our problem and the fact that it is the problem of all small hospitals." The four officials who made the inspection were Clyde W. James, assistant district manager of the Social Security Administration at Lubbock; Ed Leonard from the bureau of health insurance of the Social Security Administration office at Dallas; Ronald Eggers of the United States Public Health Service at Dallas; and Dr. Robert Jordan, director of the Texas State Department of Health, from Austin.

inspection when the airliner bringing them in to Lubbock had to fly on to El Paso because the snowstorm had the Lubbock airport closed yesterday morning. They were Carroll Gregory, chief of the division of certification of the Texas State Department of Health at Austin; and a Mr. Lattimer, also of the state department of health. The four-man inspection team met for an hour with hospital trustees, Administrator Sledge, Dr. Harry Tubbs, and County Judge J. E. Parker following the inspection.

Hospital officials here received word last weekend that the state department of health had approved the hospital for Medicare following its inspection of the hospital March 8. State Senator David Ratliff had asked both the state department of health and the social security administrator, which handles the Medicare program, to reconsider and re-evaluate Garza Memorial Hospital. Administrator Sledge said if official Medicare approval is forthcoming it would be temporary approval for a three months period during which the hospital will push its efforts to secure the service of both registered nurses and additional doctors.

Members of the inspecting team, hospital trustees, Sledge, and Rosenthal trustees, Sledge, and Rosenthal had lunch at the Tubbs home before the inspecting officials headed back for Lubbock and a possible flight out of Lubbock.

Certification is still to come hospital trustees have begun admitting Medicare patients to Garza Memorial Hospital again after the hospital trustees passed a special Medicare inspection to clear the way for Medicare certification of the hospital in the near future.

hospital received a favorable report from the four-member inspection team of the Social Security Administration. Hospital Administrator Kenneth Sledge in the Dispatch.

The inspection report still must be approved by the Baltimore office and be signed by the head of the Health, Education and Welfare Department before anything can become official, Sledge said. After an hour's meeting with the inspection team, trustees felt enough about prospects for approval to okay the acceptance of Medicare patients. Sledge said The Dispatch that the four-man inspection team, which made a special flying trip to Lubbock for the inspection, was favorably impressed by the hospital's facilities and by its neatness and cleanliness. Although they didn't have time to talk with community leaders who attended the hospital lobby during the inspection period, the state officials obviously were pleased by their presence at the time of the snowstorm.

School warrants paid off early

Final payment on the $148,000 in special warrants — which were authorized by the Texas Legislature to get the Post Independent School District out of its 1965 deficit — was made Tuesday, over two years and seven months ahead of schedule. The last payment wasn't legally due until Oct. 20, 1970. Taxpayers three years ago took a 35 per cent increase in taxable property valuations to pay the bill. The final $8,000 was paid Tuesday after school trustees approved the action at its March meeting Monday night. A total of $35,000 was budgeted each year to retire the time warrants and the remainder was paid from surplus in three years of tight fiscal management and control.

Electric power off five hours

'Surprise' snow hits area third low blow

The third surprise snowstorm of a record "wet winter" closed Post schools yesterday, had highway traffic slowed to a crawl, and left the downtown business district "blacked out" and without electric power for over five hours. A 4,160 volt feeder line in to the downtown business area burned in two at 8:22 a. m. yesterday on South Avenue K just across from the high school after it began oscillating due to the high winds and the sudden temperature drop. Service was not restored to the downtown area until 1:30 p. m. The downed line did not interrupt electric service to the Post-Cotton Mills, the hospital, or most of Post's residential area.

Part of the delay in restoring service was the two-hour travel time it took a Southwestern Public Service repair truck and crew to drive down from Lubbock due to hazardous highway conditions caused by the storm. Glen Harley, SWPS manager here, said the utility firm's service area was interrupted in the El Paso City area where storm conditions were even more severe. The heavy, wet snow, estimated at four inches or more in depth here, began early yesterday morning after an all-night rain which brought Post an additional 1.53 inches of moisture up to 7 a. m. yesterday.

