

Interest in uranium is shown by oil companies

Interest centers in nearby areas

Several major oil companies operating in this area have organized "mining divisions" to look into the possibilities of uranium production. A West Texas "scout" for one of the firms told The Dispatch this week.

That, and the observation that Garza and Lynn counties and the Yellowhouse Canyon area of Lubbock County are attracting all the West Texas interest in uranium right now, were about the only interesting developments of the week on the "local uranium front."

No operations have been begun, as yet, on the 4,400 acre Long uranium lease nine miles north of Post on the Ralls highway.

The big 25,000 acre lease block, sought by a major uranium producer in northeastern Lynn County, won't be negotiated further until September. Conclusive testing of that area is expected to take two years. Leases negotiated have been for three years.

A check of our courthouses at Tahoka, Post and Lubbock Tuesday revealed no mining leases on file in any of them other than the 4,400 acre Long lease to Alpheus C. Bruton, an independent mining operator reportedly associated with another independent who lives in Van Horn.

The way the picture shapes up here is that major oil firms are closely watching all leasing operations in this area with an eye toward possibly getting into the mining business themselves.

The Dispatch has learned that the uranium bearing strata which tops the group on the Long lease north of Post is 1,500 to 2,000 feet beneath the caprock further west in northeastern Lynn County where a major firm last month began the expenditure of up to $100,000 in efforts to assemble a sizeable lease block.

It also was reported to The Dispatch this week that the same firm which is interested in the Lynn County lease block recently dug a series of test holes on New Mexico state highway right of ways in Quay County, just over the line in New Mexico.

Uranium interest in Texas at the present time appears to be developing in Karnes County and around Corpus Christi, as well as the Garza-Lynn-Lubbock area here in West Texas.

There is no question that Garza has many low grade uranium deposits. Whether there are in this county or nearby areas commercial quantity deposits of uranium appears yet to be proven.

A seismograph crew has reportedly been working digging test holes 15 to 18 miles north of Post, but this is believed to be an oil prospectus rather than a search for uranium.

For the present uranium prospects for this area remain purely speculative—but very interesting to all of those who would like to see a new income source to shore up the area economy.

air-conditioners wrecked

Burglars hit 4 firms, 2 from the rooftops

Rooftop burglaries returned to last week after an absence of several years.

Of four places broken into — two Wednesday night and one Sunday night—two were entered from the roof.

Wacker's Variety Store, 217 East Main, was hardest hit, losing between $600 and $700 in cash and merchandise Sunday night to a burglar, who also tore up the store's air-conditioner in his rooftop entry.

Custom Upholstery at 221 East Main also was entered through the roof, with the owner reporting about $18.50 in money and two rolls of upholstery material taken. The Custom Upholstery burglary occurred Wednesday night of last week, the same night that entries were gained through windows at Stone's Texaco Station, 201 South Broadway, and Bull's Farm and Ranch Supply, 131 South Ave. I.

John Brockman, Wacker's manager, said the air-conditioner was completely torn up at his store, also resulting in damage to the part of the building where the air-conditioner was installed.

The money stolen from the variety store was taken from the cash registers and the merchandise taken consisted of a variety of the store's stock, the manager said. The burglars left through the store's back door after knocking off the lock.

N. M. Sullivan, manager of Custom Upholstery, said the burglar, or burglars, at his place tore the air-conditioner loose on the roof of his place and dropped through the hole about 15 feet onto a hide-away bed.

At Stone's Texaco Station, the burglar reached in and unlatched a window on the east side after breaking out the glass. All that was missed were a number of pennies from the cash register, according to Albert Stone, owner.

The burglars at the farm and ranch supply store also entered through a window. Nothing was reported missing by owner Malcolm T. Bull.

Eight or nine years ago, a number of Post business places lost heavily to burglars who gained entrance by way of the rooftops, but until last week nearly all the break-ins here had been of the window and door variety.

Also speaking on various phases of the work of the historical group before Rotarians were Mrs. Mattie Belle Fluit and Mrs. Winnie Tuffing. Mrs. Tuffing told how the committee was attempting by printed word, photograph and tape recording to collect the personal history of pioneers of this area for their records.

Mrs. Surman told Rotarians that "we look forward with hope and patience" to the day when Garza County will have a proper place to keep and exhibit its historical collection.

Bill McCrary is star in musical

The Broadway musical, "On a Clear Day You Can See Forever," which closed a successful two-week run at the Casa Manana Theatre in Fort Worth last week, featured Marc (Bill) McCrary in the second lead role.

Marc is the son of Leroy McCrary of Amarillo and a grandson of Mrs. S. W. McCrary and Mrs. Willie Richardson and Lacy Richardson, all of Post.

According to the Casa Manana program, McCrary has been tickling the funny bones of the theatre's audiences since the second year of its beginning.

This was his 16th role at the Casa Manana. Last season he was seen as Frump in "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," and Frank in "Show Boat." He narrated the Dupont Musical Review, "The Wonderful World of Chemistry," at the New York World's Fair, and was selected to star in the filming of the show, which was seen throughout the United States.

A native Texan, McCrary is a graduate of Amarillo High School and Texas Christian University. He is now co-owner and manager of an art gallery in New York's theatrical district.

McCrary is a favorite among Fort Worth theatre-goers, who like to believe that he reserves his most special talents for their enjoyment. Two of his most outstanding performances in Fort Worth were as the Tin Woodsman in "The Wizard of Oz," and Stewpot in "South Pacific."

Wagoner Johnson, Rt. 3, was admitted to Garza Memorial Hospital about 4 a.m. Wednesday after suffering a light heart attack. He is reported to be improved.

SUFFERS HEART ATTACK

This community is now completing the first essential spade work for "industry getting." We can now be considered in operation—just in time for uranium, "hot houses", or a host of other enterprises which might be successfully launched here.

Tom McKeown, executive director of the new Post Industrial Foundation, certainly will offer all the help his organization can in aiding any area uranium developments. But in the meantime, McKeown has lost no time in gathering up all the essential facts necessary in considering Post as a site for a wholesale foliage plant in West Texas.

