GETTING OUT On the LIMB by EDDIE the EDITOR

The little woman bought a new magazine the other day and made me look at it in hopes of getting our fifty cents worth.

She read about it Margaret Turner's column in the Lubbock-Avalanche Journal and Walter Winchell said someone was paying $50 the copy for the first issue. The one I saw is number two.

Name of the magazine is "Flair." That is one of the things I couldn't figure out about it. Since the oil field has developed around here I've learned what a flare is and there may be some connection.

Name of the woman editor is Fleur Somebody, a French word I take to mean flower. Perhaps that all adds up but it would take a psychiatrist to figure it out.

The cover is a real pretty shade of yellow (a color I don't like) with a gray map of burnt out Spain on it. A big hole is burned out of the middle of Spain and a bull is peeping through. Time and Life are no so honest about their contents.

Having nothing better to do, I started thumbing through this magazine, trying to find out what the women—God love 'em—are up to now.

The artwork on the inside pages reminded me of the pictures the Redman kids used to bring over for me to admire several years ago. Dan and Jack had plenty of crayolas so the colors were as good and I could make out the meaning just about as well. The Redman boys are really better artists than this Clave for my money, because at least I could tell what they were drawing at. And when I couldn't tell, they always explained it.

Page 3, I can see. It shows a picture of Ezio Pinza, the glamorous grandpa whom Mary Martin is always washing right out of her hair, pouring a glass of whisky. As in all the high class magazines, the whisky ads are in three colors, featuring men of distinction and fine whisky.

On this page, the publishers slipped in a little bit about where to send manuscripts and subscription money. At first it looked like an accident, but when I looked on through the book, I saw it must have been deliberate—it takes a drunk to write and draw that stuff, believe me.

Portraiture is really nice. You can't tell whether a picture is an ad or a work of art, portraying Mrs. Van Astor going out to tea.

The little woman said the magazine was patterned after Vogue and some of those other women's magazines. The shopping section is titled "Flair Finds." The copy says "... a series of decorative objects, most of them useful, all of them lovely." One of them is a ceramic piece—a couple of fish climbing a tree. Perhaps this is used for target practice.

I believe this magazine is designed to confuse. I turned one page and there was a quarter page oil portrait of a drunk girl cutting a wisdom tooth. Down below it and on a full page was an alleged drawing called "The Couple."

This drawing looked like a bottle and some sort of laboratory distilling set up with several disconnected lines. I feel sure this represents Man and Woman. It doesn't look like man or woman or beast or spirit but I know it is intended to mean Sex because all those modern drawings do.

Opposite a picture of a picture of a pretty girl in an evening dress I started reading a story about cat colors. As usual the references were obscure. Turning this half-

Financier Recommends Diversified Investments in Land, Banks

Babson Park, Fla.—Since my recent column recommending good fire insurance stocks as an investment, I have had many letters asking, "What else would you buy?"

Importance Of Diversification

Of course the safest of all investments is well-located, well-brained and productive land. Every family should have a little of this within a reasonable distance of some community. A farmer will have most of his assets in such land, buildings and equipment. The retired investor can afford to have about 25% in good productive land. Investors should have another 25% distributed in cash, bank deposits, life insurance and government bonds. Notwithstanding all of President Truman's prosperity promises, this country is sure to see some real troubles sometime. When this depression comes, stocks and even real estate may stall at one half present prices. The best way you can then help alleviate the situation, is to begin now to store up cash for use then. For every additional person who does this, the next panic will be so much less severe.

Buy Ten Good Stocks For Income

This leaves 50% to invest for income. Unless you have the help of a long established advisory organization, you had better not attempt now to buy for profit. It is okay to do this when prices are abnormally low and everyone is bearish, but not now. However, you now can get a safe income of 6% on good securities; so why speculate?

If interested, I suggest you buy ten different "home" stocks for income. I will now tell you how to select them.—Of course this will take a little time on your part; but you spent so many years of hard work to make and save this money, you should be willing to spend one week to be sure it is safely invested; for this 50% I am not recommending any bonds. Good bonds are now too high. I will assume you already have some good fire insurance stock. If not see my column of February 3. Invest in Companies You Know To start with call upon the superintendent of your telephone company and ask him what listed company controls his telephone company. If he doesn't know, ask him to write his home office and find out. Then call upon the superintendent of your electric power company and the superintendent of your gas company and ask them the same question. This will give you three stocks which should be good; especially of your representatives in your locality are men of high character.

You probably prefer to use some special kind of gasoline. As the stock of this oil company will be listed in New York, buy a few shares of this. Most all the listed oil stocks are good for income. You also should have some good merchandising stocks. Ask your wife which is the best grocery chain, the best "5 & 10" variety chain and the best drug chain in your city. These stocks will surely be listed. Your wife can watch them for you; but see for yourself that the managers and employees are good Christian people. This gives you four more stable industries or a total of seven stocks.

Talk with the Local Banker You certainly should have some bank stock. Call upon the president of your local bank. Don't stand at the counter window, but go in and sit down with him some time when he is not busy. Tell him you would like to buy a little stock in his bank. Trust him as to the price as it will not be a listed stock. If none is available, ask him the name of some large bank in some interior city which will not be bombed during World War III. Buy that bank stock which he recommends. This gives you eight stocks.

Here are three more suggestions.—Visit your superintendent of streets and get the name of the manufacturers of the best dirt moving machinery. These companies should have a good future. Visit your fire chief and get the name of the largest manufacturer of fire alarm systems and buy some of that company's stock. If you are a farmer, you should know what combines, trucks, etc. If not a farmer, you can ask some friends who are farmers. Then buy the stock of that harvester company, or gives you ten stocks and alternate. After you have bought all ten stocks, you can move if you wish, but NOT FORE!

page, I found a picture of a four-legged cat all tangled up in a strand of pearls. It beats me, too.

Most of the pages are on slick paper like the colored pages of the Sears and Roebuck catalog but tucked between pages 42 and 45 is a sheet of carbon-like paper, slick on one side and rough on the other.

Of course, they'd have to have a bunch of women's hats since it is nearly Easter. Hats, this year, they say will be all-crown or all-brim. The all-brim hats look something like the left leg of a pair of long-handled on a citheline on a windy day. Another resembles a mashed-up car fender.

The all-crown hats look either screwed on or as if the woman wearing them had suddenly burst into full bloom. These half-crowns go up and down, rather than horizontally.

Another story is about three charming bedrooms. When I found out the three charming bedrooms belonged to men, I found out something about the readers of Flair. Evidently they are the female counterpart of the readers of Esquire.