Only 60 of an inch of moisture was reported here officially from 7 a. m. yesterday to 7 a. m. today. With the all-night rain and early Wednesday snowfall this brought the total for 1968 to 7.21 inches, absentism. Downtown offices and stores were dark due to the electrical outage. Stenographers couldn't do their work with electric typewriters and calculators. Electric cash registers in the super-markets also were "out" on

School trustees extend 56 teaching contracts

School trustees voted unanimously Monday night to extend 1968-69 teaching contracts to 56 present faculty members at salaries $400 over the state salary figure plus experience increments which are added for each teaching year. Supt. Bill Shiver told the board the list covered all members of the present faculty except those who have indicated they did not plan to return next year, except for one teacher who must complete summer training before qualifying. The $400 over state salary figure maintains the salary level of recent years for the district. Teachers approved by the board for employment next year include: Florence Allen, Lora Blanton, Margaret Breedlove, Sue Cornell, Melvita Floyd, Joan Gandy, Karen Hawley, Ida Jones, Jessie Lancaster, Nona Lusk, Irene Mitchell, Lea Mack, Diana Mosley, Anita Myers, Lucile McBride, Shirley McMeans, Murry McMurry, Lucille Nixon, Wilma Peiris, Roseanna Pierce, Frankie Robbins, Cliff Scarber, Lucila Valenzuela, Davis Breedlove, Bruce Burnett, Lee Davis Jr., plus coaching duties. Rosa Gamblin, Billy Hahn, plus coaching duties. Ella Mae Hudman, Ruby Lobban, Velma O'Neal, George Pierce, Wesley Reynolds, plus coaching duties; Sammie Caffey, Carolyn Sawyers, Mary Lee Whitten, Sandra Alexander, Wilbert Bigott, plus coaching duties; Cora Fleming, Norman Gee, Herb Germer, band director; Kathryn Hamilton, E. A. Howard Jr., vocation ag; Thomas Hamilton, Florene King, N. R. Post girl named show princess

Janice Lynn Gordon of Post was named FFA princess of the South Plains Junior Livestock Show at a contest Tuesday which preceded the opening of the show. Janice, 18, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gordon. She is the Post FFA chapter sweetheart and also the Mesa District FFA sweetheart, having won that honor at the district banquet. The Post girl and Nancy Ann Barron of Lamesa were named princesses over 53 other contestants at Lubbock Tuesday. The Lamesa girl is 4-H princess, in which contest Post and Garza County was represented by Nancy Hart. The two winners will take active parts in all major activities of the annual livestock show.

At rodeo arena

First in series of playdays Mar. 31

The first in a series of playdays sponsored by the Southwestern Championship Junior Rodeo Association will be held Sunday afternoon, March 31, at the rodeo arena, beginning at 1:30 o'clock. The playday was originally scheduled for Sunday, March 24, but was postponed a week because of wet grounds. The postponement was announced this morning after the section of The Dispatch in which a playday advertisement and minor's release blank appears had already gone to press. Parents may go ahead and use the release blank in the paper for the March 31 playday, officials said. Contestants will compete in six divisions, according to Howard Hopkins, the junior rodeo group senior manager. The divisions are: Pre-school (6 years and under); pee wee (7-10); junior girls (11-14); junior boys (11-14); senior girls (15-18); senior boys (15-18). A 50-cent entry fee for each event will be charged all contestants except those in the pre-school age group. No contestant will be permitted to enter more than (See Jr. Playday, page 8)

Cindy Bird's 875-pound steer was judged grand champion of the third annual Garza County Junior Livestock Show Saturday. Giles Dalby, Post rancher, purchased the champ at $510 above the floor price.