Tom was down state yesterday conferring with the two partners who were in Post last week inquiring about local possibilities for a "hot house" operation here.

In the 10 years we've been in Post, the Post Industrial Foundation offers the most promise for community growth on any proposition local citizens have undertaken.

Latest Kirby oil well to be dual producer

Kirby Petroleum Company's Montgomery-Davis No. 3G has been completed as a dual producer and will undergo potential tests the first of next week. E. R. (Buster) Moreland of the George R. Brown oil interests, announced today.

The well, located outside the original city limits on the west edge of Post, has been completed in the San Andres B and D zones, Moreland reported.

Clyde Miller's horses are winners at Gail

Clyde Miller of Fluvanna horses, shown by Riley Miller, won the grand champion stallion and grand champion gelding honors Saturday in the Gail Horse Show.

The grand champion stallion was Clyde Depth Bar, a three-year-old and the grand champion gelding was Poco Chip Boy.

A three-year-old mare shown by Miller also won first in her class.

Is there an uranium future for Post and Garza County?

That's the question most people ask these days—and one for which there is no sure answer. Obviously, uranium production in this area would be a welcome boost to the economy of the region.

Some doubt the possibility. Others hopefully speculate that it can amount to something. The fact that major oil companies now are giving uranium the eye certainly is welcome news.

Garza County does have uranium. But whether it has in commercial quantity is a fact still to be proven. It is probable that any uranium development here would require several years of testing and planning before it develops into actuality.

Southland rites for Mr. Eckert

Funeral services for Robert Daniel Eckert, 53, of Southland, who died at 5:30 p. m. Saturday in Garza Memorial Hospital following an illness of several months, were held at 2 p. m. Monday in Southland Methodist Church.

Mr. Eckert, a cowboy and horse-shoer, had been a resident of Southland for two years. He was born in San Saba County on April 21, 1914. Survivors are his wife, Nora; four sons, Victor Lee, Dan, Joe and Paul, all of the home; three daughters, Marian and Jean, both of the home, and Mrs. Marie Nelson of Brownwood.

Also by one brother, W. T. Eckert. (See Eckert Rites, Page 8)

Auto insurance rates face cut

The average Garza County motorist will be paying about $10 less annually for his auto insurance beginning Aug. 1 if recommendations made in Austin Tuesday by rate experts of the State Board of Insurance are put into effect.

Garza and 13 other area counties would receive a $10 cut in premiums for the average driver.

A Lubbock County slash of about $13 was the greatest recommended by the experts.

"West Texas as a whole came out better than any other part of the state," said Angus McDonald, chief actuary for the casualty division of the state board, who added, "Getting lower insurance rates this day and time is quite an accomplishment."

Among those from Post who attended the funeral was Postmaster A. J. McAlister.

Shrapnel wounds

Post soldier is hit in Vietnam

Staff Sgt. Paul Dwayne Capps became the first Garza County casualty of the current Vietnam conflict May 13 when a land mine exploded, wounding all members of the six-man crew of the tank he commanded.

But the wounds were not serious and Sgt. Capps already is back on combat duty.

His mother, Mrs. Inez Capps, received a letter from her son last week giving the first news of his wounds and assuring her that he was all right and that he had already returned to duty as a scout for the 11th Armored Division.

Enclosed in the letter was Capps' Purple Heart, the medal awarded all those who are wounded.

The sergeant wrote that he received a shrapnel wound in the right leg and facial lacerations when the land mine detonated. He wrote his leg wound was almost healed.

This action was in the demilitarized zone invasion by American forces last month to root out a North Vietnam build-up for an invasion of South Vietnam.

Two of Capps' six-man tank crew were seriously wounded and evacuated to hospitals.

Sgt. Capps, who already has served in Vietnam for 11 months, is due for rotation home after a year of war zone service July 18.

When he returned to the United States he still will have five months of his current enlistment to serve and expects to be assigned to either Fort Hood or Fort Sill.

Prior to his Vietnam duty he served in West Germany.

"I'm all right, Mom," he wrote Mrs. Capps. "Don't worry about me."

Officers elected

Farmers Union is presented charter

The newly organized Garza County Farmers Union was presented its charter Tuesday night by Jay Naman of Waco, state president.

The charter presentation came during a meeting at the First National Bank community room, at which officers were elected and other organizational details completed.

Arnold Sanderson was elected president; C. R. Lancaster, first vice president; Bill Carlisle, second vice president, and Gwen Carlisle, secretary-treasurer. Elected as directors were Cecil Stolle, Ted Aten, Wayne Carpenter and Bob Tidwell.

Naman presented lapel pins to the newly elected officers. In presenting the charter, Naman urged Garza County farmers to work for a greater future for farmers throughout the county, state and nation.

Avery Moore Jr. presided over the meeting until the officers were

Two promotions at bank announced

Announcement was made this week by J. B. Potts, president of the First National Bank of Post, that Mrs. Mary Howell and Mrs. Rita Nelson have been promoted to assistant cashiers of the bank at the June directors meeting held last Thursday.

Rita Nelson has been with the bank 11 years working as bookkeeper, proof operator and is now head bookkeeper. Rita's husband, Elwood, is co-owner of H&N Garage. They have two children, Patricia, 13 and Ricky, 10. She is a member of Calvary Baptist Church.

Mary Howell began working for the bank in March, 1963, as a stenographer and now serves as secretary. Her husband, Bud Howell, is employed by the State Parks and Wildlife Department as a game warden.

Harold Lucas presented plaque for service

Harold Lucas, mayor of Post from 1963 to 1967 and a city alderman for two years before that, was presented with a plaque before Post Rotarians at their Tuesday luncheon "in grateful recognition of his leadership and outstanding service to his community."

The presentation was made by City Councilman Bob Collier on behalf of the city council. He explained in the past when such plaques were presented former city officials it was usually done at a council meeting with only a few present.

That's why, he said, he secured the council's permission to present it before the Rotary Club.