Miss Fleur put in a bright yellow folder about four inches wide and 16 inches long telling about the three charming bedrooms. The folder also draws Steve Canyon and Terry and the Pirates and other first class funny papers occupies one of the bedrooms.

The other men are not so well-known in West Texas. One of them is a theatre designer. He has a buffalo crane, a silver stamp box, and an electric light bulb with cigar bands inside. It looks like it, too.

I think most of these men were pictured in their bedrooms after the maid had been out of town for 10 days.

Some of the other pages were pages-and-a-half, then there was another deal like these picture postcard albums that fold out. It had some more line drawings which were allegedly portraits.

One was a woman with scissors for eyes and nose holding her husband, a jack knife, in the palm of her hand. Another was a woman in a tin dress standing on her hands. The lace on her petticoat showed and she wore a wrist watch on one sleeve.

It took a whole page to make a picture of a can opener drinking a martini with a long-stemmed olive. Underneath, a pair of pliers was about to swallow a fish.

I can just bet the printing company that put that magazine out had one hell of a time. It would take a magician to assemble all those different size pages. Some of them were of good quality book paper, some rough mailing paper and some tinted tissue rolls for the bathroom.

I wonder what kind of machines they have to place those half, quarter and WASHINGTON (AP)—A search for figures to show how much money Texans pay into the Federal Treasury and how much they get back spotlights the complexity of our government. You can't find a clear cut answer to the question.

You can pretty well determine how much is paid in, but not what Texas or any other state gets back for its tax dollars.

No one can figure, for example, how much a state receives as its share of national defense dollars or indirect benefits from the billions spent in Marshall plan foreign aid. Fifty cents of each tax dollar goes into those two programs alone.

Taxes indirectly paid by consumers show up from the state of origin of the commodity; the whisky and cigaret taxes Texans pay is collected by the government largely in Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia and the Carolinas.

Last year Texans paid a total of $1,417,124,034 in direct taxes into the treasury, including $757,422,373.89 in individual income taxes, $416,392,905.90 in corporation taxes, $81,803,610 in employment taxes and $161,505,144 in miscellaneous taxes.

The increase in government costs over pre-war years is reflected in tax collections.

Texas paid only $132,352,083 in direct taxes into the U. S. Treasury in 1940. Its 1949 payments were almost a third as large as the total national collections of $5,340,452,336 in 1940. The total federal collections of such taxes in 1949 amounted to $40,463,125,018.

The national debt increased from $48 billion on June 30, 1940, to $256 billion on Jan. 1, 1950.

As for ascertainable direct benefits to Texas in dollars and cents in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1949:

The total amount $372,826,679. This figure does not include hundreds of millions of dollars spent annually to maintain the numerous army, air force and naval installations in Texas. Each of these means large payrolls and purchases of supplies, which brings business to local merchants and indirectly helps the whole community.

The Department of Defense said it would be virtually impossible to determine exactly how much actually is spent in the overall maintenance of all military installations in Texas.

In this connection the Democratic national committee presently is engaged in a compilation of figures by which it hopes to show, for political purposes, approximately how much money goes to each state, or at least to principal congressional districts, in upkeep of military centers. The data is being gathered for use in this year's political campaigns.

As an example, the unofficial estimate is that the Sheppard Air Force base at Wichita Falls means an annual payroll of approximately $25 million.

Other military establishments in Texas: Air Force—(14 bases) Bergstrom, Austin; Biggs, El Paso; pamphlet pages in exactly as that woman wants them. I can see the poor printer grabbing the books off one machine, running to another to sew in the horizontal half pages, then to another to sew in the vertical half-pages, the quarter-pages and so on.

After going through all that, I bet if any of the printers and linotype operators were still sober, they wouldn't be after looking at a few pages of Flair. The only thing I could understand, stone cold sober, was the ads, and most of them weren't paid for by the temperance union.

I think I'll just go back to reading the Saturday Evening Post because Hazel is clear to me and the daily papers because Hysteria seems like an old friend. Somebody is bound to read Flair, but I'm sure I don't know why.

Minute Editorial

Contributions to the local Red Cross drive are our premiums for disaster insurance. We may not have a tornado in Garza county. There is no possibility of Post being flooded out. Our houses are not built so close together that a fire is likely to wipe out the homes of hundreds. We may not have several years of drought and crop failures. Individually we may not be involved in an automobile accident resulting in one or several deaths. We may not have to pay for an unexpected funeral. We may not have the individual disaster of losing our home by fire. Some of these things have happened, some may happen, some will never happen. Tragedy and disaster are always unexpected, unprepared for. There is no other organization in Garza county to handle the results of any of these things if they happen to us. Though near, Amarillo and Spur tornados are far away as long as we are not hurt and suffer no loss. There is an outside chance it might happen here. We are no longer expected to be good Samaritans and love our neighbors as ourselves. But we might need Red Cross assistance, personally. Give as much as you can when the Red Cross worker comes by.

Home Economics Teacher Suggests Main Dishes For Season

Miss Bessie Pitts, home economics teacher in Post High School, recommends some main dishes which are inexpensive, seasonal and nutritious.

Miss Pitts recommends American chop suey as an unusual economical main dish. It includes:

- 1/2 of 8-ounce pkg.
- 2 cups stewed or canned tomatoes
- 1 lb grated cheese
- 1 cup salad oil
- 1 cup sliced onion
- 1 cup thinly sliced celery
- 1 cup thinly sliced green pepper
- 1 pound ground beef
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 1 teaspoon chili powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper

Boil, drain and rinse noodles; turn to cooking pan. Add tomatoes and grated cheese; stir on low heat until cheese is melted. Heat the oil in a heavy skillet; add onion, celery, green pepper. Simmer over heat until soft and lightly browned. Add meat and continue cooking until meat is browned. Add seasonings and combine with noodle mixture.

Italian rice is another delicious and nourishing main dish. Miss Pitts. Her recipe includes:

- 1 cup rice
- 1/4 cup salad oil
- 3/4 lb ground meat
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 clove finely chopped garlic (optional)
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 3 cups tomato juice
- 2 cups water
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1 cup grated cheese

Wash rice; dry well. Heat oil in a heavy skillet; add rice and cook, stirring constantly, about 10 minutes or until lightly browned. Add meat, onion, garlic, salt and pepper. Cook, stirring frequently, about 10 minutes or until browned. Add tomato juice, water and sugar. Simmer over heat 15 to 20 minutes or until rice is tender. Add more water if needed. Add grated cheese; stir over low heat until melted. Makes about six servings.

