Hitchhiking French students find Texas hospitality here

Three French college students who are "exploring" the United States this summer via the hitchhiking route, found Texas hospitality to their liking here last week. The students were given a ride from just this side of Lubbock Wednesday of last week by Richy Lee, spent the night in the home of Richy's parents, the Rev. and

Mrs. Curtis Lee, then were guests at the Giles Dalby ranch most of the day Thursday. Early Thursday evening, the students continued on their way to their next stop, New Orleans, La. The three are Francois Cayzele, 23; Jean Combelles, 19, and Jean Dubar, 20. They are students at Lille, France, where Cayzele attends an art school, Combelles a business school and Dubar an electronics school. They arrived in the United States on July 26 as members of the French "Association de l'Exploration," whose members spend summers exploring not only the United States, but other countries as well.

The trips are financed mainly by French magazines and newspapers in return for exploration reports written by the students. The students will leave New York City by plane Sept. 12 on their return trip to France. They spend the nights in sleeping bags, which they carry with them, and have found it easy to get rides by displaying a sign, "French Students," with the name of their destination on it. In a few places, however, they have spent the nights in jails, one of them laughingly explained. In Norwalk, Ohio, they were taken to jail after a woman became suspicious of them as they stood near her house trying to catch a ride and called the police. Cayzele, who speaks the better English of the three, said the Norwalk police were very apologetic when they learned the truth. "But we went ahead and accepted their invitation to spend the night in jail," he said. They also spent a night in jail at Phoenix, Ariz., because they

Rites conducted here Saturday for T. L. Jones

Last rites for T. L. Jones, long-time Post businessman and civic leader, were conducted at 10 a. m. Saturday at the First Presbyterian Church. Mr. Jones, who would have been 81 years old Sept. 25, died about 7:30 a. m. last Thursday at Garza Memorial Hospital, shortly after becoming suddenly ill at his home at 111 North Ave. K. A resident of Post since 1914, he had operated the T. L. Jones Ice Company here for 36 years until his retirement in January. Since that time, he had continued operation of the T. L. Jones Feed & Seed Store. Mr. Jones was mayor of Post from 1951 until 1955, and was a member of the Crosby, Garza and Lubbock counties draft board until his retirement in October 1967. A veteran of World War I, Mr. Jones helped organize and was a former commander of the American Legion post here. He enlisted Aug. 7, 1918, at Camp Cody, N. M., and served in France with an Army medical detachment from Oct. 13, 1918, to Aug. 13, 1919. Born Sept. 25, 1887, in Coryell County, he moved here from Gatesville in 1914. After moving to Post, he also operated a coal yard business until 1925. Mr. Jones was married to Miss Maggie Mae Griffin here in 1921. He had served on the Post school board and was a member of the Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club. He also participated in Boy Scout and Red Cross work and was a member of the First Methodist Church. Survivors include his wife; three brothers, Chester of Clovis, N. M., Wiley of Stephenville and Anglis Jones of Evans, and three sisters, Mrs. Lillie Ashley and Mrs. Maurine Glaze, both of Gatesville, and Mrs. Vallie Newsome of Hamilton. The Rev. JIM JACKSON

Jim Jackson is Chamber prexy

Jim Jackson is the third president of the Post Chamber of Commerce for 1968. He is succeeding A. C. Cash, who has resigned. Cash took over early in the year for Ansil O'Neal, Pioneer Natural Gas manager who was transferred to Slaton. Jackson was elected yesterday by Chamber directors at their September meeting in the Community Room after Dick Dickson, Chamber vice president, explained that because of a policy of Burlington Industries he could not serve as president. Directors will meet again Sept. 18 at which Jackson will take over the civic club helm and plans will be gotten under way for the annual Chamber banquet to be held early in 1969. In another action yesterday, directors voted to furnish the paint to the Post Jaycees who have volunteered to paint, letter, and clean up around the Chamber's Gateway to Plains signs on either side of Post on US-84. Frank Busby of the Jaycees met with directors to discuss the project and present the Jaycees' proposal. Directors attending the session besides Jackson and Dickson were Robert Cox, Bill Pool, Vernon Scott and Harold Lucas.

Jaycee rest stop 'gladhands' 381

Drivers and occupants of 381 cars passing through Post stopped and refreshed themselves at the Jaycees' Labor Day rest stop from 6 p. m. Friday through Monday night, rest stop chairman Joe Bailey reported. "The response was marvelous," Bailey said. The rest stop this year was at the Green Tank roadside park southeast of town on U. S. Hwy. 84. The Jaycees served motorists 45 gallons of coffee, 28 gallons of soft drinks and 30 dozen cookies, the chairman said. The coffee was boiled on a mesquite wood fire, which burned continually during the time the rest stop was in operation. Bailey's co-chairmen were Ken Callaway and Billy Williams. The Jayceeettes also assisted with the rest stop, with Neil Bailey as chairman.

'Real cotton crop' depends on Mother Nature's assist

County Agent Syd Conner, after an inspection of Garza County's cotton crop in the field, said yesterday that "the potential is there for a real cotton crop if mother nature will help us." Over half of Garza County's 27,083 cotton acres were planted late due to June downpours and field flooding.

Mother nature's cooperation is needed in the form of lots of hot dry weather this fall if all the late cotton is to mature out. "It looks mighty good now, but 1968 could be 'another 1955' if we get more fall rains and an early freeze," Conner pointed out. An Oct. 3 freeze that year caught about half the bolls unmaturing on the stalk. Due to the longer and cooler nights, from 60 to 70 days is needed to mature cotton in the fall whereas only 45 days would be required during the summer, Conner pointed out.

The county agent said there is some cotton open now, but that farmers he talked to Tuesday didn't know when Garza's first bale would come in this year. Neighboring Lynn County harvested its first bale last weekend. Conner also had an optimistic report on the milo harvest which is just getting under way in the county. He said some feed grain cut this week averaged 5,000 pounds to the acre, as compared to the county average of about 1,200 pounds. The county agent said 1967 was (See Cotton Crop, page 5)

RAINFALL TO DATE IS ABOVE NORMAL

This year is the first in the last five that Garza County farmers have benefitted from even average rainfall, but with four months still to go the 50-year average of 19.32 inches has been topped. County Agent Syd Conner reported the August moisture total of 4.83 inches boosted the 1968 rainfall total to 19.49 inches. The August total was about the fifth heaviest in Garza County history with 5.16 inches recorded two years ago, 4.84 in 1946, 4.91 in 1929, and a whopping 12.21 inches for August alone in 1920. Since the above average rainfall of 25.40 inches in 1963, total annual rainfall here has been 10.44 inches in 1964, 13.93 in 1965, 15.78 in 1966, and 17.78 in 1967. The wettest recent year was 1957 when 31.24 official inches of moisture were recorded. The wettest year in the county's history was 43.20 inches.

Saturday at Scout camp

Dr. Holden to speak at marker ceremony

Dr. W. C. Holden of Texas Tech will make the dedicatory address at the dedication of two Texas historical markers at C. W. Post Memorial Scout Camp at 7:30 p. m. Saturday, Sept. 7. The markers to be dedicated are to commemorate the Pioneer's Water Well and the grave of one of the first white children to be buried in what is now Garza County. Howard Schmidt of Lubbock, camping committee chairman of the South Plains Council, Boy Scouts of America, will serve as master of ceremonies. Following the invocation by the Rev. Joe Vernon, pastor of the First Baptist Church, the welcome will be given by Jack Strong of Lubbock, president of the South Plains Council. Schmidt will recognize special guests and introduce Dr. Holden. Presentation of the markers will be by County Judge J. E. Parker and their acceptance by P. A. "Chief" Runkles, Camp Post ranger. The benediction will be by the Rev. Mr. Vernon. The markers are sponsored by the Garza County Historical Survey Committee, whose chairman, Mrs. A. C. Surman, on behalf of the committee, invites everyone to attend.