The reason The Dispatch hasn't printed any final ginning totals for Garza County's 1967 cotton crop is because it's not all ginned yet. Planters Gin turned out 13 bales here Monday. As far as they know that's the latest the gin has ever been operated. They are not through yet either. Jim and John Boren, down at Justiceburg, still have an estimated five bales in the field that still needs a little more drying sunshine. Walter McQueen brought in two bales to the gin Monday. He is finally through. Believe it or not in this weird, wet year, the "mike" is holding up well for the Borens, and hence the price. The gin reported the last cotton sold for the Borens brought an average between 12 and 18 cents a pound. Just as cage fans won't miss the game of the year in national basketball, this is to report that champion 12 will carry the NCAA senior final between Houston and UCLA beginning at 11 p. m. Friday.

Probated prison term given on guilty plea

James Hawkins pleaded guilty before Judge Stannell Clement of Lamesa in Garza County District Court Monday to the burglary of Wacker's store here June 18 of last year. He received a probated five year prison sentence.

$11,620 paid to show exhibitors

Buyers paid $11,620, including $7,020 in premiums, for 60 head of 4-H and FFA livestock at the sale held Saturday afternoon to climax the third annual Garza County Junior Livestock Show. Twenty-four lambs, 20 barrows and 15 calves went through the sale ring. Cindy Bird, 12-year-old 4-H Club member, showed the grand champion calf, a 925-pound Hereford, which was purchased by Giles Dalby of Post at the floor price of $25 per 100 pounds plus a $310 premium. The reserve champion, an 875-pound animal shown by Cindy's older brother, Jay Bird, sold to the Queen Sabe Ranch for $250 above floor price. Jimmy Kemp of the Post Future

Sweepstakes is earned by choir

The Post High School girls' choir, rated superior both in concert and sight-reading, received the sweepstakes award in Class AA at the Region I contest held Saturday at Monterey High School in Lubbock. Both the other Post choirs turned in outstanding performances, the boys' choir rating superior in concert and excellent in sight-reading, and the mixed choir excellent in concert and superior in sight-reading. Possible prizes were superior, excellent, good, fair and poor. George M. Willem is director of the three choirs.

GRAND CHAMPION BARROW
Jimmy Kemp's 225-pound hog was grand champion of the barrow division in Saturday's stock show. It sold to Roy Furr Jr. of Lubbock for $205 above the floor price. Giles Dalby represented the buyer.

STOLEN CAR STORY HAS RIPLEY FLAVOR

Ripley himself probably wouldn't have believed this one. Sheriff L. E. (Fay) Claborn received a radio report of a stolen car at Jayton Tuesday night and shortly after 10 o'clock that night apprehended the thief driving the car into Post on US-386. While holding the man for Kent County officers, Claborn was told by the man that he stole the car from two other men who were forcing him to participate in a grocery store burglary at Jayton. Claborn forwarded this information to Jayton and Kent County officers went to the grocery store to find that an unsuccessful break-in attempt had been made. As a result, the Jayton man who reported his car stolen was to be charged with attempted burglary, according to what Kent County officers told Claborn.

Library statistics truly impressive

The Friends of a Public Library held its annual meeting Tuesday night and had a highly successful evening.

The annual report of the Public Library, made to the city council, showed a circulation of 438,742 books for the calendar year of 1967—exceeding the 425,000 goal set each year by library friends.

That same report also indicated that more than 3,000 volumes were added to the library's book collection during the year, equating the number of books to above 6,000.

These are highly impressive statistics for a young library not quite ready to start its third reading season.

To the Friends, the library trustee, goes the major share of the credit for this showing.

The Friends have provided all of the volunteers to staff the library's operation and a third or more of the funds which have been expended on the library to date.

Post's new and growing library is an outstanding example of wholehearted community cooperation.

It already has expanded into the former Chamber of Commerce office, which has been remodeled and shelved out of the library's modest budget of $1,500 from the city and $500 from the county.

Already, the library has proved its doubters wrong.

Its success by all statistics are far greater than even predicted by the most enthusiastic backers. The vital it can prove important in promoting its progress in the and benefit to the entire community.

For those concerned with the of research materials, the Public Library has now provided them who have not only received in all the library's shelves.

That is how it is. This library, the Post Library now has access to all the materials held by the Texas State Library in any of its major resource center libraries (of which Lubbock is one).