"The almost endless varieties of meat loaves go over well," says Miss Pitts, "but the cold ones slice easier. Crusty loaves are baked in a shallow pan. Baking in a loaf pan makes for moisture loaves. Line the pan with waxed paper to facilitate removal of the loaf."

Miss Pitts also advises that dressing may be cooked between the layers of the ground meat. Canned soup may be used for basting, she reminded.

"In the ordinary recipe," says Miss Pitts, who graduated from Texas State College for Women, "ground pork may be substituted for part of the beef—not more than half. You can use equal amounts of pork, beef and veal. Sometimes I substitute tomato juice for milk or when I want a drier loaf, omit the liquid entirely."

Miss Pitts suggests adding hard-cooked eggs, olives and pickles to a loaf to be served cold. Her basic recipe includes:

- 1 slightly beaten egg
- 3/4 cup milk
- 1 cup dry bread crumbs
- 2 pounds ground beef
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped onions
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 cup chili sauce or ketchup

Combine egg and milk; add bread crumbs and soak 10 minutes. Add beef, onion, salt and pepper; mix lightly, do not pack. Place in a loaf pan or shape into a loaf on a shallow baking pan. Spread ketchup or chili sauce on the top. Bake in a moderate oven (350 F) for an hour.

With sharp, wintry days still in prospect, Miss Pitts suggests barbecued spare ribs as a favorite. The sauce she uses includes:

- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 medium-sized sliced onion
- 1 clove garlic
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 3/4 cup water
- 1 cup ketchup
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 2 tablespoons mustard

- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- Melt butter; add onion and cook until browned; add remaining ingredients and cook 20 minutes. Makes about 2 1/2 cups, or enough for three pounds of meat.

This sauce may be used on six pork chops cut 3/4 inch thick. Put chops in hot fat and brown on both sides at the medium high heat. Add barbecue sauce, cover skillet and simmer on low heat until chops are done.

Miss Pitts has a hearty menu to go with barbecued pork chops. It includes butter-topped baked potatoes, fresh-frozen peas, stuffed celery, olives and pickles for a buffet supper.

Lent, Miss Pitts points out, is a time for fish eating. Salmon loaf is a good Lenten or Friday entree. Her recipe calls for:

- 3 cups salmon
- 1 or 2 eggs
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- 1 slice onion, finely minced

- 1 cup bread crumbs
- 1 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 2 slices bacon chopped fine, or 2 tablespoons butter

Mix thoroughly; press into a greased bread pan. Bake in moderate oven (350) for 30 to 40 minutes. Serve salmon loaf with one cup white sauce containing chopped parsley or chopped hard-cooked egg.

SPORTS

FROM A STRICTLY LOCAL ANGLE

FROM THE GRANDSTAND

by WILBUR MARTIN
Associated Press Staff

Pat Garner's game is golf. "It's wonderful," says the 21-year-old Midland, girl. Pat is one of a number of young women golfers that may give Texas a monopoly on cups and trophies in women's tournaments in the next few years. "I'm no world beater," says Pat real seriously, "but I'd like to get to the top."

To get to the top Pat has set for herself a sort of "five year plan." She's got a couple of years in on it already.

"I want to shoot for the top the next three years. I plan to concentrate on just that. But, shoot, I don't say I'll make it. I don't want to win all the time. All I want to do is to be able to qualify in the championship flight and maybe win a few."

Pat really started playing golf a couple years ago. She's placed in a number of tournaments and hopes to do the same in a number this year. "I try to play every day," she says. "I've quit trying to 'murder' the ball and try for accuracy. I'm working on my iron shots now."

Pro A.G. Mitchell of Rivercrest course in Fort Worth is tutoring Pat and thinks she's a fine prospect.

Biggest bugaboo for the Texas Christian University senior—and for Betty Dodd of San Antonio, Lesbia Lobo of San Antonio, Betty Rawls and other young Texas women golfers—is that people might expect too much too soon.

Grade School Basketballers Lose in Tourney

Post grade school boys and girls lost both games in last Friday's basketball tournament at Wilson which closed the grade school season.

Glenn Foley coached the boys team which lost Friday to Ropes B 23-3 and Saturday to Meadow, 31-5. Miss Bettye Travis is girls coach. Her team lost to Meadow B 8-6 Friday and to Ropes 32-9 Saturday.

This is the second tournament the boys' squad has entered and the first for the girls. Principal E. E. Pierce said. The tournament included eighth graders although Post teams were taken from the seventh grade and below.

"Your friends are pulling for you so hard if you don't come through a tournament, you feel you've let them down," she says.

Pat plans to make the West Texas Open and the Broadmoor Country Club tournament at Colorado Springs, Colo., as well as other tournaments this summer.

She hopes to make a regular tournament swing the next three years of her "five year plan."

And just why this plan? "I'm like any other girl," she explains. "I hope to get married some day. And when I do, I won't want to try to make a tournament schedule."

So she plans to make the swing this year, the next and the next.

Oil Belt Loop Sets 36 Game Schedule

A 36-game schedule was adopted when representatives of six teams in the Oil Belt league met in Lubbock Sunday and elected Sam West president.

West replaces Joe Holmes. Both are of Lubbock.

League play will get underway April 23. Representatives of Post, Denver City, Levelland, Seagraves, Slaton, and Sundown reported ready at the Hilton hotel session. Dan Altman, Marshall Gibson and Jim Hundley represented the Millers.

Brownfield and Tahoka will be contacted before next Sunday to see if they will field teams. Both were in the loop last year. Teams from Lubbock and Seminole indicated that they wanted to join the league.

The 36-game season will be played two games a week beginning approximately one month after the opening date, April 23. Day games will be played on Sunday with night games set during the week. The actual schedule will be released later this month.

Grade School Boys Play Football Game Tonight

Tonight marks the first intra-school spring football game for Post seventh and eighth grade boys. Game time is 7:30.

Coaches Bing Bingham and Vernon Ray have been working two weeks with 21 seventh grade boys and 23 eighth grade boys. This is the first year Post has had a program for younger boys, although other class A schools have been training younger boys for the past three years, Coach Bingham said.

Bingham sent out a letter this week to parents of the players urging them to attend the game and give their children their moral support.

"You hear all this talk about fighting delinquency," Bingham said. "An athletic program is the best way I know to keep kids out of trouble. Training rules build good health habits and organized sports develop character."

