech and Oklahoma University. She has been in Post two and one-half years.

Mr. and Mrs. Black have a two and one-half year old son. Mrs. Black has been a 6th grade teacher for two years.

This 'n' That in 6th Grade

By Kay Hundley
Before you know it some of the 6th grade girls are going to have a football team.

Janet Ray is busy reading a football book. Maybe she will be the coach.

Is this story true? Jimmy Jones and Terry Moreau were fighting in Math class.

Janice Hair you had better work a little bit harder or you won't get Richard.

Don't you think boys that dye their hair are silly? I thing they look good before they dye their hair.

Mr. Frederick has been recording some of the girl's voices.

What's this I hear about Mr. Burnett trying to bribe his classes with bubble gum? Keep it up, Mr. Burnett.

Good luck, 6-D. You are coming in first on the attendance contest. Six-D had the least number of pupils absent during the first six weeks.

The girls and boys of the 6th grade will get to play basketball in about three weeks. Thanks, Coach Hahn.

Can You Imagine?

Mr. Davis' classes coming down the stairs quietly?
Wayne Plunk without "pink" hair?
Emma Steele without a smile?
Library classes quiet and working?

Sixth grade students clearing the halls on time?
Mrs. Black screaming at a student?
A football game not going on during the lunch hour?
Don Collier not being polite?
Larry Rosas being six feet tall?
Elias Martinez not being able to draw?
Mary Stelzer not reading a book about horses?

Burlington joins in new textile project in Spain

GREENSBORO, N. C.—Burlington Industries, Inc., has joined with a group of Spanish and Mexican textile interests to establish a manufacturing operation in Spain. Walter E. Greer Jr., president of Burlington International, said today that the new company, Fibras Texturadas, S. A., is now building a plant at Mollet, near Barcelona, Spain. It will produce stretch and textured synthetic yarns for the Spanish hosiery, weaving, and knitted outerwear trades. Initial operations are expected to begin early in 1964.

This latest extension of Burlington's activities on the European continent is in conjunction with two major Spanish synthetic fiber producers, Perifil, S. A. of Madrid and La Seda de Barcelona, S. A. of Barcelona. Rosendo Valles, Burlington's associate in a similar operation in Mexico City, Mexico, will be chairman of the board of the new firm.

Burlington's participation will be through Burlington International, A. G., a wholly-owned subsidiary with headquarters in Switzerland. Burlington also has wholly-owned or affiliated manufacturing operations in Canada, Colombia, France, Germany, Mexico, South Africa, Switzerland, the United Kingdom, and Puerto Rico.

Burlington Industries recently completed negotiations for a substantial interest in Stoffel A. G., a leading Swiss manufacturer of fine cotton goods.

It'll pay to keep student in school

WASHINGTON—Parents of school students have a chance to make this year worth an average of $17,500 apiece to their children. It is a startlingly large sum for a teenager to get for a year's education. Many persons highly skilled in their field can reasonably expect them to be earning an average of $17,500 more than their working lives than if they dropped out, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. A full four years of school would be worth $70,000 extra.

Youths who drop out, moreover, may drift from one transient job to another throughout their lives. For educated persons, good, permanent jobs are plentiful. The problem is critical. We have one time for schooling, when we are young. Yet about one million youths will quit this year without parents, friends, teachers, businessmen, and others act to help the waverers now.

Lessons in sewing cost nothing in 4-H Club program

CHICAGO—Girls, if you want to learn to sew, join the 4-H Club. This goes for mothers, too. Mother can volunteer as a local club leader, and get specialized training through sources available to the county extension office, suggests Miss Lois Korslund, home economist for the National 4-H Service Committee.

The most important tool needed for making a skirt, dress, slip cover, drapes or anything else is, of course, the sewing machine. And it's not enough to own a sewing machine; you should know what makes it run, how to take care of it, and how to get maximum use 365 days a year.

