

Sheriff says no one has been denied use of jail

'Reasonable rules' made for its use

In a three-page typewritten statement released Monday to The Post Dispatch, County Sheriff L. E. (Fay) Claborn said he had not denied the use of the county jail to city officers, nor any other law enforcement group.

"I simply made what I believed to be reasonable rules concerning the use of said jail which rules apply to all officers," the sheriff's statement said.

Since Dec. 6, city prisoners have been taken to the city jail at Slaton after Police Chief Bill Gordon said the sheriff had denied the use of the county jail to house city prisoners.

The complete text of Sheriff Claborn's statement regarding use of the jail follows:

"The purpose of this letter is to correct some misconceptions that have arisen concerning the use of the county jail by city officers. In the first place I did not deny the use of the county jail to any law enforcement group. I simply made what I believe to be reasonable rules concerning the use of said jail, which rules apply to all officers, city, county, state and federal. These are basically the same rules that apply to any well-run jail.

"The State Constitution and statutes place the sole responsibility for the orderly operation of county jails upon the Sheriff. The Sheriff cannot delegate this responsibility nor can it be taken from him. State and Federal laws both hold the Sheriff personally responsible for the manner in which the county jail is operated and makes him and his bondsmen answerable to any party that is mistreated, abused or, through negligence, receives an injury while in the county jail.

"As your newspaper is well aware, in 1956 the State Legislature passed a comprehensive jail law and gave the various commissioners courts four years in which to bring their jails up to standards. Not one thing has been done to modernize or bring up to date the Garza County jail despite the fact that on two different occasions grand juries of Garza County, Texas, in writing, recommended to the commissioners court that the Garza County jail be modernized.

"The radio operators who were recently removed from the courthouse by an act of the County Judge not only deprived the Sheriff's office of its best means of communications but it removed from the courthouse people who acted as a safety device for persons incarcerated. The operators when located in the courthouse could call the Sheriff if a disturbance arose in the jail or call a doctor or the fire department if the need arose. This is not an imagined need. Twice within the past few years the radio operators at night, while the Sheriff's office was closed and the courthouse vacant discovered prisoners who were suffering heart seizures and probably would have died except for the alertness of the operators.

On another occasion, the night operators discovered a fire in the jail that could have destroyed the jail and certainly would have uselessly caused a loss of life, since the prisoner in the affected cell was already unconscious when discovered.

"The rules that have been promulgated for the operation of the jail are, in my opinion, most reasonable. First I will require that some night-time protection be afforded prisoners who are kept overnight. This can be done by placing the radio operators back where they were or it can be done by hiring a night jailer. I will require that any officer using the Garza County jail shall have a member of the Sheriff's office present when placing a person in jail and when removing him therefrom. I will require that all persons placed in the jail be registered on a book kept in my office and the charge against the person be clearly defined. I will require that when prisoners of any other police station building.

After the cell blocks, each 12 feet and two inches long, are unloaded in Post, they will be set up and a concrete block jail building constructed around them. Present plans are to construct the jail onto the back of the police station building.

Council gives 'okay' to city jail building

The Post city council gave its approval Monday night, at its regular January session, to the purchase of two used cell blocks from Lynn County and the construction of a city jail here.

Since Dec. 6, when Police Chief Bill Gordon said the use of the county jail was being denied the city, city prisoners have been taken to the Slaton city jail.

In other action at Monday night's meeting, the council authorized the purchase of a radio communications system for the water department and other city uses; authorized the city manager to advertise for bids for the purchase of a new pickup truck for the water department; heard a request that it consider revising its Sunday closing order for taverns, and heard the police department report on fines collected in December.

THE COUNCIL'S vote for the construction of a jail came after the police chief said two used cell blocks could be purchased for $50 from Lynn County, but that the cost of getting the cell blocks down from the top of the Lynn County courthouse and unloaded at Post would cost in excess of $500.

The council's action on the jail also came after it had heard two taxpayers, Jerry Riedel and J. D. Windham, protest that they did not think the city should spend the money to build a jail if the county jail could be used.

Councilman Bob Collier told Riedel and Windham that the city had decided building its own jail was the only solution after the council had conferred with the county commissioners court and with the county sheriff on the possibility of the city again using the county jail.

They agreed that if use of the county jail could not be had, it would be cheaper for the city to build its own jail than to continue taking its prisoners to Slaton.

POLICE CHIEF Gordon told the council that a contractor had told him he would dismantle the two cell blocks at Tahoka bring them down three flights of stairs and haul them to Post for $500, providing the city furnish part of the labor required to get the cell blocks onto the ground from their third-story location.

The final motion approved by the council provided that the contractor go ahead and hire his own help to get the cell blocks ready for hauling and add the cost of the extra labor to his original bill.

After the cell blocks, each 12 feet and two inches long, are unloaded in Post, they will be set up and a concrete block jail building constructed around them. Present plans are to construct the jail onto the back of the police station building.

The council's authorization for the purchase of a radio system for the water department is dependent on the approval of a frequency permit.

$10,000 not enough

Group decides against show barn at present

Members of the Garza County Junior Livestock Association voted at a meeting last Thursday night not to build a show barn at this time.

The decision not to build came only after a "prolonged discussion," according to Jerry Thuet, president of the association.

"We weighed all the facts and, due to the outcome of the recent bond election, we were left with only our $10,000 in donations with which to construct a $28,000 building," Thuet said. "We regret that we can't go ahead with our building plans, but we have no other choice."

Thuet said the association would like to "express our deep appreciation to the donors who supported us with their contributions, either large or small."

"Maybe sometime in the future, when people realize that we were trying to help the youth in our county, we will have a building of sufficient size and facilities to serve our needs.

"We will have our stock show this year at the county 4-H building again. We will be expecting the citizens of our county to support it."

