Garza 4-H Club Boys Attend District Encampment Aug. 21

Allamore Kimbrough, County Agent of Texas A & M College Extension Service, said that Club boys from Garza, Lubbock, Cochran, Terry, Crosby, Lynn, Yoakum, Farmer, Castro, Briscoe, Lamb, Borden, Dawson, and Hockley counties will attend a District 4-H Club Encampment at Ceta Glen in Swisher county on August 21 through August 23. Since the camp will accommodate only about two boys from the counties are expected to only about five percent of their total enrollment. There will be a cost of only one dollar per boy which will cover his room, pay for his swimming, ammunition and targets that will be used in the rifle contest. Other than the rifle contest and target shooting there will be baseball, horse shoe pitching, target pitching, checkers and dominoes, picture shows and other forms of entertainment for the boys at the encampment. L. Johnson, State 4-H Club Agent, will be present with information sheets to all Club Boys. Garza county club boys will be selected upon the basis of comparison and outstanding club work since 1943 since this year's club cannot be tabulated until demonstrations have been completed for the year which will follow the crops are gathered and fall. Garza county will be allowed to bring nine boys and two adult leaders.

Used Car Dealers Given OPA Warning

A warning to used car dealers that their refusal to sell automobiles unless the purchaser trades in another car is in direct violation of a ceiling price regulation, was sounded by Howard R. Gholson of the OPA district office in Lubbock. In order to clear up other possible misunderstanding of the used car ceiling price regulation, which went into effect July 10, the director said it specifically prohibits a dealer from forcing a purchaser of a used automobile to make payment for it over a period of time or to require the purchaser to finance through any particular lending agency. The dealer further must not require a purchaser of a used car to buy any accessories, repairs, parts or services so as to increase the total amount paid to more than the legal maximum price for the vehicle. The regulation, Gholson said, provides dollars-and-cents prices for certain designated extra equipment. A dealer is not permitted, however, to make an extra charge for any accessories or extra equipment not specifically listed and priced in the regulation. A dealer may not charge extra for seat covers, fog lights or other unlisted extra equipment or accessories irrespective of whether the accessories are sold, attached to the vehicle or separately.

Farmers Co-Op Elevator To Be Completed Soon

The Farmers Co-Op Elevator is now nearing completion. Sixty-three feet tall, it looms high above every other building in Post; it is 32 feet square at the base. This elevator is located directly west of the old freight depot. It will have a storage capacity of about 9 cars of grain and is capable of loading a car about every thirty minutes. A six-wheeler dump will be installed. This is a larger dump than is usually installed in Elevators in this section of the country. Twelve men are employed in the construction of the Farmers Co-Op Elevator. It should be completed in about three weeks, according to C. C. Self of Littlefield, who is in charge of construction.

SOLDIER OF THE WEEK

County Democrats Elect Delegate To State Convention

The County Democratic Convention met at the courthouse Saturday, July 29, at 3 p. m. Delegates from the precinct conventions were: O. J. Harmonson, Southland; John Nichols, Verbena; Paul Moore, South Post box; C. D. Morrel, Tom Boucher, N. C. Outlaw, Post No. 1 box. T. R. Greenfield, county democratic chairman, was elected president of the convention and N. C. Outlaw was elected secretary. In a very harmonious meeting T. R. Greenfield was elected to go as an uninstruted delegate to the State Democratic Convention which is to be held in Dallas September 12. Bryan Williams was the fourth delegate from the Post No. 1 box but could not be present because of painful injuries received in a recent accident. The number of delegates was based on the number of votes cast for governor. Delegates to the county convention were elected at precinct conventions which were held on election day.

Blistering July Winds Up Monday With Full Fury

Over-ripe temperatures continued to sweat-bead the Post and Garza county's populace when Monday's unofficial reading of 108 wound up a blistering July. Unofficial reports of the month's high was 110 for Thursday, July 27. Some of the highest July readings in years came to pass. The rains of July 20, 21 and 23 are preserving crops in Garza county. Crops in many sections of the state are deteriorating. There is sufficient reserve moisture in the soil to sustain good crop stands from Lubbock to Pampa. In some localities the vegetable gardens have been singed by the heat wave, but the cotton crops are thriving. With our fingers crossed, we are guessing that the Garza county feed crop will not be as heavy as that of last year, and cotton prospects are improved now over what they were this time last summer.

