

Deluges up to 7 inches drown half Garza's cotton crop

Brazos flood cuts Post's big pipeline

Torrents turn plains into vast lake country

A giant thunderstorm, which raged its fury in northern Garza County, dealt this community and area its most devastating blow in history Saturday.

Dumping up to seven inches of rain and hail in the Pleasant Valley area and near six inches at Southland, the storm:

- Literally washed away half of Garza County's 1968 cotton crop.
- Turned hundreds of acres of the county's finest cotton land into vast lakes.
- Closed US-84 to traffic for most of the night.
- Did an estimated $40,000 to $50,000 damages to county roads and bridges.
- Severed Post's 16-inch concrete pipeline to the White River Lake.
- Washed out the north approach to the bridge over the Salt Fork of the Brazos on FM 651, 12 miles west of Post, thus closing the main highway link to the White River area for an indefinite period.
- The same approach was washed out seven years ago in June.

Canyon Valley areas, 65 to 70 per cent loss at Barnum Springs, a 60 per cent loss at Pleasant Valley as a whole but virtually another total loss north and west of the Pleasant Valley gin and store, Close City 30 per cent loss or more, Graham a 25 per cent loss with most of it on the extreme western portion, Post area losses were about the same as Close City's.

Justiceburg area cotton escaped most of the storm and suffered very little loss.

WHETHER THE thousands of washed out cotton areas will be replanted — some for the fourth time this year — will depend on the weather and how soon the land dries to permit flooded fields to be worked again.

A serious shortage of seed probably will prevent the replanting of much of the lost long staple cotton. Farmers who do replant will have to turn to the shorter staple varieties, Conner indicated.

Somewhere around 10,000 acres of cotton were estimated to have been wiped out by the storm.

Dozens of lakes dotted the countryside this week along US-84 northwest of Post and through the Pleasant Valley and Southland communities.

CONNER SAID one lake in the Pleasant Valley community measured two and one-half miles long and one and one-half miles wide (See Brazos Flood, page 5)

A lot of folks have been asking why the tornado siren wasn't sounded here Saturday night while hundreds were watching that awesome funnel above the Caprock to the west.

Sheriff L. E. (Fay) Claborn had the answer to the question when we asked him yesterday. "Because," he said, "that tornado wasn't heading for Post and the community wasn't in any danger from it."

Claborn emphasized that the siren is to be blown only when a tornado actually threatens this community. "I was out in my radio equipped car right by that funnel," Claborn explained, "and it wasn't heading toward Post at all."

Actually the tornado never entered Garza County. It's nine miles to the Lynn County line west of Post and the twister in 40 minutes of wandering — while in plain sight of local residents — never crossed the line.

Claborn said the only farm damage he heard about occurred on the J. C. Dunlap place, three miles east of New Lynn in eastern Lynn County. The twister blew off the front porch of the farm house and twisted the farm machinery in the farm yard.

We also heard that the twister really "plucked" some chickens at one farm. Some 30 chickens were blown away and, of the 13 found, all had their feathers plucked out and most of them were headed as well.

Gordon and Marge Lee will open their World of Difference Beauty Salon next week in remodeled quarters at West Main and Avenue L. They have been working hard to get everything ready but it probably will require an additional week to get the health clubs and sauna open to the customers too. It's going to be quite an operation for a community the size of Post. So welcome to the business community, Gordon and Marge.

Trucks haul in water until repairs made

Post's "water situation" was expected to return to almost normal today — after a rampaging flood on the Salt Fork of the Brazos River in northeastern Garza County, washed out 400 feet of the big 16-inch concrete pipeline from the White River at about 2 a. m. Sunday, thus creating the city's worst water shortage in the community's long history of water shortages.

Workers "spliced" a six-inch steel pipeline across the river break Tuesday to restore water service on a "temporary basis" at 2 a. m. Wednesday at the reduced rate of a million gallons of water each 24 hours.

DURING THE three - day water emergency, Sunday through Tuesday, the Postex plant of Burlington Industries, was forced to shut down for lack of water. The mill resumed operations with the morning shift yesterday.

Normally, the White River pipeline can carry 1,900,000 gallons to Post daily, but the pumping pressure had to be cut almost in half because of the smaller size pipe laid across the river bed.

City Manager Eddie Warren said residents should not use water for outside watering purposes until enough time has elapsed for all storage along the White River line to be refilled.

This may take several days.

AL O'BRIEN, White River water district manager who got only one night's sleep in a 72-hour stretch while repairs were being made, said permanent repair of the pipeline across the river bottom will not be started for at least a month.

Harold Johnson, rushed to Post by the Fort Worth engineering firm of Freese, Nichols and Endress which designed the entire White River system, told The Dispatch yesterday that it would "cost five times as much" to make permanent repairs to the pipeline break now as it will later when the river water and underflow go down.

In an emergency city council (See Big Pipeline, page 5)

Some seven or eight carloads of hardy souls trailed after that Lynn County twister Saturday night in their automobiles staying about a mile behind. At one point the funnel stopped, turned around, and started back up the mile - line road the "chasers" were coming down. "You ought to have seen us get out of there," one commented.

City and White River water district workers reported the Salt Fork of the Brazos River flood "washed out" some oil lines too. They reported lots of oil in the river during their work in repairing the water line break.

Al O'Brien, water district manager, told The Dispatch yesterday that a huge chunk of concrete from the washed out approach to the FM 651 bridge was found over a half mile down stream from the bridge. Flood waters were rolling right over the top of that bridge, O'Brien said.

County Judge J. E. Parker estimates $40,000 to $50,000 in damages to county roads and bridges in Precincts 1 and 3. A 150 - foot long wooden bridge over the Salt Fork of the Brazos on a county road used on the school bus route was completely washed away. There wasn't a single stick of lumber left at the bridge site, Parker said.

Pete Dodson's car nose - dived into a washed out culvert west of the Bill Carlisle place Saturday night when he was taking his "date" home about 11 p. m. Only injury was a chin laceration to Pete. The pair crawled out and jumped from the engine to dry land on the other side and then walked the rest of the way to the girl's house. A wrecker pulled the car out Monday.

Don't believe all those false rumors about a hundred workers sandbagging the White River Dam over the weekend. It was pure fiction.

The White River Lake has received a 4 1/2 foot rise from all the weekend rains and is now reported approximately 65 per cent full. The lake level is still between seven and eight feet below the "morning glory" or top of the concrete spillway.

Five tornado funnels were sighted at the White River Lake Saturday night. Several trailers on the east side of the lake were a (See Storm Notes, page 5)

STORAGE NOT FULL

City Manager Eddie Warren this morning reported trucks were still hauling water from Tahoka to supplement the million gallons a day the White River's repaired pipe line can deliver to Post. He explained Post's water storage still is not filled—with 16 feet now in the elevated tank (22 feet full) and only six or seven feet in the near half million gallon storage tank eight miles out on the water line.

STORM NOTES

WHAT'S MORE the storm spawned the most awesome tornado funnel ever seen in Post.

Hundreds of local residents fearfully watched the funnel for 40 minutes while it wound its way down open country 10 miles west of Post above the caprock. Hundreds of other residents took to their storm cellars as the funnel appeared to be much closer than actually was.

Actually, local storm damage is mostly production losses at the mill due to lack of operating water and to the inability of local residents to bathe, shower, or wash their dishes for a couple of days. Gurgling water closets on the other hand in many local homes awoke sleepers here in the middle of the night.

COUNTY AGENT Syd Conner said that a Monday survey showed that probably will amount to a loss of Garza County's cotton crop of 60 to 70 per cent.

Conner said reports indicate that 100 per cent loss in the Verbeno area, 75 per cent loss in the Grassburg and

Junior Rodeo in housing finish despite weather

Despite weather, including a hail storm, the Junior Rodeo here Saturday night with the two-day parade winding up on schedule, according to manager Howard Hopkins.

Saturday night's opening performance went off without a hitch, but the parade moving forward post-poned to 8 a. m. performance to 1 p. m. The third performance, which started the second day, got under way about 8 p. m. with the 8 p. m. show getting on time, but finishing in a hurry.