Scheduled to begin operation this week is the Texas State Library Network. Under its operation, the Post Library may telephone the Lubbock Library and request any specific material for its patrons. If the Lubbock library does not have the material, the request will be referred by direct teletype to the Texas State Library in Austin.

If the required material is in the state library, or any of the other major resource center libraries, it will be forwarded to Post without charge to the Post library.

This new service is being financed by federal library funds made available to the Texas library system. Through financing such a system, it opens vistas almost beyond our imagination.

To put it simply, it will put millions of volumes of library material at the disposal of any Post patron who seeks it—and requests it.—JC

'Voter opinion' to get workout May 4

Making more headaches for election judges, but adding spice to the May 4 primary elections is the decision to have Texas voters register an opinion at that time on liquor-by-the-drink, horse race gambling and milk price-fixing.

The referendum on these three questions will be plainly labeled on the ballot as "only an expression of public opinion" and of "no legal effect as law."

Recent surveys conducted by The Texas Poll disclose that nearly two-thirds of Texans favor the sale of liquor by the drink. The survey consisted of a statewide sampling of 1,800 adults.

Experience has shown, however, that even while repeated opinion surveys indicate a proposition is favored or opposed by a majority, in an election the opposite result may emerge. The main reason for this seeming discrepancy is that a well-organized, dedicated minority group can successfully get its members to the polls, while the less-organized majority stays home on election day.

So, as far as voter opinion is concerned, the fate of liquor-by-the-drink, horse race gambling and milk price-fixing will remain "up in the air" until the opinion votes are counted on May 4.

Absentee voting period opens

Absentee voting is under way here for the city council and school trustee elections to be held April 6, and will continue through April 3.

Anyone who is going to be out of town on election day is urged to vote absentee before the April 2 deadline.

The only contests are for election to the city council, where four candidates are seeking two places to be filled. The two candidates are seeking re-election to the school board are unopposed.

Any election, even one in which there is no contested races, is important, and you owe it to yourself and your community to vote.

Tropical Trail is shortest of ten

AUSTIN — A 113-mile strip of land off the south Texas coast has no busy highways, no tall buildings and no oil derricks. Yet it may be the richest parcel of real estate in the Southwest.

Legendary tales of fabulous hidden treasure on Padre Island are as old as the island itself. Rare coins and other objects are still found occasionally by dedicated beachcombers.

But the lure of hidden wealth is not the only attraction of this Texas beachhead. A sun that never seems to set and the relentless pounding surf from the Gulf of Mexico bring thousands of visitors to Padre Island National Seashore and its northern gateway city, Corpus Christi.

IT IS NATURAL that Padre Island, sunny Texas and the lower Rio Grande Valley be represented on Gov. John Connally's Texas Travel Trails system, announced here Jan. 17.

Thus the Texas Tropical Trail was born. The estimated 509-mile semi-tropical trek is the shortest of the 10 trails.

Cities through which it passes include Aransas, Brazos, Carrington, Hidalgo, Kennedy, Kleberg, Nueces, Roby, San Patricio, Starr, Webb, Willbrey and Zavala.

Padre's lost treasure spots stem from the fact that many Spanish sailors were sunk off the coast by fierce Gulf winds and waves. Some of the spots are said to be the remains of the shipwrecked vessels.

STOPS OF THE trail include Padre Island, Corpus Christi, Aransas Pass, Port Aransas, Laredo, Brownsville, and the Rio Grande Valley. The trail is a 113-mile strip of land off the south Texas coast.

Corpus Christi is the first stop, with the Tropical Trail as it leads the traveler south toward the Lower Rio Grande Valley. This is the headquarters for the King Ranch, owned by the Santa Gertrudis, only one of cattle developed in the United States, had its genesis. The ranch entrance is west of the city limits on State Highway 141. Texas A&I College is located in Kingsville, the only state-supported senior college in the area.

