Post man is recovering after near-asphyxiation

Phone call comes in nick of time

Jimmie Redman, local postal employe, is under oxygen this week at Garza Memorial Hospital for carbon monoxide poisoning after apparently narrowly escaping death by asphyxiation Sunday morning at his home, 405 Osage.

Redman's wife, Judy, and their two children, Dale, 6, and Dede, 5, were visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thomas, in Abernathy over the weekend.

Redman told The Dispatch he got up and took a shower, although he said he didn't feel very good.

Then the phone rang. It was Johnny Kemp, another postal employe and friend, calling to suggest they go to breakfast together. This was at 6:50 a. m.

Kemp said Redman didn't talk very clearly on the phone and he drove right on over to the Redman house, arriving in 10 minutes.

Redman said when he hung up the phone, he passed out and in falling hit his head on the television set in the den. He came to bleeding from head lacerations, as a result of the fall, just before Kemp arrived.

Kemp immediately took him to the hospital.

Jimmy's wife and children returned immediately to Post when notified of what had happened.

But they did not stay in their home here because the cause of the accident could not be immediately determined.

It wasn't until Tuesday that a plumber found a hole in the combustion chamber of the central heating unit in the residence, which had permitted gas to escape.

Redman had gone to sleep Saturday night without outside ventilation.

Moore returning as gas manager

Gene Moore will assume management of the Pioneer Natural Gas Company office here effective April 1.

Moore is no stranger to Post. He was with the Pioneer organization here from 1959 through 1962 prior to moving to Lubbock. In his more than 11 years with the company, Moore has held various positions in the distribution end of the business.

Moore is a veteran, having served four years in the Army. He received his discharge in July of 1952 with a rank of staff sergeant, after having served a good portion of this time with the occupation troops in Germany.

He comes to Post from Slaton, where, for the past four years, he has been extremely active in community affairs. Among some of the activities are captain of the Slaton Volunteer Fire Department, vice president of the Slaton Little League Baseball program for three years, member of the Lions Club and member of the Slaton Tiger Booster Club. He is a Scottish Rite Mason.

Moore and his wife, Bobbie, have two children, a daughter, Jacquelyn, who is 13 years old, and a son, Clay, who is three years old. The Moores are members of the Baptist Church.

Jackson receives Jaycees' award

Jim Jackson received the Post Junior Chamber of Commerce's first annual "Distinguished Service" award at Saturday night's Jaycee installation banquet, mainly for his work in the organization of the Garza County Junior Livestock Association, of which he was the first president.

One of the other top award recipients at the banquet was Joe Bailey, who received the "Outstanding Jaycee" plaque for his work on a myriad of Jaycee projects, on many of which he was chairman.

Bailey's wife, Nell, was presented the "Outstanding Jaycee-ette" plaque.

Vernon Scott, immediate past president of the Post Chamber of Commerce, was the keynote speaker.

"The Jaycees are the hardest-working civic organization in Post," Scott said in praising the club's 28 - project accomplishment in 1967.

"The Jaycees are not an organization that just talks about doing something - they do it," Scott said.

The general subject of the speaker's talk was Americanism, which he said is as important in local action as it is in national action.

"Loyalty is the key word in the meaning of Americanism," he continued.

"You and I make our nation what it is through involving ourselves," he said, in urging Jaycees to always keep informed. "We practice Americanism more at the local level than anywhere else."

Four points the speaker urged the Jaycees to remember were: (1) Seek to unify and not divide; (2) participate actively in politics; (3) work with the Chamber of Commerce to get more tourists to stop in Post during the "big" tourist year of 1968, and (4) help impress on merchants, employees, and others the importance of making Post a good place for tourists to stop.

"Don't let the 'Can'ts' and the 'ant's' stop you in your work toward community progress," he said in closing.

Scott, who is minister of music and education at the First Baptist Church, sang "Born Free" and 12-year-old boy 'near victim'

Dangers of 'pass out' game bring warnings

County Judge J. E. Parker issued a call to local parents to instruct their children to the dangers of playing the game of "Pass out", which Monday night blacked out one 12-year-old boy here for several minutes.

Parker said the mother of the boy had come to see him about the game, which involves having somebody else grip the child in a bear hug around the chest while he holds his breath.

According to the mother, her son does not remember what happened for three hours after the incident took place and although he is back in school he awoke with a headache yesterday.

What was supposed to be innocent fun frightened the boy's companions when he failed to regain consciousness after a few seconds Monday night. He had talked, a companion into applying the bear

A Dispatch check with Junior High Principal James E. Pollard yesterday disclosed that all the students have been warned in health classes against the "game."

According to a local physician, the person loses consciousness because his heart is momentarily stopped. If the breath and bear hug are held too long death could result and during this period blood circulation to the brain is cut off. Permanent brain damage is possible, the physician said.

Team-tying event set for April 7

An open jackpot team tying will be held at the Post Stampede rodeo arena Sunday, April 7, beginning at 1 p. m.

Fred Myers said today that 45 invitations to take part in the team tying have been mailed post steer ropers throughout the Southwest.

The jackpot team tying, with a $25 entry fee, will consist of a two-steer average. There will be other jackpot events and daily roping as time permits, Myers said.

No admission will be charged to the public, and a concession stand will be open during the afternoon.

Dr. Lively resumes practice here

Dr. Gerald A. Lively resumed his medical practice here over the weekend.

At a special meeting of Garza Memorial Hospital trustees Saturday, he was placed back on the medical staff of the hospital by the trustees.

Surmans attend museum meeting

Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Surman have returned from a trip to Central Texas, which also included a visit in Fort Worth, where they attended the second official Texas Small Museum Institute held March 15-16.

The institute was sponsored by the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, the state agency designated to maintain liaison with museums throughout Texas.

The institute covered all phases of museum development and operation as based in the needs of small museums. Topics included financing, exhibits, collections, acquisition, housing, classification, cataloging, filing, preparation of objects, rotating displays, R.I.T. shops and staff.