Same personnel and structure, only the name changed at oil firm here

The George R. Brown Interests, operating in the West Texas area, have been merged into Highland Resources, Inc., a diversified resources company with extensive oil and gas, industrial and hard-rock operations as well as real estate holdings throughout the Southwest.

There will be no changes in either personnel or structure of the George R. Brown operations, according to Brown who is chairman of the board of Houston-based Highland. The company employs 27 persons in its West Texas district.

The principal production in the Highland Resources, Inc. West Texas operation is in the big Garza Field at Post, Texas, 40 miles south of Lubbock. E. R. Moreland will continue as district superintendent. He has been associated with Highland Resources, Inc. for more than 24 years.

Ralph S. O'Connor is president of Highland Resources which became parent company of a five-division complex in a corporation reorganization early last August. The company was formed through the merger of four Brown-family-owned companies including Brown Engineering Corporation, with property holdings in Arkansas and Houston; Houston Materials Company; Victoria Enterprises, Inc.; and Brown Securities Corporation, owner and operator of Texas real estate properties including the Driskill Hotel in Austin. At the time of this reorganization the company announced the stepping up of its oil exploration operations with the formation of an oil and gas division. O'Connor said at that time the company contemplated an increase in offshore drilling as well as in acquisition of oil properties.

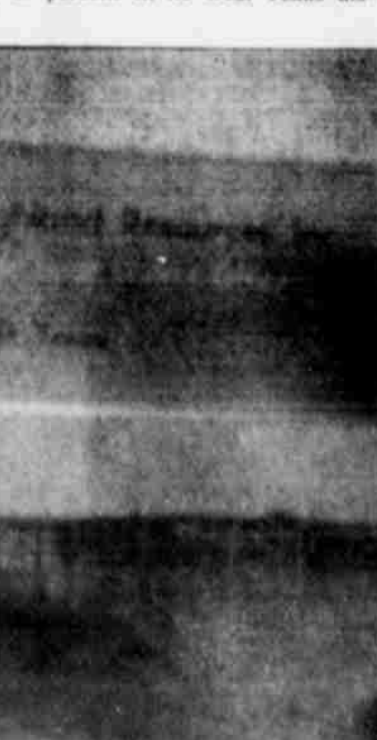

Highland Resources, Inc., becomes the largest operator in the area with approximately 332 wells in the Garza field.

Preparatory work in the first 32-well unit of the company's waterflood project continues to move ahead.

Highland has a 20-year contract with the White River District for the purchase of water for flooding wells in secondary recovery operations in the area.

A 5,000 BPD pumping plant being built near Post is expected to effect the conversion of 15 of the 32 wells in the first waterflood unit into injection wells.

Missionary home after five years

If the Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Rogers and their three children enjoyed their Christmas here more than most, it was because it was a special treat for them to have one "at home" after five years of missionary work in the Republic of South Africa.

They flew home for a year in the United States, arriving in Post Dec. 21.

Kenneth, a Post High School graduate of 1953, is the son of Mr.

and Mrs. Earl Rogers. His wife, Wanda, a Tahoka High School graduate, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Murray of Grassland.

The Rogers with their children, Michael 10, Danny 7, and Regina 4, are living at 110 West 10th St.

FOR THE NEXT 12 months, Rev. Rogers will travel all over the United States speaking in Nazarene churches on his missionary work in Africa.

In their five years in the Republic of South Africa, Rev. Rogers for two and one-half years served as manager of a Church of the Nazarene publishing house in Johannesburg, that country's largest city with over a million population.

Church publications printed under Mr. Rogers' direction were in seven different languages because there are that many languages spoken in the Republic of (See Missionary Home, page 8)

This is "clearance week" in Post as you will note from the clearance ads in this week's edition of The Dispatch.

This year for the first time in many Januaries local merchants picked the same weekend for their sales. So local shoppers will have a lot of bargains to consider in a weekend bargain spree on Post's Main Street.

And you'll note on page 8 too, the First National Bank has a slogan very similar to that "shop at home" one which is so familiar. It's "save at home." All the same solid reasons apply to both. Keep your money at home — at work in our own community.

The hospital count hit 20 here Tuesday morning for a couple of hours with about three-fourths of the cases having to do with flu, colds, pneumonia.

The schools' absentes last week were high on Thursday and Friday but many of the missing were back in school Monday so no serious thought of closing was considered, according to Supt. Bill Shiver.

As we understand it, no Hong Kong flu has reached Post as yet. All the local sickness was termed by one physician as "just the plain old flu."

The Post schools inaugurated a (See Postings, page 8)

Stage set for legislative session

Another state legislative session is just around the corner, with lawmakers due back in Austin on Tuesday, Jan. 14, to begin bickering mightily over a number of matters of the utmost importance to Garza counties and other Texans . . . also over hundreds of other less spectacular matters.

Some of the more important matters receiving the attention of the state senators and representatives will include:

- Spending and taxation. Nearly everybody is convinced there will be a big tax bill. But one of those who isn't is none other than Gov.-elect Preston Smith. He is hopeful that he won't have to be concerned with a tax program this year. However, there are demands for appropriations increases, and school teachers want a $200 million pay raise.
- Recommendations of the Governor's Committee on Public School Education, particularly those of district consolidation and tax burden equalization.

- Liquor-by-the-drink legislation. What again? This time, apparently, proponents will try the constitutional amendment (let-everybody-vote-on-it) route.
 - Minimum wage legislation.
 - Constitutional revision.
 - Increasing workmen's compensation from $35 to $40 a week maximum and broadening coverage to public employees.
 - Air and water pollution control measures.
 - Implementing the statewide water plan.
 - Raising the public welfare spending ceiling.
- The incoming governor has indicated he will attach personal priority to these major program areas: education (with emphasis on vocational and technical training), law enforcement, finance, pollution measures and water matters.
- As usual, it will be fun to watch—and the big show starts next Tuesday.

