Double-barreled election may be set for December

Vote on hospital district and show building studied

The Garza County Commissioners' Court will meet Tuesday with a bond company representative to decide whether to call a double-barreled special election just before Christmas.

Garza County Junior Livestock Association officials, who met with the county commissioners' court and the city council of Post in a joint meeting yesterday morning, are pressing for as early a county bond vote as possible to decide on construction of a stock show and exhibition building.

They would like to have the new building ready for the 1969 show next March.

At the same time, County Judge J. E. Parker has a petition on his desk asking the commissioners' court to call an election to determine if Garza County voters would prefer that the county hospital be operated by a separate county-sized hospital district.

To save the cost of one election, the court is considering placing both propositions on the same ballot.

Some question has been raised, however, as to whether the December voting date would allow enough time for the voters to have the hospital district proposition explained to them.

Several weeks ago, the commissioners' court and the hospital trustees agreed to seek a hospital district election but the vote was expected to come in January.

Judge Parker told The Dispatch yesterday afternoon that the county commissioners' court will make some hard and fast decisions Tuesday on the county bond vote for a stock show and exhibition building.

The Junior Livestock Association at yesterday's meeting told both county court and city council that $28,940 would be needed to build the originally proposed building, and $37,648 required if the finished display room in front is enlarged for civic center usage.

The price on both has gone up $4,740, which is the cost of equipping the new building.

Joe Irons and Anrnold Sanderson told the two local governing bodies that the livestock group will guarantee $10,000 cash in private donations toward the cost of building and equipping such a building.

They said they have pledges for additional funds which have been promised when construction actually gets under way and these also will be contributed toward the cost of the proposed building.

It appears both the county and city favor building the originally-sized building and not the one with community center purposes.

Judge Parker said the city has indicated to the council it would provide $6,000 toward the construction.

With $10,000 in private contributions and $6,000 from the city, this would leave the county needing $13,000 or $14,000 from the sale of bonds to complete the necessary financing.

C. N. Burt of Lubbock, who handles public bond issues over West Texas, met with the council and the court yesterday morning in the courthouse and will be back Tuesday.

Burt told The Dispatch that the earliest possible date for the special election would be Dec. 21.

Burt told the council and court that the county could go the time warrant financing route, if it wished, and save some money on elec-

Ginnings pass 8,000-bale mark

Cotton harvest begins rolling in Garza area

The cotton harvest rush is on and everything is holding up well, except the price.

The Dispatch's county-wide gin check yesterday afternoon showed the Basinger Gin at Southland finally has gotten its harvest run under way and the county's other gins are really rolling.

A total of 8,261 bales of Garza County cotton has been ginned to date.

Last Thursday night's thunderstorm, which dropped .63 of an inch of moisture on Post, apparently hit the Graham area the hardest — and that's where the cotton is the best in years and years.

Bill McMahon, Graham gin manager, reports a total of 1.30 inch of moisture, high winds, and five or six minutes of small hail.

"I was afraid that hail had ruined some cotton," Bill told The Dispatch, but apparently it didn't do much damage.

McMahon estimates the Graham area harvest is close to half over with yields averaging a bale to two bales to the acre, dry land or irrigated.

"We ginned a little Saturday, laid off Sunday, and now are back ginning around the clock," McMahon said.

He added that the only thing which could hold them up from now on would be the weather.

Rainfall across the county last Thursday night varied from a half inch to the 1.30 reported at Graham. It was lighter in the northern part of the county.

Actual hail losses were reported east of Garza County — around

Lorenzo — from the storm.

The gin-by-gin report: Planters Gin: 451 bales ginned, started up again Tuesday after the Thursday night soaking.

Storie Gin: Rolling now with 303 bales ginned.

Graham Gin: 2,760 bales ginned to date. Ninety bales were on yard when storm hit.

Close City Gin: 1,435 bales ginned.

Hackberry Gin: 1,295 bales (half of which is counted as Garza County cotton) ginned to date.

Grassland Co-op Gin: 2,082 bales (third of which is counted as Garza County cotton) ginned to date.

County Agent Syd Conner said the 62 of an inch moisture here last Thursday night brought Post's official 1968 rainfall to date to 22.05 inches. The average annual rainfall for the county over the last 50 years is 19.32 inches.

Post Jaycees are hosts Tuesday to Region 1-E Forum

Six clubs were represented at a Junior Chamber of Commerce Region 1-E forum held at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Community Room.

One of the forum highlights was a speak-up contest that drew ten entries. Winners were Steve Hogg of Levelland, first; James Smith of Levelland, second, and Guy Witt of Tahoka, third.

The Levelland Jaycees won the travel trophy, which was a "mounted post" to represent the host city, with lettering burned into the plank on which the post was mounted.

The Levelland group also was the successful bidder on a Mexican sombrero, which their president will be required to wear at every Jaycee function. Proceeds from the auction of the sombrero will go to Girlstown, USA.

Joe Bailey of Post Region 1-E state director, conducted the forum. Quen Stapleton of Amarillo gave the extension vice president's report, and Bob Brown, president of the Dumas Jaycees gave a report on the Area 1 winter meeting to be held Jan. 24-26 in Dumas.

Clubs represented at the forum were Lubbock, Levelland, Dumas, Amarillo, Tahoka and Post.

Funeral services for Mrs. Frances Elizabeth Byrd, 79, of Clairemont were held at 2 p. m. Wednesday of last week at the Clairemont Baptist Church with the Rev. Billy Hudnall officiating. Burial was in the Clairemont Cemetery.

Mrs. Byrd died at 5:30 a. m. Tuesday of last week in the Callan Hospital at Rotan. She was a native of Kent County and a longtime member of the Clairemont Baptist Church.

He has been a patient there for days.

United Fund total remains far short

Garza County's United Fund drive is still about $2,500 short of its $10,000 goal, treasurer R. L. (Lou) Marks said Wednesday.