His sermon subject for the 11 a. m. worship service will be "What Do You Mean -- Love?" For the time being there will be no Sunday evening services or Wednesday night prayer meetings, but they will be resumed at a later time. During the minister's absence laymen of the local church and Lubbock have taken care of the Sunday morning worship service.

Room knocked awry

Auto on rampage, slams into house

A 23-year-old woman whose automobile went out of control, struck another car, knocked down a tree and almost demolished one room of a brick house, was fined a total of $100 on four charges by City Police Judge Percy Printz here Monday. The "runaway" car hit the corner of one of the houses in the Post Public Housing Authority block in the northeast part of town and knocked the room it hit about 10 inches off its foundation, according to Police Sgt. Otis G. Shepherd, who investigated the accident. The driver was charged with no driver's license, negligent collision, failure to control speed, and making beer available to a minor. She was fined $25 on each charge.

After smashing the fender of a car parked near the house, the woman's automobile ran over a tree in the yard of the home, then crashed into the house. The officer estimated damage to the house at $2,000. The woman's car was almost totally wrecked. The driver of the automobile, Hester Boyd, and a 14-year-old girl who was riding with her escaped injury, Shepherd reported. He said the woman was "checked out" for injuries at a doctor's office. The driver was charged with no driver's license, negligent collision, failure to control speed, and making beer available to a minor. She was fined $25 on each charge.

Ramsey to return to pulpit here Sunday

Bernard S. Ramsey, minister of the First Christian Church, will return to the pulpit this coming Sunday after an absence of four months due to illness. His sermon subject for the 11 a. m. worship service will be "What Do You Mean -- Love?" For the time being there will be no Sunday evening services or Wednesday night prayer meetings, but they will be resumed at a later time. Force down to two men

Police chief will ask council for more help

With night officer Dave Sparks in a hospital at Victoria, the Post police department is back down to two men, Police Chief Bill Gordon said today. Gordon said he and Police Sgt. Otis G. Shepherd Jr. are handling the job alone, but that they can't keep it up and give the community the kind of police protection it expects. "I am going to ask the city council at Monday night's meeting for authorization to hire another officer," the police chief said. Sparks, who has been on the police force about two months, has been under treatment for an ulcerated stomach, Gordon said. He accidentally swallowed a toothpick recently, which aggravated his condition and made surgery necessary. When Sparks went to see a doctor at Victoria, his former home, a week or two ago, he was put in a hospital and has been there since, according to the police chief. The police chief's request for an additional officer will be made at the city council's regular September session, which was postponed from the first Monday night because of the Labor Day holiday. The council is also expected to decide at Monday night's meeting whether or not to proceed with plans to purchase the former bowling alley building for a community auditorium. The council up to now has delayed action on issuing warrants for the purchase because of a "clouded" title to the property. The city council will hold a hearing at 1 p. m. Tuesday, Sept. 10, on the proposed city budget for the 1968-69 fiscal year.

Max Minor seeks help for orphans

Lt. Col. John M. (Max) Minor, brother of James L. Minor of Post, has written The Dispatch from Vietnam asking that the newspaper appeal to residents of the area to send needed items to an orphanage in Vietnam that is sponsored by the unit he commands. The first local action on the appeal came at a meeting of the board of directors of the Post Junior Chamber of Commerce last night when the board voted to adopt it as a club project. Plans for collection of the clothing and other items here will be announced by the Jaycees. Lt. Col. Minor, a former football star at Tabaka High School and the U. S. Military Academy, writes as follows: "I am writing to ask a small favor. Through your paper I would like to appeal to the generosity and charity of the people of our area. The unit which I command here in Vietnam is the sponsor of an orphanage located in Saigon. This orphanage is both home and school for about 150 homeless victims of war. Supervision is provided by two Catholic priests and five nuns who look after the spiritual and material needs of the children. "We are desperately in need of items which the people at home might spare which could provide these homeless children with some measure of comfort. Needed specifically are such things as soap, writing pads and pencils, and any other item which an American can spare. (See Minor Seeks, page 8)

General held for Mrs. Connie Self

Funeral services for Mrs. Connie Self, 69, longtime resident of Post, were held at 2 p. m. last night in the First Baptist Church. Survivors include four sons, Ross, George E. of Post, Walter, Albuquerque, N. M., and G. Self of Weatherford; two daughters, Mrs. Viola Park of Lubbock and Mrs. Lillian Jenkins of Worth; 14 grandchildren and great-grandchildren. The Rev. Joe Vernon, pastor, officiated at the funeral services. Burial was in Terrace Cemetery under the direction of Mason Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Marshall Williams, Lyle Odum, Charlie Williams, Dale Dozier, Curly Williams and Bill Hays.

Girl breaks leg in skating fall

Barbara Birkes, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Birkes, fell last Thursday afternoon while roller skating in front of her home at 205 Mohawk and broke both bones in her left leg. The injury was treated by a doctor who disclosed the fractures. Birkes was taken to Methodist Hospital in Lubbock where the leg was set by a specialist. She was dismissed to her home Monday. Birkes said Gina probably broke the leg in a cast for four weeks. She is to report back to school Saturday and it is expected that she will be up on crutches and able to attend her grade classes at Post Elementary School.

Speak out on auditorium project

Those who are not in favor of starting over on the community auditorium project—for which we have waited so long—are urged to make their wishes known to the mayor and city councilmen before next Monday night's council meeting, at which the city's final decision on the matter is expected.

That final decision, as things now stand, will be whether the city will go ahead and buy the auditorium property with title insurance, or not purchase the building under the present so-called "clouded title."

As reported on the front page of last Thursday's Dispatch, the Internal Revenue Service and the State Comptroller have indicated in letters that there "should be no cloud" on the title of the auditorium property because of state and federal tax liens filed against the firm which formerly operated the building as a bowling alley.

If you are in favor of the city council "backing off" from its apparent intention of not purchasing the property because of a clouded title, then by all means let the mayor and council members know how you feel before Monday night's council meeting. After Monday night may well be too late.

As the Dispatch explained in an editorial last Thursday, title insurance is perfectly acceptable in this area for mortgaging property. Many of the new homes built in Post since the war have been built on loans via title insurance, not clear title. Our bank accepts title insurance for loan purposes.

The city council is to be commended for its stand that it does not wish to spend the taxpayer's money to purchase property on which the title is not clear, but circumstances alter cases, and we believe that in the case of the community auditorium property the acceptability of title insurance is sufficient to alter this particular case.

The citizens made it clear by a comfortable margin in a referendum last year that they were in favor of the city purchasing the property. The referendum was called by the city council itself, and everything appeared to be sailing along smoothly until the city began insisting on a clear title.

The $7,500 actual price tag on the building is a bargain. The rest of the some $13,000 in warrants the city proposed to issue for purchase of the property was to go for a new roof, which already has been put on, and for purchasing of parking lots. The Chamber of Commerce, as a "holding action" for the city, recently spent $1,000 to purchase the two parking lots at the building.

A community auditorium has been the No. 1 project of the people for some four years, as made plain at a "community needs" seminar conducted here by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. At its 1967 membership banquet, the Chamber of Commerce made the auditorium project its No. 1 goal. By the end of the year, with the favorable referendum vote to look back on, the Chamber felt that it had attained that No. 1 goal.

But, apparently, not so. The fate of the auditorium project, at least as far as the originally proposed route is concerned, will hang in the balance at Monday night's city council meeting. If you are interested one way or the other, make your wishes known to the mayor and councilmen before Monday night.—CD

Death calls another town leader

Another of the "old school" of Post's business leaders passed on to his eternal reward last week when death summoned T. L. Jones, who in 54 years' residence here had answered every call of his country and his community.

Mr. Jones came to Post in 1914 as an ambitious young man. He grew older with the passing of each year, as God's pattern decrees, but he never lost his ambition to see the community in which he lived grow and prosper.