U. S. 77 guides Tropical Trail visitors into the Valley through Raymondville, Sebastian, Harlingen, and finally Los Fresnos and Port Isabel via State Route 100. The Port Isabel lighthouse is now preserved as a state park. It was built in 1853 and served as a beacon for mariners until 1905.

FARM ROAD 1792 takes the traveler from Port Isabel into Brownsville, the southernmost incorporated city in the United States. Fishing, hunting, swimming, boating, dancing, golfing, fiestas and nightclubbing here and in old Mexico provide visitors a wide range of entertainment.

Brownsville's most famous celebrations are the February Charro Days and the Mr. Amigo fiesta in October. Both blend parades, costume balls and carnivals into a festival of color. Harlingen and Brownsville have become favorite retirement sites for those who wish to escape cold winters.

The Valley trail continues via of Brownsville on U. S. 541 and leads for McAllen, another incorporated city that enjoys the distinction of having a year-round climate.

McAllen's success is due to its location on the Rio Grande. The valley trail continues via of Brownsville on U. S. 541 and leads for McAllen, another incorporated city that enjoys the distinction of having a year-round climate.

AT THE valley's Aransas National Wildlife Refuge the famed whooping cranes winter after leaving their Canadian breeding grounds. Visitors are welcome to tour the preserve.

The trail continues down State Highway 35 to Aransas Pass, going through Rockport — a favorite coastal fishing spot and nationally noted mecca for bird-watchers. Over 400 species of birds have been recorded at Rockport. From Port Aransas, the trail proceeds along Mustang Island via two new additions to the state highway system which are park roads.

Next stop is Laredo, founded in 1755 and the leading port of entry on the entire U. S.-Mexican border. Laredo abounds in attractions like the International Bridge, connecting with Nuevo Laredo, historic San Agustín Church, built in 1767, and Fort McIntosh, established in 1848 and now used by the Laredo Junior College and the Texas's border patrol. Laredo's Washington's Birthday celebration has achieved national recognition as one of the state's outstanding festivals.

At Sinton, travelers can visit the Weider Wildlife Refuge. Robert Weider willed these 7,800 acres of virtually untouched grazing land for the preservation of game animals and birdlife. Now a leading student research center, the preserve contains 1,300 different forms of plant life, 140 different species

It's My Turn

By MRS. C.

I'm not sure I can stand Charles De Gaulle and Bobby Kennedy all at the same time. Charles is sick, sick, sick and Bobby needs a haircut.

Sometimes I think it is too bad there aren't more women in politics. If there were they would have pulled the rug out from under Mr. Charles in short order by demanding payment of debts from World Wars I and II, when he got off on the "gold" kick. Men worry about all the ramifications of such moves where women tend to get to the heart of the matter and let the chips fall where they may.

Ah, well, the world is in a big enough mess without me entering into such things. Spring is finally here and I'm not going to let Bobby, Charles or the "austerity" move spoil it for me.

The new book drop at the library and it's pretty sick Progress is being made!

I noticed an item in a daily paper Monday and found out that Post does not stand alone when it comes to overdue books. A Chicago library declared a moratorium on fines recently and had 105,000 books returned. Delighted as they were to get the books back they are now concerned that people must be waiting for the next "free return on books" day because they are not returning them and paying fines as well as before.

I just wish we had that many books to worry about — but we're growing and intend to keep on doing so.

Remember when I wrote about the man and his dog at the Corner Grocery Store? Well, I bumped into Maxey Saunders and Taylor again last week and Mr. Saunders mentioned that due to his mention in my column he was in touch for the first time in 18 years with an aunt that lives in Loveland. Someone had sent the clipping to her and she had written to him, care of the Corner Grocery.

Publicity pays off!

I don't know how I missed mentioning the D. C. Morrel residence when I was taking my last tour of 10th Street. They worked like hoovers all last spring and summer to plant many lovely flowers and have lots of daffodils and hyacinth blooming now for all of us to enjoy.