MILL SAFETY CERTIFICATES

Pete Smith (left), overseer of the weaving department and Herman McVay (right), overseer of the carding and spinning department at Pos.ex Mills, display Certificates of Appreciation awarded their departments for completing one year without a lost-time accident. The certificates were presented by Dick Tanner (center), superintendent. Employees of the two departments were guests at a "feed" given by the company in appreciation of their safety record.

Nancy Bronson tells of camp

Planned and enthusiastic Nancy Bronson, who returned recently from two weeks at the Texas Lions Camp for Crippled Children at Brville, was guest speaker at the Lions Club's regular weekly meeting Tuesday evening.

Nancy said each day at the camp was filled with excitement—swimming, arts and crafts, singing, etc. was just great," Nancy told the Lions.

Next Tuesday evening, the Lions will go to Lion Bud Davis' tank for a cook-out and cook-out, departing for the City Hall at 7 o'clock. Guests at Tuesday night's meeting were Bill Crain, Van Wilks and speaker.

New patrolman assigned here

Don Robbins, who was graduated from the Texas Department of Public Safety Law Enforcement Academy June 9, assumed his new duties last Thursday as a member of the Texas Highway Patrol unit.

Robbins, who is working here as Highway Patrolman Henry Haden, replaces Max Knox, who transferred to San Angelo about two months ago.

The new highway patrolman's home town is Fort Worth, but he was born here from Lubbock.

Robbins' family consists of his wife, Frankie, and their son, Jon.

Our problem is community's problem

We gave a troop of Girl Scouts the "tour" of The Dispatch back shop one afternoon last week. One of the women leaders who accompanied the girls was amazed by the multiple and intricate mechanical steps required to print your weekly newspaper.

As she went out the door she commented, "I don't see how you can afford to sell it for a dime."

She had a better point there than she realized at the time. Right now, actually we can't.

A newspaper is dependent largely on its advertising revenues to pay the cost of its operations. Subscription revenue is badly needed, of course, and very welcome.

But if we charged the cost of our newspaper to subscriptions alone the cost of your Dispatch each week would be something like 50 cents, or maybe even 75 cents or a dollar.

Dispatch advertisers actually subsidize each of our subscribers by paying most of the actual expense of printing your newspapers for the privilege in return of placing their advertising messages before the readers.

But this is simply good business for them because surveys indicate that despite television and its high costs, the newspaper still returns more business per advertising dollar than any other advertising media.

We here at The Dispatch have tried to make your newspaper the newest newspaper in West Texas and most of our professional friends up and down the road tell us we have succeeded.

The staff puts an awful lot of pride, as well as hard work, into each weekly publication.

Despite all the rising costs of the last few years, we have tried to hold the line both to our advertisers and our subscribers. It hasn't been easy. How much longer we can hold out in the face of dwindling profits we don't know. We hear via the "salesman grapevine" there is another newspaper price jump coming next month. If that is so it may be the proverbial straw which breaks the camel's back on "holding the line."

The "business communities"—the retail merchants—of the small towns are having a "rough time" these days. Not just in Post but all over this area and all over most of the country. Merchants, trying to "hold the line" with rising costs squeezing them too, have cut back everywhere they can.

It has cut some of the support from under the smaller papers and may eventually lead to the requirement that the subscriber for the small town paper in the future may have to bear more and more of the actual cost of his newspaper through higher subscription prices.

A newspaper's operation is "fixed" as far as costs are concerned. All the "fat" has long ago been cut from it. Newspapers cannot reduce operating costs to match dwindling revenues without destroying their product, printing smaller papers, and giving less news coverage.

That's the problem. It's "our problem," but it is "our problem" only in the sense it is also a "community problem"—the entire "business community's problem," and the "problem of our readers too."

It is not just a "Post problem," but a problem, as we've explained above, for all smaller communities.

We urge our readers to support our advertisers. We urge our advertisers to support us. We think our newspaper is a very essential part of this community and every community.

If we can improve the economic outlook of the "business community" our own business outlook as a newspaper will correspondingly improve.

We are all tied together—subscribers (customers), local business firms, and the newspaper. We can't produce at 10 cents a copy without heavy support from advertisers. Our local advertisers can't give us that support without your support of them.

The future of all small town newspapers is wrapped up in your answer. The day is not far distant when you must make the choice of either whole-hearted support of your hometown business community, or accepting the added cost of paying the "full price" for your newspaper, or of not having a newspaper.

And as we've said before that is the choice for every town to make. The situation is NOT peculiar to only Post.

The one truth we do know is that when towns lose their newspapers, they lose a vital communication link which holds them together and gives communities identity. Without newspapers, communities can expect to rapidly disintegrate into "bedroom areas" for city trading centers. If that day ever comes, it will be disastrous. But we don't think knowledgeable readers will ever let it come to that.—JC

PROOF THAT last Friday's Moonlight Sale was something entirely new here came Friday morning when someone called The Dispatch office and wanted to know what time the "Moonshine Sale" would start.

Fortunately, for everyone concerned, they weren't selling moonshine... just as they don't sell the sidewalks when they have a Sidewalk Sale.

The MAN UP the street says that of the several ways to make a good cup of coffee, sheer accident is as good as any.

Homer McCrary dropped by The Dispatch office the other day with this clipping from a recent issue of Modern Maturity Magazine. Entitled, "Tells of Garden With Tongue in Cheek," it originally came from George Van S. Randall of Livermore, Calif.

"When my wife and I bought a small place in the country, we decided to make our truck garden as self-sufficient as possible.

"Being fond of poultry, we started out with a small bed of hens and chickens, with a few eggplants nearby. For good red meat, we planted some cowslips, supplemented by a large sausage tree.

"In the way of liquid refreshments, we set out some quick-growing beans for instant coffee, and a patch of milkweed.

"Some assorted sweetpeas supplied our vegetables, with a couple of shrimp plants as an appetizer. Daffodils (daffodils) took care of the pickle situation, with some mustard plants to add to our sandwiches.

