DR. J. POLIVKA

New physician opens practice next Monday

Dr. J. Polivka, Post's new Czech physician who served for two years in Ethiopia as chief surgeon for two large state hospitals before coming to this country last fall, will open his practice here Monday, specializing in surgery.

He will be associated with Dr. C. H. Bausman in the clinic building at 320 West 8th St.

Dr. Polivka, who wanted to come to the United States, got out of his Communist-controlled homeland of Czechoslovakia three years ago by receiving the assignment from his Czech government to become a surgeon for two years in Ethiopia as the result of an exchange agreement between the two governments.

When he got situated in Ethiopia, he applied for immigration to the United States. To be considered for admission to this country he successfully passed at Nairobi, Kenya, an examination given by the Educational Council for Foreign Medical Graduates, which is sponsored by the Association of American Medical Colleges, the American Hospital Association, and the Federation of State Medical Boards of the United States.

Dr. Polivka, who is 38, arrived in Houston last September and (See New Doctor, page 8)

He also taught six years at Hale Center.

Shiver said Mr. Hamilton will teach physical science in high school and Mrs. Hamilton will teach high school English. He said both are good, experienced teachers. Mrs. Hamilton also is a speech teacher.

The third new teacher is Miss Theresa Lee Noles who will be Proposed center plans are told

Vernon Scott, president of the Post Chamber of Commerce, outlined the Chamber's proposed community center project in a talk at a meeting of the Post Ex-Students Association Wednesday night of last week.

Scott told the ex-students that the Chamber has a committee working on the project and that one of the possibilities being explored is that of federal aid in obtaining a community center.

Members of the ex-students association, who had called the meeting for the purpose of discussing a community center, agreed, after the Chamber president's talk, to hold off on their plans until the Chamber committee makes a report on its findings.

Scott told the group that the Chamber committee after its work is completed will have estimates on the cost of a community center, how long it would take to build or acquire one, and other details.

Representatives were also present at the meeting from the Mu Alpha and Xi Delta Rho chapters of Beta Sigma Phi society.

Muscular dystrophy is target in fund drive

"across the board"

Daily room rates at hospital are raised

Daily room rates at Garza Memorial Hospital were raised $5 "across the board" last Thursday by hospital trustees during a meeting that lasted until midnight with the entire Garza County commissioners' sitting in.

Members flared during a discussion of finances by trustees and the court, it was reported.

Dave Sanford, chairman of the trustees, told The Dispatch that the room rates were boosted "simply because the hospital could not operate on the income that is now derived from the room service and because we have not kept up with the cost of rooms in comparative hospitals."

"We are still below daily room charges of the area's bigger hospitals such as Methodist and West Texas hospitals in Lubbock," Sanford said.

The increases boosts the rates for a double room without bath from $12 to $17, for a double with bath to $18, a single room without bath to $20 and a single room with bath to $25.

In another action by the trustees, Dr. J. Polivka, new surgeon here who will begin his practice Monday, was extended a temporary medical staff appointment.

Post's three physicians also met with hospital trustees and reported on the organization of the hospital's medical staff with Dr. C. H. Bausman, president, and Dr. Harry A. Tubbs, secretary.

A number of recommendations were made by the medical staff to hospital trustees for their consideration.

Trustees also discussed hospital personnel and salaries.

Rites held for Mrs. Bilberry

Funeral services for Mrs. Lucinda Elizabeth (Billie) Bilberry, 73, who died at 2:05 p. m. Saturday in Mercy Hospital at Slaton, were held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Calvary Baptist Church.

Mrs. Bilberry, who lived at 111 East 7th St., had been a resident of Garza County since 1930. She had been in the hospital five days.

Born Lucinda Elizabeth Conner on May 24, 1893, in Brown County, she was married to John H. Bilberry on June 16, 1909, at Croton, Tex. She moved to Garza County with her children after Mr. Bilberry's death on Aug. 19, 1929.

Mrs. Bilberry had been a member of the Baptist Church since 1909.