Mrs. Clovis Tucker continues to work in her yard and now has it all leveled off and ready for the spring "greeting up." I understand that Mrs. Tucker's husband, an Army (?) officer is in Vietnam helping take care of that situation. Mrs. Tucker is taking care of the "situation" of helping to beautify and improve Post.

Church women attend Brownfield luncheon

Members of the United Presbyterian Women of Lamesa and Post were guests of the Brownfield UPW at a salad luncheon Monday at noon in the recreation room Church.

Those attending from Post were Mrs. M. J. Malouf, Mrs. S. E. Camp, M. J. Malouf, Howard McCampbell, W. E. Dent and David Newby.

I noticed Tuesday morning on the way to work that the lot across from the Methodist Church is being worked over to make a parking lot for the Methodists. The house was moved off several weeks ago but the inclement weather has halted all operations until now. That will be another improvement.

'Life in U. S.' topic of 7th grade students

Life in America is hard to describe. For one thing, this is the only country most people have never been in, making it hard to make a comparison. To begin with, let's look at an average day in an average American boy. First, wake up at 7 and get dressed. 7.30 comes and he eats breakfast. Then he goes to school at 8. At 3.50, he gets home and turns on the radio and television to study.

Youth undergoes surgery Tuesday at John Sealy

Billy Snow, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Snow, underwent corrective surgery Tuesday at the John Sealy Hospital in Galveston, members of the Post Junior Chamber of Commerce said today.

The operation was a success, and Billy is doing "real good," the Jaycees said.

Accompanied by his mother and Post Jaycee Bob Carpenter, Billy left for Galveston on March 6. Upon arriving in Houston, they were met by a Deer Park Jaycee-ette, Linda Polk, and by Russell Orr, a former Post man who now lives in Deer Park and who has been assisting the local Jaycees on Billy's trips.

The Kesterson Car Mart of Deer Park rented the car to the Post Jaycees for driving Billy the rest of the way to Galveston. Mr. Kesterson and the Deer Park Jaycees helped pay for the rental of the car.

The Post Jaycees have established a Billy Snow Fund at the First National Bank to help pay expenses of the youngsters' trips to the hospital and other expenses.

Dog ordinance is being enforced

City police are cracking down on dog ordinance violators, with two cases filed in city court last week and a warning that more complaints are to be filed.

The two charged last week, Howard Kolb and Alvin Wynne, have entered pleas of guilty and paid fines and costs, Police Chief Bill Gordon said.

Kolb is one of three plaintiffs in a district court case filed last August to test the constitutionality of the city dog ordinance. The case is still on the docket.

The police chief reminds dog owners that the city ordinance requires that dogs be vaccinated, licensed and kept on a leash or in a pen.

maintainers here to keep the highways open.

The only trouble "getting up the Cap" during the snowstorm on highway exits from Post was experienced by the big, heavy semi-trailer trucks, highway employees said.

All highways in Garza County remained open.

Supt. Bill Shiver called off school for the day about 6:30 a. m. before the school buses departed on their rural routes.

"We have so many absentees from youngsters who live in town during snowstorms," Shiver said, "that our average daily attendance would have been badly hurt by absenteeism."

(The average daily attendance determines the amount of state school aid thus attendance throughout this winter has become a school financial problem here.)

But even yesterday's storm wasn't the biggest on the final day of winter in local history.

Mrs. Will Cravy recalled that on March 29, 1924 — some 44 years ago — Post experienced an 11-inch snow which "all melted off the same day."

Post High School's other entry in the tournament, David Hamilton, lost his first round match in the boys' singles to the Pecos entry, 6-0, 6-1.

By winning the championship in her division, Kippy won a plaque for her school and individual award for herself.

Kippy and David are being coached by N. R. "Jiggs" King, who said they probably will compete in other meets before the District 4-AA tennis tournament next month.

Former resident shatters school scoring records

Mollie Condon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Condon, formerly of Post broke all basketball scoring records at Foran High School this past season.

In 36 games this year, Mollie scored 1,219 points for a 33.9 game average. Both are school records. She had 390 field goals and made 439 of 624 free shots.

