

County votes to discontinue its portion of radio station expense

Widens gap in efforts at joint law enforcement

The city and the county parted ways this week on their joint law enforcement efforts with the Garza County Commissioners Court voting Monday afternoon to discontinue the county's portion of the expense of the city-county law enforcement radio station, effective Oct. 12.

County commissioners estimated this would save the county $10,000 a year.

At the same time, the commissioners court approved the request of Sheriff L. E. Claborn Jr., for installation of a teletype in the sheriff's office to operate round-the-clock on the new West Texas law enforcement network.

The teletype installation is scheduled for Oct. 12, the date the county pulls out of the law enforcement radio station here.

Mayor Harold Lucas, who with City Councilman Bob Collier met with the commissioners court Monday afternoon prior to the county action, told The Dispatch yesterday that the city will continue 24 hour a day telephone and radio service out of its police department.

"This will not mean any major increase in expense as far as the city is concerned," Lucas declared.

He estimated the additional cost to the city as not over $3,000 above what the city is paying now for the joint city-county radio station.

The mayor said city plans call for the city's regular office force to answer the telephone and radio during the regular 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. working hours with probably two police dispatchers hired to maintain the operation for the rest of the 24 hours on regular eight-hour shifts.

A remote control unit of the radio station will be installed in the city offices to permit this.

County Judge J. E. Parker, who was out of the city when the law enforcement action was taken Monday afternoon, told The Dispatch yesterday that "we are simply trying to live within our means." He added that "we don't want to cripple our law enforcement effort."

City and county officials have met together twice in recent months in efforts to work out some budget cutting for both branches of local government in the law enforcement field through more cooperation.

Present financial arrangements on the jointly operated law enforcement radio station calls for the county to pay all salaries and maintenance cost on radio equipment.

The city pays $1,200 a year, cost of the telephone line of $30 to $40 monthly, provides building, and pays the utilities.

In announcing the city's intentions to continue to maintain the station on a 24-hour basis, Mayor Lucas pointed out the city has several alternatives.

The city can move the police department into the space formerly occupied by the fire department in city hall and convert the present city police building into a city jail to hold city prisoners. It also could reopen an apartment in city hall for a man and wife combination to answer the phone and attend the radio.

The county plans, of course, to continue to maintain the sheriff's radio out of the sheriff's department in the courthouse. This is a part of the joint city-county radio station.

Four planes to fly off Post airport strip

Weevil spray 'blitz' starts today in Garza

The aerial onslaught against the dread boll weevil was scheduled to get under way in Garza County today after being delayed since Monday because of overcast skies.

County Agent Syd Conner told The Dispatch that arrangements have been made for four spray planes to use the former Post airport strip for their operations.

A change in battle plans, Conner reported, will call for spraying all infested fields off the caprock. Originally the Justiceburg area was not scheduled for spraying.

A fleet of ten spray planes have been waiting for the cool front weather to break to get the biggest spraying blitz in this region's history under way.

SOME 230,000 acres in a seven-county area will be sprayed regularly every 10 days until frost in an effort to wipe out the dread boll weevil and prevent his advance deeper in 1965 into the rich High Plains cotton belt.

County Agent Syd Conner told The Dispatch yesterday that approximately 12,000 Garza cotton acres are within the present "spray zone", but that some fields within the zone won't be sprayed unless weevil infestation develops.

He said the spray line includes all cotton fields in the Verbena area but four, but since these four also are infested with weevils spray planes will skip "over the line" to get them as well.

COTTON FARMERS in the 23-county High Plains cotton area will contribute 50 cents per bale this fall at the compress to help finance the boll weevil spraying program and these funds will be matched by $1,000,000 from the federal government.

Besides Garza County, cotton also will be sprayed in Crosby, Floyd, Brisco, Motley, Dickens, and part of Kent counties.

The county agent said the district headquarters of the plant pest control service, a branch of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, in Lubbock is in charge of the spray program.

A supervisor from that office will be assigned to each of the ten spray planes to check its flights.

County redistricting effective on Nov. 15

The Garza County Commissioners Court voted unanimously here Monday that their August order to redistrict the county be made effective Nov. 15, 1964.

In other words, the new county commissioner precincts would not apply for the upcoming general election in November.

The court adopted the redistricting plan at its August meeting after announcing details of the plan in mid-July.

No changes were made in the announced plan at the time of its adoption.

The redistricting will place a hood-sized bloc of Post voters in each of the county's four commissioner precincts. While the new plan does not entirely equalize the county's voting population among the four commissioner precincts, it does go a long way toward rectifying present inequalities in representation.

As has been pointed out before, the redistricting has no legal effect upon existing commissioner precinct bond issues or the precinct liquor situation.

It is estimated that the new commissioner precincts will divide the county's 2,100 voting strength as follows: Precinct No. 1 — 700 voters (formerly about 1,200); Precinct No. 2 — 550 and 600 voters (550 formerly); Precinct No. 3 — 450 voters (250 formerly); and Precinct No. 4 — 350 voters (formerly only 95).

Description of the new commissioner precinct boundaries required four big typewritten pages in the court's minute book but the new boundary changes within the city can be described in brief as follows:

Precinct 1 — Reduce its in-city boundaries to voters living north of the present boundary line which runs west along the alley between West Main Street and West 10th Street, and west of the proposed new east boundary line which would run up the center of North Ave. M from the courthouse.

Precinct 2 — Leave it virtually unchanged.

Corley is reported to be moving from Post today to Longview, Texas, where he will be the assistant chief deputy of the Gregg County sheriff's department.

Mayor Lucas said for the present the two-man city police force is working on 12-hour shifts with Otis G. Shepherd on day work and Oscar Gray on night duty.

Lions' practice shoot slated for Saturday

Gunners who want to sharpen their aim for the Post Lions Club turkey shoot on Saturday, Sept. 26, are invited to attend a practice shoot at 2 p. m. this Saturday at the club's gun range at the rodeo grounds.

One dollar per gun will be charged at Saturday's practice shoot and the Lions can supply shells at $2.50 a box.

Marker dedicated at cemetery gate

Another page in Garza County's colorful history was marked at 10 a. m. yesterday when the new state historical marker atop the Terrace County cemetery gate was dedicated by the Garza County Historical Survey Committee.

Two of the three men who constructed the gate and gate piers were among the crowd of 25 people attending the dedication and received special recognition. They are George "Scotty" Samson, who built the piers of native rock, and Wm. Zetzman, retired blacksmith, who built the gate.

Mr. Zetzman, who helped keep assisted Samson in building the piers, was unable to attend the dedication.

The interesting history of the gate and piers was given by Winnie Tuffing, who told of the rocks forming the piers first being used to build C. W. Post's town gate, which was referred to as the "Gateway to the Plains."

After the gate was torn down, Samson stored the round rocks used in its construction and built the cemetery gate piers with them in the early 1930's.

5-point program recommended

He explained that last year there were only 1,500 firms seeking new plant locations in this country, but in the same period there were 3,000 plant expansions.

That makes the odds twice as good to gain payroll through expansion of a plant you already have, Clark pointed out.

He recommended that management of local industries be officially called upon at least once a year and asked by the community, "What can we do to help you grow and prosper?"

Your "second best prospect", Clark said, is "somebody with an idea." He may not have money, know-how, marketing conception or a lot of other things, but the idea is most important.

"Hear out everybody with an idea," Clark advised.

The biggest industries in West Texas today are homegrown industries, he said.

The third best method for industrial prospects is to keep in contact with your "allies", the power, gas, railroad companies and all those interested in locating new industry.

Fourth, he advised, is the directory of Texas industries because one out of every 25 industries listed have two or more plants in Texas.

The five-point program recommended by Clark included:

(1) Community betterment—having the town ready and capable of handling industry and being a good place to live.

(2) Research — having data and statistics available on the community, thus narrowing down the field to the types of plants which can "make money" in Post.

(3) Finance — the industrial foundation approach suggested. Texas is one of the five states that doesn't have a public financial program for industry. An industrial foundation would be a non-profit organization selling stock at not less than $100 a share with 10 per cent in cash and the balance in bonds.

(4) Transportation — having a bus to transport the goods and coaches to Hamlin on Saturday night's game.

(5) Publicity — having a bus to transport the goods and coaches to Hamlin on Saturday night's game.

Postings

The city and the county have parted ways, apparently without bitterness, over their efforts to jointly operate a law enforcement radio station and to work out more city-county law enforcement cooperation.

The trend, which is emerging from all of this, is that the city appears to be headed for the first time for a complete law enforcement arm.