In his letter, the coach reminded parents of how much their support meant to the boys playing ball. "They'd rather have their parents there watching them than have the stands full of strangers," he said.

Coach Bingham emphasized the importance of training the younger boys if Post is to remain in Class A competition.

He promised a good game to fans who come out tonight. He said the eighth grade group was an especially fine bunch of ball players for their age.

"There is not much difference in the size and weight of the boys," said Bingham, "but you'd be amazed at the difference in football know-how between the seventh and eighth grade boys."

Starting lineups are, for the eighth grade:

Other boys suited out for the eighth grade will be Jackie Pike, center; Royce Josey and James Womack, guards; Floyd Seaton and J. C. Shedd, ends; Wendell Scofield and Sammy Creel, backs.

Others suited out will be Don Runkels, end; Dean Wilson, end; Alvin Willis, tackle; Bowen Stephens and Dwayne Dobson, guards, and Junior Hughes, fullback.

Arguelles Mixes Art and Other Jobs

ROCHESTER, Minn., Mar. 8.—(AP)—Enrique Arguelles has had a varied vocational career, but through it all has run a consistent painting career that started with his high school days in Spain.

Currently, he is completing murals on the walls of the taproom in the hotel where he is employed as a bartender. The 47-year-old artist has worked as a hospital cook, a police officer, a machine shop foreman and for five years was a special administrator for President Lazaro Cardenas of Mexico. His interest in art is strictly a sideline.

Much of his work has been exhibited. He has painted scores of landscapes and florals. Four of the latter were exhibited several months ago in the Rochester Art center.

Rookie Pitcher Gets No-Hitter First Time

NEW YORK, March 8.—(AP) The Detroit Tigers have a rookie pitcher who made an auspicious debut in organized ball—he notched a no-hitter in his first trip to the mound.

Press Agent Points Race Horse To Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, March 8.—(AP) Your Host, California bred race horse who is being pointed for the top three-year-old stakes, is probably the first thoroughbred in training with a personal public relations counsel.

Eddie Reed, who handled turf publicity for Your Host's breeder, Louis B. Mayer, has the job of keeping the horse's name in the public eye. After retirement to stud, some horses have had press agents, and another California-bred colt, Morvich, once had a ghostwritten autobiography published, but Your Host is believed to be the only active horse with a publicity man.

Owner William Goetz and Trainer Harry Daniels are high on the horse's chances for the Kentucky Derby and the other three-year-old classics. And Jockey Johnny Logden may postpone his Australian trip to be sure to be on hand to ride the horse in the Derby. Logden says Your Host may be "one of the great horses of this day."

Women's Cross Country Golfing Tourney Slated

NEW YORK, March 8.—(AP) Women's golf will hit the big time this spring with the $17,000 cross-country Weatheravne Open.

Led by the big four of women's pro golf—Patty Berg, Betty Jameson, Louise Suggs and Babe Didrikson Zaharias—the girls will shoot at that total in four separate 36-hole competitions played on four consecutive weekends in different states, California, Illinois, Ohio, and New York.

The first competition for the crack pros, as well as the amateurs, will be staged at the Pebble Beach golf course on California's Monterey Peninsula April 29-30. May 6-7, the girls will play on Chicago's Skyrcrest course; May 13-14 competition will move to the Ridgewood Golf club in Cleveland with the wind-up set for Knollwood Country club, White Plains, N. Y. May 20-21.

In each of the four tournaments, the girls will be shooting at $3,000 in prize money and the lowest score for the 144-holes will be worth $5,000.

CAMILLI AND CAMELLI

Dayton, Ohio, March 8.—(AP) It will be a little confusing in the Central League this season when people mention the names of the Dayton and Saginaw, Mich., managers, Hank Camilli, former first baseman for the Phillies and Dodgers, is the new Dayton manager, while Hank Camelli, ex-Pirate catcher, is the new pilot at Saginaw.

ATOMIC CADDIES SET FOR GOLFERS

NEW YORK —(AP)—Some scientists are working on the problem of lost golf balls and may have hit on a solution. "If manufacturers insert a pellet of radioactive material, with life-long radiation, in golf balls, inexpensive Geiger counters would locate all balls hit into the rough," says one scientist. He calls the counters "atomic caddies."

No Parking Problems In Township of Six

DELLVIEW, N. C. (AP)—A view is as free from municipal problems as any town you find. There's no slum, no budget is balanced.

Dellview has a population of six. There are two houses and Mrs. J. H. Dellinger and their daughter, Gladys, live in one house. In the other live Mrs. A. T. Dellinger and her son Robert. Mrs. J. H. Dellinger is mayor, and her son-in-law is treasurer. A T. Dellinger is chief of police.

The town this year will celebrate its 25th anniversary. Legislation in 1925 incorporated Dellview. The main reason for its incorporation was to give police powers to residents and wanted authority to deal with stray dogs which were molesting chickens. The Dellingers say their town is the smallest incorporated municipality in United States.

As far as the Constitution concerned, a woman can be elected to the U. S. Presidency.

CONFIDENCE IN GOD'S JUSTICE

In the Lord put I my trust: how say ye to my soul, flee as a bird to your mountain? For, lo, the wicked bend their bow, they make ready their arrow upon the string, that they may privily shoot at the upright in heart. If the fountains be destroyed, what can the righteous do? The Lord is in his holy temple, his eyes behold, his eyelids try, the children of men. The Lord trieth the righteous, but the wicked and him that loveth violence his soul hateth. Upon the wicked he shall rain snares, fire and brimstone, and an horrible tempest, this shall be the portion of their cup. For the righteous Lord loveth righteousness; his countenance doth behold the upright Psalms 11.

YOUR CHILD TODAY

Old-Fashioned Discipline, Virtues Come Back into Style for Moderns

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE AP Education Writer

Thrift, honesty, tolerance and respect are not virtues children acquire automatically. They must be taught, says Isabelle P. Buckley, founder and head of the Buckley Schools, Los Angeles, California.

Children need guidance that gives them the opportunity to express themselves in the right directions, she says. That is why they need discipline both in the home and in the school.

Mrs. Muckley says she is opposed to "progressive" education because "A child needs a sense of order in his world if he is to feel secure. He urgently requires a pattern of living, not only to guide him but to give him comfort and assurance. Disciplined education provides that pattern."

It is up to the parent and the teacher, she says, to help the child develop self-expression by giving him the form his development should take. With adequate examples to follow, his self-expression will develop from then on.