Garza Well Averages 100 Barrels Daily; Additional Tests Are Being Planned

Pumping tests which definitely established that Honolulu Oil corporation and Devon Oil company No. 1 Payton, northwest Garza county wildcat is a commercial oil well, capable of making at least 100 barrels of petroleum daily, on the pump, is the most important item on the oil development report of the South Plains this week. Located in section 121, TT survey, and 14 miles northwest of Post, the new Garza county producer, and possible pool opener, has been averaging about 105 barrels of oil, per day, plus about half that amount of water, in pumping from the pay section, which is on a plugged-back bottom of 3,568 feet. The 5 1/2-inch casing was cemented at 3,545 feet, on top of the oil saturated zone. The operators will continue to pump for several days, before taking an official potential. It is possible that the water recovery can be decreased as the producing operations advance. No additional locations in this area have been announced, but it is understood that additional tests for Garza county are possible in the near future.

Fight For Peace Cited By Mahon

Cong. George Mahon in an address which he made recently, said: "The people of this nation are standing face to face with the greatest moment before us than at any time in the nation's history," he said. We may win the war, and yet lose the peace, thereby falling down on the greatest objective. Mahon pointed out that people should urge congress to take steps to preserve peace. "Following the last war we turned our back on the responsibility of world leadership, but we must not make that mistake this time. If the dictator nations get the upper hand they will surely take advantage of that opportunity. It is up to the United States and others of the United Nations to see that this does not happen again." He said that as a member of Congress he could assure the people of his district there would be no crashing of our air force into the trash heaps and no destruction of our Navy after this war. "It is necessary that we unite with other peace loving nations of the world and make it impossible for Germany, Japan or any other nation to start another world conflict such as the one in which we are now engaged." He closed by saying that naturally we are primarily interested in winning the war, but we must be equally interested in the preservation of peace. "Let us place our hearts and minds on the real objective, the preservation of victory," he said.

Paul Cook Credited With Shooting Down Enemy Plane June 23

With the 15th AFF in Italy—Staff Sergeant Paul B. Cook of Post and son of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Cook, is one of the AAF Flying Fortress gunners in the Mediterranean Theatre of Operations who was credited with the destruction of an enemy aircraft while the Forts were bombing oil refineries at Dacia Rumana, Roumania on June 23. Sgt. Cook, a waist gunner was credited with the complete destruction of one Messerschmidt 109. "The enemy fighter," he said, "came in from about a mile away and almost straight into my position. I opened fire and fired about six long bursts into him. "He seemed to just raise up and go into a spin and dove straight down in flames. No chute was seen to open by the time the plane exploded." Sgt. Cook is a member of the oldest heavy bombardment group in the theatre. This group has flown over 275 combat missions against enemy installations from bases in England, North Africa, Russia and Italy. The claim was confirmed by the tail gunner who saw the plane explode.

Truck Operators May Keep Simplified Tire Inspection Records

Operators of commercial motor vehicles were informed today by Richard E. Wood of Lubbock, district manager of the Highway Transport Department of the Office of Defense Transportation, that they may use simplified forms of their own making in keeping tire inspection records of vehicles covered by Certificates of War Necessity. Records of miles traveled, motor fuel consumed and inspections were said by the district manager to be more necessary today than ever before but use of ODT forms, heretofore required, will not be necessary. Operators, who still have Forms 17 and 17-A on hand, may continue to use them until they are exhausted if they desire. However, no new ones will be supplied. Records are subject to periodic inspection by ODT officials. Information required includes a record of tire inspection for each vehicle, date of inspection, inspection station number, county and state, serial number or brand of tires requiring service and description of the required services, certification of inspector that no service is necessary or certification that such service as was required has been performed. Tires must be inspected every 5,000 miles or every six months, whichever comes first.