With the inclement weather cutting attendance, the rodeo "lost a lot of money," Hopkins said, but was described as a success otherwise.

Winners of the best all-around were awarded in the three age groups were: Susan Hopkins and brother, Carl, in the pee-wee group, for 10-year-olds and Susan Griffing of Tahoka and brother, Carl, in the junior division, for 11 to 14-year-olds. Susan Griffing and Jimmy Griffith of Crosbyton in the senior group, for 15 to 18-year-olds.

The Floyd County Sheriff's Post rodeo riding group trophy in the rodeo street parade held at 5 p. m. last Friday. The parade's winners were Juan Minor and Juan Stewart, who had tied for first place.

The complete rodeo results were listed in the Junior Rodeo, page 3.

Crowd of 250 greets Mrs. Post

Markers unveiled in impressive ceremony

Expressing her pleasure at having been invited to Post for the occasion, Mrs. Marjorie Merriweather Post of Washington, D. C., "unveiled" the historical markers honoring herself and her father, the late C. W. Post, before a crowd of approximately 250 in the Garza County courthouse lawn Saturday afternoon.

The unveiling of the markers, consisted of the tying of ribbons placed on each of the two plaques, which were erected side by side.

Lafimer's speech paid tribute to C. W. Post as "a man of endless imagination and energy... who undertook many projects which were ultimately successful and beneficial to mankind."

The speech referred to Mrs. Post as "a woman imbued with the true virtue of generosity and sincere compassion, who turned to philanthropy in the field of arts and humanities."

"At the top of her list of philanthropies," the speech continued, "has always been the organiza-

Mayor John N. Hopkins presented Mrs. Post the "key to the city" after she and her party had been seated in the area of five markers.

The program was opened with a traditional Indian dance by Frank "Chief" Runkles of the Boy Scout camp, assisted by his grandson, Paige Ross of Plainview, a professional clown student.

School trustees studying new $702,645 budget

School trustees at their June meeting Monday night were presented for study the 1968 - 1969 school district budget which calls for $702,645.29 in expenditures.

Supt. Bill Shiver indicated that the loss of state support for two and possibly three more teachers next year, due to shrinking enrollments, and the loss of a million dollars in taxable oil valuations are major reasons why taxpayers can't expect any sizable tax relief.

Taxpayers took a 35 per cent hike in taxable valuations three years ago to help pay off a district deficit in a financing procedure which required a special act of the Texas legislature.

The deficit was retired this spring, more than two years ahead of schedule, but indications are this week that taxpayers have little if any hope of a return to the former tax base.

The proposed budget calls for $452,927.58 from local tax sources and $237,992.70 in state funds.

The new budget provides no major cost increases and is comparable to the $728,938.50 adopted budget for the 1967-68 school year which included $35,000 for special tax warrants which now have been retired.

The school district's board of equalization will meet next Tuesday morning and the procedures to establish a tax rate and taxable (See School Budget, page 5)

Industrial 'trial run' scores hit

The Post Industrial Foundation, now without a full-time executive director, is still a functioning organization with funds.

What's more it isn't "sitting still" doing nothing.

That was best illustrated last Thursday morning when the industrial foundation's "community sales team" made an excellent presentation in a trial run to two simulated "industry hunters" brought in for a full dress rehearsal by a staff man from the Texas Industrial Commission.

It ranked high among other "practice presentations" made by other Texas towns and cities—very high. And the big point to it all is that this is the first time Post has worked its way up to be prepared for such a presentation.

It was all there—a group of local experts with the facts at hand on every aspect of community life which interests "industry hunters." At each place around the conference table lay specially prepared "fact books" on Post with an amazing amount of information about this community.

The presentation opened with color slides of the important points of the community the industry hunters would want to see. Coffee and cookies were arranged at a side table.

Tahoka sent over a delegation of eight business men, headed by that town's mayor, to see Post's industrial task force go into action. They were just as impressed as was the Texas Industrial Commission representation and the two industrial men from utility corporations who came in to act as the "industry hunters."

Scoffers to the contrary, Post is making solid progress in the field of attracting industry.

The first major step has been accomplished. The facts have been gathered, sites checked, an industry selling team organized. For the first time in Post's history, we are adequately prepared to make a top drawer community presentation to any industry hunters.

The next step is to hunt for some hunters. —JC

Flag Day—time to get back to basics

Friday, June 14, is Flag Day, and it is beginning to appear that every year the need for us to honor the flag and to think deep down what it means to us and to our country becomes more and more important.

Every United States citizen should be proud to look upon the American flag as the greatest national symbol ever unfurled from any standard. It represents a nation formed on the unprecedented principle that the powers of government are derived from the people. The U. S. flag exalts the individual and the constitutional guarantees which preserve this freedom. It represents a people that have been generous, heroic, and creative. It is the symbol of freedom from political oppression, of opportunity to make a better life to which the oppressed of all nations have turned with hope and been fulfilled.

Flag Day is a good time to get back to basics and recognize that a tingling up your spine when the stars and stripes go by is one of the surest signs that the vitality and genius of this nation and its capacity to achieve great things on the stage of history is still very much with us. Despite our mechanized, computerized society, the fact remains that anything to do with human endeavor rests upon an intangible quality of spirit in the individual. Some individuals have it in larger measure than others, and the same is true of nations.

The greatness of the United States is based on the spirit of her people. Let us remember in these complicated days of our history that there is much need for simple patriotism, deeply felt and clearly shown.—CD

What our contemporaries are saying

Some profound philosopher said that "Wise men learn from fools, but fools never learn from wise men." He could have added that fools can learn from other fools, but what they learn only makes them more foolish.—James H. Russell in The Belton Journal.

Dear Turnrow Junkel

O. C. MCBRIDE

Why do you suppose the President asked Congress for a 10 per cent surtax instead of some other form of tax increase?

He didn't want to leave any loopholes. People can avoid taxes on tobacco, alcohol, and gasoline by quitting smoking, drinking, and driving. A surtax is a tax on taxes, and there's no way a person can swear off.

A Washington society columnist says she expected the Johnsons to serve typical Texas cooking at the White House during their administration; instead, the food has been excellent. What did she mean by "Texas cooking"?

Beats me, unless she was referring to the famous Texas seven-course meal—a hamburger and a six-pack.

Did you read where black students at Northwestern University are demanding that burrito greens be served in campus cafeterias?

I can't imagine anyone that fond of turnip greens. As far as I'm concerned, if a food item can't be improved with ketchup, and the dog won't eat the leftovers, it's not fit to eat to start with.

Somehow we never run into the situations described so lushly in the best-sellers.—Van Horn Advocate.

A year of college costs a student 30 per cent more than it did 10 years ago. If he's still there, it should.—The Hamilton Herald-News.

President Johnson recently said our State Department needs a drastic reduction in size. Don't you think they could start by weeding out all the people who place the interests of other nations ahead of the U. S.?

That might be a little too drastic. There wouldn't be anyone left to mind the store except Dean Rusk and the janitor.

What do you think of the current fad of American men wearing "love necklaces"?

No wonder every two-bit country in the world thinks it can kick Uncle Sam around. We are getting so civilized that for us to try to police the world is about like Tiny Tim trying to break up a barroom brawl.

What do you think of President Johnson's plan to teach at Texas University when he leaves office?

I figured he would be ready for a rest. If he still wants action, he should pin the faculty at Columbia. After dealing with communism, riots, and crime as President, he would feel right at home.

"IF YOU CAN'T beat them, shoot them," appears to be the philosophy of the crackpots as far as the Kennedy family is concerned. It is ironic that Bobby Kennedy met death at the very moment he was celebrating victory in the California presidential primary. It has become another black moment in this nation's rapidly blackening history.

A young soldier in Vietnam summed it up best when asked his reaction to the Bobby Kennedy shooting. He answered with a question of his own—"What the hell is going on back over there?"

PEOPLE ARE wondering the same thing in countries throughout the world. "What the hell is going on over there?"

