

NEW FORD-MERCURY DEALERS
Scott, left, and Bill Pool, right, are the new owners of the Ford-Mercury agency and will operate it under the name of Scott-Pool, Inc.

Scott, Pool are new Ford-Mercury dealers

Scott and his brother-in-law, Bill Pool, have purchased the Ford-Mercury dealership here from the late J. W. Scott and will operate their business under the firm name, Scott-Pool, Inc.

Scott, who has operated the dealership here for the last 17 years, plans to move immediately to Lubbock, where he is completing the purchase of the Lincoln-Mercury-Ford dealership.

Pool, who now lives in Big Spring, Texas, resigned this week as manager for General Motors and as a member of the GMAC since his graduation from Hardin-Simmons University almost ten years ago.

Scott and Pool expect to move to Post with their two daughters, Lynn, 7, and Kerri, 5, around Nov. 1.

Pool will be the sales manager and Scott will be the business manager. Scott has previously sold cars for Scott-Pool, Inc., took over operations of the Ford-Mercury agency here from Power Saturday, Sept. 12, conditional to final approval of the agency's sale by the Ford Motor Co. The approval was received from Ford only this week.

"I am pleased to take over this fine auto agency," Scott told The Dispatch Tuesday. "I enjoy the car business and meeting people."

"I regret seeing Tom Power leave Post and wish him all the good luck in his new venture," Scott said he will appreciate it if Tom's customers through the years will continue their patronage of the firm and invites everyone to "come and visit with us."

"I also appreciate the opportunity to serve this community and area through our service department, parts department, and sales department," Scott said.

He announced that after Pool moves to Post and takes over his new duties with the firm, Scott-Pool, Inc., will have an open house for which everyone will be invited.

Scott, who has farmed for many years in the Pleasant Valley community, plans to continue to oversee his farm operations. He moved into Post from Pleasant Valley in 1960 and was elected as a city councilman in 1962. Scott is a deacon in the First Baptist Church, also is its music director, and is serving as a Sunday school teacher as well.

He and his wife, Betty, who is helping teach in the elementary school, made a trip to Japan during the Baptists' New Life Movement in the spring of 1963.

They have two sons, Mike and Teddy.

Scott has lived in this area practically all his life and in Garza County since 1939.

Pool, who was reared in the Union community near Lamesa, is also in the Baptist Church. His wife, Jov, taught in the Post schools for two years while Bill was in the service.

Power's wife, and three daughters, Terri, Patti and Roxanne, moved to Vernon just prior to the start of the fall school term. The Powers are living in Vernon in the Colonial Manor Apartments, apartment 102, at 2700 Sand Road.

Both Tom and Iris have been quite active in community affairs here. Both were born and reared here as were all three of their children.

Tom's father, the late Jim Power, was a pioneer Post merchant, going into business here in 1909.

Power served as campaign chairman of the 1964 Community Chest drive and was scheduled to become president of that organization for the 1965 fund raising. He is an elder in the First Presbyterian Church here, is one of the strongest supporters of the Post Retail Merchants Association, was a Post Rotarian for 14 years and served three different times as a director of the Post Chamber of Commerce.

The Power home at 909 West Main Street has been sold to W. A. Cash of San Angelo, who is now redecorating it and plans to move here in it by Nov. 1.

Power expresses his appreciation to his many customers and friends in an ad on page 10 of today's Dispatch. On the same page, Scott and Pool announce their new firm as Post's Mercury and Ford dealers.

Contract let for homes near dam

North-Galbraith Lumber Co. has let the low bid for construction of four residential homes near the White River Municipal District near the filtration and damsite in Crosby.

The bid was for $67,497. Only three bids higher at $67,500 were received from Idalou. The bids submitted scaled up to $67,500.

Plans call for construction of three 1,120 square foot brick veneer with attachments for water district and a 2,300 square foot steel home for the manager's residence.

Construction will begin immediately and is to be completed, according to contract within 190 work days.

There were no Post bidders on the construction.

Plans were opened at the regular meeting of the White River Municipal Water District directors held in the water office in the filtration plant. Bids were opened by Tom Power and Dr. A. C. Surman, water directors.

Man injured in highway mishap

Nicholson, 17, of Dallas, was injured about 4:45 p. m. Wednesday when his automobile struck a guard post on a pasture about 10 miles west of Justiceburg.

Patrolman Henry Hardaway, who was riding alone, went to the median of the divided highway, hit a guard post and drove down two or three fence posts before coming to a stop in a pasture.

Patrolman said Nicholson told him he was driving. He had started to California, but changed his mind and was driving to Dallas.

Nicholson was treated and released from Garza Memorial Hospital after being taken there by a Mass. ambulance.

Mail Merchants to elect 3 directors

Members of the Mail Merchants Association of Post have been mailed by the association a ballot for the election of three new directors of the credit union.

Members who were nominated by the association recently, are E. I. Wood, Dave Sanford, Marie Neff, Morgan, Nahum Sullivan and Wood Nelson.

Event is Friday

The Southland Public Schools' annual homecoming will be held Friday, Oct. 23, with the annual supper of the ex-students' group scheduled for Friday evening in the school gymnasium.

Friday night's highlight will be the conference football game between the Southland Eagles and Flower Grove Dragons. The kickoff will be at 7:30, with halftime ceremonies by the pep squad to include crowning of the football queen.

Events preceding Friday's homecoming activities will be a bonfire at 7 p. m. Thursday and a pep rally at 3:45 p. m. Friday in the school auditorium.

Russia afraid we're winning, Mahon says

Congressman George Mahon, campaigning for re-election here yesterday morning, said that the overthrow of Nikita Khrushchev is an admission by the Soviet Communist hierarchy that the United States has been winning the Cold War.

The repudiation of Khrushchev poses a "dangerous situation" for this country, Mahon said, because it indicates Russia's rulers want to reverse the Cold War trend.

Speaking at a coffee held in his and Mrs. Mahon's honor in the Community Room, Mahon was interrupted twice during a brief talk by efforts of President Lyndon Johnson to reach him by phone from Akron, Ohio.

"WE'RE ALWAYS selling ourselves short," Mahon declared in commenting upon Khrushchev's overthrow, but this indicates the Russians think "we're winning the Cold War."

The chairman of the powerful House Appropriations Committee said that the former Soviet premier was "humiliated at home" when he "turned tail and took his missiles out of Cuba". Khrushchev also said he would "drive us out of Berlin but failed," Mahon added.

As for Red China's detonating a nuclear device, Mahon declared in all probability it "will be 10 years or more before it has the military capability of striking at us—or Russia."

The veteran congressman said that through the wonders of photography "we know what has been going on in China" and "were able to announce a few days in advance that Red China was preparing to detonate their first nuclear device and thus take some wind out of their propaganda sails."

MAHON SAID in his talk that he doesn't "always vote with the President." The congressman commented that the President should do what he thinks is best and "I should vote for what I think is best." He pointed out he opposed medicare and some of the President's other proposals.

"I wouldn't want a President so powerful he would have a rubber stamp congress, nor would I want a congress so powerful that the President would have no leadership," the congressman declared.

Mahon said he receives 25,000 letters a year from his constituents in his 29-county West Texas congressional district, and that he received 8,500 replies when he mailed out 50,000 questionnaires over the district explaining his views on various issues and asking the voters for their positions on the same issues.

The congressman termed the deluge of replies as "very helpful to (See Mahon speaks, Page 8)

Books on oil are presented library

Seven books on the oil industry were presented to the high school library Friday by oil men of Garza County on the occasion of Oil Progress Week now under way.

The presentation was made by David N. Newby, chairman of the county's Oil Industry Information Committee.

The books were accepted by Mrs. Lillie McRee, librarian, and T. C. Clark, high school principal.

Newby said the books were purchased for the school library with money left over from the fund raised by the oil men for their 1959 Oil Centennial Week observance here.

The books presented to the library cover the general subjects of reservoirs, engineering, refining, and drilling.

Included among the books is a two-volume set, "The American Petroleum Industry: 1859-1959." The two books cover every phase of the oil industry from the time oil was discovered in 1859 until the industry's 100th anniversary in 1959.

Other titles include "This Fascinating Oil Business," "Elements of Petroleum Recovery," "Rotary Drilling Handbook," "Oil Property Evaluations," "American Petroleum Refining," and "Elements of Petroleum Reservoirs."

Both Mrs. McRee and Mr. Clark said the seven books will be a valuable addition to the high school library, and asked Mrs. Newby to express the school's thanks to the county's oil men for the donation.

Series of thefts here probed by city police

Any industry which produces $17 million dollars worth of products in Garza County annually is bound to be mighty important in the local scheme of things. That's why we're honoring Garza's Oil Industry this week with The Dispatch's annual Oil Progress Week Edition.

Sure things have "quieted down" in the oil business—it's hard hit by foreign imports and a tightening cost-price squeeze. But for those who think oil still isn't a big factor in Garza's economy, we invite them to read the lead story on Page 9 of this Oil Progress Edition. It's the one under the heading, "Current survey shows oil adds $17 million a year in Garza County."

Some 5,700,000 barrels of oil were produced in Garza County during 1963—worth $17,000,000 on the crude oil market. Royalty payments to landowners created a "crop" worth almost $2,100,000 that year. Oil and gas operators invested $3,000,000 in drilling operations in the county last year in the search for new fields and in the development of zones in which production has been found. A total of 62 wells were drilled in the county last year. (See Postings, Page 8)

One vandalism case

Series of thefts here probed by city police

A series of thefts have occupied much of the time of the city police department during the last few days, Police Chief Leldon P. Miller said Wednesday.

Reported stolen over the weekend from the Jim Hundley Jr. home at 514 West 10th St. was a table model radio belonging to Hundley's daughter, Karen, and an alligator overnight bag containing men's clothing and other items.

The radio was reported missing Sunday and the overnight bag and its contents the following day after a further check had been made by Hundley.

Listed as missing in addition to the overnight bag were a Leica camera, men's shirt, pair of men's shoes, a chrome pen and pencil set, six pairs of men's shorts and six or seven packages of cigarettes.

Saturday afternoon, Leon F. Clary reported the theft of an intake manifold, carburetor, generator and voltage regulator from the Ince Oil Co. service station at 604 North Broadway. Clary is manager of the station.

Mrs. Robert Anthony of Crane reported the theft of her billfold from her handbag Friday night while she was watching the Post-Crane football game here.

Mrs. Anthony reported to the police that she had the handbag at her feet and looked down to find it open and her billfold gone from it. She reported the billfold contained ten $2 bills and one $20 bill, a small amount of change, credit cards, driver's license, and other cards.

A Roaring Springs man reported to police Monday night that a car coat valued at $35 was stolen from his automobile while it was parked under a light at a local tavern.

The police also investigated one case of vandalism. Arthur Vasquez of 118 North Ave. G. reported Sunday morning that someone had removed all the wires from his car's coil to the spark plugs, had removed an oil can, let the air out of two tires and tore loose the automobile's two-way radio.

Chief Miller said police still are without leads on the theft of clothing valued at $121.50 from the automobile of Jack Rudiant of Lubbock while it was parked at the courthouse here. The theft occurred Oct. 13.

Rudiant reported as missing a brown woolen suit, necktie, white dress shirt, sport shirt and a pair of brown slacks.

Fred Long is new Humble operator

Fred Long has purchased the Lovell Humble Service Station business at 201 North Broadway from Derl Lovell and has renamed the station, Long's ENCO Service.

Lovell, who has operated the Humble station for the last five years, has sold his new home here and plans to move to Snyder with his family around Nov. 1.

Long has been employed at the Humble station by Lovell since February. He has worked in and operated service stations here in Post for the last ten years. For two years, he operated the Triangle Service Station.

The station went under its new ownership last Friday morning.

Long said station hours will remain the same, opening at 6 a. m. and closing at 9 p. m., seven days a week.

Funeral rites held for Ike Trimble's mother

Funeral services for Mrs. Jean Underwood, mother of former Post resident Ike Trimble, were to be held at 2 p. m. today at the First Presbyterian Church in Seminole.

Mrs. Underwood died Tuesday afternoon at Coon Memorial Hospital in Dalhart, where her son is high school vocational agriculture teacher.

Mrs. Underwood was known in Post, having visited here with her son while he was vocational ag teacher at the local high school.

Headquarters for Goldwater here

Garza County Republicans will open a Goldwater for President Headquarters Saturday at 224 East Main in the old Garza Theatre building.

Don Marth, Garza GOP chairman, told The Dispatch the headquarters will remain open daily until the election.

"The public is invited to come in, have a cup of coffee and browse around," Marth said. "We will be glad to supply you with answers to any questions you might have. If we don't have the information we will do our best to get it."

Garza Republicans met Tuesday night in the Community Room to plan the opening of headquarters and other campaign matters.

Another such meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, Oct. 27, in the Reddy Room.

Marth extended an invitation to all interested in helping in the campaign to elect Barry Goldwater on Nov. 3 to attend—including Democrats for Goldwater.

1,062 chest x-rays is new mark for TB unit

A record total of 1,062 students and adults had free chest x-rays made here Tuesday during the nine hour and 15 minute visit of the Lubbock TB mobile laboratory, which was sponsored by the John Miller Post 6794 of the VFW.

The previous one-day record for x-rays by the laboratory was 671.

The Rev. Ed Graham, chaplain of the VFW post, said yesterday that a heavy rush of students—771 in all, 10 years or older—kept the mobile laboratory in the school area for almost six hours.