Front seat for path to the moon

Whatever we've missed in the past or might miss in the future, those of us alive today were "on the scene" for the launching of mankind into a new era.

Less than a generation ago, men would have laughed at anyone who suggested seriously that man could fly to the moon. Yet in 1968, little more than ten years since our national space program was created by Congress, three American astronauts have broken free of earth's grasp, reached out some 240,000 miles, circled the moon ten times on Christmas Eve, and returned safely to earth within three miles of where they were targeted to land.

The orbiting of the moon by Apollo 8 and its crew was truly one of the outstanding pioneering feats of mankind, and now that the path to the moon has been pioneered, there are equally outstanding and even greater achievements ahead. We, today, are truly living in an historic era.

Register—you might want to vote!

Even though the next "big" election year, everybody who hasn't done so should register to vote before the registration deadline. And that deadline, Jan. 21, isn't very far away.

Any election is important—even though some are more so than others. This year, we know there will be the same elections for school board and city council members, plus any special elections that might be called.

It used to be that many Texans did not register because they were opposed to the poll tax. Well, we don't have the poll tax now, yet some people are finding other excuses for not qualifying themselves to vote.

Voter registration is so easy now that no citizen should deny himself of the right to vote.

Importance of the scholastic census

Few people attach the importance they should to the annual scholastic census held here and in every other school district throughout the state in January.

School administrators point out the importance of every scholastic being enumerated and of every child who will be starting to school for the first time next fall to be included in the count.

Within the next few days, parents will be getting school census blanks, which will be brought home by their children who are in school. They are urged to fill out the census blanks and return them promptly.

Parents who do not have children in school, but who have a youngster who will be starting to school for the first time in the fall are urged to call the high school principal's office so the pre-school age child can be enumerated in this month's census.

HERE IT IS Jan. 6 and I, for one, am glad to see things back to normal holiday-wise. With Christmas and New Year's Day both falling smackdab in the middle of the week, it made too many days seem like Monday that weren't.

The only New Year's resolution made at our house was one my wife came up with. She has resolved that from now on when out-of-town, over-night company leaves our house they take all their possessions with them. She figures it will save her a sizable postage bill that she runs up in mailing such left-behind things as boots, shoes, sweater, hats, etc.

AFTER THANKSGIVING she mailed packages of left-behind wearing apparel and various other articles to Dallas and McLean, then had to mail another big package to McLean after Christmas. We'll have to give our No. 2 son credit for trying, however. The morning he and our No. 2 daughter-in-law, Glenda, left for McLean after spending Christmas with us, the wife found his hat less than five minutes after they'd left. On the chance that they'd stopped at a service station before leaving town she grabbed the hat, jumped in the car and took after them.

She didn't go far before she met them coming back for the hat. "Thank goodness, that's a postage bill saved," she said. Five minutes later, I tripped and almost fell over a pair of cowboy boots that I knew didn't belong to me, and a quick search turned up a number of other things they'd left behind. So, back to the parcel post window at the post office.

THE WIFE THINKS it might help to nail a big sign by the door reading, "Have You Left Anything?" I think it would be a better and more profitable idea to hold a rummage sale the day after company leaves.

The man up the street says a man is getting old when he scans the menu without first looking at the waitress.

THE NEW YEAR of 1969 shouldn't be such a bad one. There's only one Friday the 13th—in June.

Every once in a while in the hopes that I'll be able to wangle a requisition order for repairs to my typewriter here at The Dispatch office, I run something like the following:

"Xvxn though my typewriter is an old model, it works quitx wlll xcept for onx kxy. Thxrx arx 46 kxyx that function wlll knough, but just onx kxy not working maksx thx differnxx.

"Somtxmx it xxmxs to mx that our group is somxwhat likx my typewriter, not all thx kxyx arx working propxrvly. You may say, 'Wlll, I am only onx pxrxson. It won't maks much differnxx.' But, you xxx, thx group to bx affxctivx nxxdx thx activx participation of xvxy pxrxson.

"So thx next timx you think you arx only onx pxrxson and that your xffort is not nxxdxd rxmxkmbxr my typewriter and say to your-xlf, 'I am a kxy pxrxson and nxxdxd vxry much.'"

I'M GLAD TEXACO is letting Jack Benny do those commercials. He needs the money.

The Texas Press Association bulletin wonders if anyone has ever figured what it costs in electricity alone to run a color-TV set for a full hour, added to that the wear and tear on that expensive set for the same period, combined those figures with a prorated cost of the set itself—then estimated the value of the listener's time—and wondered why he sat there for a solid hour looking at and listening to a 29-year-old movie that neither he nor his family would have dreamed in to see free-of-charge at the hometown "movie house?"

Teen-agers really haven't changed much. They still go on, leave home and get married. However, today they don't necessarily do it in that order.

CITIES IN FLAMES
NEW YORK — Short of nuclear war it would be hard to imagine fire destroying nine American cities in the next 70 years. Yet the Insurance Information Institute notes that between 1835 and 1968 fire destroyed major portions of New York City, Charleston, S. C., Portland, Me., Chicago, Boston, Jacksonville, Baltimore, San Francisco and Chelsea, Mass.

Sheriff's letter —

 tical subdivision cause damage to the jail that the political subdivision pay for such damage. These rules have become necessary because in the past City prisoners have been placed in jail with no formal charges ever filed against them and later dismissed without any charges ever having been filed. City prisoners at one time did more than $100 of damage to the plumbing to the county jail and the City not only refused to pay for the damages but the City officers would not help clean up the mess. On more than one occasion City prisoners were placed in the jail after having been severely beaten and were never afforded any medical attention.