Well, the folks with those "funny" bumper stickers on their automobiles, "There Ain't No Way With RPK," can take them off now. Some crackpot has seen to it that there ain't no way... not now.

THEY MIGHT however, instead of throwing the bumper stickers away, want to fold them carefully and save them for the day they can use them in opposition to another Kennedy.

The man up the street says money won't make you happy, but that it's wonderful for quieting your nerves.

HERE IS A "teaser" that caught the fancy of one of our readers:

How quickly can you find what is so unusual about this paragraph? It looks so ordinary that you would think that nothing was wrong with it at all and, in fact, nothing is. But it is unusual. Why? If you study it and think about it, you may find out, but I am not going to assist you in any way... you must do it without coaching. No doubt, if you work at it for long it will dawn on you... who knows? Go to work now and try your skill. Par is about half an hour. (Answer at bottom of this column.)

One day is much like another to many people, but not to those in the weekly newspaper business. Thursday night for the editor is the time of complete freedom. It's too late to worry about the imperfections of this week's edition and too early to worry about next week's.

SOME OF THE things that went on at last Friday night's JUNIOR Rodeo performance were amusing, but, to my way of thinking, the joke the clown told about Martin Luther King's widow was not one of them. It was about the sick joke I ever heard.

A prominent Russian newspaper announces that it is running a contest for the best political joke. First prize is 20 years.

HERE IS AN old story worth retelling:

A clock meditated upon its future as it was put in its place for the first time. It calculated that it had to tick twice every second. That meant 120 times every minute, 7,200 times every hour, 172,800 every day and 63,072,000 times every year, which would mean 630,720,000 times in only 10 years.

At this point the clock collapsed from nervous exhaustion. But when it revived, it saw in a moment of insight that, after all, it had to tick only one tick at a time. So the clock began, and at the last report, was going strong after 50 years, well on its way to becoming a respected grandfather clock.

CONGRESSMAN WRITES

Dear Editor:
I get so much mail on the subject of law and order — and the problem is of such vital importance — I felt the attached might be of interest.

Rep. George Mahon

STATEMENT ON LAW AND ORDER

By GEORGE MAHON

Last week Congress took final action on an anti-crime bill and sent it to the President for his approval. I supported it and it should help some but what this country more urgently needs is not more laws but more enforcement of the laws which we already have.

A general trend toward appeasing law violators, tolerating looting and violence in the streets, and denying law abiding citizens the protection of the law has brought this country to the brink of chaos, especially in the big cities.

With some exceptions, big city mayors have demanded more and more handouts from Washington and have failed to lower the boom on law violators.

The Supreme Court by handing down decisions which over protect the criminal and under protect the public has vastly complicated problems of law enforcement officers not receiving adequate support.

This all adds up to an intolerable situation and the patience of the American people is reaching the breaking point. There is a sense of insecurity everywhere. I am encouraged over the tide of concern and resentment which the people are displaying. They are rightly demanding an appraisal of the law enforcement effort. This is the first step toward effective action.

Well in excess of 90 per cent of the crimes which are committed are against state and local law enforcement is a local problem. There must be firm support for enforcement from all levels, federal, state and local. The homes churches have a major responsibility.

Without the preservation of law and order there is no long term hope for this country. We have tools at hand. We must provide leadership and the will to do the job.

Between us Hamburgers are great!

AGRONOMIST OUTLINES JOHNSONGRASS CONTROL

With Johnsongrass beginning to appear, now is an excellent time to begin control of this troublesome weed. Herbicides are most effective when the weed is in its young, succulent growth stage.

"Eradication of Johnsongrass is essential for maximum crop production," points out Robert B. Metzger, Extension Agronomist at the South Plains Research and Extension Station north of Lubbock. "Johnsongrass not only competes for water, nutrients and sunlight but also serves as a source or habitat for insects and diseases."

Johnsongrass is the primary overwintering host for maize dwarf mosaic virus, a new disease of maize in this area of the state, adds Metzger. Therefore, eradication of the weed may be increasingly important in maize production areas.

"Besides being unsightly, Johnsongrass along ditches and fence rows should be controlled to reduce the amount of seed that may later contaminate cultivated fields," says the agronomist.

"Small patches of Johnsongrass should be eradicated in non-cultivated areas with such soil sterilant herbicides as sodium chlorate or bromacil, explains Metzger. Sodium chlorate at three to five pounds per square rod (16 and 1/2 feet) can be used along ditches and fence rows. Bromacil should be applied at 15 to 20 pounds of active ingredient per acre.

"Rainfall is required to move these herbicides into the soil," adds Metzger. "Treated soil will remain sterile for two or three years. Shorter periods (several months) of sterilization can be obtained with a mixture such as sodium TCA and dalapon."

In cultivated areas where soil sterilization to be avoided, Metzger recommends using dalapon at a rate of 10 to 20 pounds per acre on 8-to-10-inch Johnsongrass. Small areas may be treated by spraying foliage until wet with one or two pounds of dalapon in 10 gallons of water. Usually two or three sprayings at two-to-three-week intervals is necessary for eradication.

"Economical Johnsongrass control on large cultivated areas can best be obtained by tillage and DSMA or MSMA with a one-half per cent surfactant," points out the agronomist. "This should be applied to vigorously growing plants at three to five pounds per acre. Herbicidal oils may also be effective under these conditions."

Metzger further explains that a combination of crop rotation and herbicides also gives effective control of the weed in cultivated fields. For example, rotating sorghum with such crops as cotton and soybeans will allow the use of pre-plant herbicides which are highly effective against seedling Johnsongrass.

On the other hand, effective Johnsongrass control is difficult in areas of continuous sorghum, adds the agronomist. A crop rotation that includes wheat provides an excellent opportunity for controlling Johnsongrass with tillage and herbicides during the summer after wheat harvest.

Metzger cautions producers to carefully follow the recommendations spelled out on the labels for specific compounds.

Johnsongrass is the primary overwintering host for maize dwarf mosaic virus, a new disease of maize in this area of the state, adds Metzger. Therefore, eradication of the weed may be increasingly important in maize production areas.

"Besides being unsightly, Johnsongrass along ditches and fence rows should be controlled to reduce the amount of seed that may later contaminate cultivated fields," says the agronomist.

"Small patches of Johnsongrass should be eradicated in non-cultivated areas with such soil steri-

SHORT HARDWARE IS "FOR SALE"

Now that's not the way we would have it, if our wishes could be realized, but considering age, health and future years, we have decided we must dispose of the store.

As you know, the past 22 years have been rewarding for us in that we have lived fairly comfortably, given SIX YOUNGSTERS a college education and thoroughly enjoyed it all. Our entire time has been spent in the hardware business and this business has been our ONLY source of income so we feel like in offering the store for sale, we are offering some younger man or men an opportunity to take over where we take out, and earn a good living and more from a business already well established.

We prefer to sell as it is, well stocked, to someone who can take over and continue business just as it has been thru the years. We KNOW that it would cost us to put on a special sale to liquidate and then have to finish up with a remnant of merchandise to sell by auction or otherwise. SO we are willing to make this a special consideration in selling to someone as it is, making it REALLY WORTH THE MONEY to the buyer.

Our idea now is to let some local person or persons have a real good buy in the store. We will sell the stock and fixtures at a bargain and sell or rent the building real cheap as is. We are convinced that Post will always be a good place to sell the same class of hardware that we are selling and we know that any interested person will find in this offer a real opportunity to secure and operate a profitable business.

We invite any prospective buyer to investigate this chance to secure a good business WORTH the money. Anyone that has been closely associated with us the past years and are acquainted with the success of the hardware business can tell you how we have progressed thru the years. We have worked hard and enjoyed it and our efforts have been well rewarded with many good customers buying our merchandise because we have had what they wanted to buy at a price fair to them and to us. We think the bank in Post, who have carried our account 22 years, could give you information that might help you to know how successful and how profitable the operation of our hardware business has been, and we are sure that the same effort and the same practices will continue to be profitable.