The laboratory was not moved to the First National Bank parking lot for adults until 3:20 p. m. in the afternoon, almost two hours behind schedule.

The unit began operations at 8:30 a. m. and finished at 5:45 p. m.

It was the first visit of the mobile x-ray unit to Post in a number of years. Backers here would like to see it brought here annually.

The VFW post made up the difference between the donations and the minimum operating fee and mileage allowance required to bring the mobile laboratory to Post, as donations fell below the guarantee for the unit's services.

Volunteer workers who assisted the technician Tuesday in the operation of the x-ray project were Howard Teaff, Billy I. Lester, Harold Lucas, Walter Wells, the Rev. Graham, Mrs. Billy R. Case, Jack Boren and Max Chaffin. All are members of the VFW or VFW auxiliary.

Both the persons having chest x-rays taken and their physicians will be notified in the near future by postcard as to the results of their x-rays.

VFW Post Commander Chaffin expressed the thanks of his organization yesterday to the Post schools and Supt. Barry B. Thompson for close cooperation with the project in getting students to the unit, for the First National Bank in making available its parking lot and facilities, and to Radio Station KPDS and The Post Dispatch for publicity given the mobile laboratory's visit.

Wilke's is collecting used clothing and toys

R. G. (Wilkie) Wilkerson of Wilke's Supplies said today he is collecting used clothing for immediate distribution to needy school children and used toys for distribution at Christmas.

Wilkerson asks that anyone with used clothing or toys to donate leave them at his store, 212 East Main.

The clothing will be distributed to needy school children through school administrators, Wilkerson said.

Priddy rites are held Wednesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Naomi Estelle Priddy, 53, of 415 North Ave. L, who died Monday afternoon in Ray's Hospitality Home in Lubbock, were conducted at 3 p. m. Wednesday at the Calvary Baptist Church.

Mrs. Priddy, who had been a resident of Post for 30 years, had been ill for about a year. She had been in the hospitality home at Lubbock for the last four months.

She was born March 17, 1911, at Emory, Tex.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Margie Hoover of Lubbock; three sons, L. E. Ryland of Lovington, N. M., Gene Ryland of Dallas and Mickey Priddy, who is stationed in Hawaii with the U. S. Army; a brother, J. D. Windham of Post; and five grandchildren.

The Rev. Clayton Pennington, Calvary Baptist pastor, officiated at the funeral services. Interment was in Terrace Cemetery under the direction of Hudman Funeral Home.

Smith will head Frisco schools

R. T. Smith, a former superintendent of schools here, has accepted a position as superintendent at Frisco, Tex., which is in Collin County, near Dallas.

Smith, who has been teaching at Richardson, will take over his new duties at Frisco on Oct. 26, according to information received here.

He came to Post from Shallockwater in 1958 and headed the local schools until 1963 when he resigned to devote his time to the marketing of the "Teacher's Pet," a grading device he had invented. The Smiths moved from Post to San Angelo at the close of the 1962-63 school year.

Frisco, with a 1960 population of 1,210, is presently a Class A school, but will be advanced to Class AA classification soon, it was learned here.

Walter Clark is new policeman

Walter Clark of 609 West 8th St., a native of Garza County and a longtime resident of Post, assumed his new duties last night as a member of the Post police force.

Police Chief Leldon P. Miller announced Clark's employment, subject to approval by the city council.

The new member of the police department was employed for a number of years at Collier Chevrolet-Olds Co. here. He and Mrs. Clark have one son, Dwayne, who is in the naval Air Force, stationed at China Bay, Calif.

Clark's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Clark, were pioneer residents of this vicinity, having moved here before Garza County was organized. His father served a number of years as a night watchman here.

Blantons attend LBJ ranch outing

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blanton returned Sunday night from attending the big Sunday afternoon barbecue at President Johnson's picturesque ranch near Stonewall.

Although President Johnson cancelled his trip to Texas to prepare a television talk to the nation, some 1,000 workers in the Johnson-for-President drive from all over Texas heard the First Lady, Governor John Connally, Senator McClellan of Arkansas, and Dan Blocker, the big Texan who is "Hog Cartwright" in television, make talks.

All in attendance were taken on a tour of the LBJ ranch home by Lady Bird.

All six members of the Garza County Johnson-Humphrey for President Committee received invitations to the barbecue, but only the Blantons were able to attend.

General election

Absentee voting continuing here

Fourteen absentee ballots had been received by mail and five cast in person at County Clerk Carl Cederholm's office up to 3 p. m. Wednesday for the general election Nov. 3.

Applications have been received at the clerk's office for seven additional ballots.

Any person who will be out of town on election day or who is ill may request an absentee ballot.

Voters who are outside the county of their registration may write and ask that an application be sent. The official application must be returned, by mail, with the required information and the proper fee for registration slip. The federal registration slip will not allow voters to cast ballots in state elections.

Absentee votes may be cast in person at the county clerk's office during regular office hours which are from 9 a. m. until 12 a. m. and 1 p. m. until 5 p. m. Mondays through Fridays.

Persons unable to go to the clerk's office because of sickness or other handicaps may write the office and have an application sent to them. The patient must have a physician's signature on his application for an absentee ballot.

Ballots cast by those unable to go to the clerk's office must be filled out in the presence of a notary public and the carrier envelope notarized.

Sheriff will be out of hospital tomorrow

Sheriff L. E. Claborn Jr., is scheduled to be discharged Friday from West Texas Hospital in Lubbock where he has been for the last eight days after having what was described as "a heart flareup" while visiting a friend in the hospital.

He will have to "take it easy" at home for a few days before returning to work.

Bus leaves at 5:45

The Antelope Booster Club's chartered bus to Morton will depart from the First National Bank parking lot at 5:45 p. m. Friday. All boosters planning to ride the bus are requested to be at the parking lot on time. The kickoff time for the Post-Morton game is 7:30.

Big comeback predicted for oil

The oil business in this area was described here the other day by several oil men as quiet—in fact, "just about as quiet as we've ever seen it."

But David Newby, oil information chairman for the industry in Garza County, is not one of those who thinks it is going to stay that way.

Newby is predicting that the oil business is going to bounce back in the next five years for the simple reason that the world's growing demands for more and more oil will require it.

There is no denying—this Oil Progress Week—that the oil business in this area has really dropped off, although the economics of oil is still a vital segment of Post's and Garza's economies, as a feature story elsewhere in this issue will attest.

Probably the biggest business development since the end of World War II has been the European Common Market. Today it is sparking a new surge of industry growth and higher standards of living throughout Western Europe.

It's got a lot to do with Garza County's oil business—just as it has a lot to do with Post's major manufacturing plant, the Postex Mills, as we were told a couple of years ago by a Burlington official at our annual Chamber of Commerce banquet.

Not only is the economic boom in Western Europe going to mean thousands of more automobiles—and thus greatly increased gasoline demands—but the industrial surge itself is going to require vast new amounts of energy—and right now it looks as if oil is about to start replacing European coal as Western Europe's favorite industrial fuel.

In the October issue of World Petroleum it is reported that fully 85 per cent of the large coal reserves in Europe have been rendered uncommercial by the changes in the industry since 1938. More coal was produced in Europe in 1938 than in 1960 and in these intervening years seams have narrowed, mines deepened, quality declined, yet the price has advanced more than oil.

Increased gasoline demands in Japan, projected just for the next decade, are almost fantastic. Even India's rising demand for oil would surprise you.

American oil production, plagued for the last decade by cheaper to produce and bring in oil imports, is sure to be stimulated when present imports start moving elsewhere—to Europe, Japan, India, and to developing nations all around the world whose energy demands are increasing far faster than those of this nation.

To meet the world demand for oil in the next 20 years is going to take a tremendous amount of international investment.

Newby contends, and The Dispatch heartily agrees, that oil will be coming back "big" in Texas in the next decade. Garza County still has plenty of undrilled oil which simply isn't feasible to produce with today's production restrictions.

It's quiet now all right—but oil is going to come back. Just wait and see.—JC

Debt to past—obligation to future

The Post Independent School District, along with other local school districts in this area, stands to lose money unless Texas voters approve Constitutional Amendment No. 1 at the General Election polls Nov. 3.

Approval of Amendment No. 1 on Nov. 3 would preserve the Permanent School Fund as a "perpetual" fund for posterity.

The constitution now permits the taking of one per cent of the Permanent Fund each year to help pay current school costs. Adoption of Amendment No. 1 would eliminate that authority and keep the Fund intact.

Texasans generally know very little about the Permanent School Fund, which is a non-tax source of revenue for public school expenditures. It is a fund that has grown rapidly in recent years, but is in danger of depletion unless Constitutional Amendment No. 1 is approved. This proposal would protect the Fund by eliminating the present authority to transfer one per cent out of the Fund annually for current school expenses.

Created in 1854, the Permanent School Fund is an investment trust fund and a landed endowment for public school children. Through sale and development of the land, the trust fund has accumulated through more than a century. The Fund is invested by the State Board of Education and only the income distributed to local schools.

In the last 50 years, the Permanent Fund has earned more than $272 million in interest from its investment. By contrast, $130 million of that total—almost half—was earned by the Fund during the last ten years. It is estimated that investments of the Fund will earn another $240 million during the next ten years—almost double the amount for the last decade—if the Fund is kept intact.

These earnings benefit local school districts directly. Permanent Fund income goes into the Available School Fund, where it is mixed with various tax funds. The Available School Fund is distributed each year to local schools on a per capita basis.

Whenever we deplete the Permanent School Fund, we dilute the educational resources for tomorrow's school children. Also, taking money out of the Fund decreases its earning power and requires that much more in tax money. The Dispatch urges that you vote "For" Constitutional Amendment No. 1 on Tuesday, Nov. 3.—CD

Value of the right to vote

With the General Election coming up very shortly now, folks in Garza County—along with all the others throughout the land—are swamped with poll results, expert opinion of various analysts, and confident pronouncements of the candidates themselves regarding the outcome of the election on Nov. 3.

But one nagging doubt creeps into every poll and every opinion; this is how many people actually have made up their mind how they will vote and how many people are actually qualified to cast a ballot. Also, how many of the qualified voters will even show up to cast a vote.

In Garza County we have voted upwards of 70 per cent of our potential a number of times, but there have been other times when less than 50 per cent of the potential voters went to the polls.

Getting people registered and able to vote, and then getting them to the polls to cast a ballot is the biggest job facing political parties.

The Democrats, shown way out in front in all the polls, are now afraid that their people will be over-confident and fail to vote while the Goldwater Republicans will work like mad to get their people to the polls.

If we are to preserve this country as a democracy, we had better figure some way to impress upon people of both parties the value of their right to vote.—CD

THE ANSWER is "No" to those who ask if the Chamber of Commerce is getting under way too early with its Christmas parade plans. It's getting so you can't get under way much too early, and Santa Claus is already making pre-Christmas public appearances. He was on one of the floats Sunday at the halftime activities at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas.

Congratulations to the Jaycees for deciding to sponsor a Christmas home decoration contest. That'll be a big help toward a livelier Christmas season here.

THE MAN UP the Street says in a way it would be a shame to abolish the draft. He says those greetings are about the only friendly words a man ever gets from his government.

If a suggestion by the Society of American Florists is carried out, the flower will rise to a new significance early in November, when it becomes a badge of honor, a mark of the fulfillment of civic duty. In short, the new, 1964 mission of the posy in a man's button-hole or pinned to a woman's coat or dress is to announce to all the world on Nov. 3, "I voted today!"

ARRANGEMENTS ARE said to be feverishly under way between florist associations and non-partisan Get-Out-the-Vote committees over the nation to provide free flowers to early morning voters at or near polling places. The plan also calls for employers joining in the effort to insure a record vote to give a flower to each employee on Election Day Eve—as a reminder to vote and for wearing Nov. 3 as evidence they voted and are proud of it. It sounds like a good plan, but it will be sometime later, of course, before we will know how many of those proud flower-wearers voted right!

How thoughtful of the Japanese to have the Olympics in October when we need something to take our minds off politics.

THE U. S. NEWS & World Report says that for no more money than the moon program is expected to cost, the country could do any one of these things:

Give every family in the United States more than $400.

Provide a transit system costing 100 million dollars for every city above 100,000 in population.

Build an anti-missile defense to protect every city in the country.

Pay off all the federal debt contracted in the last 2½ years.

Build 20,000 miles of superhighways across the country.

Retire the mortgage debt on every U. S. farm.

Make up the revenue loss, for nearly two years, from another cut in federal taxes equivalent to that voted in 1964.

Suspend all federal excise taxes for nearly 1½ years.

Pay the entire cost of military hardware procurement for 1½ years.

A Sunday School teacher asked her class to tell the story of creation. Commented one little girl, "First, God created Adam. Then He looked at him and said, 'I think I could do better if I tried again.' So He created Eve."

THOSE OF YOU who have been in Post longer than I have will remember Burnis Lawrence, one-time editor of The Dispatch. Well, he is still in the newspaper business and recently accepted a position as editor of the Weslaco News. ### WHEN BURNING LEAVES

The Texas Safety Association advises homeowners to use extreme caution when burning leaves. Do not set fires close to a house or other buildings. Make sure you burn leaves in an incinerator which will not let sparks fly through the air. But, before you do any burning, see if your city allows it. May do not. But, often they do have special trucks available for hauling such trash away.