"Breadfruit took care of the bakery department. We use butter-tubs in lieu of margarine. Just in case we should wish to do some baking, we scattered a package of mixed flower seeds, planning to use sunflowers for heat. Just to be prepared in case that failed us, we set out three matched aspen trees and some red hot poppers with which to stir up the ash.

"Expecting to do some canning in our spare time, we invested in some wax plants for preserving our jams and jellies. To clean up at the end of the day, we added a few bulbs of Indian soap root.

"Then, in the evening by the glow from our firebush, we can relax under our Japanese lantern plant and enjoy our old ladies' chewing tobacco, with some spitconias (petunias) to take care of the saliva (salvia).

"Naturally, all of this requires irrigation, so to fill this need, what could be more economical than an expensive bed of water lilies?"

"All in all, it has turned out to be very satisfactory."

AN UNNAMED citizen inserted this classified ad in the Palestine (Tex.) Herald: "Your dog ain't getting much out of my garbage can, so why don't you feed him?"

It isn't often that when a candidate gets elected mayor of a West Texas town he gets a front-page write-up in an East Coast paper, but that is what happened to John Hopkins. A recent issue of the Armenian Mirror - Spectator, published at Watertown, Mass., had a story of Johnny's election, mainly because he was born in nearby Chelsea, Mass., and was back in that part of the country recently to visit cousins—for the first time in 46 years.

George Washington, Father of Our Country, has the reputation of being one of the most honest men who ever lived. Remember the story about the cherry tree and his confession that he could not tell a lie?

But Kerr Paper Company's newsletter points out that we must remember, too, that he lived at a time in his country's history when it was easy to be truthful.

For example, Washington did not have to do any of the following things:

File an income tax form. Explain to a traffic officer why his speedometer was wrong. Justify his expense record to an accountant.

Write a letter to a teacher at school explaining why his son was not working up to capacity. Provide an excuse to his wife for coming home two hours later than the bowling alley closed.

Fill out a financial information form to determine the extent of credit allowed at the department store.

Describe the size of one fish he caught last summer at the lake. Figure out his losses on the stock market.

Swallow a dozen breath killers to cover his oral alcoholic aroma when he's got to meet the church committee that evening.

Produce a logical reason why his automobile insurance premium should not be increased after his wife smashed four fenders in two weeks.

In a very real sense, these examples serve to prove why it was so easy to be honest in Washington's time.

Or maybe Washington was just naturally honest...

Weed-cutting and junk automobiles

If people will just go along with the City of Post and the Junior Chamber of Commerce on the weed-cutting and junk car removal projects, our town can be made a much more attractive place this summer.

Learning from last summer's operations that using city equipment and labor to shred weeds on every vacant lot, at no cost to the owner, just won't work out, the city council has adopted a new policy on clearing vacant lots of weeds. This new policy calls for the city to shred weeds only on city property and leave it up to the vacant lot and yard owners to finish up the job of clearing off the weeds.

Up until now, the City of Post has been lenient on its weed-cutting ordinance, but the new policy calls for stricter enforcement. Vacant lots on which weeds are not cut by the owner can be declared a health hazard under the ordinance. If the lots still are not cleaned up by the owner after being declared a health hazard, the city can do the work and file a lien against the property.

The city's weed-shredding operations already are under way on city property, and vacant lot owners are urged to lose no time in getting the rest of the weeds cut so that everything can be made to look good at once.

The Jaycees' junk car removal project, which the organization is staging in conjunction with whatever clean-up campaign the city puts on this year, has as its object the removal of unsightly junk automobiles, which also can be health hazards.

The Jaycees are to be congratulated on taking the junk car removal project under their wing. No one else, including the City of Post, has been able to do much with it, and it presents a real challenge to the young men who make up the Jaycee organization.

With efforts under way to promote tourist attractions here for the benefit of the community's economy, we all should do whatever is necessary to see that the town presents a clean and attractive appearance to out-of-towners who stop here.—CD

What our contemporaries are saying

We taxpayers are lucky; we don't have to pass a civil service examination to work for the government.—Wendell Tooley in The Floyd County Hesperian.

Decay is a slow and tragic condition. To watch a town decay is to see the once bright marquee become dark and rot away from their supports; weeds growing in sidewalk cracks, and empty buildings. A railroad decays with empty coaches, box cars and cabooses motionless on side tracks. Weeds grow up and die even with the journal boxes, and the silence. Creature of noise, the railroad dies like a dragon whose fires have cooled, a giant whose hands are tied.—Douglas Meador in Matador Tribune.

According to a recent poll, 40 per cent of the men were opposed to the mini-skirt. The remaining 60 per cent were distracted by a pair of passing legs and did not hear the question.—Speedy Nieman in The Slaton Slatonite.

A mustard seed is very small, but it looms up like a Himalayan peak when placed by the side of some minds.—The Wellington (Ohio) Enterprise.

Best way to carve a tombstone is to chisel in traffic.—The Walnut (Iowa) Bureau.

FORMER POST RESIDENT Carlsbad, N. M., mother receives high school diploma with honors

Mrs. Jeanneane Kiker Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Kiker of Post, who completed her high school education by attending night classes, received her high school diploma recently in ceremonies at Carlsbad (N. M.) High School.

She and her husband, Roy Brown Jr., are former Post residents and both attended high school here. They have three children — Richard, 15; Paul, 10, and Suzanne, 6.

Thirty-eight were in the Carlsbad Night High School graduating class, ranging in ages from 17 to grandmothers. In addition to her diploma, Mrs. Brown received an honor award for her special research paper on "Problems of American Democracy."

The following news story on Mrs. Brown's graduation appeared in the Pecos Valley News, published at Carlsbad:

A long-awaited dream came true for a Carlsbad housewife and mother the other day when she proudly received her high school diploma in ceremonies at the Little Theatre in Senior High School.

Jeanneane Kiker Brown not only completed her high school education, attending night school classes five hours a day, four days a week, but she did so as a straight "A" student.

In the process of achieving this educational distinction, Mrs. Brown prepared a research paper for her class in American Government which was found to be outstanding by one of the nation's noted historians.