SLAVES DON'T WIN WARS

As of January 1, 1944, the oil companies of the United States reported an expenditure of nearly one billion dollars of their own money exclusively as a war effort in accelerating refining, marketing and transportation facilities of the war-gear petroleum industry. This huge sum does not include the incalculable other millions of dollars spent by the companies for stepped up exploration, development and wildcatting to assure the prodigious petroleum production war made necessary.

A country of freedom like the United States has the edge over any other nation whose people are dominated by rules with no faith in the intelligence of their fellow citizens. People who are dominated must be led. When war came the people of this country did not wait to be led by government authority. Industries such as oil went ahead on their initiative with the result that the armed forces have plenty of oil and everything else they need.

Individual independence is the secret of the American production miracle. The Axis leaders cannot understand this as our tanks and planes by the tens of thousands blast them out of their ill-gotten empires.

Views of Neighboring Editors:
 Slaton Slatonite—One soldier writing back from India says that most of the children there go without any clothing, although occasionally he finds one that is slightly dressed in a hat or a pair of shoes. It has gotten that way over here to some extent, since the boys left, only the ones I have seen are no longer in the children's classes at school and instead of wearing hats and shoes the timid ones are carrying tennis racquets.

Scurry County Times—Such a common-place subject as summer rainfall is indeed worthy of editorial mention when it happens at a time when destiny of county crops depends on moisture to keep grain sorghums, cotton and corn-bine maize alive. Such a rain was that received here last Thursday through Sunday when this trade zone received from four to seven inches of moisture.

July moisture received over the week-end not only assures Scurry County of a bumper feed crop, but a fair cotton crop and excellent returns on combine or Plainsman maize. Had it stayed hot and dry two more weeks, all early feed would not only have "fired" beyond redemption, but hundreds of livestock would have been shipped to better range—and slaughter houses. There is still ample time for late feed to mature, and those who sustained crop damages several weeks ago will find it a wise investment to plant every idle acre of ground to feed that will be vital to keeping livestock here through next winter.

The Southern Weekly—What now? That's the question many Southern Democrats are asking as an aftermath of the Democratic National Convention at Chicago. All Southern demands, except defeat of Henry A. Wallace for renomination, which some of them demanded, were rejected by the convention. And it was the big city bosses of the North who decreed Wallace's defeat. On the other hand, the convention adopted a racial equality plank which puts the party on record for the first time in its history in favor of Federal coercion of the white people of the South in their relations with negroes. Most Southern politicians are urging solid support of the ticket. But in all Southern States great numbers of Democrats are waiting for word from the anti-fourth term leaders as to the next move. Developments are expected in the immediate future.

With Ernie Pyle at the Front
Pillboxes and Tanks Wrecked in Street Fighting
Yanks Take Another City With Only Snipers and One Pillbox Left

By Ernie Pyle

IN NORMANDY.—On up the street a block there seemed to be fighting. I say seemed to be, because actually you can't always tell. Street fighting is just as confusing as field fighting.

One side will bang away for a while, then the other side. Between these sallies there are long lulls, with only stray and isolated shots. Just an occasional soldier is sneaking about, and you don't see anything of the enemy at all. You can't tell half the time just what the situation is.

About a block beyond the hospital entrance two American tanks were sitting in the middle of the street, one about 50 yards ahead of the other. I walked toward them. Our infantrymen were in doorways along the street.

Ernie Pyle

I got within about 50 feet of our front tank when it let go its 75-millimeter gun. The blast was terrific there in the narrow street. Glass came tinkling down from nearby windows, smoke puffed around the tank, and the empty street was shaking and trembling with the concussion.

As the tank continued to shoot I ducked into a doorway, because I figured the Germans would shoot back. Inside the doorway there was a sort of steel-level cellar, dirt-floored. Apparently there was a wine shop above, for the cellar was stacked with wire crates for holding wine bottles on their sides. There were lots of bottles, but they were all empty.

I went back to the doorway and stood peering out at the tank. It started backing up. Then suddenly a yellow flame pierced the bottom of the tank and there was a crash of such intensity that I automatically blinked my eyes. The tank, hardly 50 feet from where I was standing, had been hit by an enemy shell.