Prof. Begeman directs UT's part in an international research program on projection welding being conducted at UT and in England, France, Belgium and Germany. The program is sponsored by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Texas oil and gas provide 27 per cent of fuel energy produced in U. S.

Texas produced 18 per cent world oil in 1963; 13 per cent in 1960; 22 per cent in 1960.

The value of Texas crude natural gas and gas liquids was $4.1 billion.

A Moment With God

OUR DAILY NEED OF FORGIVENESS
Read Matthew 18:15-35

When ye pray, say, Forgive us our sins; for we forgive everyone that is indebted to us. Luke 11:4.

This petition for the forgiveness of our sins immediately follows the petition for daily bread. Thus Jesus teaches us we need forgiveness of sins as regularly as our daily bread.

Luther explains it beautifully: "We pray in this petition for our Father in heaven would not look upon our sins, nor on the account deny our prayer. For we are worthy of none of the things for which we pray, neither have we deserved them, that He would grant them all to us by grace; for we daily do much and indeed deserve nothing but punishment."

Thank God that for the sake of Jesus' suffering, death and resurrection God "will abundantly pardon" and remember our sins no more. Though our sins abound, grace does much more abound. (Rom. 5:20).

In gratitude for our daily forgiveness we promise, and expect it of us, to forgive our neighbor's sins against us. Compared with enormous sins against God, our fellowman's sins against us are small and trifling. Therefore if we refuse to forgive, we forfeit God's forgiveness. See Jesus: "If ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses" (Matt. 6:15). This forgiveness must come "from your hearts." So we add with Luther: "We will also heartily forgive and readily do good to those who sin against us."

Gracious Father, help us daily to forgive others from hearts as Thou daily forgivest us for Jesus' sake. Amen.

Secondary recovery is boon to oil industry

Many Texas communities in producing areas, extending the life of oil fields through secondary recovery techniques means a more economical, better tax base and more jobs.

Waterflooding is one of the most widely-used methods employed in secondary recovery operations. Gas repressuring is also used in many Texas fields.

UTILIZING MAINLY these two methods, some 148 secondary recovery projects were started in phase of Texas oil and gas conservation, the Association said that secondary recovery methods alone accounted for about 885,000 barrels of oil production a day in 1963, based on Interstate Oil Compact Commission figures.

Waterflooding is one of the most widely-used methods employed in secondary recovery operations. Gas repressuring is also used in many Texas fields.

UTILIZING MAINLY these two methods, some 148 secondary recovery projects were started in Texas prior to 1953. The pace quickened in the years to follow until by 1962 a total of 1,436 projects had been recorded in Texas.

Although giant strides have been made in secondary recovery techniques since the early Thirties, the industry continues an expensive research program aimed at capturing more oil from existing fields.

To date, some 250 billion barrels of oil have been discovered in the U. S. and 73 billion barrels have been produced. Some 31 billion barrels can still be recovered by using natural reservoir pressures and secondary recovery techniques now in use, according to American Petroleum Institute estimates. An additional 160 billion barrels might be captured, if new secondary recovery methods are developed to supplement existing and improved procedures, it is estimated.

What are the "secondary" methods used to capture oil that otherwise might be lost forever?

When oil men speak of oil pools and oil sands, they do not mean "pools" and "sands" in the ordinary sense of the words. Oil does not accumulate in vast underground streams or lakes; it collects in the tiny pores and spaces in buried rocks (frequently sandstones) much the way a sponge holds spilled milk.

TO RECOVER this collected oil, a hole is driven into the mantle of the earth, often thousands of feet. When the drill bit penetrates one of the oil sands or zones, the oil moves into the well bore.

However, oil does not flow readily of its own accord. Something must push it. In their natural state, most oil pools are supplied by nature with one or more of four primary drives: gas dissolved in the oil under pressure; a gas cap exerting pressure on the oil below it; water pressure, capable of moving through the rock and pushing the oil ahead of it to the well; or the weight of the oil itself in steeply tilted formations.

As some of the pressure is released by the well drilled into the formation, some of the oil is produced. This is called primary production.

It is much the same process as getting shaving cream or whipped cream from a container by simply pressing the button. Compressed gas forces the cream from the can.

Of course, as the cream in the can or the oil in the ground is produced, the source of energy is depleted rapidly and the production declines. In the case of oil, about 70 to 90 per cent of it generally will be left behind unless some method of supplying a "secondary" source of energy is applied.

IN SECONDARY recovery, the oil man has duplicated nature's methods for producing oil and has actually improved on them. Through technology man is reducing nature's reluctance to yield her treasures; waste of natural resources is being greatly reduced. Secondary recovery frequently can produce more than twice as much oil as might have been recovered by primary methods alone. In some instances up to 80 per cent of the oil originally in place in a reservoir has been recovered.

Repressuring with water and gas are man-made copies of natural conditions. Since gas or water pressure originally drove the oil to the surface, this pressure is artificially restored. Injection wells are drilled some distance from the producing well, and through them millions of barrels of water or large amounts of gas are forced down into the oil-bearing formation. This results in more pressure and the oil starts flowing again.

Perhaps the best known of all secondary recovery methods is the waterflood. By this technique, the injected water displaces the oil and forces it into the bore of the producing well.

Waterflooding is used in 90 per cent of the secondary recovery projects and is expected to predominate for years to come. It has many advantages: it has been widely used; with sufficient data engineers can accurately predict the additional recovery; water is cheaper than any other substance that can be used; and water does a good job of reaching remote places in the oil reservoir.

However, water is immiscible (will not mix) with oil, so does not do a good job of washing out all the oil it does reach. Nonetheless, it does better than any other immiscible fluid ordinarily used.

ANOTHER COMMON technique is gas injection. Here, gas is injected

Red Cross blood donors in Texas total 18,189

A total of 18,189 units of blood was collected from volunteer donors in Texas by the American Red Cross during the fiscal year ending June 30, according to Dr. Robert M. Joyer, medical director for the Red Cross Midwestern Area Blood Program in St. Louis, Mo.

Most of the blood was obtained during bloodmobile visits in the 23 Texas counties and communities participating in the blood program. Regional blood centers serving Texas are located in Waco and Wichita Falls.

In addition to the community and private hospitals served by the Red Cross Blood Program, the blood needs of eight federal institutions located in Texas are partly met through the Red Cross. These include the veterans hospitals in Kerrville, Marlin, McKinney, Temple, and Waco; Fort Hood; James Connally Air Force Base; and Sheppard Air Force Base.

Texas production taxes on oil raised $122 million in 1963; on gas, $64 million.

they contact, they tend to contact less of the rock than do water-floods.

Other miscible-type floods use such fluids as propane or butane, and may follow a procedure by which a slug or batch of the liquefied petroleum gas is injected ahead of the driving gas.

Now being tried at several locations is the "fire in the hole." By this method, a mixture of injected air and oil in the formation is ignited downhole and sustained by air pumped from the surface. The resulting heat creates pressure, partially "refines" the crude, and makes it flow more readily to producing wells.

The techniques of secondary recovery have been rapidly improved since the 1930's and, according to many oil people, cannot be over-emphasized.

New geology building

Plans and specifications for a new Geology Building have been approved by The University of Texas Board of Regents. The five-story structure is to be erected on the east side of the campus at a cost of $2,250,000. The building will have almost twice as much floor space as the present Geology Building. It will have a 300-seat auditorium, graduate research laboratories, undergraduate classrooms and laboratories, and will house offices of the Geology Department and Bureau of Economic Geology.

Where would YOU search for Oil?

The search for oil is one of the world's riskiest businesses. Even with the most modern scientific equipment and know-how, the odds against finding oil are enormous.

But like thousands of other oilmen, we accept these risks. You see, uncovering new sources of oil is our responsibility in America's oil industry—an industry that brings you continuous progress through constant competition for your business. We like our job, because everytime we do find new oil, it means more gasoline for your car, more power for farm and ranch, and more of the hundreds of oil products that make living more comfortable every day.

Here's our pledge that, no matter what the odds, we will continue our search—for you and the nation.

Madrid is program topic at Amity Study Club meeting

Dressed in Spanish attire, Mrs. Lorene Scarbrough and Mrs. Wayne Richardson greeted members of the Amity Study Club in the Scarbrough home which was decorated in Spanish style, Oct. 13, for the second program on "Cities of the World."

Roll call was answered with informative facts about Madrid, Spain, the program topic.

Mrs. Pat N. Walker opened the meeting with meditation, and the club accepted with regret the resignation of Mrs. Doug Cunningham who is moving to Quanah.

Mrs. Preston Poole traced the history of Madrid to the 5th century in presenting the program on that city. Highlights of her talk were as follows: "Madrid, one of the largest cities in Europe, which is located in the geographical center of the peninsula, has broad tree-lined boulevards which meet in the center of the city at a plaza called the 'Gate of the Sun'."

Mrs. Poole commented that Madrid is 2,400 feet above sea level, has shiny new buildings, beautiful shops and well-dressed people. There are several large factories making pottery and jewelry and processing leather and tobacco. The Flea Market as well as sidewalk cafes still exist although American soft drinks are very popular.

"Bullfights are still the favorite sport although soccer is becoming more popular among the lower income families", commented Mrs. Poole.

Mrs. Poole also told of the economy, culture, politics, food, courtship and temperature of the city before concluding the program. Spanish music was played while the hostesses served Spanish food to the following:

Mmes. Ronald Babb, Malcolm Bull, Jack Burrell, Bill Carlisle, Wayne Carpenter, Noal Clements, Cunningham, Marion Duncan, Bud Davis, Thurman Francis, Tom Greenwood, C. H. Hartell, V. L. Peel, George Miller, Poole, Don Tatum, Walker and Dean Sterling.

I remember how exciting it was when I was a child and a carnival came to town. The whole town took on a certain air and everybody went to the carnival night after night.

They were big and noisy and dirty with gypsies telling fortunes, tough-looking men with tattoos and crooked games of chance. They are a far cry from the clean, well-lighted and shiny rides of the shows today.

Everyone locked their doors and windows tightly when they left to go to the carnival because "things" seemed to disappear during this time and that added to the excitement.

As close as our children come to seeing a carnival as it used to be, is at fairs and there a little excitement still lingers. Winning stuffed animals is the big thing now instead of playing some wild game of chance which the carnival man always managed to win.

Like any child I remember wishing I could ride all the rides as often as I wanted and then one night I found out this spoiled all the fun.

One of my brothers and I went to a big carnival one night with our father and it turned out that the man who owned the carnival was an old friend of his and they had not seen each other in years. Naturally, they had much to discuss and to keep us out of the way we were put on rides and usually forgotten. At first this was gay fun but after one has been in a tilt-a-whirl or on a merry-go-round for half a dozen rides the novelty is gone. All that is left is the chance to brag to friends.

I remember growing up a little bit that night—disillusion and disappointment can help with that.

Even though I would ride the ferris wheel, I was always scared to death from the moment I got on until I got off. High places terrified me even then but I wouldn't admit to anyone that I was a "chicken", and so suffered through the ferris wheel bit.

I well remember the first time I took the two Miss C's to a carnival by myself. They were at an age when the kiddie rides were almost a bore, but the "bie" rides were a bit beyond them. We stopped to watch the crowd on the ferris wheel and before I knew it they had decided that I should take them on this.

Well, what can a mother do? She can't stand there and tell two young children she's chicken, so we rode the ferris wheel. First, however, I explained to the man in charge that this was the girls' first ride, so if I waved after the first go-round, stop, and let us off.

Of course the girls loved it and I was too terrified to pry my hands off the bar to wave at anyone. We received an extra long "first" ride with many stops on top where I gritted my teeth and wished I could die.

Now I'm content to wander along the midway, watch all the people, toss a few coins away on some game or other, and eat cotton candy, which only at a carnival tastes like cotton candy should.

JAYCEE-ETTE OFFICERS INSTALLED

Justiceburg couple celebrate Golden Wedding anniversary

Mrs. Elton Nance of Justiceburg celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary Sunday at Community Room when they were honored with a reception between 3 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Hosts for the occasion were their daughters, Bonnie Ruth, (Mrs. Robert E. Stewart) of Columbus, Ohio, Mina Rose (Mrs. Monty Stanforth) of Plainview and their son, Lewis Elton (Sonny) of Haslet.

Mr. Nance and Lillian Elkins were married Oct. 18, 1914, at the home of G. K. (Uncle Kin) and Mrs. Elkins at Polar in Kent County. With the exception of a few years they have lived in their present home since their marriage. All these children were born in the home. Mr. Nance is one of the children of Mrs. L. A. Pirtle, who settled at the home site in July 1905.

The three-tiered cake was topped with a bride and groom and a model of a 1914 Model-T Ford touring car. The centerpiece was an arrangement of yellow rosebuds and gold candles. Silver appointments were used. Bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums enhanced the entertaining room.

Approximately 200 guests called during the afternoon.

Members of the house party, all relatives of the family, were:

Mrs. Berton Moore, Dermott, Mrs. Carol Moore, Snyder, Mrs. Mark Elkins, Grants, N. M., Miss Lois Nance, Amarillo, Mrs. Bill Evans, Plainview, Mrs. Glenn Crawford, Canyon, and Mrs. Morris Neff and Mrs. Ed Neff.

It's A New Season Now — As District 4AA Play Begins Post Antelopes

VS.

Morton Indians

Friday Night, Oct. 23

At Morton

Post Fans Take Note —

With Beginning of District Play, Kickoff Time at Morton Will Be

7:30 P.M.