We are convinced that we would be unable to continue giving the good service that Post and surrounding trade territory are entitled to SO we will pass on to you as a buyer a going business that needs ONLY to be possessed and operated.

If YOU are interested you can call at the store for information or contact me at home during the next several days or weeks.

'The Scalphunters' is now showing at Towor

Now showing through Saturday at the Towor Theatre is "The Scalphunters," starring Burt Lancaster and co-starring Shelley Winters, Telly Savalas and Ossie Davis.

Lancaster is as deadly as a copperhead and as quiet as a Comanche's shadow as "the man who hunts the scalphunters."

"If you don't like westerns, you'll like 'The Scalphunters,'" says theatre manager Johnny Hopkins.

WEEKEND GUESTS

Weekend guests in the home of Mrs. Eleanor Cooke were her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Johnson, and daughter, Toni, of Salt Lake City, Utah. Sunday guests were Mrs. Bill Henry Smith and Everette of the Flat-top Ranch and Goldie Long of Lubbock. The Johnsons left Monday for a visit with the Smiths on the Flat-top Ranch near Stamford and to Dallas to visit his two sisters. A family reunion is planned in Dallas but Mrs. Cooke is unable to attend.

FARM WORKERS DOWN

The average number of U. S. farm workers in 1967 was 4,935,000, compared with 5,214,000 in 1966 and 6,446,000 during 1916-65.

Metzger further explains that a combination of crop rotation and herbicides also gives effective control of the weed in cultivated fields.

On the other hand, effective Johnsongrass control is difficult in areas of continuous sorghum, adds the agronomist. A crop rotation that includes wheat provides an excellent opportunity for controlling Johnsongrass with tillage and herbicides during the summer after wheat harvest.

Metzger cautions producers to carefully follow the recommendations spelled out on the labels for specific compounds.

Karen's Korner

By Karen Hundley

The tornado alert last Saturday evening was so thrilling that I slept through it. However, my sisters and Debbie Tucker stood outside in the front yard and watched the clouds. On the other hand, Patti Peel and Roy Sappington had fun swimming from Lubbock back to Post that night in several feet of water.

Some people didn't make it back to Post that night. David Pierce, Steve Newby, Giles McCrary, Jan Olson, Randy Hudman, Curtis Lancaster, Mike Scott and Timmons Bull of "The Holy Roman Empire" played for a dance that night at Spur. Some of them stayed at a ranch, while others finally made it back to Post about 5 a. m. Sunday after wading through the flooded highways. Speaking of flooded highways, Jerry Crenshaw and Ricky Boswell, who work for the highway department, have been working nights because of all the water. How does that strike you, Kay Altman?

Last Friday night the Methodist Youth Fellowship went to Lubbock and enjoyed bowling and roller skating. Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Babb, Mrs. Compton and Mrs. Bob Collier drove cars for the group. Don Collier, Ken Herron, Kippy Payne, Kay Hundley, Kay Herron, Patti Peel, Giles McCrary, Martha Miller and Scotty Lee went bowling. Meanwhile, Eddie Con-

Former area resident receives DDS degree

A former student in the Southland grade school, J. Loyd Wood of Talent, Ore., received the Doctor of Dental Surgery degree from Loma Linda University June 2.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wood, who moved to Talent in 1948. W. C. (Wilbur) Wood is a 1926 graduate of Southland High School. Loyd is the grandson of the late Riley and Bell Wood of Southland.

Wood was one of 51 School of Dentistry seniors who participated in the university's 16th commencement ceremonies at Riverside, Calif. He will open an office in Medford, Ore.

Many kids are busy this summer. Steve Newby and David Pierce are lifeguards at the swimming pool, while Paul Walker and Danny Cooper slave in the oil fields. Pattie Hogan, Sheryl Cooper and Connie McWhorter are working in Post Pharmacy, while Kay Altman and Joey Lee expend their efforts at Collier's. Donna Maddox and Zelika Freeman are employed at the Dairy Mart. While Duke Altman measures cotton, his brother, Ray, works on their farm. Dennis Altman, Norman Tanner and Jimmie Johnston work at the mill, while Bo Hutchins attends Texas Tech this summer. Connie McWhorter and Teresia Maddox drive to Lubbock every day except on the weekends to attend beauty school. Lucky Liz Dalby drives a new olive green car and James McKinzie drives a new GTO.

Don't forget to go to the dance this Saturday night. "The Shvies" are playing from 9 to 12. Now, since I have run out of news and probably out of space, I shall retire. All these busy people make me tired.

Thank you, all!

Once again, I say thanks to all my good neighbors, relatives and friends for all the kindnesses shown me while in the hospital this last time, and since I came home again, I say thanks and may God bless each one and their homes.

Officers probing three break-ins

Officers this week are investigating break-ins at the West Texas Post Implement Company and 7-11 Store.

Coin machines were broken and two six packs of beer stolen from the Western Lounge. Miss M. Mott, manager, reported to police Monday.

The 7-11 Store on North Broadway lost $32 in cash, 15 cigarettes, seven packs of cigarettes and a flashlight in a theft. Officers said they have not determined how entrance was gained to the store.

Three rolls of nickels were from the cash register in a break-in at Post Implement Company, which was reported to police Friday morning by Ronald D. Mott.

HAPPY PAIRING OF TRADITIONAL AND MODERN
—New bridal fashions offer pleasing contrasts. Most popular look for the bride is the traditional full-skirted gown like this one in pure white cotton organza with delicate embroidery at neckline and on sheer overskirt. In contrast, the attendant's dress in flower-strewn cotton follows close-fitting empire lines with floating back panels. Both designed by William Cahill for Cahill, Ltd.

Borger publisher pens column on new highway from Post to Borger

(Editor's Note: J. C. Phillips' "News Into Focus" column in a recent issue of the Borger Daily-Herald had as its subject the newly designated State Highway 207, from Borger to Post. The column was clipped and submitted to The Dispatch for its interest locally by Max Mitchell of Post.)

FROM POST TO BORGER
One of the best kept secrets in the State of Texas is the beautiful drive just south of Claude, Texas, on State Highway 207, formerly Highway 15. This great expanse of land and extension of Palo Duro Canyon is a beautiful sight to behold. It is amazing so few people know about it.
Qualifying and now identified as a state highway early this year, No. 207 offers the most scenic crossing of Palo Duro Canyon to be found anywhere. The highway crosses historic Tule Canyon where Col. McKenzie engaged the Cheyenne and Comanche Indians in one of the greatest Indian battles ever fought.
Several years ago L. D. Patton and W. E. Neill of the Borger Chamber of Commerce observed that you could travel almost in a direct line from the upper Texas Panhandle to Post and other cities but that the route was just a "hodge-podge" of various state roads. They concluded that tourists and strangers could more easily travel through this beautiful part of Texas if the route had only one number.

The new highway will run directly through Borger, Silverton, Floydada, Ralls, Post and several cities. It includes sections of highways and roads originally known as the section of State Highway 282 from the Texas - Oklahoma line to FM Road 28, the section of State Highway 15 from Spearman to Claude, the section of FM Road 284 from Claude to State Highway 86, and the section of FM Road 122 from U. S. Highway 62 from Ralls to Post.
Ralls is 29 miles east of Lubbock, and Post is 41 miles southeast of Lubbock, these three cities forming a small triangle "and explained here" to point up the geographical location of Post, the southern terminal of Highway 207. It is hoped that this new Highway 207 will eventually continue south to Del Rio on the border. The first city of importance immediately south of Post is Big Spring, which is on Interstate 20 (formerly No. 80).
Not only are we benefited through having this important traffic artery designated as a state highway, but in order to be so designated, it had to meet certain minimum requirements, two lanes of traffic each 13 feet wide, an important safety factor.
The opening of Highway 207 has not come any too soon to provide an easily accessible route to Bor-

'Teen Time' at church to feature outstanding film

"Hey There, Vonda!", a new color motion picture featuring Vonda Kay Van Dyke will be shown at the First Baptist Church here Monday, June 17, at 7 p. m.
Many Americans are aware of the poise and beauty which won the title, Miss America 1965, for Vonda Kay Van Dyke, but only a few realize the tremendous talents that make her one of the outstanding personalities of our times.
Not yet 25 years of age, Vonda Kay Van Dyke is the author of "The Girl in Your Mirror," a best-seller, which has sold over 250,000 copies, and "Dear Vonda Kay," which will be off the press in December. She is a clever ventriloquist, a forceful speaker. More than these, she has the strength of Christian character that is so desperately lacking in the lives of many of today's youth.
"Hey There, Vonda!" is loaded with humor in aried forms yet it is designed to provide inspiration and direction for young rebels whose lives are being deeply shaken by the events of a bewildered generation. It is the newest production from Gospel Films, Inc., of Muskegon, Mich.
"Hey There, Vonda!" is just one of the many features of "Teen Time" for all young people (14 years and older), which is being held each evening at 7 o'clock June 10-22. "The focus is on YOU and YOUR problems," says the First Baptist youth director. "Y'all come!"