The keynote faculty member for the institute was Dr. Don Squires, deputy director of the Smithsonian Museum of Natural History, Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Surman is chairman of the Garza County Historical Survey Committee.

Prather ranks in rodeo standings

Tim Prather of Post is sixth in all-around rodeo standings and fourth in steer wrestling, according to the championship standings released this week by the Rodeo Cowboys Association.

With total rodeo earnings of $5,698 thus far in 1968, Prather is sixth in the all-around standings behind leader Paul Mayo of Grinnell, Ia., Larry Mahan of Brooks, Ore., Warren Wuthier of Banner, Wyo., Shawn Davis of Whitehall, Mont., and Ken Stanton of Weiser, Idaho, in that order.

Prather's 1968 earnings of $4,684 give him fourth place in the steer wrestling standings, where Jack Roddy of San Jose, Calif., is first, Ben Bates of Leroy Ind., second, and Roy Duval of Boynton, Okla., third.

Cub Scouts hold charter program

Cub Scout Pack 314 held a charter presentation meeting at 7 p. m. Tuesday in the Postex Mills meeting room.

The annual charter presentation was made by Travis Thomas, representing the Post Lions Club, which sponsors the Cub Scout Pack. Thomas was introduced by Cubmaster Jack Bishop.

Don Allgood, Scout executive of the Comanche Trail District, and Mrs. Allgood were guests at the meeting.

The Webel den and their leader, Bob Carpenter, opened the meeting with the Pledge of Allegiance. Mrs. Patty Kirkpatrick's Den 2 presented a skit, Mrs. Joyce Howard's Den 4 sang "Row, Row, Row Your Boat," and Mrs. Joyce Teaff's Den 3 gave the Cub Scout Promise.

The Cub Scouts were given tickets to sell for the exposition to be held from 1 until 5 p. m. April 6 at Lubbock Municipal Coliseum. Cub Pack 314 will have a booth at the exhibit.

Registration cards were presented to the leaders and pack committee members.

Helps record-holder

Record-holder Glen Franklin has more than doubled the amount of calf roping money he won at this time a year ago, and a horse owned by Tim Prather of Post has made the difference.

Franklin, 31, of House, N. M., pocketed a record $31,268 in calf roping in 1967. At this time a year ago he had won $5,157.

The Rodeo Cowboys Association said Franklin's 1968 earnings are $16,815.

A borrowed roping horse has played a major role. The horse, an 11-year-old gelding owned by Six trail signs and eight arrows were erected, Williams said. They were installed on FM Road 669 and FM 651 through Post, and also on FMs 400, 211 and 1054, all in the Post area.

The lesser of two evils, perhaps

The Dispatch finally has come up with the answer to a question asked by many of its readers the last few weeks.

The answer is April 28. The question was, "When does Daylight Saving Time start this year?"

We admit that until looking it up, we didn't know the answer — but it's all settled now. You can set your clock up an hour at midnight April 27, or at any time before that, if you choose.

Last year, Garza countians and other Texans went through the first Daylight Saving Time in the state's history. Some liked it, some didn't. Very few were in between.

It appears that like it or not, we're going to have to put up with Daylight Saving Time another year, since it will take an act of the State Legislature to do away with it, and the Legislature does not convene in regular session again until next year.

One thing that should make Daylight Saving Time easier to get along with this year is the fact that there is a move on to abolish "Standard Time" altogether. So, by putting up with what might be the lesser of two evils, we might be able to forestall the other.

Last year, most of the nation went on Daylight Saving Time uniformly for the first time. Now, it is being asked, why not enjoy the established benefits of D.S.T. all year?

Most western European nations recognized the values of year-round Daylight Saving Time a decade ago. All of western Europe is on permanent D.S.T. except Ireland and Portugal. Great Britain abandoned Greenwich Mean Time in favor of year-long D.S.T. this year on Feb. 18.

A bill to establish year-round Daylight Saving Time in New York State was introduced in the legislature there in 1963. It was endorsed unanimously by the Traffic Advisory Committee of the New York State Department of Motor Vehicles as an accident deterrent.

Other states have shown enthusiasm for the plan, but have taken no positive action yet. Obviously, year-round Daylight Saving Time in a few states, with Standard Time in the others, would return the country to more-time confusion.

So, unless we want to go from the testing pain into the fire, let's not complain too much this year about D.S.T. only from April until October. What if we had it the year-round, or would it be better that way? Harmpin—CD

Facing up to the tornado season

It's no joke to face up to the tornado season here in West Texas, and when the weathermen tell us the severe winter we've just survived through is going to be responsible for more tornadoes than ever this year, it certainly is no laughing matter.

"Tornado terror," however, can be, and often is, overcome. It is only when nowadays since the West Texas area has been struck again and again by all the different kinds of construction—television, run-away radio systems, etc.

It never helps matters to panic in the face of turbulent weather, but, at the same time, neither is it wise to be inquisitive.

The happy medium is knowing just when to do it and when a tornado strikes, life and limb often can be saved through the proper precautions, chief of which is knowing the safest place at hand. Storm cellars are the best answer, but if no cellar is available, it is best to think ahead of where the next safest place would be if a tornado should sweep down.

Fortunately, these same communications that have made us more "tornado conscious" also help safeguard us. Few homes are without radios and television sets which help keep abreast of weather reports which warn of storms and advise what to do. Community leaders have been and will be urged to keep a sharp lookout when there is a tornado alert. Every town also has its sirens, in other words, and its tornado-approach signal.

It is always a relief to see the severe weather news cleared off the year's calendar. Tornadoes are something we can't do without.—CD

No Red Cross special fund drive

The Garza County chapter of the American Red Cross deserves commendation for its recent decision not to put on a special fund-raising campaign for $400 here.

Instead of staging the fund campaign, as authorized by the American Red Cross, for the benefit of Red Cross services to the U. S. armed forces in Vietnam, local officials decided to contribute the $400 out of funds allocated it by the Garza County United Fund, of which it is a member.