The Post Antelopes will open a new season Friday night away out west when they launch district play against a good Morton club.

Six losses into the 1964 autumn grid slate without a victory, the locals gave some good indications here last Friday night against a really rugged Crane eleven that they may be a team which at last is finding itself in adversity.

Those six defeats count for nothing from now on. Everybody is all even at the start of district play.

It very probably would have been a wholly different season if Quarterback Butch Cross hadn't been hurt and sidelined in the third quarter of the first game. But Butch is back now and in Teddy Scott the Antelopes have a second quarterback. Down the district stretch all the adversity caused by Cross's injury could have helped the Antelopes to jell more offensively with a few extra weapons.

If the Antelopes upset Morton—and they certainly can if they believe in themselves hard enough—it is very possible Post will again be playing Denver City for the district crown in the season's finale.

 resulting in 51 new producers and 11 dry holes. The oil industry's payroll in the county for the 12 months period was $838,000 with 170 employes in oil and gas operations. On Garza produced oil in 1963, some $757,000 in production taxes were paid the state plus half or more of school district and county taxes and a sizable portion of even city taxes.

These figures are still quite impressive. The industry is still big and important. And what we like about these oil folks is that they continue to want and support such oil editors to tell the industry's story to the homefolks. Just look through this big 20 page edition. Read the stories and the ads. We think you'll end up being pretty impressed with our oil industry.

The West Texas area probably has no one more powerful man than Congressman George Mahon, who as chairman of the House Appropriations Committee is one of the five most important men today in the United States Congress. George and his wife, Helen, paid Post a visit yesterday on his reelection campaign through his 20-county congressional district. He has visited Post often and knows dozens of Post folks by their first names. He is doing the 19th congressional district an excellent job in the nation's capital and deserves another two-year term by a thumping majority come Nov. 3. With the seniority principal in American politics, the longer a district can keep a good congressman in Washington, the more able he becomes in helping to solve the problems of both his district and the nation. To us, George Mahon is a West Texas "institution." It goes almost without saying that The Dispatch wholeheartedly endorses his candidacy and urges his reelection.

Post is losing a mighty fine family with the moving of the Tom Powers to Vernon where Tom is negotiating for the purchase of the Lincoln - Ford - Mercury dealership there. Both Tom and Iris Power have entered fully into Post's community life on many fronts and through the years contributed much to making Post a better place in which to live. They will be missed locally—and not only by their many friends here.

The Dispatch at the same time welcomes to our Main Street business community Wesley Scott and Bill Pool who have purchased Tom's Ford-Mercury dealership.

ASKS HOW CONSERVATIVES CAN BACK JOHNSON

Dear Editor:
 It has come to my attention that many Garza County voters are supporting George Bush. The Post Dispatch editorial supporting Bush said, "Bush is an articulate conservative who is running a strong campaign. He stands for what we believe a majority of Texans stand for and for what voters in this area support."

How then can people who are conservative in philosophy back President Lyndon B. Johnson? He has called for a landslide vote—the term used in the Sunday, Oct. 18 Avalanche-Journal is "mandate." He wants a "mandate" vote. In reference to political science, "mandate" means instruction given by the voters to the elected legislative body or one of its members. Johnson wants a "mandate" vote on Medicare, anti-poverty, etc., measures which are definitely not conservative.

With a "mandate" vote behind him he can use his political experience or "the raw use of political power" to push these measures through congress. All the while he can remind less liberal members of our elective bodies that the people expressed themselves on Nov. 3.

Mrs. Harold B. Teal

Former market manager dies

Raymond T. (Ty) Scott, 38, a former market manager at United Super Market here, died at 2 a. m. Tuesday in the Veterans Hospital in Big Spring, where he had been hospitalized about three weeks.

Mr. Scott was market manager at the store here for about a year after it opened and was later transferred to a United Store in Lubbock.

He is survived by his wife, Ethel; two daughters, Mrs. Peggy Ann Foster of Midland and Mrs. Sandra Gayle Benton of Lubbock, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 4 p. m. Wednesday in Henderson Funeral Home Chapel at Vernon, with burial in Wilbarger Memorial Park cemetery.

Rev. Ramsey to report Sunday on convention

The Rev. Bernard S. Ramsey, pastor of the First Christian church, will begin a new series of messages entitled, "The Apostolic Profile" in the church's morning worship service at 11 a. m. Sunday.

He termed them "intimate character studies of the Apostles and have a great deal to say to modern man."

The first message is entitled, "From Gravel to Boulder." At the 7 p. m. Sunday evening worship, the Rev. Ramsey will bring a report of the International Convention of Disciples of Christ (Christian Churches) which he attended in Detroit earlier this month. The report, entitled, "God... Reconciling the World", will be illustrated with color slides made at the convention.

The public is cordially invited to all services.

One out of every four gallons of U. S. major oil products is made in Texas refineries.

Texas' 54 refineries processed 877 million barrels of crude oil in 1963, an amount equal to 90 per cent of state crude production.

Texas uses about half the gas it produces.

Mahon speaks—

Mahon termed Herbert Hoover, the former Republican President who died Tuesday at the age of 90, as "a nice guy." He closed his brief talk by quoting from Republican Hoover's last birthday message that despite the forces against this country throughout the world, he (Hoover) knew "this nation will come through."

ASKED BY The Dispatch about any upcoming congressional district problems, Mahon declared next year would be "a very important one" legislative-wise because both the current cotton and grain sorghum programs are only two year programs and will expire next year.

He said the next congress must decide whether to extend them, change them, or drop them.

The congressman pointed out he had been successful in getting a million dollar federal appropriation to help in the current High Plains fight against the boll weevil and that he also had secured last year a $147,000 federal appropriation to extend agriculture weather service into a number of counties around Lubbock, including Garza County.

While Mahon was trying to answer the phone call from President Johnson, the congressman's wife, Helen, who always campaigns at his side, told The Dispatch that the Mahons are campaigning into all 20 counties of the district this year.

"We are reaching so many people through a series of campaign coffees, such as this," Mrs. Mahon said, "and everybody has been so nice to us."

The Mahons have been back in Lubbock for about ten days and lost no time on their return in hitting the campaign trail.

The Mahons are visiting only two or three towns each day and are making no night commitments, Mrs. Mahon pointed out. "We get to bed early and get a good night's sleep," she added.

The Mahons went from Post to Slaton for a coffee arranged for them there yesterday afternoon.

Junior Girl Scout Troop 84 celebrated its second birthday and added to its membership at its meeting Oct. 14. Badges were discussed and patrols named.

Safe driving appeal is made by police chief

Police Chief Leldon P. Miller today urged adult drivers to set better examples for their children, particular in the school zones.

"If our driving practices and habits are correct, then there is that much more chance of our children becoming careful and courteous drivers," the police chief said.

He especially urged drivers not to pull to the wrong side of the street to let their children out of the car when driving them to school. "We should correct such a practice for our own benefit, as well as for the benefit of our children," he said.

He also asked parents not to double park when they drive up to the school to pick up their children, since this creates a hazard for through traffic on the streets.

The police chief also reminds drivers that stop signs are put up for their safety and protection as well as for that of the pedestrian.

"Let us be more observant in our driving practices, thereby setting an example for each other as well as for the drivers of tomorrow," Chief Miller appealed.

Lunchroom Menu

Lunchroom menus served next week in the Post schools cafeteria will be:

Monday: Salisbury Steak with brown gravy, buttered rice, sweet peas, carrot strips, bread, milk.

Tuesday: Pinto beans with salt tomato wedges, jello with mixed fruit, cornbread, milk.

Wednesday: Baked turkey with rice dressing, green pea salad, cranberry sauce, bread, peach half, milk.

Thursday: Home made chili, crackers, crisp celery sticks, cheese cubes, bread and butter sandwich, cherry cobbler, milk.

Friday: Tuna salad on lettuce leaf, creamed potatoes, beet pickle, banana pudding, wheat yeast rolls, butter, milk.

Rotarians hear about Girl Scouts

Mrs. Katharine Trammell, neighborhood chairman of the Girl Scouts for Post, told Post Rotarians at their Tuesday luncheon in City Hall with "proper adult leadership we can reach all the girls of this community, but without such leadership we can't."

She said an active Girl Scout program would do much in helping to raise the moral standards of this community.

Mrs. Trammell gave considerable information on the Girl Scouting program, its origin, its aims, and its present size, in her talk. She urged businessmen to give wholehearted support to the program.

Oil adds $17 million in Garza County

Oil adds $17 million to the annual production of Garza County, according to a survey shows. The Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association says in its current survey that production in Garza County last year was valued at $17 million; the natural gas production was valued at $47,000.

Garza County ranks 67th in the total value of oil and gas production in Texas.

Oil and gas operators invested an estimated $3 million in Garza County last year in the search for new fields and in the development of zones where production has been found. The Oil and Gas Journal reports that 62 wells were drilled in the county in 1963, resulting in 51 oil wells and 11 dry holes.

Drilling operations included 10 wildcat wells in which operators hunted oil in new territory or at new depths. About $510,000 of the drilling expenditures was lost to dry holes, the Association estimated.

PETROLEUM INDUSTRY payrolls contribute about $838,000 a year to the county, according to Texas Employment Commission records. They show about 170 persons directly employed in oil and gas operations.

The state government's financial interest in Garza County operations is measured by the $787,000 a year which the operators and royalty owners provide the state government in production taxes. These payments are in addition to those paid to local units of government and schools as property taxes.

Texas petroleum industry pays 30 per cent of state franchise tax; 37 per cent of state property tax.

The Texas petroleum industry pays 27 per cent of all the various local property taxes.

DALLAS' BIG 'MAIN PLACE' PROJECT

Located in the center of downtown Dallas, the model above shows the three major buildings which will be constructed in several stages on the ten-acre Main Place site. Estimated to cost $120,000,000, the first stage will be the 34-story, $41,000,000 office building in the center of the picture. Later phases will include the massive second office building on the left, which will straddle Main Street, and on the right, a large department store with a 400-room motel on top. The development is actually one big, ten-acre "super block" tied together with outdoor plazas for pedestrian traffic 15 feet below ground level.

'Hayseed farmer' image bows out in U.S.

NEW YORK — A national magazine of the petroleum industry says it's time to plow under for keeps the tattered image of the "hayseed farmer."

Petroleum Today published by the American Petroleum Institute, reports that a truer image of the new breed of farmer is that of a tough-minded business executive with the brains, brawn and courage needed to run an enterprise which grosses $50,000 a year—the average annual gross income per farm of the nation's 350,000 leading farms.

These leading farmers grew nearly 60 per cent of the nation's farm products although they represent only 15 per cent of all farmers.

The magazine says this group of top farmers "makes likely a highly profitable farm economy in the years ahead and with it a bigger and better food bargain for the American consumer."

The publication says modern, successful farmers are specialists. They, in turn, depend on other specialists to supply them with fuel, feed, seed, chemicals and equipment while other specialists process farm products and market and distribute them.

This vast "agri-business" as it is called, employs four out of every 10 workers in the nation and adds $130 billion a year to the gross national product, the magazine says.

The oil industry plays a prominent role in this agri-business. Farmers use more petroleum products than any other segment of the economy, not only for fuel for tractors and trucks but also as the raw materials for such farm essentials as fertilizers and weedkillers.

West Texas oil output ranks high in nation

Sprawling West Texas, big in acres and oil production, has an annual oil output that surpasses the production of all but two of the nation's oil states.

According to Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn., West Texas (Railroad Commission District 8) produced 389,619,000 barrels of oil in 1962, ranking directly behind Louisiana, the nation's No. 2 oil state.

The Association estimated the value of this production at $1.1 billion dollars.

Telephone company is planning addition to its office building

SAN ANGELO — Plans and specifications for a 90,000 square foot addition to the General Office of General Telephone Company of the Southwest have been released this morning by Architects Lovett and Sellers of San Angelo to invited bidders, according to Joe H. Collins, director of public relations for General Telephone.

The addition, which will extend to the east of the present 59,000 square foot building, will be composed of a full basement and two floors.

Bids will be opened at 10 a.m. Nov. 5 at a meeting of the contractors making bids.

Construction is expected to begin about Nov. 15 and plans are to occupy the addition early in 1966.

B. M. Dyson, building engineer, is coordinating the expansion program for the company. Plans for the expansion were announced July 29 by President E. H. Danner.

West Texas farmers, ranchers and other royalty owners in 1962 received more than $159.3 million dollars as their share of the output. The state treasury collected some $61.3 million in crude oil and natural gas production taxes, which are based on wellhead value.

TO MANY West Texas communities, oil and gas operations account for a substantial portion of financial support for local government. In Garza County, for example, local taxes paid by the oil and gas industry account for 70.6 per cent of the taxes levied by the Close City Independent School District; 55.9 per cent in the Post Independent School District; and 41.1 per cent in the Southland School District.

Based on 1962 figures, there are some 31,276 industry exploration and production employees living in West Texas. Total payroll amounts to $204.5 million per year, averaging more than $6,541 for each employee.

Oddly, West Texas was the last of the major areas of Texas to discover oil or gas. First discovery was the Westbrook field, Mitchell County, in 1921, followed in 1923 by the big strikes — Big Lake, Reagan County; Hendricks, Winkler County; and Yates, Pecos County, in 1926.