Dr. James Castor, professor of history at the University of Oklahoma, has praised Mrs. Brown for her thorough research on the development of oil in New Mexico and will use her study in his forthcoming book, "The History of Oil and Minerals in New Mexico."

TWO-COUNTY FIGURE $1,891,060

Farmers Home Administration loans help county's economy

Loans made by the Farmers Home Administration are having a strong economic impact in strengthening the rural economy in Garza County, according to Bill Stewart, local county supervisor.

Stewart said a recent review of the FHA supervised credit program revealed that $25,460 was loaned for the purchase of fertilizer and other chemicals in Garza County for this current crop year.

"This is just one example of the improved farm management practices that is financed by FHA that affects most business firms in every local rural community," Stewart said.

It is estimated that 85 per cent of the total amount of $1,891,060 loaned this fiscal year by the local FHA office has been spent by borrowers doing business with local merchants in Lynn and Garza counties.

This impact on the local economy is in addition to the added income that will result at harvest time when improved farm management practices will increase total income.

The Farmers Home Administration policy is to strengthen the family farm as well as strengthen the local rural communities.

This policy is being implemented in this area by furnishing credit for improved farming practices and making loans to establish young farmers in the farming business.

Stewart and Truman Murdoch, assistant county supervisor, have been busy the past few weeks in making on-the-spot farm visits in an effort to cooperate with all the Farmers Home Administration borrowers in Garza County in carrying out good farm management practices.

It's the Law...

FUNNY MONEY
 What if you discover that a dollar bill, recently acquired by you, is a counterfeit? Your quick reaction might be:

"This thing is a hot potato. I'd better unload it onto somebody else as fast as I can."

But if you do, you will be committing the serious crime of passing counterfeit money. True, you do have a hot potato on your hands. But it is folly to add to the minor mistake of accepting the money the major mistake of passing it along.

Your duty is plain. Notify the local police department or the United States Secret Service at once, giving as much information as you can about when, where, and from whom you received the bill.

No, you will not be reimbursed for the one dollar. But you will be helping to curb one of the most ancient and persistent of crimes—one that has been given a new lease on life by modern techniques of printing and engraving.

In the roster of criminals, the counterfeit is something of a maverick. He is seldom motivated by sudden passion or by grinding poverty or by personal inadequacies. He has time enough for planning, money enough for equipment, and talent enough for manufacturing. He is a cool customer who knows exactly what he is doing.

However, merely passing — unlike manufacturing — counterfeit money may occur in perfect innocence. It is part of the government's job in prosecuting to prove that the person who passed the counterfeit money knew (or at least thought) that it was counterfeit. Consider this case:

An intoxicated fellow, caught spending counterfeit money in a bar, denied that he knew it was bogus. At the trial, the government told the court:

"Shortly before this man's arrest, he burned a $5 bill to light his cigar. So he must have known the money was no good."

But the court was not convinced beyond a reasonable doubt, and dismissed the charge. The judge said it was quite possible for a drinking man to burn real money — just to show off.

In another case, though, there was evidence that the defendant, when he realized detectives were on his trail, flushed his counterfeit money down a toilet.

This time, the defendant was convicted. The court found no reasonable explanation for this behavior except a guilty conscience.

The Rev. J. H. Sharf, minister, officiated at the single ring ceremony in a church decorated with copper vases of white mums and ferns.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Bill H. Smith of the Flat Top Ranch near Stamford and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Burkman of Lueders. The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. A. C. Cooke of Post.

Given in marriage by her brother, Everett D. Smith, the bride wore a street-length A-line dress of Spanish lace over cotton made with petal point sleeves and decorative neck. Her tiered veil of illusion was gathered to a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and a white lace handkerchief belonging to Mrs. Cooke atop a white Bible. The bride carried out the tradition of someone old, new, borrowed and blue.

Miss Goldie Long of Lueders was maid of honor. She wore a two-piece pink and white dactron

New Arrivals

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Blair announce the birth of a daughter, Keitha Deann, born June 17 in Garza Memorial Hospital. She weighed seven pounds and five ounces.

Invitation Extended

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Hendrix extend a cordial invitation to friends and relatives to attend the marriage of their daughter, Nancy, to Ronald Thuet, Saturday, June 24, at 2 o'clock in the evening at the First Baptist Church.

A reception will follow at the Community Room.

By MISS SAM BASSET (Guest Columnist)

There's so much hustle and bustle at our home I almost feel like I'm in the wrong house. Ever since the Misses C's came home from school things have really been hectic.

Maybe if I understood what the world wedding means I wouldn't be quite so confused. Whatever it means it has something to do with rush, rush, and clean, clean, clean.

When just Mr. and Mrs. C and I are there alone things move at rather a pleasant pace even though it does get a bit dull at times. Now, the phone rings constantly, cars honk in the driveway and everybody in our house keeps the car in motion going all sorts of places.

For awhile all I heard from all sides was "What is the mother of the bride going to wear to the wedding?" I never fully understood what this meant but was happy along with the rest of the family when that problem was solved.

Then there is the matter of Mr. and Mrs. C's bedroom being all cluttered up with tables and lots of things stacked up on top of them. Everyone who comes to the house goes into the bedroom and "oohs" and "aahs." A lot of the things on the tables seem to be brought by a man in a truck from something called a post office.

I'm rather ashamed to admit that just the other day he came with a box or two and I nipped at him. I was really only protecting Miss C the younger who was out washing my muddy paw prints off the front door (I've been told I must not put my feet on the door until after June 22, whenever that is) and made a fool of myself. I do hope Weldon Swanger will forgive me.

The front door is just part of the cleaning that's going on. Mrs. C has even taken the light fixtures down to wash them and things got a bit tense last Sunday afternoon when she broke the one in the front hall. I sensibly left the house.

I've always rather enjoyed our patio and thought all the C's did too, but now I just hear groaning from Mrs. C because none of the plants she planted with such loving care early in spring are blooming properly. If anyone mentions that the roses and daisies are looking rather pretty Mrs. C looks at them disparagingly and says: "Yes, but they won't be blooming June 22." (There goes that date again.)