Marks said a number of campaign workers have not yet reported and that when they do he feels sure the amount collected or pledged will "look better than it does now."

"We want to make sure that no one misses an opportunity to contribute to the United Fund," the treasurer said. "Anyone who has not been contacted can make a contribution by seeing me or they can make it to the United Fund at the First National Bank."

Receives wound in gun accident

Richard Eugene Boswell, 18, was admitted to Garza Memorial Hospital late Sunday night after receiving an accidental gunshot wound in the calf of his right leg.

According to the police report, a .22 caliber pistol Boswell was wearing in a holster fell to the floor and discharged when the holster belt broke. The accident occurred at his home at 810 West 11th St.

Police said Boswell had just cleaned the gun, reloaded it and replaced it in the holster when the holster belt broke.

The bullet struck Boswell in the calf of his right leg and ranged upward, lodging about an inch and a half below his knee.

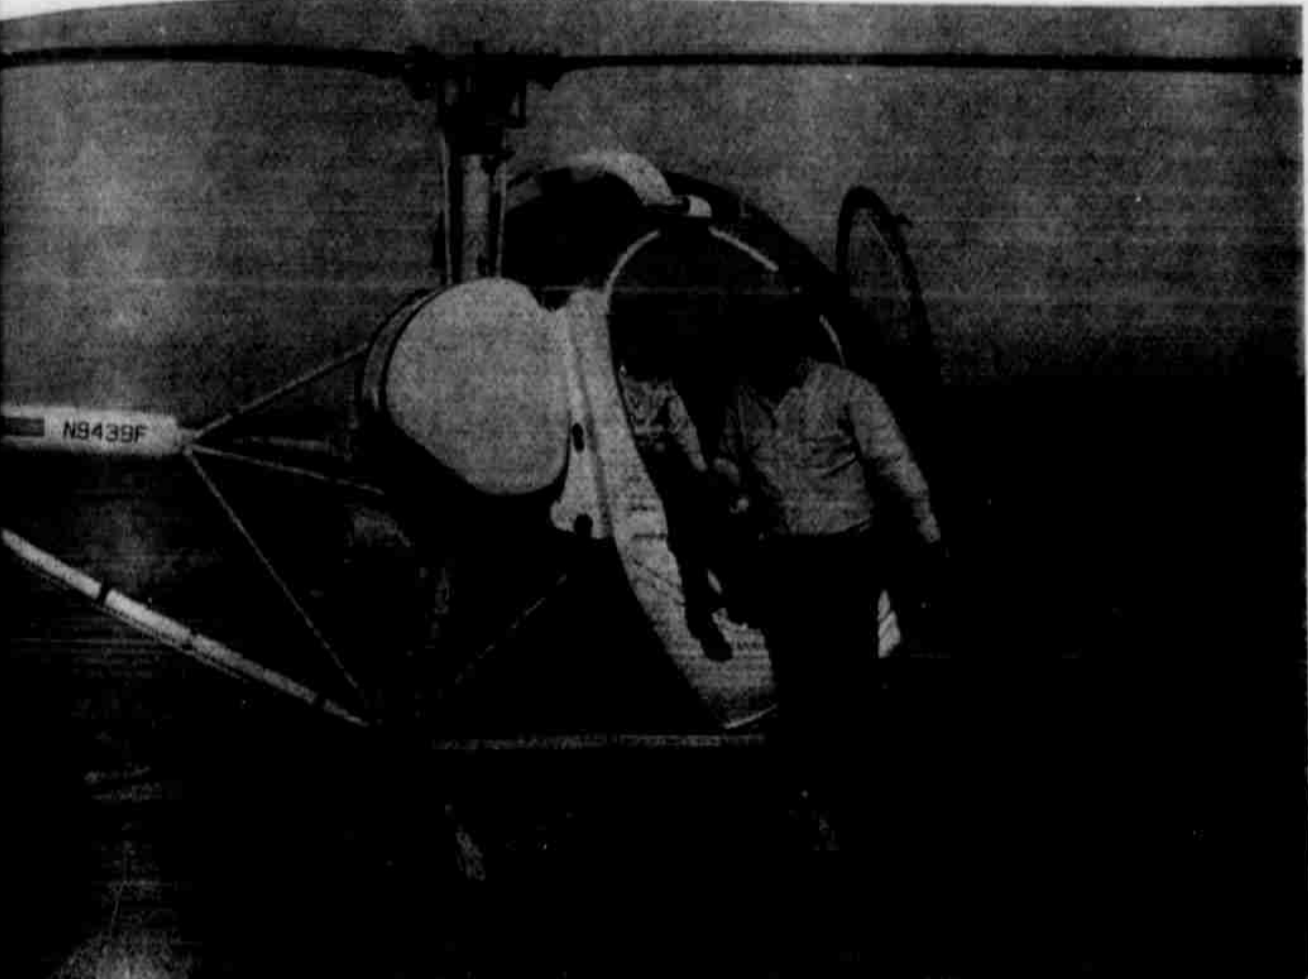

Rites conducted for former Post resident

Mrs. Bud Green received word Sunday of the death of her brother-in-law, L. D. "Red" Liles, in Shelton, Wash., who died suddenly of a heart attack Sunday.

Mr. Liles formerly lived in Post, having moved to Shelton about 21 years ago.

He is survived by his wife, Grace; two sons, Wayne and Dan; a daughter, Jean, three grandchildren and a nephew, Hollis Branson of Post.

Funeral services were held Wednesday in Shelton.

HELICOPTER ADDED TO RANCH EQUIPMENT

Whirlybird' fits in on Bob Macy's ranch

It will be a long time before the whirring blades of the helicopter become as familiar a sight to Garza County farms and ranches as the spinning blades of the plane were, but one rancher has made a start in that direction.

Bob Macy of the Macy Ranch, Post, recently returned from Dayton, Ohio, with a Hughes 300 helicopter he purchased for use on his ranch.