Survivors include his wife; two sisters, Mrs. Thelma Cowdrey of Cummings, Ga., and Mrs. Bonnie Graves of Lubbock; two brothers, Delbert of Post and Ralph Cockerell of Odessa, and his father-in-law, R. O. Rankin, who makes his home with the Fred Cockerells. (See Cockerell Rites, page 8)

Corner Grocery

Fast thinking halts store fire spread

Three cousins, coming home from an all-night fishing trip early Sunday morning, saved the Corner Grocery and Market from what probably would have been a disastrous business district fire.

The trio, Nolan Williams, Billy Williams and J. W. Mannings, all related to Marvin Williams, one of the owners of the grocery, saw flames leaping from the front counter of the store as they drove down Main Street at 6 a. m.

One of them ran to Wright's Texaco Service Station to turn in the fire alarm. The other two jumped out of the car, smashed in the glass front door to gain entrance, and began to fight the fire.

With the building filled with smoke, they were unable to get to the rear of the store for water to pour on the fire so started uncapping bottles of Coke at the front of the store and pouring them on the fire to keep it from spreading before the fire department arrived to extinguish it.

Williams said the fire was confined to a small front counter area and was caused by a "short in the wire" (See Grocery Blaze, page 8)

Tentative dates set for rodeo

Aug. 9-12 was tentatively set as the dates of the 1967 Post Stampede Rodeo and Jimmy Moore was re-elected president at the annual stockholders meeting of Post Stampede, Inc., Monday night.

Prior to the election of officers, the following directors were elected: Moore, Bob West, Bob Macy, V. O. Rasbury, Cecil Johnson, Jack Kirkpatrick, Giles Dalby, Robbie King, Frank Blanton, Noel White, Fred Myers and Jack Lott.

West was elected vice president; Macy, secretary; Rasbury, manager; and Johnson, arena director.

Directors said a stock producer for the rodeo will be contracted soon.

Cockrell funeral is held Sunday

Last rites for Fred Cockrell, 50, of 616 West 12th St., who died of a heart attack about noon Friday in a local physician's office, were conducted at 3 p. m. Sunday at the First Methodist Church, of which he was a member.

Mr. Cockrell, who was a survey crew member for the State Highway Department here, had been a resident of Post for about 38 years and before going to work for the highway department had been employed by local lumber companies.

He was born April 23, 1916, in Baylor County and attended the Pleasant Valley school after moving to Garza County with his parents. He was married to Miss Fay Rankin in 1938.

Survivors include his wife; two sisters, Mrs. Thelma Cowdrey of Cummings, Ga., and Mrs. Bonnie Graves of Lubbock; two brothers, Delbert of Post and Ralph Cockerell of Odessa, and his father-in-law, R. O. Rankin, who makes his home with the Fred Cockerells. (See Cockerell Rites, page 8)

It happened at Southland

Damage heavy in rail fire

Six railroad tank cars were derailed at Southland last Friday afternoon, resulting in an explosion and fire that caused damage estimated at from $75,000 to $100,000.

The tank cars were allowed to burn themselves out Friday night while the Post and Slaton fire departments stood by. Santa Fe work crews began final clearing of the track Monday after rail service had been disrupted for several hours.

The damage from the fire was increased by several thousand dollars when 12,000 bales of hay in a nearby field were set ablaze. The hay was owned by C. E. Bastinger, near whose drilling firm the rail accident occurred.

The six tank cars, part of an 85-car southbound freight train, were derailed on a siding. Trains uncoupled the derailed cars and prevented damage to the rest of the train.

The tank cars contained cyclohexane, a liquefied petroleum chemical.

Flames shoot up from burning cars after six tank cars derailed at Southland last Friday afternoon. At the extreme right of the picture is part of 12,000 bales of hay also destroyed by the fire.

Board favors Connally's teacher pay boost plan

Governor John Connally's recommendation for an across-the-board annual teacher salary increase of five per cent—or approximately $278 per teacher—received unanimous endorsement of Post trustees Tuesday night.

At the same time, the board unanimously opposed a teacher salary boost plan of the Texas State Teachers Association and its affiliate which would average from $100 monthly per teacher.

The governor's plan would cost about $40 million for the year and would cost local districts about $5 million per year. TSTA plan would cost $85 million the first year and $87 million the second with the cost to school districts approximately $17 million per year.