Her game high was a record 55 against Robert Lee, during which time she made 31 of 35 free throws.

She stands only 5-6 and weighs only 100 pounds, but with her quick moves and variety of shots, she can play the post position.

Mollie, a senior this year, made the all-district team and has been nominated to play for the North in the annual State Girls' All-Star game, which takes place at Duncanville in July.

Mollie is the granddaughter of Mrs. Bettie Pierce of Post, and a descendant here in the Post Jaycee track, and field meet here two summers ago.

Soldier is due home soon from overseas

By MRS. EDMUND WILKE
Hi there! Once again it is "news day" and my telephone hasn't rung one time! So goes my Mondays! Won't you please pick up the phone and give me a call?
There's a happy mom and dad in our community, namely Mr. and Mrs. Dan Siewert. They received word that their son, Danny, is back in the States and will be coming home in a couple of weeks. I understand that he will be getting out of the service for good, too. He has been in Vietnam and was recently wounded. Welcome home, Danny.

Mrs. Alpha Taylor is a patient at West Texas Hospital in Lubbock where she underwent surgery last week. She is in Room 218.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Stolle who were blessed with a daughter Friday, March 15, at Mercy Hospital in Slaton. The little lass has been named Beth Cecilia and she weighed into this world at 7 lbs., 11 ozs. The proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stolle and Mrs. Irmgard Bredemeyer of Sweetwater. Congratulations to all of you and may God bless this young family.

Patsy Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Dunn, will be among the students at Texas Tech who will be honored and recognized at the annual All-College Recognition service that will be held Sunday at Lubbock Municipal Auditorium. The service is the occasion on which the college pays tribute to those of its students, who during the preceding two regular semesters, have contributed with distinction to the college in the fields of scholarship and leadership. Patsy will be recognized for individual honors. She is a 1967 graduate of Southland High School and we are certainly proud of her. Congratulations, Patsy.

Hill states stand as 'education candidate'

AUSTIN — More than 220 county and area campaign managers and workers for gubernatorial candidate John Hill met here recently for a planning conference, and heard Hill declare his stand as the "education candidate" in the governor's race.

"We must move from the concept of minimum education to adequate education for every child in our public schools," Hill declared.

He pointed out that he was the first candidate in the race to unqualifiedly endorse the legislative proposals of the Texas State Teachers Association, including salary increases for public school teachers.

Texas must expand and implement its vocational and technical training, he said, to increase the saleable skills of the working force in Texas, to decrease unemployment and to take people of the welfare rolls.

Hill said he will be a governor for all the people of Texas, providing the aggressive and vigorous leadership so vitally needed for the state's continued progress.

It's the Law...

ENACT THE TEN COMMANDMENTS?

Not long ago, a western lawmaker proposed the enactment of the Ten Commandments as part of the state's criminal code. The proposal did not pass. But it did put into sharp focus the relationship between moral law and criminal law.

There are striking differences between the two systems of law. For one thing, moral law usually deals in generalities, criminal law in specifics. While the Sixth Commandment says generally that "Thou shalt not kill," the criminal law weighs the specific variations that may affect guilt in a particular case.

Thus, the criminal law recognizes that a person may indeed kill in the necessary defense of himself or his family. This is not a rejection of the Sixth Commandment. It is merely law on a different level.

Furthermore, moral law often sets standards that are too lofty, as a practical matter, to be enforced by criminal penalties. Imagine, for instance, the difficulties of enforcing the Tenth Commandment — "Thou shalt not covet" — by fines or jail sentences.

Yet, in a deeper sense, criminal law must at least be in harmony with moral law if it is to be acceptable to the community. It is to the moral law that mankind looks for its directions and its aspirations.

And if moral law has the disadvantage of being general, it has the advantage of being enduring. Poet James Russell Lowell put it this way:

"In vain we call old notions fudge,
And bend our conscience to our dealing;
The Ten Commandments will not budge,
And stealing will continue stealing."

