The Chisholm Trail Centennial Commission will make a scheduled appearance in Post on Wednesday, Nov. 22, with members of the Garza County Historical Survey Committee as hosts.

The sleek, sand-beige Chisholm Trail Museum, uniquely housed in a railway car, will be on display at the Santa Fe depot here from 10 a. m. until 7 p. m. Sponsored by the Tri-County Historical Survey Committee in cooperation with Santa Fe Railroad, the museum is appearing in coordination with the Texas & Pacific Railroad, housed in the 60-foot car are displays of selected items from the museum collections vividly interpret the story of the Chisholm Trail.

ENTERING the museum the visitor sees a map tracing the Chisholm Trail from its points of origin in Texas and Indian Territory (now Oklahoma) to Abilene, Kans., and the end.

The entry opens into a spacious room roughly one-half length of the rail car. Here cases present the three chapters of the trail story: Spanish influence on the Texas cattle industry and the evolution of the cowboy's wearing apparel; and the evolution of special tools and equipment needed for the long drives.

Next exhibits are about the time herds reached Red River Station in Texas-Oklahoma border. The main hazards ahead are the rough and untamed terrain of Indian Territory.

OKLAHOMA during the time of the Chisholm Trail was occupied by eight tribes of Indians—Cheyenne, Kiowa, Apache, Comanche and Chickasaw. Indians along with outlaws, storms, stampedes and prairie fires added to the difficulties encountered along the route.

The last section of exhibits are devoted to the conclusion of the drives. At the trail's end were the cow towns with stockyards and loading pens, also in abundance were the enticements designed to swiftly separate the cowboy from his money—and lawmen to maintain peace and order.

Two displays of special interest tell the Colt Revolver story and the barbed wire story. Included in the gun display are the Patterson Colt of 1838 and the Walker Colt of 1842.

THE BARBED wire display contains many early variations—homemade wire, square wire, ribbon wire, double wire and forerunners of modern barbed wire. Old-fashioned staples used to secure wiring to posts is also on display.

Charming photographs from the Irwin Smith Collection, Library of Congress, adorn the walls above the displays along with three massive sets of horns.

The second half of the museum is separated into three main exhibit areas.

A cowboy in authentic costume along with his saddle, gun and working gear, occupy the first space.

THE SECOND area contains the working end of a full-sized chuck wagon along with a camp cook preparing grub. Scattered about in typical disarray are the tools of the cook.

The focal point of the third display, devoted to literary and artistic memorabilia inspired by the Chisholm Trail, is a bronze sculpture by Frederick Remington on loan from the Amon Carter Museum of Western Art.

Popular western artists, Melvin C. Warren, Tom Lea and Joe Grande, have special paintings on exhibit. An oil-on-metal-sheet-work by Warren is mounted on the outside of the car while two oils by Grande and a painting by Tom Lea (on loan from the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts) are appropriately displayed inside.

OLD CHISHOLM TRAIL

The story of the Old Chisholm Trail will be told by a mobile museum, housed in a rail car, here Wednesday, Nov. 22. The museum will be at the Santa Fe depot from 10 a. m. until 7 p. m., under the co-sponsorship of the Garza and Crosby County Historical Survey Committees.

Trustees vote to reopen hospital here on Dec. 1

Economy will be watched

The board of trustees of the Garza County Memorial Hospital voted unanimously last Thursday night to reopen the hospital Dec. 1.

In a two-hour meeting at which all members were present, the board set up a system of economy measures which they believe will enable the hospital to remain open, despite a severe cutback in the amount of county funds that will be available in 1968.

"We decided to cut expenses to the bone in order to increase the hospital's income and operate in the black," said Ed Sawyers, acting chairman of the board since Dove Sanford resigned to move to Odessa.

"The hospital won't be over-staffed when it is reopened Dec. 1, but it will be sufficiently staffed to operate efficiently," Sawyers said.

The acting chairman said the board had received the assurance of the hospital employees that they will be willing to cooperate to the extent of doing "more than one job, when necessary."

"We will also need the cooperation of the public and the doctors to keep the hospital open," Sawyers said.

The acting chairman said the board figured enough insurance payments are due and will be coming in, along with patients' accounts, to meet the payroll and other expenses for the first month the hospital is in operation.

Mrs. Marilyn Miller, who was appointed hospital administrator by the board upon the resignation of W. C. Stivers on Oct. 1, said the hospital is in the process of reapplying for Medicare, which is necessary because of the hospital having been shut down.

Mrs. Miller, who is also a registered nurse on the hospital staff, said the hospital will be re-surveyed for Medicare, and "we hope it will be recertified by the time it is reopened."

Operations were suspended at the hospital at 3 p. m. Sept. 30, with the lack of any further tax subsidy funds for the final three months of 1967 and the lack of a sufficient number of patients given by the hospital board as the reason for the suspension.

The opening of medical and surgical practice here a few weeks ago by another physician, Dr. Gerald A. Lively, added impetus to the board's plans to reopen the hospital. Dr. Lively, who told the board he needs the hospital open for his patients, attended Thursday night's board meeting.

Prior to its meeting last week, the hospital board had met with the county commissioners to discuss the possibility of an early reopening of the hospital.

The board was told that for the fiscal year of 1968 the court would make available to the trustees approximately $17,000 for hospital subsidization.

This is the amount 15 cents of the county's tax for the general fund would raise (something slightly over $25,000, less the $8,120 in principal and interest the county would have to pay next year on the $28,000 worth of hospital improvement warrants).

Due to bank loan commitments, the county cannot make this money available to the hospital until after Jan. 1, the trustees were told.

Referendum on time warrants

Dec. 5 election set on city auditorium

The city council last Friday passed an ordinance calling for a referendum election Tuesday, Dec. 5, on the issuance of $13,000 in time warrants for the purchase and repairing of the old howling alley building for use as a city auditorium.

The time warrants would be issued against the city's general fund and would not call for any tax increase. In order to conform with the law, however, the ordinance passed by the city provides that the referendum ballot also include the levying of a tax.

Since no objections were raised to the city council's decision, it could have gone ahead and issued the time warrants without a referendum, it was pointed out. The council had decided, however, to put the city auditorium issue up to the voters in the form of the referendum election called for Dec. 5.

The ordinance was passed on the motion of Councilman Robert Cox, seconded by Councilman Lewis C. Herron.

Seaton Huntley was appointed as judge of the election, which will be held at the city hall from 8 a. m. until 7 p. m.

The city auditorium committee of the Chamber of Commerce met Wednesday morning to discuss plans for promotion of the project between now and the date of the referendum.