All this can be learned in 4-H. There is a special program aptly called "Getting the Most Out of Your Sewing Machine," which offers two-day training courses for 4-H clothing or home improvement project leaders and for 4-H girls who serve as junior leaders, as well, according to Miss Korslund.

With the aid of sewing teachers and expertly written and illustrated guide books, both experienced and inexperienced home sewers are taught how to easily make adjustments, clean the machine and operate it properly.

Since 1955 when sessions were first offered, 65,000 leaders and 346,000 members have received this made-to-order training, the Cooperative Extension Service reports.

For further information, call your County Extension office.

MIDLAND VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Watson of Midland visited Saturday and Sunday in the home of his nephew, John Huffman, and family.

50,046 Texans in over-65 program

H. Lewis Rietz, president of the Texas 65 Health Insurance Association, announced Thursday that 50,046 Texans, 65 years of age and over, acquired broad health insurance protection under the Texas 65 program during its initial enrollment period in October.

In announcing the final enrollment figures, Rietz stated, "this outstanding record of initial enrollment during October points up the need for, and justification of the over-65 program. The public support and appreciation of benefits offered, the unselfish cooperation of insurance agents, professional groups, and the generous support of the news media in Texas combined to achieve this gratifying record of enrollment."

Sixty-one insurance companies are participating to make the program possible in accordance with special legislation enacted this year and signed by Gov. John Connally.

No further open enrollment periods have been scheduled at this time, but they will be held at infrequent intervals in the future, Rietz said.

7:30 P. M. Friday November 15

Antelope Stadium

Coach Harold Teal's Post Antelopes will be out to wind up their best grid campaign in a decade with a win against the Frenship Tigers here Friday night needing the victory to clinch second place in District 4AA standings.

It will be the final start in Antelope uniforms for nine high school seniors, including the squad's three tri-captains.

The Antelopes will need your full support tomorrow night to down the Tigers. Be there—and out loud. Show the high school team Post is still solidly behind them.

SPINAL BEARINGS

An effective remedy for back stiffness sometimes caused by slipped-disk operations has been found, doctors believe, by placing a nickel stainless steel ball between the affected spinal vertebrae. Several patients so treated have returned to active and strenuous occupations without feeling any ill effects.

It's the Law in TEXAS

FRIENDS OF THE COURT

Our system of justice rests upon the "adversary" theory of a trial where both sides have a right and duty to fight in dead earnest for real stakes so that the court can then better judge the merits of the case.

Our U. S. Supreme Court, for example, will not give an "advisory" opinion to anybody since such opinions elsewhere, often untested, make a mockery of the courts.

Our courts generally will decide a point of fact or law only where it has become the subject of a real controversy, and both sides will be represented with skill and in good faith.

A good judge knows that one side may sound good until he hears the other side speak. This is why a court may frown upon "friendly law suits" where two sides agree to go to court and get decision interpreting an important legal question.

Without a real contest, the court may not see what a true adversary would make clear—that is, that there is another side to the question before the court, and that, perhaps the interests of many other people may be involved.

The other day one court threw out such a made-up law suit where a county in another state and a prospective county bond buyer had agreed to "test" the legality of same bonds in a friendly suit at the county's expense. One side would have pretended to put up a fight.

The courts go a long way to get real contests. They allow "friends of the court" (amicus curiae) to enter on one or both sides to fight in earnest.

In old Rome any passing stranger, or amicus curiae, might speak up to tell the court of a possible error it was making.

In America, the friend of the court often helps to point up the important issues.

For instance, a little known sect may print a religious tract or leaflet in some remote village. The constable may arrest one of its followers for "littering the streets." The fine may be a trifle, but the issue is big: Can any government unit, of whatever size, curb the freedom of the press or freedom of religion?