He has put the helicopter to use to check cattle and for general observation of his land. He says he'll use it for short business trips, and for the type of work that a pilot can do. He said Macy, who flew the craft back from Dayton to fly about seven

Macy says his helicopter isn't the same kind that is being used to help fight the war in Vietnam, months ago after first becoming interested in flying while watching mesquite sprayers he had hired to spray his ranch land.

"There's nothing easy about piloting one, but it's a joy to fly," the rancher said. He explained that it takes both hands and both feet to get a helicopter into the air, keep it flying and land it. "The pilot of an airplane doesn't have his hands as full as the pilot of a helicopter."

"They're safer, however, than a light airplane for the type of work the rancher is using it for."

"Many people," Macy said, "have the misconception that a helicopter falls when its engine goes dead. That isn't true. A helicopter has special mechanism for safe landings in such an emergency."

but that it is the type used in the training of helicopter pilots that are being sent to Vietnam. In fact, that is what it was used for at Dayton before Macy bought it.

The helicopter Macy owns will carry two passengers besides the pilot. It cruises between 80 and 85 miles an hour and has a range of about 200 miles without refueling.

The rancher says he hopes to get a commercial license soon, which will enable him to make aerial geologic and other types of surveys and use the helicopter for other commercial purposes.

"As far as I know," the rancher said, "it's the first helicopter being used for farm and ranch work in the county. There are others in the general area, however, including at least one in the Snyder vicinity."

The local public needs to become aware of one of its newest financial problems — the future of the beautiful City-County Park.

This column and this newspaper is quite concerned over the situation.

As of right now, the park board is out of funds and has laid off the winter at least its park caretaker.

The future — 1969 to be exact — is still an unanswered question.

The reader asks quite simply, "What's the problem?" Most folks didn't know a problem exists.

But it does. Last year — 1967 — the city and county completed their 10-year agreement for the joint development and care of the city-county park. Each pledged and paid $2,000 to a joint park board for the park's operation each year.

Never was $50,000 better spent. The City - County Park certainly is one of this area's finest projects. It is used by youngsters and oldsters alike from all walks of life virtually the year around — but especially through the summer.

We've heard travelers refer to Post as "that town with the pretty lake - side park."

Then the county came upon dark financial days. At the start of 1968 the court said it simply couldn't afford to make its annual $2,500 contribution. But the court later lent a little and contributed $500, which with the city's $2,500 enabled the park board to pay off the year's expenses, provided the caretaker was dropped.

As we recall, the county taxpayers have "anted up" quite a tax boost to help the county out of debt. It certainly seems to us that the county should be able to maintain the park.

Expense considered low

Garza's general election costs 58 cents per vote

The general election held Nov. 5 cost a little over 58 cents a vote, according to figures compiled from election expense reports by County Clerk Carl Cederholm.

The 76 election workers in the 12 voting precincts and for the absentee voting box were paid at the rate of $1 an hour, with the maximum not to exceed $12.50. Election judges were paid an extra $5, however, for delivering the returns.

An impressive business expansion

When a merchant in a small town these days undertakes and carries through with a major store expansion program, he or she is visibly and quite convincingly expressing a real faith for the future in his or her hometown.

That is why The Dispatch today editorially salutes Mrs. Maxine Marks.

Mrs. Mark's has doubled the size of Maxine's, her ready-to-wear and gift store, by buying the building next door and completely remodeling it.

Now she has the gifts on one side and the ready-to-wear on the other, giving the customers plenty of shopping room to look at all of it.

It is a most impressive business expansion for First's Main Street.

Here is a real investment in the future of this community. Those attending the grand opening at Maxine's this weekend will realize this from the moment they step inside the front door.

Excuses for not attending church

During the last several weeks, three Post ministers have written messages for The Dispatch's cooperative church advertisement. The last few issues, Bernard S. Ramsey, minister of the First Christian Church, has written a series on Mr. Jack Smith's excuses for not attending church.

Mr. Smith came up with six excuses for not attending church and Mr. Ramsey, in as many articles pointed out the lameness of each of Mr. Smith's six excuses.

People give a lot of excuses for not attending church, and sometimes they actually believe they are citing reasons rather than excuses. Mr. Ramsey's series of articles reminded us of something else we'd read—a story about the minister who quit attending football games. These were his reasons:

1. Every time I went, somebody asked me for money.
2. I was a good fan, but the coach never came to my house to call upon me.
3. It was usually too hot or too cold during the games. They never could get the temperature where it was comfortable.

4. The referee said things I simply could not agree with.

5. I didn't like some of the other people who attended the games.

6. The band seemed to play music that I didn't know and they never seemed to play the good old songs.

7. The games are too long and are scheduled at a most inconvenient time, and often let out late.

8. I've got a good book about football and I can just stay home and read it and get just as much out of the game.

Somehow or other, the above set of reasons sound just as ridiculous as those Mr. Smith gave for not attending church.

Church attendance is slipping in this country, even though most people would never actually do anything to hurt the church. They believe that this nation ought to have churches and they are a good influence upon people, but a great many people leave it up to others to see that the churches stay alive.

Dear Turnrow Junkel O. C. McBRIDE

Did you know that the Labor Dept. is spending $50,000 to train 25 poor farmers in Arkansas to be goat-herders?

I wish I hadn't quit farming. If being poor qualifies a farmer to be trained in a skilled profession, I would probably have been a licensed goat-herder by now.

What did you think of the distribution of votes in the Presidential election?

It came out the way I expected Wallace won 5 Southern states, and Humphrey ran well in Eastern and Northern cities. However, Nixon carried Appalachia, and his landslide in Marble County was too much to overcome.

I understand that authorities at a highly integrated high school in Oakland have problems concerning the school cafeteria. Colored students are demanding that "soul food" be served, while Mexican-Americans want Latin-style dishes.

The people running the cafeteria might take a tip from my beer-see daughter just learning to cook. The beer-see she whips up contain enough different ingredients to have something for everyone. The last one I tried tasted like a combination of enchiladas, turnip greens, pizza and chop suey—kosher style.