"The City in taking its prisoners to Slaton is suffering no greater inconvenience than is Garza County. For years long - term or dangerous county prisoners have been taken to Lubbock County for safekeeping either because our jail is not adequate or conditions are not safe for the keeping of dangerous prisoners.

"Your Sheriff's office which is operated by one full - time deputy and an office deputy who is paid $40 per month, is charged with a greater responsibility than simply law enforcement. It is charged with an efficient operation of a jail, attendance at all court sessions held in Garza County whether civil or criminal, investigating for the grand jury, transportation of prisoners to penal institutions, service of all civil processes in Garza County, maintenance of County criminal records and a multitude of other civil duties that down through the years have been placed upon the Sheriff's office. For instance, the checking of motor numbers on any out - of - state vehicle registered in Garza County. This is a small item but can be most time consuming. I am not complaining about the amount of duties placed upon the Sheriff's office. I am simply saying that if the Sheriff's office is to be efficiently run it has to have reasonable rules and regulations and those people using county facilities simply have to abide by those rules. After all, I abide by the rules of the Sheriff of Lubbock County when I place a prisoner in that jail.

"Another erroneous conception you were given was that the radio operators were moved in order to give me more room. The truth of the matter is that at the time the radio operators were moved from the courthouse I had more room than I had ever had before and was not in need of additional room. Another peculiarity of the radio operators is that while the whole of their work is directly related to law enforcement and the very efficiency of law enforcement depends upon the fidelity and efficiency of the communication system, the person charged with responsibility for law enforcement has absolutely nothing to say about whom is hired for radio operators, the hours they work or anything else.

CITY MGR. Eddie Warren said the cost of the equipment would be between $1,100 and $1,200, since the city already owns a base station and since it will be able to purchase used mobile equipment from the Southwestern Public Service Co., which recently switched over to transistor-type radio systems.

The new pickup truck on which the council authorized bid advertising would replace a water department truck that has been in use since 1964 and has logged some 38,000 miles. The city manager said $2,000 is set up in the current budget for the purchase of the truck.

Donald Noel, manager of the Western Lounge requested that the city council consider changing its Sunday closing ordinance to permit his place to remain open until 11 a.m. Sundays and to be open on Sunday afternoons.

Noel, who holds Saturday night dances at the lounge, said Post is one of the state's few "wet" towns which has Sunday closing laws. The state law, he explained, allows taverns to stay open until 1 a.m. Sunday and to open Sunday afternoons.

Missionary home—

 South Africa.

Mr. Rogers next spent two years teaching in a Nazarene Bible College, Lula Schmelzback, in eastern Transvaal. His final six months in the country saw his duties again radically changed to that of administrator of a 30 - bed hospital at Blouberg and the person in charge of 15 churches and preaching points. Seven native Nazarene pastors worked under him in this assignment.

The Rev. Rogers says that the Republic of South Africa is far advanced over other African nations economically. Some of the natives drive cars, own their own furniture, and homes.

HE SAID the republic is beginning public education and that the natives now have their own university at Pietersburg.

The Republic of South Africa is now the greatest gold producing country in the free world and produces a large portion of all the world's diamonds.

Demon worship and ancestral worship are other forms of native worship among the blacks, but Mr. Rogers reports that Christianity is making real strides. A number of church denominations have missionaries in the country. The Church of the Nazarene has 40 working there. Native schools originally run by the Church of the Nazarene were turned over to the government several years ago.

One of the sacrifices the Rogers had to make in their missionary work was in placing their two boys in boarding school. This was located at Pietersburg, 70 miles away from Blouberg where they were last stationed. The boys came home "for the weekend" every two weeks.

AFTER GRADUATING from Post High, Mr. Rogers attended Bethany Nazarene College in Bethany, Okla., from where he was graduated in 1957. After a year of graduate work, he entered the Church of the Nazarene ministry and served as pastor of Nazarene

Gunshot victim drives 40 miles

A 19 - year - old Marine who drove from Lubbock to Post with a gunshot wound in his stomach Saturday night was taken to Garza Memorial Hospital by city police officers upon his arrival here and transferred from there to Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

Police Sgt. Otis G. Shepherd Jr. and Patrolman Max Chaffin, who had been alerted by Lubbock officers that a man had fled the scene of a shooting near there, took Johnny J. Perez into custody after an automobile chase from the U. S. Hwy. 84 and 15th Street intersection to Main Street.

Perez, whose home is in Post, was taken to the hospital here, from where he was transferred to the Lubbock hospital. The Post officers notified Lubbock officers of Perez' arrest and they were waiting at the Lubbock hospital when the wounded man arrived.

Police Chief Bill Gordon said Perez was home on leave before going to Vietnam.

 new 15 cent breakfast in the school lunchroom yesterday morning and 105 students and teachers turned out to drink a glass of orange juice, a glass of milk, and eat toast and cereal.

Postings—
 The new program, approved by the Texas Education Agency, is designed primarily to serve a very necessary meal for youngsters who aren't getting breakfast at home before coming to school. The state reimburses the local schools 15 cents per meal for needy students. But the program is not limited to such youngsters either. Others pay their own way.

We can understand that a good breakfast is a No. 1 requirement for a good "learning day" for boys and girls. We've always considered it our No. 1 requirement for a good "work day" here at The Post Dispatch.

New effort coming on United Fund drive

Garza County's 1969 United Fund Drive, which stalled slightly less than $2,000 short of its goal, isn't finished. Within a few weeks a renewed effort will be made to put it over the top, according to Drive Chairman Bailey Mayo.

United Fund Secretary Lou Marks told The Dispatch this week that $5,011.50 has been raised of the goal of $10,000.