Preparing to take over round-the-clock operation of police radio next month and to hire a new police chief shortly, the city is talking of the possibility of moving the police station back into city hall and converting the present station behind city hall into a jail to hold a few city prisoners.

Next week is the "big one" for auto dealers here. For the first time in history all local car lines will unveil their new year models within a single weekend.

The rest stop was operated 72 hours, with 100 per cent participation reported on the part of the Jaycees.

Cups of coffee served at the rest stop totaled 1,850, with 20 gallons of milk, 16 gallons of tea and 30 dozen cookies also being handed out to motorists.

Jimmy, who is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Redman of Post, said he had laid a 22 rifle on the bed and when it started to slide off he caught it and hit the end of the bedstead with the weapon, causing it to discharge. The bullet passed through his body.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Redman, who visited their grandson in Borger Monday, said his condition is good. They were accompanied to Borger by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Mitchell, Mrs. Gerry Sherrill and two children and Margie Redman.

Enrollment here nearing 1,400

Enrollment in the Post Public Schools is nearing the 1,400 mark this week, with a total of 1,391 students enrolled as of Tuesday.

Supt. Barry B. Thompson said he expects the enrollment to show a gradual gain until late November, when it is expected to hit its peak with the return of a number of migrant farm labor families.

Tuesday's 1,391 enrollment figure showed 320 in high school, 353 in junior high and 688 in the elementary school.

Enrollment by grades was: 12th, 89; 11th, 69; 10th, 80; 9th, 92; 8th, 101; 7th, 164; 6th, 128; 5th, 120; 4th, 127; 3rd, 153; 2nd, 151; 1st, 137.

Dispatch Editorials

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1964

Pointing up the proven way

Harry Clark, executive director of the Texas Industrial Commission, told Post business and civic leaders here last Thursday afternoon that the best industrial prospect Post has is Burlington Industries, which already has a plant here.

Clark urged that communities should contact their own industries annually in a formal way to ask "what can we do to help you grow and prosper."

Clark pointed out that last year there were 1,500 industries employing 25 or more persons looking for sites and 15,000 cities and organizations looking for industries.

The percentage isn't so good to land one, Clark emphasized.

But then Clark added another significant statistic. Last year there were 3,000 plant expansions. In other words your chances are twice as good to get a plant expansion as a new industry—if you already have a plant to expand.

When Clark finished his highly interesting talk, Bryan J. Williams, who chairmanned the successful session, arose to point out that Post two or three years ago did try to start just such an industrial foundation as Clark recommended to help finance new industry.

Fourteen local business and professional men met in the same community room and each put up $100 to start Post Developments, Inc.

As Williams went on to point out, most of that $1,400 was spent to keep a close contact with Burlington Industries with delegations flying east about once a year to ask, "What can we do to help you grow and prosper?"

Oh, it was a small start. Mainly, because enough folks didn't have the vision then. We think it is different now. The Dispatch sincerely believes all Post wants to help its Postex Cotton Mills and also to attract in other new industry.

It is willing to listen, as Clark recommends, to "anybody with an idea."

Sure, we've made a lot of mistakes trying to get our industry search off the ground. But it was with some small degree of pride last Thursday afternoon that we listened to Clark tick off the five points of what he calls the "Five Point Program for Community Industrial Development" (Community betterment, research, financing, sites and prospects).

In the last couple of years, those in Post sincerely interested in industrial development (both of present industries and new industries) have given some attention to all five points.

It's nice to know those who tried were heading in the right direction.

The Dispatch feels the time is now ripe to get organized on a broad community scale. The Texas Industrial Commission points up the proven way.—JC

Clarion call for one-way alley

The Dispatch isn't advocating one-way streets for Post. But we do sound the clarion call for at least one one-way alley.

It's that narrow, paved thoroughfare which runs behind the postoffice and the First National Bank.

With the drive-in mail box on that alley behind the postoffice, one can get into all sorts of 5 o'clock predicaments.

First off, there are those people who wheel into the alley to drop a few letters into the postal box and then without looking, ram it into reverse to back out into the avenue. If you're unlucky enough to be behind such neurotics, it's hard to find a place to hide.

Then when you do get up to the box yourself, you often are challenged when you start to pull away and drive west through the alley by somebody who is 10 to 20 minutes late going east.

When there's hardly room for one car between the air conditioner and the telephone pole, this, too, poses a problem.

This is not written to sensible folks who might be expected to read the editorials. It's written to those who back away from the mailbox and who like to drive east up that alley. Use more sense, won't you?

It is also directed at city authorities who must make the tough traffic decisions around town. How about a one-way alley—running west behind the postoffice and the bank?—JC

Thanks for the compliment!

The Dispatch is always happy to receive compliments even when they are back-handed compliments, such as the one we received at the City Council meeting Tuesday night of last week.

During the discussion on the request of a local liquor store owner that the council reconsider its earlier decision not to reduce the $62.50 package store license fee, one of the councilmen remarked that the City is having to pay more for law enforcement because of the liquor places being here.

"We didn't ask for added law enforcement," the store owner responded, then added, "it was mostly pushed through the local newspaper."

Well, sir. The Dispatch is glad to receive credit for the role it played in getting additional law enforcement. However, we started pushing for an adequate police force long before Precinct 3 voted "wet," so we fail to see the connection implied by the store owner.

At the time we started pushing for more law enforcement, there were anywhere from three to a half-dozen break-ins here every week. We don't have that anymore, and the reason is that there is a big enough police force now to patrol the town at all hours of the day and night.

We only wish we could be as successful in pushing through some other improvements we'd like to see come about as we were in pushing for added law enforcement.—CD

What our contemporaries are saying

Now, some college professors have come out with the idea that Christmas should not be observed in our schools. Don't tell the Supreme Court: it will make Christmas illegal.—Frank Hill in The Lynn County News.

Goldwater said he didn't mean to imply, as charged by a recent statement, that President Johnson authorized the use of atomic weapons in Vietnam. It's beginning to seem that whenever Goldwater makes a statement, he should immediately explain what he meant by it.—Olin Miller in The Seguin Gazette.

Like countless other Americans, I have been glued to my television set during the Democratic National Convention. In fact, I've watched it so much that I think I have NBC stamped on one eyeball and CBS on the other. We're fortunate to be able to witness history in the making. Some people complain that their favorite programs are not shown during the conventions. I maintain that every American should be willing to give up a few of their "favorite shows" once every four years to watch our democratic system at work. Without it, we might be told what to watch and do on a permanent basis. It's a small price to pay.—Ralph W. Carpenter in The Falls Banner.

ALONG ABOUT this time every year, the new shows start on television and it's always a toss-up as to which ones will be hits and which ones will be flops. Many of them no doubt will make the average TV viewer long for the summer re-runs.

Among the new TV programs making their debuts this week are "Voyage," "Bing Crosby Show," and "Tycoon." Another new one is "Peyton Place," but it won't be channeled over 11 or 13, so not many of us here will get to see it, to which I might add "doggone it," since if it's anything like the book of the same name, "Peyton Place" ought to be a humdinger of a TV program.

The Man up the Street says the trouble with his wife in a supermarket is that she doesn't exercise shelf control.

I've just been reading in the September "Texas Parade" magazine that Muleshoe's hopes of putting up a monument to a mule has run into trouble. Last year, the Mule Memorial Association of America set out to raise $5,000 for the statue. It has been able to raise only $3,000—and now sculptors say the statue will cost $25,000. Thus far, mule-lovers in 45 states have made contributions, but many more must come forward if Muleshoe is to get its mule on a pedestal.

INCIDENTALLY, THE Muleshoe High School football team's nickname is Mules. But, when I was working on the Muleshoe Journal in the early 1940's, the football team was known as the Yellow-jackets. Maybe Muleshoe should have left it like that and erected a statue to a yellowjacket instead of trying to erect one to a mule. That's the trouble with too many places the size of Muleshoe—they try to get ahead too fast.

The other day, Garland Huddleston of the Post Junior Chamber of Commerce dropped into The Dispatch office to give us a report on the approximate number of tourists pulling in at the Jaycees' Labor Day rest stop. Garland had the rest stop registry book with him, and I scanned through it just to see if any of my relatives, including the Hemphills, or my wife's relatives, including the Dollarhides, had passed through Post. One Didway had registered and had listed his home town as Ubanga, Texas. The Texas Almanac does not list such a place. Do any of my readers know where Ubanga, Texas, is?

MAN TO FRIEND: "My little woman claims she's the perfect wife because she lets me out with the boys one night a week. Big deal!—I'm the scoutmaster."

