Official approval for Medicare received yesterday by hospital

Made retroactive to last Dec. 1

Garza Memorial Hospital officially received its approval for Medicare participation yesterday to put the institution in its best financial position since it reopened Dec. 1. Hospital Administrator Kenneth Sledge told The Dispatch, "We're pretty happy around here," when he broke the long-awaited news.

for the requirement to have a registered nurse on duty around the clock. Sledge said the hospital now has a registered nurse part time and with the added income assured from Medicare approval expected to hire at least one registered nurse full-time in the immediate future.

The administrator said the hospital has purchased a $1,900 cardiac monitor and desibrator machine as required by Medicare. Sledge said Medicare approval should mean the admission of several local Medicare patients in the immediate future.

The hospital had 18 patients yesterday, the high in total admissions since the winter flu epidemic when the patient load rose to over 20. Administrator Sledge told The Dispatch: "I'd like to express my sincere thanks to everyone in Post and Garza County who has worked in the coordinated hospital effort to secure Medicare approval." The official word on Medicare approval had been expected on a day to day basis ever since a four-member Medicare inspection team gave the hospital a "favorable report" here March 26, during the last big local snowstorm.

Medicare approval for Garza Memorial Hospital certainly is the big news locally this week.

The government's OK had been virtually assured when the last Medicare inspection was made March 29, but it had been assured before in January too, but didn't come off on that occasion.

A lot of work was put into the Medicare effort here by a whole host of folks. It was a coordinated job in which about every officeholder of influence was called, except LBJ himself.

If approval hadn't have come with the retroactive package of $13,800 in Medicare billings for December and January, it is doubtful if the hospital financially could have limped all the way through 1968.

This gives the hospital a chance to "make it" financially. But it still is no cinch on our opinion. The hospital merits all the community support it can get.

The six events being planned for the day include a bathing beauty contest, open to high school girls in each of the four towns. Each town will hold its own elimination contest with two finalists from each town to compete for the top honor on White River Lake Day.

Other events being planned include sky diving, a Reese Air Force Base flyover, antique automobile exhibit, speedboat races and

Civil Rights program stands to gain

Is it not ironic that the sniper's bullet which killed Dr. Martin Luther King in Memphis last week brought greater fulfillment to the life work of this Negro civil rights leader in death than had he lived?

Dr. King was losing millions of Negroes from his civil rights movement based on non-violence to the young militants of Black Power who preached instead revolution and violence. The big cities across America stood fearful of what the "hot summer of 1968" had in store for them.

Then came the cowardly shot of the assassin. Shock waves of Dr. King's violent death immediately swept back and forth across the land.

In the cities Negroes erupted into a frenzy of burning and looting. The president had to order federal troops into the nation's capital to protect the very seats of our government from destruction. Thousands more were flown into Chicago. National Guardsmen returned to patrol a tense Detroit and stood guard in other metropolitan areas as well.

But it was not the flaming disorders in the cities which counted most in the stark aftermath of Dr. King's death.

Instead it was the impact of King's assassination on most of white America. No longer could the civil rights problem be ignored by any thinking American. The stark realities of King's death were carried into virtually every American home by television. Special programs pre-empted regular network shows to explain in detail the life of Martin Luther King and what he was trying to do.

Dr. King was a Nobel peace prize winner, but most of white America had been too busy with its every day living to try to understand either King, or the dreadful complex problem he, and many others, were trying to force upon us for solution.

With King's death came a "crash course" in Civil Rights for Mr. and Mrs. Average American via "the tube." We believe it has struck the conscience of white America like nothing that ever happened before in the Civil Rights movement.

An example of this came Sunday from the pulpits of thousands of American churches, including many of those right here in Post. Ministers spoke from their hearts—many for the very first time—about the prime Negro objective, the dignity of being a man, and what the death of King means to America.

Although President Johnson was scheduled to go before a special session of the Congress one night this week in a dramatic national plea for the immediate enactment of the current Civil Rights bill to establish open housing, real equal opportunity for the average Negro in America still faces a long road ahead.

Basic solutions are complex, not easy. They will require years of hard work to attain.

For example, immediate answers to the living conditions in the black slums of our major cities simply aren't possible between "hot summers." They will cost billions of dollars and take years for planning and development. And America must first decide if the federal government should assume this assignment and if so, how and with what.

Immediate answers to job opportunities for the Negro are not attainable either on a broad scope because of his lack of skills and training. But here the government and industry together already are reaching for partial goals.

The answer for the American Negro in final form is education. At long last concrete progress is now being made to educate the young American Negro. But for the middle-aged, education is beyond his reach. He must concentrate upon educational opportunities for his children.

No one can foretell the future.

But we think we are right in drawing one conclusion. While King's death has left the non-violence arm of the Negro Civil Rights movement without an experienced leader, it has awakened white America more than ever before to the Negro's plight.