King-Barnes wedding event of Dec. 28 in church at Abilene

The Belmont Baptist Church of Abilene was the setting for the wedding of Miss Brenda Jean King and Kenneth William Barnes with the bride's father the Rev. Kenneth E. King, pastor of the Terrill Road Baptist Church in Scotch Plains, N. J., reading the double ring vows.

The wedding took place Dec. 28, at 7:30 o'clock in the evening with the church enhanced with baskets of gladiola flanking a candelabra and palm arrangement, and white candles in the church windows.

Parents of the couple are the Rev. and Mrs. King and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Barnes of Hale Center, former Post residents.

Presented in marriage by her uncle, W. Boyd King, the bride wore her mother's wedding gown of antique satin and lace with the neck outlined in tiny pearls and sequins. The bodice was overlaid with lace and the skirt was accented with four lace panels, one extending the length of the train. Her headpiece of candlelight roses outlined in pearls held an elbow-length veil of candlelight. She carried a white orchid centered in aspidochelone, mounted on an heirloom Bible.

Miss Mary Veta Barnes, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She wore a long empire-style dress in barberry red velvet, a rose-shaped headpiece of red velvet and carried a bouquet of white cascading carnations. Miss Brenda Ross and Farrell Jean Ross were bridesmaids and their empire dresses featured bodices of red velvet and skirts of ivory tulle de sole. Their rose-shaped headpieces matched their skirts.

Miss Sandra Shriver, cousin of the bride was flower girl. Miss Helen Highfill, another cousin of the bride, sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "Wedding Prayer", accompanied by organist, Ruth Giesler.

Donald Barnes of Garland was his brother's best man. Neal Barnes of Hale Center and Ronald Shagala of Abilene, brother and cousin of the bridegroom, were groomsmen. Ushers were Dan Brittain, Phoenix, Ariz., Estes Turner, Abilene, and James Swann, Rotan.

The reception, which was hosted by the bridegroom's parents, was at the Ramada Inn. White mums and carnations accented with red velvet wedding bells and red candles, were centered on the serving table. Members of the house party were Mrs. Harvey Reynolds, Reuben Rouse, Donald Barnes, Neal Barnes and Miss Linda Teel.

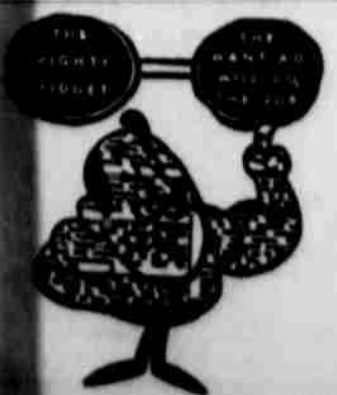

For the wedding trip to San Antonio, the bride donned a light green coat suit and brown accessories.

They are at home at 2125 Swenson, Abilene, where both are students at Hardin-Simmons University. Mrs. Barnes is a junior, a member of Beta Gamma Epsilon and the Cowboy Band sweetheart. Mr. Barnes is a senior, president of the Cowboy Band, a member of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, National Professional Men's Music fraternity, Kappa Phi Omega, men's social club, and completed ROTC in 1968.

'What to Listen for in Hymns' is presented club

The Rev. George L. Miller presented a program on "What to Listen for in Hymns" at the Monday night meeting of the Post Music Club, National Federation of Music Clubs.

The meeting was held at the First Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Mr. Miller traced the history of church music from plainsong up to contemporary music. He also described and pointed out the elements of music — harmony, rhythm and melody. The minister illustrated his talk with singing of hymns, accompanied by Mrs. Bob Olson. Mrs. Olson also played several hymns at the organ during the talk.

Concluding the program with contemporary church music, the Rev. Mr. Miller was joined in singing by Joey Lee and Giles McCrary. Giles accompanied the group on the guitar also.

The meeting was opened with the reading of the club collect and the group singing of the hymn of the month, "Christian, Dost Thou See Them?"

Miss Brenda Haley was accepted as a new member during the business meeting.

Those attending included guests, Mrs. Brenda Cooper, Mrs. Dorothy Harp, Mrs. Roy Miller of Lancaster, Calif., and Misses Jodie Tipton and Tiana Shiver, and members.

Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Olson were hostesses.

SATURDAY VISITOR
Dr. Ronnie Short of Dallas visited in Post Saturday with her grandmother, Mrs. Ethel Redman.

Those of you who walked into The Post Dispatch office Monday, might, if you were listening closely, heard Editor Didway and Mrs. C humming a tune or occasionally breaking forth into song.

Were we dispelling the usual Monday blues? Not at all. We both had been caught up in an item in the Yesteryears column under the "25 year heading". Digging out the books from "yesteryears" is a job which frequently gets passed around at the office and this week Mr. C had the chore. He released me from it so I "could get on with" my normal bookwork so I would have plenty of time to work free for the government on all the year-end forms.

Never ask me what I do for my country unless you have lots of time for my reply!

Mr. C came up with an item taken from the Jan. 13, 1944 Post Dispatch concerning the hillbilly song, "It Makes No Difference Now". I was amazed to find that this song was written by FLOYD TILLMAN, a Post resident and a cousin of George Tillman. Edna Charlie remembered knowing him even though he hasn't lived in Post for 25 years. I'm sure the reason he remembered is because "Dad" was born in Ryan, Okla. Edna Charlie never forgets anything good about Oklahoma.

I remembered that the song was popular when I was in high school and Charlie attached it to some other era. (Glad I could get it in that I'm a bit younger than Charlie.) I looked up the article after reading Mr. C's teaser and found that this song was written in 1937 and was the third song written by Mr. Tillman. It made the hit parade in a big way and Bing Crosby made one of his famous recordings of it.

Unfortunately, as Mr. C edited from the article, Mr. Tillman had sold the song for a mere $300. The feature continued to say that the song frequently drove people to suicide court of a hillbilly "Ghosts Sunday" and that it brought out the "saturnal tendencies" in the composer when it became a hit parade tune.