These discoveries began the economic boom in West Texas which (See Oil Output, Page 12)

One-fourth of gasoline tax is used for public education; balance for roads. Capital expenditures by the Texas chemical industry totaled $719 million (23 per cent of U. S. total) in 1961, the major part of which represented expenditures in the petrochemical field.

Texas gasoline taxes in 1963: $206 million.

Will we STRIKE OIL

or STRIKE OUT?

That's the question an oil company—like ours—asks itself every time it drills into the earth. Yes, drilling for oil is a risky business.

Exploring and producing is the part we play in America's progressive oil industry. Like thousands of other independent companies—large and small—we compete to supply you with the oil products you need.

America's future growth—in both population and prosperity—will be so great that today all producing and exploration companies are hard at work searching for new supplies of oil. You and your family will need more oil than ever in the future and we're determined that you'll get all you need . . . when you need it.

EXPLOSION PUFFED FOODS
Dehydrated foods, once a military necessity and now a convenience boon to housewives everywhere, may soon appear on the table with a new even better "fresh-cooked" flavor due to a new dehydration process called "explosion puffing."

Explosion puffing makes it practical to dehydrate whole pieces of fruits and vegetables so that they require only 5 or 6 minutes of a housewife's time to cook. Their counterparts, those dehydrated conventionally, take 20 minutes to an hour to cook.

Engineer R. K. Eskew and James Cording Jr., developers of the process have made numerous pilot-plant samples which include apple slices for pies which can also be eaten as a snack without cooking or can be mixed with dry cereals. The "explosion puffed" foods also include blue berries that can be packaged in plastic bags with muffin or pancake mix to give better flavor.

The new puffing process creates air spaces within the vegetables and fruits permitting water to be removed readily during drying and to be replaced rapidly during cooking. The improved dehydrated foods have the same advantages of their "forefathers" being less expensive to ship and store and of course saving the housewife time otherwise spent in peeling, coring and slicing.

But when the explosion-puffed, dehydrated fruit and vegetable pieces are cooked, it is difficult to distinguish them from fresh-cooked foods. The researchers say that explosion puffing does not entail a great increase in cost and does not affect nutritional value any more than conventional dehydration.

Another new church! The newspaper article says the population in Bill's suburban neighborhood is growing so fast that even more churches will soon be needed. Bill thinks this is just great.

Bill's right. When people work together for their church . . . when people pray together for guidance . . . it can't help but lead to a greater spirit of tolerance, fellowship and cooperation in the whole community.

"A community is a better place when there are plenty of churches," he says. "It's good for the children and the young people . . . it's good for everybody! We all need some sort of anchor for our lives, and the Church is the best one I know of."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Texas still tops in U.S. oil production

the nation's top energy state, supplied America more than one-third of its oil during the first century of production.

Colonel Drake's historic first discovery well in Pennsylvania, Aug. 27, 1859, to the Spindletop gusher at Beaumont in 1901, U.S. production totaled a little more than one billion barrels.

Texas alone has averaged nearly one billion barrels a year since 1950.

In degree, this justifies the viewpoint that Spindletop practically the birthplace of oil in America, due to the volume of production it ushered in.

According to Texas Midland Oil & Gas Association, however, it was from Pennsylvania that the oil search spread to Texas.

Bringing storied pioneers into partnership of Guffey and which had a hand in developing early production of Corsicana financing the bold project of Captain Anthony F. Lucas.

Among the milestones of the oil history are such famous fields as Ranger, Big East Texas, and others.

Three decades that followed the 20th Century were as colorful in the history of oil development. Pioneer prospectors relied heavily on luck and found major oil and gas fields which still are important to the state's production totals.

The first 30 years began and with a "boom." The period of 25 oil fields in the uncompleted-million-barrel-or-over bracket. The 1930's, however, saw the beginning of progress solving some of oil's problems, a more business approach to oil hunting, and more important discoveries as a standpoint of volume. Since 1941 fields in the 100-million-barrel-plus category have been discovered.

Centuries before the cry of oil fell on the ears of Texans, oil was used by humans. Inhabited in oil springs found in Southeast Texas, using various substances as a balm for aches and ailments.

40 survivors of the DeSoto expedition, battered by stormy weather, talked their boats with an ancient substance found near Saragosa—the first recorded use of white men on the North American continent.

THE WHITE man began to use Texas, he copied the Indian method of using oil from surface for medicinal purposes. In fact, he became oil traders, of whereabouts of oil in exchange for money.

Realization that oil had commercial possibilities led to the drilling of Texas' first producing oil well in 1866 by Confederate veteran T. Barrett. The well was located in the "oil springs" region of Nacogdoches County, an area which later was to be the back to a trickle due to loss of underground gas pressure.

The swirling crowds that churned through dusty roads one week and quagmires the next rode the oil flow. When production slumped the crowds left, leaving Ranger with defunct businesses and cancelled credit ratings. Gas venting dropped Desdemona's annual production rate to 2.7 million barrels by 1920 when only the year before it was producing 7.3 million.

In four years Breckenridge production fell from a voluminous 31 million barrels a year to less than 6 million barrels.

THE RUSH TO East Central Texas began in 1921 after the significance of discoveries at Mexia was recognized. Oil from the "Golden Lane" poured forth at the rate of 176,000 barrels a day at its peak. A year later the output dropped to 60,000 barrels a day.

The discovery well of the giant Panhandle gas field came in during December 1918, and the tremendous volumes of gas soon became more than the existing market could absorb, despite development of some of the first long-distance pipelines. Cheap gas made the Panhandle the carbon black center of the world, with the first plant beginning operations in 1927.

The Texas legislature, courts, and the Railroad Commission labored over disputes among Panhandle producers, pipeline and carbon companies, and royalty owners. By 1937 conservation laws and regulations began to have effect in preventing gas waste.

Oil in the Panhandle was discovered in 1921 on the 6666 Ranch of Captain S. B. Burnett in Carson County. In 1926 the boom reached Pampa and the present city of Borger following prolific discoveries in those regions.

IN 1929 THE sprawling Permian Basin of West Texas gave up its first commercial oil with successful completion of a well in Mitchell County. West Texas' first "bonanza" field came in three years later, however, with the discovery of the Big Lake field, Reagan County. This field was located on arid lands owned by the University of Texas and marked the beginning of the multimillion dollar oil endowment for the University and Texas A&M.

By 1926 wildcatting had brought in two more famous West Texas discoveries, the Hendricks field, Winkler County, and the Yates field, Pecos County. These fields were the early springboards to the economic change which took place in this region of coyotes, rattlesnakes, thirsty animals and pioneer cowmen.

In 1930 the discovery of the biggest of them all—the East Texas field—changed East Texas from an area of timber cutting and farming to a meeting place of "boomers" from everywhere. Discovery well for the field was C. M. (Dad) Joiner's No. 3 Daisy Bradford, Rush County.

site of the first commercial field, first pipeline, first steel storage, and the first attempt at refining Texas oil.

Some oil was found in Texas following Barrett's early find, mostly in Bexar County. No important development came until the 1896 discovery at Corsicana. When a refinery began operations there in 1898, Corsicana was producing about a half-million barrels annually. Corsicana now is the oldest commercial field west of the Mississippi.

Patillo Higgins' stubborn persistence that knowledge of geology held the key to oil deposits in the salt dome regions of the Gulf Coast eventually led to the drilling of the Spindletop discovery well. Drilled by a mining engineer, Captain Anthony F. Lucas, the well roared in January 10, 1901, and with it came the start of the oil industry as a major commercial enterprise and Texas' first boom town, Beaumont.

SPINDLETOP spurred a search in other areas of the Gulf Coast and by 1905 oil was being produced commercially in Sour Lake, Baton, West Columbia, Saratoga, Matagorda, Humble, and Dayton fields.

In North Texas oil was discovered at Petrolia, Clay County, in 1904, but the area's huge volumes of gas overshadowed oil development.

Several ranchers in North Texas had observed the presence of oil while drilling water wells. In 1911 a substantial field was found at Electra and major production was discovered at Burkburnett five years later.

Water well drilling also was responsible for the first oil shows in Southwest Texas. In 1886 oil was found at shallow depth on the Dulling Ranch near San Antonio and additional drilling found more oil and considerable gas.

Federal government statistical summaries first carried Texas' role as an oil and gas producing state in 1889, showing production of 48 barrels of oil with gas valued at $1,728, all based on Dulling Ranch output.

OIL HAD ITS first real impact on Southwest Texas in 1915 when a major strike was made at Thrall, Williamson County. The pace quickened in the 1920's with development at Mirando City and Luling. By 1924 gas fields of the area served Houston and later discoveries of both oil and gas made Southwest Texas one of the most active regions in Texas.

Ranger, Breckenridge, and Desdemona were the three outstanding strikes in early West Central Texas oil development. All three brought the boom element—Ranger in 1917; Breckenridge and Desdemona in 1918.

The frenzied speculation that accompanied these discoveries paralleled activity at Spindletop. Flush production practices of an immature industry caused wells to drop later gained momentum by discovery of such major fields as Church and Fields, Gulf McElroy, Keystone, and later by Pegasus and Scurry Ree. West Texas production now comes from 61,000 oil and nearly 900 gas wells, based on latest available figures.

THE BIG LAKE discovery opened the door to a vast accumulation of wealth by the University of Texas and Texas A&M. It marked the beginning of lease rental, bonus and royalty payments to the Permanent University Fund, which have amounted to more than $447 million.

Like other areas of Texas, drilling has dropped off in West Texas in recent years. Last year, operators spent $188.1 million in drilling 2,451 wells, including 428 wildcat wells. Dry holes costs of 498 unsuccessful ventures amounted to more than $38 million.

Operators also spent more than $11.5 million in 1962 on geophysical prospecting in West Texas. Number of crew weeks amounted to 1,588.

The number of natural gasoline plants in West Texas has grown in recent years. There are currently 67 of these units, which strip valuable gas liquids from natural gas. These plants have a combined capacity of 3.2 billion cu. ft. per day.

The area has five cycling plants with a combined capacity of 259 million cu. ft. per day.

The first natural gasoline plant built in West Texas was at Big Lake in 1924. The field was also the site of the first carbon black plant in this section of Texas. Currently there are three carbon black plants in West Texas with a combined daily throughput of natural gas of 151 million cu. ft.

The first refinery in West Texas was built in El Paso in 1919, prior to the first oil discovery. However, the El Paso plant processed Burkburnett oil. There are now three refineries in Railroad Commission District 8, having a combined capacity of 63,600 barrels of crude oil per day.

Texas has 67,077 miles of oil pipelines—35,177 miles of trunk lines, and 31,900 miles of gathering lines.

Petroleum accounts for nearly three-fourths tonnage handled in Texas ports.

In Our Time
 IMPROVED GASOLINE QUALITY AND BETTER AUTOMOBILE ENGINES GIVE TODAY'S MOTORISTS MORE MILEAGE FOR THEIR MONEY...

OIL RESEARCH HAS DEVELOPED GASOLINES MUCH MORE POWERFUL THAN THOSE OF A FEW YEARS AGO. IN TODAY'S MORE EFFICIENT ENGINES, THESE FUELS PROVIDE BETTER PERFORMANCE WITH GREATER MARGINS OF SAFETY.

OIL CREDIT CARDS

American motorists currently hold about 55 million oil company credit cards, according to the magazine Petroleum Today.

Texas oil and gas dollars paid for 32.5 per cent of state cost of public education; 56.7 per cent of state cost of teacher retirement, old-age assistance, blind assistance and aid to dependent children (1963).

Texas Permanent School Fund in 1963 received $29,039,150 from petroleum industry for lease rentals, bonuses, royalty payments; total since 1932, $446,957,071.

Ford Times magazine for November devoted to one state—Texas

DALLAS — Gov. John Connally gave formal recognition today to the November issue of Ford Times magazine, which for the first time in its 57-year history, is devoted entirely to one state—Texas.

At a reception at the City Club in Dallas, the governor presented a scroll bearing a joint resolution signed by him and by members of State Highway Commission to Clarence H. Dykeman, Ford Motor Co. publications manager and editor-in-chief of the magazine, and accepted from Mr. Dykeman the original water color used on the cover of the "Special Texas Vacation Issue."

The resolution noted that the November issue is devoted entirely to "the scenic, recreational and historic attractions of the state of Texas," adding that the magazine "additionally published a large Texas recreational map depicting the state's many points of special interest."

Texas tops—

East Texas was called the last and biggest of the old time "booms." Output from its thousands of wells had a marked effect on the world petroleum market. East Texas crude flooded the market; oil dropped to 10 cents a barrel.

LIKE THE Panhandle, conflicts in East Texas took much time of the courts, regulatory and legislative bodies in the 1930's. But from the chaos Texas built a stable conservation program designed to prevent waste of an irreplaceable energy supply.

New technological improvements and conservation methods had closed the book on the hectic, rip-roaring gusher era by the time World War II exploded. Texas oil fields, vital to the nation's military and productive machinery, played an important part in the history of that war. About 80 per cent of the increase in domestic oil production during the war years came from Texas. The postwar years have seen new records in drilling, new methods to increase recovery of the older fields, but with the exception of the Canyon Reef fields of Scurry County, Pegasus, and a few others, most of the newer fields have been relatively small compared to many of the discoveries in the prewar years.

Oil industry plays big role in 'agri-business'

NEW YORK — The oil industry plays a big role in the nation's $30 billion a year "agri-business," the growing, processing and marketing of farm products.