Last week's City Council meeting was "livened up" some when, during the auditor's report, City Sun. (Manager) Eddie Warren halted the proceedings with the statement that he understood all the entries except one—a "speedy stripper," listed under General Fixed Assets. It never did come out just what a "speedy stripper" is, but the councilmen and others present got a big laugh out of it. I rather suspect that a speedy stripper is some sort of office equipment, but I couldn't swear to it. One of the councilmen wanted to know if the speedy stripper was in Candy Barr's class.

I SAW A headline in one of Sunday's newspapers in which the Democratic vice presidential candidate, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, was referred to as "HHH." If Humphrey eventually should get to be President, we'd be seeing that "HHH" in all the heads of course, as we are now seeing "LBJ" and in the past have seen "JFK," "HST," "FDR," etc. It might well be, however, that Humphrey is the only presidential possibility yet whose first, middle and last names start with the same letter.

The wife and I stayed home and watched another beauty contest on TV Saturday night—the Miss America Contest. When it came down to the final two contestants—from Arkansas and Arizona—I was wanting Arkansas to win, even though I figured she wouldn't because an Arkansas girl won last year's contest. My wife, who sometimes gets her politics mixed up with other things, said she figured the Arizona girl would win because of Barry Goldwater, and she did, but I don't think Barry Goldwater had anything to do with it.

DANGER OF BLISTERS

A blister could well be called the modern version of the mythical Achilles heel.

Much as Achilles—the Greek ideal of youth, strength, beauty, and valor, was fatally wounded by an arrow piercing his vulnerable heel, a tiny blister can spoil a game of golf or tennis or even a whole vacation.

The blister merits closer attention than we usually grant it. And the admonitions which apply to our athletes also are sound tips for the millions of weekend and vacation athletes.

A blister is caused by pressure and friction on a localized area of the skin. Fluid collects between the inner and outer layers of skin. If pressure is continued, it hurts. Even if no infection follows, the pain can cause a limp that isn't much fun for the golfer or hiker, and it can upset the customary grip on a tennis racket, golf club, oar or canoe paddle.

The best approach to blisters, as to disease, is prevention. Proper fitting shoes are fundamental. There should be room beyond the big toe, room across the top, fitting of the ball of the foot into the widest part of the shoe with no slipping of the heel.

A decision on whether or not to puncture a blister is based on location, size, and inflammation. If there are signs of inflammation or irritation, medical attention is indicated. Sometimes it is advisable to puncture a blister before it breaks from friction. Wash the area with soap and water and sterilize with alcohol. The needle held in a forceps (small pliers) and sterilized in a flame. The puncture is made at the side of the blister and the outer skin layer is left in place as a protective cover. Attention to cleanliness in dealing with blisters cannot be stressed. Infected blisters prompt medical attention, the occasional blisters from sunburn or other burn causes. But with proper prevention, forethought you can keep "Achilles' heel" from spoiling fun or vacation.

EXPANDED CHEVROLET TRUCK LINE

Many of the expanded 1965 Chevrolet line are on display at Collier Chevrolet-Olds here. Expansion in the truck line has been made to meet the customers' needs for more specialized trucks.

New 1965 Chevrolet truck models display at dealer firm here

With the increasingly specialized needs of its customers, Chevrolet has expanded its 1965 truck line to include 131 more than any other truck line and the largest number in the industry.

Many of the models are now on display at Collier Chevrolet-Olds here at Collier Chevrolet-Olds and the motoring public is invited to go by and see the new line.

Expansion of the 1965 Chevrolet line is in the steadily growing diesel field. The new line-up will include 148 models, with 112 of them being diesel powered for the first time.

Step pace with the trend toward diesel power in city pick-up and delivery service, the division offers a medium-duty model with an economical in-line 3-cylinder, two cycle 159 cu. in. engine developing 94 hp.

Also new to Chevrolet are three four-cycle, V6 diesel engines, named the Turq-Flow line. One is 351 cu. in. displacement with ratings of 150 and 170 hp.

In line with the trend toward a higher ratio of load space to overall truck length and better maneuverability in metropolitan traffic, Chevrolet has more than tripled the number of tilt-cab models for 1965 to a total of 71, of which 47 are diesels. Low-cab-forward models also are increased — to a total of 52, with 31 of them diesel powered.

To meet customers' need for metropolitan delivery trucks with greater load capacity, Chevrolet is introducing two new forward control chassis, available in 157 and 175 inch wheelbases.

For the important economy truck market, Chevrolet will concentrate on the successful Chevy-Van, introduced early in 1964. New for 1965 in the Chevy-Van, is an optional 149 hp, six-cylinder engine of 230 cu. in. displacement which replaces the 120 hp, six formerly offered as an option.

Also new this year is a much wider choice of Chevy-Van window options. Customers now may specify six different combinations for body windows.

Along with the expansion of models and equipment options, Chevrolet has added many improvements and refinements throughout the truck line. New synthetic rubber front wheel bearing seals provide greater protection against moisture and contaminants and together with improved steering knuckle finish, make possible extension of the lubrication interval to 6,000 miles across the entire 1965 line.

Other improvements include self-adjusting brakes on one-ton models, heavy duty chassis wiring on light-duty forward control Step-Van and chassis models, and important revisions in front spring hanger and rubber bushing design for longer life and easier steering in medium and heavy-duty series.

Vet's Forum

Q. I have a policy loan on my World War II life insurance policy. Can payments on this loan be made in any amount, or are there restrictions?

A. The only restriction is that the payment be at least five dollars. Any payment of five dollars or more is acceptable.

Q. I have been receiving $75 compensation because of my son's death in service. Has this rate been increased lately?

A. A new law provides graduated rates to parents, depending upon other income which must be estimated and reported each year.

RE-ENROLLS IN COLLEGE

Jimmy Wells left last week for Weatherford, Okla., to re-enroll for his second year in the School of Pharmacy at Southwestern State College. He was employed at the Post Pharmacy during the summer.

Cotton can be treated to avoid shrinkage of more than one per cent in either direction.

Rates have been increased about 10 per cent.

Q. Will the VA let me know who is listed as beneficiary on my government life insurance?

A. Yes, the VA will give you that information upon request. However, if you are not sure who the beneficiaries are, it is preferable to make a new designation the way you want it now. This will cancel all previous designations.

JOIN THE BATTLE OF THE BOLL WEEVIL!

We urge every person, directly or indirectly connected with the cotton industry, to help wage war on the boll weevil. Widespread infestation of the area would produce an economic disaster that is frightening . . . yes, FRIGHTENING! The economic base of our High Plains area could be eaten away by the boll weevil. High Plains bankers urge YOUR support of the Diapause Control Program to protect your income and that of every High Plains resident.

JOIN THE BATTLE.

- THE ENEMY — BOLL WEEVILS . . . Invading the High Plains . . . If they succeed will cost about $30.00 per acre, every year, for control . . . Millions more in lost yields and quality, plus reduced value of investments.
- BATTLE PLAN — ATTACK AND KILL WEEVILS IN FALL, before they hibernate (Diapause Control) . . . Spray every acre of infested cotton . . .
- WAR CHEST — 50c A BALE FROM PRODUCERS, collected 100% at every compress . . . Supplemented by matching Federal funds. PRODUCER'S CHOICE: 50c now or $50.00 later. For complete information, see your County Agent, ASC office, Vocational Agriculture teacher, or contact Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

It's My Turn

— By MRS. C.

...were delighted to return to San Antonio Sunday and that Fall had arrived in Post our absence.

...ing Miss C. the elder, up flights of steps into a college when it is 101 degrees hot one year for Fall. Yes, the is now back to three in for nine months. Our color was rarin' to start her soph year and it isn't so hard them on their own after first year, we find.

...C and I made like tourists and came home via John... otherwise known as the President of the Uni... who is otherwise known LBJ.

...drives through lovely hill... which is my favorite part... according to the state and also driving... country but the signs... be wrong. We got all of one... of a lake at Marble Falls... rest stay hidden from the... highways.

...were greeted by rather mo... proclaiming to the world... we were in LBJ's county and... in LBJ's home town. But... a sign pointed out the way... LBJ Ranch home.

...has to drive into filling sta... to receive this information... into a restaurant... think they would all get... sick of telling everyone... many times a day. Everyone... quite polite about giving the... which we decided to fol... though it added 25 miles... trip.

...should think a nice dieted... might not be out of order. I... think of the LBJ family as... modest or shy, do you?

...drove down Ranch Road No... leaving the main farm-to... road, Ranch Road No. 1... recall was the road that... drove so wildly up and down... a bunch of newspaper people... a twisting little thing and I'd... to go over 50 on it.