Mrs. Buckley compares this type of education to a fence surrounding a yard in which a child is playing happily. "It is not a barrier so much as a boundary," she maintains. "It defines, rather than confines, the child's cosmos."

"What has come to be regarded as 'progressive' education has failed to fulfill this vital function," she says. "In an attempt to widen the child's horizon it has torn down the back-yard fence. The result has been merely to deprive the child of emotional security and to dissipate, rather than direct, his creative instincts."

Look about you at children in the public schools, she suggests. The one thing they seem to lack especially is good manners. Yet a child can be taught to be thoughtful of others at an age as early as two years. He can be taught to share his toys and sandbox. All through elementary school he can be shown how to be helpful.

Visitors to the Buckley Schools are sometimes startled by the politeness and poise with which the youngest pupils return their greetings. "Some parents," she admits, "are suspicious of good manners, as if there were something sinister about a child who shakes hands firmly and says good morning as if he meant it. But the fact remains that the children themselves take great pride in this performance."

Howard-Stokes Heirs Sought In West Texas

Possible descendants but more likely brothers and sisters or nieces and nephews of Stephen A. Howard and his wife, Sarah, nee Stokes, are being sought in West Texas to claim an estate of $5,200 of which they obviously never heard.

Walter C. Cox, probate genealogist, 208 S. La Salle St., Chicago, who specializes in tracing missing relatives to settle estates, is directing the hunt but with few helpful clues.

"The estate was left," Mr. Cox said, "by a descendant of Mr. and Mrs. Howard, who died without issue, and inheritance therefore reverts back through their lineage to their next of kin."

"The Howards were married in west or east Texas in about 1880, and there is reason to believe that the relatives sought are now living somewhere in Texas."

Mr. Cox warned that persons believing themselves to be the heirs sought must submit proof of relationship acceptable to the court having jurisdiction over the estate.

Mr. and Mrs. James Steen and family went to Franklin Thursday to get their furniture to move to Snyder. They have been making their home here temporarily with the Reese Carters.

$5 Million Legislative Appropriation Discussed at Meeting in Court House

Howard Goss, state publicity chairman for the soil conservation program, reported to district officials in this area on the $5 million state appropriation to the SC districts at a meeting here Thursday.

Goss stated that the money would be divided half on an acreage basis and half on the basis of the number of cooperators. District boards of supervisors will handle the money which will be subject to state audit. It will revert to the state at the end of two years.

"Vouchers are being made out now," said Goss, "and checks should be mailed within 30 days." The money will not be paid for establishing new practices but will be used by the district to buy necessary equipment, fertilizer and machinery to be used on a cooperative basis.

"Landowners may apply to the district board for assistance supplied by this money, regardless of whether they are cooperators in the district," Gies McCrary, Duck Creek board member, stated.

He explained that the Duck Creek district was a unit of the government, made up of landowners and with a similar authority as that held by the commissioner's court. The board member stated that rather than the district operate under the Soil Conservation service, district members are employers of the SCS.

"Cooperators do not have to follow the practices suggested by the SCS," he said. "If they do not consider the technicians' advice workable, they are free to discard the whole plan. The district is a democratic unit, governed by its members."

Goss, in his speech at the courthouse, said that there were still some parts of the bill that are not clear and will be changed at the next session of the legislature. He discussed the recent opinion of the attorney general legalizing the appropriation.

"This $5 million is not something for nothing," Goss reminded. "It remains a part of the state general fund and any of it not spent returns to the general fund. Due charges for depreciation, etc., will be levied in the use of this money."

The one exception to this auditing provision, according to Goss, is for the education program. Money spent on this does not have to be replaced, he said.

Others present at the Thursday meeting were Louis Dawkins, subdivision representative; Jay Barratt, Brownfield; R. L. Littlepage and Kay Moore, Tahoka; M. W. Babessett, Snyder; Oscar McGinty, chairman of the Duck Creek district; Spur; E. F. Schmedt, local vocational agriculture teacher, and a class from Post high school; and Louis Herron, county agent.

Expert Predicts Super-Weed Plant

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—Are the new chemical weed killers, such as 2-4-D, in danger of producing a race of "super weeds"? It's a good bet under certain conditions in the opinion of Glenn Viehneyer, assistant in horticulture at the University of Nebraska's sub-station here.

Assuming that a dose of 2-4-D doesn't kill all weeds, then those that survive must be presumed to be possessed of some degree of resistance. Offspring of the weeds with resistance should inherit some of this resistant quality. Repeat the process regularly enough and the weeds eventually will "reach the highest degree of tolerance inherent in the race treatment," says Viehneyer.

Willard Kirkpatrick's Build Rock House Like Old Ranch Home

The ranch-style house of Austin stone on West Main street is really two houses. First, being a rock house, it is the one wanted by Mr. and Mrs. Willard Kirkpatrick ever since they were married. Second, it is a copy of their ranch home which burned in 1943.

One wing of the house is built almost entirely for the Kirkpatrick's two sons, Kay and Jack. This wing contains the sun porch, their bedroom and bath, and a game room. They have an outside entrance for both the front and back.

Mr. Kirkpatrick is largely responsible for the soft, soothing color scheme. "He refused to have great big flowery chintzes," said Mrs. Kirkpatrick. "So most of our draperies are soft, solid colors but in textured materials."

Front Porch
A long narrow porch on the front is paved with flagstones. The front door opens directly into the living room where the color scheme is rosy-beige and turquoise. Glass draw curtains are a gray textured material at the large picture window on the south wall of the living room. These are covered by turquoise draw draperies with a metallic thread woven in. Textured walls are in rosy-beige and the thick, patterned carpet is the same color. A false fireplace of Austin stone is on the east wall.

Handwrought copper urns and a copper bowl containing ivy adorn the mantel. Brass and copper light fixtures blend with these and other copper pieces.

Rosy-Beige Upholstery
Armless occasional chairs are upholstered in a rosy-beige material. The couch is beige, covered with a small floral pattern. A wing chair matches.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick's coffee table is mahogany in an 18th century style. It extends over a mirrored center. Other furnishings are occasional tables and a piano.

All Bathrooms 6 x 8 Feet
Bathrooms are all 6 x 8 feet. The bath to the master bedroom is tiled in suntan and burgundy. The lavatory is set into a cabinet making a dressing table. Cabinets across the top have mirrored doors. Burgundy towels are used for accents.

Panel-ray heaters are placed in several rooms to supplement the central heating system.

The sun porch is decorated in shades of green. It is a long, narrow room with one wall practically all windows. Its location makes it easy for Mrs. Kirkpatrick to cross over to her mother's house, which is next door.