The magazine Petroleum Today notes that farmers use more oil products than any other segment of the nation's economy. In addition to fueling tractors and trucks, oil also provides the raw materials for such farm essentials as fertilizers and weedkillers.

University of Texas Permanent Fund received $17,089,428 in petroleum lease rentals, bonuses and royalty in 1963; total since 1924, $389,153,494.

ON A ROUTINE DAY the credit department of one oil company processes 75,000 checks, mails 65,000 statements, issues 30,000 credit cards, handles 100,000 dress changes and writes 100,000 letters.

A letter to our Congressman from JOE B. PHILLIPS

The Hon. George Mahon
 Congressman, 19th District
 1211 New House Office Building
 Washington 25, D.C.

Dear Mr. Congressman:

This letter is concerned with issues which are vital to our particular section of the country. I have some very definite convictions about certain matters, and I would welcome the opportunity of discussing these issues face to face if your schedule could be arranged to do so.

In my opinion the economic growth of West Texas has been retarded by the foreign investments of our federal government. Through the Oil Compact, Texas has been forced to absorb a great percentage of foreign oil, while our own wells have been allowed to produce on the maximum of only 10 days a month. In my opinion, this is not fair to our area.

I believe that the cattlemen in our district have a just complaint over the importation of foreign beef, and that the farmers of our area have been denied support and encouragement to raise sugar beets and other crops because of foreign imports.

I am concerned that our district has lagged behind in the development of Interstate Highways, and in industrial development until this political year.

Very truly yours,

JOE PHILLIPS

For Making Our Home-Owned Oil Service Business Possible

The P&W Acid Company was organized here in Post in 1949 and has worked as a service company with the many independent oil producing firms over the last 15 years as the oil business has grown in Garza County and the surrounding area into one of the most important industries in our economy.

It is only fitting this Oil Progress Week that we salute the independent oil production companies which have drilled and found our oil and given the economy of this area a sound and solid base.

Antelopes to Morton Friday for first district game

Antelopes, who have been unable to come up with a win in non-conference games, will see if they can better in conference play when they clash with the Indians at Morton in AAA contest.

Game, which will highlight High School's homecoming, at 7:30, as will the other games remaining on the Antelope schedule.

Antelopes have won six and lost one game this season, including a conference win over the Indians last Friday night.

The only loss was to Olton, their season opener. They defeated Muleshoe, 6-0; Cross, 14-0; Portland, N. M., 6-0; and Abernathy, 35-14.

HAROLD TEAL said the Antelopes are going to play much better than they did Friday night against Crane.

Antelopes are bit and expect to see the type of game they can afford to let the Post coach said.

Antelopes will not throw much, but will be a versatile running attack, mixing wide sweeps and smashes.

Antelope quarterback Charles H. Smith is expected to be hampered by injuries.

Antelope's best ball carrier is Delton, a 185-pound senior. He gets a lot of help from Sherrill Griffith, a 160-pound senior who dealt the Post team misery in its 7-6 win over last year.

Antelope's backfield will be led by St. Clair, 185-pound sophomore, and Kenny, 185-pound junior, at the halfback post.

Antelope starters in the line are: Eddie Hollaway, fullback; and Ernest Cheever, center. Ends: Irwin, 154-pound senior, and Donnie, 221-pound senior, tackle. Irwin, 147-pound junior, and Donnie, 154-pound senior, guard. Irwin, 147-pound junior, and Donnie, 154-pound senior, center.

Antelope's main Friday game will be the two-game to play catch-up ball, when they have to get the Indians to beat them.

Visitors live up to advance notices

Crane runs by Post 41-14, Friday night

The Crane Golden Cranes preserved their perfect record here last Friday night by surviving a shaky second quarter and storming back in the second half to defeat the Post Antelopes, 41 to 14.

After the flashy Cranes had scored 14 points in the first four and a half minutes of play, Coach Harold Teal's Antelopes batted down the hatches and held the visitors scoreless for the rest of the first half, scoring a touchdown of their own in the second quarter and trailing by only 14-8 at the intermission.

Crane added 20 points in the third quarter and seven in the fourth, however, to sew up the victory and demonstrate why they are ranked well up among the top ten Class AA teams in Texas.

THE VICTORS rolled up an impressive 426 net yards gained, 299 of it on the ground, in rolling to their seventh consecutive victory. The Antelopes, in absorbing their sixth setback without a win, managed 79 yards rushing and 88 passing for a total of 167 yards.

Post is the first team this season to score more than one touchdown against Crane.

Halfback Gerald Penny, who netted 196 yards on 17 tries for a 11.5 average, opened Crane's touchdown parade in the first two minutes of play when he swung around right end for 43 yards. The touchdown came on the sixth play from scrimmage after Billy Mitchell's short kickoff was returned 11 yards to the Crane 36.

The Antelopes gained only four yards in three tries after Donnie Windham returned Crane's kickoff to his 40, and Butch Cross punted out of bounds on the visitors' 11.

HALFBACK FLOYD Smith gained five yards around right end, and then Penny's number came up again, this time for 85 yards and a touchdown. Kirk Looney booted the extra point — he'd also kicked successfully after the first TD — to put Crane ahead 14-0 with less than five minutes gone on the clock.

ONCE AGAIN, Post was unable to move, and Penny returned Cross' punt six yards to the 26. Jackie Braddock nailed Penny for a two-yard loss, and Brown and Donnie Cornell stopped Van Court for an eight-yard setback as he attempted to pass. A double reverse lost nine more yards for Crane, but a 15-yard personal foul penalty against Post helped them get out of the hole, with the ensuing punt going to Cross on the Antelope 46.

Post boys place second in PP&K

Two Post winners in the Punt, Pass & Kick contest, Kyle Josey and Randy Levens, won second places Saturday in the zone PP&K contest at Lubbock.

Both boys finished close seconds to the winners, according to Wesley Scott, local Ford dealer, who was among those accompanying the six Post winners to the zone contest. Randy competed in the 12-year-old division and Kyle in the 11-year-old division.

Eagle gridders lose to Sands

By BEVERLY STOLLE

A Southland Eagle rally fell short Friday night and they lost to the Sands Mustangs, 18 to 12, at Sands.

The Eagles failed to score in the first half, while the Mustangs were scoring two touchdowns, but failing to add the extra points, for a 12-0 halftime lead.

Southland came back to tie the score, with Duke Altman passing to Don Altman for a 45-yard touchdown play in the third quarter, and Rod Callaway passing to Duke Altman for a 25-yard touchdown play in the fourth.

The Mustangs then scored again for their 18-12 victory.

Halfbacks Benny Owen and Ronald Simpson gained to the Crane 48, and a 15-yard holding penalty gave the Antelopes a first down on the 25. Owen gained four and Simpson two to the 19, from where Scott rounded left end on a keeper, shook off one tackler and went over standing up. Cross passed to Simpson for the extra points, and the Antelopes trailed by only 14-8.

The Antelopes pressed Crane the rest of the first half and mounted a scoring threat following Brown's recovery of Penny's fumble on the Crane 33. Scott failed to gain on a keeper and two passes were batted down, with Cross punting into the end zone on fourth down and 53 seconds showing on the clock.

THE CRANES lost little time in padding their lead in the third period. Smith plowed the line for a touchdown from the three-yard line after halfback Hayne Hamilton had intercepted Scott's pass on the Post 40 and run it back to the 26. Looney's kick for point was no good.

Crane scored again late in the third quarter on a seven-yard run by halfback Darrel Moroneson after Cross' punt had been killed on the Post 43. Looney kicked the point to make it 27-8.

Post's second touchdown came on the first play after Luis Ayala returned the Crane's kickoff seven yards to the Post 27. Scott, back to pass, spotted the 126-pound Ayala in front of the defensive halfback on the Crane 35 and hit him with a perfect peg, which Ayala gathered in without breaking stride and then outran the defender. A nassing try for the extra points failed.

Crane came back to score in three plays after Penny returned the kickoff 31 yards to his 46. The payoff was a 17-yard pass from Van Court to Penny, who raced across for the TD after making the catch on the Post 50. Looney again kicked the extra point.

Crane's final touchdown came with 4:55 left in the game: when Van Court found end Jerry Asberry all by his lonesome on the Post 25 and pegged him a TD pass. The play had been set up by a 15-yard penalty against Post for roughing the kicker on a Crane punt. The touchdown play, which covered 54 yards, was followed by Looney's extra point kick.

Simonson was Post's leading ground gainer with 32 yards net on eight carries. Scott gained 49 yards, but his net was only 28. Owen netted 10 yards on four tries and Cross, six on two carries.

Rain fails to halt golf play

Eighteen golfers braved the rain Sunday afternoon to participate in the Post Country Club's am-am tournament at the Caprock course.

The team of Jim Hundley Sr., Jackie Hays and Sue Shytles won the tournament, finishing with a low-ball score of 61.

In second place was the team of Jess Cornell, Jack Moore, Powell Shytles and Harold Lucas with a score of 63. Placing third with a 64 was the team of Mike Mitchell, Walter B. Holland, Dr. James G. Casey and Betty Hays.

The winning teams were presented merchandise prizes.

Bufs will host Trinity gridders

CANYON — This is "get even" week for the West Texas State Buffaloes. Joe Kerbel's squad, now 2-3 for the season after Saturday's 41-0 belting by Memphis State, can even both its season record and the series record with Trinity University by beating the Tigers this Saturday in Buffalo Bowl.

This will be the fourteenth meeting of the two Texas schools. Trinity holds a 7-6 edge in the series, but West Texas has won all four games played under Joe Kerbel. Trinity's last win came in 1959 when they edged the Bufs 14-8 at San Antonio.

Junior varsity downs Tahoka JV's, 43 to 6

The Post Antelope junior varsity put on its best offensive show of the season here last Thursday night in defeating the Tahoka Bulldog "B" team, 43 to 6.

The gridders of Coaches Charles Black and Elvin Jones scored 13 points in the first quarter, 14 points in the second quarter, 10 points in the third quarter and six points in the final period in overwhelming the Tahoka team.

The third quarter scoring included a 20-yard field goal by fullback Paul Walker, with quarterback Lewis Hise holding.

Post opened the scoring after receiving the opening kickoff when halfback Jimmy Bartlett ran 30 yards for a touchdown. Later in the first quarter, tackle Filemon Vargas blocked a Tahoka punt and covered the loose ball in the end zone. Walker missed both extra point attempts in the first quarter and Post led 12-0 at the end of the period.

Halfback Davis Heaton scored from 20 yards out to open the scoring in the second quarter and Walker booted the extra point. Then it was Bartlett again, up the middle for 20 yards, and Walker's toe converted to give the Antelope reserves a 26-0 halftime bulge.

Walker's third quarter field goal came after he had missed an earlier attempt in the same quarter. Following his three-pointer, the Post fullback scored on a 12-yard run and again converted to make it 36-0.

Tahoka got on the scoreboard in the third period with a touchdown on a reverse, but missed the extra points try.

Heaton scored in the fourth quarter for Post's final touchdown and Walker booted the point after.

The starters on offense for Post were Clyde Cash and Larry Johnson, ends; Vargas and Billy Hahn, tackles; Leslie Davis and Joe Hudman, guards; Jackie Huff, center; Hise, quarterback; Heaton and Bartlett, halfbacks, and Walker, fullback.

Others seeing action for Post included William Jackson, Eddie Clemmons, Danny Pennington, Mike Rolan, Mike Petty, Bobby Dean and Ronnie Petty.

Mike Petty, playing defensive halfback, barely missed scoring when he intercepted a Tahoka pass and returned it 50 yards to the Tahoka three-yard line.

Salute to Garza's Oilmen

Oil in dozens of ways plans an intensely vital role in Garza's economy and in the economy of Post's large trade area.

It provides jobs and payrolls, pays a major portion of all our taxes through the state level, enriches our farmers and ranchers with an added crop of lease money and royalties.

Each year it's a multi-million dollar business in Garza County—one we are all proud of and wish to support and encourage.

To the men and women of our area oil industry—our salute this Oil Progress Week for a job well done.

AUSTIN — A statewide citizens committee has approved a new program of mental health services. Earlier, a steering committee had recommended creation of a single agency — Texas Department of Mental Health — to administer state-financed mental health services, including all mental hospital facilities. Missing pieces in the Texas plan included facilities, financing and administration. Hale County Judge C. L. Abernethy, chairman of the 112-member general planning committee, said efforts will be stepped up between now and next January to inform the public and officials about the recommendations which will be submitted to Gov. John Connally and the 59th Legislature.

Employment is up
AUSTIN — Employment statistics from the Texas Employment Commission show a big increase in August. There were 3,322,300 jobholders in the non-farm category in July, compared with 3,325,600 in August. More significant was a drop in unemployment: 152,500 were looking for work in August, compared to 159,500 in July, and 174,500 in August of 1963.

Genealogists to meet Nov. 27-28

SAN ANTONIO — The Texas State Genealogical Society will hold its annual Texas Genealogical Convention Thanksgiving weekend, Nov. 27 and 28, Friday and Saturday, at San Antonio in the St. Anthony Hotel. Anyone interested in local, church, and family history is invited to attend the series of workshops to be conducted by Mr. and Mrs. George B. Everton Sr., of Logan, Utah, publishers of "The Genealogical Helper," an international family history magazine. In attendance will be local and family historians from the 25 genealogical societies in Texas, all non-profit educational corporations of the State of Texas. Each of the 254 counties in Texas will be represented by local historians. The seven district representatives of the Texas State Genealogical Society will report on all historical and genealogical work being done in Texas and the organizations of new societies to stimulate interest in preserving Texas heritage. Worksheets and sample pedigree charts will be given to the public and instruction in beginning a family history and more advanced research instruction will be offered. Exhibits will be on display from leading genealogical book companies all over the world. Approximately 45,000 Texas work in petrochemical plants, or about 9 per cent of total employed in all Texas manufacturing.