Post marine in Vietnam action

Marine Lance Cpl. Johnny M. McKinzie, 18, son of Mrs. Daisie McKinzie of 415 South Ave. M, Post, Tex., is serving with the Second Battalion, 27th Marine Regiment in Vietnam.
As a member of the battalion he helps capture or destroy enemy forces. He accomplishes this through weapons fire, tactical maneuvering, and both large and small scale operations.
His unit is also engaged in a civic action program designed to assist the Vietnamese people in completing self-help projects, such as the building of wells, culverts, small bridges and schools. Equipment and materials are made available through the Marine Corps Reserve Civic Action Fund.
ger from the Oklahoma Panhandle through Perryton and from South Texas through Post. Traffic from El Paso, Odessa and Midland to the southwest and from the Gulf Coast through Abilene in the east, and from San Angelo in the southeast may conveniently find its way to Borger through Post and thence over Highway 207.
The total length of duly designated 207 is 254 miles from Post to the Oklahoma line.

THE CONQUEST OF FEAR

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
. . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

One of the earliest emotions a child experiences is fear. And from the first loud noise that awakens him until the moment of his death he knows no day without the recurrence of some foreboding danger.

From the beginning of time religion has been our tested antidote to the poison of fear. In the dark forests of antiquity, on the boiling seas of exploration, in the foxholes of modern strife, men have calmed the body's trembling with the soul's faith. We have faced the unknown, the hostile, through trust in the Known, the Faithful; we have challenged the insurmountable, confident in the power of the Almighty.

How essential, though, that each generation passes on our Faith to the next! Who dares deprive a child of the chance to conquer fear? Who would rob his son's soul of the Christian heritage martyrs died to preserve?

Bring your children to God's House every Sunday.

LISTENING POST

By ROSEMARY CHAPMAN
Sister Vicki sent me a clipping from the Dallas Morning News which I enjoyed very much and I think that you might too. The article, written by Marilyn Schwartz, is entitled, "Books Come to Rest in the Strangest Places."
"Fred Zuniga battles everything from water guns to witchcraft—all in the pursuit of 96,000 delinquents."
"Zuniga's a super-agent for the Dallas Public Library."
"His job — recapture overdue books."
"It can sometimes have its drawbacks — most people think he's the dogcatcher."
"I drive this orange panel truck when I go to pick up the books," he explained Friday. "It looks like the trucks from the city pound. Once a bunch of kids saw me coming and hid behind bushes until I parked and got out. Then WHAP! They let me have it with water guns. They said they didn't want me going after their dogs."
"Sometimes people are more embarrassed about the type of reading material they've let become overdue than about the fact that it's overdue."
"There was this elderly lady who weighed about 200 pounds. She reluctantly handed over a copy of 'The Body Beautiful' after I'd knocked at her door."
"I guess you wonder why I've kept this book for so long?" she giggled.
"No ma'am," he replied. "Sometimes we can be pretty understanding."
"Then there was the lady who was rocking her baby when Zuniga came up.

"If I'm going to hunt for that book," she told him, "You're going to have to baby sit." With that a reluctant Zuniga tried to calm a screaming baby until the mother was successful in her search.
"One woman checked out every copy of any book about witchcraft. But not a trace of either the woman or the books have ever been found."
"Once two girls went on a binge and checked out 90 books all over the city. He traced them to five different residences and finally found the $500 worth of books thrown in an old bathtub in an abandoned trailer.
"The library estimates Zuniga collects about $3,000 in fines each month. He only goes after people who have kept their books longer than three months.
"He also collects books which have been donated to the library."
"I went to one house to get some donated books and the woman told me I'd have to clean out the closet before I could get to the books."
"He said income tax time is a favorite time for such donations."
"They don't always look at what they donate. Once I had to write and thank a lady for a trunkful of books and one girldle."
I wish that we could borrow Zuniga for a week or so and turn him loose on some of our book delinquents. I like his attitude.
Hurray! We're still getting Book Fair donations! Gwendolyn Boren gave a check for $5, and her daughter, Mrs. B. J. Boren of Lamesa, gave a check for $7. That brings the total amount collected for the fair to $604.42.

Recent book donors are Mrs. Martin Campbell and Mrs. L. F. Welch.

TODAY'S REVIEW: "Vanished" by Fletcher Knebel, 1968. Reviewed by Mrs. Lois Williams.
"Vanished" by Fletcher Knebel is a political mystery-thriller with high-level governmental intrigue. A close friend of the President disappears and the excitement this causes as the FBI tries to find the missing lawyer makes the story surprising, satisfying, and pertinent to our times as deals with the atom bomb. For us to live with the increasing stockpile of bombs is like the man who put dynamite in his basement to protect his home, so the author says. It is written from the viewpoint of a news reporter. If you want to know more about things that go on in our government, both good and bad, then read "Vanished." I found it very interesting.

Farm labor office opened at Tahoka

LUBBOCK — The Texas Employment Commission has authorized the opening of a farm labor office in Tahoka to serve farmers in Lynn and Garza counties.
I. V. Ferguson, office manager in Lubbock, announced that the office in Tahoka will be located on the south side of the courthouse at 1521 South 2nd St. in one of the mobile trailers used by the Texas Employment Commission.
The Tahoka office will be managed by Delbert L. Bandy.

Previously, farm employers in Lynn and Garza counties have had to secure farm labor from either Brownfield or Lubbock.
Ferguson said the Tahoka office will specialize in securing both seasonal and year-round hands for farm laborers. Employers are invited to list their labor needs with Bandy at the Tahoka office. He also requested that unemployed persons who have farm experience, as well as farm crew leaders, contact the Tahoka farm labor office for assistance in locating farm jobs.

The office will have a telephone installed shortly. Office hours are from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday.

Storm notes—

(Continued From Front Page) moved from three inches to two feet off their foundations by the fury of the winds, two of the trailers were badly damaged.

Three automobiles were "caught in the lake" by rising lake water as they were parked too close to the water's edge. Lake employees report another 15 to 20 cars cut off from the lake shore by rising lake waters which overflowed the roads occupants used to drive the cars in. A new road will have to bulldozed into the area later to get these cars out, Owen told The Dispatch.

The city's extra piece of fire fighting equipment during the three-day water shortage emergency, consisted of a tank truck loaded with water which accompanied the fire truck on any fire calls.

Fortunately only one fire call was reported during the emergency period. It was a vehicle on the Tahoka highway and required "only a couple of squirts of water" to extinguish the fire.

City Manager Warren said many farmers in the area voluntarily of fered the city water, but that the Tahoka source was used because of its quick loading facilities.

He also reported that City Manager Bill Blackwell of Lubbock telephoned twice to offer any assistance to Post Lubbock could provide.

As for water usage, local residents "cooperated well" generally in conserving water during the emergency, Warren said. He said only 280,000 gallons were used in the city Sunday, but 133,000 gallons Monday, and 290,000 gallons Tuesday.

The biggest part of the town was out of water Monday night. Some 94,000 gallons of hauled water were pumped into the city's system about 7 p. m. Tuesday and did not even fill up the water mains. The west residential sections of the city were out of water most of Monday and Tuesday because the water was used in other portions of the city's limit without reaching the west part of town.