Furniture is wrought iron with plastic upholstery in yellow, chartreuse and tan. Bamboo blinds are at the windows.

L-Shaped Boy's Room
The boy's room opens off the sun porch. Their furniture is chestnut oak and the room is decorated in shades of their favorite colors of red and blue. The room is L-shaped.

Each boy has a bed, desk, chair, chest and closet for himself. Draperies and bedspreads match, a red and blue striped pattern. Dimensions of the room are about 21 x 15 feet.

Model airplanes are on one bed and the record player and records are indicative of the interest of the Kirkpatrick boys. Their closets are filled with boots, ropes and other cowboy regalia. Kay is in school in Roswell, N. M., and Jack is still attending Post high school.

The boys' bathroom is tiled in oatmeal and buckskin. Accents of blue are used. Otherwise, it is identical with their parents' bathroom. A hall leads from the boys' room to the play room. Floored in brown and tan rubber tile squares, it contains two large storage closets.

Record Player
Carpet in here is beige. A pale blue wing chair, a tan leather covered chair, and the light desk are among the other furnishings in the den. A record player is on one of the bookshelves and a small cabinet holds records.

The master bedroom opens into the den. Dimensions here are 15 by 21 feet. Prevailing colors are cream, tan and rose. Furnishings are colonial-type mahogany. Cornices and dust ruffles on the bedspread are made from the border of the drapery materials. Draperies are a small, floral print.

The twin beds, highboy, double chest with mirror, vanity and desk are the major pieces of furniture in here. The extra large closet has two doors, one with a full-length mirror. Room is provided for clothes, hats, shoes and luggage.

The dining room suite is a modified Duncan-Phyfe style, said Mrs. Kirkpatrick. Green upholstered chairs are at the head and foot of the dining table. A china cabinet and buffet complete the dining room furnishings.

The kitchen is 17 x 16 feet. Walls are textured light beige, above a blue-green tile wainscoating. Breakfast set is tan and blue green. It is separated from part of the kitchen by a bar. Behind this is the refrigerator and some storage cabinets and on the wall opposite, the stove.

Two-Oven Stove
Mrs. Kirkpatrick finds her stove especially convenient with two ovens and two broilers. A fan carries cooking odors and smoke away. A friend gave Mrs. Kirkpatrick the idea for the spice shelf she has found so convenient in her cabinet.

The double sink is part of the wall of cabinets at the back of the room. An automatic washing machine and dishwasher is also here.

From the kitchen, Mrs. Kirkpatrick goes to her utility room for sprinkling and ironing clothes, washing fruits and vegetables, etc. She has a small sink here. Closets hold the hot water heater, the central heating system and half bath.

This room opens onto the backyard and connects by a Hollywood door to the garage, a double one. The garage opens at the back. Windows are at the front and the Kirkpatrick's curtailed them to give the house a pleasing appearance from the front. An air conditioning system is housed in the garage.

Guest Bedroom
The guest bedroom is down a hall west of the living room. At the end of the hall is the bath for this room with walls and floor tiled in a soft green. Above the tiling, walls are grayish cream. Yellow accents are used here.

Pale green walls are in the guest bedroom with a beige carpet. Dimensions here are approximately 14 x 16 feet. Furnishings are fruitwood. Draw draperies in a small, old-fashioned floral chintz are at the three windows.

Spreads on the twin beds are quilted chintz with brown dust ruffles. An occasional chair is upholstered in brown velvet.

Davies Construction company was the builder. Tom Bouchier drew the plans. Martha Morgan of Lubbock assisted with the interior decorating. George Samson was rock mason.

Outstanding feature of the house is its uncluttered look. Bric-a-brac is at a minimum. Colors are soft and soothing. Each member of the family had a hand in its decoration, speaking up for his likes and dislikes.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Terry and Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Suits visited Sunday in Floydada with the Claude Weathersbee family.
Nora Stevens spent the weekend in Waco with Mrs. Elmer Hill.
Dove Mayfield spent Friday in Dallas. He brought back a brand new 1950 Pontiac "6."

Truett Bobb of Meadow was here Sunday for the funeral of H. W. Edwards.
Mr. and Mrs. John Herd left yesterday to spend several days in Fort Worth.
Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Henderson, Jr., and son of Monahans spent the weekend here with his parents.

Garza County 4-H Club Boys and Girls Mark National Week with Achievements

Garza county 4-H boys and girls are observing national 4-H week this week with County

Agents Lewis Herron and Mrs. Jewell Strasser listing club members' accomplishments.

Almost two million club members and 225,000 adult workers throughout the United States are joining in this observance. In Texas alone, 4-H members grew crops on nearly 51,000 acres of land, including things from cotton and corn to soil improving crops. They planted and cared for some 10,000 acres of home orchards, gardens and truck crops; they performed soil and water conservation practices on 29,300 acres and conducted pasture improvement demonstrations on 27,300 acres.

Texas 4-H clubbers owned 58,893 head of livestock and sold some 23,000 head for about $2½ million. They sold $272,000 worth of poultry and eggs.

Girls Active

Girls were also active in home economics work. They modernized rooms and made articles for use in the home. Meals were planned and food was preserved by club girls. Those with clothing as their demonstration made 106,000 new garments and remade more than 27,000 old ones.

Garza county 4-H clubbers present a list of accomplishments showing the other side of the 4-H program.

Lenora Stone, 1949 gold star girl for Garza, has been chosen as the county entry in the talent club contest sponsored by the Producers Grain corporation, an association of grain growers in 56 West Texas counties.

Talent Club Prize

Prize will be a four or five day tour beginning June 5. Winners, a boy and a girl from each of the eight districts, will go from Lubbock to Austin, San Antonio and Corpus Christi. No boy was selected to enter for Garza county.

Last year's winners from Garza were Mrs. Roy Brown, the former Jeannine Kiker, and E. P. Wicker. Mrs. Brown was gold star girl in 1948 and made one trip to the 4-H Roundup in College Station. Doris Ritchie was gold star girl in 1947. She attended the Roundup twice, entering the dress revue. She won a trip to Chicago last year. She was second in the district in the national 4-H camp contest.

Sue Stephens, Post senior club's nominee for gold star girl this year, won fifth place in the state garden contest last year. She attended the Roundup once and went to the state fair at Dallas twice. She was Post 4-H representative at the Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth this year.