Ordnance detachment receives many calls to detonate war explosives

FORT SAM HOUSTON — The weary men in blue and gray laid down their arms nearly a century ago but Civil War explosives still threaten sudden death today. As recently as two weeks ago a rusty 25-pound cannonball was found near a residence in Victoria, Tex., and, unbeknownst to the finders, it was still extremely lethal.

Capt. James D. Springle, commanding officer of Fourth U. S. Army's 546th Ordnance Detachment at Fort Sam Houston, explains, "Most of the jobs we are called on involve supposedly harmless souvenirs. Normally the items are hand grenades or assorted shells which have been brought back from overseas."

The report from Victoria was similar to many of the 741 calls received by the 546th Ordnance Detachment or one of its subordinate units during the past year. Standing ready to locate, identify and destroy if necessary potentially dangerous items are units at Fort Polk, La.; Fort Sill, Okla.; Pine Bluff Arsenal, Ark.; and Fort Hood, Fort Bliss and Red River Arsenal, all in Texas.

DURING AN extensive safety operations program, the 546th has been working around the clock answering all calls in an attempt to locate dangerous relics and detonate them before they destroy someone. All the units have been working very closely with city, county, and state officials on the program and as a result, more and more ordnance items have been uncovered. This is indicative of the conscientious manner in which these men go about their given task.

The 61st Ordnance Detachment at Fort Sill has been the most active unit on city-to-city calls, according to Captain Springle. During the past fiscal year the 10-man team composed of one officer and nine enlisted men conducted 652 visits, covering nearly every town in their northern sector. Because the Fort Sill program has been such a success, all-out effort is being made at Fourth Army to insure that the five other detachments plan similar schedules.

Last year a four-man contingent from Fourth Army drove to Houston to conduct Dynamite III, a lifesaving drive to find and remove explosives from homes and businesses. During the week-long campaign, the men came up with 1,037 items. Included in the assortment of relics were more than 100 cannonballs; two German and 55 Japanese artillery rounds; 737 pieces of small ammunition and other foreign and United States ordnance projectiles.

WORK NEVER ceases for these technicians, for on a day they are not blowing up a bomb or probing for relics they may be seen in any city or community in Fourth Army teaching a class to the local police department, the fire department, or various civil defense agencies. During October of this year, the Fort Sam specialists plan to teach their class to approximately 50 civil defense workers and some 450 San Antonio firemen. Explosive ordnance classes were presented to 100 organizations last year with 2,124 civilians gaining new knowledge of explosive ordnance items. The eight-hour class features the handling and identification of different explosive material.

"Because these so-called souvenirs make excellent toys for children," the captain explains, "we are expanding our safety program to include as many children as possible." Nearly 7,000 students were afforded the opportunity to listen to explosive ordnance disposal specialists last year. Emphasized in these lectures are the hazards of explosives and how explosives are detonated. Additionally, the children are shown a short movie on blasting caps and what they can do.

JUST RECENTLY, Capt. Springle recalls, a young girl in Oklahoma discovered a smoke grenade on the lawn and because she had acquired the necessary facts, she summoned her father to show it to him. Fortunately for everyone she had had the class. The grenade was picked up by the police and turned

Careful planning and preparation can reduce losses from gin fires

COLLEGE STATION — Careful planning and preparation can reduce losses from gin fires this fall, believes Beverly G. Reeves, cotton ginning and mechanization specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Keep fire extinguishers available in all parts of the gin house, says the specialist. Be sure they are ready for use—properly filled and tagged with a dated refill card.

At least three covered barrels filled with water should be placed in the gin house in strategic points along with several buckets. The buckets, Reeves points out, should be labeled for fire use only so they will be available if they are needed.

He suggests checking water lines to insure they are large enough to furnish adequate pressure. A two-inch line with two-inch riser is preferable.

W. A. Morris home from voyages

How would you like to have a job which keeps you away from home for all but two months every two years?

W. A. Morris has. He's an electrician in the Merchant Marine aboard the S. S. Doctor Lykes.

He returned Friday for two weeks at home, 1019 West 11th, with his wife, Edna.

Since he left Post the last time on Christmas Eve two years ago, Morris has sailed to South Africa, the Far East, and twice into the Caribbean.

While Morris has two months paid vacation coming, he'll be heading for New Orleans in a couple of weeks for a four-week "brush-up course" in his electrical field.

Top 93 fields produce 51.9 per cent of Texas oil.

over to the EOD in time. Another facet of the 546th's diversified safety program includes public explosive ordnance displays. Seven exhibits were set up in community shopping centers and along promenades in the malls last year with 222,000 shoppers stopping to see how EOD operates and what they are doing to protect lives.

Captain Springle points out, "Everyone should make it his or her business to check the home closely in an effort to locate anything that even looks like a shell or bomb. One should contact the local authorities or the nearest EOD unit to make proper disposal of any such article."

Doubled tuitions is recommended

AUSTIN — An increase of $107,000,000 in state expenditures for higher education and doubled tuitions in state colleges and universities is proposed.

The Texas Commission on Higher Education recommends a $457,100,000 budget for upper level institutions during the 1965-67 biennium. The figures include $307,500,000 for 22 state-supported senior colleges and universities.

Tuitions under the Commission's recommendation would be hiked from $50 to $100 a semester. The last increase was in 1957, when the rate was raised from $25. If the Legislature approves this hike, revenues would be boosted $33,000,000—leaving some $74,000,000 more needed from tax funds.

WEEKEND IN TULIA

Mr. and Mrs. Howard McCampbell and daughters spent the weekend in Tulia visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David McCampbell.

Park land acquisition is urged by chairman

AUSTIN — Parks and Wildlife Commission Chairman Will Odom said Texas may lose up to a third of its park land during the next 80 years because leases are expiring.

Odom called for a program of land acquisition to prevent loss of needed acreage when he spoke at the State Conservation Conference.

Earlier, he had lauded the Gulf States Marine Commission for efforts to develop the fishing industry and bring sea resources to the public for general benefit.

Why Pay Twice? You already pay taxes to support a generous federal-state medical program for those over 65 who need it. Why pay again for a plan that isn't needed?

Surprised? Chances are you never heard of the Kerr-Mills Law, passed by Congress in 1960. We call it...Health Opportunity Program for the Elderly.

This program enables individual states, with federal assistance, to guarantee to every elderly person who needs it the health care he or she requires. Thousands of people every day are being helped by its broad benefits.

Yet, the supporters of the proposed Medicare Tax would have you believe that its passage is urgent...that persons over 65 are deprived of needed medical care because they can't pay for it.

So why pay twice? Find out about the health program you're already supporting. For information on health care for the elderly in your area, ask your doctor or contact your local medical society.

AUSTIN — The Texas Railroad Commission has set oil production for November at 28.4 per cent of potential. The figure represents a 1.5 per cent increase over October, which was limited to 2,960,000 barrels under a 27.9 per cent of potential order.

Oil reserves has 47.1 per cent of all oil reserves.

Oil Well? Maybe!

The search for oil is one of the world's riskiest businesses! For every successful oil well drilled in new territory eight prove to be costly dry holes. That's why it's always great news for everybody when an oil producing company like ours brings in a successful oil well.

Yes—good news for everybody! You see, every new oil well means more gasoline for your car, more heating fuel for your home and more of the hundreds of oil products that make today's living so much more comfortable.

In America's competitive and progressive oil industry, everyone has a special job. It's our job to produce ample oil supplies for your future.

WEST TEXAS MUSEUM

'Unscrambling the Universe' topic next five Sundays at Planetarium

LUBBOCK — Persons on the South Plains who are not familiar with the planetarium at the West Texas Museum here are missing an educational opportunity unique to this area.

This remarkable instrument, owned by the Museum since 1953, can re-create at the touch of a control the appearance of the heavens at any given time or from any location on earth.

It is in operation every Sunday in the Theatre of the Skies behind the Museum on the Texas Tech campus. Admission is only 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children, or by membership card. The program starts promptly at 3 p. m. and last about one hour.

This Sunday and for the next four Sundays the topic will be "Unscrambling the Universe," the amazing story of the remarkable order of the Heavens. Special programs for groups may be scheduled on a variety of topics—such as Indian Legends in the Sky, Understanding the Stars and Orion, the Mighty Hunter—at most any time during the week. Interested persons should contact the Museum at PO2-8811, Extension 3201, in Lubbock. Programs may be designed for most age levels. Standard admission extends to groups and a 15 minimum is required.

The Museum, which itself is open Tuesday through Saturday from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. and Sunday from 3 p. m. to 6 p. m., is located on the Texas Tech traffic circle. The Planetarium is directly behind the Museum. Ample parking is available nearby.

From exotic Inca ruins to gorgeous Spanish palaces and churches. From soaring volcanic peaks to the rolling Pacific coast. From mechanized mining towns to bustling ports. From luxuriant rain forest to rugged, high sierra. Peru is a land of a thousand contrasts.

The jagged Andes run the full length of the republic. In the high plateau, the altiplano, Quechua and Aymara Indians live by farming and herding, as their ancestors did in Inca times. At Pachacamac, there are mysterious ruins that are even older than the Inca. And at Machu Picchu, there's the deserted Inca mountaintop city that modern engineers still marvel at.

All of the South American lands where Western Hemisphere history began are visited by Grace Line's new "Santo" cruises. Four of the largest ships ever to serve this route—20,000 ton sisters—carry first class passengers on air-conditioned, luxurious voyages of discovery. # Council discusses parking lot plan

Thirteen Student Council members met at Post High School Thursday night, Oct. 15, at 7:30. Co-presidents Dee Ann Walker and Teddy Scott conducted a business session under the direction of Principal T. C. Clark.

Final plans were discussed on a proposal to regulate traffic in the parking lot west of the gymnasium. Students may register for parking places if they drive a car to school as much as three times each week. This parking place will then be reserved for that person and will be assured of a parking place each day. Students should register in Mr. Clark's office for parking places.

Student Council members also decided to place a bench on the breezeway. If the bench is used by students, additional benches will be secured for the area.

Officers of the Council also proposed to help with an election of registered students who will vote on the Presidential campaign. History class instructors will be in charge of the election. To be eligible to vote, each student must register on Oct. 29 and 30. The election will be held Nov. 2.

Colts and Demons Friday winners

By Larry Bilberry

On Friday, Junior High always has two intramural football games, one in the morning and one in the afternoon.

The first game last Friday morning was between the Colts, coached by Mr. Burnett, and the Packers, coached by Mr. Davis. The Colts, which are out in front of the other teams, beat the Packers, 12 to 0.

The second game in the afternoon, was between Mr. Pollard's Blue Demons and Mr. Williams' Reds, with the Blue Demons slaughtering the Reds, 33 to 0.

I think the intramural football program is good because every boy gets to play during the game.

Jr. High Gossip

James, can't you ever be quiet in study hall?

Bill, what is your secret for growing trees?

Frank, what's this about wanting to switch, then fight?

Could the first period of Math class be all that bad, Mr. Barnes?

How did everybody like their pictures.

Miss Walter, what's this new word—"gracious, goodness"?

Paula and Jimmy are still going together. Great guns!

What's this fight about Goldwater and Johnson? Speak up, somebody.

Could it be that these three girls are mean — Theresa, Donna and Debbie? How about it, Mr. Williams?

Donna, what happened to you and Vicki on the way home?

Mystery Student

By Barbara Lucas

This week's Mystery Student wears her brown hair in a flip, and is in the 7th grade. She is 5 feet, 4 inches tall. Some of her favorites are: Food, shrimp; color, blue; song, "I Like It"; actress, Hayley Mills; actor, Tommy Sands; sport, basketball; hobby, cooking. Her favorite singing groups are The Beatles and the Pacemakers. WHO IS SHE?

Mrs. Ray Smith, former freshman English teacher, taught Mr. N. R. King's 6th period typing class, Monday, Oct. 12.

Friday night, Oct. 9, was spent in Lubbock by Ronald Simpson, Rutch Cross, Buddy Howell and Danny Pierce.

Mr. Ike Trimble, the former vocational agriculture teacher, and his family visited in Post the weekend of Oct. 10-11 with the Mack Terrys.

Lynn Edwards was seen driving her little yellow car down South Broadway on a tire rim. Is this a new fad or something?

Speaking of fads, the latest fad for girls is to iron their hair. This keeps it from having any curls or waves. It seems a lot of us must be doing quite a bit of ironing.

The week of Oct. 19-23 is Help Children in Appalachia Week. Students are to bring school-age clothes that are clean and in good repair. The clothes collected will be shipped from here to a recipient school in that area.

Freshmen will take Differential Attitude Tests Oct. 22. Good luck.

Charlie Brown has three "stars" on his helmet for recovering fumbles.

Marilyn Jones and Pat Landreth attended Homecoming at Canyon Oct. 17-18. They went to the football game, barbecue and dance.

Tonight, Oct. 23, is Faculty Fun Night. Faculty members and guests will attend. They will be reliving their old school days. What if they get behind in their school-work?!