Did you know that movies are now being classified to their suitability for young people? The designations range from "G" (for general audience), to "X" (absolutely no one under 18 allowed).

This system may protect young people from viewing undesirable movies, but I'm wondering what effect it will have on older folks. For instance, I haven't been to a movie in years, but if one of those "X" pictures ever comes to town, I may be tempted to sneak off and see it.

Do you approve of so much money being spent on our space program?

I'm sure it will have future benefits, but we shouldn't ignore some of the smaller problems here on earth. For instance, I'd enjoy my favorite breakfast more if those smart-aleck scientists would figure out a neat and painless way to remove the shells from a couple of hot soft-boiled eggs.

NEXT THURSDAY is Thanksgiving Day, so time is growing short to make out that list of things for which to be thankful this year. There is also the possibility of getting your "thankful" list mixed up with your Christmas shopping list.

And a reminder to those youngsters who are too young to make out either a Thanksgiving list or a Christmas shopping list . . . DON'T FORGET to write your Santa Claus letter early and mail it in care of The Post Dispatch.

THE MAN UP the street says the size of your troubles generally depend on whether they are coming or going.

This little article, entitled "Poor Males," was clipped:

Pity the poor male. He has to be an acrobat to amount to anything these days. He has to put his shoulder to the wheel, keep his eye on the ball and ear to the ground, with his back to the wall. He must have both feet on the ground, keep a level head, a stiff upper lip, whistle while he works and stay in there pitching as he looks for the silver lining with his head in the clouds!

THE ABOVE pertains to the older male. As for the younger male, here is a reprint of a classic.

WHAT IS A BOY?

After a male baby has grown out of lone clothes and triangles, and has acquired pants, freckles, and so much dirt that relatives dare not kiss it between meals, it becomes a boy. A boy's nature answers to the false belief that there is no such thing as perpetual motion. A boy can swim like a fish, run like a deer, climb like a squirrel, talk like a mule, bellow like a bull, eat like a pig, or act like a jerkass, according to climatic conditions.

He is a piece of skin stretched over an appetite, and is covered with smudges. He is called a tornado because he comes in at the most unexpected times and places and leaves everything a wreck behind him.

He is a growing animal of superlative promise, to be watered and kept warm, a joy forever, a periodic nuisance, the problem of our times, the hope of a nation. Every new boy born is evidence that God is not yet discouraged with man.

Were it not for boys, the newspapers would go unread, and a thousand picture shows would go bankrupt. Boys are useful in running errands — with the aid of five or six adults. The zest with which a boy does an errand is equaled only by the speed of a turtle on a July day.

The boy is a natural spectator. He watches parades, fires, fights, ball games, automobiles, boats and airplanes with equal fervor, but will not watch the clock. The man who invents a clock that stands on

TOUR NORTHEASTERN STATES

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Pierce returned home last week from a five and one-half week trip which took them to Washington, D. C., and a tour through the northeastern part of the United States. They were joined for part of the trip by Mrs. Pierce's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Ammons of Front Royal, Va. Trip highlights included Cape Cod, Hyannisport and Annapolis. On the way home the Pierces visited relatives in Alabama.

Naturally, the Clarendon and McLean fans were disappointed, but the goose must have hung high in Wheeler, which, after a so-so season, suddenly found itself the District 2A representative in the playoffs. Wheeler's so-so season, however, included a 15-7 upset win over Clarendon, which had been ranked right up at the top all season in state Conference A ratings.

DESPITE THE fact that the wife and I sat on the McLean side of the field and lent them our vocal support, the wife's folks in Clarendon were forgiving and saw to it that we had food and shelter after the game.

Tips on cooking Thanksgiving turkey given by H. D. agent

By KAREN PARNELL, County HD Agent

Preparing the Thanksgiving turkey? Turkeys are sold ready-to-cook, frozen and fresh chilled. Principally, the fresh-frozen and ready-to-cook will be what you'll find on the market.

—Store frozen turkey in freezer at 0 degrees F. or below. —Cook a frozen, ready-stuffed turkey without thawing. —Never freeze an uncooked stuffed turkey or a roasted stuffed turkey.

—Thaw whole, unstuffed turkey in original wrapper in refrigerator (35 to 40 degrees F.) before cooking. Allow 2 to 3 days to thaw whole turkeys 18 pounds and over, and 1 to 2 days to thaw turkeys weighing less than 18 pounds.

Or, turkey may be partially thawed in original wrapper in the refrigerator and then placed under cold running water until completely thawed. Thawing at room temperature, unwrapped, is not recommended, nor is using warm water, because of the possibility of contamination.

As soon as the turkey is sufficiently thawed, remove giblets and neck from cavity. Clean turkey as necessary and wash thoroughly inside and out in cold running water.

Drain. Wash giblets and neck thoroughly, wrap loosely and store separately. Proper cooking of these more perishable parts is recommended. Turkey, giblets, and neck should be cooked within 24 hours after thawing.

Completely cook turkey at one time. Do not partially cook turkey one day and finish on the next.

For easy preparation, serving, and storage, bake stuffing separately. After the meal, remove turkey meat from bones and store turkey, stuffing and gravy separately in the refrigerator.

Here is a new treat in the way of stuffing — Cranberry Stuffing.

This recipe fills a 24-pound turkey; but for ease in serving, bake stuffing separately in an oven-to-table dish.

- 6 cups fresh cranberries (1 1/2 pounds)
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 1/2 cups butter or margarine, melted
4 1/2 quarts small bread cubes
2 cups raisins
1 1/2 tablespoons salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
Grated rind of 3 lemons
1 to 1 1/4 cups broth or water

Chop cranberries and blend in sugar. Blend butter and bread cubes. Combine two mixtures with remaining ingredients. Mix well.

Note: 2 1/4 cans of whole cranberry sauce and 1/2 cup sugar may be substituted for fresh cranberries and 1 1/2 cups sugar. Break up cranberry sauce with fork, add sugar and proceed as above.