...the ranch has a lovely setting... between the house and the road... this peaceful looking river... and the Pedernales. A lovely ...lawn slopes down to the edge. The house is almost hidden by trees and shrubs but what one can see of it looks big and expensive.

...A guard sits in a little house at the entrance and graciously answers questions. Mr. C thought he was probably paid by LBJ and I though probably we, the government, were paying for him. Across the road from the gatehouse is a mailbox and it is just a mailbox like any other rural mailbox except it's the large size one. I had a feeling it was there for show more than use.

...One of the Johnson's neighbors is building a palatial home to the right of the ranch. Since all the other homes in the area are rather modest, I guess you could call this keeping up with the Joneses.

...The other outstanding thing we saw on this trip is all these huge signs pointing out how much money is being spent in Texas on highways. You know, you are always going a little too fast to read the whole thing but the sign explains how many miles are being worked on, how much is being paid for with state taxes, how much is being paid for with federal monies and the total amount. The total amount almost causes me to have a wreck if I'm driving. There is usually just one digit followed by so many zeros that I get lost.

...It's all pretty terrific and impressive but sometimes I wonder I'd enjoy all these gorgeous roads more if they'd take the signs down and I wouldn't have to know what it is costing.

...Mrs. Bowen is hostess to Needlecraft Club

...Mrs. Lee Bowen was hostess to the Needlecraft Club when it met in her home last Friday afternoon. Roll call was answered by telling of "funny things our children said or did when they were young."

Life membership presented at meeting of Amity Study Club

Miss Thelma Clark, a charter member of the Amity Study Club, was presented with a life membership and an engraved plaque when the club held its opening fall meeting last Saturday in Fellowship Hall of the First Christian Church.

The annual breakfast, served at 8:30 o'clock, consisted of juice, broiled pineapple, ham, scrambled eggs, biscuits and coffee, served by the Christian Women's Fellowship Guild, following the invocation by Mrs. Preston Poole.

The tables were decorated with fall colors of cinnamon and yellow. Scenes of "Cities of the World", this year's study theme, enhanced the tables. Paris was depicted with a sidewalk cafe and cobble-stone walks; Tokyo was illustrated with a tea house and a miming tree; San Francisco with a flower cart of yellow pom-poms; New York City with a replica of Michelangelo's Pieta which is on display at the World's Fair, and Hong Kong designated by a doll in native dress pulling a rickshaw.

Replicas of passports were used as place cards. Each contained a picture of the member.

Mrs. Wilma Olson, a special guest and past member, played a medley of songs on the piano with

...ies to Jane Terry, Elfreda Carpenter, Gwen Odam, Orabeth White, Wynonne Morris, Carol Brewer, Lois Morris, Jennie Cowdrey, Janet Parterfield, Patsy Craig, LaRue Jones, Linda Dye, Judy Morris, Willa Didway, Marion Duncan and Juanette Williams.

...The program on "Americanism" held at the First Presbyterian Church, was the first meeting of the 1964-65 club year.

"We live in a world of fantasy and dreams without coming to grips with reality. Dr. Kay said. He then pointed out main problems that Americans and the free world must face and conquer—the problem of crime and the conflict of ideologies and desire for non-involvement. "If this is present day America, we will not only lose America, we deserve to lose America," said Dr. Kay.

Dr. Kay urged America to become aware of political slogans, to develop a real love of freedom, to develop quality and to realize the power of the individual. "The key for America," said Mr. Kay, "should be service, we should return to the dignity of work—God put us on earth to work."

Dr. Kay, a Ford Foundation medal winner for his work in Americanism, was introduced by Mrs. C. I. Dickinson, Americanism co-chairman.

Mrs. C. R. Thaxton, new club year president, presented and introduced new members, Mrs. Tom Gates, Mrs. James Boren and Mrs. Larry Hopkins.

The 1964-65 yearbooks were presented by Mrs. Homer J. Irons.

Group singing of "America, the Beautiful" and "God Bless America" was directed by Mrs. R. L. Marks, accompanied by Mrs. Kay Kirkpatrick at the organ.

Following the benediction by the Rev. Ed Graham, refreshments of cake squares, punch and mints were served from a table featur-

Open house Sunday to honor pioneer couple's anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Young, residents of Lynn County for 47 years, will be honored on the 17 Golden Wedding Anniversary Sunday, Sept. 20, with an open house from 2 until 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

The couple's sons and friends will be hosts at the affair at the family home a mile north and a half mile east of Central Baptist Church.

Mr. Young, born in Atascosa County, and Artie Frances McKay, born in Hamilton County, came with their parents to Fisher County in 1904 and 1906 respectively. They were married Sept. 20, 1914, near Rotan.

Mrs. Young was the eldest of 14 children—ten sisters and three brothers, one now deceased. Mr. Young had five brothers and three sisters, all now deceased except one brother, B. B. Young of Lubbock.

The couple farmed north of Rotan for two years before moving to eastern Lynn County where they bought 160 acres of C. W. Post land. They arrived in time for the 1917-1918 drought and could not pay any on the land until 1921. They managed to hold on to the land through all sorts of hardships. They later sold part of the land house, which has been remodeled and now have 83 acres of fine irrigated land. They live in the same and modernized.

Mr. and Mrs. Young were baptized into the Grassland Church of Christ in 1920 and recall that early services were held in the homes.

The Youngs have three sons, William of Lubbock, Surman of Keller and Shirley of Lamesa; nine grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

It's the Law in TEXAS

JURY DUTY

Jury duty is an experience everybody ought to have.

In a criminal case 12 jurors have a duty to do justice as each one sees it, and yet be unanimous. In most trials both sides have much to say, and the evidence is conflicting. The 12 jurors vary in their ability, temperament, character, education, and their experience in the world, and in the question at stake.

Yet a jury made up of both sexes, with wide age and educational differences, jobs and origins must all come up with the same verdict. Upon their verdict much depends — the life or liberty of others, and the public good. So it may take them days of talking among themselves, all to agree.

Jury duty calls for insight, common sense, courage, tact, fairness, patience, (especially toward the jurors who disagree with you), good humor, tolerance, balance, willingness to hear others out and change one's mind, readiness to go over and over the facts to find something to bring agreement. In short, jury duty demands a "decent respect for the opinions" of others.

More and more women share civic duties, especially as jurors. Time was in Texas when women could not serve on juries. They still cannot in four states.

A jury finds facts. It hears and weighs evidence and then comes to a verdict. It does not make the law — the legislature does; and the judge "charges" or instructs the jury concerning the law applicable to the particular case it is considering.

The judge will tell you not to find the accused guilty until he is proved so under strict rules of evidence. If you have any "reasonable doubt," — not imaginary or air-fetched — acquit the accused. Civil cases do not demand a moral certainty, merely the "preponderance" of what you regard as reliable and believable evidence.

scope rods in his tackle box. He fished one time with a friend who lost his rod in the lake. Ever since he's carried this extra rod along.

Depending on the size of the box, it's not a bad idea to have a few extra rod guides and tips, too, with some ferrule cement and rod-wind tape.

ALL THESE THINGS can be kept in your tackle box if you organize it. For instance, if you have a double opening box, keep your floater plugs in one side and your underwater lures in the other. Usually two or more lures will fit into the same compartment.

Jigs, spinners, etc., can be kept in a plastic box so they won't get mixed up with the other lures. Plastic worms may be kept in containers in the main body of the tackle box. Don't put them in the same compartment with your lures, however. They have an affinity for the paint on the lures and most of the time will ruin the plugs if they are allowed to come in contact.

Cotton cloth of a fineness yet to be surpassed was woven in Egypt some 4,800 years ago.

The right kind of tackle box always has been a problem for fishermen. There's one on the market called The Texan. You can easily guess that it is a huge one, representative of its name.

It stands something like 20 inches high and has a half-dozen or more large compartments for lures, plus spaces for just about everything else under the sun a fisherman might think he'll need on a fishing trip.

Yet I've seen fishermen with these big tackle boxes searching for some lure they left at home, or something else with which to interest the big old bass.

IT IS NOT TOO often you find a tackle box neatly arranged because most fishermen have a habit of taking off a lure to put on another and tossing the first one in the box wherever it will fit.

In other words, most tackle boxes represent the inside appearance of a woman's handbag. There's just about everything in it.

I can't keep from respecting the fisherman who carries a half-dozen lures in a small plastic box or an aluminum container. They catch just about as many fish as those who have a big box well filled.

But most fishermen who've been around for a long time carry more than just lures in their boxes. You can list most of the items as very essential.

For instance, a pair of pliers and screwdriver are two essentials in any tackle box. Then there should be a fish stringer, which is why you go fishing in the first place.