The Red Cross is doing an exceptionally good job in Vietnam and elsewhere and the local chapter would have been justified in conducting the special fund campaign here. Unfortunately, it did not find it necessary to do so because of its reserve of United Fund money.

Ray N. Smith, who has been Garza County home service chairman for the Red Cross for some 20 years, has furnished us with these figures on what the organization is doing in its services to our armed forces.

—Annually assists one of three servicemen in the United States, South Vietnam and in 30 other foreign countries.

—Red Cross messengers to and from South Vietnam in behalf of U. S. servicemen average over 800 a day.

—Three hundred and fifty Red Cross workers who served in 5 camps in more than 60 countries in South Vietnam. Additional workers will be assigned as needed.

—Covers Red Cross expenses for service of U. S. troops in South Vietnam in Thailand.

—American Red Cross efforts to help 40,000 U. S. servicemen in South Vietnam and throughout the world are supported by volunteers and donor workers in company.

What our contemporaries are saying

It is a bit difficult for most of us to comprehend the enormity of a trillion dollars. When we talk about the federal budget being up $12 billion we tend to think of the 73 and forget the billion. A person with a billion dollars could spend $100 a day and 27,300 years later he would still have several million dollars left.—Atlanta (Main) Sun

My Pink Camry looks like she's drinking me—took a physical exam and then asked the doctor, "How do I stand?" The doctor replied, "I don't know, it's a miracle!"—James H. Russell in The Belton Journal

Another way to keep your friends is to ask no

They believe in the Golden Rule, even the ideal, which is one who gives himself up for the benefit of every man, woman and child.—Spencer Norman in The Nation

He who runs may read things about himself that he never suspected.—Dallas News

What this country needs, Mr. President, is a foreign policy that is not run by foreigners.—Wick Fowler in The Baltimore Ledger

THE UNUSUALLY severe winter we've had, recent political developments, and reports that arms and ammunition are being laid in for mid-year riots, all point to the coming summer being the longest and hottest on record.

The way I get it, many folks who didn't get to see Bonnie and Clyde when they were in town several weeks ago, made up the deficiency when the pair spent last weekend here.

THE MAN UP the street says there is nothing more embarrassing than jumping at a conclusion that isn't there.

Grandmother used to say that the first hundred years are the hardest. She wouldn't have believed the figures a reader has sent us, but she was right, as always. The first hundred years were the hardest.

In 1866, the U. S. State Department had a modest eight employees. The next time anybody counted, it appears, was in 1909, when the total, including the Secretary, was 209. That's a rate of increase of about two employees a year, on the average. But after the first hundred years, the pace began to quicken. By 1922, the number of employees had tripled, to 631. That's a bit more than two employees a year, to be sure. Actually it divides out to 32 a year.

The next accounting we can find is for the year 1958. The Department of State had 963 employees that year. Those were the years of the great depression, and the pace was slowed to a 30 per cent increase in the 15-year span.

Then, things began to pick up. And the momentum hasn't been lost. Five years later, mid-way in the war, the State Department had 2,733 employees. By 1948, three years later, the count was 3,823. Those are all figures developed by the Senate Committee on the Judiciary in the 1953-54 hearings concerning "Interlocking Subversion in Government Departments."

About a year ago, and that's the latest total we can find, it was reported that the State Department now has something like 43,823 employees. Now there is a right hefty hike. Indeed, it is almost six times the figure for 1948. It is possible that our personnel needs in the Department of State have risen from 7,623 in 1946 to 43,823 in 1967? Neither FBI nor General Motors have grown that fast.

When you contemplate figures like that, some items in the news begin to make sense. For example, there was a great furor in the press about two State Department employees—friends of Otto Opreka—who had been segregated in a dilapidated, rat-infested building without janitor services, without any work to do. You must understand that Otto Opreka is not a fellow of the U. S. Senate. At the Department of State, that is a heinous crime. Nobody is supposed to tell a Senate Committee the truth, or even the time of day.

And with 43,823 employees in code books, when the devil gets you, you can see why you identified friends of Otto Opreka in a broad vision of power.

How many of the 43,823 work already? That's a tough one. The Russians know that.

The Garza County Sheriff's posse along with all the other riding groups (hoops, bands, etc.) got "snowed out" of the parade that was to have opened the big rodeo in Lubbock last week. But, a few weeks ago, when the weather was more agreeable, the Garza posse had a big time helping San Angelo open its rodeo. Posse president Shorty Bland tells The Dispatch, Shorty says the Garza County riders were guests at a barbecue at San Angelo, and that "the folks down there sure treated us nice."

ANOTHER WEATHER casualty was the Junior Rodeo's first play day, scheduled for last Sunday, but postponed a week because of wet grounds at the rodeo arena. The Junior Rodeo boards plan to make these play days a big thing here this summer, not only for the youngsters who compete, but also for the fans who go out to watch them.

In addition to their play day plans, the Junior Rodeo boards are also planning a rodeo for late May or early June, which answers the question of whether or not there will be a junior rodeo here this year.

New furniture line franchise to local store

The Hudman Furniture Company has been awarded the franchise for a new line of English-styled furniture, called Crown Oak, that is re-establishing oak in its role as queen of the furniture woods. After years of neglect by furniture makers, oak is making a dramatic bid to recapture its place at the top.

For centuries the majesty, strength and rugged durability of oak have made it the obvious choice in the construction of fine furniture. Utilized by many ancient cultures, oak reached its peak of grandeur in Old England. According to legend, the famous Round Table of King Arthur was cut from one piece of giant oak. In any event, only oak was considered suitable for the furniture of English nobility.

Recently, Edmond J. Spence, nationally known furniture designer, has re-created the splendor

ASPIRIN HEADACHE NO. 51: The library books that are reviewed in this book drop. How about you? Do you have any books to recommend on such occasions, dear ones?