A second shot ripped the pavement at the side of the tank. There was smoke all around, but the tank didn't catch fire. In a moment the crew came bolting out of the turret. Grim as it was, I almost had to laugh as they ran toward us. I have never seen men run so violently. They ran all over, with arms and heads going up and down and with marathon-race grimaces. They plunged into my doorway.

I spent the next excited hour with them. We changed to another doorway and sat on boxes in the empty hallway. The floor and steps were thick with blood where a soldier had been treated within the hour.

What had happened to the tank was this: They had been firing away at a pillbox ahead when their 75 backed up, filling the tank with smoke and blinding them.

They decided to back up in order to get their bearings, but after backing a few yards the driver was so blinded that he stopped. Unfortunately he stopped exactly at the foot of a side street. More unfortunately there was another German pillbox up the side street. All the Germans had to do was take easy aim and let go at the sitting duck.

The first shot hit a tread, so the tank couldn't move. That was when the boys got out. I don't know why the Germans didn't fire at them as they poured out.

The escaped tankers naturally were excited, but they were as jittery as Jumbo-bugs and ready for more. They had never been in combat before the invasion of Normandy, yet in three weeks their tank had been shot up three times. Each time it was repaired and put back in action. And it can be repaired again this time. The name of their tank, appropriately, is "Be Back Soon."

The main worry of these boys was the fact that they had left the engine running. We could hear it chugging away. It's bad for a tank motor to idle very long. But now they were afraid to go back and turn the motor off, for the tank was still right in line with the hidden German gun.

Also, they had come out wearing their leather crash helmets. Their steel helmets were still inside the tank, and so were their rifles.

"We'll be a lot of good without helmets or rifles!" one of them said.

Nazis Continue to Surrender When Going Gets Tough

We saw coming up the street, past a wrecked German truck, a group of German soldiers. An officer walked in front, carrying a Red Cross bag on a stick. Bob Caps, the photographer, braved the dangerous funnel at the end of the side street where the damaged tank stood, leaping past it and on down the street to meet the Germans.

First he snapped some pictures of them. Then, since he speaks German, he led them on back to our side of the invisible fence of battle. Eight of them were carrying two litters bearing two wounded German soldiers. The others walked behind with their hands up. They went on past us to the hospital. We assumed that they were from the second knocked-out pill box.

WE WERE PREPARED

The progressive peacetime activities of this country laid the strongest foundation on which to build the most up-to-date war machine in the world when occasion arose.

Nowhere has this been better illustrated than in the preparation of the American medical profession. The rapid progress of private medicine in the United States during the past generation outstripped government dominated medical systems of the nations we thought were so well prepared for war.

When American doctors were asked to staff an army of 10 to 12 million men, they provided a service unequalled in world history. They were ready with new medicines and new techniques. The doctors have been with the soldiers in combat as never before. The rapid attention to wounds, and hospital treatment has been miraculous. As one wounded soldier returning from the Channel front, said: "The medics are doing a terrific job on the beaches."

The American medical profession is as far ahead on the fighting front as it is on the home front. It maintains a personal relationship between the patient and the doctor that no regimented, socialized medical system could ever attain.

Before hopping on a train of thought, one should inquire as to its destination.

Of the eight million tons of paper needed for salvage in 1944, the War Production Board says 38 per cent is in hiding in American homes and farms, while the other 62 per cent is to be found in the files and store rooms of American industry. If the Boy Scouts or the Girl Scouts don't find those home-hidden hoards of waste paper before next fall, school children hope to dig them out.

Former Post Citizens Meet Home Town Paper

S/Sgt. Walter H. Langford of the 120th Engineer Corps is being sent back to the States after two years in the European Area. He receives the Post Dispatch regularly and declares it is "just like seeing someone from home." He thinks the Dispatch force has done a swell job of printing "News of the Servicemen" in the paper. "All of us out here really appreciate news of our buddies and friends," he concluded. Sgt. Langford is a brother to Georgia Mae Langford who is now with the Morrison Eye Clinic as orthoptist in Alhambra, California. She, too, is a constant reader of The Dispatch and says it is a "Must" on her weekly reading list. She asks us to say "hello" to all her friends in Post.

It is fine to have two such fine boosters—makes the Dispatch staff want to order size larger hats.