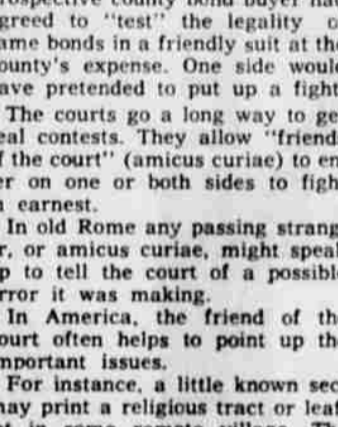

As this case goes on to higher courts, more and more people—citizens, publishers, and religious groups—get interested. They, too, have a stake in getting the "right" decision. The case lands in the U. S. Supreme Court. A dozen or more groups will ask the court to let them present "briefs" or amicus curiae arguments on both sides. Result: the court says no government can curb these freedoms.

Thus are great causes ably presented.

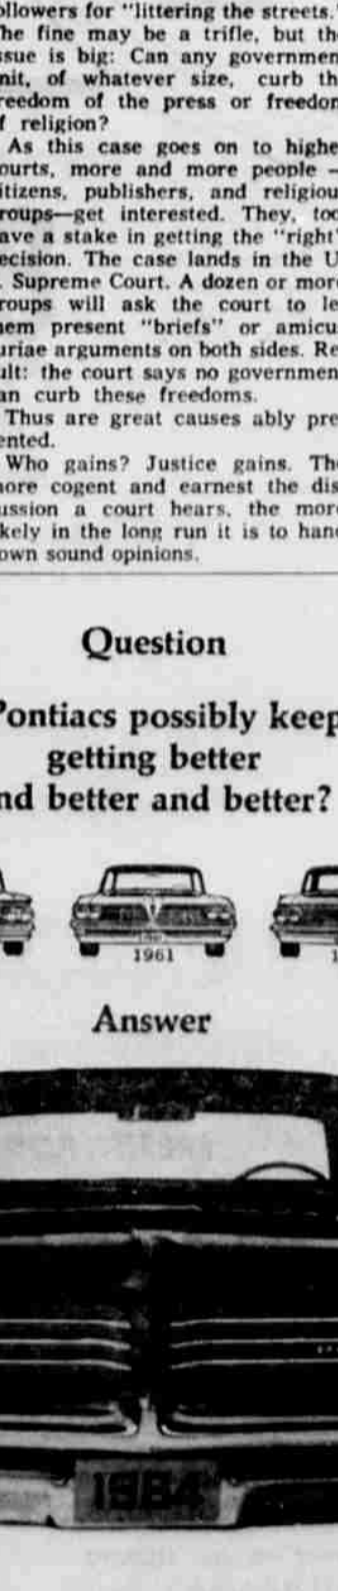

Who gains? Justice gains. The more cogent and earnest the discussion a court hears, the more likely in the long run it is to hand down sound opinions.

Number of Farm Bureau members hits new high

WACO—Membership in the Texas Farm Bureau has reached an all-time high of 89,401 farm and ranch families, according to Millard Shivers, TFB director of organization.

"This record high represents a gain of 4,559 over the 1962 membership and is the 11th year in a row for the state's largest farm organization to show an increase in membership," Shivers said. "According to our best estimates, this gain makes the Texas Farm Bureau 30 times as large as the next biggest general farm organization," he added.

John C. White, Commissioner

IMPORTANCE OF CULTURAL PRACTICES IN INSECT CONTROL

"Don't depend upon insecticides alone for good insect control," according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

"Insecticides are a wonderful and almost indispensable aid in the fight against pests—but they do not replace necessity of good cultural practices," he added.

Cotton farmers especially should make every effort to clean their fields after harvest, the Commissioner pointed out. A thorough destruction of the stalks help destroy winter hibernation places for insects, especially the pink bollworm and the boll weevil.

Cultural practices and insecticides make an almost unbeatable team in minimizing crop losses to insects, White said. But each one is an aid to the other. Neither one alone will do as effective a job as the team.

Insecticide costs can be cut to some extent when used in connection with proper cultural controls, he added. Stalk destruction achieves a good kill over the winter and lighter emergence of insects in the spring.