Also, because moral law speaks directly to the conscience, it may influence conduct in a way that no mere legislative enactment ever could. In one case a farmer posted a "NO TRESPASSING" sign in an effort to stop repeated thefts from his apple orchard. But apples continued to vanish. One day he changed the sign to read "THOU SHALT NOT STEAL." The thefts stopped at once.

Used in coal mining operations in Illinois, the shovel has a 150-cubic yard bucket capacity and a dumping radius of 200 feet. More than 30 tons of nickel-containing steel and iron castings were used to fabricate the highly stressed mechanical components of the self-propelled machine.

PURINA 20% RANGE CHECKERS TOP 41% PROTEIN CAKE

Many cows are fed a 41% protein cottonseed cake. Yet, a Purina Research test showed that cows daily fed 2 1/2 pounds of Purina 20% Range Checkers averaged calves 19 pounds heavier at weaning than cows on 2 1/2 pounds of 41% cottonseed cake. Cows may not efficiently utilize 41% protein in their diet. It may be costing you extra money to give it to them. Purina Research has proved that a 20% protein ration blended properly with other ingredients can do a better job of helping cows produce strong calves. Don't underestimate protein, but don't overestimate it either. Get the right balance with phosphorus fortified Purina Range Checkers at our store with the Checkerboard sign.

A Thought for Retailers

Did you just lose a customer?

Every year (on the average) 18 per cent of a store's customers move away or die.

Many others shift their buying from one store to another, perhaps because of a grievance, perhaps because they think they're getting better merchandise, or lower prices, or perhaps because of one store's apparent indifference, and the other's aggressive promotion.

On the Other Hand . . .

Many new families move into Post each year, replacing those who move out.

Many young people become adults annually. They marry, create new families, which require food, clothing, homes, cars and a multitude of other things.

The Point Is . . .

A retailer isn't dealing with a fixed group. He is selling a passing parade, an ever-changing market.

That is why advertising — consistent advertising — which reaches all the potential customers is an essential part of successful merchandising today.

In this area, nearly all your potential customers are readers of The Dispatch. New residents or natives, young or old, they need the newspaper. Its thorough coverage of the market is another strong reason why the newspaper is the basic retail advertising medium.

F. Peterson of Fort Worth. Kunkel, highly sought after as a scientist, is an outstanding and highly respected education leader and humanitarian and is most capable of rendering the type of service that the state deserves in today's complex agricultural industry.

Officials at Texas A&M's South Plains Research and Extension Center here voiced their wholehearted approval of Kunkel's appointment. Billy C. Gunter, district agricultural agent, and C. E. Fisher, superintendent for research, said that Kunkel is a nationally recognized authority and leader in the field of agriculture and that A&M's College of Agriculture is indeed fortunate to have such a competent individual at its helm.

In accepting the appointment, the new dean emphasized the importance of joint action and concentrated efforts to serve the public. "All of us in the University's College of Agriculture — teachers, scientists, directors — must continue to recognize and strive to fulfill our mission of serving the people of this state," he pointed out. "We must especially concern ourselves with the young people of today as the entire future of agriculture depends on them."

Kunkel was named to the new position on March 1, having served as acting dean since Sept. 1, 1967. He was appointed associate director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in 1962 and later named acting director. Kunkel has held a joint research-teaching assignment at Texas A&M since 1951. At that time he joined the A&M faculty as an assistant professor in the animal husbandry and biochemistry and nutrition departments.

A native of Olney in Young County, Kunkel earned his B. S. degree in animal husbandry at Texas A&M in 1943 and a M. S. degree there in biochemistry and nutrition in 1948. He received a Ph. D. degree in biochemistry at Cornell University in 1950, and later under Nobel Prize winner James B. Sumner.

The new dean was twice an "outstanding professor" by A&M Student Agricultural and received the Associate Former Students' Distinguished Achievement in Teaching Award in 1958.

Kunkel is the author of 49 scientific papers in biochemistry, nutrition and animal physiology. He holds membership in several major professional organizations including the American Society of Biological Chemists and the American Institute of Nutrition.