Tall Brazilian Palm Tree Bears Oil-Rich Nut

Babassu is a tall, fan-shaped palm tree that thrives in northern Brazil. It bears in large clusters a nut the size and shape of a lemon. Each nut contains two to six finger-shaped kernels from which a very useful oil is pressed.

Smooth, yellow-white and pleasant to taste, babassu oil is an excellent substitute for olive oil in all its uses, for pork lard, for coconut oil in margarines. It is used in making perfumed soaps and medicinal salves. It is a good lubricant, serves in making varnishes, artificial silks and many other products of modern chemistry. After yielding two-thirds of their weight as oil, the pressed kernels make meal cakes for livestock.

Since 1934 babassu, mostly in the form of shelled kernels, has come from Brazil to the United States in rapidly increasing volume. Expanding to a 50,000-ton yearly total by 1939, imports do not match demand. Today, with normal supplies of coconut oil and copra cut low by the Jap scourge of Pacific islands, the uses of babassu oil are fixed by government war-agency order.

Pontine Marshes

From ancient times, popes and kings sought to redeem the malarial Pontine marshes below Rome by drainage and other construction projects. In 1928 the Italian government began reclamation work on a large scale. With the help of the Rockefeller Foundation, the malarial scourge was tamed, as bogs and lakes were gradually cleared of the stagnant, mosquito-breeding water.

Old Roman canals, which at one time had made parts of this area livable and productive, were recut, and new ones were dug. New roads were built. Colonists were moved in from the heavily populated provinces of northern and central Italy. Under a combined landowner, government and peasant-colonist arrangement for operating, financing, and working the big farms, field crops such as wheat, barley, alfalfa and sugar beets were developed; vineyards were planted, and the raising of livestock encouraged.

Mrs. Chsley Manly en route to her home in Washington, D. C., arrived in Post Monday. She flew from Tucson, Ariz. where Chsley is stationed at an air field, to Big Spring where Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Manly met her.

LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D. Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for August 6

POWER THROUGH SELF-DISCIPLINE (TEMPERANCE LESSON)

LESSON TEXT—Proverbs 1:7-10; Jeremiah 23:18; 1 Corinthians 9:24-27; 1 Thessalonians 5:22. GOLDEN TEXT—And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things.—1 Corinthians 9:25.

Discipline — that word doesn't sound exactly attractive, does it? It makes us think of punishment for wrongdoing, when in reality it is a very helpful word which means teaching. Disciples learn, and thus are disciplined, so that life becomes safer, simpler, and more efficient.

When the Morro Castle caught fire, there was time for everyone to escape, but 134 out of the 500 on board perished because they fought each other. When the President Coolidge sank in the South Seas 4,500 soldiers escaped alive. What made the difference? Discipline, that's all, but it was enough.

There are many kinds of discipline, and all have their important place in preparing men to live well ordered and useful lives. The disciplined life has power to meet trials and temptations. We find in our lesson three kinds of discipline:

I. Home Discipline (Prov. 1:7-10). The training received by the child early in life from its parents is of the utmost importance in forming character. Children should learn the true standards of life, and be held to obedience to them if they are later to walk in the right way.

It is here that they most effectively learn the danger of the use of intoxicants and the importance of keeping their bodies clean and strong for the service of God and country.

Some parents (possibly misled by attractive, but false theories of education) think that the correction or punishment of a child is not to be permitted. They assume that they are being kind to a child by not limiting his development, or trying to direct it. These are the people who "curse their children with kindness," which is in fact the greatest of unkindness.

Only a fool (v. 7) will despise the instruction of his parents, and only a fool of a parent will fail to give that training which is like "an ornament of grace" (v. 9) in the life of the young man or woman.

But the discipline of the home needs the support of

II. Social Discipline (Jer. 35:5-10). The social order, which concerns our relation to our fellow men, disciplines each of us. It makes many and what sometimes seem burdensome demands of us in order that we, as well as those around us, may have the privilege of living ordered and useful lives.

Wise is the man or woman who draws from his fellowship with others that helpful training which gives him stability and grace.