Board opinions on the salary were only two of the many answered by the board survey on proposed education action sponsored by the Texas Education Committee of Ten, a special project committee of the Texas Association of School Boards and the Texas Association of School Administrators.

Local trustees expressed themselves as favoring increased retired teachers' benefits which would involve no state or local funds; state financial assistance to schools for operation of a year-round driver education program; and the teaching of Spanish in Texas elementary schools as a required course.

Looking ahead, trustees said yes to the authorization by the state of school district sales taxes (such already are being considered by the present legislature for cities.)

Trustees also approved a legislative bill to require that all meetings of all governmental bodies be open to the public, and another legislative proposal that would authorize the state to pay per diem expenses for newly elected school board members to attend orientation programs.

But generally, the board said a unanimous no to most of the survey's questions.

Some of those included: A state-financed kindergarten program in Texas public schools; state aid to summer schools; and inclusion of units on sex education and venereal disease education in the health education curriculum, as recommended by the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers.

A statewide ad valorem tax equalization, continuing contracts for teachers, as recommended by the TSTA, state funds for student

Attend the stock show and fair

There are a number of reasons why the 1967 Garza County Junior Livestock Show and County Fair here Friday and Saturday should be a bigger success than last year's double-barreled event. Chief among these reasons is the fact that this is the SECOND ANNUAL show, whereas last year's event was the first annual.

Show officials, including the show superintendent and their helpers, learned a whole lot about conducting a stock show at last year's event and this knowledge will stand them in good stead at Saturday's show.

The first time you hold anything as big as a stock show, there are a lot of "bugs" in it, but most of these bugs can be eliminated the second time around. We don't mean that the first annual stock show wasn't a success. It was. But everyone who had anything to do with it will agree that the "first time jitters" kept the event from being run off as smoothly as this year's is likely to be.

This year's show also promises to be bigger than last year's, but perhaps not much bigger, because it usually takes more than a year for these shows to hit their stride. There no doubt will be more stock and, it is hoped, more buyers than there were at the 1966 show.

The March weather is always a factor in stock shows held at this time of the year, but last year's event was held in near-perfect weather, with a fairly large crowd in attendance. Show officials say they are looking for a much larger crowd at Saturday's show and sale.

The general public is invited to support the stock show, which is held for the benefit of the youth of the community. There are a number of ways they can do this, not the least of which is by attending the stock judging and the sale. Also the barbecue will be held at noon Saturday at the City-County Park.

Your interest in the stock show will be a good way to let the youngsters know you appreciate their efforts, as well as to let the show officials and the donors of the awards and the beef for the barbecue know that you also appreciate their contributions to the success of the event.

But, the stock show isn't all that will be going on at the county 4-H building Friday and Saturday. The county fair, being held in conjunction, will be in full swing all afternoon the first day and all day the second day.

The county's Extension Service agent and the members of the various home demonstration clubs that are sponsoring the fair have put in much time and effort through its planning stages and will put in more time and effort the two days it is under way. They are confident that this year's fair will be a big improvement over last year's, both from the standpoint of the number of exhibits and over-all interest.

It is shaping up as an eventful weekend for Post and Garza County. Get in on as much of it as you can.—CD

Tourist campsite idea is good

The City council's plans to explore the possibility of tourist campsites on city-owned land near the City-County Park sound good, particularly in a community that is seeking new industry or its equivalent.

The idea was "tossed out on the table" by Mayor Harold Lucas at the city council's regular March meeting, with the four councilmen at the meeting agreeing that it sounded good.

Time, the mayor pointed out, is the factor, and campsites constructed this year would catch many of the highway travelers headed down U. S. Hwy. 84 to the 1968 HemisFair in San Antonio or the 1968 Olympic Games in Mexico City.

Mayor Lucas also pointed to the ever-increasing number of camper vehicles passing through Post and the possibility of many of these tourists staying overnight if campsites were available.

Enough tourists stopping in Post over a period of time would be equivalent to any small industry we could get here, it was explained.