For the last week or two, committee members have been appearing before civic clubs and other organizations to enlist support for the project, which is "No. 1" in this year's Chamber program.

The old bowling alley building would cost $7,500. For an additional $2,000, an auditorium parking area to the east of the building could be purchased, and for another $3,500, a new roof could be put on the building. This adds up to the $13,000 the city proposes to raise through the issuance of time warrants.

For indigent persons

Establishment of medical clinic under study here

A local group of interested citizens is looking into the possibility of establishing a medical clinic here for indigent persons to which all local doctors would give their services.

The group met Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Marks to hear the Rev. John Walker, pastor of the Messiah Presbyterian Church of Lubbock, explain the operation of such a clinic in his church.

Twenty-two Lubbock physicians give both their time and medicines to operate the clinic which has some 2,200 patients, ages 13 through adult age levels.

This Lubbock clinic is staffed by volunteer workers and its policy governed by a board of 16 directors. The clinic also carries on educational and on-job training programs at both the juvenile and adult levels.

The clinic operates five days a week with medical work done by appointment only. The only paid worker in the entire clinic is the clinic director.

Attending the Monday meeting were A. C. Cash, the Rev. George L. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. David Newby, Vernon Scott, Tom McKeown, Father Thomas Andrew, Sammie Kay Caffey, R. G. Wilkerson and Mrs. Ruby Kirkpatrick.

A local delegation is planning to go to Lubbock Friday at the invitation of the Rev. Walker to see the medical clinic in operation.

The group understands local physicians will cooperate in such a project if acceptable arrangements can be worked out.

Rites at Snyder for Mrs. Black

Funeral services for Mrs. Hattie Black, 70, mother of Mrs. L. M. Crowley of Post, were held at 2 p. m. Monday at the Green Hill Baptist Church in Snyder.

Mrs. Black died last Friday morning in a Lubbock nursing home, where she had been for the last 15 months. She had been a Snyder resident for about 17 years.

Besides the daughter of Post, Mrs. Black is survived by two other daughters, Mrs. C. D. Edgar of Gardena, Calif., and Mrs. J. L. Thompson of Irving, and a brother, John Anderson of Tyler. Mrs. Black's husband died in 1959.

The Rev. Jerry Speer, pastor of the Green Hill Baptist Church, officiated at the funeral services, assisted by the Rev. Joe Vernon, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Post.

Classes out Wednesday Thanksgiving holiday

Post schools will dismiss at 3 p. m. next Wednesday, Nov. 22, for the Thanksgiving holiday.

Classes will begin again Monday, Nov. 27, with no school scheduled for Thursday and Friday.

Supt. Bill Shiver also announced that the school trustees will hold their November meeting at 1 p. m. next Wednesday in the board room following a Thanksgiving dinner for trustees in the school lunchroom an hour earlier.

Burial was at Snyder under the direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Bobby Pierce, Walton McQuinn, R. B. Dodson, Lester Nichols, Donald Windham and Joe Williams, all of Post.

Mr. Campbell, a sales engineer for Dow Chemical Company, had been a resident of Post for seven years, moving here from Hobbs, N. M. He was born Dec. 18, 1908, at Vealmoor, Tex.

Dr. Lively is named county health officer

Dr. Gerald A. Lively, Post's new physician, Monday was appointed Garza County Health Officer by the commissioners court.

The object of the project would be to reach all the pre-school age youngsters. It would not be of a medical charity nature. Administering of measles inoculations, required for entrance into the first grade here, will save local parents.

The city health officer said the vaccination project would be successful only if at least 50 per cent of this age group of children were reached with the free inoculations. He said this would prevent any local measles epidemic.

The Post Rotary Club voted Tuesday to sponsor a project to vaccinate all pre-school age local children for measles.

Rotary to sponsor measles shots for pre-schoolers here

Dr. Harry Tubbs in explanation of the project told the club that he and Dr. Gerald Lively would volunteer their services and that free vaccine could be obtained through the state board of health.

A 25 cent donation would be asked to cover costs of items needed in administering the vaccine. Dr. Tubbs said The Medical Center Foundation would pay for all those unable to make even a small donation.

Garza cotton harvest now 'starting to roll'

Garza cotton harvest now 'starting to roll'

Garza County's 1967 cotton harvest is just "starting to roll" this year, but already experts are predicting a "bigger, better and more profitable" crop than that of a year ago.

The county's 1966 bale total was under 15,000, but current reports see a 19,000 bale or better crop for this harvest season. It's more, with an estimated

15 per cent of Garza County's 23,000 to 24,000 cotton acres planted to long staple varieties this year, the crop would be good. County Agent Syd Conner said yesterday that most early reports on Garza County's new long staple cotton are good with both quality and quantity high. He said only a few farmers to date have expressed themselves as unhappy with their long staple cotton. Conner also reported that in the few reports already back from government grading offices, Garza County cotton overall is both grading good and showing a good micronaire.

It was a bad micronaire last year which hurt Garza County farmers on their cotton price wise.

The county agent said this appears to have been a good growing year for long staple varieties and the success of the initial efforts show improve the county's cotton outlook for the immediate future.

He said the long staple is being sold for cash at prices above the government loan price.

The county to date has officially received 16.70 inches of moisture for 1967, slightly under the 50-year county average of 19.32 inches. Conner pointed out. Over half of the 1967 total fell in a very wet June — 8.57 inches to be exact.

The Dispatch's first gin survey of the new harvest season yesterday afternoon showed that six of the county's seven gins have weighed in 1,720 bales to date, with no contact made by phone with the Basinger Gin at Southland.

Ginners report that the harvest was just starting this week and estimated it would be from one to two more weeks before the annual "rush" gets underway.

Gins this week were working from eight to 15 hours daily and all reported the cotton was looking good.

Bale totals by gins: Planters Gin 207, Close City Gin 314, Storie Gin 66, Pleasant Valley Gin 425, Graham Gin 407, and Hackberry Gin 600, of which half is counted as Garza County cotton.

Garza HD agent resigning Dec. 31

Mrs. Juanette Gentry, Garza County home demonstration agent for the last four and one-half years, has submitted her resignation to the Garza County Commissioners' Court, effective Dec. 31.

Mrs. Gentry plans to move to Colorado City where her husband Kent, now is managing a lumber yard.

Council votes to buy new police car, chairs

The city council voted at its regular November meeting Monday night to extend the Pioneer Gas Company's franchise 15 years, from Sept. 5, 1972, to Sept. 5, 1987, and also voted to purchase a new police car in two of the more important items on the agenda.