NOT NECESSARILY in order of their importance are a roll of plastic or scotch tape, a pair of DeLiar scales, and some small plastic boxes, such as lures come in, containing assortments of hooks, large and small. Also some sinkers of several sizes, a few rubber bands, and a safety pin or two. And never forget a small first aid kit, plus a few Band-aids and some type of antiseptic. I also carry a snake-bite kit, kitchen matches and some aspirin.

Other things to make up the tackle box content might include a bottle opener, a good sharp knife, a stone or file or both. Also be sure to have a few shear pins and cotter key or two because they might save you a long swim. If you have any room left, put in an extra spool of line and a few floats.

One fisherman I know carries an extra reel and one of those tele-

A Moment With God

REMEMBERING OUR NEIGHBOR

When ye pray, say, Thy kingdom come. Luke 11:2

When we have beheld the glory of the Father in Jesus Christ, His Son, our Lord, we can think of no greater blessing we can give our neighbor than a glimpse of the glory of God. We want to share the object of our faith with others. We want our neighbor to know the manner of God's love in Christ Jesus.

We remember our neighbor in our prayers and wish him this choice blessing when we say, "Thy kingdom come."

As co-workers with God we shall labor to make our prayers come true. We shall witness to the grace of God so abundantly expressed in the life of our Lord Jesus Christ, God's own Son. We shall let our light shine before men that they may see our good works and glorify our Father in heaven. But above all, we shall pray to our Father in heaven to reveal Himself to our neighbor as He has disclosed Himself to us. We recognize that by our own reason and strength we cannot believe in Jesus Christ, our Lord, and come to Him. Neither can our neighbor. We can plow and plant the seed, but only God can give the increase. So we fervently pray, "Thy kingdom come."

Good Lord, open the eyes of the spiritually blind that they may see Thy glory. Amen.

— ALL ARE WELCOME —

When there are so many apples on the tree, how do you pick the right one?
This is always the problem of youth. There are so many roads, so many opportunities, so many desires. How do you decide which may be best? And, when you have made a choice, how do you know it is the right one?
Education is society's solution to the quandaries of youth. Fortify the child's mind with knowledge and skills and he'll be ready to make decisions.
But secular education offers no basis for meeting dilemmas that are not secular. Youth desperately needs moral and religious education as well.
Every Sunday in our churches millions of fortunate youngsters are receiving the vital spiritual training which our complicated life demands. Their parents generally come with them. For grownups wise enough to understand their children's needs, realize their own as well.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The Post High Antelopes will invade the home field of the rugged Hamlin Pied Pipers Saturday night still looking for their opening win on a rugged schedule. This will be Hamlin's homecoming, which is why the game is scheduled for Saturday night instead of Friday night. Hamlin will be tough. They slammed a good Rotan team, 38-13, in their opener 2 weeks ago and then squeezed out a rugged Olney club, 13-12, last Friday night. The Antelopes, improved in their home opener over their Floydada performance, have a new quarterback, Teddy Scott, at the helm who may feel a little more at home "down under" this week after a quick shift to a strange position following Butch Cross's injury. The Antelopes will need all the support they can muster for this one. Remember—Saturday night, not Friday night.

Conner said only 18 Garza County farmers were assigned yesterday to permits authorizing spraying of their fields.

He explained that some farmers simply don't understand the program, other are "hard to catch at home" for signatures, and a few have needed to check with landlords before signing.

ACTUALLY, Garza County hasn't had the boll weevil infestation and cotton damage from the weevil it had last year, the county agent said.

With the exception of only a half dozen fields, there hasn't been too much boll weevil damage in this county. Conner credited much of this to the continued dry weather.

"And if it stays dry," Conner said, "we don't anticipate much more of a weevil build-up this year."

The spraying program is aimed at knocking out the weevil before he gets into the wintering process.

The county agent said Garza's dry land cotton is now opening up and predicted that defoliating and stripping would begin in these fields within about three weeks.

Malathion, selected for the big aerial spraying program is one of the safest insecticides known. Properly handled it is just as safe as the fly spray used in homes.

County Agent Conner said this same insecticide is used in grain elevators and even on vegetables because of its very low toxic danger.

JOIN THE BATTLE of the Boll Weevil, the First National Bank urges in a large community service advertisement on page 3 of today's Dispatch, pointing out that widespread weevil infestation of the High Plains area "would produce an economic disaster that is frightening."

The aerial spray program is called "diapause" control. In late summer and early fall adult weevils attain a physiological condition called "diapause" which enables them to survive the winter and re-infest cotton fields the following spring.

Three to five chemical sprayings in the fall at 10 to 14 day intervals will reduce the number of weevils going into hibernation by 90 to 100 per cent. This system is known as diapause control.

Diapause control is superior to other control methods for two big reasons. First, it is less expensive because it controls weevils with from three to five applications instead of the 10 to 15 often needed for effective in-season control. Second, by killing weevils in the fall, the beneficial insect population is not materially affected.

The battle plan is to spray every infested acre of cotton on the high plains and rolling plains back to the line of ranches which lie on the east side of the area, thus establishing a barrier between the weevil and the High Plains' 2,000,000 acres of cotton.

After three years, entomologists believe this barrier can be maintained simply by spot spraying of local outbreaks, and the boll weevil will no longer be a serious problem for farmers either above or below the Caprock.

Gate marker—

High tribute to the county historical committee and particularly to its chairman, Mrs. A. C. Surman, was paid by County Judge J. E. Parker. "I've been told by folks living elsewhere that we have one of the foremost county historical committees in Texas, and that we are far in front of most other counties in obtaining historical medallions and markers," he said.

The new marker was presented by Judge Parker and accepted on behalf of the City of Post by Mayor Harold Lucas, Mrs. Surman, who presided at the ceremony, told the crowd that the city paid for the marker and "had a big hand" in getting it.

The chairman introduced other members of the historical committee, most of whom were present. "We feel we are doing a good job, but we need the help of all in doing it," she said.

The present cemetery board and all past boards were commended by Mrs. Surman and Judge Parker for their interest in the cemetery, and the City of Post for its maintenance and improvements since taking over operation of the cemetery a few years ago.

The invocation and benediction was by Bernard S. Ramsey, minister of the First Christian Church.

Proclamation

by HAROLD LUCAS Mayor of Post

GREETINGS: Realizing that in this age of rapid technological advancements education must be a continuing progress, Young Farmers between the ages of 18 and 25 have organized to carry out educational activities designed to continuously upgrade themselves in their farming and ranching and agriculture related operations. They are assisted in their endeavors by their companion organization, the Young Homemakers, membership in the majority of whose chapters is composed primarily of wives of Young Farmers. They are also assisted in their endeavors by the vocational agriculture teachers in the public schools and the Texas Education Agency.

Though Young Farmers and Young Homemakers are designed primarily for educational purposes, they incorporate in the planned programs civic and community activities, rural leadership development, and recreational activities.

While working to increase their skill and efficiency in their chosen agricultural and homemaking careers, they are also carrying out many activities designed to improve their communities, state, and nation and to promote good citizenship.

With a substantial growth in membership from year to year, Young Farmers and Young Homemakers are playing an expanding role in the life of rural America.

It is appropriate that the diligent efforts of these groups to improve themselves and to promote the welfare of their fellow man be recognized.

THEREFORE, I, as Mayor of the City of Post, do hereby designate the week of Sept. 20-26 as YOUNG FARMER AND YOUNG HOMEMAKER WEEK and urge all citizens to give recognition and encouragement to these young men and young women.

Employe annuity resolution is okayed by board

The Post school board, in a 40-minute session Monday night, approved a resolution enabling school district employees to buy tax sheltered annuities; administered the oath of office to newly-elected trustee Kay Kirkpatrick, and heard a report by Asst. Supt. William F. Shiver on the teacher in-service workshop held the week before school started.

The meeting, which was the board's regular September session, was one of the briefest on record—following one of the longest, a four-hour special meeting held Aug. 24.

The board's action on the employe annuities also approved Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Co. of Greensboro, N. C., as the company from which the annuities will be bought. The company had been chosen by a committee of teachers.

Kirkpatrick, who was elected to the board to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of A. Lee Ward, was administered the oath of office by Secretary Ronnie Boucher in the absence of President E. R. Moreland.

In addition to discussing the teacher workshop, Shiver made a preliminary report on the Post schools' study of school dropouts in cooperation with the West Texas School Study Council.

Copies of the survey of the Post Independent School District made here in the summer were distributed to the board members by Supt. Barry B. Thompson. The survey was conducted by the Foundations in Educational Administration, University of Texas.