The entire state of Texas has a tourism program under way and Post could join the parade by constructing attractive campsites that would invite weary tourists to stop and rest awhile.—CD

Second front is here at home

The "dirty little war" in Vietnam has cost us nearly 50,000 casualties, with no end in sight yet in sight.

As the grim figures on our casualties continue to mount, more and more of us are beginning to realize that the second front of the war in Vietnam is right here at home.

The men who are fighting our battle in Vietnam deserve the strongest support from the Executive Branch, the Congress, the Judiciary—and the people back home.

The majority of us deeply resent, as we know our fighting men do, the coddling of those cautious dissenters who try to prevent shipments of arms and supplies to our men, who harass their families by telephone, who carry the Viet Cong battle flag in street demonstrations, or burn draft cards in defiance of law.

There are adequate local, state and federal laws which, if rigidly enforced, could put a stop to what has become a national disgrace, largely fomented by our own Communist underground.

We have no quarrel with those who question the advisability of our stand in Vietnam, or decisions made by the President, State or Defense Department officials in day-to-day handling of the war. Such a questioning attitude is wholesome. But those who would hinder the war effort by underhanded, un-American methods are deserving only of contempt.—CD

What our contemporaries are saying

There's one reassuring thing about this age we live in. The government can't balance its budget, either, and it doesn't even pay income tax.—Harold Hudson in Ochiltree County Herald.

However, I've stopped using the greeting, since nine out of ten never fail to remind me that it would be a much more beautiful day if it would bring some rain. R. G. "Wilkie" Wilkerson has finally found the bottle he has been looking for. It is a greenish-tinted soda water bottle made a long time ago when Post had a Coca-Cola bottling plant. The bottle is about the same size as today's smaller Coke bottle, but is smooth instead of ridged and contained soda water instead of Coke. The lettering "Post, Tex." is stamped on the bottom of the bottle. Wilkie said he had previously found two regular Coke bottles with "Post, Tex." stamped on the bottom, but that the soda water bottle had eluded his search for a long time.

If you didn't see these 10 commandments for a happy marriage the first time around, you'll probably enjoy reading them. They are the commandments of an Anglican bishop in England, given to his wife:

—Thou shalt not interfere with thy husband's wardrobe (in other words, don't go sending his old clothes to rummage sales.)

—Thou shalt not always be right or at least don't always appear to be right —(even when you are).

—Thou shalt not change your husband's routines (even if you see as plain as day that there are more efficient ways ...).

—Thou shalt take his side against all comers (even when he's wrong).

—Thou shalt definitely ask, "Can we afford it?"

—Thou shalt not change thy hairstyle without getting thy husband's permission.

—Thou shalt not try to change thy man into the sort of person thou wouldst like him to be. (You took him for better or worse—if he turns out worse you'll just have to lump it.)

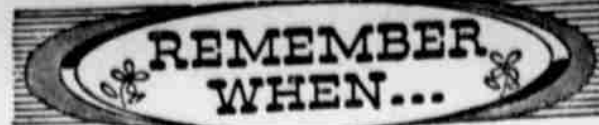

—Thou shalt sometimes be helpless so he can do his "rescue act."

—Thou shalt let him have his mess. (If you start to tidy it up—a desk for example or private den—you are asking for trouble and deserve all you get.)

—Thou shalt not ever let the sun go down without making up arguments.

Not that it makes any difference to a lot of people, but here in Vietnam we are proud of our platoon, company, battalion, division—on up the line.

If you can and will, it would be appreciated if you would run a correction in your paper. Thank you very much.

LISTENING POST

By ROSEMARY CHAPMAN
Take one Junior High School student and one senior high school student, divide by the number of books in the library and what do you have? An answer to the question "What do you have?" is the answer to the question "What do you have?" is the answer to the question "What do you have?"

fiction, and Rosemary Chapman, reference books.
Rough drafts and ideas were presented at the next meeting and Helen has taken it from there. Lists have been checked to prevent duplication of books, various "jobbers" have been considered and decided upon, several trips have been made to Lubbock, and a tremendous amount of paper work has been done. It was all rather fatiguing but it has certainly been worth the effort because the final selections are excellent ones, and we think you will be pleased.