I was also warned that the patio doors are to be washed at the VERY LAST MINUTE and if I put my nose on them it's curtains.

I keep hearing conversations about what the "flower basket" (which I have been referred to as lately) is going to wear around her neck June 22. I've heard such awful suggestions as pink or green collar or, worse yet, a garland of flowers.

The way I'm being pushed around about muddy paws and my wet nose and the thought of anything but my old collar around my neck might be enough to keep from even being present at the reception June 22.

Hill-Polk vows are exchanged Saturday evening in Lubbock

Double ring wedding vows were read for Miss Twila Ahnise Hill and Virgil Glenn Polk by William S. Banowsky, minister of the Broadway Church of Christ, Lubbock, at 8 o'clock in the evening Saturday.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Melvin Hill of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Polk of Post.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of candlelight slipper satin with long petal-point sleeves, scalloped portrait neckline beaded with seed pearls and cameo beads. The bodice was fitted and the A-line skirt extended into a bouffant chapel train. Her tiered elbow-length veil of candlelight silk illusion was attached to an orange blossom and pearl spray caplet. She carried a cascade of gardenias on a white Bible.

Mrs. Jim Cole of Seminole, sister of the bride was matron of honor. Bridesmaid was Miss June Smith of Seagraves and bridesmatrons were Mrs. Daryl Mounger, Los Angeles, Calif., and Mrs. Rudell Crow of Lubbock. They wore gowns of georgette with elbow-length sleeves, bateau necklines and fitted bodices. The matron of honor wore a dress of contrasting shades of green and the other attendants were in contrasting shades of yellow. Jet veils of illusion were attached to floral clusters. They carried long-stemmed yellow roses.

Best man was David Day of Lubbock. Groomsmen were G. W. Bailey of Port Arthur, Jack Martin of Crosbyton and Roland Myers of Lubbock. Ushers were Pancho Steiger of Stamford and Dennis Garnett of Lubbock.

Chip Polk of Post, brother of the bridegroom, Jimmy Cole of Seminole and Kurt Hill of Lubbock lit the candles. Tammy Cole of Seminole was flower girl, and Cleat Hill was ring bearer.

Wedding music was provided by the Broadway Church of Christ chorists.

A reception followed in Fellowship Hall.

The couple will reside at 2102 25th St., Lubbock, after a wedding trip to Acapulco, Mexico.

Mrs. Polk is a 1964 graduate of Lubbock High School and attended Lubbock Christian College. She is employed with Braniff International. Mr. Polk, a 1963 Post High School graduate, is a senior speech major at Texas Tech.

Using colors of light and dark pink, the table was laid with white lace over pink and centered with a floral arrangement of the two shades. Streamers, inscribed with "Ruthell" and "Delton," extended from the centerpiece. The namus were repeated on the pink napkins.

Mrs. Forrest Claborn and Mrs. Tommy Polson of Alpine served cake squares, iced in two shades of pink, pink punch, mints and nuts.

HIGHLIGHTS and SIDELIGHTS

... from the State Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — Railroad Commission authorized Texas oil industry to produce an additional 2,268,000 barrels of oil during the last two weeks of June in view of curtailed supplies from the unsettled Middle East.

Commission increased the June allowable from 33.8 per cent to 35.9 per cent, retroactive to June 1. This figure will permit maximum oil production of 3,112,191 barrels daily compared to current 2,992,236 barrels. Commission postponed setting an allowable for July, but another moderate increase is almost certain.

State officials, conscious of the Legislature's special tax session looming next year, see a possible revenue windfall (which could reduce the new tax need) from the crisis-caused oil production jump.

With an increase from 10 to 13 days a month in production, there is no telling at this point how much the ultimate increase will be. Before the emergency situation, the oil production tax income for the coming year had been estimated at nearly $140,000,000.

These factors figure in the magnitude of future allowable increases:

—Kuwait, Saudi Arabia, Iraq and Algeria have banned oil shipments to U. S. and Britain. Libya's production has been halted by a strike.

—Arabs want to nationalize their oil fields or call in Spain and France to develop their petroleum industry, replacing the U. S. and Britain.

—Suez Canal may remain blocked for several months. Thus any oil shipments would have to round the Cape of Good Hope. Trip would be longer and more expensive.

Interstate Oil Compact adopted a resolution calling for a 12.2 per cent limit on the ratio of imported oil to domestic stocks east of the Rocky Mountains. Experts say present situation demonstrates need for better government attitude toward domestic production and industry development.

DRIVER'S POINTS—Auto drivers may have forgotten, but they will be reminded of "points" starting Aug. 1.

That's when the new insurance plan adopted last July by the State Board of Insurance begins to show on insurance rates. Drivers will pay 15 per cent more for insurance if they have one point charged against them, 35 per cent for two points, 60 per cent for three points and 90 per cent for four points.

Points are assessed for accidents or traffic law violations which came after Aug. 1, 1966, when the plan was adopted. Penalties will apply when auto insurance policies are bought or renewed after Aug. 1, this year.

A driver who is assessed points can "work them off". Only points assessed after Aug. 1, 1966, will count. But after three years of being charged more, the points drop off the driver's record, for rate purposes.

Board believes this will lower the basic rates, thus will reward the no-point drivers.

14-YEAR-OLDS CAN DRIVE—Fourteen-year-olds who complete driver education before Aug. 28 still can get a license good until its regular expiration date.

Homer Garrison Jr., Director of Texas Department of Public Safety, issued the interpretation following numerous calls about new licensing law amendments.

New law which goes into effect in late August would raise the minimum age for licensing drivers with behind-the-wheel instruction to 16, except in unusual cases. Garrison said, however, he did not interpret the new law as denying "the privilege of driving" to 14-year-olds who already have qualified under existing regulations.

COURTS SPEAK — U. S. Supreme Court has agreed to hear arguments Oct. 2 on whether the one-man-one-vote standard it applied to congressional and legislative districts also fits county commissioners' precincts in Midland.