In other action, the council: —Voted to purchase eight new chairs for the city council room, which is now being remodeled.

—Authorized an amendment to grant an agreement on the county-city airport.

—Turned down a request by the

If all the towns approve the franchise extension requests—and O'Neal said about half of them already have — the franchises in the future will all expire at the same time.

The value of this to the company, O'Neal explained, is that it provides better collateral when the company finds it necessary to borrow money.

The council's decision to purchase the new police car came after the police chief had told

City Manager E. A. Warren was authorized by the council to draw up specifications and advertise for bids for the new car.

The airport amendment consisted of eliminating one of the four air space zones at the new airport because of difficulty in getting the title to it. Thomas W. Gamblin, who presented the request, told the council the zone in question is not needed at this time.

The city councilmen will be "sitting pretty" in the eight new chairs they purchased for the council room. The chairs were purchased by Dan Cockrum, local dealer, at a cost of $169.50 each, which Cockrum told them is "invoice price plus 12 1/2 per cent and freight."

An early Christmas gift of value

Reopening of the Garza Memorial Hospital Dec. 1, which was decided on at a meeting of the hospital board last Thursday night, will come as an early and one of the nicest Christmas gifts imaginable for Post and Garza County.

Like so many Christmas gifts, however, reopening of the hospital will be of the "hard-to-pay-for" type, with county tax money subsidization to be at a low ebb throughout the year of 1968. The hospital will have to pay its own way to meet expenses and remain open.

The hospital board has pledged itself to cut hospital operation expenses as deeply as possible to remain open and operate efficiently. Members said following last Thursday's meeting that they have the promise of hospital staff members to cooperate to the fullest in the new economy measures.

In addition to the cooperation of the staff members, the county hospital will need the support of the public to remain open, and the hospital board members are asking for this support.

The entire community has been understandably concerned over the suspension of operations at the hospital last Oct. 1. If things work out as the hospital board members hope they do, the hospital will not have to set out there another two months of no use to anyone.

Let's hope the reopening of the hospital is a Christmas gift that doesn't have to be "returned."—CD

We applaud Connally's decision

The Dispatch applauds the decision of Gov. John Connally not to seek a fourth term in 1968 in the big mansion at Austin.

This newspaper is firmly convinced that neither the nation or the state needs leaders four terms in office. Our American democratic process is best served when elected officials do not become too deeply entrenched to be rooted out.

The Dispatch salutes the fact that Governor Connally is a man of his word. The governor said three years ago he would not seek a fourth term. Six weeks ago he said he didn't want to run. So why was it such a surprise when he took himself out of the race last Friday?

In this newspaper's estimation, Connally has made Texas a good governor. He fought his battles in Austin for big objectives—more industry for Texas, more tourism for Texas, and best of all to upgrade colleges and universities in the state system.

None of these objectives, important as they were to the well-being of Texas, was sure fire at the polls. But Connally did not pick his "causes" for vote appeal, but for real need.

He has been a governor with both executive ability and sound judgment. Texas hasn't been lucky to elect many like him.—JC

City sales tax comes closer home

Do you feel that one-cent city sales tax noose drawing tighter?

The city sales tax comes closer home now that Lubbock approved it in an election last Thursday that the "experts" in the Hub City are still trying to figure out. While Lubbock citizens voted the sales tax by a comfortable margin, they soundly trounced some of the proposed city projects the sales tax was to have helped pay for.

The Post city council takes justifiable pride in the fact that this city's finances are in good enough shape that there is no necessity of a city sales tax here in the near future.

The city council has no control, of course, over those hometown citizens who want to go 40 miles up the road to spend their money and pay Lubbock's one-cent sales tax to help keep Lubbock "going."

The one-cent city sales tax is a good thing where needed, as evidenced by the fact that of the 12 or 13 cities that have already voted on it, only one has turned it down. It is not, however, a good thing in a city where it isn't needed, nor is it a good thing for citizens of one town to have to pay when they do their shopping in another town, even though it serves them right.—CD

Governor's race may be hot and heavy

Gov. John Connally's declaration that he would not be a candidate for re-election in 1968 (more fully covered elsewhere in today's Dispatch editorial column) brought forth many reactions.

One of the very few people in the Capitol city who really felt that Connally would not run, and said so, was Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, an already-announced candidate for Governor.

Republicans felt Connally's decision would add impetus to their 1968 campaign plans, which seem to include former attorney general

Will Wilson in the governor's race.

Liberals listened for word from Sen. Ralph Yarborough, Houston lawyer Don Yarborough and other potential gubernatorial candidates.

Conservatives began a sudden guessing game, with former attorney general Waggoner Carr apparently high on their potential list.

The filing deadline is not until Feb. 15, and 1968 promises to be one of those years when cowboys and Indians both may bite the dust. Things are pointing in that direction.—CD

Reminder on new voting regulations

Garza County voters will have a lot of opportunities to cast ballots in 1968, and it might be well again to point out some of the new regulations that will cover voting requirements.

Most people know, of course, that the poll tax requirement is a thing of the past in Texas. This does not mean, however, that anyone can walk in off the street and vote in any election.

There are still registration requirements to be met.

Anyone who is 21 years of age and wishes to vote in 1968 must register before Jan. 31, 1968. This includes citizens over 60 who have traditionally been exempt and were not required to register.

In Texas, the voter has always "scratched" the names of the candidates he didn't want. Now he can mark an "X" in the square beside the name and will be casting a vote for that person.

Write-in votes, a long-time nuisance to election judges and tally clerks, will be disregarded except where there are no candidates and a write-in vote must be acknowledged.

These are only a few of the more important new voting regulations. They are easy to learn and easy to follow, but people still need to be reminded of the changes.

THE BASKETBALL season starts here this week, and we can set our sights a shade higher than we had them for the football season, which everyone knew was a "wait a year of two" proposition as far as the Antelope varsity was concerned.

There'll be at least ten teams, from seventh grade right on up through varsity, representing the Post schools in basketball this season, and local cage fans are urged to support these teams to the limit. There'll be some champions somewhere among them.

THE MAN UP the street says no one feels the shocks of modern life more than do-it-yourself electricians.

Something to go see here next Wednesday—the day before Thanksgiving—is the Chisholm Trail Centennial Museum, which will come in by rail and be at the Santa Fe depot from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m.

OUR GRANDCHILDREN from Dallas will be here for Thanksgiving and I'm looking forward to taking my seven-year-old grandson, who is a James Bond fan, to see "Casino Royale" at the Tower Theatre. The chances are, however, that I'll get voted down out at the house and have to take him to see the Chisholm Trail Centennial Museum instead.