The article points out that Floyd Tillman was no "one-shotter" as he has written over 100 songs, 25 of which can be claimed as "hits." Among them are: "I'll Keep on Loving You," "Precious Memory," "They Took the Stars Out of Heaven," "Daisy Mae," "Two More Years," "Don't Be Blue," "I'll Come Back to You," "It's Been a Long, Long Time" and "G. I. Blues."

I wish I could say that FLOYD wrote all these hits right here in Post, Texas, but I can't. A majority of them were written in Houston and that city probably takes credit for his fame. Too bad!

I called the George Tillman residence Tuesday night to find out what happened to Floyd from 1944 on but no answer. So, tune in next week.

My boss (whom I always refer to as Mr. C) informed me that "you can't just stop there" so I started calling a few people who have lived in Post for 25 years or more. While Tom Boucher put his "thinking cap" on I called Gwen Boren and she "thought Mr. C was still living in Houston and still composing". Mr. Boucher assured my call soon as I hung up and suggested I call Mrs. J. J. Hays. Mrs. Hays said her last sort about him was that he was still in Houston but she couldn't say for sure.

So, since Mr. C and I will be in Houston this weekend I'll just give Mr. Tillman a ring and see what I come up with.

So, we have a "first" — Mr. C's first "continued until next week" column.

Miss Lynda Jayne Kilip of York, N. Y., bride-elect of Dan G. Cockrum, was honored with a miscellaneous shower Dec. 13 at the Community Room.

Hostesses were: Mrs. Robert Cox, G. P. Powell, Hansford Hullman, Everett Woodham, Harold McCray, Jess Hendrix and Carl Cederholm.

A white agate floor-length cloth covered the serving table which was centered with an arrangement of red and white carnations, red punch, open-faced sandwiches, cookies, mints and nuts were served.

Miss Holleman's engagement to George Reece announced

Feb. 14 will be the wedding date of Miss Barbara Holleman and George Reece according to the engagement announcement made this week by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Holleman.

Mr. Reece is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Reece of Tahoka. The wedding will take place at the Calvary Baptist Church.

Miss Holleman is a 1965 graduate of Post High School and a graduate of Howard County Junior College. Mr. Reece, a Tahoka High School graduate, is employed by the City of Lubbock.

Library Listening Post

By ROSEMARY CHAPMAN
Lots of goodies in the ol' stocking for Post Library this Christmas — a new addition to the card catalogue, three new book shelves, a new copying machine, and many, many new books. Come on down, darlinks — enjoy, enjoy! (Translation: December was a stinking month circulation-wise. Let's start the New Year off right and BUY our way into their hearts.)

I suppose you've all been wondering where the library column has been for the past three weeks. Oh, you HADN'T been wondering. Hmm. Well, I'll just tell you anyway.

My horoscope said that of all the signs of the Zodiac, Capricorn was the only one that could make a New Year's Resolution and keep it, so I decided to take advantage of my "cold, calculating, ambitious personality", as it is always referred to in the stars, and quit smoking. I even started early — two weeks BEFORE New Year's.

Naturally, while suffering from the usual severe withdrawal pains, I found it advantageous to avoid situations in which I had previously smoked up a storm. Therefore, no library columns. Clear! Very well. Let us proceed. (My excuses may not be good but you'll have to admit that they're imaginative).

It has long been an LLP tradition to list the library hours and volunteers in the first column of each New Year. Actually, I can't remember why we do this but we do, and it would certainly make me feel uneasy to break with tradition NOW. (I might be forced to run across the street and bum another cigarette from Patty Kirkpatrick or Betty Cook.)

Monday: 2-4 p. m., Henrietta Nichols; 4-6 p. m., Mary Prather.

Tuesday: 4-6 p. m., Larry Barton; 7-9 p. m., Rm Chapman.

Wednesday: 2-4 p. m., Mrs. Vernon Payne; 4-6 p. m., Joy Parker.

Thursday: 4-6 p. m., Ruth Ann Newby.

Friday: 2-4 p. m., Glenda Morrow; 4-6 p. m., Pos Wee Pierce.

Saturday: 9-12 a. m., Louise McCrary.

Louise, who don't you smoke? There you are, right next door, and a person can't even count on you when they're desperate.

Following our usual procedure of putting the most important items in the column last, we now come to recent book donations.

The Andy Strizers have given us an excellent book — "The National Parks" by Freeman Tilden.

"The National Parks" contains information and evaluation on all of our national parks, national monuments, historic sites and buildings, and includes 225 photographs. Andy says that it's one of the best

WOMAN ASKS HELP IN FINDING FATHER

Dear Editor:
For years I have been trying to locate my dad, whom I have not seen since I was a small child. I have traced him to Post, Texas, and there he completely disappeared.

Dad is Will Williams, also known as Bill and W. N. He is believed to have been born in Texas to a family of 10 in 1898. Birthday believed to be between Dec. 24 and Jan. 3. He is 6 feet tall, weighs 175 pounds and has blue eyes. He was a truck driver. Also picked cotton.

He left home (believed to be Stanton, Texas) in June of 1932 looking for work. On Nov. 1, 1932, books he's ever read, and he wanted us to have it.

Charles E. Webb has given several books to the library in memory of his mother Mrs. A. C. Cooke.

There are also two large bags of books at the library with no name on them. (Volunteers, PLEASE get names — we certainly want to give credit where credit is due!)

he mailed a letter at Post, Texas, saying he was there and had to go to Fort Worth on business and then was coming home. He was never seen again until February of 1966. He went to Uvalde, Texas, looking for me. He was reported to look sick and have a bad limp, right leg.

I have tried every way possible to find him, with no luck. I found out only this last month that he was last at Post, Texas.