State Supreme Court found no error in lower court opinions, dismissing the case of a woman who sued Galveston County for $20,000 after finding glass in scrambled eggs served her at the county's Memorial Hospital.

A certificate holding student pilot does not meet standard insurance policy definitions of a duly-licensed aircraft operator whose passengers remain insured while in flight. State Supreme Court concluded in a Gillespie County case.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES—Gulfward state boundary is a line three marine leagues from coast, and in those waters Texas is empowered to control and regulate fishing, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has ruled.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

—In counties where the office of ex-officio county school superintendent has been abolished, a county judge serving in superintendent's role continues to be paid for the extra job until the end of the current term of office. Thereafter, he must perform those duties without pay.

—State can make lease and rental contracts for up to four years, contingent on availability of funds

Marine finishes combat training

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. — Marine Pvt. Johnny M. McKinzie, son of Mrs. Daisie McKinzie of 415 South Ave., M. Post, Tex., has completed four weeks of individual combat training at this Marine Corps Base.

During his more than 200 hours of training, he learned about weapons and combat techniques from combat veteran instructors. They taught him how to conduct combat patrols, detect and remove mines and booby traps and use the standard Marine Corps infantry weapons.

He will now receive at least four weeks of specialist training before being assigned to his first permanent unit. Marines going to combat units will get detailed training in the particular combat skill they are designated for. Those who are going into technical fields will receive their advanced training at one of a variety of technical schools throughout the country.

MANPOWER — Texas Employment Commission reports that during April the civilian labor force in Texas continued to expand with an increase of 37,000, boosting the total to 4,294,300 at mid-month.

Non-farm employment reached 3,784,400, a record for April; and agricultural employment rose 16,800 — to 307,400.

There were 110,000 unemployed in mid-April, 4,000 less than were unemployed in mid-March. This put unemployment at 2.6 per cent of the total labor force.

ON AN EVEN KEEL

Young Stan learned to row this summer. It was hard work but he didn't complain about the blisters. He was a captain in control of his ship, and very proud of his new position!

Being in control is often hard work, even for adults. Many people wish they could control their tempers, or perhaps curtail bad habits, but they fail to find within themselves the strength of will that would help them.

When problems are too big for us, that's the time to ask God for assistance. We are His children and He knows all our weaknesses. Through church attendance and prayer, we can be guided to a more serene approach to daily life. We will find His presence a constant support as we begin to take pride in our new possession . . . self control.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .

. . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Rural mishaps in Garza County result in injuries to five

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated six accidents on rural highways in Garza County during the month of May, according to Sgt. Roberts. Highway Patrol supervisor for this area.

Five accidents resulted in five persons injured and an estimated property damage of $7,575.

A rural accident summary for Garza County for the first five months of 1967 shows a total of 21 accidents resulting in one person injured and an estimated property damage of $32,600.

The vacation season is now in full swing. This means more traffic and many drivers going for long drives without sleep.

In many areas harvest is in progress, which means slow-moving machinery on the highway, times poorly lighted or not at all.

Roberts cautions motorists to watch for the dozing driver and alert for slow-moving vehicles if you are traveling this summer. Allow plenty of time for your rest and rest often, he advises.

BEEF BUYING GUIDE

The decision on whether or not to purchase beef by the side or by the retail cut is an often pondered question by beef buyers.

The answer largely depends upon the local retail pricing for each cut.

As an aid to those pondering the beef buying question, Ed Uvacek, Extension livestock market specialist, has prepared a fact sheet on the subject and copies are available locally at county Extension offices.

Uvacek points out that about 2.25 pounds of live choice grade steer are required to produce one pound of salable beef in a retail store and that only about one-quarter of the beef carcass gives us the popular steaks we all like.

The fact sheet also points out other factors which affect the decision of buying by retail cuts or by wholesale purchase of a portion of beef. These include price specials, grade purchased, meat guarantees, storage costs and convenience.

The meat inspection stamp is your assurance of wholesome meat prepared in a sanitary manner.

We invite persons interested in the information contained in the fact sheet to contact our office for a copy.

TIME INSECT CONTROL

Insect pests can ruin an otherwise successful gardening project. A most important consideration in insect control, is the timing of either dust or spray applications of insecticides.

Of course, it is necessary to know the type of insect present and this in turn will tell you the kind of insecticide to use. Some insects do their damage by sucking juice from the plant while others have chewing mouth parts and do their damage by eating.

A preventive control program which includes regular dusting or spraying prevents insect buildups and thus holds damage to a minimum.

Since residues are very important, we strongly advise following the recommendations of the manufacturer. The label of each insecticide container explains how the material should be used and in what amount. Carelessness in the use of insecticides can be very dangerous.

As an aid to gardeners, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service entomologists have prepared a leaflet, L-642, "Control of Insects in the Home Garden," and copies are available from our office in the courthouse. It contains mixing schedules and information on the various insecticides and the vegetables on which each can be used. Safety precautions are also outlined.

Mexican auto insurance needed by vacationing U. S. tourists

DALLAS — Thousands of vacationing Americans will be driving their cars into Mexico this summer. Many of them will be falsely confident that they have proper liability protection in case of an accident in that country, he Insurance Information Institute warns.

When planning to drive south of the border, U. S. residents should check with their insurance agent or broker about obtaining an official Mexican automobile liability insurance policy.

Unless properly informed and insured, their pleasant vacations could turn into costly nightmares. Tourists should be warned: "Don't drive into Mexico without auto liability insurance from a Mexican company."

Most Americans are unaware that only insurance companies located in Mexico are recognized under Mexican law. And contracts of insurance written by non-Mexican companies are not in force in that country.

A tourist involved in an accident in Mexico could be faced with a large cash outlay, informal detention, or even jail, under the strict provisions of the Mexican law — even if he has the "Mexican auto endorsement" attached to his U.S. policy.

VACATION IN WYOMING

County Judge and Mrs. J. E. Parker are vacationing in Casper, Wyo., for two weeks with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Power, and three daughters.

AMARILLO VISITORS

Visiting recently in the home of Mrs. Lauris Wheeler were her granddaughter, Mrs. Ida Pearl Harrell, and three children of Amarillo.