March is not one of the favorite months—the wind, I think, is blowing in the wrong direction. However, this March has been a good one for the library. We have a new book drop, a new child's room, and plans for a fair, community interest, and hard work on the part of many Post members. Such efforts have long been the key to our unusual success. It might be truly said that we are a library "of the people and for the people" in the grandest of American traditions. (Hey, what-a-ya!) all the way with George Washington.

to accommodate the new room showing. Head Librarian George Ruth Ann, Pauline Barbara, Rosemary, Sandra Jay, Pee Wee, Jo, and Lou have been moving books for weeks. With the exception of "Recent Publications" and "Special" sections, every book in the library has been shifted. The labor has its rewards — do not admire our "new look."

Committee member Barbara McKown asked the Post Art Editor if they would consider making posters for the big publicity campaign and are planning to throw "Post Party." Guild member Martin has suggested that we clear a big space in the middle of Martin's Department Store. You'll see it there.

one of our regular volunteers as well, was delighted with the large crowd that visited the library on Wednesday afternoon. Patron Kirkpatrick must have been there for everyone when she said "It's the perfect day for us with a good book."

just been reading the attractive newsletter issued by the Public Library. (If you don't get one, join the Friends you can have one next year!) Item of particular interest: "In the future something new will be in the library. One of our suggestions that we get identification pins for our volunteers. It would be nice to know to whom he speaks. He echoed our feelings when he said "I'd like to say you're them for their fine work and I want to know who I'm thanking you to."

thought that was a good idea, and so did Mrs. Bryan Hunt, who told us to order pins and send the bill to him. Thanks to Mr. Williams and my patron who gave us this idea.

"library patron" was Bill — a new volunteer!

Submit to me, Sockeye Volunteer Sam Cowley. It should address our attention as "Mr. Miller" or "Miller." Just call him like everybody else does. Replied Sonja: "I like to see you're here Mr. Miller, you're all so much older."

Anderson Jones of Fort Worth has joined the Detective Club and promised to send us all of her monthly reports after she reads them. Already received the first. Eric Stanley Gardner fans be pleased—six new Perry

TAX MAN SAM WRITES
Dear Editor:
Last year the IRS Dallas District Office proved that Northern Texas taxpayers are among the "learnedest" taxpayers in the Nation. Year before last an embarrassing number of taxpayers left off their social security number, or got it mixed up. Dallas IRS tax education and information team went into action last year. They were determined that every taxpayer in Northern Texas would be told several times to make sure his social security number was correct. They got out news stories, radio spots, TV film spots, taped radio programs and a 30-minute TV film. For 1967 our social security number errors dropped to 1,700. Only 4 per cent of our 42,000 share of the 2,600,000 nationwide SSN errors. We are very proud of the fact that with your help we saved 40,300 taxpayers from a long and painful delay in getting their refund. We helped them get the refund to pay for a new baby or some other family crisis, instead of spending months writing letters to the Service Center.
The said part of my story is this: Up until the April 15 rush, all the errors made by Northern Texans were way below the national average. However, the last-minute folks did it — they ran the error total for 1967 to 113,300, only 14 per cent short of IRS's nationwide taxpayer error rate. An astounding 55,000 fouled up the amount of tax they owed — they got the wrong tax table, column or line, or the wrong line on the 1040, another 42,000 of these 11:59 p. m. (April 15) folks flunked arithmetic, and naturally the computer caught them.
This year the Dallas tax education and information folks decided to put out so many stories on all of these careless errors that the taxpayers just couldn't hardly make any errors and delay their refunds. So far they have cut down the errors to 7,073. When we project this for the total returns to be processed during the year, we come out with 57,291 errors—about half the number caught by the computer last year. Our projected errors come out:
3,742 Social Security Number errors this year — good enough.
2,271 Missing signature errors—less than half last year's national average.
10,295 Missing W-2's — double national average — must be improved.

1,094 Required schedules or statements not attached — well below national average — excellent.
13,981 Math errors — only one-third of last year's final results.
However, the April 15 filers haven't flunked computer math yet. This is still too high.
26,009 Wrong tax table, column or line — 50 per cent of last year. Yet this is still too high.
Ed, you can see why old Tax Man Sam needs your help. We have proved what good learners we have here in our neck of the woods (plains too) when we learned the social security number lesson. Now just remember that these fine folks have about $140,000,000 in refunds coming to them. If we keep going at the present rate we will end up with 57,000 refund checks amounting to $7,980,000 being held up purely through carelessness, and it could run into 100,000 checks for $14,000,000 being delayed. Let's convince these people that that computer down at Austin just ain't reasonable, and that you have got to get it right before mailing. The IRS folks in Dallas will do their best to send you news.

VIETNAM SOLDIER HOME
Sgt. M. J. Elmore, son of Mrs. A. W. Baxter, and a brother of Mrs. Bill Criswell, is home on a 30-day furlough after serving in Vietnam. He will report to Germany for continued service at the completion of his leave.
The entire cast of the Grand Ole Opry will perform three shows daily from April 30-May 13 at HomeFair '68 in San Antonio.

stories about these taxpayers' careless ways. If you will help out and put in a good word here and there maybe we can save a lot of pain and frustration.
Thanks for listenin' and lettin' me use your Letters to the Editor column to put in my 4-bits worth. As I return to my role as a Texas branded philosopher and tax advisor, may I leave this word: "Read those tax instructions carefully because those dollars you save are yours."
Sincerely,
Tax Man Sam

The table was decorated in shades of pink, rose, and white with a centerpiece of wedding bells and kitchen gadgets spilling from a cluster of ribbons and flowers. Frozen pink punch and cookies were served by Misses Connie McWhorter and Glen Ann Barley.

A corsage, which included kitchen gadgets on a pot holder base was presented to Miss McCampbell by the hostesses. Decorated name tags were pinned on Mrs. E. H. McCampbell and Mrs. Richard C. Brush of Slaton, mothers of the couple.