Wins Roundup Trip

Glenda Grantham was one of the 4-H winners of a trip to the Roundup in 1949. Alvin Davis won a trip to A & M several years. He was a national leadership winner and attended the Danforth National 4-H camp. Carter Gene White, another CHESTER IS A "MOTHER"—Chester, a Bantam rooster owned by Mrs. Leon Henderson of Denton, Tex., has adopted eight Cocker Spaniel puppies against their Mother's will. Mrs. Henderson found Chester in the doghouse trying to cover the puppies when they were two weeks old. When the puppies, mother tried to enter the doghouse, Chester flew into a rage and drove the dog from her home. Mrs. Henderson says Chester's crowing has been replaced by clucking.

Decrease of 4 Per Cent Seen in Cost of Food

The housewife's market basket of groceries is 56 cents cheaper in Post this year than last.

This conclusion was reached by a spot check of Dispatch food ads for a year ago, compared with food prices today. Thus, roughly, Post housewives are spend four cents less now for every dollar they spent on food last year.

Most prices are stable. These include jello and peanut butter which are exactly the same. Catsup price ranges from 19 to 29 cents now, above and below the 21 cents advertised in 1949. Lard is two cents higher on the three pound carton. A year ago, three pounds were 55 cents, now it is 19 cents the pound.

Bacon is another item which is the same price now as it was a year ago. Green peas are also the same. Chuck roast is still the same.

Coffee Up Most

Coffee has increased more than any other commodity. It is now 79 cents the pound, against 55 cents a year ago. Steak has increased 10 cents the pound, from a 79 cent price last year to 89 cents now.

Canned biscuits were listed at two for a quarter last year to 15 cents the can now. Other cuts of roast have gone up from 59 to 63 cents the pound.

The cost of butter has increased from 73 to 80 cents. Tomato juice was listed at 25 cents for a 46 ounce can and this year is 10 cents for a regular-size can. Number 2 cans of corn are three cents higher this year, increasing from 14 to 17 cents.

Canned milk is up from 11 cents the can to two cans for 25 cents. Pork liver increased 10 cents the pound from 29 cents to 39 cents. Onions have doubled in price from five cents to 10 cents.

Bright Side

However, the brighter side of the picture is shown in the decrease in the cost of potatoes. From six cents the pound in 1949, spuds have decreased in price to 10 pounds for 49 cents.

Crackers are down two cents the box from 29 to 27 cents. Green beans are a penny the can cheaper. Pork chops have gone down four cents the pound, from 63 cents a year ago to 59 now. A big decrease is shown in the price of oleomargarine. A year ago, it was listed at 39 cents the pound, now it is two pounds for 59 cents.

A type of canned spaghetti may be bought now for 15 cents. It was selling for 24 cents the can a year ago. Soap has gone down from three bars for 27 cents to 7½ cents the bar.

Figures given in the lead were arrived at after adding up a typical basket of groceries containing the listed items. Buying an amount thought sufficient for an average family of four would cost 13.16 today, compared with 13.72 a year ago.

On this basis, there appears to be a four per cent decrease in the price of food here.

Landscape Training Meeting Presented To Demonstrators by County HD Agent

A landscape training meeting was given to home demonstration club leaders Monday by Mrs. Ewell Strasser, agent, when several principles dealing with preparation of the soil and shrub beds were discussed.

This is the fourth year, Mrs. Strasser said, for this demonstration in Garza county. She reviewed the work of several club demonstrators.

Mrs. Thelbert McBride, Gram demonstrator, started her project with the caliche out her family took and replaced it with good soil during the first year. Then they sodded the lawn and planted evergreen shrubs.

During her second year, Mrs. McBride planted flowering shrubs and built a wash pot and urnage. During the third year, a privet hedge was planted on the north side of the yard. This year she is building lawn chairs and furniture for an outdoor living room. She also plans to rebuild her clothesline, changing it into the arm type.

The McBrides have pruned their shrubs yearly and helped their neighbors with their lawns.

Mrs. L. H. Peel belongs to the Post HD club but is demonstrator for the Close City community. She has sodded the lawn in her front yard and planted flowering shrubs. This year she is planning screen planing in the backyard.

Mrs. Peel has set out two grape myrtles and moved two oriental wreath plants. Her plan is to have more evergreen shrubs on the north. Mrs. Strasser urges demonstrators to plant two-thirds evergreen shrubs to relieve the barrenness of the winter months.

Mrs. Peel put out six roses this fall and plans to add more to her rose garden next year.

Pleasant Valley demonstrator is Mrs. Elmer Hitt. She is adding more evergreens this year. She planted a dozen new rosebushes in the back yard—where she can see out her kitchen window. She is to place a privet hedge on the north, also, to protect the roses.

"Mrs. Hitt has a very good sod in both the front and back yards and good shade for West Texas," Mrs. Strasser commented.

Mrs. Sid Cross is the Justiceburg demonstrator. In her rose garden, she has added 12 new rosebushes. Her foundation shrubs, Mrs. Strasser said, are well started. They include both evergreen and flowering shrubs in the back yard. Roses separate the lawn from the vegetable garden.

Barnum Springs has two landscape demonstrators. Mrs. W. A. Long is in her third year and this is the first for Mrs. Avery Moore. Mrs. Moore's plans are not yet complete.

Mrs. Long has shade trees, a lawn of bermuda, a hedge on three sides to protect her house from the wind, since she lives on a hill. Her shrubs are small but they are beginning to show progress, Mrs. Strasser said.

Mrs. Long is now replacing some shrubbery she lost.

SCS Technicians Report on Terraces, Lines Run and Built in Garza County

Post Work unit technicians for Soil Conservation service report construction of several terraces and terrace lines in the area this week.

Lloyd Walker, terracing contractor, has just completed construction of a well-designed terrace system on the J. H. Bingham farm, north of Post, conservationists said. C. S. Perkins rents the farm.

Diversion terraces were built at the top of the field to divert water into a constructed 70-foot float bottom channel. This will eliminate outside water from draining onto the level terraces which were also constructed this week, conservationists say. The flat bottom channel is to serve as an outlet for the level terraces.

Morris Ehrlich, another terracing contractor, has completed three miles of level terraces on the M. K. Bingham farm which joins the city limits east of town, the report shows.

Terrace lines were run on the A. M. Lucas farm in the Verbena community; on the Charley Morrow and Floyd W. Hodges farms north of Post; on the Floyd H. Hodges farm in the Cross Roads community and on the Harlan Morris, Glenn Davis and Melvin Stewart farms in the Graham community.

Cecil Smiths and the Mason Justices Saturday night.