Speaking of Thanksgiving, here is a picture of our cat, Blackie—in trouble, as usual.

SATURDAY'S election was so quiet that sometimes the voters had to slam the door when they came in to wake up the election clerks.

Since the end of Daylight Saving Time a few weeks ago, there have been all sorts of tales going around about what happened to people who turned their clocks the wrong way the day we went back on Standard Time. If Daylight Saving Time is still around next year, these clock-turners can save themselves a lot of trouble by remembering a simple formula that comes to us by way of the Hamilton Herald-News. Next year, just remember when setting your clock: "Spring forward, Fall back."

AN AUTOMOBILE swerved off a county road near Cut 'n Shoot, Tex., the other day, hitting a tree and killing two persons. There was nothing odd about the accident, but it was the first time I'd read anything about Cut 'n Shoot, Tex., since several years ago when a heavyweight boxer named Roy Harris was operating out of there. The best I remember, Roy Harris faded from the scene after a mismatch with Sonny Liston—and, by the way, what ever happened to him?

Someone wanted to know the other day which song has been recorded the most. I hadn't the slightest idea, but someone else who heard the question looked up the answer and informed us that the distinction belongs to "St. Louis Blues" and "Stardust," each of which has been recorded between 800 and 900 times.

A FURNITURE STORE in Jonesville, Wis., advertised: Will the mother whose little boy laid his sucker on an end table come in? She can have the end table for just $1, with sucker still intact.

If you didn't think that one was funny, try this one:
Judge: "You admit that you saw these two men hitting each other with baseball bats. Why didn't you try to stop them?"
Witness: "Well, I would have, Your Honor, but I couldn't find another bat."

Executive director of Post Foundation attends meeting

Tom McKeown, executive director of Post Industries Foundation, attended the 14th annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce Industrial Development Conference in Big Spring last week.

One of the highlights of the meeting was the announcement of the Blue Ribbon City Awards program for cities of 12,000 population and under. This award is to be used to publicly acknowledge the results of work by cities in the Small Town Economic Progress program (STEP).

Six categories have been established which set forth minimum standards for various sized cities. When a city attains the goals outlined in the category it will be awarded a certificate of achievement. Upon completion of the goals in all six categories a certificate, an outdoor road sign and public ceremonies will acknowledge the accomplishment, according to the STEP Chairman John Ben Shepherd of Odessa.

The six categories are: Tourism, Beautification, Education, Parks and Recreation, Industrial Development and Local Government. There is no contest between cities, but rather achievement goals which every city can attain.

The chairman stated that any town which indicates a desire to participate in STEP may enter the Blue Ribbon City Award program by meeting minimum requirements.

Following entry, a team of STEP speakers will attend a meeting of community leaders to outline the necessary work for the community to qualify for one or more of the category awards.

Importance of good selection of children's books is pointed out

COLLEGE STATION — When children grow up with books, books become their friends, and important to them.

Parents can't begin too early to think about books for their children. A one-year-old child delights in recognizing familiar things in books.

This week, National Children's Book Week, presents a good time to begin, suggests Jennie Kitching, Extension family life education specialist at Texas A&M.

Selection of books for pre-schoolers depends on their age. For example, two and three year olds need clear, simple pictures and stories geared to his interests and to activities he knows and enjoys.

At this age, he begins to gain a liking for literature Miss Kitching says, and stories should have good plots and reasonable characters. Four and five-year-olds are becoming increasingly imaginative and curious about the world around them. Their attention span lengthens from about 15 minutes and their vocabulary is increasing.

Thus the book can be longer and the story more complicated with special interest in adventure, animals and nature stories; stories about activities like his own and those of people he knows; stories about transportation; and books about the way things work, Miss Kitching says.

For all pre-schoolers, books should be of good paper and strong binding. Colors should be clear, intense and pleasing.

Books influence a school-age youngster and are important to him. From kindergarten to adolescence a child's tastes and interests mature and become more defined.

Books for school youngsters, says Miss Kitching, should meet this criteria adapted from the Child Association of America: sincerity, authenticity, credibility, emotional impact, good and effective writing style, reader interest and age suitability.

Vet's Forum

Q. Several years ago I elected to receive Army retirement benefits rather than VA disability compensation. Is it too late to change now?

A. No. There is no deadline for a current election of compensation in lieu of retired pay. However, you must undergo a VA medical examination to determine the degree and nature of your disability and the amount of compensation to which you are entitled. You can make arrangements for this examination through your nearest Veterans Administration office.

Q. I am receiving a pension as a widow of a veteran and for our two children. I am considering marrying again. If I remarry will I lose this pension?

A. Your pension will be terminated but your children will continue to receive benefits if neither has an unearned income exceeding $1,800 per year. Children do not lose their rights to a pension when the widow remarries or dies. They will continue to receive a pension until they reach age 18 or, if they remain in school, until age 23. The rate for two children together is $36 per month. Where there is only one child the rate is $40.

Q. I entered active duty last year under the Six-Month Reserve training program and I served 182 days during this tour. Am I eligible for schooling under the G. I. Bill?

A. No. The fact that you had the required minimum of 181 days in service does not apply in your case. Veterans who enlisted under the Six-Month Reserve program do not qualify under the G. I. Bill.

Hong Kong's 398 square miles are so crowded that many neighborhood schools in the British Colony hold classes on the rooftops of buildings.

HERE ARE SOME FACTS YOU SHOULD KNOW:

If you have well matured cottonseed, you can catch your own seed at the gin, have them delinted, treated with panogen, put in bags and stored until planting time for seven to eight cents per pound or saw delinted for about four to five cents per pound.

This would amount to a 10 CENT PER POUND SAVING or more on your planting seed costs! We also have a good selection of certified seeds.

Guild's amateur art exhibit all set for Sunday opening

Thelma Clark Griggs, well-known Lubbock portrait painter, will be a special guest and juror at the Post Arts - Craft Guild amateur art exhibit to be held Sunday at 230 East Main St.

Mrs. Griggs is Region 20 director of the Texas Fine Arts Association and her works are included in the Lubbock Art Association, in permanent collections of the West Texas Museum, Texas Tech, Lubbock Public Library, City of Lubbock, F&M State Bank, Burleson, Tex., and other public and private collections throughout the Southwest.

Her work has been exhibited in many places throughout the state and Lubbock and is being shown at the Baker Collector's Gallery in Lubbock.

Artist John Meigs has this to say about Mrs. Griggs: "She was meant to be a portrait painter. Her fine talent and years of training prepared her for the field of portraiture and her warm intimate personality has given the artist a quick rapport with her sitters. A portraitist of Thelma's capability is a rare thing indeed. She richly deserves her position in today's art world."