Class pictures came in and everyone can now see how they really look. How popular is plastic surgery going to become?

In a survey taken by the Speech III class, none of the Speech III students can walk correctly. They are exhausting themselves learning to relax properly.

Father (looking over his son's report card): "One thing is in your favor. With these grades you couldn't possibly be cheating."

DEFINITIONS:
Life Insurance: A plan that keeps you poor all of your life so you can die rich.
Mechanical Taxpayer: The dream and hope of every politician.

Overheard in the hallway at PHS: "My boy friend and I love to go to dances except he doesn't like the way I lead." Wonder which girls this is!

An after-name dance was held at the Youth Center after the Post-Crane game. Students danced to records. Coach and Mrs. Harold Teal served as chaperones.

MILK FOR CHILDREN

Young children receive milk at one of the school feeding programs conducted by Church World Service in Latin America. Some CROP contributions pay for the distribution of government-donated foods such as dry milk, which CWS exports to needy people.

Trick-or-Treat drive for CROP is Oct. 31

Teen-agers of the Post community will meet in the First Methodist Church basement at 6 p. m. Saturday, Oct. 31, from where they will set out on their annual Halloween trick-or-treat drive for CROP (Christian Rural Overseas Program).

All teen-agers interested in participating in the drive are invited to be at the church at the above time.

The youths taking part in the drive will be identified by CROP tags and everyone is asked to make sure the solicitor is wearing one of these tags if he or she represents himself as taking contributions for CROP.

Gifts made in the CROP Halloween drive here will help build lives throughout the world. More than thirty countries will benefit from the program.

Qualified church representatives supervise the distribution and use of all contributions made to CROP. Assistance is given without question of race, creed, or politics.

Teen-agers participating in the campaign here will be served refreshments after the drive.

6th grade band learns marches

By La Rue May

The 6th grade band is learning some new marches for this year. They will go to contest in the spring and they might play some of the marches. The name of a few are "Junior High Jamboree," "Junior Varsity" and "Heads Up."

There are about 33 members in the band—two drums, three trombones, three saxophones, three flutes, eight cornets, and 15 clarinets.

The clarinets are Pebby Bevers, Judy Norman, Syan Thomas, Ritalynn Butler, Becky Brewer, Sherry Bird, Belinda Blacklock, Quay Williams, Vickie Williams, Karen Sneed, Martha Rosas, Sue Strofer, Sue Eubank, Debbie Cooper and La Rue May.

Junior High Honor Roll includes 64

Sixty-four students made the first six-weeks honor roll, at Post Junior High School, ten of them with all-A grades, the other with A-B grades.

The all-A students are as follows:

Sixth Grade — Eddy Jennings, Chip Polk.
Seventh Grade — Kay Herron, Karon Windham, Sharon Windham, Nina Young, Barbara Lucas.
Eighth Grade — Barbara Lofton, Patti Hogan, Karen Hundley.

Students making the honor roll with A-B grades are as follows:

Sixth Grade — Peggy Bevers, Rhonda Case, Stephanie Davis, Karen Potts, Syan Ann Thomas, Alice Cruse, La Rue May, Judy Norman, Karen Sneed, Marion Cruse, Carol Davies, Debra Mason, Larry Moreman, Marsha Rosas, Sue Strofer, Linda Blythe, Lily Parnell, Karen Stanley, Arthur Torres, Cynthia White, Victor Ayala, Louise Perez.
Seventh Grade — Timmons Bull,

Two teachers are featured in interview

This week ends the PHS featured teacher column. Instead of one teacher, we have two. Mr. Elvin Jones and Mr. Dale Schmidt are not new to the Post schools, but new to PHS. They both taught in Junior High last year.

Coach Jones comes from Stratford, Okla. He attended Stratford High School. With a major in math and minor in Physical Education, he was graduated from East Central State College in Ada, Okla. When asked about PHS he said, "I enjoy working with students in this location. The boys and girls in this area seem to be especially versatile, possibly because of the many vocational programs from which they come". Coach Jones, as he is referred to, teaches Algebra I and coaches Junior Varsity.

Mr. Dale Schmidt is the Distributive Education teacher. He also teaches in Junior High. Mr. Schmidt grew up in Corn, Okla., where he attended Corn High School. Attending both Panhandle A&M and Southwestern State, he majored in Industrial Arts and minored in Math. He said of PHS, "I think the students are very polite and appreciative. They also are willing to take advantage of opportunities to learn and better themselves."

Christmas party planned by club

Tuesday, Oct. 14, the Language Club met at its regular meeting. Business was discussion concerning dues, cake sales, and a Christmas party. There are 28 members who have paid dues in the club.

A cake sale for Saturday, Oct. 17, was organized. Girls were chosen to make and sell the cakes. The money will be used for club pins.

Tentative plans were made for a Christmas party. The main details will be arranged at the next meeting, Oct. 28.

Miss Ana Maria Martinez is the club sponsor.

Thespian Society holds meeting

The second meeting of the National Thespian Society was held Tuesday night, Oct. 13, at 7 o'clock in the Speech room.

Dues of $1 for old members and $2.50 for new members were set. The dues will help supply material for all Speech classes and for the plays that will be given by the National Thespian Society.

Plans for a Christmas play, "A Certain Star," were discussed. Plans will be discussed more fully at a later meeting.

Lynn Edwards gave a monologue of a television program. This was based on material from the "Dear Abby" column.

Meeting held by Commercial Club

The first regular club meeting of the Commercial Club was held Thursday night Oct. 15, at 7:30 p. m. in the Commercial room.

During the meeting Barbara Holleman was elected Student Council representative and Buddy Howell, sergeant-at-arms. Other officers were elected at an earlier meeting. Those elected were: Karen Haley, president; vice president, Barbara Britton; secretary, Yvonne Moreland; treasurer, Darla Pierce, and reporter, Peggy Thorne.

There were 10 of the club members who attended.

Mr. T. C. Clark came to take pictures. He was also served soft

School pictures were taken Oct. 14 at Southland School.
Southland's Homecoming will be Oct. 23. We would like to welcome all the Exes to the Homecoming game and activities.
Everyone is invited to attend the Pep Rally Oct. 23 at 3:30 p. m. in Southland School Auditorium.
Southland Eagles played Sands Mustangs Oct. 16. The score was 18 to 12 in favor of Sands.
Southland High School girls and Junior High girls played Meadow at Meadow Oct. 20.
Southland will have a bonfire Thursday, Oct. 22, at 7 o'clock. The bonfire will be on the track field. Everyone is invited to attend. Everyone come help us "burn" the Flower Grove Dragons.
The Southland girls' basketball teams, junior high and high school, attended a basketball clinic Saturday, Oct. 17. Those attending were Barbara Mock, Mickey Mason, ke. Sponsors were coaches, Mr. and Mrs. Newton. We certainly enjoyed it and learned a lot.
The Physics class of SHS attended a Science Symposium at Texas Tech Saturday. Those attending were Joe Hall and Larry Wilke. The sponsor is Mr. Trostle.
The Pep Rally was very good Friday. Let's keep up the good spirit.
Western Day was a great success Friday. Everyone looked very western. Where did all the guns come from?
The Junior High basketball girls are redecorating the girls' dressing room. They are painting it, laying linoleum and hanging curtains. It is looking swell.

Vet's Forum
Q. When I enter a VA hospital next month, may I continue to draw my disability pension?
A. Veterans with dependents will not have their disability pensions reduced while in a VA hospital. The situation for veterans without dependents would depend on the public law under which their pension falls.
The premiums on my $10,000 National Service Life Insurance policy are waived because of total blindness. I have now been trained so that I anticipate full-time work. Will this affect the waiver of premiums?
A. No. Waiver of premiums may continue where the veteran suffers certain disabilities. Permanent loss of use of both eyes is included in these disabilities.

Homemakers will be honored by new stamp issue
COLLEGE STATION — A new five-cent commemorative stamp honoring homemakers will be unveiled at the opening session of the National Extension Homemakers Council at Honolulu, Hawaii, Oct. 26, according to Mrs. George Hackney Jr. of Greenville.
Mrs. Hackney, president of the 34,000-member Texas Home Demonstration Association — the state counterpart of the homemakers' council — will serve as official delegate from Texas to the Hawaii meeting.
The commemorative stamp will go on sale at all other U. S. post offices on Oct. 27, the Post Office Department has announced.
First day ceremonies for the stamp are scheduled in conjunction with the opening session of the conference. The stamp was designed for the Post Office Department by a New York member of the Citizens' Stamp Advisory Committee. The homemakers stamp is issued as a "tribute to the 50th anniversary of the Smith-Lever Act which officially marked the beginning of the Cooperative Extension Service and opened the way to im-

Screwworm battle in Texas was big success
AUSTIN — The screwworm eradication program, which was conceived by individual livestock producers in Texas and later embraced by state and federal animal authorities, now is such a big success that only 162 cases of screwworm infestation have been reported in Texas this year. This compares to 3,000 by this time in 1963, and 50,000 cases in the last half of 1962.
According to Dr. Seymour J. Smith, state supervisor for the sterile screwworm plant in Mission, the picture is even brighter than those figures indicate because reporting of cases by farmers and ranchers has improved more than 100 per cent.
proved home life throughout America by providing home economists to advise women on better ways to feed and clothe their families." Under the Department of Agriculture's Extension service, working in cooperation with the Land-Grant Colleges, some 4,000 Home Demonstration agents, assisted by nearly 700,000 women who serve as local leaders and reach into some 3 million homes to aid women in becoming better homemakers, Mrs. Hackney says. Seventy-four Texans are scheduled to attend the Hawaii meeting.

We here at the Postex Cotton Mills this Oil Progress Week wish to salute a sister major industry of Garza County — the oil industry. Hundreds of oil wells scattered across the county, drilling rigs busy finding more, production men, our many oil service companies, our gasoline wholesalers, and our many oil retail outlets—the service stations—all these are a part of Garza's oil business. Just as our mills try to do the best "community job" we know how, so does the oil industry. Just as we appreciate the public's support, so does the oil industry with its many problems, many of which affect the public interest.

Pixie doll party held in Neal Crosby home

By MRS. EDGAR MOSELEY

A pixie doll party and demonstration was held in the home of Mrs. Neal Crosby last Thursday. Mrs. Crosby told how to make the dolls. Those present were Johnnie Francis, Mattie Huddleston, Bessie Gregg, Virgie Roper, Maggie Hallman, Mrs. Sam Martin, Mrs. Well-ton McGeehe, Mrs. Glenn Smallwood and Mrs. Edgar Moseley. One lady made her doll with one leg longer than the other so she called it Chester — of TV fame. Sack lunches were put together and everyone enjoyed all the delicious sandwiches, cakes, pies and cookies.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cannon of Floydada spent the weekend in the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Moseley in Slaton.

Tommy Davis and a friend from Lubbock visited Agnes Rinker Sunday.

Mrs. Eddie Grovell took her uncle, Bill Spikes to Dallas to go through a clinic there. They also visited an aunt, Mrs. Lillie Lawson, while there.

Dennis King of Floydada spent the weekend with Harvey Lewis Pennell. They are students at Tech.

Vernon Kendrick of Vacaville, Calif. visited his aunt, Mrs. T. L. Barnes. They had not seen each other in 30 years. He was on his way to Oklahoma to visit his children.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lancaster of Levelland and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lancaster went to Stephenville to see their brother, Warren Lancaster, who has been quite ill. They went Sunday and came home Monday. Dorothy East went as far as Dublin with them to visit with her parents.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Barton were her sister and brother-in-law Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Evans, of Stephenville.

Mrs. Kenneth Callaway was hostess at a home audience party Monday night. There were 12 present.

George Barker and Mrs. Carl Cederholm visited Mrs. Opla Pennell Monday.

MR. AND MRS. Elmer Hitt visited his brother, Horace Hitt, at Wolforth Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hansell Hallman visited his niece at Benjamin Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Dub Reed and Allen Hallman of Garland met them there for a visit. On the way home, the Hallmans stopped at Crosbyton to attend church.

Visitors during the week in the home of the Ed Millikens were Robert Mock, Robert Lee, Mrs. Byron Milliken of Lake View, Mr. and Mrs. Don Milliken of Wolforth, Mrs. Bob Henderson of New Deal, Rev. Scott of Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Milliken of Wolforth, Mrs. Dollie McBride, Charles Rudd and Vance of Slaton, Dolie Shelton and Mrs. Bob Nunley and children of Las Cruces, N. M. Don't forget homecoming at Southland Friday night.

The Rev. and Mrs. Ross Dunn and son of Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Dunn of Plains visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dillard Dunn Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. August Dressler of Sweetwater visited her sister, Mrs. Will Barton and her daughter, Ruth Hall, for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Rackler are visiting Birdie Rackler at Portales-N. M.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Lancaster are spending the week at the State Fair at Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Martin and children visited his mother, Mrs. Sam Martin last Sunday and Monday. Mrs. J. L. Parks of Slaton also visited Mrs. Martin and they made dolls.

Mrs. Amy Havens, wife of the city manager at Southland and the county Democratic committeewoman received a special invitation to a reception at the LBJ Ranch. Her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Robbins took her to Stonewall. While there they heard Don Blocker (Hoos on TV) and Gov. John Connally. They attended the Texas Tech-Baylor football game at Waco Saturday night. They had a wonderful, never to be forgotten, trip.