Probably no other man in the town's history has served his community in as varied a field of civic endeavors as did T. L. Jones. As a school board member, as mayor of the city for two terms, as a Rotarian, as a Red Cross and Boy Scout worker, as a member of the American Legion, and as a county and district draft board member, Mr. Jones served his community long, faithfully—and well.

And, through the years, there were all sorts of other "little jobs" Mr. Jones did for his community in such a manner that they had big results . . . such jobs as heading up fund drives, holding elections, accepting chairmanships, etc.

Mr. Jones combined the admirable qualification of being a successful businessman as well as a tireless civic worker. For over fifty years, until retiring from the business at the end of 1967, he was "Post's ice man," and since his retirement from the ice plant operation had continued in his feed and seed business.

Mr. Jones, during his long residence in Post, was a friend to everyone, but to no one any more than he was to the community's young people. In this, as in his other activities, he received the inspiring support of his wife, whose contributions to the community have so closely paralleled those of her late husband.

To Mrs. Jones and the other members of this fine man's family, The Dispatch offers its condolences.—CD

Don't you think North Vietnamese leaders were encouraged by all the "stop the bombing" speeches at our political conventions?

Yes, I kept hoping at least one speaker would call for "increasing the bombing" just to shake Ho Chi Minh up a little.

According to a jar manufacturer, home canning is on the increase.

Many Texans can remember when a large part of a family's food was home canned, and at Saturday night dances the fruit jar was as important as the fiddle.

How do you account for the sudden popularity of men's sideburns?

I suppose they give men a feeling of superiority. Women are claiming they are equal to men in every respect, but when it comes to growing long sideburns, men have them beat a country mile.

In your opinion, did any good come out of the turmoil at the Chicago convention?

Yes, We have found the ideal man to take

Truth may be stranger than fiction but it will never sell for as much.—Times, Louisville, Ky.

Don't you think the cost of a child's school supplies these days is outrageous?

Yes, I can remember starting to school with a penny eraser and a 5-cent tablet. We may have been short on equipment in those days, but we made up for it at lunch time. How many of today's kids take along sandwiches made of thick slices of country-cured ham between big homemade biscuits?

I understand that regular air service between New York and Moscow is now in effect. A round-trip costs $1100.

If I ever took one of those flights, I'd certainly want a round-trip ticket, and I'd prefer to go on the "fly now-pay later" plan. The Russians have been known to cancel the return part of a traveler's ticket, but they'd probably allow a fellow to go home if they stood to lose $1100 bucks by keeping him.

IT WAS BAD enough to work on Labor Day, but when I glanced at the calendar that hangs by the water cooler and saw that Monday also was V-J Day, I really felt mistreated. Working on one holiday is bad enough . . . working on two holidays the same day is twice as bad.

This is the month poets write about. One wrote: "It's a long, long time from May to December, 'But the days grow short when you reach September."

EVERYTHING THIS week seems sort of anti-climactic, following last week's Democratic convention, which, among other things, was harder to go to sleep in the middle of while watching on television than was the Republican convention.

The wife helped keep me awake during the convention by asking questions to which I didn't know the answers. During one of the roll calls of states, she asked why some of the votes were counted as half-votes. "Well," I said, "you see . . . they . . . well, let me finish watching this, then I'll explain it." She had gone to bed before I finished "watching this," so I didn't have to explain the half-votes until the next day after I'd read an answer to her question in the morning paper.

If I'd been as smart as one of the half-delegates from Alabama, I could have explained it all to the wife, as he did to a reporter. The half-vote Alabamian said:

"Let's say yoah kid is having a buthdya pahy and yoah only got one gallon of ice cream and two dozen cookies. Yoah want to invite evvabody in his class at school, but theah ain't enough ice cream and cookies to go 'round. Yoah good wife comes up with the ansuh. Each kid gets half a plate of ice cream instead of a full one."

"Same thing with going to Democratic conventions. Moah people want to go than yoah have delegates. So yoah split spittin' delegates jest like them big fellahs on Wall Street split stock. Goodness gracious, the great state of Ahlabahma has thutty - two votes at this convention, but I bet yoah they got almost 90 people including ahlanuts."

WITH SENATOR Muskie of Maine nominated as Hubert Horatio Humphrey's running mate, it's going to be a great year politically for the Poles and Greeks in this country. Muskie, whose name was Anglicized from Marciszewski, is the son of a Polish emigrant. Nixon's running mate, Spiro T. Agnew, whose name was Anglicized from Anagnostopoulos, is the son of a Greek emigrant.

If bumper stickers can influence an election it looks bad, though, for both major parties in this year's election.

I HEARD A housewife say the other day that she was having trouble trying to buy fruit jars. She said a local clerk told her the store where she works had sold more fruit jars and other home canning supplies this year than ever before. This same housewife said someone else told her all this canning is a sign of a hard winter or a Republican victory in November—or both.

The man up the street says a lot of people dislike television so much that they sit up half the night glaring at it.

IF HUMPHREY IS elected President, we'll be seeing "HHH" in the headlines, instead of "LBJ," "JFK," "HST" and "FDR," as in the past. Which causes me to wonder if this country has ever had a President the initials of whose three names were the same. Offhand, I can think only of Woodrow Wilson, which was "WW," unless his middle initial also was "W."

Just a reminder that this month has a Friday the 13th in it, and it isn't far away. Among other things, it's going to be a bad luck night for lots of Texas high school football teams, since that's the night the 1968 season gets off the ground.

IT WAS PREDICTED by Keep America Beautiful, Inc., that litterbugs would dump nearly 11 million cubic feet of trash across America during the Labor Day weekend and that the nation's taxpayers would have to pay $9 million to clean it up. So, even if you Until this year no vote in any election in the state had lived in the full year. "Not so now," Secretary of State Roy R. Barrera points out, "we can vote on any of the 15 days of the year." Barrera, who is secretary of the state, must apply for a ballot in the county office . . . not on Nov. 5, but during the 15-day period of the general election.

TAX DISCUSSED — The Revision Commission has published its first full review recommendations for a new constitution after a battle royal on the state income taxation. Commission wound up recommending that the current provision for an income tax be retained, with considerable support for prohibiting income taxes, and Taxation Committee headed by George Wilson of Lone Star Company, had recommended retention of the clause authorizing such a tax. But Wilson quickly joined forces with Houston Rep. Bill Archer during the full commission meeting in an effort to forbid income taxation.

Wilson said a prohibition on the income tax "would be helpful to our chambers of commerce in recruiting industry." San Antonio Mayor Walter McAllister termed income taxes "socialistic, communistic and Marxist."

By a vote of 7-5 (most of the 25-man commission were absent or failed to vote) the prohibition of the income tax was approved. But Denton Rep. Alonzo Jamison forced reconsideration of the issue when he moved that the sales tax be limited to its current level, "if we are going to bind the hands of the legislature in the matter of one tax."

Wilson and Archer were strongly opposed to restricting the sales tax level, but Dallas Times Herald Editor Felix McKnight, who had voted with Wilson, changed his

Sept. 6 starting date for new voter sign-ups

A 15-day registration period starts Friday, Sept. 6, for those who want to vote in the November general election but have lived in Texas less than a year.

A law permitting persons to vote for president and vice president only even though they do not meet the usual one-year requirement was passed by the 1967 legislature.

Secretary of State Roy Barrera said a voter who has lived in the state less than a year and wants to cast his ballot this year must apply at his home county clerk's office.

If he has a document showing he was registered to vote in the state of his former residence, he should take that with him, Barrera said.

He said the 1967 law sets up a 15-day period immediately preceding the general election for new residents to vote.

mind and said he thought decisions on tax policy should not be made by a constitutional drafting body. He moved for reconsideration.

By a 10-2 vote the income tax prohibition was opened for reconsideration, and the prohibition on income tax was then defeated by a vote of 9-4.