CORRECTION, PLEASE

Mrs. James Babb was one of the hostesses at the shower for Miss Gayle Heaton instead of Mrs. Glenn Norman, as was inadvertently stated in last week's paper. Also the wedding will take place in the pastor's study at the First Baptist Church instead of the Trinity Baptist Church.

It's My Turn

— By MRS. C.

The C's bring you greetings from Lucille and Leo Acker of Houston.

We spent a delightful evening with L & L and told them we'd tell all their Post friends hello for them. That's one of the advantages of writing a column — one can do that type of thing rather effortlessly.

Evidence that big city life agrees with the Ackers is that they both look awfully well. Evidence that long hours don't kill anybody is the fact that Leo leaves home at 7 a. m. (in order to get to work on time) and doesn't return until about 7 p. m. (and he's gaining weight). Evidence that the Ackers are grandparents is a corner of one bedroom set aside for a baby bed and a darling picture on the dressing table. Evidence that the Ackers' oldest son, Lexa, is still artistically bent is found in all the attractive decoupage hand hangings throughout the house. Evidence that Zip Code is a poop out is the fact that the Ackers do not receive their Post Dispatch until Tuesday the majority of the time.

Lexa has recently changed architectural firms and is now in Boston working in a building which houses 179 architects. It's sort of a cool-your-idea-and-work type place, if I understood correctly. Leslie and his wife and child are still in Austin where he is a law student at the University of Texas. His wife has graduated and is working.

The Ackers live in a lovely apartment complex and Lucille, in order to keep busy and meet new people, is an assistant manager. Apartment managing has really become something in this day of apartment living. And it has its advantages. Just think, no worry and trouble of calling a serviceman; no yard work of any kind; nor trash pickup to be concerned with; no taxes, and no utility bills. If you have any trouble you just pick up the phone and call the manager. Of course, one does pay for all this service!

Lucille missed her bridge playing when they moved to Houston and solved that problem quite nicely. She called the YWCA and within weeks had met enough ladies to form a two-table bridge club. The conversation got away from us then and I never did find out how much Lucille suffered taking "beginner's" lessons when she is such an expert player. She has now entered the field of duplicate bridge playing.

Proof that it's a small world is that Nita and Tommy Bouchier live only a few blocks away, so Nita and Lucille see a lot of each other while their husbands are off working. Nita is going to the University of Houston, you know, to complete her college work.

Oh, I have to tell you about the Acker's patio. It's about six feet deep and the width of their living room. A six-foot fence cuts off the neighbors and there is a planted area around the patio floor. Lucille said she satisfies her yard work longings there. More Lexa hangings are to be found on the patio wall!

L & I both said that if they had all their good friends from Post there with them they'd have no complaints about life. Lucille even likes the weather and it agrees with her health-wise.

It's always good to see old friends and we enjoyed every minute of it.

Herd-Crumbley vows spoken Nov. 11 at church in Midland

The Episcopal Church of The Holy Trinity of Midland was the setting of the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Claire Herd and Reuben Alexander Crumbley Jr. at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon last Saturday.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John Harvey Herd of Midland and Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Alexander Crumbley of McDonough, Ga. The bride is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John T. Herd of Post.

The Rev. Jack Leather, church pastor, officiated at the single ring ceremony before an altar decorated with two crescent-shaped arrangements of white butterfly roses and fern. Four standing candelabra on either side of the altar and four wall sconces on either side of the church nave were decorated with Springerl fern and bows of white satin roping ending in satin tassels.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of candlelight silk peau d'ange and imported Princesse Brussels lace. The moulded empire bodice, edged at the waistline by a narrow fold of the peau d'ange and enhanced by the lace, was fashioned with a decollete neckline edged with a self-cording of the peau d'ange. Long wrist-length sleeves were complemented by the lace and edged with a self ruffle and small shaped bow entwisted with tiny seed pearls. Two small shaped bows marked the back of the gown.

The controlled A-line skirt swept to a wide chapel-length train. Her veil, extending to the length of her train, was a mantilla of imported Princesse Brussels lace which fell in soft folds from a calot. The colonial bouquet was of white Thalicopsis orchids and stephanotis backed with green ivy and lace ribbons.

Mrs. Tevis Herd of Albuquerque, N. M., sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Kay Daniel, Temple, cousin of the bride; Miss Sally Eastham, Atlanta, Ga.; Miss Susan Fasken, Midland; Miss Sandra Stoddard, Midland; Miss Sally Stowers of Sherman, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. John A. Thompson, Alameda, Calif.

The attendants wore identical gowns of pumpkin gold alaskine. The moulded bodice was fashioned with an oval neckline and tiered flared sleeves accented by a small shaped bow. A shaped bow also marked the back of the gown. The slim A-line skirt was four-length. They wore matching Dior bows in their hair. Their colonial-style bouquets were of chartreuse spider chrysanthemums, yellow starburst and pumpkin daisy pom-pom chrysanthemums interspersed with gardenia leaves.

Mr. Crumbley served as his son's best man. Groomsmen were Jerry Appleby, Philip Etheridge and John Isakson, all of Atlanta; Pierre Howard of Decatur, Ga.; Daniel Herd of Midland and Tevis Herd of Albuquerque, brothers of the bride. Wade Crumbley, brother of the bridegroom, was an usher.

Tom Rahls and Tom Ward of Midland were acolytes. Mrs. Harold W. Heckathorne was organist. A reception followed at the Midland Country Club. Arrangements in green and brown urns of fall shades of chrysanthemums with oranges, lemons and limes sliced into flower forms were used throughout the club rooms.

The bride's table was draped with white taffeta and embellished with gardenias. Silver branched candelabra holding white taper; centered the table. The bridegroom's table was decorated with an antique marble and brass scales holding fresh grapes and chrysanthemums. A copper colored cloth covered the buffet table which held a brass epergne filled with bronze and yellow chrysanthemums interspersed with green apples, pears, lemons and limes.

Guests were registered by Misses Patricia Lineham, Claire Kerr, Meredith George, Kay Myers and Jence Montgomery of Midland; Vicki Lou Throckmorton and Jennifer Wilson of Lubbock, cousins of the bride; distributed rice bags. Members of the houseparty were Mrs. Jerry Wilson, Lubbock, cousin of the bride; Miss Jean Craver, Dallas; Mrs. John A. Mackintosh, Austin; Mrs. James A. Rolfe, Austin, cousin of the bride; Mrs. Daniel Camie, San Francisco, Calif.; Mrs. Edward T. M. Garland, Atlanta; Miss Carol Neely, Midland.