A number of new books will be taken to the library tonight (Thursday). These represent about half of the "easy" books which have been purchased and they were bought from Pix Bookstore in Lubbock at a 20 per cent discount.

We would love to have you come and bring the children for our first "review". Here is a run-down of the books that will be there in case you would like to have your selections picked in advance.

"THE TWELVE Dancing Princesses" by Adrienne Adams. An old fairy tale lovingly retold.
"Ponies of Mykiliene" by Lonzo Anderson. Set in Iceland, this story is about Raulf, his sister, Eilei, and their ponies who are caught in an earthquake.
"Cowboy's Secret Life" by Joan Walsh Anglund. About a little rancher who leads a very special "private" life with dragons and such.

"Favorite Muggins Mouse Stories" by Marjorie Barrows. Muggins is a favorite with the "read to" set.
"The Monster Den or Look What Happened at My House and to It" by John Clardi. An assortment of nonsense verse. One of the ten winners in the best-illustrated children's stories of 1966.

"The Story of Babar the Little Elephant" by Jean De Brunhoff.
"Wally the Wordworm" by Clifton Fadiman. A young, red-blooded American worm with a voracious appetite eats his way through a dictionary.

"The Little Book About God" by Lauren Ford. A thoughtful simplification of the old testament for the youngest children.
"Pecos Bill and the Mustang" by Harold W. Felton. Fun with American folklore.

"Friendly Fairies" by Johnny Gruelle. Raggedy Ann and Andy stories which retain the old-fashioned charm of the original editions.
"Two From a Tea Pot" by Racy Helps. How two mice, Miss Tippee and Miss Toppet, befriend a cat, Tabitha Tabbitail. (I love that name!)

"The Anery Book" by Robin King. A collection of all the mean things there are in alphabetical order.
"Amanda Remembers" by Robert Kraus. The story of a little girl whose mother throws a way her beloved doll and toy dog.

"Bears, Bears, Bears" by Ruth Kraus. This is a short delightful bear's book.
"A Good Man and His Good Wife" by Ruth Kraus. A story about a couple who were very happy except that HE can NEVER find things and decides to do something about it.
"Open House for Butterflies" by Ruth Kraus. We liked her!

"The Girl Who Was a Cowboy" by Phyllis Krasilovsky.
"Children's Letters to God" compiled by Eric Marshall. A charming book which adults will enjoy as much as the younger set. An example: "Dear God, I saw Saint Patrick's church last week when we went to New York. You live in a nice house, Love, Frank."
"What Is That Sound?" by Mary L. O'Neill. The sounds of life in poetry.

"Night" by Virginia Parsons. A pleasant tale with which to quiet the children before bedtime.
"Juanita" by Leo Politi. The story of a little Mexican girl celebrating her fifth birthday.
"Song of the Swallows" by Leo Politi. The story of Juan who makes friends with the bellringer at the Mission of San Juan Capistrano. A Caldecott Medal winner.

"Nothing Ever Happens on My Block" by Ellen Raskin. Young Chester Filbert longs for haunted houses, lions, and astronauts but nothing ever happens in his block. However, YOUR child might spot some things which Chester missed. One of ten winners in the best illustrated children's stories of 1966.
"Paul and Arthur Search for the Egg" by Anne Rockwell. Paul and his good friend Arthur (a lovely spotted bull) meet Mrs. Seagull who has lost her beautiful green egg and help her find it.

"Hector Protector and As I Went Over the Water" by Maurice Sendak. New dimensions are added to two Mother Goose rhymes by the creativeness and originality of the illustrations.

"Where the Wild Things Are" by Maurice Sendak. A marvelous adventure story guaranteed to please little boys. Winner of the 1965 Caldecott Medal.
"The Armadillo Who Had No Shell" by Sidney B. Simon. A hilarious tale in which attempts are made to provide a covering for our pitiful friend, Manueto.
"Tinker and Tanker: Knights of the Round Table" by Richard Scarry.

"Storybook Dictionary" by Richard Scarry. Great fun and a chance to learn a little, too.
"Gwendolyn and the Weathercock" by Nancy Sherman. Gwendolyn the hen saves Farmer Brown from Nimbus Flood, a particularly crafty old villain.
"What's a Ghost Going to Do?" by Jane Thayer. Gus is a friendly ghost who is about to lose his house and must solve the problem.