Commission will meet again in late September to look after actual drafting work. The proposed charter will be submitted to the legislature in January.

WALLACE CHAIRMAN IN AUSTIN — Bard Logan, state chairman of the American Party and the George Wallace presidential campaign, has started a week-day schedule of working in Austin in American Party headquarters at 506 International Life Building.

"I have made my wife a 'political widow,'" Logan said, "I'm staying in Austin during the week and trying to get home to San Antonio weekends until the campaign gets too heavy, and she's running my business for me back home."

Logan denied reports that his party moved its headquarters from Austin to New Braunfels, explaining, "I presided at the official opening of the New Braunfels local headquarters, and some people thought we had moved there. But we have not. We are right here in Austin."

HIGHWAY PROGRAM — Texas Highway Commission announces a $60.6 million state Highway Safety and Betterment and Farm-to-Market Road Improvement Program for 1969, including 1,177 projects in 224 counties.

Bulk of the work will serve to increase safety on the highways, and another large portion is for the reconstruction of highways and FM roads, including widening, improvements to shoulders and construction of improved surfacing.

In 1968, the program included 859 projects at a cost of $40 million.

ANTHRAX REPORTED — Texas Animal Health Commission has received a report on an outbreak of deadly anthrax disease in the area around the juncture of Val Verde, Kinney and Edwards counties.

Nine premises have reported deaths from the disease among cattle, horses and deer.

Commission has also reported 696 screwworm cases confirmed in Texas in July. Mexico reported 1,982 cases in roughly the same period.

Crime rate soars first six months

AUSTIN — Col. Wilson E. (Pat) Speir, acting director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said today the Texas crime rate for the first six months of 1968 is running about 15 per cent over the rate recorded for the same period in 1967.

Speir said information provided by sheriffs and chiefs of police and compiled by the DPS indicates an increase in each of the seven major crime categories. For example, murders and homicides were up nearly 9 per cent; rape, up nearly 14 per cent; robbery, up about 14 per cent; burglary, up nearly 22 per cent; aggravated assault, up nearly 6 per cent; theft, up about 12 per cent, and a theft, up nearly 24 per cent.

"In January through June period, major crimes occurred in Texas on the average of one every 1 1/2 minutes," Speir noted. "This generally figures out to be a murder every 7 1/2 hours, a rape every 4 1/2 hours, a robbery every 1 1/2 hours, a burglary every 5 1/2 minutes, an aggravated assault every 26 minutes, a theft every 2 1/2 minutes, and an auto theft every 18 1/2 minutes," he added.

The overall crime rate increased about 15 per cent in the state's urban areas and almost 11 per cent in rural areas. It was up about 17 per cent in cities over 100,000 population, up about 7 per cent in cities between 50,000 and 100,000, up almost 9 per cent in cities between 25,000 and 50,000, up almost 15 per cent in cities between 10,000 and 25,000 up 25 per cent in cities between 5,000 and 10,000, but up only about 1 per cent in cities between 2,500 and 5,000 population.

The largest rural increase came in counties with over 50 rural population per square mile, and was tabulated at almost 34 per cent. The overall crime rate decreased by almost 20 per cent in counties with from 20 to 35 rural population per square mile, and decreased about 3 per cent in counties with under five rural population per square mile.

Tower schedules powerful drama

No punches are pulled in "A Stranger in Town," a powerful and truly realistic outdoor adventure-drama showing Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Tower Theatre.

One man pits his cunning and strength against that of a vicious bandit and his murderous cohorts in "A Stranger in Town" — an all-out action thriller which will hold the spectator in a relentless grip.

The story centers on Tony Anthony as The Stranger, posing as a U. S. Army captain, who rides into the Mexican village of Cerro Gordo where Aguilera, a notorious bandit with a price on his head, has captured a company of Mexican soldiers. The soldiers have fallen into the trap on their mission to receive a large quantity of gold which the U. S. government is lending to the Mexican government.

The MGM production is in Metrocolor.

Vet's Forum

Q. I served four years in the Navy from January 1961 through December 1964. Am I a veteran of the Viet-Nam era?
 A. Yes. All service after 4, 1964, other than active duty training as a reservist, is considered Viet-Nam era service.

Q. I have received a pension providing benefits for self and two minor children several years. This VA pension based upon my husband's military service. I have just received. Will my children still be able to receive benefits from Veterans Administration?
 A. Yes. Your children will continue to receive pension benefits from the VA as long as they earned income is less than $1 a year for each child. Their benefits will be paid until they are 18, or age 23 if they are in college. You should report promptly to the VA your remarriage to prevent an overpayment of pension benefits.

Q. I will not be released from active duty until late this summer. Just in time to enroll in college the fall semester. Can I get a certificate of eligibility from the VA now so that I can present it to my school when I enroll?
 A. No. In applying to the VA for a Certificate of Eligibility for Bill educational benefits, you must furnish a copy of your Form Separation (DD Form 214) the application. And you must obtain this necessary form before you are actually separated from the Armed Forces. However, should present no problem. application will be handled with delay by the VA regional office where your records will be maintained. And you will receive educational assistance allowances dating back to the time you entered school.

It's My Turn

— By MRS. C.

Things just didn't go easy at the Post Dispatch this week after having half a holiday on Labor Day. The name of the game has been "catch up" ever since.

Here 'tis Wednesday morning and the game is still in progress, especially in my case as you can tell that I have written only one paragraph of my column and started this one. This doesn't seem to be leading any place so I shall now conclude the second paragraph.

My first thoughts early this morning were, naturally, column thoughts. Most of them I discarded immediately. Such as: The high cost of living. There's a wealth of material in that subject but a bit hard to keep "light" and I do try to keep light. The political scene as evidenced with bumper stickers. I'm quite satisfied with our two-party system in this country and see only "darkness" with that other candidate. Certainly a light touch would be difficult there.

Sept. 21 will be the first day of fall and I could suggest to our City fathers since they missed either a spring or summer clean-up they could plan a Fall clean-up. In lieu of that they could enter our town in a "highest and biggest weeds in the world" contest and win it hands down. However, I see no humor in that situation!

If George R. Brown would start his "downton" oil well I could say that we'll soon find out if it's true that drilling rigs make enough noise to "wake the dead." But that will have to wait.

If Miss C were as manageable as Miss Sam Basset she could be writing this column for me this week about her experiences of working at HemisFair. She happily surprised us by coming home Sunday to spend 10 days with us before she returns to San Antonio and her last year of college. So, all is half right with the C world. The other half is in Louisiana still.

Aha, I thought six paragraphs later, I know what I'll write about. Club reporters, that's what. That time of the year is almost upon us and I can stop depending on weddings and showers to fill up our society page.

So, I'll offer the following advice:

1. We want your news and we want it regularly.
2. You may either phone it in to me or you may bring it in written or typed. It just doesn't matter which.

3. We want it current. The "news" in newspaper means just what you think it does and nothing is worse than reading about a meeting which took place so long ago that even the members have forgotten about it.

4. News can be turned in up to noon on Wednesday but this doesn't mean that if you meet on the preceding Thursday night that I want your report turned in at 11:45 a. m. the following Wednesday. (I do a few other things at the office besides write.)

5. Do we expect you to write the story up as it will appear in the paper? No. All we want are the facts, Ma'am!

6. We don't mind clubs keeping scrapbooks but play it cagey and don't insult us by telling us this is the reason you want your report in the paper. We are, after all, publishing news and you can do with it what thou wilt after it is published.

7. Do know the people's full names when turning in reports. If you don't know them, ask them. That's what we do and we're still here.

If I'd given this more thought I probably could make a few more points but the "seven" equal the "seven" paragraphs and that makes a nice tidy ending.

Happy club year!

Library Listening Post

By ROSEMARY CHAPMAN
My sister, Vicki, and I are collaborating on a murder mystery. We've already picked a pseudonym (Rosemary Jones seemed a nice compromise) and we've written our acceptance speech for the "Top Mystery Of the Year Award." Now all we have to do is write the book.