To "top off" the water emergency here, the White River workers had to track down a bit of vandalism on a valve on the water pipeline to Post early yesterday when water services were finally restored. It reportedly occurred on the "other side" of the river break.

Warren had nothing but praise for the way the White River district officials and workmen reacted to the pipeline emergency. "They stopped everything else and devoted every possible hour in making the repairs, including a couple of sleepless nights," Warren said.

Highway 128-349, now which northbound US-84 traffic was being routed Saturday night was blocked for more than an hour five miles east of Tahoka as a result of an accident involving a Massachusetts car containing two women and five children, six of whom were injured.

Four ambulances took the seven persons injured in the two-car crash to Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. The seventh person injured was a passenger in the other car involved which was from Brownfield.

Highway patrolmen Henry Harden who investigated the accident reported the six persons in the car from the east were seriously but not critically injured. Driver of the car was Mrs. Loretta Kennedy, 22, from Chelsea, Mass. The woman's car skidded at a point where a water was over the highway and crashed into the westbound vehicle which had stalled in the water, Harden told The Dispatch.

The lack of water in much of Post yesterday, after the White River pipeline was back in use, was due to the fact that storage facilities could not be quickly refilled to build up pressure as water was being used almost as fast as pumped into the city.

It was believed that this situa-

West Texas cities by the TIC. It was Heath who termed the presentation "excellent."

"I was genuinely and pleasantly surprised at the performance of the Post team, knowing the limited exposure Post has had," Heath told The Dispatch.

"Post's industrial team showed complete awareness and ability to meet with industrial prospects and answer all questions in a satisfactory manner," Heath continued.

The prospect simulation is designed to give an industrial team experience in meeting prospects, Heath said.

Serving as the "industrial prospects" were Bob Mills of the Pioneer Natural Gas Co. of Amarillo and Izodine Allen of General Telephone at San Angelo.

Post's industrial team was headed by J. B. Potts. The other five for the presentation were Louie Burkes, labor; Harold Lucas, transportation; Bryan J. Williams, insurance; Lewis Herron, tax and city services; and Glen Barley, utilities. Other members of the team include Gene Moore, Victor Hudman, Pat Walker and Bill Shiver.

A delegation of ten Tahoka business men, including the mayor, were on hand to witness the presentation by the Post Industrial team. Included in the group were Tom Cloe, Warren Embree, Harold Reynolds, Wayne Waters, Bob Hamey, Farrell Marsh, Harold Roberts, Meldon Leslie, Clint Walker and J. M. Small.

Girl Scouts to open day camp

Fifty-four Girl Scouts have registered for the second annual Girl Scout day camp that will be held from Monday, June 17, through Friday, June 21, at the 4-H grounds, south of South Lake.

Each day's camping session will be from 9 a. m. until 2:30 p. m., according to Mrs. William Birkes, day camp director.

Others helping in the day camp will include: Mrs. Lee W. Davis Jr., assistant director; Mrs. Homer J. Irons, safety and first aid director; Mrs. Arthur "Bo" Jackson, song leader; and Mrs. K. W. Kirkpatrick, camp shopper.

Mrs. Birkes said the group wishes to thank the merchants and others who will be contributing to the day camp's success.

Five charged—

(Continued From Front Page) said yesterday Lena Faye Taylor is being held in jail here in lieu of $1,000 bond, and John David Rollins and Curtis Magness have been released from jail at Snyder under $1,000 bonds.

Sheriff Claborn said the case began "breaking" following the arrest of one of the women by the Snyder police department. After Claborn went to Snyder to question the woman, the charges against her and the other five were filed.

The sheriff said break-ins at Cash Implement Co., TV-Appiances Center and the Caprock Grill Course clubhouse have been solved with the apprehension of four Post juveniles.

The juveniles were released in the custody of their parents after being charged in juvenile court. Their hearings are set for 2 p. m. today (Thursday).

Brazos flood—

The lake flooding is reported to be even greater than the great lake year of 1941 when 15 inches of rain in May turned that portion of the plains into a sea of water.

Strangely enough, Post received only 1.20 inches of moisture Saturday from the storm system, officially that is, and most of it came in a hard rain about 7 a. m. Only 24 of an inch fell Saturday night.

tion would correct itself last night when water usage fell off.

Almost half a million gallons of badly needed water was lost to Post Sunday morning when a mechanical device failed at the filled 482,000-gallon White River pipe line tank eight miles out on FM-651 and the entire supply drained off into the flooding Salt Fork of the Brazos through the pipe line break.

LARGE CROWD WITNESSES DEDICATION This is a view of the crowd, estimated at 250, that thronged the courthouse lawn Saturday when Mrs. Merriweather Post dedicated the historical markers honoring her and the memory of her father, C. W. Post, who founded the town.

Big pipeline—

(Continued From Front Page) session Sunday afternoon, city authorities approved a hastily drawn water hauling plan to provide the city at least with a minimum of water until the pipeline break could be repaired.

D. C. (Billy) Hill assigned four of his oil field water hauling trucks to the water hauling shuttle and a fifth was secured from Western Oil & Transportation Co. at Odessa.

The water hauling fleet, which was first organized Sunday afternoon and gotten into full operation Monday night, began hauling White River water from Ralls and then switched to hauling a shorter distance from Tahoka.

OPERATED ON A round-the-clock basis, the five trucks hauled 30,870 gallons per trip and averaged about nine trips through a 24-hour period on the shorter Tahoka run. Local drivers worked 11 hour shifts.

Hill had his trucks "steamed out" at Lubbock to clean the tanks before beginning the water hauling operation.

The water trucks hauled the water to a near half-million gallon capacity tank on the White River line, eight miles out on FM-651 where it was pumped from the trucks into the tank by the city's oldest fire truck.

Post Jaycees kept coffee, cold drinks, sandwiches and cookies at the White River storage tank for drivers of the water hauling trucks thus saving the time of any meal stops.

O'BRIEN SAID a crew of about 30 men, mostly from Post with some White River employees, and aided by an array of equipment which included two back hoes, a bulldozer, a winch truck, two portable welders, a light plant, and cable donated by the George R. Brown oil interests worked about 20 hours from sunrise Tuesday to 2 a. m. Wednesday to make temporary repairs to the pipeline.

He explained that the six-inch steel pipe was welded onto the bigger concrete pipe on the Post side of the river and then pulled across the river channel by cable and welded to the concrete pipe on the other side of the river.

Workers had to fight quicksand and wade back and forth to complete the operation.

TWO SECTIONS of the 16-inch concrete pipe, each 48 feet in length and each weighing about 11,000 pounds, were found by workmen 500 feet downstream from the pipeline break.

The pipeline crosses the Salt Fork about a half mile east of the FM-651 bridge which had its north approach washed out by the flood.

Because of the bridge approach washout, equipment for the pipeline's repair had to be driven 53 miles east to "get it to the other side of the river," O'Brien said.

He estimated the cost for the temporary pipeline repairs at $25,000 and said the permanent repairs probably would cost in the neighborhood of $8,000.

THERE WAS no cost estimate on damage to the water hauling truck because it is to keep some water in the river's rapids during the flood emergency.

"We haven't evened to talk about that," City Manager Warren commented. "We just wanted to get what water we could." He said he didn't know what the cost of the Tahoka water would be, as the hauling costs involved.

O'Brien said the water pipeline break was noted at 2 a. m. when the pressure fell off on the Post line.

"We tried to tell ourselves it was just a valve problem," O'Brien told The Dispatch, "but we went looking. We didn't find the break until about daybreak Sunday. We could see two broken sections of the pipeline on one side of the stream."

He explained the pipeline had been laid three to four feet below the river's bottom, but that the break came where the big pipeline came out of the ground and onto the bank.

"That's where the flood current caught it and started whipping it," he said.

Quicksand gave the most trouble in trying to make repairs. "It took us seven hours to do on one side of the river what we had done in three hours at the other end, because of the quicksand," O'Brien said.