While the honoree opened her gifts, guests took part in several games including "Kitchen Chores" and "Name the Cake."

It's My Turn

— By MRS. C.

Excitement galore is coming up on May 11 at the City-County Park.

The Friends of a Public Library are planning a county-wide Book Fair on that date and we're all so enthusiastic we are sure you will be too.

The purpose of the Book Fair is to raise money primarily for books for the Post Public Library. However, if we raise enough money we might find a few other library uses for it. Right now our main concern is BOOKS, as the city budget is pretty well being used up by building new shelving and finishing that lovely room for the youth.

A letter will be sent to every organization, club and church in Post and the area, including Jewettburg and Southland, asking them to have a booth at the Fair. The committee came up with about 40000 organizations but just in case anyone gets left off the mailing list don't be shy—just call Mrs. C and volunteer.

We plan to set the Fair up on the south side of the lake close to the M-I Building in case of inclement weather. That way we could move inside and continue the fun and games. However, I've ordered a perfect night for May 11.

Both suggestions will be made in the letters, and each club may pick what they are interested in. We plan many food booths with such things as sandwiches, hot dogs, cake, brownies, pie, corn on the cob, ice cream, snow cones, cold drinks, etc. We plan to open at 5 p. m., which means we expect the whole county to come out at the Fair.

We have all sorts of keen game booths planned, and are naturally open to other ideas and suggestions. We're hoping the Justiceburg Women's Club will come up with a donkey ride of some kind knowing that Pearl Nance has all those darling donkeys and is nice enough to loan them out.

We want the Fair grounds to be colorful and bright, so are asking each organization to go all out with the crepe paper and bright colors to make it all look gala and festive.

If everyone responds with as much enthusiasm as Pee Wee Pierce when she first heard about it, we ought to have a Fair to end all Fairs. She can hardly wait to get started and is eagerly awaiting May 11.

The nicest thing I can think about having the Fair is the fact that it will be the whole county working on a worthwhile project. I can't recall everyone working on one thing since we came to West Texas, so this might be a "first."

All of you people out there, including the home demonstration clubs, get your thinking bonnets on and respond with as much enthusiasm as you can muster. The Friends plan to make this the highlight of the summer.

MARK that date—May 11. We not only want everyone working but we want everyone to be there and have fun-fun-fun. We'll also want you to spend lots of money so we can keep an improving our successful library.

More information will be forthcoming as the time draws near.

Our first volunteers turned out to be the Post Art Guild who are going to make colorful and attractive posters to help publicize the event. All volunteers and ideas are accepted by anyone on the committee. Give a ring to Mrs. C., Nettie Collier, Barbara McKeown or Rosemary Chapman if you come up with anything which can be of help.

We're counting on YOU.

Carr says reaction will nip dissenters

Waggoner Carr declared here last Thursday night that "the thunderous reaction from Mr. and Mrs. Average American" is going to drown out all the dissenters of every stripe which today threaten the American Way of Life.

The former Texas attorney-general and 1968 candidate for governor was the featured speaker at a joint dinner meeting in City Hall of the Woman's Culture Club and the Post Rotarians together with their husbands and wives.

His subject was "Texas Heritage," but he broadened it into the dangers which today threaten America's heritage.

"KEEP YOUR COOL" and "keep the faith, baby", Carr advised his hearers after spending most of his address citing the many things in America which are wrong today.

"I'm concerned about the path our nation is taking," Carr said. "There seems to be more wrong with the American people today than ever before... with American fighting American in the city street."

Citing the 26 major riots which erupted in American cities last summer, including one in Houston, Carr declared that they were not race riots, because whites also were involved, but were in fact "a deep-seated rebellion against law and order and respect for government."

"ONE MISTAKE which won't be made in Texas, if I have anything to do with it," Carr declared, "is that of sending national guardsmen into trouble spots with orders not to shoot until shot at."

He also cited last year's "siege of the Pentagon by Americans" and the thinking of people in the Far East that "Americans have lost their guts and their will to fight for freedom" because of the many anti-war demonstrations in this country.

"You're dead wrong if you think it doesn't matter what the rest of the world thinks of us," Carr said, who related the feelings toward America he found in Hong Kong, the last air stop on the way to embattled Saigon. Carr was there on legal business two weeks ago.

"We're going to get America back on the right track," Carr declared in closing and urged his hearers to "do something—don't just stand aside and complain."

Carr was introduced by Dick Dickson, Ansil O'Neal, Rotary president, presided.

Courage at Dusk

We live longer today! But, thanks to pension plans, bond-a-month savings, retirement income policies, social security, etc., a man can retire— and still cash a check. Years ago couples had a harder struggle to prepare for the later years. The security they sought was spiritual as well as material. And, as they toiled to earn and save, they worshipped God. . . they trained their children in the faith. . . they relied on their Bibles, their prayers, and their beliefs. But when death came, they possessed a kind of courage that no check will provide. Times haven't changed. To possess that kind of courage in the later years, a couple must begin in the early years to seek and serve God in the life of the Church.

Out-of-state visitors flock to Texas in '67

AUSTIN — Texas last year hosted more visitors — who spent more money here — than ever before, the Texas Highway Department reported today.

A total of 20,054,000 persons from out of the State visited Texas in 1967. They spent a record of $1,203,137,000, making 1967 the second year in a row that the value of the Texas travel industry has surpassed the billion-dollar mark.

The automobile again was the favorite mode of transportation.

The Highway Department's annual industry survey showed 15,199,000 persons visited Texas by automobile during the year. Their expenditures in the State amounted to a total of $807,972,000 while in the State. Total number of automobile visitors was up 7.4 per cent over 1966, and their expenditures rose 11.8 per cent.

IN ADDITION, the Texas Tourist Council, an Austin-based association of travel-related businesses, estimated that an additional 3,496,000 out-of-State visitors came to Texas by commercial carriers. This group added an estimated $395,163,000 to the State's economy.