Writing a book is more difficult than one would think. We couldn't, for instance, come to an agreement on a title. Vicki liked "The Wednesday Werewolves" (her suggestion) and I preferred "Same Song, Second Corpse" (My suggestion). For obvious reasons, the stalemate continued unbroken through "Any Body There?", "Shape Up for Death", and "Everybody Finds a Body Sometime".

It finally occurred to us that our favorite titles were beside the point. Nice, lots of pizzazz, but they didn't really fit our particular case, in which the body is found stuffed down a book drop.

So, we decided to work on our title from a library viewpoint: "364.1" (The Dewey Decimal Classification for murder), "Gaylord 4010" (The book drop catalog number, only I don't think it really is), "Luchow, Our Chinese Librarian", "No Charge for Death", "Who Said Librarians Were Dull?", "The Overdue Body", and so forth. Each seemed a bit — umm — obscure.

What we want is an appellative with class. Obviously, what we need is help. Titles, anyone? Suggestions may be called in (2984), dropped in (LLP box at library), or written in (1015 Crest Dr.). No prizes. Just glory.

I've recently returned from a sisterly visit to Fort Worth as you've probably guessed by now. I had planned to compile a travelogue of the trip somewhat in the style of that other, more notorious Mrs. C. but, unfortunately, this just doesn't seem to be my kind of thing.

I left Post at 1:00, 1:30, 2:00, and 2:30. During the intervening periods, I had returned home for (1) my suitcase, (2) my sunglasses which were left behind when I went back for the suitcase, and (3) gas.

Once on the road I did better. I did better, that is, until I reached a certain circle outside of Fort Worth. Somehow I went to Benbrook four times.

I could mention that it was disappointing not to be able to make it past Roscoe without a bathroom stop, and I might add that the Pres could well put some of our tax dollars to work on the Ranger to Weatherford highway, but there's no sense in being picky-picky, as Pat Paulsen says.

All in all, it was a pleasant journey. I enjoyed visiting with Vicki

In her new library, (North Branch, a beautiful building with a stunning view, is currently being featured on the front of the Fort Worth Telephone Directory). I also attended an interdepartmental library meeting at the main library downtown, witnessed one of the Fort Worth book buying sessions, and picked up all sorts of interesting tidbits on libraries in general. Possibly, I may dwell on these points at length in a future column, but at the moment I seem to be running out of time and space. (So much for the travelogue.)

THE NEWS IN BRIEF: 619 books were checked out of Post library during August. 29 new patrons joined, to bring our total number of people to 1,346. "America, the Beautiful" by the editors of "Country Beautiful" has been given to the library in memory of Mrs. Beverley Hanks by Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Goehry of Plains. A lovely book, "America, the Beautiful" presents America in dazzling photographs with poetry by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. Other book donors are the Tom McKeowns of Post and Vicki Anderson Jones of Fort Worth. Who's the kind soul that sent us a subscription to "Texas, Town and City"? An interesting magazine—thank you, thank you, thank you!

(We appreciate people who do nice things for us on their own initiative.) . . . Librarian George Miliel had several of our old books rebound — they look better than new with heavy, made-to-order abuse bindings and covers, all for the standard price of $2.17 per book. . . Patron Joan Tubbs got caught. She checked out two books for herself, two for Harry, and one for Elisabeth. George noticed E's name on the book card and called to say hello. Naturally, no Elisabeth — she'd been in Austin for some time. Our new junior and young adult books have arrived from Campbell and Hall. Should be in the library soon. . . You know that day it rained last week? Well, we had our house painted that day. (Just thought I'd throw that in.)

Any parent is grateful for a "grateful" child. Several years ago I had to make a trip by automobile all the way across the state from East Texas to El Paso. Just before I reached Ft. Worth one of the worst winter blizzards spread across the entire state, but I had to go on to El Paso. It was one of the most miserable and hazardous trips I've ever made. The return trip was no less so—snow, wind and ice all the way. Before I had left home I didn't have a chance to tell my daughter, Nancy, who was then 17, goodbye, so I wrote her a little goodbye note. When, finally I reached home again, she came running out of the house to give me a real "bear" hug welcome. The next morning she laid a sealed envelope on my desk and rushed off to school. In the envelope was a very simple but equally sweet little poem she had written the night before. It was a prayer of gratitude and you can imagine my emotions as I read it:

—And he returned safe—unharm'd,
Thank You!
For into a dark night he rode
Who watched? None but You
And those who cared on Earth

—The world—as times must show—would have moved onward
while we paused to grieve.

—Wise men of old
Their lesson learned of the world and how tragedies must pass on.
Many unheeding.

—Who would have mourned
his passing?
Family? Friends?—I know You would have cared.
We would live on
yet with a scar within.
Time and Your hands would heal
The broken heart of grief

—For time does not pass in these matters—
Though years pass thru
Your great hour glass—
days and days—unheeded,
Yet in time
they would have mended—
We could smile without a tear.

—BUT YOU—in kindness and love
spared us this unutterable loss.
And thru our faith
made us stronger
as men are made by You.

—He is here—
safe—unharm'd,
THANK YOU!

Naturally, I appreciated Nancy's prayer poem very much but even more so did I appreciate the fact she had taken the time and effort to make a tangible expression of the gratitude to God which was in her heart. Any parent is grateful for a "grateful" child. Is God, our Heavenly Father, any less grateful for a thankful child? Perhaps some of you who read this have been especially enriched with some divine blessing this week—BUT ALL OF YOU have received blessings from God without number, whether you acknowledge the fact or not. The very least any Child of God can do is to be a "grateful" child. And what better, tangible way could you express your gratitude than by being present in His House next Lord's Day?

Proposed Amendments

AMENDMENT NO. 6—S. J. R.
 24. Giving the legislature permissive authority to exempt from valorem taxation devices intended to eliminate or abate harmful effects of air emissions or water effluents on air and water quality of the state.

The proposed amendment adds Section 2-a to Article VIII, the purpose of authorizing the tax on all or a portion of any device, or improvement installed or constructed on property, which is designed to eliminate or abate the harmful effects of air emissions or water effluents on the air and water quality of the state. To qualify for exemption, as provided in Sub-section (a) of the proposed amendment, the capital investment in the property must have been made to comply with or exceed air or water quality standards established by law.

BACKGROUND: In Texas and throughout the nation, increasing pollution of the air and water as a result of population growth and industrial development has become a source of great concern. The legislature in Texas has enacted legislation and authorized special studies on pollution problems of both air and water.

Acting on the report of a study committee created by the 59th Legislature, the 60th Legislature enacted legislation recognizing that control of the quality of the state's water justifies the full-time efforts of an adequately powered, separately staffed state agency, to be known as the "Texas Water Quality Board." The act provides for extensive local government involvement in recommending water quality criteria and standards and in enforcing standards once they have been set by the Water Quality Board. It established a framework for making state grants to local governments for quality control purposes, and provided a civil penalty for violations.

The 60th Legislature, also, to remedy certain weaknesses made apparent by its application, rewrote the act creating the first air pollution control program in Texas, the "Clean Air Act of Texas," which was enacted by the 59th Legislature. The new law placed a higher degree on control in the hands of local officials. However, the Texas Air Control Board was continued as the main authority for setting air standards and emission limits and for defining similar authority held by local air pollution control officers.

The proposed Amendment No. 6 would go one step further toward strengthening these constructive efforts to eliminate or abate the harmful effects of air emissions or water effluents on air and water quality of the state. It would permit the legislature to provide ad valorem tax exemptions as an additional incentive toward pollution control.

ARGUMENTS

FOR: The health and welfare of the people of Texas and the progress of the state are dependent in large measure on the purity of the air we breathe and the abundance of fresh, clean water. The installation of anti-pollution devices requires costly capital outlays by individuals and corporations affected by recently enacted legislation, and those complying with the statutes at great expense in capital investment should not be further penalized by higher ad valorem tax assessments.