A limited number of brochures on "Cooking the Turkey" are available in the County Home Demonstration Agent's office in the courthouse.

It's My Turn

— By MRS. C.

If Mr. C had asked me to get up at 5:30 a. m. to go to work last Saturday I'd have either laughed at him or hit him but when he asked me to get up at 5:30 to go to Waco to see Texas Tech play Baylor University I was more than ready to jump out of bed at that ungodly hour and go, go, go.

What does one take with them when fronts are hanging all around and one has no idea what the weather might be like 300 miles away at 2 o'clock in the afternoon?

One takes blankets, raincoats, umbrellas, stocking caps, heavy gloves, boots, coats and sweaters. Yep, we pretty well filled up the rear end of the David Newby station wagon with all that type of gear. Did we need blankets? No. Raincoats and umbrellas? No. Stocking caps? No. Heavy gloves? No. Boots? No. Coats? No. Sweaters? No.

Did we need summer clothes and sunglasses? Y.E.S. Everybody was pretty hot in Waco except the Texas Tech Red Raiders. In fact, some of the fans were mighty "hot" by the time the game ended.

As one of the fans sitting behind us remarked: "No matter how the Raiders do you can always depend on that 'Goin' Band from Raiderland winning the half time."

I remembered that little gem only so I could slide in a comment about our Post High School band twirlers. They put on as cute a routine last Friday night at the Morton game as one could see anywhere. The Windham twins, Karon and Sharon, Janice Gordon and Patti Peel really did it up proud with their Spanish hat routine. That could become an annual event!

If you haven't been out in the countryside in the last week or so, head for the nearest grove of trees and just sit and look at the riot of colors. The trees and bushes are gorgeous this year and well worth a trip to see. We oohed and aahed our way to Waco and back.

Our trip to Waco was really a little "bonus" for me, I think, as I am once again a working gal on Thursdays. Our girl Friday (who worked on Thursdays) has left us temporarily to work at the Graham Co-op Gin during the big cotton harvest and that put Mrs. C right back where she started. Yep, Orabeth White can be reached at the gin any day of the week and I can be reached at the Post Dispatch any day of the week. Drat it!

Since Rosemary Chapman sort of drifted away from library items in her column this week I feel like it's all right for me to drift over into her department. We on the acquisition committee work real hard at keeping the Post Public Library current with all the best sellers. Well, we worked a little too hard with our last buying binge because we bought a book entitled "The Beautiful Couple" and it is CRUMMY. I took it home to read before it was processed — sort of what you might call a "sneaky preview" and I lasted about 20 pages.

I was not familiar with the author but I intend to remember his name and never buy or read anything he writes in the future. He must be as crummy as his book!

Note to Mrs. K: Please read paragraph four of "Turkey Tips" to be found in this issue.

Sugar beets were grown as a garden vegetable and for fodder before they were used for sugar.

Ropesville loses to Does, 56-35

The Post Does had no trouble here Tuesday night in chalking up their second win of the basketball season at the expense of the Ropesville Eaglettes, 56 to 35. The Doe "B" team also won their second game in as many starts, overpowering the Eaglette "B" team, 73 to 28.

Karon Windham hit 11 points in the first quarter to get Coach Jiggs King's Does off to a big start, and with Sharon Windham hitting six and Sherry Bird, two, the Does led 19-3 at the end of the first period. Starting guards Theresa Sims, Glen Ann Barley and Kay Altman held the Eaglettes to a field goal and a free throw in the first quarter.

The Does led 29-11 at halftime and 42-24 at the end of the third quarter.

Karon Windham took scoring honors with 20 points on eight field goals and four free throws. Karen Lee scored 14 points, Sharon Windham, 11; Benita Noble, seven, and Sherry Bird and Jan Wilks, two apiece.

Marcia Ream's 12 points, six of them on free throws, paced the losers.

Besides the starters, other guards seeing action for the Does were Nancy Hart, Martha Walls, Kay Herron and Pam Petty.

Linda Sanchez scored 24 points and Stephanie Davis 22 in the "B" team victory. Also scoring for Post were Rita Valdez, 13; Susan Valdez, eight, and Mary Jane Johnston, six.

Playing at the guard positions were starters Nina Young, Janet Ray and Debbie Hays, along with Debra Mason, Ryan Thomas, Sue Eubank, Judy Norman, Kippy Payne, Pat Cochran and Liz Dalby.

Special services for Sunday at First Christian

Rosebud Baby - Parent dedication services will be observed at the First Christian Church Sunday at 11 a.m. along with the regular service. The sermon topic will be: "The Therapy of Thanksgiving." Following the service a covered dish luncheon will be served in honor of new members. The minister, Bernard S. Ramsey, urges all members to attend and extends an invitation to friends and neighbors.

The ladies of the church will provide the drinks. Food may be brought at the Sunday School hour and placed in the kitchen.

Election looms

(Continued From Front Page) tion costs. He even pointed out that the court could issue $10,000 in time warrants ($500 per million dollar valuation) without even giving the public notice of its intent to do so.

County Commissioner Paul Jones said he would not vote for county participation in the building project unless the proposition was submitted to the people.

County Attorney Preston Poole told the court that it has only two financial choices and neither one of them was the time warrant route. "You can either pay cash from your permanent improvement fund to build an exhibition building or you must finance by voting bonds."

He advised the court to call Texas Attorney General Crawford Martin and seek advice before considering anything else.

Since the county certainly doesn't have the cash, this leaves the bond route.

City Attorney Carleton P. Webb was in attendance at the joint meeting, but did not offer his opinion because it was a county matter.

It appears the city will go the time warrant route, but serving public notice of its intent to do so. As City Manager Eddie Warren pointed out at the joint meeting, if city voters would petition against such time warrants, "we would have to have a bond election, too."