"Ask Me Another Riddle" by Ralph Underwood. A clever collection of riddles for the young child to try out on his friends.
"The Mellors Go Flying" by Tomi Ungerer. Mr. Mellors, a gentle French pig, persuades his family to join him in building an airplane which leads to all sorts of funny adventures.

"Orlando the Brave Vulture" by Tomi Ungerer. The most fearless and altruistic vulture ever to fly south of the border sends his way through quite a series of heroic deeds.
"You Look Ridiculous Said the Rhinoceros to the Hippopotamus" by Bernard Weber. A gentle and humorous tale of a hippopotamus who develops an inferiority complex over her nose.

"Mud Pies and Other Recipes" by Marjorie Winslow. This is an outdoor cookbook which features such tantalizing menus as mud-puddle-soup and mock-mud-puddle-soup.
"Someday" by Charlotte Zoltow. An appealing book in which the young heroine expresses many typical childhood longings such as "Someday I'm going to come home and my brother will introduce me to his friends and say 'This is my sister' instead of 'Here's the family creep'."

MR. AND MRS. J. W. KUYKENDALL

Golden Wedding date will be observed by couple March 19

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kuykendall, 75 and 73, will observe their Golden Wedding anniversary, Sunday, March 19, at their home three miles west of Gordon, with an open house between the hours of 3 o'clock and 5 in the afternoon.

Officers elected by Jaycee-ettes

Thelma Richardson was elected president of the Jaycee-ettes at a meeting held at the Reddy room. Other officers elected are: Norma Baumann, vice president; Diane Newman, secretary; Diana Gray, parliamentarian. They will be installed at the annual Jaycee banquet April 8. Lorraine Ammons was hostess and served refreshments to the new members, Lora Blanton and Anita Smith.

Mike Waldrip honored on his 8th birthday

Young Mike Waldrip celebrated his eighth birthday last Saturday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Waldrip, were: James Dye, Mike and Donna; Mrs. Charles Williams Jr. and Mrs. Jimmie Redman; and Davla, Bruce Waldrip, Tommy Hill and Michele and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Moreland. Birthday cake, ice cream and gifts were served.

I just know you've all been sitting back waiting to hear what I think of Peter Hurd's controversial portrait of President Johnson.

Mr. C and I were invited to Snyder last Saturday afternoon to view this painting along with many more at the Diamond M Museum in the Diamond M Building. We were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. McLaughlin, who own the whole kit and kaboodle.

A private showing was held on Saturday and the paintings were on view to the public on Sunday. The public saw exactly the same thing on Saturday but there is a little extra bit of flavor in going to a private showing.

In the "Peter Hurd" room at the museum we stood back and critically viewed the now famous portrait. I frankly didn't know what to expect because I had seen many photographs of the portrait and I have mixed feelings about Peter Hurd's work. By that I mean some of it I like and some of it I don't. Well, there stood LBJ and to my eye it looked just like him. Standing on a balcony at the White House, a view of Washington, including the Capitol Building, stretches out behind the President. It was this view, of course, which the Johnsons didn't like. I expected it to be much more prominent and brightly colored but the background was in muted tones except for the Capitol, which is rather brightly lit.

Symbolically, I presume the lights were on because of the many years LBJ spent in the Capitol so the background scene was highlighted at this point. It could also be that Peter Hurd has a delightfully fiendish sense of humor and remembered the economy kick LBJ went on a few years back regarding the turning off of lights.

Also represented in the museum are the works of N. C. Wyeth, Frederick Remington, Peter Hurd, Andrew Wyeth, Charles Russell, Frank Schoonover, Emily Guthrie Smith (a Snyder artist), George Shippen, Manuel Acosta and many others.

Among the "many others" were several paintings by an artist from one of the Scandinavian countries that had rather a tricky signature. At first glance it looked like Fred Pi with the third letter of the last name stretching lazily out and you could make it into about any letter you wished. On second glance one could see a small "i" between the "r" and the "e" so his first name was really Fried. Still not being able to make out the last letter of the three letter last name I decided to call him Fried Pi (e). I liked his work tremendously.