The Highway Department's survey of automobile travelers employed visual and mechanical traffic count surveys.

Valuable data also was gained from more than 11.2 thousand questionnaires distributed by the Department's Tourist Information Bureau at key highway gateways and returned by out-of-State visitors at the completion of their Texas visit.

Statistically, the average tourist party included 2.99 persons — 89 of a person more than in 1966 — who stayed in Texas 5.98 days, or 1.9 of a day longer than in 1966.

Average spending per person was $8.80 a day — up 9 cents from the year before. The average party made expenditures of $26.59 per day.

THIS AND other data will be included in the Highway Department's annual Visitor Industry Report which will be available soon.

The data is concerned with out-of-State visitors only. Millions of Texans traveling within the borders of their own State are not included. No such figures are available but, undoubtedly, Texas itself has an enormous additional impact on the overall Texas travel industry.

The report also will reflect the activities of the Highway Department's Travel and Information Division and the Texas Tourist Development Agency, representing the State's travel development efforts, and the Texas Tourist Council, representing the private business sector.

The Highway Department's Travel and Information Division hosted 775 thousand travelers at its Tourist Information Centers, a 2.5 per cent increase over 1966.

In addition, more than 300 thousand travel inquiries by mail were answered by the Division.

More than four million pieces of descriptive literature were distributed. About half of this total was produced by the Highway Department with the remainder supplied to the Department by chambers of commerce and other travel-oriented groups.

Ask Dr. QUIZME

Dr. Quizme, our information specialist, is happy to answer hundreds of questions in his weekly column. All responses are verified by Funk & Wagnall's Standard Reference Encyclopedia.

To begin with, J. Q. wants to know: "Where on earth is the largest active volcano?"

One of the most peaks of Mauna Loa on the island of Hawaii rises to a height of 19,175 feet. Although it is topped in height by Mauna Kea of the same island, Mauna Loa is most massive volcanic mountain in the world.

"Which of all the birds lays the largest egg?" is the query from Mrs. H. K.

None tops the ostrich whose egg may be as much as eight inches long and weigh as much as three pounds!

Laura S. writes: "Someone told me that a stick in a glass of water appears bent because light travels slower under water. Is this true?"

The difference of light's speed in two transparent substances causes it to bend. The stick's image, coming through water, has a slightly different direction than the image out of water. This bending is called refraction.

"BEFORE YOUR VERY EYES"

Since a soap company for damages, a housewife charged that a certain shampoo had caused her hair to fall out. During the trial, the company offered to have a model use the shampoo in front of the jury — to demonstrate, "before your very eyes," that her hair would not fall out.

But the court rejected this experiment. The judge pointed out that, since the housewife's hair allegedly fell out over a period of months, it wouldn't help to see whether the model's hair would fall out in a period of minutes.

Experiments in the courtroom can be mighty persuasive. But, precisely for that reason, the law is concerned to keep them within fair limits. An experiment won't be allowed if it is not similar enough to the original situation to justify comparison.

Damage heavy in traffic collision

Property damage estimated at $1,400 by city police resulted Tuesday night from a collision on West Main Street involving a moving automobile and a parked one.

Police Sgt. Otis G. Shepherd Jr. said the accident occurred when a car being driven east by Joe Pennell, 15, struck an automobile parked in the middle of the street. Mercedes Joe Rosas was listed as driver of the parked vehicle.

Damage to Pennell's car was estimated at $450 by the officer and to Rosas' at $950.

The accident occurred at 8:20 p. m. about 150 feet west of Avenue S.

The officer charged Pennell with negligent collision.

Lora Blanton installed the new Jaycee-officers, with Norma Baumann making the awards. They included Hopping Hen (travel) awards to Lora Blanton, Judy Morris, Nell Bailey, Allene Ammons and Anita Blanton, with Mrs. Ammons also receiving the "Outstanding Hopping Hen" award.

The Jaycee officers were installed by Frank Blanton, with Hoyt Thomas presenting the awards. Key man awards went to Ken Callaway, Tommy Young and Ed Blanton, with the Post Dispatch receiving a plaque for its assistance to the Jaycee organization.

The officer charged Pennell with negligent collision.

around your town and see if you don't have a home-grown industry you can help to grow bigger."

As for tourism, Mills said getting seven cars of people a day to stop in Post and spend the night "is equivalent to a $100,000 industry."

On seeking new industry a new town progress, Mills called it "everyone's responsibility." "What's more," he said, "everyone has got to get involved in it."

"Securing industry is not an easy job. It's a long and tedious job," Mills explained. "You should decide what to do and then sell it to your community. If you sell it to everybody at the beginning you won't have any problem."

"Don't sell your ladies short. They can do a lot to help. Lubbock and Amarillo are not your competition. Use us when you can to help. Remember, the future of Post is at stake over the next 30 years."

Ansil O'Neal, who takes over his new duties at Slaton April 1, made a short talk in which he announced his resignation as president of the club. He expressed his thanks to Rotarians and told them, "You've done a lot for me."

He then handed the gavel over to Bill Pool, who as vice president, will step up to the club presidency for the remainder of the club year which ends June 30.

Writer asks if rodeo belongs on sport page

DENVER, Colo. — Is rodeo a sport? ... Let's not get carried away. Rodeo is not a sport, and that's that. Shut up, kid, eat your snow cone and watch the "entertainment."

It was all satire, but that's what John White wrote in "Northwest," the Daily Oregonian's Sunday magazine, published at Portland, Ore.

What is a sport? What is a sport on a sports page? White is former executive sports editor of the Daily Oregonian. Taking facetious pen in hand, White aimed it at some sports writers and wrote:

"For 361 days a year the village of St. Paul in the Willamette Valley south of Portland is friendly but reasonably drowsy.

BUT FOR three or four days a year, depending on the schedule, there is bedlam as the nation's finest professional cowboys take over for the St. Paul Rodeo, fixture for the past 32 summers.