Attending the joint meeting yesterday were Judge Parker, County Commissioners Ted Allen, Beg Sanchez, and Paul Jones; Mayor John Hopkins, City Councilmen Donald Windham and Lewis Herron, City Manager Warren, County Attorney Preston Poole, and City Attorney Webb.

Missionary will lead campaign

The Rev. Walter T. Hunt, a Southern Baptist evangelistic missionary to the Philippines, will conduct a four - night Missionary Evangelistic Campaign at the First Baptist Church here Dec. 1-4.

Services will begin at 7:30 p. m. each night with the public invited to attend, according to the Rev. Joe Vernon.

Mr. Hunt is stationed in Baguio on the island of Luzon.

"As treasurer I have gained a new appreciation of exactly how Southern Baptist mission money is invested in the Philippines— in evangelism and church development, theological education, medical work and literature production, through the lives of more than 100 missionaries," he said.

He and his wife have served in the missionary field in the Philippines at various posts since appointed by the Foreign Mission Board in 1953.

Mr. Hunt is a native of Belton, Tex., and a Baylor University and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary of Fort Worth graduate.

Santa Knows Best!

Santa Claus knows a good thing when he sees it—and the good thing is Christmas Seals. He made sure to put Seals all over the stocking presents he left at the home of Audrey and George Klein. Contributions to the Christmas Seal Campaign help the fight against tuberculosis, emphysema, and air pollution.

Christmas Seals for fight on TB being mailed residents of area

Money contributed to the Christmas Seal Campaign now underway will provide tuberculosis testing in the public schools, chest X-rays for any citizen wishing it, and a wide variety of other services, according to Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Marks, 1968 Christmas Seal Campaign Chairmen. Supporting Mr. and Mrs. Marks is Syd Connor who is a member of the board of the West Texas TB and Respiratory Disease Association for Garza County.

Letters containing the attractive seals are now being mailed to some 80,000 residents of the 23-county area. The drive will continue through December.

The Christmas Seal Mobile Detection Unit goes to any county requesting it to take chest X-rays. During the past seven months, the unit made more than 19,00 X-rays, disclosing abnormalities in about one out of every 40 films. In addition to tuberculosis, these X-rays alert people to the presence of emphysema, heart disease, and cancer.

Over 30,000 school children are being tested for tuberculosis this fall. In many instances, a positive tuberculin reaction in a child, leads to the discovery of an active case in this immediate family. This testing service is available to any school upon request from the superintendent or principal.

The association cooperates in offering the services of an out-patient clinic in Lubbock, where doctors from the association see patients from throughout the area who are unable to return to the state hospital for check-ups.

A continuing education campaign makes available speakers and the latest films for bookings before schools, service clubs, church and civic organizations, presenting information about the prevention and treatment of lung disorders.

Postings—

We talked to Judge J. E. Parker about the situation yesterday afternoon and he told us the commissioners' court has the City-County Park's future on its December agenda.

"We don't know exactly what we can do, but we don't want to drop the park," the judge told us.

This column firmly believes that there are few if any voters in this county who want to see the county abandon its participation in this fine park.

With the city and county jointly participating, we would like to point out that it isn't a dollar for dollar proposition between the city and rural taxpayer. The city taxpayer pays county taxes too, so the city taxpayer in reality is paying both through the city and the county for the development and upkeep of the park, just as city taxpayers do on any joint city-county venture.

Actually the city, besides contributing $2,500 each year for the park's operation, has also paid the annual electric utility bill as well (for pumping of lake water onto park grass and for park lighting) which amounts to an additional $900.

The purpose of this column is to call attention of the public to the problem. We think the public wants to keep its beautiful park.

If you do be sure to let your county commissioner and the county judge know before the court meets again Dec. 9 to consider the park's future.

Library LISTENING POST

By ROSEMARY CHAPMAN
I'm STILL thinking about all of those lovely new books that I was bragging about last week. First, an apology to readers who rushed down to the library Thursday and Friday to get "Stormin' Norman Cash" and the latest MacInnes, MacLean, or whatever, only to find that they weren't there after all. Never again, honest Injun, cross my heart and hope to die, will I promise books on Thursday and dawdle in with them on Saturday.

What made it so embarrassing was all the harping I did on "the early bird gets the book" theme. Ol' Blabbermouth, they call me.

Of course, I could say that it was merely a test to see who was reading the library column. (Bet you'd have believed it, too. Everybody knows that a mad fan is better than no fan.)

Christmas mail deadlines given

Christmas mailing deadlines were announced today by Postmaster A. J. McAllister. All domestic gift parcels for distant states should be mailed before Dec. 2, while those for local areas should be mailed no later than Dec. 14.

Greeting cards for distant states should be mailed no later than Dec. 11, and those for local delivery no later than Dec. 16.

Suggested deadlines for Christmas gifts to servicemen stationed in foreign countries are: Space Available (small packages), Nov. 23; Parcel Air Lift, Nov. 30; Airmail, Dec. 11.

Letter - size mail will receive about the same service as during non-peak periods.

Postmaster McAllister urges all Post citizens to mail within the above deadlines to be assured of on-time delivery.

The rate for Christmas cards this year will be six cents, the same as for first class letters.

ter than no fan.) The truth of the matter is, however, that the books were not processed because I was a bit overextended last week.

For one thing, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, I was making puppet heads. Right. Puppet heads — which leads us, quite naturally, to (Rosie, you clever devil, you) PURE, UNADULTERATED, UNLIBRARY PLUG No. 1: Don't miss the Post Music Club's production of "The Nutcracker Suite" Saturday night, Dec. 7! You'll love it! (Singing! Dancing! Puppets?)

Thursday, which used to be Main Book Processing Day At My House, I was working at the Post Day Care Center, which brings us to (Ha — did it again, did it again) PURE UNADULTERATED, UNLIBRARY PLUG No. 2: Jewel is a Jewel! (I wonder how many people have said that.)