P 1 Industrial development—three years of when the industry becomes available. "The income tax situation in U. S. makes it difficult for even the blue chip companies to invest in brick, mortar and land," Clark said. "They'd rather lease plant sites and invest own funds in the operation itself."

(4) Sites—an industrial site is recommended. It should be 200 to 400 feet deep with a paved highway in front and a railroad in back with all utilities available. It should be available for $1,000 an acre with every dollar less than this adding to the community's competitive position.

(5) Prospects—already detailed higher in this story. Larry S. Milner, community coordinator for West Texas for the Texas Industrial Commission, appeared here with Clark. Special out-of-town guests at the meeting, organized by the Chamber's Industrial committee were Bill Cooknell, division and passenger agent of the Santa Fe railroad; J. P. Kinney of Pioneer Natural Gas Company's Amarillo Division; Bob Brummal, division manager of Southwestern Public Service; Wayne King, division commercial representatives of General Telephone Co. of the Southwest.

Antelopes to be Hamlin's homecoming foe Saturday

Post and Pied Pipers clash in night game

Post Antelopes, still seeking first victory after two games, met the Hamlin Pied Pipers Saturday night.

Harold Teal's Antelopes, facing the undefeated Pied Pipers, will be expected to win the title in District 4A, which includes Ballinger, Winters, Haskell and Colorado City.

Hamlin opened its season with a 41-13 win over the Olin Cubs, 13-12, on the same field. The week before, Hamlin had defeated perennially.

Coach Teal predicts the Antelopes will have a good chance of upstaging the favored Pipers.

Teal said the Antelopes are not conceding anything because they've lost their first game. The Post coach said the Antelopes are concentrating on tightening up their defense, since the Pied Pipers are aerial-minded team and are used to throwing anywhere from 50 per cent of the time.

Hamlin has three fine passers in the backfield and a couple of runners. Coach Teal reports on the Hamlin game indicated.

They also have a strong attack, with power and speed, but the pass is their best bet, Teal stated.

Of the Pipers' best backs, Pearce and Rupert compare outstanding for Hamlin. Pearce will start at halfback and also fill in at quarterback, and is one of the team's passers. The starting quarterback will be Johnny Overman, a good passer. Compton will start at fullback, and Tommy Ferguson at the other halfback spot. Hamlin's pass-snagging ends are Mike Shivers and James Ledbetter. Other probable starters are George Bonds and Pat Batchelor, tackles; Don Bruner and Larry Simpson, guards, and Charles Prewit, center.

As in their first two games, the Antelopes will carry a considerable weight advantage into the Hamlin contest. Coach Teal said the Antelopes, in an effort to sharpen their offense, have added some new plays and are expected to improve on their ground-gaining statistics in Saturday night's game.

"MAINLY, WE'RE trying to get more results off our power series," the coach explained.

Teddy Scott, who did a fine job in his first try at quarterback last Friday night, will be back at that position. Ronald Simpson, who was shifted from end to the backfield for the Ballinger game, will start with Benny Owen at the running back position, and Luis Ayala will back the nod at the split back post.

Scott's fine performance at quarterback Friday came in spite of a bad knee. The injury is showing improvement this week and the senior back is expected to be able to run more than he did against Ballinger.

Simpson's running in the Ballinger contest brought improvement to that department of the Antelopes' game, and 205-pound Jackie Braddock, moved from the line to backfield on offense, filled in well considering his inexperience at the position.

Defensively, Teal plans to start Billy Mitchell and John Sutter at tackles, Charlie Brown and Dennis Cornell at guards, Dennis Odum and Sammy Sims at inside line-backers, Owen at middle line-backer, Donnie Windham and Danny Pierce as corner-men, and Rickey Welch and Simpson as defensive halfbacks.

The sound is in good shape physically, with the exception of Sammy Sims, who has a nulled muscle. He will be available Saturday night, however, the coach said.

Top-rated Ballinger downs Post, 28 to 0

The Post Antelope defense yielded four touchdowns in losing to the Ballinger Bearcats, 28 to 0, here last Friday night, and the Antelope offense never got rolling, but the team looked much better than it had a week earlier in losing to Floydada, 15-14.

As had been predicted by Coach Harold Teal, the Antelope offense failed to get going against the Bearcats, mainly because "new" men were manning three of the starting backfield positions.

Nevertheless, the Post team made a creditable showing against the Ballinger eleven, which is rated among the state's top ten Class AA teams and was ranked No. 1 last week by at least two newspapers.

Two of the Ballinger touchdowns came on hard nosed football against the scrapping Antelopes, but the other two can be chalked up only to defensive lapses on the part of the Post team.

THE VISITORS scored twice in the first quarter and once in the second for a 21-0 halftime bulge, and then added their final touchdown in the final period after being held scoreless in the third.

The nearest Antelopes came to the Bearcat goal line was the 18, which they reached on the final play of the first half when halfback Ronald Simpson ripped off five yards after a pass interference ruling against the Bearcats had given Post a 20-yard gain and a first down on the Ballinger 23.

The Bearcats scored their first touchdown with 4:26 to go in the first period after Simpson got a bad snarback from center and high-punted out of bounds on the Post 28.

After an exchange of offside penalties two passes failed to connect and Danny Pierce nailed David Prince for a four-yard loss following a flat pass completion. On fourth down, Ballinger's ace quarterback, Ronnie Smith, dropped back to pass, but turned it into a run and charged by a host of Antelope defenders for a 16-yard gain and a first down on the 16.

Post was unable to move the ball after Luis Ayala returned the kickoff 20 yards to the Antelope 35, and Simpson, handling Post's punting for the first time, kicked to Prince, who gathered in the ball on his 24 and swept 76 yards down the sideline behind precision blocking to score.

A 35-yard pass from Smith to Dees, who caught the ball on the Post 5, accounted for Ballinger's third touchdown with 2:43 left in the first half.

Benny Owen returned the Bearcat kickoff 24 yards to the Post 42 to set the stage for the Antelopes' initial first down of the game.

Owen carried three times and Jackie Braddock once to give Post a first down on the Bearcat 43, and the pass interference rulling on quarterback Teddy Scott's heave gave the Antelopes another first down on the 23. There was time only for Simpson's five-yard gainer before the half ended.

AFTER THE scores third period, Simpson recovered Dees' fumble to give Post the ball on the Antelope 45, but Ballinger tackle James Vogelsang intercepted Scott's jump pass on the next play.

The interception gave the Bearcats the ball on the Post 44 and they scored in ten plays, helped along by a 7½-yard penalty inside the 15 against the Antelopes for unnecessary roughness. The payoff play was a three-yard scamper through the line by Smith.

The Antelopes put on another brief offensive show for the fans after Simpson returned the kickoff nine yards to the Post 27. Owen carried for seven yards and then 12 to chalk up a first down on the Antelope 46. Scott, Braddock and Owen each carried for another first on the Bearcat 42, and Owen kept the drive going by blasting through for eight yards to the 34.

The drive fizzled, however, when Prince intercepted Scott's pass to Ayala on the Ballinger 6-yard line.

With 12 seconds to go, Ballinger recovered a fumbled pichout from reserve quarterback Birch Lobban to halfback Buddy Howell on the Post 12. Dees picked up three yards at the line, but on an attempted pass play, Post tackle Finnis Corey broke through and knocked the ball from the passer's hands.

Intermittent rain hampered play Sunday afternoon, but not enough to detract from the tournament's success, Bartlett said.

Hopkins winner Samson tourney

Charles Hopkins, Post school teacher and one of the area's top amateur golfers, won the second annual George Samson men's championship handicap golf tournament held Saturday and Sunday at the Caprock Golf Course.

Hopkins, with a two-stroke handicap on the 36 holes of medal play, fired a 70 on Saturday and a 64 on Sunday for a net score of 134 to win both the championship and handicap trophies.

Last year's champion, Jimmy Hundley, and Louie Burkes tied for second with net scores of 140. Hundley with a two-stroke handicap and Burkes with a 36-stroke handicap.

Two others, Oscar Garner and Leo Acker, tied for third with 141's. Garner's handicap was 19 strokes for the 36 holes and Acker's was 12 strokes.

Durward Bartlett, manager of the golf course, said the tournament was the most successful ever held here, with 41 golfers competing. At least a half-dozen were competing in their first tournament.

Intermittent rain hampered play Sunday afternoon, but not enough to detract from the tournament's success, Bartlett said.

Junior varsity edged out by Floydada '11'

The Post Antelope junior varsity lost to Floydada, 5-0, at Floydada last Thursday in the opening game for Coaches Charles Black's and Elvin Jones' gridders.