I feel that perhaps he might have relatives there or maybe some old-timers might recall him. I am wondering if you could put a notice in your paper. Any information will be welcome.

Also, would you be able to tell me where I might write there to find out if any records are available on arrests made or accidents during November of 1932.

I am so desperate to find him, as I understand he might need help. Anything you can do will be so appreciated. Thank you.

SOCIAL DRINKING

By Don Davenport

One of the greatest social menacing indulgence among Americans today lurks behind the seemingly innocuous practice of Social Drinking.

Solomon says it this way in Proverbs 6:27: "Can a man take fire in his bosom, and his clothes not be burned? Or can one walk upon hot coals, and his feet not be scorched?" The Apostle Paul further states that "a man will reap exactly what he plants. If he plants in the field of his natural desires, from it he will gather the harvest of death; if he plants in the field of the Spirit, from the Spirit he will gather the harvest of eternal life." (Gal. 6:7)

Certainly, in regard to alcoholism, we see the above inspired statements proved.

We must remember that one out of 10 people who begin as social drinkers end up alcoholics. Someone says, "Well, it won't happen to me." Yet, it has happened to over five million of your fellow Americans.

"It won't happen to me!" Remember that 8 1/2 million Americans have a chronic drinking problem. Everyone of them started out as social drinkers. Not a one intended to become an alcoholic. I recently read that on an average across the nation 50% of the drivers you meet on the highway are drunk. In highly populated areas the percentage is even higher. You say, "My chances are 1 out of 10—that's pretty good odds." Is it? Would you ride on an airline that had a record of 1 crash out of every 10 flights? You would be foolish to buy a ticket on an airline that had just 1 crash out of every 10 take-offs.

Consider these words from the son of an alcoholic: "Please don't say that social drinking is harmless. You wouldn't if you had seen my mother red-eyed and wet-faced. You wouldn't if you had been as scared as she was. You wouldn't if alcohol forced you to sell your business and to squander all your money. You wouldn't if as a mother or son or daughter you sat in church service and heard the name of your husband or father read out as not worthy of the fellowship of the saints. Please don't say any good comes from social drinking . . ."

A well known life insurance company did the following study upon thousands of their policy holders concerning drinking. They came up with these findings:

- Premature death among heavy drinkers is 278% more than for abstainers. This is dying before one reaches his life expectancy.
- The following statistics are startling:
- Heavy drinkers have 230% more cancer than abstainers.
- Heavy drinkers have 260% more heart disease than abstainers.
- Heavy drinkers have 467% more digestive tract problems.
- Heavy drinkers have 500% more fatal accidents than abstainers.
- Heavy drinkers have 438% more other type accidents than abstainers.
- Heavy drinkers have 267 more suicides than abstainers.

The writer of Proverbs paints the plight of drinking in vivid terms. By picturing the unhappy condition of the intoxicated person, the Lord seeks to provide the incentive for leaving liquor alone.

Hear him:

Who has woe? Who has sorrow? Who has strife? Who has complaining? Who has wounds without cause? Who has redness of eyes? Those who tarry long over the wine, those who go to try mixed wine. Do not look at wine when it is red, when it sparkles in the cup and goes down smoothly. At the last it bites like a serpent, and stings like an adder. Your eyes will see strange things, and your mind utter perverse things. You will be like one who lies down in the midst of the sea, like one who lies on the top of a mast. "They struck me," you will say, "but I can not hurt; they beat me, but I did not feel it. When shall I awake? I will seek another drink." (Proverbs 23:29-35)

Boys work over holiday period

By Elbert Rudd

Six boys found employment during the Christmas holidays with an engineering group out of Dallas. The boss' wife came to the school and asked some of the boys, recommended by Mr. Payne, the high school principal, if they would like to work during the holidays. Five of the boys carried and laid out cable, while the sixth surveyed for the outfit. The work lasted through the holidays and up until school resumed. The boys working were: Mike Scott, Danny Bostick, James McBride, George Torres and Arthur Torres, with the cable group, and Elbert Rudd with the surveying boss.

Registration of aliens under way

The annual registration of aliens to the United States got under way last Thursday and will continue through January.

The registration, in which aliens record their current addresses, is carried out each year by the Post Office Department for the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Registration cards may be picked up at the post office here. Aliens must pick up the registration cards in person, fill them out and return them in person to a post office. The cards cannot be returned by mail.

In the case of an alien for whom a parent or legal guardian must act, the card must be filled out by the parent or guardian.

The good never lasts. And thus are gone our Christmas holidays. Time marches on, while we march back to school and homework. But I guess it's better than sitting around gorging on Christmas candy and gaining weight. Anyway, we'll get used to the old routine again. (I think.)

PHS students wish Don Collier a speedy recovery. Instead of two front teeth for Christmas, Don broke his leg in two places. Also, glad to see Billy Williams back in school after a long bout of illness. And we heartily welcome Jodi Cash back into our fold. However, we sadly say good-bye to Mrs. Colleen Poer, the high school secretary, and Becky and Jimmy Poer. The Poer family will be moving to North Carolina. These people will be dearly missed at school, but we wish them happiness in their new home. And we welcome Mrs. Linda Richardson, the new high school secretary. We hope she finds the busy job enjoyable.

SOUR: I am not going to review the Christmas or New Year's dance because they are too far gone. And the next dance won't be until January 18. So, count your fingers and act bored during the lull!

I won't say much more except that I wish that the holidays weren't gone with the wind, and don't wash your car in cold weather. Your hands freeze from the cold water. (That's the voice of experience speaking.) Be good, and don't forget to brush your teeth!

Burlington report tells record year highlights

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Burlington Industries highlights a year of record sales and earnings and a continuing program of capital expenditures for expansion and modernization in its 1968 Annual Report being sent this week to the Company's 32,000 shareholders.