White said it was a misconception to think that modern chemicals had replaced the necessity for mechanical means of insect control. "There is no such thing as 'push button warfare' against crop pests" he declared. "You still have to do field work in addition to spraying."

NOVEMBER PLENTIFUL FOODS

Turkeys and cranberries head the list of plentiful foods available at a good price for the month of November. USDA officials say an abundant supply of these commodities—coming at the Thanksgiving holiday season—will be attractive bargains for the U. S. housewife.

Also featured on the plentiful foods list are apples, grapes, potatoes and Maine sardines.

Unemployment itself can show desire to work, or vice versa

WASHINGTON — Unemployment can reflect the desire to work but inability to find a job. It can also reflect the ability to work but lack of great desire for a job.

Present employment surveys by the Department of Labor don't show the difference.

The average unemployment rate is 4.8 per cent. That is for all the jobless. Teen-aged boys have a 13.1 per cent rate; teen-aged girls 12.7 per cent. Married women have a 6.4 per cent rate. Single men over 20 have an 8.8 per cent rate.

It is possible that some teenagers, though seeking work, show no great desire for it because they are living at home with their parents. It is possible that some married women are very choosy about the type of work they will accept so long as their husbands are supporting them.

These surmises are suggested by the fact that among the group clearly with the greatest incentive to work, married men not separated from their wives, the unemployment rate is 2.3 per cent, less than half the average.

ARCHITECTURAL MATERIAL

The architectural material with the largest growth potential — particularly for use in the many modern skyscrapers being built throughout the world is stainless steel. In 1927 the use of nickel stainless steel in architecture was almost non-existent. By 1967, according to the Market Research Department of International Nickel, more than 100,000 tons of stainless steel will be used in architecture each year.

W. Condon family. One of the Condons' sons, Davis, was home on leave from the Air Force, and another son, Dean, has enlisted in the Navy and left Monday.

SOME FARMERS BUY A FERTILIZER SOLELY ON THE BASIS OF THE THREE BIG NUMBERS ON THE BAG. THESE NUMBERS, SUCH AS 12-12-12, REPRESENT THE PERCENTAGE OF NITROGEN, PHOSPHATE AND POTASH CONTAINED IN THE FERTILIZER, IN THAT ORDER.

BUT THE NITROGEN NUMBER WILL BE THE SAME ON A BAG OF CHEAP FERTILIZER AS ON A BAG OF PREMIUM FERTILIZER. YET THE CHEAP KIND CONTAINS ONLY ONE FORM OF NITROGEN, WHILE THE PREMIUM FERTILIZERS CONTAIN THREE VARIETIES FOR CONTINUING NUTRITION...

OR TAKE THE LAST NUMBER, WHICH REPRESENTS THE PERCENTAGE OF POTASH. CHEAP FERTILIZERS CONTAIN POTASSIUM CHLORIDE, AND TOO MUCH CHLORIDE CAN HAMPER THE UPTAKE OF PHOSPHORUS. PREMIUM FERTILIZERS CONTAIN SULPHATE OF POTASH-MAGNESIA, WHICH IS VIRTUALLY CHLORIDE-FREE BUT CONTAINS TWO IMPORTANT SECONDARY ELEMENTS -- MAGNESIUM AND SULFUR. YET THE NUMBERS ON THE BAGS ARE THE SAME.

BE SURE TO LOOK ON THE BAG FOR A DESCRIPTION OF THE INGREDIENTS.

GLEAMING JEWELRY

The gleaming finish on today's costume jewelry is polished by plating with the metal rhodium—one of the platinum-group metals produced internationally.

NICKELS WORTH OF DISCOVERY

Although the element nickel was discovered by the Swedish chemist Axel Frederick Cronstedt in 1751, metallic nickel was not produced on an industrial scale until 1824, and nickel plating was introduced until 1843.