The Day Care Center, with Mrs. Graham at the helm, is doing beautifully, although one thing we DO need is a record player. Now, I KNOW there must be at LEAST 1,000 people in Post who have an old, portable record player in fairly good condition that they're not using any more, so shake loose with one, somebody. (Give me a ring — 2984 — and I'll come by and pick it up.) We could also use more kids.

Meanwhile, back at the library. One nice thing about book buying — it's one of the few jobs in which one really can "please everybody" most of the time. Whether you're a science fiction buff, a mystery fan, or a historic novel lover, there's a new book for you at Post Library.

Southwestern history, good fiction and non - fiction, Christmas books — you name it, we've got it. (Just don't name "westerns". We never can find any at the bookstores. Suggestions, hints? If we had specific authors, titles, publishers, and prices, we could order.)

Now that the new books ARE in,

Aggers to open here Tuesday against Cotton Center

New coach Kenny Poole sets drills under way

Post Antelopes, under new coach Kenny Poole, will open their 1968-69 basketball season Friday night, Nov. 26, against Cotton Center Elks.

Poole will be a preliminary between the two schools' teams with the tipoff scheduled for 7:30 o'clock.

The football season just closed Poole was getting underway with full-scale workouts after a two-hour pre-workout last Saturday.

Having the nucleus of a good team, Poole said, is the coach's biggest job.

Lettermen are returning this year's team, but only one letterman, junior Ray Altman, is a starter late in the season. Starters lost last season were Norman Tannery, Nick Pantano, Dennis Altman.

Lettermen out for this season include Neff Walker, a starter late in the season; Kenneth Mitchell, a sophomore; and James Pollard, a junior.

Candidates for this year's squad include David Piedra, Steve Newby, Dodson, Jerry Greshaw, Karl Hall, Larry Johnson, Terry Moreau.

At 6-3, Johnson, saw some action last season. He will be at least the first two weeks of the season, however, because of injury received early in the season. Noble, also a sophomore, is the tallest man on the team at 6-8. Mitchell is 6-2 and

8th grade boys lose to Jayton

Seventeen players saw action for Coach Bud Davis' 8th grade basketball team here Monday night in an opening game loss to Jayton, 37-36.

The Post team's first stringers built up a 9-2 first quarter lead, but Coach Davis, wanting to get a look at all his players, inserted second and third stringers into the contest in the second quarter, with the Post lead dwindling to 20-15 at the half.

Reserves also played the third quarter, and Jayton was ahead 31-23 going into the final period. The first stringers went back into action in the fourth period and almost caught the visitors before the final whistle.

The Post team's "front five" and their scoring total in the Jayton game were: Robert Mindieta, 10; Danny Lee, eight; Robert Torres, four; Mike Hughes, three, and Roger Pace, two. Others scoring for Post were Randy Kennedy, one; Jerry Saldivar, three; Steve Hays, two, and Reggie Moore, three.

Denver City, Olton clash Friday

Denver City Mustangs, champions of District 4AA, will play the Olton Mustangs, 3AA, in a bi-district playoff at 7:30 p. m. Friday, Nov. 23.

Olton was undefeated through a nine game schedule. Denver City had a 7-3 record, but won three district games, yielding but one point in the five contests.

Some teams played last year's district clash, Denver City against Olton on their gridiron.

Post plasters Morton in '68 grid finale

Playing the final half like it was a "new season", Post's still hustling Antelopes rang down the 1968 grid curtain in Antelope Stadium Friday night with a convincing 26-8 thrashing of the Morton Indians.

In those last 24 minutes of action, Post scored three touchdowns, totaled nine first downs and rang up 84 net yards rushing and 115 more passing, while holding Morton to no points on the board, a pair of first downs, but 18 yards rushing, and only 55 yards passing.

All this enabled Coach Glynn Gregg's charges to climb over the visitors' backs and out the cellar window for a fifth place district finish at 1-4.

THINGS got off to a dismal start — almost as dark as the finish was bright.

A Morton pass interception by halfback Danny Williams on Post's first possession set the visitors up on the Post 35-yard line.

The Indians drove to a first down on the Antelope five where the locals dug in to stop them and take the ball back on their four-yard stripe.

But two plays later quarterback Ray Altman fumbled the ball on a rollout at the Post seven and a Morton lineman scooped it up and ambled over the double stripe for the visitors' only touchdown of the game.

Tailback Alex Soliz swept right end for a two-point conversion to make it 8-0 with 6:59 left in the quarter after the 'Lopes had been penalized for off-sides when Morton lined up for a conversion kick.

Post couldn't get enough offense together for a first down in that initial period although the 'Lopes did have one scoring opportunity when George Morales covered a Morton fumble on the Indians' 37-yard stripe.

THREE PLAYS lost seven yards and Altman booted a towering punt from the Morton 44 to Indian tailback Alex Soliz on the Indians' 10. Soliz turned on his after-burner and raced 90 yards down the sidelines behind a wave of Morton blockers for an apparent second touchdown.

But it was all rubbed out on a Morton clipping penalty.

So much for the rest of the first period and the first 10 minutes of the second canto.

Aided by a 50-yard pass from southpaw quarterback Wayne Thompson, to Soliz, Morton drive 73 yards to a first on Post's 18 before the 'Lopes dug in again and held with Altman batting a pass out of Soliz' hands at the goal line on fourth down.

Post had a scoring opportunity too when James Pollard intercepted a Thompson pitch on the Morton 44. The 'Lopes managed their first first down of the game on four line shots, but four straight Altman passes fell incomplete and Morton held on its 30.

THAT WAS the way things stood — 8-0 for Morton and with the Antelopes unable to move the ball — when the clock showed just 1:47 left in the first half.

Post took the ball on a punt on its 37. Altman lost five trying to pass and then the game's entire complexion changed.

Altman passed 24 yards to Pollard, 18 yards to Neff Walker, then 19 more to Pollard on the Morton 8. After one plunge by George Torres, a desperate Indian team gambed a six-point toss to Walker deep in the end zone to make the score 8-6. Post was penalized twice for off-sides lining up for conversion kicks and finally from the Morton 13 tried a fake kick with er around right end. Altman passed for two conversion points to Walker and it was 20-8 with 8:11 on the clock in the final period.