The Rechabites had made a vow that they would not drink intoxicants, and as a tribe they stood by that vow even when tested by Jeremiah. (Note that we say tested, not tempted. He knew they would stand.)

Fine family traditions have great value in guiding and controlling young people. We should, like the good man Jonadab (v. 8), establish a tradition of abstinence from intoxicants which will make all of our descendants say, "No one in our family ever drinks."

The training of home and of society has one great goal and that is

III. Self-Discipline (1 Cor. 9:24-27; 1 Thess. 5:22). In the life of every one of us there should be that determined purpose that life shall not be lived in careless disorder, or be permitted to run out at loose ends.

We are all running a race (v. 24), and it is for us so to run that we may achieve success. We cannot run with uncertainty (v. 26), we must know where we are going.

We are fighting a fight, and at times it is a desperate, life-and-death struggle. We must not beat the air (v. 26), but strike home the telling blows which will bring victory over our enemies, the world, the flesh, and the devil.

To do this calls for training and self-discipline. It means bringing the body and its demands into subjection. The man who runs in a race does not destroy his chances for victory by using intoxicants, or other detrimental things. Surely we who run the race for Christ must be even more determined that self shall be disciplined for God's glory.

The standard for the conduct of the Christian is higher than is commonly supposed, for he withdraws himself from "every form of evil."

The disciplined believer knows that sin is sin—that what looks comparatively innocent often wears a false face covering real wickedness, so it is the first step on a downward path. To start on that way is to invite disaster. A striking example of this is the social drink—the fashionable cocktail—the friendly glass. Abstain is the word—"abstain from every form of evil."

Many State Roads Need Repairs

Many state highways will be in need of repairs and rebuilding by the end of the war, according to an office of War Information report, based on data from the public roads administration and state and private agencies. At present, the most impressive immediate program calls for improving 34,000 miles of rural and urban highways as recommended by the National Interregional Highway Committee. Final action by congress is pending.

Marvin Pennington is improving nicely now, but he will have to remain in a cast for several weeks. Pennington, who operates the Gulf Garage was injured in a fall from his horse while practicing roping in the rodeo arena on July 8.

Home Canners Advised How to Avoid Deadly Botulinus Poisoning

"THERE is vital need to can as many vegetables as possible as well as fruit; but the only safe way to can any vegetables, except tomatoes, is by correct use of the pressure cooker," advises Katharine Fisher, Director of Good Housekeeping Institute. "This method is the only one which provides the hotter-than-boiling heat that's necessary to kill botulinus germs which may be on any non-acid food you can—and that means all vegetables except tomatoes. When botulinus germs are not killed in the canning process, they thrive in sealed jars and create a powerful poison."

"This botulinus poisoning comes from bacteria that live in the soil and cling to vegetables. Although rare, this poison is particularly dangerous because it usually does not change the food's appearance, odor or taste. Analyses of soil indicate that there is a chance that botulinus spores may be found almost anywhere. Fortunately, they are harmless until they get in airtight jars of canned food."

Use Pressure Cooker

"Correct use of the pressure cooker also protects against other types of spoilage," Miss Fisher said. "A recent national survey showed that home canners who put up non-acid vegetables by the hot water bath method reported a hundred per cent greater rate of spoilage than those who used the pressure cooker method."

"Never taste to discover spoilage," Good Housekeeping advises. "All home canned products should be examined carefully when opened and, if there is any evidence of spoilage, the food should not be used."

Riveting makes our Rosie gritty. Soap and water make her pretty.

It isn't vanity, but good sense, that lures our women war workers to the washstand as soon as the day's work is done. Dirty hands spread infection, and make-up over a grimy face courts a bad complexion.

No matter what sort of job a woman holds, cleanliness is an asset. It helps protect her health, it makes her more efficient, and it enhances her chances of advancement. Workers in "dirty" industries should always wash hands and faces thoroughly with soap and water before applying protective lotions, and repeat the washing when removing them.