The game was a defensive struggle throughout, with the Floydada junior varsity scoring near the end of the third quarter on a quarterback roll-out.

Post drove to the Floydada 25 early in the fourth quarter, but quarterback Jimmy Bartlett was injured to blunt the locals' only serious scoring threat.

Starters for Post were Clyde Cash and Larry Johnson, ends; Billy Hahn and Filimon Vargas, tackles; Leslie Davis and Joe Hudman, guards; Jack Huff, center; Bartlett, quarterback; Doug Chance and Davis Heaton, halfbacks, and Dick Kennedy, fullback.

The Post junior varsity is to play Christ the King's varsity football team at Lubbock in a game starting at 6:30 p. m. today.

Open house is set for Sept. 19-20 at WPS Co.'s Plant X in Lamb County

Western Public Service Co.'s Plant X, largest of the company's 11 generating units, will be the scene of an open house on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 19-20. Plant X is located in Lamb County, four miles south of Farm Road 1055.

The original unit at the station, which went into service in 1952, was the first 50,000 kilowatt generator that the electric company installed. However, while it was still in the construction stage itself, work began on a 100,000 kilowatt machine, which went into service in 1953. The 210,000 kilowatt unit which has just gone into service makes the third "largest unit" distinction for Plant X.

Perhaps no statistic more significantly records the growth and progress of an area than the increase in the generating capability of the electric company serving a region. Certainly, only as the area it serves grows can an electric company grow.

Plant X, and Southwestern Public Service Company's 10 other major generating stations, provide dramatic evidence of the growth of the electric company serves. Plant X, itself has a generating capability that is more than four times greater than the entire company had when it took its present form in 1942, while the system capability has increased more than 11 times.

Plant X was designed and engineered and its construction supervised by Southwestern Public Service Company engineering personnel, under the direction of E. W. Robinson of Amarillo, the company's chief engineer, generating station design. All of the construction at the plant has been done by Missouri Valley Constructors of Amarillo.

Plant X features a number of items of electronic equipment which are used to make possible the most efficient and economical generation of electric power.

Plant has a central information system which provides the room with 400 different types of information from various equipment in two minutes. This information is constantly studied in order to obtain the most efficient results can be obtained at all times.

Automatic load dispatching is also used, which takes account both the cost of producing the electric power and the cost of transporting it to the point of use, in order that, once maximum economies can be obtained.

It times the distinction of what was then the largest generating unit on Southwestern Public Service Company's has gone to Plant X.

Talk on Americanism is given in assembly

Mr. C. L. Kay, vice president of Public Services at Lubbock Christian College, spoke to Post High School Wednesday during an assembly on "Americanism." He is previously from Pennsylvania. Presently he serves on the National Affairs Committee and the Educational Committee.

Mr. Kay's speech was directed to the young adults of PHS. "I am convinced," he said, "that we are witnessing a moral decay in education." He continued to give three reasons for school dropouts — (1) lack of interest, (2) problems at home, and (3) not knowing how to study. Then he added, "Two types of people are those who demonstrate all the time, and those who don't know where they are going."

In conclusion, Mr. Kay gave four hints toward becoming a better American. They were — (1) become informed, (2) get a good education, (3) have faith in yourself, and (4) realize what freedom means.

After the assembly he said, "I deeply appreciated the warm audience and the warm reception. Parents of this community should be proud of their children."

The student body was extremely impressed by Mr. Kay's speech. He is an excellent speaker and can hold an audience's attention well.

Are You Mature or Immature?

Are you mature or immature? This question can be easily answered by your actions. If you cannot or will not act like a lady or gentleman at all times, you can say you are immature. Maturity is not being a certain age. You can be a mature freshman or an immature senior. People will respect and like a mature person. You may be saying that you get attention by acting childish or using a loud boisterous voice. You are right in a sense; you get attention, but people don't enjoy being around someone who acts this way. When someone has come several miles to speak to the students of your high school, can you sit quietly and show this person respect by listening to his talk? If you can't do this, then you aren't mature enough to be in high school. Ask yourself these questions. Can you make decisions without too much help? Can you do the things you should? Are you friendly to everyone, even people that have hurt you? Are you a lady or gentleman at all times? If you can't do these things, then you had better stop now and start all over. If you don't you can truly harm yourself in your career in Post High School.

THE AMERICAN HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT CONDENSED FROM "EDUCATION USA"

By BARRY B. THOMPSON
Who and what is the average American high school senior? The latest report from Project Talent reveals a great deal about that American phenomenon, the affluent teen-ager.

Typically, the teen-age boy is a college-bound youth who spends 3 1/2 hours a week on homework. He would like to become a millionaire, but realistically expects to be making $11,700 a year 20 years after high school graduation. He goes steady, expects to be married by the time he is 23. He is a whiz at knowing rules of capitalization, but pretty bad at solving arithmetic problems through reasoning. He understands movie magazines very well, but is stumped by the "Atlantic Monthly" and Thomas Mann's "Dr. Faustus." He lives in a one-family house with four others, where there are 26 to 100 books and at least one current magazine. One car, about three years old, is available to him.

This model young boy emerges from the 738 pages of "The American High School Student," final report of the massive U. S. Office of Education-financed study of 450,000 students in 1,357 high schools. The survey, conducted by University of Pittsburgh in 1960, will be followed up by surveys of the original group at intervals through 1983. Findings from the test data include:

1. Twenty to 30 per cent of students in grade nine know more about many subject-matter fields than does the average student in grade 12. Variability within grades is greater than variability between grades, which is a strong argument in favor of the individualization of instruction to the full extent that facilities and staff time can be made available for it.
2. Sectional differences in achievement are noticeable. Students in the Northeast tend to be above the national average; students in the Southeast, below. However, differences within each section are much more striking.
3. Fewer than half the 12th grade students understand the subtler ideas in typical paragraphs from Sinclair Lewis, Jules Verne, or Rudyard Kipling.
4. Parents of 12th grade students tend to be better educated than the American population in the same age bracket; 61 per cent of mothers work full or part time.

3. Analysis of the school personality scales are positive school marks probably in part pupil-teacher relations.

The research report surprises — high school students have enough imagination to put out 29 ways to get more of them situated in similar classroom portraits. More to Picasso than to Gaudin who did paint it. It is not so surprising information most dislike trapping wild and about one fourth of school seniors don't know words of the national motto. Much of the research has been fully analyzed, and will be made available to the public in many field days for teachers, sociologists, and the behavioral sciences.

The study indicates that education and the society as a whole are being harsh reality of a teenage age. Americans are still to navigate the class that what the world was like in 1960 and what it is like now. Research data indicates high school graduates who fail to use these will hold four to six less in their working lifetime. Most of the jobs we have obsolete. This is the basis of the American high school.

The American school must give all basic education so that the retrained in future years will see a return to the liberal education of the Grammar School as students no longer specialize in any one matter area. Those who make the task of education would support a massive upgrade the depth and quality of education at the public school.

PHARMACY—part of your health team

prescription drug manufacturer

It is not by chance that your pharmacist has the proper drug ready for you when your physician prescribes it. The American people today enjoy a level of health far higher than ever before, and a large part of it may be attributed to the dramatic advances made by the "health team": pharmacist, physician and prescription drug manufacturer.

We call the complex process by which a drug moves from manufacturer to patient "the miracle of prescription distribution." The teamwork of prescription drug manufacturer, drug wholesaler and pharmacist assures that you will receive the medicine you need. This miracle of drug distribution — the fact that the medicine you need is in your community pharmacy when you need it — is just one reason why prescriptions are today's best bargains.

When your physician asks where your prescription should be called . . . answer "Call Bob Collier"

Is It Really a Bother to Care?

It seems as though each week there is something said about "spirit." But, until our spirit reaches the utmost, it needs to be said. Every Friday afternoon we have a pep rally for the game that night. Pep rallies usually last 20 minutes. Is it really a bother to yell for 15 to 20 minutes? The pep rallies help to show our boys we are really behind them. If one person doesn't yell, soon another stops yelling. What if everybody stopped yelling? It is easy to just "watch the game." Is it really a bother to give the 'Lopes a boost when something went wrong? Picture yourself making a 90-yard run—it would make you feel great to hear everybody yelling. But—it would feel even better if you had only made two yards.

For each game you actually yell 88 minutes. That is both the pep rally and the game. Most of you scream that much in one day.

So, have a little pride for our 'Lopes. They are still going to win district! The more you yell for them, the better their chances will be!

Is it really a bother to care?