AGAINST: The ad valorem tax exemption which the proposed amendment permits the legislature to authorize would certainly be contrary to the "equal and uniform" standards for taxation that Texans and Americans hold as a fundamental right. Granting this exemption on the premise that the health and welfare of Texas citizens are served thereby could be applicable with equal logic to capital expenditures for safety devices designed to reduce occupational hazards. Increased value of property resulting from capital improvements should be taxed accordingly, no matter the purpose of the improvements.

UP THE DOWN ESCALATOR
 Up the DOWN escalator went two small boys, on the loose in a department store. As they scrambled upward, they bumped into a woman shopper, causing her to suffer a bad fall.

In due course she filed a damage suit against the store, charging a failure to maintain order on the premises.

"But none of our employees noticed what those youngsters were doing," protested the company in court. "Surely we are not required to keep our escalators under constant surveillance."

The court agreed, and the woman's claim was turned down.

Authorities differ as to whether an escalator should be classified as a "common carrier"—like a train or a bus. However, they all agree that the management is not an absolute guarantor of a passenger's safety. Some risk is inherent in the very nature of this means of transportation. Take this case:

A woman approached an escalator, leading her small son by the hand. But just as she moved onto the first step, the boy stopped short in fright. When the woman reached back for him, she lost her balance and fell.

But again, after a court hearing, the judge could find no grounds for pinning responsibility on the management. He said the cause of the accident was simply "the effect the escalator has upon a person who steps upon it without putting his body in corresponding motion."

Nevertheless, a store is indeed obliged to prevent an accident when it reasonably can—either by adequate supervision or by proper up-keep of the equipment.

Thus:

A man who fell because an escalator gave a sudden, violent jerk won a damage award. So did a woman who slipped on a gob of grease, which had remained on an escalator step long enough for store employees to have noticed and removed it.

In the other hand, even if the management does see danger, there may be no practical way to avoid it.

In one case the hostess in a hotel spied a drunk weaving his way toward the escalator. Though she tried to restrain him, he pushed her aside, stepped aboard, and toppled backward to the floor.

Afterward, the man complained that the hostess "should have stop-

 Well, today (Monday) is Labor Day, and the word fits the day just right. The post office is closed, but I sure have been laboring at home!

Mr. and Mrs. Max Chaffin and children returned recently from a three-week trip in which they visited in 19 states and Canada. They visited Mrs. Chaffin's father, Col. L. A. SYD CONNER
Garza County Agent

SORGHUM MIDGE DAMAGE POSSIBLE

Population of the sorghum midge have now reached damaging levels in a number of South Plains counties. These counties include Lubbock, Lynn, Terry, Yoakum, Crosby, Hockley and Garza.

Fields of grain sorghum in these counties which have not yet completed blooming will need insecticide treatment in order to prevent yield losses from midge damage, reports Lyndon K. Almand, area entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

First application should be made when about 90 per cent of the heads have emerged from the boot stage, says Almand. A second application will be needed about three or four days after the first application. If application is still occurring, a third application or even possibly a fourth will be required.

PRODUCERS in the seven counties named above can determine whether or not to spray for midge by inspecting their fields, which are blooming at least once each day for adult midge activity. Or they can follow an insurance method, adds the entomologist. To insure against losses due to the tiny insect, producers can begin an automatic spraying program and follow the schedule of application above.

Almand recommends the following insecticides for sorghum midge control:

Carbaryl (Sevin) (90 per cent W.P.) - 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 lb. per acre. May be applied to forage sorghum with out limitations. Allow 21 days between last application and harvest of sorghum grain.

Carbophenothion (Triphion) (4 lb. gal.) - 1 pint per acre. Do not apply more than twice per season. 21-day waiting period between last application and harvest or grazing.

Diazinon (4 lb. gal.) - 1/2 pint per acre. 14-day waiting period between last application and harvest or grazing.

Ethion (4 lb. gal.) - 1/2 to 1 pint per acre. Allow 30 days between last application and harvest. Do not apply more than three times per season.

Methyl parathion (2 lb. gal.) 1 quart per acre. Allow 21 days between last application and harvest or grazing. Causes leaf burn on certain sorghum varieties.

Parathion (2 lb. gal.) - 1 quart per acre. 12-day waiting period from last application to harvest.

Fendrin (1.6 lb. gal.) - 1 1/4 pint per acre. Must not be applied within 45 days of harvest. Apply only once per season. Do not graze or feed ensilage from treated plants to dairy or meat animals.

Toxaphene (6 lb. gal.) - one-third to 1/2 gal. per acre. Apply only once after heads start to form. Do not apply over one-third gallon per acre within 28 days or over 1/2 gallon within 40 days of harvest. Dairy animals or animals being finished for slaughter should not be pastured in toxaphene-treated fields. Do not ensile treated forage.

Damaging populations of the sorghum midge have not been detected north of the Lubbock - Crosby-Hockley county area. Producers in adjoining counties should continuously inspect their sorghum fields if in the bloom stage for adult midge activity, points out Almand.

Demeton (Syston) and Malathion ULV (ultra low volume) concentrates are also cleared for sorghum midge control, adds the entomologist. These materials may be used if any of the other recommended insecticides become short in supply or if for other reasons, such as cost of the material, producers decide not to use these insecticides.

Demeton should not be applied later than 35 days prior to harvesting the grain or grazing or cutting for forage. It should be applied only once during the season.

Malathion ULV has a seven-day waiting period between the last application and harvest or use for forage, adds the entomologist.

Dimethoate (Cygon) and disulfoton (Di-Syston) do not have USDA clearance for use on grain sorghum as a foliar application.

French boys—

In Las Vegas, Nev., after tramping the streets until a late hour looking for a place to stretch out, the boys accepted the invitation of a man to spend the night in his apartment.

"We thought it strange that he couldn't find his key after we reached his apartment, but at his suggestion, we climbed in a window and went to bed. We were awakened the next morning by the landlord and the police, who told us the man had not paid his rent."

The three boys said they were amazed by the size of Texas, even though they had heard so much about it in France that they didn't think they would be surprised by anything. "When we speak of Texas in France, we think of a big country and cowboys and rodeos," Cayzelle said.

At the Dalby ranch last Thursday, the French students saw a little bit more of the Texas they'd heard about in "la belle France." They saw cowboys working cattle and were treated to a typical Texas ranch dinner. One of the three even ventured to take a ride on a horse.

Conner pointed out that there are still "some ifs left", such as how much damage green bugs, midge, and false chinch bugs have done to the county's milo crop. This is the first year that any of the three have done much damage here.

The ASC office estimated over 30,000 acres planted to milo in Garza County this year. The county has a 57,000 acre feed grain base with "little more than half of this actually planted to milo."

Garza farmers planted 27,514 acres to cotton this year but 431 acres of this were not replanted due to field flooding as an aftermath of the heavy June downpours.

Traffic accident costs increasing

The nation's estimated economic loss from traffic accidents in June was up more than $15 million over June of 1967, the Insurance Information Institute reported.

The economic loss for June was estimated at $1,113,840,000 by the Institute. It attributed the rise over the same month last year to increases of 8 per cent in traffic deaths and 4.4 per cent in accidents. Traffic injuries for the month were approximately the same as for June a year ago.

The 4,250 highway deaths reported for June by the National Safety Council compare with 4,460 for the same month in 1967.

The economic loss for the first six months of 1968 stands at $6,405,312,000, an increase of $619 million above the loss figure of $5,786,350,000 for the same period last year.

The rise in economic loss during the first half of 1968 was due to increases of 6 per cent in traffic accidents and 4.5 per cent in injuries over the same period of 1967.