On the evening of last July 2, there were 12,417 fans in the stands. And on the afternoon of the Fourth, the turnout, despite oppressive heat, was 10,192.

Now is hockey's Portland Buckaroos draw back-to-back sell-outs, the sports page headlines scream. If the baseball Heavers attract a two-day total of 22,609, the columnists have a ball (ouch) for days.

Draw 22,609 for a pair of pro basketball games in Memorial Coliseum, and there would be major league talk for months.

SO NATURALLY there were large headlines on the sports pages of Portland after the St. Paul Rodeo mob made the scene.

Right? Forget it. There wasn't a line on the sports pages. There were stories in news sections. But there was nothing in sports.

The reason is absurdly simple. Rodeo is not a sport.

Who says rodeo is not a sport? Those who run the sports pages say so, that's who. And that's who counts.

Now don't look for any "message inviting rodeo fans to arise. They don't need it. They arise early and stay late.

From the standpoint of ground rules, however, the decision that rodeo is not a sport is a bit puzzling.

Big-time professional golfers play what is called a "tour." In

Am-am tourney set for Sunday

An am-am partnership tournament, the first of the season, will be held Sunday, March 31, at the Caprock Golf Course, beginning at 1 p. m.

There will be a $2 entry fee plus green fees, according to D. H. Bartlett, manager. Merchandise prizes will be awarded winners.

The course is in good shape for early season play, following the rains and snows, Bartlett said.

each tournament, they compete for prize money. The Professional Golfers Association keeps meticulous records of total earnings. And the sports pages dutifully publish them.

THE PROFESSIONAL bowlers do the same thing, although at times before a mere handful of real live spectators. But the sports pages mention their exploits.

Well, gee whiz, professional cowboys do the same thing. But sports pages look the other way, because rodeo is not a sport.

In a technical sense, too, the decision is puzzling. Rodeo is not a sport?

The bronc rider has exactly 10 seconds to live or die financially — and take a chance on the other way. And as in the "sports" of diving or ski jumping, form counts heavily in determining winners.

The bounce of a football, in bounds or out, can decide a championship. So can a skittish calf which heads straight for the exit at track-record speed, then swerves at a 90 degree angle, leaving a roper broke for the move to the next town.

SPEED, ENDURANCE, courage, toughness, touch, skill, quickness — all are terms applied to stars of professional football, basketball, hockey, baseball.

"The stars of professional rodeo are endowed with or learn the same qualities."

Commenting on White's story, Gene Pruett, secretary-treasurer of the 3,000-member Rodeo Cowboys Association, said approximately 750 cowboys contest full time.

Pruett said there were 537 R. C. A.-sanctioned rodeos held last year across the nation and in Canada, paying a record $3.6 million in prize money.

One cowboy, Larry Mahan of Brooks, Ore., had enough athletic inclination to win $1,000 a week for the full year.

Pruett pointed out that hundreds of sports writers and sportscasters across the nation "faithfully report rodeo news as it occurs."

"But he said more sportswriters might look at rodeo in its proper perspective, adding that the multimillion dollar business is one of the most competitive sports of them all."

OKLAHOMA VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hall from Oklahoma and Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Scribner and baby of Rails visited Sunday with the Lonnie Gene Peels.

UNDERGOES SURGERY

Mrs. Helen Livingston, Chamber of Commerce secretary, underwent surgery Monday morning in West Texas Hospital in Lubbock. She is expected to be hospitalized for a week to ten days.

WHITTENBURG UNDERSTANDS... ELECT HIM GOVERNOR

IN HIS ARTICLE, White also wrote about Oregon's Hayward Banquet, which annually honors the state's outstanding athletes.

"The long-established and widely respected Hayward Banquet is a sports function, right?" White asked.

"The newspaper sports pages support and publicize, with considerable and justifiable pride, the Hayward Banquet, right?"

"Then if rodeo isn't a sport, how in the name of bronco-busting did a cowpoke named Mahan become one of the 10 finalists for the Hayward Award this year, and a year ago?"

But let's not get carried away. Rodeo is not a sport, and that's that. Shut up, kid, eat your snow cone and watch the "entertainment!"

Tryouts set for Little League

Tryouts for Little League baseball teams have been extended from one to two weeks in order for all eligible boys to be able to participate, league president Jerry Conoly said today.

Tryouts will be held April 1 and 8th for 9 and 10-year-olds and April 2 and 9th for 11 and 12-year-olds. The tryout time each day will be 5 p. m., at the Little League park.

The league president said a boy missing the tryouts will not be eligible for league play this season.

Following the tryouts, practice will get under way April 15, with the first games of the season scheduled for April 29.

Registration of nurses increases

AUSTIN — The State Board of Nurse Examiners registered 1,741 more nurses in 1967 than the 36,862 in 1966, and most of the new ones came from out of state.

Of all the new nurses, 1,494 moved to Texas from other states. Also, 821 new RNs were registered after graduation from nursing school.

The recruitment programs by the Texas Hospital Association and the Health Careers Program were given much of the credit for the increased number of nurses.

Area couple's nephew die's of heart attack

By MRS. EDMUND WILKE
Greetings from Southland! We have dug out from under another snowstorm and the sun is shining so maybe we are going to have a pretty week. This moisture has been wonderful and unbelievable and we will welcome more if it comes our way.

We would like to extend our deepest sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Pennell, Victor Fredrickson, 30 year old nephew of Donald's and son of the late Mrs. Lee Fredrickson, died suddenly March 20 with a heart attack. His home was in Houston where he was buried March 22. Mrs. Fredrickson lived here with the Pennells quite some time. May God comfort this family in their sorrow. The Pennells attended the funeral and returned Sunday.

Mrs. Lena Lieske fell at her home here Tuesday of last week and broke her right arm. She is at home recuperating and doing pretty well. It will take at least three weeks for her arm to mend. We hope all goes well with you, Mrs. Lieske.