One of the most delightful things about the exhibit was bumping into Irby and Jacquita Metcalf who had flown in from Fort Worth for the special showing. I'd rather meet old friends any day than view paintings and we had time for a good long visit at the buffet which followed the showing at the Snyder Country Club.

Mr. C and I took a quick trip through the Scurry County Library before going to the Diamond M Museum and boy, were we ever impressed! They have a lovely building built in 1958 and have 47,500 volumes on their shelves. At the rate we're zooming along though we'll catch up with them one day.

Track team makes good showing at Levelland

By MRS. EDMUND WILKE
Hello to each of you out there in newspaper land! Another week has gone by and please don't ask me where it has gone because I don't know. Don't they just fly by? Someone once said (very wisely) that we waste time, kill time, wish for time to pass; then, finally, complain of getting old! Fits me to a "T".

Southland entered the Class B track meet last Saturday at Levelland and scored 30 1/2 points. Results of our team follows: High jump: Dennis McGehee, 3rd. Joev Basinger, 5th. Pole vault: Bill Bevers, 1st. Sammy Wartes, 5th. 100 and 200 - yard - dashes: Dan Eckert, 4th, 883 - run, Jackie Abshire, 2nd. Congratulations, boys.

THE PLEASANT Valley Baptist Church has received a "face lifting." The members have been very busy the past few weeks remodeling the church and I hear that it looks very pretty. I am sure they are proud of it!

Mrs. Spence Bevers went to Arlington recently to be with her grandmother, Mrs. Dora Murray, who underwent gall bladder surgery. She is getting along very well. May God grant her a fast recovery.

My sister, Mrs. Aubrey Bryan of Farmington, N. M. came last Wednesday for a visit. She wasn't feeling well so went to a specialist in Lubbock on Thursday and he put her in the hospital for a week. Some visit!

Bobby Hodges of Post spent the weekend in the home of his cousin, Mr. Spence Bevers, and family.

There was a lot of excitement at the Spence Bevers' home Mon-

Storage building and contents lost in fire

Fire destroyed a small storage building and its contents Tuesday night of last week at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Jones, 507 South E. Place.

The fire, which Mrs. Jones discovered about 8:15, destroyed canned goods, furniture, clothing, tools and other articles stored in the building.

Mrs. Jones said the fire was "too far along" when it was discovered for anything to be saved from the building.

Marie, Delroy and Dickey Odom and Carolyn Sue and Dee Hodges visited Mrs. Nellie Mathis during the weekend.

Would like to see you right here next week, so please call me your news!

Palm Sunday! After services, I lingered for a moment in the sanctuary. The sun patterned the floor with gold and stippled the palms by the altar. A quiet stillness held me and for an instant it seemed I saw a crowd waving branches and heard them shouting "Hosanna to the Son of David; Hosanna in the highest."

And Jesus came, riding through the tumult of rejoicing. He had been in Galilee making blind men see, and lame ones walk, lifting up the dead and quickening men's hearts to goodness with his teachings. Many voices sang his praise, yet in a few short days, their screams would swell a cry of "crucify Him."

How could they, we wonder? How could anyone be blind to the goodness of this man, the rightness of His Word?

And still today, as we turn away from the hungry, the poor, and disregard the needs of our fellowman; we just as surely add our voices to that cry.

'Fistful of Dollars' on Tower screen

After over 60 years of movie-making, you'd think the western well would have run dry—but United Artists has come up with another angle on the perennial cowboy flick "A Fistful of Dollars," now showing through Saturday at the Tower Theatre. Combining the best of recent trends in adventure entertainment as well as the mystery-motivation elements of psychological drama, the creators of this unusual movie have created a man with no name and placed him in the one setting considered ideal for character development and free-for-all action: the American Southwest. Clint Eastwood and Marianne Koch are starred in "A Fistful of Dollars."

Sourpuss with false teeth now laughs loudest

"Because of terrible yellow denture stains and bad breath, I always held back from smiling. Everyone called me 'sourpuss.' One DENTUR-KLEEN FOAMING tablet made the difference. "We are indeed fortunate to secure a man of Mr. Payne's caliber and experience," Shiver told the board.