The Institute said that if the trend set during the first six months of the year continues during the second half, 1968 will set a new high record in traffic accident experience—there would be more accidents, more injuries and more deaths recorded than in any previous year.

Q. I plan to enter college under the G. I. Bill in September and intend to take one three-semester-hour course. With a wife and three children, I must also work. Will I receive extra training allowance for my dependents?

A. No. A veteran enrolled for less than half time can be paid the cost of the course only but not to exceed $30. Three semester hours are one-quarter time for an undergraduate student. This you will not receive additional training allowance for your dependents.

Q. I am a World War II veteran receiving VA service-connected disability compensation for blindness of both eyes. I have never received the $1,600 automobile allowance. Is it possible to receive this benefit now?

A. You may now be eligible for this benefit. You should file a claim with the VA regional office which maintains your records. The "Veterans Pension and Readjustment Assistance Act of 1967," signed into law last Aug. 31, removes the time limit in which eligible veterans can apply for this benefit.

Q. Will the new surtax on incomes which is retroactive to last April 1 apply to the educational allowance I receive from the VA under the G. I. Bill?

A. No. Educational allowance, compensation and pension, and even G. I. insurance dividends are exempt from taxation, including the new surtax. The only taxable VA payment is the interest earned on G. I. insurance dividends left on deposit with the VA. This is not considered a veterans benefit and must be reported as earned income.

GUESS WHAT? BY GUESS WHO?

"As you have heard by now Short Hardware has sold." This is the way a very good and dear friend started what was a very painful letter of farewell in Dispatch some days ago. Lowell stated it was with that this had come about.

Well, it seems only right that I, his successor, should tell a bit of my feelings and plans for the future. As you know Lowell's policy was to treat everyone with some respect and to keep his store stocked with all the hardware line.

This is the same manner in which we plan to continue the operation. We have found many different items to shoe button hooks to buggy axle grease. Some of the items may not sell fast but you may still be assured "if you find it at Short's you will not find it in Post."

Our store hours will be changed some. We plan to open at 7:30 a.m. and close at 6 p.m.

We will also continue to be a source of supply for hunting and fishing needs. We will sell hunting and fishing licenses.

We know we will, in no manner, fill the places in hearts that Lowell and Lilly D hold but you can be assured we will be trying to gain a spot of our own. There is nothing that would please us more than to have the love and respect the people of Post and the outlying trade area have shown these two in their leaving.

We are looking forward to a long and useful life and for Post, Texas.

Lopes to scrimmage Spur 'Dogs here Friday evening

Practice at Petersburg goes against Post squad

out, the Antelopes were unable to push the ball across only twice, with Petersburg lugging the leather across several times.

THE ONLY time the Antelopes were able to move the ball consistently was when they operated from a spread formation with quarterback Ray Altman throwing to David Pierce, Butch Heaton, Neff Walker, and James Pollard.

Petersburg, which also outclassed the 'Lopes in a scrimmage here last year, doesn't have as hefty a squad as they had last season, but they are faster, Coach Gregg said.

"Their speed is what really hurt us Thursday night," the coach commented. "They used the option and quick pitch to get outside on us, and we just weren't able to cope with it."

Petersburg stunted a lot on defense, which messed up the Post blockers, according to Coach Gregg.

The only bright spots in the scrimmage for the Antelopes, according to the coach, were their "fairly good hustle" and the fact that they hit well. "The boys never gave up," he said.

The coach said the scrimmage was especially disappointing to the coaching staff because "we thought we were further along with them than it turned out to be."

LETTERMAN and David Pierce received a knee injury in the scrimmage that more than likely will keep him out of action in Friday night's Spur action. Tackle Boyd Noble is having heel problems and did not see action at Petersburg, but is working out this week. Lineman Jimmie McKamie, who Coach Gregg said looked "real tough" against Petersburg, was running a temperature the first of the week and might not be ready for the Spur scrimmage.

Coach Dempsey Alexander's Spur Bulldogs, who come here for Friday night's scrimmage, are in the same district as Petersburg—4A. The Bulldogs finished with a 7-3 record last year, all losses coming in district play.

Coach Alexander has said if his Bulldogs don't win the district championship this year, "we're capable of deciding who will."

The Bulldogs will display a diamond T formation on offense against Post in the scrimmage here. The formation calls for the quarterback two halfbacks and a tailback, all protected by a strong offensive line.

JERRY REYNOLDS, the Spur quarterback, is considered an all-state prospect and already is being eyed by some college coaches.

At one of the halfback spots will be Johnny McArthur. A 190-pound three-year letterman, Coach Alexander says he is one of the best in the business. Opposite him will be Gary Howell, who tips the scales at 195 and has two years of experience to his credit. Phil Kelly will be the fullback.

Spur's defensive line will average 190 pounds. Included are Jesse Collins, 240; Johnny Taylor, 215, and Pat Barrett, 200.

er a disappointing night at Petersburg last Thursday, the Post will scrimmage the Spur here at 6 p.m. Friday before heading into the week that opens the Texas school football season.

It didn't look real good at all as the Antelopes scrimmaged against Petersburg, but are going to try to do better against Spur," Coach Glynn said today.

There was nothing lacking in attitude and desire at Petersburg, but we just made too many mistakes," the coach continued.

the regular scrimmage, Petersburg crossed the Antelopes' goal twice, without the Post team being able to score. In the goal scrimmage, from five yards as reported by Marine Corps Combat Correspondents and edited by GySgt. Bob Montgomery

DA NANG, Vietnam—"I think there's going to be more fighting... hard fighting."

"Wherever we can find him, we'll fight him. We've got Marines out night and day looking for him. He's hard to find, and that's the way it will continue. For awhile, anyway."

Gen. Leonard F. Chapman Jr., 24th Commandant of the Marine Corps was nearing the end of a 15-day tour of Marine units.

His trip included a brief stop in Alaska, a visit with Marine activities on Okinawa, a meeting with Thai Marines in Bangkok, and five days with his Marines in Vietnam. He was met in Saigon by Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, Commander, U. S. Military Assistance Command, Vietnam, and briefed by members of his staff.

HE WAS nearing the end of his trip which concluded on Aug. 9 when he said of his Marines: "They're certainly dedicated young Americans. I'm extremely proud of them."

He was flanked by Lt. Gen. Robert E. Cushman Jr., and Sgt. Maj. Herbert J. Sweet during a press conference held in Da Nang. General Cushman, Commanding General of the III Marine Amphibious Force, is the Marine commander of all U. S. units serving in the northernmost tactical zone, or I Corps, of the Republic of Vietnam.

Prather was fourth go-round winner with a time of 19.2, but failed to get in the average money with three other high times.

Tuffy Thompson of Happy won the $1,500 first place money in the event with a time total of 74.8 seconds for the four go-rounds.

Bud Upton of San Angelo was the leader through the first three go-rounds, but had a bad time in the fourth go-round to finish with a 76.3 second total.

Third place went to Kelly Corbin of Delaware, Okla., whose total time was 78.5.

are, I, of course, don't know. That's always a dangerous subject to speculate on.

"I think he's readying himself for the capability to return to the attack. He has that capability, or soon will, if he doesn't now."

"He's tried before at Da Nang and failed. I'm sure it is one of the targets high up on his priority list. I'm sure he'd like to get into Da Nang, but I don't think he is going to be able to do it."

"WE'VE GOT a lot more forces in I Corps now. We're in an excellent posture."

Asked if he expected the enemy to move to the offensive during the monsoon season, the Commandant stated that it was possible for him to attack during the monsoons, however, General Cushman spoke of the disadvantages of the monsoons on the enemy.

"He's on foot," the general smiled. "Stuck in the mud. Our jets might have to rely on radar, but the helicopters can ordinarily function for resupplying the Marines."

The monsoons have little effect on helicopter gunships or Marine artillery units.

"He's got a full bag of good armament," the Commandant said. "The Ak-47s, RPGs, (rocket propelled grenades) ... really good weapons, but I don't believe that he's introduced any new weapon recently."