FORMER POST PASTOR ACCEPTS CALL TO LOS FRESNOS CHURCH

Rev. J. F. Grizzle, who was pastor of the First Baptist church of Post for several years before he moved to Portales, N. M. to become pastor of the First Baptist church there in 1924, has accepted a call to the church at Los Fresnos, Texas near Brownsville. The health of Mrs. Grizzle made a change to a lower altitude advisable. They will be near their only child, Mrs. A. C. Tremaine, who with her husband, live at Brownsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Redman and children spent Friday afternoon in Lubbock.

VICTORY HINTS

To prevent cake from sticking to the plate, sprinkle powdered sugar generously over plate first, then proceed as usual.

The window sills will be easier to keep clean if you wax them each time after washing.

Blackened kettles may be cleaned by dampening newspapers in kerosene and rubbing over the pot. Complete by rubbing soap over pot, followed with a sprinkle of scouring powder.

When men buy their work pants have them get the longest length leg. Cut off at the desired length and save pieces for patches. In this way you have material of same color when needed.

To wash small pieces of fragile lace, put in a fruit jar filled with suds, shake vigorously for a few minutes, then rinse in the same way.

Never put cold water in enamel pans while the pot or pan is hot. Use moderate heat when cooking eggs so as not to toughen the protein.

Tough cuts of meat should be cooked by moist heat. Stew these cuts, pot roast or braise in covered utensils with liquid added.

During the summer try to include one hot offering in the menu, the cool foods will seem even more refreshing by contrast.

Parsley and celery leaves add interest and color to many dishes when the leaves are finely minced and used in small amounts.

Be It Resolved By The Legislature Of The State Of Texas:

Section 1. That Section 9 of Article 8 of the Constitution of the State of Texas, be so amended that the same will hereafter read as follows:

"Section 9. The State tax on property, exclusive of the tax necessary to pay the public debt, and of the taxes provided for the benefit of the public free schools, shall never exceed thirty-five (35) cents on the one hundred dollars valuation; and no county, city or town shall levy more than twenty-five (25) cents for city or county purposes, and not exceeding fifteen (15) cents for roads and bridges, and not exceeding fifteen (15) cents to pay jurors, on the one hundred dollars valuation, except for the payment of debts incurred prior to the adoption of the Amendment September 25, 1883; and for the erection of public buildings, streets, sewers, water-works and other permanent improvements, not to exceed twenty-five (25) cents on the one hundred dollars valuation, in any one year, and except as is in this Constitution otherwise provided; provided, however, that the Commissioners Court in any county may re-allocate the foregoing county taxes by changing the rates provided for any of the foregoing purposes by either increasing or decreasing the same, but in no event shall the total of said foregoing county taxes exceed eighty (80) cents on the one hundred dollars valuation, in any one year; provided further, that before the said Commissioners Court may make such re-allocations and changes in said county taxes that the same shall be submitted to the qualified property tax paying voters of such county at a general or special election, and shall be approved by a majority of the qualified property tax paying voters, voting in such election; and, provided further, that if and when such re-allocations and changes in the aforesaid county taxes have been approved by the qualified property tax paying voters of any county, as herein provided, such re-allocations and changes shall remain in force and effect for a period of six (6) years from the date of the election at which the same shall be approved, unless the same again shall have been changed by a majority vote of the qualified property tax paying voters of such county, voting on the proposition, after submission by the Commissioners Court at a general or special election for that purpose; and the Legislature may also authorize an additional annual ad valorem tax to be levied and collected for the further maintenance of the public roads; provided, that a majority of the qualified property tax paying voters of the county voting at an election to be held for that purpose shall vote such a tax, not to exceed fifteen (15) cents on the one hundred dollars valuation of the property subject to taxation in such county. And the Legislature may pass local laws for the maintenance of the public roads and highways, without the local notice required for special or local laws. This section shall not be construed as a limitation of powers delegated to counties, cities or towns by any other section or sections of this Constitution."

PLANE TALK

BY Rowland Burnston

One of the instruments which plays an important part in air flight is the air speed indicator, which tells the airplane's speed in flight in relation to the air through which it is flying. Ground speed, however, is the speed of the airplane in relation to the ground, and is not indicated by this instrument, but can be computed from the readings. In still air, air speed equals ground speed. In a head wind, the ground speed is less than air speed, and with a tail wind the ground speed is greater than air speed. By adding or subtracting the velocity of the wind, the ground speed is determined.