World output climbed to a record 15,640,000 metric tons last year — 8 per cent higher than in 1966.

Community Action progress reported on several fronts

Members of the Community Action Program board, with Chairman Jack Lott presiding, met last Thursday night at the First Methodist Church to review progress made in several fields and hear reports from various committees concerning future projects.

Pat Walker reported abandoned cars were hauled to one lot in the recent cleanup and soon will be hauled away for disposal. Twenty-three houses and shacks have been marked for condemnation and cooperation is being sought from the city and fire department for authority to raze these buildings.

Walker said that a recommendation has been made that the empty lots where the abandoned cars are now located be condemned and converted into a public park.

He said it is hoped to complete the clean-up of the area by mid-August. He estimated that rubbish accumulation in the alleys is so deep it will require five dump truck loads per block to clear it away.

In line with the clean-up, he reported it is hoped that residents of the area will continue the program by painting their houses.

David Newby, chairman of the sanitation committee, reported on procedures to be followed in making connections to sewer lines. He showed a map of the area and pointed out that sewer lines do reach most of the lots. He reported the city requires a $15 charge for a connection, which must be made by a licensed plumber. Newby gave information on kind of pipe to use and approximate cost for a day-laborer to dig sewer line from house to point of connection.

Mrs. Ruth Ann Newby, chairman of the child day care committee, gave an encouraging report on progress of that project. A survey conducted by the committee in the area to determine the need for such a center has brought responses from 17 families indicating that 31 children need such a center, 23 full time and nine part-time so mothers can be free to work.

Help of volunteers as well as the services of a full-time director would be needed. Mrs. Newby estimated a minimum of $5,000 would be needed to set up a day care center which could handle 25 children, of which about $1,000 could be expected from fees. Mrs. Zoe Ward, state licensing officer from Lubbock, has conferred with the child day care committee on their plans.

With time short, Indians challenge leaders tonight

With time growing short in Babe Ruth League play, Wilson Bros. placed Indians will try to overtake the league - leading, undefeated Cross "H" Ranch Braves and the two teams clash in the first game of tonight's (Thursday's) season at David Nichols stadium.

After tonight's games, only three more nights of play are on tap before the regular season ends. The season's second game, the Indians, sponsored by Post Pharmacy and Jackson Bros., will be going after their first win when they meet Wright's Texaco White Sox.

In games Tuesday night, the Indians downed the White Sox, 9 to 8, and the Braves overwhelmed the Pirates, 18 to 1.

JERRY SALDIVAR was on the mound for the Indians in their win over the White Sox, with Jerry Smith starting for the Sox, but being relieved in the fourth inning by Jimmie Dooley. Smith was the losing pitcher.

Saldivar limited the losers to six hits, with Ricky Hair getting two of them. The Indians collected eight hits off Smith and Dooley, with Saldivar, Larry Scrivner and Johnny Minor getting two apiece.

The Braves scored nine runs in the fourth inning in their 18-1 win over the Pirates. Glen Branson was the winning pitcher and Bobby Hodges the loser.

Wildcat hurler again no-hits Yankee team

Wildcat pitcher John Redman hurled his second no-hit game of the season last Thursday night — both at the expense of the league-leading Yankees — with the Cash Implement Co. - sponsored Wildcats winning, 9 to 0, in a Little League game.

Redman also set a league record for home runs when he slammed out No. 7 in the fifth inning. In the Little League's early days here, Chunky Johnson poked 11 home runs, but that was when the diamond was used for both Little League and Pony League games and a portable fence shortened the Little League outfield to less than regulation.

The old record for the regulation diamond now in use was six home runs, held by Kyle Josey, who is now a member of the Braves' club in the Babe Ruth League.

THEIR THURSDAY night win over the Yankees and a 12-9 decision over the Tigers Monday night in a game shortened to three innings by the curfew rule, pulled the Wildcats to within one game of the league leaders.

Waiks issued by Redman to Jackie Blacklock in the fourth inning and to Ray Basinger in the fifth is all that kept him from hurling a perfect game. He struck out 16 batters.

Garland Dudley was the losing pitcher, giving up nine hits, with Redman getting three of them and Kelvin Adkinson and Robert Slater two apiece. Catcher Albert Torres also homered for the Wildcats.

In Thursday night's first game, the Dodgers beat the Red Sox, 9 to 5, with David Conoly the winning pitcher. He went three innings for the win, with Macky Sappington pitching the last three. Dempsey Zachary was the starter and loser for the Red Sox, with Rodney King relieving him after three frames.

CONOLY GOT four of the Dodgers' 10 hits, bouncing two of them over the fence for ground rule doubles. The Red Sox got seven hits off the combined offerings of Conoly and Sappington, with second baseman Charles Clanton getting two doubles and a single in four trips to the plate.

Rain washed out Saturday night's doubleheader, with the first game — between the Tigers and Cardinals — being called after one and a half innings and the Cards ahead, 5 to 1.

IN MONDAY night's opener, the Cardinals swept past the Dodgers, 21 to 8, with Carl Holder the winning pitcher and Jackie Jennings the loser. Holder collected four of the winners' nine hits, driving in five runs with a double and three singles. First baseman Jim Norman got two of the Dodgers' five hits off Holder and Mike Hays, who relieved him after five innings.

The game between the Wildcats and Tigers was called after three innings because of the curfew rule, but counted as a complete game, with the Wildcats winning, 12 to 9. Redman, who relieved starter Rodney Barner, was the winning pitcher, and Grayling Johnston the loser.

The teams played an extra inning for "practice," with Redman hitting a grand slam homer, but it won't go into the league records.

Post team beats Tahoka in opener

Back-to-back home runs by first baseman Nick Pantoja and pitcher Clyde Cash in the bottom of the sixth inning broke up a tight pitching duel between Cash and Jesse Benitez here Monday night and gave Post a 2-0 win over Tahoka in the local club's first Connie Mack League game.

Manager Pat Walker's Post team was to have opened at Wilson last Friday night, but that club forfeited the game because a number of its players were out of town.

Jaycees set golf and track meets for area youths

The Post Junior Chamber of Commerce's annual track meet and golf tournament for youngsters of Post and vicinity are scheduled for Saturday, June 15.

There will be an open and a novice division in the tournament, which is open to any youth who will not be 18 years old before Sept. 1, 1968. Jaycee Hoyt Thomas is the tournament chairman.

The track meet, which is open to boys and girls from 8 to 18, will be held at the school track, beginning at 9 a. m., according to Dan Rankin, the Jaycees' chairman. Those wishing to enter the meet are asked to contact him by calling 495-3000.

Each participant will be required to furnish his own track suit and shoes. Medals will be given winners.

ON HONOR LIST Bradford Junior College, Bradford, Mass., has announced that Miss Marcia R. Newby of Post was on the cumulative Honor List at the end of her freshman year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David N. Newby. For the coming year, Miss Newby has been elected vice president of the Bradford Student Government Association.

The Post team's next two league games will be at home, New Home here tonight (Thursday) and Wilson here Monday night.

Cash yielded only two hits in pitching the Post team to its shutout win over Tahoka. Doyle Schneider singled in the first inning and Mike Cunningham singled in the sixth. The Post righthander struck out 12 batters.

Benitez gave up only six hits, with Pantoja getting a double in addition to his home run. Also hitting safely were shortstop Ray Altman, third baseman Roy Sappington and leftfielder Dennis Dodson, who had replaced starter Terry Cross in the fourth inning.

Others seeing action for the Post nine in its first league game were Dennis Altman, right field; Norman Tanner, center field; Valdez and Jay Bird, second base, and Steve Collazo, catcher.

Manager Walker said the Post team hit the ball well against Tahoka, but that it just didn't drop in.

OL JED PLAYS THE HORSES BY DAY AND HIS WIFE NAGS BY NIGHT.

Vietnam View

as reported by Marine Corps Combat Correspondents and edited by C/Sgt. Bob Montgomery

Marine Cpl. Joseph Rosa, 19, of the Bronx, N. Y., has heard "bang bang" — the Vietnamese word meaning I don't understand a number of times. One night, however, he didn't stay around to learn.