The report covers the 1968 fiscal year in which Burlington sales were $1.6 billion, an increase of 19 per cent over the prior year, and earnings were $3.10 per share, a 35 per cent increase.

Capital spending totaled $109 million for expansion and modernization in 1968 and is estimated at $125 million to $150 million in 1969.

"THE PAST year saw a continuation of our strong drive to increase participation in the growing and changing textile markets of Europe," Charles F. Myers Jr., chairman, and Ely R. Callaway Jr., president, point out in their letter to shareholders. "We believe there is real opportunity for profitable growth abroad... we are stepping up our investment in Europe and have recently announced that two new product lines, tufted carpets and men's socks, will be manufactured and sold there under the Burlington label."

The report notes that since 1962, Burlington has based its policy for profitable growth on (1) the most efficient use of existing facilities, (2) internal expansion through substantial capital investment for plant and equipment, (3) new expansion in markets abroad, and (4) diversification into non-textile areas in which Burlington's management, marketing and production abilities can be used effectively.

FOUR NEW manufacturing plants were completed during the year at Mt. Olive, N. C.; Hillsville, Va.; Monticello, Ark., and Mountain City, Tenn. Other facilities announced or nearing completion include a chemical plant near Greensboro, a transportation center at Burlington, and a carpet distribution center at Stokesdale, all in North Carolina. Burlington also announced plans to double the size of its corporate Research Center.

Diversification moves include Burlington Management Services Company which was organized in 1968 to provide computer-related management information systems and time-sharing services to outside clients; and the acquisition of United Furniture Corp., of Lexington, N. C., a manufacturer of medium to high-priced lines of living room, dining room and bedroom furniture.

THE 1968 sales breakdown by major markets shows: 69 per cent in apparel, including finished and unfinished apparel fabrics, yarns sold for use in apparel fabrics, and men's and women's hosiery; 25 per cent in home furnishings, including carpeting, upholstery and drapery fabrics, mattress ticking, sheets, pillowcases, draperies, bedspreads, furniture, and yarn sold to manufacturers of home furnishings fabrics; and 6 per cent in industrial products, including various industrial fabrics and yarns.

Burlington is the largest and most diversified manufacturer of textiles and related products for apparel home, and industry. The Company operates more than 130 plants in 96 American communities and in 11 countries abroad and has 83,900 employees.

STOCKMAN URGED TO STUDY TAX RETURN

Lack of communication may cost a livestock producer more tax dollars than he cares to think about.

Income from the sale of livestock may be reported in at least four places on a tax return, points out Ed Garnett of Amarillo, area farm management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Since the amount of tax paid on a particular sale varies according to where it is reported, a livestock producer must be sure his tax accountant knows what "kind" of livestock sale was made. A deposit slip simply showing "livestock sales" won't get the job done.

To help report livestock sales accurately and to save on tax dollars, Garnett suggests that the following information be kept in mind and that distinctions be made in records or on deposit slips:

1. Raised calves — total amount of this type of sale is taxable.

2. Stockers purchased for resale — since tax is paid on only the profit above purchase price, be sure to have the purchase price on all cattle sold. This is sometimes confusing since stockers are often bought in one year and sold in the next.

3. Purchased breeding stock (subject to capital gain) — only one-half of the sale price is taxable.

4. Raised breeding stock (subject to capital gain) — only one-half of the sale price is taxable.

5. Cow and calf — the cow and calf must be assigned individual values. Sale of the calf produces ordinary income and is fully taxable; sale of the cow is subject to capital gain treatment as discussed above.

Careful consideration should be given to these items, urges Garnett. By avoiding a tax payment resulting from a reporting error on the sale of one cow held for breeding purposes, enough money could be saved to pay a tax accountant's fee.

Plans shape up for inaugural

AUSTIN — A lively and colorful "Texas Inaugural Festival" is being planned to highlight the inauguration of Preston Smith and Barnes as governor and lieutenant governor.

"We are planning big, fun and entertaining festivities surrounding the inauguration," Gov.-elect Smith, "and we're emphasizing that they're for the people of Texas and not to the public."

Six inaugural balls, a number, will climax the festival following the inauguration at 10 a. m. on Jan. 21.

The activities begin with a party dinner on Jan. 20 with entertainment by Glen Campbell, leading male vocalist and one of the leading singers in the country at this time.

School information is sought in census here

School census blanks are being prepared for distribution to Post school students as the annual count of anticipated scholastic population for the 1969-70 school year is begun.

Supt. Bill Shiver said that information derived from the forms not only provides necessary facts for school planning for the next term, but a portion of state funds are based on this scholastic count.

On the blank, parents should list all children who will be six and under 18 years of age on Sept. 1, 1969, regardless of whether or not they actually attend school. Married children should be included if they live in the Post school district.

Those who fail to receive a census blank, but have children who should be counted, are asked to contact one of the school principals' offices. The contact may be personal, by telephone or by letter and a census blank will be mailed those who cannot go by the principal's office.

Prompt return of the completed census forms will be appreciated by the school administration, Supt. Shiver said.

Free Family Record Plan for Prescriptions
We offer this to all our customers who ask for it. It comes in mighty handy this time of year for income tax purposes.
Our modern Taxco Record System, installed two years ago, makes available to you at any time a complete record of your original prescriptions and prescription refills for each year or any given period.
Under this system your individual record of prescriptions will be so maintained as to qualify for income tax deduction, insurance requirements or for any other purpose under which you may need or desire such a record.
For instance, if you were to lose or misplace your prescription and had no record of its original prescription number with which to obtain a refill—it would be instantly available to you under your individual record.
THERE IS NO CHARGE FOR THIS SERVICE—JUST A REQUEST FROM YOU AND YOUR FILE WILL BE SET UP IMMEDIATELY.