There are maximum and minimum air speeds between which an airplane can be safely operated. If a pilot permits his plane to go below the minimum indicated air speed or stalling speed, the plane tends to become unmanageable. Diving the airplane beyond the rated maximum speed takes it beyond the safe limits from a construction viewpoint. In addition to its use as a safety instrument, the airspeed indicator aids in navigation. It is also possible for the pilot to tell from any indicated change in speed if the plane is not in level flight during poor flying weather.

Soil Conservation District News

Fish can be an important farm crop. A single acre of pond can be made to yield three hundred-fifty to four hundred pounds of pan-size fish annually. A successful fish pond will provide good fishing within one year after stocking, and with proper care will continue to do so year after year.

It takes considerable food to grow a pound of fish—or a pound of beef or pork for that matter. Perch depend almost entirely upon aquatic insects for food. They eat a few young fish and almost no leafy water plants. However, since the insects which the bream eat feed on microscopic water plants, the growth of the fish is dependent on the abundance of these plants.

There is another factor in growing bream for fishing. The number of fish must be regulated. Each female produces about 3,000 or 4,000 young a year but it is impossible to supply food enough for all of them. Carnivorous species such as bass, which feed largely on small fish take care of this in the wild. Likewise a farm fish pond must have a similar check against over-population. This can be accomplished by stocking with large mouth bass.

Some farmers cooperating with the Duck Creek Soil Conservation District are stocking their new tanks with fish which they are taking from other ponds which have become too low to support their present fish population. County Agent Wallace Kimbrough and personnel of the local Soil Conservation Service office, assisting the Duck Creek Soil Conservation District, organized a group of farmers including R. L. Cummings, Ray Hodges, Ardie and Bill Long, Lee Byrd, Roy Pennington, Avery Moore, Cliff Haynes, Temple Lee and others, for the purpose of seining fingerling fish out of South Lake with which to stock their tanks. Several hundred fish were taken out of the lake and placed in tanks with more water.

for that purpose; and providing that this Amendment shall not be construed as a limitation on powers delegated to counties, cities or towns by any other section or sections of the Constitution."

If it appears from the returns of said election that a majority of the votes cast are in favor of said Amendment, the same shall become a part of the State Constitution.

Sec. 3. The Governor of the State of Texas shall issue the necessary proclamation for said election, and shall have the same published as required by the Constitution and Laws of this State.

Sec. 4. The sum of Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000), or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the Treasury of the State, not otherwise appropriated, to pay the expenses of such publication and election.

We made a landing a few weeks ago. We did not find anything on the beach, but when we got inland a little way we had trouble. I have a few Japs to my credit and one prisoner. I didn't want to take a Jap alive but at that time I was in S-2—that is a kind of intelligence outfit and we were sent out after one so we had to take him alive. I would rather have shot him.

I have transferred back to my old outfit, as it will give me a better chance to come home sooner. That is what I am looking for more than anything else in the world. I have been over here 27 months, have seen lots of action and had some close calls.

State Health Officer Advises Pre-School Health Check

Austin—Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, urges the parents of all children who will respond to the school bell for the first time in September to be sure the child is physically ready for school duties.

"First and foremost is the need for vaccination against smallpox. Parents and physicians should see that children are vaccinated before they are one year of age; however if not done previously, at school age vaccination becomes absolutely necessary," Dr. Cox said. "If your child has not been vaccinated, have it done immediately so that the scar will be completely healed before school opens."

Immunization against diphtheria is also highly desirable, Dr. Cox believes. This disease, which causes serious illness and deaths among young children can be prevented with toxoid. The child who has never been protected should be given this safeguard against a dreaded disease. Even though he may have been immunized as a baby, doctors and health officers usually recommend an additional dose of toxoid to strengthen immunity before entrance into school.

"In addition, before you send your child to school you are urged to take him to your family physician and dentist for a thorough examination," Dr. Cox adds. "You will want to know that he is in good physical condition and can compete with the other children on equal terms. If the check-up reveals any weakness or defect there will be time to build up his general health and correct dental defects before school opens. Don't let your child start his school life with any avoidable handicap."