Don Kinard, present elementary school principal, is seeking a position in another school system for next year.

PRESENT TEACHERS who will be extended 1967-68 contracts include:

TRUSTEES amended the 1966-67 school district budget to include $16,903.15 of expenditures which were not budgeted — over half of which, $8,700 — went for the buying of additional time warrants to further reduce the district's time warrant debt brought about by deficit operations uncovered two years ago.

Shiver told the board that the district's auditors, Hallmark, Hearn & Co. Monday had made a close study of the district's anticipated expenditures and income for the remainder of the school year and recommended that an additional $20,000 be transferred from operating fund to the time warrant fund to purchase additional time warrants.

The superintendent said this would trim the district's outstanding time warrants down to only $45,000. The school sold $148,000 in time warrants two years ago on the basis of retiring them in six years. At the present rate of retirement, however, the district will have retired all the warrants in a three-year period at a saving of considerable interest to taxpayers.

IN OTHER ACTIONS, trustees: Approved $400 more salary for present school term for High School Principal C. R. Hutchins who has obtained his secondary principal's certificate.

Heard a report from the superintendent that every effort must be made to keep up student attendance as the law is strict on that attendance and state aid is based on average daily attendance.

Adopted the textbooks recommended by the district's textbook committee.

Heard the superintendent report that of the $1,500 in vandalism damage done to local schools, most of which was glass breakage, only $100 was covered by insurance. Glass breakage was not included in the schools' coverage although originally the schools were told the loss was fully covered.

Voted to require the new measles vaccine be given incoming first graders next fall after hearing Shiver report that Dr. Harry A. Tubbs urges the requirement and says that he could get a foundation to provide vaccine funds for those children whose parents could not afford to pay for the vaccinations.

Area man returns from visit East

By MRS. GLENN DAVIS
I am so thankful each day when the wind is blowing from the southwest. Now, does that sound crazy? Maybe to you, but if you will drive by my house someday when the wind is from the northeast and east you will understand why.

Aubrey Ritchie recently went with his daughter, Mrs. Jackie Grimes to Nashville, Tenn., to meet her husband. The Grimes went on to Norfolk, Va., where he is stationed with the Army. Mr. Ritchie returned to Garland where his wife had been visiting their daughter, Mrs. Junior Smith, and family. From there they came home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gossett went to Petersburg Saturday and were luncheon guests of their daughter and family, the Jason Justices. They drove on to Hart for a weekend visit with the Douglas Gossetts.

Mr. and Mrs. Arvel Stanley and Mr. and Mrs. James Stone visited in Abilene last Thursday with relatives and brought their mother, Mrs. Minnie Stanley, home with them for a visit.

Mrs. Melvin Williams attended a baby shower in Lubbock Monday for her sister, Mrs. Henry Morgan.

The Rev. and Mrs. Curtis Lee and family and his mother were Friday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Thuet Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Doggett visited the Dean Laws Sunday.

The Melvin Williams family visited Saturday evening with the Claud Williams and met a cousin, Mrs. Arthur Miller, of Portales, N. M., who arrived by train for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Condron of Irving have been visiting the Jimmy Doggetts and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Cowdrey and son attended the school play in Southland Friday and spent the night with his parents, the Deimer Cowdreys.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Maxey and Don visited Saturday evening with the Bobby Cowdrey family.

The Delwin Fluitt family went to Muleshoe over the weekend to visit her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Clinton Edwards, and to get their daughter, Belinda, who had been visiting there.

We extend sympathy to Mrs. Fay Cockrell and all the other relatives. A number of people from here attended funeral services Sunday afternoon for her husband.

We extend sympathy to the relatives of Mrs. L. E. Bilberry. The family once lived in this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Peel visited the Ray Youngs and Lonnie Gene Peels Sunday.

The L. E. Rylant family and Mrs. Maud Thomas were Sunday luncheon guests of the Carl Fluitts. Afternoon guests were Mrs. Morris McClellan, and a granddaughter and a friend, and Mrs. Elmo Bush.