NEW MEXICO VISIT

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Pate and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Kiker of Clifton spent a recent weekend in Clovis, N. M., visiting Mr. and Mrs. Carol Pate.

The "Mexican endorsement" on some U. S. policies is designed for a limited purpose and its application to vacation use should be thoroughly discussed with an insurance agent or broker before a person drives across the border.

Without proper Mexican coverage, the motorist has four alternatives if he is involved in an auto accident which results in even minor personal injury or property damage. They are:

- 1) Post a cash bond with the local officials.
- 2) Post a commercial bond from a Mexican bonding company (a possibility if the tourist speaks Spanish, knows someone locally and has enough money).
- 3) Contact a U. S. insurance agent, via telephone or telegram (but, under Mexican law, it is illegal for the agent to settle the claim in Mexico. He may, however, advance the cash necessary to post bond.)
- 4) Face legal detention and impounding of the automobile.

As visitors to Mexico, Americans are bound by Mexican law, just as Mexicans traveling in the U. S. are bound by its law. Compliance with those laws can make for a happier vacation in Mexico.

Here are some additional pointers for traveling south of the border.

—Obtain a tourist card from the office of the Mexican Bureau of Tourism, the Mexican Consul or at the border.

—If you have an auto accident in Mexico, look for help from one of the green Turismo jeeps that patrol the highways. The driver will assist insureds in contacting an adjuster for the Mexican company which issued you insurance.

—If no patrol car arrives in a reasonable time, call the nearest police officer. The policy should be shown to the chief of police, and no officer should be paid for his services. That is the responsibility of the Mexican insurance company.

'Part-time' job is becoming more important among America's women

COLLEGE STATION—The "part-time" job is becoming increasingly popular among America's women, says Mrs. Wanda Meyer, Extension home management specialist at Texas A&M University.

There are more than 26 million working women in the country, but only two out of five of these work full time the year 'round.

These are probably a number of

HERE FOR FATHER'S DAY

Spending Father's Day in Post with J. A. Stallings were his daughter, Mrs. Kathryn Durham of Lubbock, and his son, James Stallings of Dallas.

attractions to "part-time" work, Mrs. Meyer explained. Part-time hours can be tailored to fit home-making duties.

Women with school-age children often find they have free time, but they also want to be at home when the children return from school. Part-time hours can meet both requirements.

Education is taking longer and costing more. About one in five part-time women workers are students, perhaps earning money to assist with their student expenses.

One of the most important influences, according to Mrs. Meyer, is the growing need for part-timers. Expanding service industries, with their varying labor demands and flexible hours, have proved to be a powerful magnet in attracting women back to work.

One thing is clear, the specialist stated. Most women work part-time, or part of the year, because they want to. A Labor Department survey found that only about one in six women part-timers said she would actually prefer to work full-time.

Water, Inc., new area organization sets up schedule of membership dues

LUBBOCK—Membership dues to Water, Inc., aimed at supporting a first-year budget of at least $200,000, were set in Lubbock June 13 at the initial meeting of the new non-profit organization's executive committee, according to John Kendrick of Brownfield, president.

Water, Inc., was formed on May 24 when over 1,300 people from West Texas, Eastern New Mexico and the Oklahoma Panhandle met in Lubbock for that purpose. Its objective is to work with existing agencies, conduct studies and do all other things necessary to securing an adequate and assured supply of imported water for irrigation, industry, municipalities and recreation in the three areas.

Minimum annual membership dues of $25 were established for all, whether in agriculture, business or industry, and other dues were fixed to reflect the size of individual or company operations.

Landowner, farmer and rancher dues were fixed on a per-acre basis, with an allowance for difference in land values. On irrigated farms, yearly dues will be 10 cents per acre. Non-irrigated farmland dues were set at 5 cents per acre, and rangeland owners and operators will be asked to pay 2 cents an acre.

Dues for commercial enterprises and agencies were fixed at 50 cents per $1,000 of capitalization and surplus, up to $250 in dues or $500,000 capitalization. Memberships in this category are to be "commercial" memberships.

Special membership fees above the $250 mark will be set from time to time for individual enterprises, companies, banks and others whose capitalization comes to more than $500,000.

Those paying dues between $250 and $1,000 will be classed "Sustaining" members; those from $1,000 to $5,000 as "Sponsoring" members, and those above $5,000 will be called "Leadership" members.

Kendrick announced that all memberships received by Water, Inc., within 120 days of the June 13 meeting will be considered charter memberships, and membership certificates to that effect will be issued.

Membership applications will be made available to area people through the mail to the extent possible with existing mailing lists.

$9,000 worth of music books to Baylor library

A collection of music books valued at about $9,000 has been presented to the Baylor University Music Library.

The collection, which consists of 404 items, was presented to the library by Mr. and Mrs. Travis Johnson, 1928 Baylor graduates, of Forest Hills, N. Y. The collection includes books of music and books about music.

One of the books in the collection, which was printed in 1585, is valued at $2,600.

James H. Rogers, university librarian, said the music library is now "possibly the best in the state."

"We now have items in our collection that even the New York Public Library doesn't have," Rogers said.

Dr. Elwyn Wiendand, chairman of the university graduate studies in music, said the greatest value of the collection lies in the works from the 16th through the 18th centuries.

Dr. Wiendand said the gift is the second largest gift to the music library since he came to Baylor 11 years ago.

The Johnsons are well-known song writers and arrangers, especially in the field of musical commercials.

Mrs. Johnson, the former Margaret Bassett, has written numerous commercial jingles.

Is this any way to treat your children's playground?

Keep your home beautiful—keep America beautiful

Your youngsters play in our parks and playgrounds and beaches. Recreation areas are part of their home, and yours. Why litter your home? Why litter your America? Litter is ugly and unhealthy and dangerous. Cleaning it up costs millions in taxes you help pay. Every litter bit hurts you.

Litter doesn't throw itself away; litter doesn't just happen. People cause it—and only people can prevent it. "People" means you. Keep America Beautiful.