Mrs. Callie Cash of Levelland is visiting with her son, Bandy, and family this week.

Mrs. George Evans visited with her son, Lawrence and family in Lubbock Monday.

A large crowd attended church services here Sunday. The Rev. L. H. Welch of Post preaches here every Sunday and everyone is invited to attend these services.

Longhorn Cattle Once Again Roam Texas Plains—Giant Africanda Breed

TEMPLE, (AP)—Longhorn cattle are roaming the Central Texas range again. But they're not the scrawny critters made famous by legend and ballad.

These cattle are a giant African breed. And the man who is breeding them says a great future lies ahead for their use as bee animals.

Jim Tanner, writing about the cattle in the Temple Telegram, says they have proved resistant to insects and diseases that are harmful to the more common U.S. strains.

Called Africandas (or Africander) the big red animals are being bred and cross-bred with other strains by W. S. Parks on the 777 ranch 11 miles south of Killeen.

He has a herd of about 20 animals, which he purchased the cattle from the King ranch, which had imported them.

Parks says the animals will dress out 60 per cent of edible meat. A fine-boned animal, the Africanda will outweigh a Hereford several hundred pounds at maturity, Parks says.

A drawback is the fact that the cattle are slow developers, needing nearly six years to achieve full growth.

But, says Parks, "If you feed the Africanda heavily, they would get so fat they couldn't walk."

Most people at first would classify Africandas as Brahman crossbreeds because of a hump. But a close check will show that the hump lies on the neck instead of the shoulder.

The horns tend to acquire shapes like those of the fabled longhorns. They differ slightly, however, by tending to turn concave. They are comparatively slender and long with a downward and backward twist and upturned tips. Horns of the Longhorn turned up and out.

When cross-bred with Herefords or Jerseys, the Africanda color and size predominate, although the horns become shorter.

A strain very similar to the Africanda is the Santa Gertrudis, fairly well recognized in the United States. The latter is considered a true breed of American cattle.

The Africanda is a good forager and is not bothered by red or cancer eye and hardly knows that flies and mosquitoes exist.

Parks is experimenting with cross-breeding of Santa Gertrudis, Africanda, Herefords, Jersey and Brahman cattle.

He even has a shaggy Scottish Highlander calf and may do something with it.

Parks says he finds his Africanda and Santa Gertrudis cattle are becoming more and more popular. Most shipments are going to Florida, which has peculiar insect and climate problems. The Santa Gertrudis breed also is resistant to most diseases and insects.

Parks' entire output of Santa Gertrudis for the coming year is going to Florida and he is booked solid up to 1952 on all bull calves.

Veteran's Farm Program Shows Most Tangible Results—Says Sam Adams

AUSTIN, (AP)—Battle-wise Texas veterans are still on the conquest.

This time they are conquering lands right at home—making "worn out" soil "magically" give forth bountiful crops that bulge the eyes of oldtime farmers.

That "magic," every vet knows, is just plain "know-how." It won battles. It's raising crops. It has been coming to veterans in scores of on-farm training programs, complete with subsistence payments, through the GI Bill of Rights.

Since the program started July 1, 1946, some 32,000 Texas farmer-veterans have parked the tractor, finished the chores a little early, and gathered at some community center to learn the tricks that take many of the tears out of farming.

The results: "The most tangible any government training program can show," says Sam L. Adams, the state vocational education board's overseer of the program in Texas.

Adams has completed a voluminous survey to prove his point:

The farmer-vets in training have invested more than $100 million in homes, land, stock and equipment; $25,400,000 of it went for 750,062 acres of land; $28 million went for 12, 981 tractors and 72,500 items of other farm equipment; $10,550,000 bought 3,400 homes; $5,663,900 went into 30,978 livestock and poultry buildings; $30 million went for breeding stock.

They employed approved methods of cultivation, fertilizing, crop rotation and soil conservation.

These are some of the results Adam's survey shows:

Eugene W. Mitchell of Lamb county rose from a wage earner in 1942 to owner-operator of a 195-acre farm, producing as much as 102 bales of cotton on 80 acres.

Curtis Lehde of Burleson county started with $1,500, a wife and a model A pickup. He now owns a 191-acre farm with improvements despite setback of his home burning.

C.J. Bridges of Quitman has produced 142 bushels of corn per acre.

James E. Youngblood of Hamilton county increased his farm inventory $10,000 in three years despite the war having left him crippled.

Ralph Roebuck of Ellis county made 20 acres of Madrid clover yield $200 per acre in beef gain and seed.

Billy Blanton of Hewitt admits he entered the program for the subsistence payments but is proud of the year in which he tilled 100 acres of land, put out 5,000 pounds of superphosphate, 21 tons of chicken manure fertilizer and planted 30 acres of winter peas followed by sudan grass that 30 cows couldn't keep trimmed down.

Albert Kissman of Lee county took a shunned farm, fertilized, and in 1949 produced 485 bales of sweet sudan hay from four acres, 1,400 pounds of hubam clover seed from four acres and 115 bales of alfalfa from two acres in two cuttings with a third cutting uncounted.

Walter McDonald, 60-per cent war disabled, bought 112 acres of Houston county woods, began clearing the land, built his modern home himself without previous experience, and is the only farmer in the county with all his cultivated acreage in legumes this winter.

"I've lived on a farm all my life but I have learned things in these classes about keeping up the land and taking care of soil that I never even heard of before," he told Adams.

Scores of other case histories attest to the results of the farm training programs, Adams said, adding:

"What does it all mean? It means that many a returning veteran who started out with his mustering out pay, a wife and a baby, a hound dog and a pair of bed springs has anchored himself to the soil to the point that he can now stay.

"Hundreds of these men have told me they could not have started out without this program."

Leave Stubble On Surface Says Soil Technician

"With the windy season upon us," said Merle Britton, local soil conservationist, "it is extremely important to leave as much crop residue or stubble on the surface as possible."

Farming methods designed to leave a large portion of last summer's crop residue on the soil surface as a mulch, Britton explained, has proven to pay in saving soil from wind erosion while it increases water penetration.

Chisel type plows, the local conservation technicians aver, are a big help in preventing wind erosion. They leave much of the stubble on the surface of the soil and throw up big clods.

"With increasing dryness in Garza county, it is necessary to use every means possible to reduce the effects of wind erosion," Britton said. "This may be done by chiseling, the use of a tandem disc or one-way plow."

Mrs. G. W. Cochran of Lubbock attended the H. W. Edwards funeral here Sunday.