The couple will be at home in Atlanta Nov. 18, following a wedding trip to New Orleans, La. The bride was presented by the Midland Symphony and Choral Association at the 1965 Jewel Ball in Austin, attended Hollins College in Virginia, and received a bachelor of arts degree, with honors, from the University of Texas. She majored in French and was vice president of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. She is a teacher in the Atlanta public schools.

Mr. Crumbley was awarded a BA in Journalism in 1964 and a bachelor of law degree in 1965 at the University of Georgia. He was an officer of Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity, Omicron Delta Kappa and Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity; a member of Blue Key and Gamma, and president of the Student Government. He is a member of the Georgia and American Bar Associations, and will be employed by the attorney general of Georgia in December.

Historical marker at McCamey, Tex., salutes Permian Basin oil pioneers

McCAMEY — An official marker which pays tribute to some of the pioneer oilmen of the Permian Basin has been erected on the outskirts of McCamey by the Texas State Historical Survey Committee. Located east of downtown McCamey on State Highway 67, the marker commemorates the beginning of efficient pipeline transportation in the Permian Basin.

The marker calls attention to the site of an early camp for pipeline crews of Humble Oil & Refining Company. The camp was built in 1926 when Humble extended its line west from the Big Lake Field. The coming of pipeline transportation to the area led to the growth of McCamey and the building of a refinery.

Mayor B. A. Epley of McCamey presided at the recent dedicatory ceremony. Also taking part were Miss Ethie Eagleton, chairman of the Upton County Historical Survey Committee, and Mrs. Jack Garner, manager of the McCamey Chamber of Commerce.

L. H. Byrd of Midland, manager of Humble's Southwestern Production Division, represented Humble. "The original McCamey camp site," he said, "was a 32.5-acre tract which was purchased March 24, 1927, and a 100-acre tract was added shortly thereafter. The original refinery went into operation in early 1927 and it burned soon after. It was rebuilt by the end of the year. At one time over 300 employees worked at the refinery."

"Humble Pipe Line Company employees moved into the camp as did production, geologic, and land departments. Originally, twenty-five company houses were built and bunk houses and mess halls were added.

"One of the critical problems in building and sustaining an oil field camp in West Texas was water. Drinking water was shipped into McCamey by tank car from Alpine. It cost $1.00 a barrel and at one time commanded a better price than a barrel of oil. Later water wells were drilled 17 miles south and water was piped into the camp."

Mr. Byrd said that in 1935 Humble moved its West Texas headquarters to Midland, which continues to serve as the company headquarters in West Texas.

"In the late fifties, he said, 'Humble like many other oil companies began to get out of the housing and camp business. With the development of fast growing communities near so many oil field locations, employees preferred becoming part of more general community life and having access to full educational facilities for their children. Today only the most isolated areas have company communities for employees and their families."

"When the oil boom diminished at McCamey, its visionary merchants and citizens saw the opportunity for permanent city to serve as a supply center for the entire trade area of that part of West Texas. Today this vision has led to a thriving permanent city of West Texas—a tribute to its founders and the builders and leaders of today."

"Humble is proud to have made a contribution to McCamey's development and we in its management and our employees are equally proud to be identified with its continued growth and prosperity."

"This medallion will commemorate not only the location of an oil field camp but the work of hundreds of pioneers in the industry who have helped build Humble and the petroleum industry into what they are today."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The Background of Integrity

There are millions of men in this world whose word is trusted—whose handshake is a binding contract—whose integrity others accept without question.

We've come a long way from the days when a strong man and a stout club were the social graces.

And this growth in man's capacity for integrity has paralleled his growth in religious expression.

Of course, the cynics will point to men and nations who still live by the code of the cave man. Must we believe that the clock of progress has turned . . . is running backward?

The sound, the sensible, the sincere still feel the strength of God's Bible in every handshake. With their children they are finding new spiritual opportunity and hope in the churches they cherish.

Are you with them? Are you, too, pushing forward the frontiers of faith?

What Is a Coach?

(Editor's Note: This article appeared in a recent issue of the Texas Interscholastic Leaguer.)

What is a high school coach? He is many things to many people. First, he is a man who lives in a pressure cooker.

The pressure comes from trying to compete and win. If he doesn't win, the sideline men produce the pressure by making it hot for him. If he does win, the pressure builds as more victories are sought.

He is a man accustomed to late, and sometimes cold, suppers after a late practice.

He is a man who comes trudging home late, in the wee hours, following a long road trip.

Generally a family man, he is a husband or father who sees little of his brood during the season of his sport. They don't like his absence and neither does he. Somehow, though, the family becomes resigned to the fact that dad has a job to do; and, because of it, he won't be around much.

At some juncture in his career, however, he suddenly realizes the wife is getting grey and the kids grown up. Where did all those years go to?

As an athletic coach, the man must be rooted deeply in the fundamentals of the sport he is trying to teach. Beyond that, he must be an amateur psychologist, father-confessor, a diplomat, and often a baby-sitter.

All coaches are human, but on occasion are expected to be super-human. He must lead an exemplary life off the court on athletic field and always champion the cause of good sportsmanship.

Some coaches thrive on the pressure. Others become old fast because of it. At the high school level, the coach is a teacher first and a coach after hours.

Most schools pay an extra stipend for coaching. But a man is not hired just to coach. He must be a qualified teacher first, instructor second. He must be a man who can win big - district championship; but, you fought with enthusiasm until the end.

We look forward with anticipation to the forthcoming basketball season and wish each of those that will participate the best of luck, and you can be assured that each of us will be behind you all the way.—Emily Potts, Editor.

LCC HOMECOMING
LUBBOCK — Students at Lubbock Christian College are completing plans for the junior college's 11th homecoming. Activities will begin on Friday, Nov. 17, at 10 a.m. with a homecoming chapel!

Fryers are featured by many markets due to a plentiful supply. Turkey offerings are more than adequate and the large size birds have very attractive price tags.

Pork prices are a bit lower with good values found on Boston butts, roasts, shoulder steaks, hams, picnics, bacon and sausage.

Beef specials are scattered — mainly chuck roasts and steaks, round steaks and beef liver.

The most attractive fresh vegetable choices are the staple items: cabbage, hard shell squash, sweet potatoes, carrots, dry yellow onions, potatoes, as well as mustard, collards and turnip tops. Head lettuce is reasonably priced. Cauliflower, broccoli, brussels sprouts, corn and snap beans are other vegetables to consider. Dry split peas are a real economy to remember.

ing in math, chemistry or some other academic subject.