Crenshaw picked off his second Morton pass a moment later to halt the next Indian thrust and Terry Moreau then set up the final Post score by covering a Morton fumble on the Indians' 44.

The Post team's only two seniors — Pollard and Crenshaw — made their grid high school exit in fine style.

Jay Bird came in as quarterback after three ground plays had netted a Post first down on the Morton 31. He passed 19 yards to Pollard and then shot Pollard a little flare toss which Pollard carried 10 yards to a first down on the one.

It was Crenshaw's turn and he cut in off a sweep for the touchdown with 2:14 left. A pass attempt for the conversion points was incomplete to make it 26-8.

After Morton completed a 49-yard pass play for a first down on the Post 34, Pollard intercepted the next Morton toss on the Post 18 and ran it back 44 yards to the Morton 38.

Bird had the ball in the air trying for another score when the game ended 45 seconds later.

Karen's Korner

By Karen Hundley

Now that the football season is over (Yes, Seniors, that's our last game), we can settle down and become bored and tired. However, don't be discouraged. The Thanksgiving holidays are next week, and Christmas is around the "corner" with all its snow, glitter, and gifts. But, here is one thing about The Institution: there is always some activity or other going on. If you can't find something happening, then you aren't looking hard and long enough. Happiness and fun are what you make them!

"The Lox" played for the victory dance after the game last Friday night. And congrats to the 'Lopes for winning! Couples at the dance included Pam Petty and Steve Newby, Patti Allison and Charles Neff, Ryan Thomas and Ray Altman, Karen Lee and Wiley Miller, Linda Justice and Bo McWhirt, Liz Dalby and Jay Bird, Karen Hundley and Jimmie Johnston, Kippy Payne and Johnny Hodges, Jan Adams and Benny Owen, Donna Stewart and Dennis Altman, Glen Ann Barley and James McBride and Sherry Bird and Dan Eckert.

Other humans there included Ben Miller, James Pollard, Mike Scott, Kay Hundley, Rickie Hines, Sharyn Bilberry, Patti Peel, Kim Hundley, David Midkiff, Billy Lee Williams, Karon Windham, Bob Wilkins, Sally Dorland, Jimmie Bartlett, Danny Cooper, Sharon Windham, Karl Hall, Carol Compton, Pam Conoly, Janice Gordon, Jan Bullock, Sue Litton, Larry Rosas, James McKinzie, Sue Johnson, Barbara Lucas, Larry Scribner, Timmons Bull, Debbie Cummings, Joan Minor, Neff Walker, Cheryl Pennell, Ronnie Petty, Curtis Lancaster, Jerry Bournes and Polly Martin.

Debbie Tucker, who lived in Post last year, came to Post during the weekend to visit friends. She left Monday morning to go back to Wichita Falls.

Have you ever sat outside in the cold and tried to write? Tried to think of something to say for this column? As I write this, I am sitting on the breezeway at school getting writer's cramp and frostbite at the same time, while people come by and stare at me and my red nose and blue fingers. I hope that by next week I unfreeze enough to scribble K's K again!

Last pep rally of season held

The pep rally last Friday seemed to have paid off with a victory for the Post 'Lopes on Friday night.

The yells included "Fight," "Round 'em Up," and "Class Battlecry," as well as "Antelope Battlecry" and "Who Are the Antelopes?"

Jay Bird, a member of the football team foretold the outcome of the game for the 'Lopes — VICTORY!

Twirlers Janice Gordon, Patti Peel, Sharon and Karon Windham performed an interesting and different routine with Spanish hats to the band's "Spanish Flea."

Visitors at the last pep rally for this football season included Ronnie Petty, Wiley Miller, Chris Stelzer, Gary Young and Mike Robinson.

Memo to Junior Tempters

Subject: Church Attendance

By George L. Miller

There is a tendency on the part of new tempters to get depressed if their "clients" attend church on Sunday Morning. This depression is understandable. Religious piety can be nauseating. But it is no excuse. If you can't take the sight of people saying their prayers, you're in the wrong business.

Of course, it's safer if you can keep his mind off church altogether. Most of these people have plenty of worries in their daily life. How to pay the bills, what to do about daughter's new boy friend, why they made such a fool of themselves at the party last night, and so on. Keep the worries small. Big worries might make them look for help, might even start them praying, and that—need I remind you?—is hardly desirable. When people start praying, anything can happen.

Besides, you're missing a golden opportunity if you don't stick around and see what you can accomplish during a church service. Most people are bored stiff in church. They will bless you for any distracting thoughts you can give them. Point out how dowdy the lady in the next pew is looking this morning. She's worn that same dress all Summer long. Or call attention to the man who always sings the hymns off-key. Any body with a voice that bad ought to have sense enough to keep his mouth shut.

If you're lucky, your client may be one of those church goers who is there, not because he wants to be there, but because he thinks he owes it to his position to be there. In that case you don't need to worry. His heart's not in it, he's only doing his duty. Encourage him to go, he'll feel more virtuous and more immune to your temptations. What more can you ask than that?

Sometimes your client insists on listening to the sermon. That worries the inexperienced tempter. It shouldn't. Chances are your client will only hear what he wants to hear, and you can help him tune out anything that might damage our cause. Either make him highly critical of the sermon so that your client becomes convinced the preacher isn't true to the Gospel, or make him feel so holy and righteous he agrees with everything the preacher says without ever using his brains. It's not hard to do and the results can be most entertaining.

Unfortunately there will be times when things will get out of control. Something happens and your client changes right before your eyes. It will be disgusting, and you will be totally helpless to do anything about it. Because of this danger, it is best to keep your client away from church as much as possible. But if he still insists on going, don't give up. With a little luck and careful work, you can keep a firm hold on him.

And believe it or not, it can even be fun.