Congratulations to Mrs. Stanley Wheeler who was named Lubbock's Woman of the Year last Thursday at a banquet sponsored by the Altrusa Club. Stanley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Wheeler, longtime residents. Stanley does extensive farming in the community.

School was dismissed two days last week due to the weather.

Blaine Dyess, son of Coach and Mrs. Bob Dyess, caught a 5-pound carp at Oak Creek Lake on Sunday afternoon. I bet he was one excited little boy! Five pounds! My goodness, I have never caught a fish that big and I have been fishing for several years. Guess I will have to get him to teach me how. His sister, Monica, caught a little 3-inch crappie and I don't think she appreciated it when her brother made fun of it. She pointed out to him that you can eat crappies and you can't eat carp!

Edmund, Sherri, Darrell and Yours Truly went to House, N. M. Sunday where we visited my parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Dozier. Mrs. Jay Oats of Slaton, former resident of this community, is a patient at Mercy Hospital where she underwent surgery. We hope all goes well with you, Mrs. Oats.

The Southland Methodist Church congregation went to the Baptist Church Sunday to help them welcome their new pastor.

Darrell and Sherri Wilke and Patsy and Joan Gindorf will go to El Paso this weekend to attend the Spring Lutheran League Confab. Darrell is running for president of the Northwest Conference Luther League. He has been serving as vice president this year.

The Southland Junior High and High School boys were entered in the Sundown Track Meet last Saturday with the following results: High jump: Joe E. Basinger, 5-11 1/2, first place; Pole vault: Bill Bevers, 11-6, first place; 220-yard dash: Dan Eckert, 24.4, first place. Congratulations, boys.

The Southland Junior High and High School girls will be entered in the District Volleyball tournament at Cooper today (Thursday). Good luck, girls.

WE WOULD like to extend our deepest sympathies to the family of Ben Altman, 87, who passed away last Saturday and buried on Monday at Terrace Cemetery at Post. The Altmans have lived in and around this community for 50 years. May God comfort this family in their sorrow.

Mrs. Jack Myers spent several days in El Paso recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Pennell attended a recent meeting of the Order of Eastern Star in Post.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Pennell and Kim of Lubbock visited his parents Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey L. Pennell and baby of Plainview spent Saturday night with the Kenneth Callaways in Post.

Billy Lester entered Mercy Hospital in Slaton last week for tests.

Congratulations to Miss Beverly Kay Stolle and Rodney Callaway on the announcement of their engagement and approaching marriage. They are planning a May 10 wedding.

Dan Bryson of Littlefield spent the weekend with David Dabbs.

Vietnam View

as reported by Marine Corps Combat Correspondents and edited by GYSGT. Bob Montgomery

North Vietnamese forces and the Viet Cong resorted to using Vietnamese civilians as "human shields" in a last ditch attempt to overrun Hoi An defenders in the two day battle, Jan. 30-31.

The arrival of Korean Marines to bolster the beleaguered Vietnamese Army units ended the two days of terrorism in the Quang Nam provincial capital. Elements of the 51st ARVN regiment drove the estimated 400 NVA-VC force from the city as the Hoi An defenders manned well-fortified positions in preparation for a large-scale counter attack.

Following a night of sporadic street-fighting and heavy mortar attacks launched by both sides, the NVA-VC troops launched a massive push through the city, early Jan. 31, using Vietnamese civilians as shields from small arms fire. The villagers, realizing their predicament, quickly scattered. They left the enemy exposed to withering ARVN machine gun and rifle fire.

As the battle continued, the South Vietnamese forces received unexpected reinforcements from the 3rd Company, 1st Battalion, 2nd Republic of Korea Marine Brigade. The Koreans, supported by three tanks from the 1st Marine Division's 1st Tank Battalion, were on a routine search and destroy patrol when called to Hoi An to bolster the already-rolling ARVN offensive.

By evening ARVN troops had completed the sweep of the city to eliminate enemy resistance. A count revealed more than 100 North Vietnamese Army and Viet Cong dead. Most of the enemy were found clutching their weapons in firing positions, indicating a last-ditch effort against the accurate and well directed fire of the Hoi An defenders.

Some areas of Vietnam have a sparse population. This makes it difficult to find enough villagers to form a human shield, but then the Viet Cong are known to be resourceful.

In one case the Viet Cong recruited a large number of milk cows as assault troops.

As Marines of Combined Action Platoon Golf-7, near Da Nang, settled in for another night of Viet Cong harassment and sniper fire they heard strange noises around their perimeter.

Within seconds an M-60 machine-gun was loaded, an M-79 grenade launcher sighted-in, and grenades and small arms readied for action. Then, silently the Marines waited.

Suddenly large forms charged in the darkness. The Marines held their weapons ready. Then some-sick list this past week but is feeling much better now.

Guests in the home of the Cecil Stollers Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. James Wuenche and children of Wilson, the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Richardson of Slaton, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bredemeyer and family of Sweetwater and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stolle.

Edmund, Sherri and Yours Truly visited in Slaton with Mrs. A. Wilke Friday night.

A Thought for Retailers

Did you just lose a customer?

Every year (on the average) 18 per cent of a store's customers move away or die.

Many others shift their buying from one store to another, perhaps because of a grievance, perhaps because they think they're getting better merchandise, or lower prices, or perhaps because of one store's apparent indifference, and the other's aggressive promotion.

On the Other Hand . . .

Many new families move into Post each year, replacing those who move out.

Many young people become adults annually. They marry, create new families, which require food, clothing, homes, cars and a multitude of other things.

The Point Is . . .

A retailer isn't dealing with a fixed group. He is selling a passing parade, an ever-changing market.

That is why advertising — consistent advertising — which reaches all the potential customers is an essential part of successful merchandising today.

In this area, nearly all your potential customers are readers of The Dispatch. New residents or natives, young or old, they need the newspaper. Its thorough coverage of the market is another strong reason why the newspaper is the basic retail advertising medium.