He may be a top-notch teacher with a so-so coaching record, but it is the latter he hears most about because his teams are always on display, good or bad.

Some fellow faculty members may hold him in contempt, but he soon comes to understand this is the price he pays for occasionally having a team good enough to get the headlines or attract the attention of the public.

The coach discovers early that athletic fame is fleeting. Last year's championship doesn't count when a new season rolls around. This, too, must be imparted to his athletes. And how do you go about telling a team that the trophies of yesterday are already tarnished?

A bleak job? To some extent, yes. But there are rewards in coaching. Helping to develop boys and girls is the basic challenge and worthy of the best a man has to offer. While winning the next game is the immediate goal, the real satisfaction for a coach doesn't come until later — when the athletes are out on their own.

When an ex-athlete remembers something his old high school coach said or did and this helps him along the way, then the pressure, long hours, and cold suppers have paid off.

This is a high school coach.

Garza vote favors only one of six amendments

Although all six state constitutional amendments won approval from Texas voters in a statewide special election Saturday, Garza County voters favored only one of them.

It was the one which will revise the veterans land program through an additional $200 million bond issue, permitting war veterans, including those of the Vietnam conflict, to purchase land on lower-interest, 40-year payback loans. That carried in Garza County by a 123 to 80 vote margin.

Only about 10 per cent of the county's eligible voters — 205 to be exact — showed enough interest in the amendments to go to the polls and express their opinion on them.

Opposition to the other five amendments was expressed as follows:

No. 1. To authorize counties to place all their tax revenues in a single general fund, rather than separate, special-purpose funds: 63 for, 142 against.

No. 2. To let political subdivisions which have hospital districts spend tax money for mental health and mental retardation services: 84 for, 118 against.

No. 4. To permit counties to pay medical benefits for their law enforcement officers injured in line of duty: 84 for, 122 against.

No. 5. To authorize a $75 million state bond issue for park land buying and development: 61 for, 144 against.

No. 6. To permit non-elective state officials and employees to serve on state and federal boards and commissions if there is no conflict of duties: 69 for, 136 opposed.

General Telephone establishes new Western Area

SAN ANGELO — In a move designed to improve its administrative and supervisory functions, General Telephone Company of the Southwest has announced the establishment of a new Western Area, with headquarters in Brownfield, Tex.

W. A. (Dub) Ligon has been named manager of the Western Area, a three-state operation which stretches from western Oklahoma through the Texas Panhandle-South Plains to southeastern New Mexico. Included in the area are 58 communities in which General serves over 122,000 telephones. The new alignment is to be placed in effect on Jan. 1, 1968.

H. Danney of San Angelo, president of the phone firm, announced the new arrangement which "will permit improved administration of field functions and will increase supervisory strength thru the new area's operations."

Measles shots—

The project will be set up probably for the latter part of the Christmas school vacation here, the health officer indicated. The Rotary's prime function will be to publicize the project to enable the project to reach at least 300 preschool youngsters.

Ansil O'Neal, Rotary president, spoke on the Rotary Foundation at the weekly luncheon meeting.

The Old Timer

"Relatives looking for hand-outs seldom stay long. It's usually just a matter of touch and go."

Type Happenings...

Until Johann Gutenberg invented movable type 400 years ago, each page of type had to be printed from a single block.

Gutenberg's BIBLE published in 1456, was the first book printed from movable, reusable type. Within 50 years there were more than 150 type faces.

TODAY, the typographer can select from 5,000 type faces to meet the needs of modern visual communications.

City council —

The request from the library board, presented by chairman Jim Cornish and member David Newsby, was that the city assist the board in library enlargement costs amounting to approximately $600. The work would consist of converting the old Chamber of Commerce room and the rest room in the back for library use, which would include such items as tile flooring, lowering ceiling, strip lighting, patching plaster and a new rest room lavatory.

Cornish said the library board would need to install new shelving if the library is enlarged. He suggested that if the city would pay for the remodeling, the library board would bear the rest of the remodeling cost plus the cost of the shelving, which would be between $200 and $400.

After the library board members had left the meeting, the council decided not to spend any money on the library than the $1,500 it has budgeted for this fiscal year. Earlier, they had been told by Cornish that at least $1,000 of this amount would be spent by the library board for new books.

The water line improvement authorized by the city council calls for the replacement of five blocks of two-inch line from Avenue M to Avenue I to six-inch line. City Manager Warren told the council the improvement is badly needed since there are 28 "taps" on the one line.

The police department report for October showed a total of $1,387.50 in fines collected for the month. The total did not include traffic fines, for which figures were not available for Monday night's report, the police chief told the council.

HORSE PLACES SECOND

Snap, owned and ridden by Junior Gray, placed second in the $500 novice-novice class at the cutting horse contest at Graham Saturday. The cutting, sponsored by the West Central Texas Cutting Horse Association, was held in the Hipp Arena. The next contest is scheduled for Nov. 25 at Archer City.

Postings—

(Continued From Front Page) a telegram on the eve of their bid-district game with Memphis congratulating them on their district championship and wishing them the best of luck in the playoff.

"Now, who remembers?" Gene concluded.

Well, Gene, we know our school officials here would prefer we let you off that hook, but we won't. You seem to forget something about last year — such as a letter from a pep squad president to a Lubbock radio station complaining of the way Denver City was treated — or was it "cheated" — here in Post.

And to that we can only add there is considerable difference between 14-0 and 90-0 scores as far as close camaraderie is concerned.

Readers will find on page 11 of today's Dispatch Malcolm Bull's announcement that he has purchased the former Forrest Lumber yard property at 302 West Eighth and is moving his Bull's Farm & Ranch Supply firm to the new quarters for business Monday morning.

Bull in his ad told his customers that it was their support which has made his expansion possible. Malcolm, who celebrated his second anniversary in his business yesterday, is not planning a grand opening in his new quarters until early 1968 — maybe not until February or March — at which time he hopes to have all his new lines complete. New lines will include an expanded Purina livestock feed warehouse, new fertilizer lines, a line of livestock feeders and equipments, and a line of farm chemicals.

Coach Waco Reynolds' 7th grade football team ended its seven-game season undefeated Nov. 2 by downing the Tahoka 7th grade team, 8-0, on the Tahoka gridiron.

Cold, blustery winds hampered both teams' offenses and turned the game into a defensive battle, with Post scoring late in the final quarter to take the victory.

The Post touchdown was made by Robert Mindieta on a quarterback sneak, and Robert Torres ran over the extra points.