Rosa and his 10-man ambush company C, 1st Battalion, 5th Marine Regiment, had only been in Vietnam a short time when a column of North Vietnamese Army soldiers was spotted.

After the initial sighting, Rosa said it was a large enemy force of about 100 men. He started making preparations for artillery support, which was already on the way.

The Leathernecks moved into a secure position. "There were so many of them," Rosa said, "that when the point column reached a nearby ridge they were still coming out the trees 150 meters back."

The Marine artillery began firing with 105mm howitzers. The first round scored a direct hit.

Five of the enemy, looking for a safe position during the chaos, fled Rosa's foxhole and jumped.

"I thought they were Marines," Rosa said, "and I told them to spread it out." He said, "I saw one of them answer, 'Khongbiet', I decided it was a Viet Cong."

Rosa jumped up and sprayed the hole with M-16 rifle fire. He was the only one who had come within inches of the enemy — several of the Marines resorted to hand-to-hand combat and rifle butts.

After the hour-long multi-wave attack, Rosa and his squad were left with nine confirmed dead and three prisoners.

"I all started with a letter," Rosa said, "it was Katie bar the door." He said, "I was a Hospital Corpsman Second Class, 21, of Sharon, Pa. I referred to the overwhelming giving campaign that was being run with a one-page letter that came two months ago."

He said of visiting orphanages that he had with the Marine Corps Group-16 medical team that there was a definite need for clothing.

There all it took. His parents, friends and civic organizations in Sharon, Pa., took the ball and ran with it. They have sent hundreds of pounds of clothing and aid to the newly established Boy's Life orphanage at Marble Mountain.

He said the boys' orphanage at China has received more than 250 pounds of clothing and toys in a six-week period from the "Doc's" friends.

The 12-year-old corpsman has promised to write a thank you letter for each package received in the original plea for help.

Keep It Beautiful

If America hired people for the job, it would take the largest sort of army to keep our country free of litter. But there's no need to hire anyone. It's a job we can do for ourselves. All of us. Every family that spreads a picnic lunch. Every boatman who cruises the lakes and waterways. Every motorist who uses our roads and highways.

It is the pleasure of the U. S. Brewers Association each year to give its fullest support to the Keep America Beautiful Campaign. Remember: Every Litter Bit Hurts. This is our land. Let's treat it right.

Tornado does damage in Grassland community

By MARY LEE LAWS

I don't seem to have much news this week, only to mention the tornado spotted not far from here at Grassland. It dipped down on the James Long place and destroyed their well house. It tore up the Charlie Craig's chicken house and killed most of their chickens. It also tore up their barn. Some of the buildings on the J. C. Dunlop farm northwest of Grassland were destroyed. All of this took place late Saturday evening. Boy, that was too close for comfort. No one was injured so we have a lot to be thankful for.

The Dean Laws were Sunday supper guests of Mrs. R. L. Craig. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ingle and children went to Muleshoe Saturday to visit the B. M. Seales and Walter Seales, Ruth's brother from California whom she hadn't seen in 2 1/2 years. They returned home Sunday night.

Mrs. J. B. Ray spent the weekend in Post with her son, Johnny Paul Ray, and family.

Maurine Chesser left Wednesday morning for her home in Waco after visiting here with friends and relatives. She spent Tuesday night in the home of Mary Craig.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ray of Quemado, N. M., returned to their home Tuesday after visiting his mother, Mrs. J. B. Ray, and relatives and friends.

Walter and Addie Josey, T. B. Green of Idalou and a friend of Mrs. Green's, Faye Mathews and son of Oregon, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Thompson of Post visited Jurd and Artie Young Tuesday.

Janice McDonald spent several days with her grandparents, the Tom Murrys, so her parents, the Bert McDonalds, could visit his mother, Mrs. A. E. Riley, who underwent surgery last Wednesday in Lubbock.

Leonard Gribble stopped in for a while to see the W. G. McCleskeys Sunday afternoon. His mother is doing about the same.

Pam, Penny and Tommy Ingle and Kathy and Bryan Warren of Hobbs, N. M., accompanied Mary Lee Laws, Clifford and Cindy to the Tahoka - O'Donnell baseball game. We have four Grassland boys on the Tahoka Braves team. O'Donnell beat Tahoka, 5-2, but it was a good game and they had to play an extra inning to break the tie.

The Jimmy Warren family spent Tuesday night with the Dean Laws on their way to Mississippi. Clifford Laws went with them and they plan to be gone about two weeks. Hope they bring us some fish.

Mr. and Mrs. William Young of Lubbock were Sunday dinner guests of the Jurd Youngs.

We would like to congratulate Frankie Stanley and Theda Gandy who became Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Friday night at 8 o'clock at the Sweet Street Baptist Church in Tahoka. This young couple will reside here in Grassland. We are always glad to gain new families.

Jane Terry and daughters visited the Jurd Youngs Wednesday.

VISIT IN SAN ANTONIO

Mrs. N. Walker and son, Scott, visited in San Antonio last week with her daughter, Dee Ann, and a college friend, Pat Moran, of Dimmitt. The girls, students at Baylor University, are taking summer courses at Incarnate Word College and San Antonio College and working in San Antonio.

POWER CONSUMPTION

Each person in the United States consumes 5,639 kilowatt hours of electricity per year. This compares with Europe, where average annual consumption is 2,117 kwh. Asia's average is 172 kwh, Africa's 178 kwh and the entire world's 166 kwh.

JETCRAFT ALLOYS

Jetliners land at almost 200 miles per hour. To help them come to a stop, nickel alloys are used in critical areas of "brake reversers" attached to each engine, which catch the hot gases normally propelling the plane, and divert them forward to slow it down.

HIJACKING TRUCKS

Hijacking trucks is a bigger field of crime in the United States than bank robbery. Some $120 million worth of merchandise was taken in 10,000 hijacked trucks in 1966 while bank robberies yielded only about $5 million.

New York Harbor was discovered in 1524, probably on April 17, by Giovanni de Verrazano, and that date is celebrated in New York as Verrazano Day.

THE MOST PRIMITIVE METHODS OF WEED CONTROL—CRUDE TOOLS AND HAND-PULLING—ARE STILL USED IN SOME PARTS OF THE WORLD, AND ARE SADLY INEFFECTIVE IN PROTECTING FOOD CROPS.

AMONG THE CHEMICAL WEED CONTROLS USED IN THE 19th CENTURY WAS COMMON SALT. COPPER SULFATE AND SULFURIC ACID CAME INTO USE AROUND THE TURN OF THE CENTURY. UNFORTUNATELY, THESE MATERIALS KILL CROPS AS WELL AS THE WEEDS.

MODERN WEED CONTROL IS SCIENTIFIC, WITH AROUND 7,000 FORMULATIONS OF SOME 130 ORGANIC CHEMICALS IN USE IN THE U.S. BY 1967. THE USE OF HERBICIDES IN THIS COUNTRY MORE THAN DOUBLED BETWEEN 1959 AND 1966.

FHA loans available in area for damage caused by weather

Loan programs of the Farmers Home Administration can help counter the damage caused by the adverse weather conditions in Garza and Lynn counties, Billy H. Stewart, local supervisor of the agency said this week. Stewart reported that his agency provides emergency credit to assist eligible farmers or ranchers to maintain their normal operation. This type of loan will enable the operator to avoid selling off and the capital assets needed in their operation. Emergency loans may be made for the purchase of feed, seed, fertilizer, replacement of equipment, and livestock, for other essential farm and home operating expenses, and for the replacement or repair of dwellings, buildings, fences and irrigation systems that were damaged or destroyed by the disaster. The interest rate is 3 per cent. Repayment schedule depends upon the purpose for which funds are advanced and upon the estimated income of the applicant. Security for the loan will depend upon the purpose. Application forms and full information concerning emergency loans may be obtained by contacting Stewart at the local office in either Post or Tahoka.