"MANY OF them are dedicated professional fighters. Excellent. Apparently some of the recent replacements, though, aren't up to that standard. They're young and untrained."

"I think that's a sign that we have the pressure on him."

"I think he'd like to get into the city, create chaos and confusion; turn the minds of the people away from the government."

"I don't think he can do it. I believe he has to try, but he's going to take a frightful shelling like he did the last time that he tried."

General Cushman added, that "As long as he holds to this vicious objective of terrorizing the people, why, any one of the cities would be fair game."

"At the present time, for example, he tries to put the torch to refugee villages. He's burned down a large number of houses. He is attempting to kill enough people to try to make them give up through sheer terror."

"Our forces," said the Commandant, "are out in the countryside night and day looking for them."

Kenneth Poole

Post High graduate is new member of faculty

By Sharyn Bilberry
"On the line" is a very familiar phrase to the basketball boys. This means that they are fixing to run. This year that line will be spoken by Kenneth Poole. Kenny Poole has been signed on as this year's boys basketball coach. In addition to coaching he will be teaching math. Coach Poole says he would like to see a faster game of basketball this year. Other than that, he said he would have to see the boys in action to make any kind of plans for the year. Of course, he said he was planning on winning as many games as he can.

Coach Poole has had three years of teaching experience prior to this year. His first two years of teaching were at Edna Junior High, where he was football, basketball and track coach. Last year he taught at Lorenzo as assistant football and basketball coach. His wife, Linda, also taught at Lorenzo and Edna. She was the girl's basketball coach at Lorenzo.

Karen's Korner

Hurry, Hurry, Hurry, Rush, Rush. Do this. Do that. Change classes. Change schedules. Cover books. Through all this work, worry, and confusion, I hope that most of you high school students endured the first days of school. After I pick up all the pieces, I may find that I have survived!

For all you curious people: This column will continue through the school year. The school paper was organized last week with myself appointed as editor and columnist, and those on the paper staff are Bob Wilkins, Elbert Rudd, Kay Lofton, Sharyn Bilberry, and Martha Jo Walls, with Mrs. Fleming as sponsor. We look forward to creating an interesting school paper for you this year.

Since there wasn't a dance last weekend in Post, some people migrated to Tahoka last Saturday night. There "The Derby Hatfield" played to Post's Kay Altman, Ruth Ann Byrd, Timmons Bull, Joan Minor, Curtis Lancaster, Mike Scott, Randy Hudman, Debbie Eubank, Candy Stewart, Donna Stewart, Debbie Cummings, James McGuire, and Ronnie Petty. There won't be a dance in Post until Sept. 13, the night of the first football game.

"The Estate" had its grand opening last Friday night. If you haven't been there, go! At least it's not as dull as the library! (No offense to Mrs. Lee!) Would you believe not as quiet?

Class meetings were held last Friday at school to elect class officers. Notice to class reporters: Please report all class news either to me or one member of the paper staff. In the meantime, don't forget your homework (?), and I'll see ya around The Institution!

Officers elected by Interact Club

Neff Walker has been elected president of the newly formed Interact Club, which is composed of high school boys and is sponsored by the Post Rotary Club.

Walker was named at a club election held at 1 p. m. Monday in City Hall.

Other officers named were Joey Lee, vice president; Steve Newby, secretary; and David Hamilton, treasurer. Selected as directors were David Pierce, Jackie Gordon and Randy Hudman.

The club, which has 24 charter members, will hold breakfast meetings each Thursday at 7 a. m. at Guy Floyd's Steak House.

Bill McBride, Interact chairman of the Post Rotary Club, meets with the club.

At their first breakfast meeting, club members will elect a faculty sponsor and approve the club's constitution and by-laws.

Coach Poole attended high school here at Post. He graduated in 1960, where he lettered his sophomore, junior and senior years in football and basketball. He also lettered two years in track. While Coach Poole was in high school they went to what is now the Junior High building. He said that this building was a lot larger and nicer than the one he was in. He and his wife were in the last class to graduate from the old building. After graduation from high school, he attended South Plains College for two years. Then he went to Texas Tech, where he received his Bachelor's Degree with a major in physical education.

The Pooles have one son, Greg, who is four years old. They are expecting another child in the near future. They are now at home again in Post at 305 North Ave. P.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

RESTORED FUNDS AVAILABLE

The County has received approval of these conservation practices to assist in repairing erosion conservation structures on land, which occurred during storm in June of this year. The approved areas are:

- reconstruction of standard terraces.
- rebuilding, repairing and regrading of dams or pits for water.
- grading eroded and silted areas receiving a large amount of water.
- any other conservation practices should call at the county office and file a request for cost assistance in order to receive assistance in repairing this type of damage.

Persons who have already carried out the necessary operations for repairs on structures, before the practices were approved, may apply for assistance within 30 days from the date of the sign which began last Friday in order to receive approval for assistance.

ASCS office will issue a request for approval on requests for assistance and submit the approved Soil Conservation Service. Personnel will visit the site to determine the need for technical assistance. Their recommendations will be returned to the County ASC Committee and request is eligible for assistance. Approval will be issued by Dec. 31, 1968 as expiration of additional time is required to complete the practices, the committee will request an extension in the approval of funds for this purpose.

Structures and farm ponds will be restored according to a design that will meet SCS specifications. In order to draw cost-share terraces should fit into a conservation system. Terrace systems which have had every other terrace removed or systems which the owner or operator has knocked out the top two or three terraces in the system, must replace enough of the old system to meet present day specifications and standards.

When terraces are removed from the top of a system additional stress is put on the terraces below. More drainage area is involved, terrace channels become silted over and lose their carrying capacity to store a carry run off water. No cost share is planned for dikes along property lines nor building of additional terraces or ponds. Cost share will be limited to terraces which can be made to fit into a system which not only will help control erosion but which will also catch and hold water for moisture conservation.

IF A system failed because of excessive interval between terraces we would not want to spend your money restoring a system which is inadequate to meet the needs of the land. In order to avoid any misunderstanding terraces and ponds which were damaged by the June rains will be restored with cost share providing they are adequate to meet the needs of the land.

Systems installed 12 or 15 years ago or systems which have had terraces removed may need to have terraces restored at the farmer's own expense or in some instances with cost sharing under the regular ACP program in order to make the remainder of the ter-

As the car races further down the slope eligible for cost share under this program.

We realize that on programs of this type that some aspects of the program may not fit your exact needs. A program of this type must be set up to meet the overall needs of the county. We are fortunate in getting these special funds to help us to restore some of the damage done in June. A lot of time and work went into securing these funds. It is difficult to administer one set of rules which pleases everyone involved. However, we will not recommend engineering practices which are not in the best interest of the land owner and the land.

ON THESE systems which do not meet present criteria for a properly designed system we will endeavor to explain why they do not meet and what must be done to them in order to make them eligible for cost share under this special program. We do not want to cost share in putting something back that was wrong to start with.

Our desire is to restore as much damaged land as possible, back to the condition that it was in before the June rains. We have a limited amount of money to do this with and we need to make the most efficient use possible of the funds that we have. Each farm has its own set of problems and what must be done to solve them. The land owner and operator is in the best position to evaluate what the problem is, as you are on the land every day. The SCS will provide the technical assistance needed to get safe and practical conservation on the land. Working together we can get the most out of our conservation dollar and provide the needed land treatment to stop erosion and conserve moisture.

Post man's name on Scotch plaque at HemisFair '68

The name of George "Scotty" Samson of Post is on a HemisFair plaque, a picture of which was presented to the Garza County Historical Survey Committee at its regular monthly meeting Tuesday.

The plaque is part of a Scottish display at HemisFair and lists the names of Scotchmen who have made outstanding contributions to Texas. The picture was presented by the committee by Louie Burkes, Inter-plant manager.