Johnny Minor, Charles Johnson, Steve Cooper and Dale Walls were outstanding on defense, with the entire team turning in a good game, Coach Reynolds said.

The 7th grade team, which had more than 40 boys on its squad, ended the season with five victories and two ties.

Post bows to Morton in final '67 battle

Indians score early in 14-0 win

The Morton Indians scored two first period touchdowns here last Friday night, then protected their lead throughout the final three quarters to pin a 14-0 defeat on the Post Antelopes in the final game of the season for both teams.

The victory gave the Indians a 4-6 record for the season and 4-2 in District 4AA play for a third place finish. The loss was the Antelopes' eighth against one win for their poorest season since 1957 when they went 0-10.

The Antelopes finished with a district record of 1-6 for sixth place in the standings, just ahead of cellar - occupant Frenship.

Morton scored on its first play from scrimmage Friday night, with fullback Donnie Harvey breaking through the left side of the Post line and cutting back for a 76-yard scoring gallop. Center Billy Smart kicked the extra point to give the Indians a 7-0 lead with 9:43 left in the first quarter.

Morton's other touchdown came with 2:35 remaining in the quarter when quarterback Wayne Thompson hit Harvey with a 21-yard pass. Smart again booted the point-after.

Operating most of the way from a shotgun formation, the Antelopes never seriously threatened the Indians' goal line, the 29-yard stripe being their deepest point of penetration.

Sophomore quarterbacks Roy Altman and Jay Bird filled the air with passes, leaving a total of 31, but completing only eight for a total of 48 yards. None of the completed passes gained more than eight yards.

The second quarter was played almost entirely between the 30-yard lines, with Morton unsuccessfully attempting a field goal from the Post 28 on the final play of the period.

Morton threatened to score again early in the third quarter when they drove to the Post 20 after taking over on downs on their 43. Defensive halfback Pete Morales stopped Harvey short of the necessary yardage on a fourth down try to regain the ball for the Lopes.

A few plays later, the Indians were knocking at the door again after Ray Altman's high punt traveled only to the Post 35 and was returned to the 30.

Halfback Charles Joyce and Harvey gained eight yards each for a first down on the 14, but the Antelopes stiffened and took the ball on downs after Charles Harper stopped Harvey for no gain and the center of the line held Thompson on fourth down for no gain at the five-yard line.

Ronnie Petty recovered a fumbled punt for the Antelopes on the third quarter, but on the next play, Smary intercepted Altman's pass on the 22.

Post's deepest penetration came in the first quarter when Petty recovered a Morton fumble on the Indian 32. Halfback James Pollard lost two at the line, but gained five on a sweep. Bird, in at quarterback for Altman, slipped for a one-yard loss, and a fourth down pass was incomplete.

SOUNDS OF THE WEST

When a man and his family staked their claim however, it was the ring of the ox blowing froil, cutting clearings, and building the cabin that announced the end of their wandering, the beginning of a new life.

From the beginning of American history, the crack of the rifle has echoed throughout the land. Firearms meant survival for the pioneers—protection from starvation and attack as they pushed the frontier westward.

While today's outdoorsmen carries a rifle whose design and performance would have amazed the pioneers, the hand axe lingered on as his chief wood-cutting tool. But now the new Remington 5L-9 chain saw weighs just a few pounds more than his rifle, and promises to make blisters as obsolete as the powder horn.

The girls' division of the clinic will be held in the morning, and the boys' division in the afternoon.

Individual attention will be given each student on basketball fundamentals — ball handling, jump shots, agility, and so forth. Ten minutes will be devoted to each student on each fundamental to be taught, Gregg said.

The clinic will be held in the high school gymnasium.

Red Raiders host Baylor Saturday

LUBBOCK — The Texas Tech Red Raiders will play host to the Baylor Bears in a Southwest Conference game here Saturday afternoon in Jones Stadium.

Both teams will be attempting to get back in the victory column. Texas Tech was upset by a surging TCU eleven Saturday and Baylor fell victim to the Texas Longhorns, 24-0.

Baylor defeated the Red Raiders 29-14 last year in a game played in Lubbock before 28,965 fans.

Two All-American candidates will be in action in Saturday's tilt. Greg Pipes, a 236-pound senior from Fort Worth, will man the left defensive tackle post for the Baylor crew. Texas Tech fans will be watching the performance of Phil Tucker, the left offensive guard in Coach J. T. King's Tandem I formation.

Pipes, a two-year all-conference performer at guard, was moved to defensive tackle this fall and was a pre-season All-American pick.

Tucker has been one of the main reasons Texas Tech has been ranked nationally in rushing offense. The 232-pound senior from Tulsa, like Pipes, is extremely fast for an interior lineman. Both players run 40 yards in 4.5 seconds.

Kickoff is set for 2 p. m.

A HemisFair '68 representative presented the committee a copy of a two and one-half hour tape recording made by George "Scotty" Samson for HemisFair.

Committees were urged to do all the work possible in time for HemisFair, especially on things of interest to tourists, such as campsites, parks, guides, etc., by April of 1968.

It's the Law...

THE CATCH-ALL CRIME

Sassing a policeman. Using obscene language in a church. Clanging a school bell in the dead of night.

Each of these acts, even though different in nature, has at one time or another been held to be the same offense: "breach of the peace."

In fact, every crime used to be described as a breach of the peace. Gradually, over the years, emphasis has shifted to the special categories of crime, like "murder" or "arson" or "theft."

But it is still true today that, when an act does not fit into a special category, it may nevertheless be punishable under the general heading of breach of the peace—the catch-all crime.

Being only a misdemeanor, breach of the peace is often thought of as a pretty minor matter. True, the penalty is minor. But involved.

Such as: When does a lawful demonstration turn into an unlawful breach of the peace? When does lawful persuasion turn into an unlawful breach of the peace?

In one case, a member of a religious sect offended two pedestrians in the street by trying to sell them his controversial literature.

However, when charged with a breach of the peace, he was exonerated on the ground that he had used no force and had gone away when rebuffed. The court said the preaching of religious doctrine is given broad leeway under the First Amendment.

But in another case, religious zealots invaded a hotel on a Sunday morning, pounded on various doors, and insisted on talking to people who wanted only to sleep.

This time, the court decided that persuasion had gone too far. Finding the defendants guilty of a breach of the peace, the court said: "We are aware of no decision that freedom of religion carries with it a freedom to disturb the peace of others in the manner shown here."

In short, breach of the peace marks out a vital boundary between one man's liberty and another man's tranquility. It is society's device for guarding "that invisible sense of security for which all governments are instituted."