Student dance follows Post-Ballinger game

Post High School students, ex-students and guests met at the Youth Center after the Post-Ballinger football game Friday night, Sept. 11 for a dance.

Coach and Mrs. Harold Teal and Mrs. Shirley Moody served as sponsors for the event. The council of the youth center encourages all students to attend the dances which are held after all home games.

OLDSMOBILE'S COMPLETELY NEW

Like all 1965 full-size Oldsmobiles, the 1965 Starfire is completely new, with a roomier body and a distinctive tapering roofline. The Starfire differs from other Oldsmobile models in the design of the front and rear end, and in its side moldings which end in functional dual exhaust outlets.

1965 Oldsmobiles will go on display here next Thursday

Oldsmobile is introducing a new full-size product line for 1965 called the Delta 88. The new 88, along with all other 1965 Oldsmobiles, will be on display at Collier Chevrolet-Olds, next Thursday, Sept. 24, it was announced today by Claud Collier.

Disclosing details of the new Oldsmobiles, Collier quoted Harold N. Metzel, Oldsmobile's general manager and a vice president of General Motors as saying: "The Delta 88 is a glamorous new companion to the Dynamic 88, and these models, along with the Jetstar I, Starfires and 98's, are powered by our recently developed 425 cubic inch Super Rocket engine teamed with a brand new Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission, for the most instantaneously responsive performance in the division's history.

"Furthermore," said Metzel, "the completely new and roomier bodies of all our full-size Oldsmobiles, including the Jetstar 88, are dramatically restyled with curved side window glass and new roof lines in all models.

"Series identification in the entire line of 1965 Oldsmobiles, from the F-85's on up to the 98's—all 32 models," Metzel added, "is more pronounced than ever. Our dealers will display them publicly on Sept. 24."

Metzel described the new Super

Rocket as a bigger, more powerful engine of lightweight cast-iron design. "Engine displacement has been increased by 8 per cent," Metzel said, "yet engine weight has been substantially reduced. Teamed with the new Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission, the performance of the 425 cubic inch Super Rocket is sensational. With horsepower ratings from 318 to 370, the new engine will greatly enhance the outstanding reputation Oldsmobile has already earned in the performance field."

"In addition to the availability of the Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission," said Metzel, "Oldsmobile for the first time is offering in all 88's, Jetstar I and Starfire models, a floor-mounted four-speed manual transmission, fully synchronized in all gears."

"An especially important change for the benefit of our customers," Metzel said, "is the extra roominess built into all full-size Oldsmobiles for 1965. Most of the interior dimensions have been increased, with shoulder room for example, nearly four inches greater.

"And too," he continued, "the design of these new cars has permitted us to increase luggage capacity in the trunk up to 3.9 cubic feet."

Metzel also reported that fuel tank capacity has been increased to 25 gallons to permit longer intervals between refueling stops during modern turnpike travel.

A styling and comfort innovation for 1965 is a new split-back front seat with a large center arm rest — designed for those who like the sporty look of bucket seats. When the arm rest is raised, it provides the extra utility of a bench seat. The new type seat is standard on Delta 88 Holiday sedans and coupes and on the 98 Holiday Sports sedan, coupe and convertible.

In describing exterior styling features of the new Oldsmobiles, Metzel pointed out the distinctive rooflines and other styling characteristics which differ between series and body styles.

"The Starfire styling is particularly distinctive. This full-size sports car has its own roof, rear quarter, front and rear end design and specific grille. Side moldings give the appearance of external exhaust pipes which end in functional side exhaust outlets just ahead of the rear bumper.

"Oldsmobile's 98 models for 1965," Metzel said, "are more elegantly luxurious than ever — the most distinctive cars in Oldsmobile's history. The 98's have their own roofs, rear quarters, bumpers, grille, and side styling motifs. The 98 Holiday Sports coupe, with its own specific roof, features for the first time a V-shaped rear window.

Oldsmobile will produce 19 full-size models in 1965, including 4 Jetstar 88's, the Jetstar I, 4 Dynamic 88 models, 3 Delta 88's, 2 Starfires and five 98's.

Oldsmobile's Vista-Cruisers, with their new interior and exterior 1965 styling appointments, are available in standard and custom versions of the 2-seater and the 3-seater. In 3-seater models, the rear seat faces forward.

"With their fresh new styling, the ingenious vista roof, and over a hundred cubic feet of cargo space," said Metzel, "the Oldsmobile Vista-Cruiser, more than any other type of station wagon, combines the advantages of uniquely glamorous appearance and practical utility."

For 1965, the increasingly popular Oldsmobile F-85 models have been changed in many areas. A new grille, headlamps, bumper and hood provide completely changed and improved front end appearance. The rear end design is also new, including bumpers, tail lamps and end panel applique. Smartly redesigned side molding treatment adds to the new look of the F-85's.

Students elect at Southland

The students of Southland High School elected their 1964-65 class officers this week. They are as follows:

- Senior — Joe Hall, president; Rod Callaway, vice president; Dahnna Winterrowd, secretary.
- Junior — Jettie Crawford, president; Jerry Sneed, vice president; Marian Eckert, secretary.
- Sophomore — Duke Altman, president; Dennis McGehee, vice president; Gloria Cisneros, secretary.
- Freshman — Dan Eckert, president; Karen Melcher, secretary.

Climbing enrollment

As The University of Texas begins its 81st academic year, enrollment is expected to climb to 23,377. That figure represents a gain of almost 1,400 students over the previous fall semester. Among registrants will be about 6,600 new students, including 3,400 freshmen and 3,200 transfers from other colleges. Fall semester enrollment is expected to reflect the first wave of "war babies." Although all University-owned dormitories are filled, housing is still available in privately-owned, UT-approved residences and dormitories. Classes begin Monday, Sept. 21, following a five-day period of registration and orientation, Sept. 14-18.

New student of the week

Danny Pennington, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Clayton Pennington, is the new student of the week. Danny is 15 and a freshman at Post High School. He comes to Post from Levelland. His father is the pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church in Post.

Danny is trying for a position on the Freshman football squad. He is also very interested in music and is a member of the PHS choir.

His favorite pastimes are an arrowhead collection and music.

When asked to give his impression of PHS, he said, "I really like Post. The school is wonderful and the students are extra nice."

Highway business at Judy's has been good

Wesley Northcutt, who started Judy's Cafe as a drive-in a dozen years ago in 1952, confirms what most service station operators have been saying—that this summer's tourist business through Post was the best in the last three years.

The restaurant business, which now depends a whole lot heavier on highway eaters than it once did when oil drilling in the area was at its peak, is at its best and busiest during the summer months, which most retail stores consider their slack season.

A 30 minute talk with Northcutt about the restaurant business always produces some interesting items about cooking-for-pay which the man on the other side of the counter seldom realizes.

For instance, clean public restrooms are as important to a restaurant catering to the highway trade as to the service station on the corner.

Or, for instance, that a big parking lot is all important too.

Wesley has made sure through the years that Judy's has both of these advantages.

Northcutt, who moved to Garza County away back in 1931, finds the restaurant business a fascinating one—and also "one hard to quit."

He says it's hard on a man physically, but the financial returns are good.

Wes, looking back, says he farmed around Merkel and Anton before moving to Garza County in 1931 to farm in the Pleasant Valley community.

Northcutt moved into Post in 1941 and went into the grocery business. He purchased the Highway Grocery and Market on South Broadway that year and operated it until October, 1946, when he sold it to Raymond Young.

He entered the restaurant business for the first time on Jan. 6, 1947, when he bought out the American Cafe, then the town's principal restaurant. He operated it until August, 1950, when he sold it to Hugh Blevins, who now is in the hardware business in Lubbock.

Northcutt began Judy's Cafe, at its present location, as a drive-in in March, 1952. He leased the lot and had room to seat 24 customers inside.

For two years he stayed open 12 hours from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m. and had what he termed "a wonderful business."

But the demand for breakfasts and dinners by patrons brought about the expansion of the drive-in into the present restaurant. A new kitchen area was built on the back and Wes went all the way.

He opened back up as a restaurant on a 24-hour, never close, basis. In those years the truck business was good all night long.

For example, Wes recalls, that 200 truckloads of butane went through Post daily from Snyder to Lubbock — and most of those truckers stopped on Wes's big parking lot and ate at Wes's cafe.

"We had all we could do," Northcutt recalls.

This went on for three and one-half years.

Then in 1956 came another expansion, Northcutt doubled the size of the cafe. But he came off the round-the-clock schedule and began closing at 10 p. m.

He has continued this operational plan since.

Northcutt remodeled Judy's last spring to keep it in top and attractive physical condition.