If we are truly "one nation under God," the civil rights movement now stands to gain for the first time the solid working support of American Christianity in its quest for true American equality.—JC

Our 100 millionth barrel of oil

Sometime in late 1967—probably around Oil Progress Week last October—Garza County produced its 100 millionth barrel of oil.

The only reason this went unnoticed at the time by The Dispatch is because state production figures run about two years behind actual production.

This newspaper received the 1966 figures only Saturday from the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn. These showed that as of Dec. 31, 1966, Garza County produced 95,638,465 barrels of oil since the first oil well was drilled in 1926.

At the 1966 rate of 5,150,365 barrels of oil annually, or 14,111 barrels a day, we hastily projected 1967 production to see that before last year was out the 100 millionth barrel of oil had been pumped from Garza ground.

This is a different kind of year for the Garza oil industry. It marks the real start of secondary oil recovery operations—water-flooding in the county. This is a long and expensive operation which will extend over probably another 20 years and will produce well over another 50 million barrels of oil from existing wells.

It also is a year which holds promise of further new primary oil development, possibly reaching into new areas, similar to George R. Brown's new oil production uncovered in and around the City of Post.

Oil today, as it has in the past and will continue to do in the future, plays a vital role in the economy of this area.—JC

A good time to count our blessings

Easter is a joyful occasion throughout the civilized world. All over America, the churches enjoy record attendance.

While we join in the outward observance of Easter—the egg hunts, the new finery, it is well to pause and think about the spiritual reason for the celebration.

Here is how it was described in the gospel of St. Matthew: "And the angel answered and said unto the women, 'Fear not ye; for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here, for he is risen, as he said. Come see the place where the Lord lay. And go quickly and tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead, and behold, he goeth before you into Galilee; there ye shall see him. Lo, I have told you.'"

Civilization has come a long way. It's a good time to count our blessings and let good deeds speak for us.

Saying something good about taxes

Income tax time has been here since the first of the year, with Americans everywhere busy in the preparation of their "returns" to determine their share of the national expense budget for the coming year.

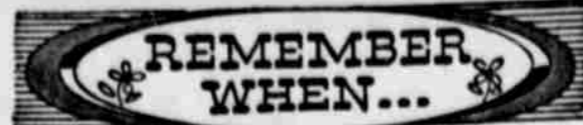

The income tax, like smallpox, rarely has anything good said about it. But to pay one's taxes with full appreciation of what it means, is an act of good citizenship . . . and staunch Americanism. However, it is important that one understands the basic principles of taxation in order to appreciate and justify it.

Should one become disturbed or irritated . . . or even resentful at times because our hard-earned dollars are taxed, it would indicate that such an individual needs a clearer understanding of government as well as his responsibility to government.

When one buys food or clothing . . . in a house or an automobile, we do so cheerfully, simply because we are able to SEE something in return. But when taxes are paid we often forget the protection and opportunity we enjoy; our freedom of speech; the finest schools for our children; great highways that take us anywhere we want to go; encouragement of active competition which helps to keep costs low and standards high . . . in short, Mr. Citizen is permitted to remain an individual . . . working out his problems with the help and cooperation of his government to make life worth living.

Thus we say: Love America and pay your taxes with a grateful heart . . . and be happy in so doing.

We're doing this to show our appreciation to our customers and friends, who have stood by us in the good years and also some lean years. It's been a short twenty years since Mattie and I returned to Post to go in the drug business, and start our home.

We both want you to know how much we appreciate you people in Post and Garza County. We've laughed with you and we've cried with you. We've done the best we know how to give you good medical care, and a drug store that a community would be proud to call "our drug store."

We've tried to always have the drugs you needed, as fast as possible. We hope the community has benefitted from our living here, as our lives have benefitted from knowing you.

We also would like to thank all the employes that have worked for us the past 20 years. Without your help and devotion to the tasks involved, our store could not function.

Church youth director speaker at Mother-Daughter event

There are very few words in English language more beautiful than "mother". Don Ray Williams, youth director of the Broad Church of Christ in Lubbock, Future Homemakers of America and their guests at the Mother-Daughter buffet supper Monday evening at the school cafeteria.

The speaker urged the FHA members to realize the values of the true meaning of love. He said that girls who have great potential for doing with it is up to them.

Williams said, "Commenting on Dr. Martin Luther King's assassination, the answer to your life is to give the last four days to your nation and can be than any other time in its history."

Williams concluded his talk by saying, "You are the FHA members. You are the answer to your life." The answer to your life is to give the last four days to your nation and can be than any other time in its history.

It's My Turn

— By MRS. C.

We ARE going to have a Book Fair! Already seven out of the 47 organizations and churches have responded to a letter which was mailed out the end of March so each would have it in time for their April meetings. Buster Moreland out at George R. Brown's and Sherry Josey are responsible for those lovely Xerox letters you received.

Your committee is most excited about the response. The first call came from Chamber of Commerce President A. C. Cash telling me that they would like to be in charge of the donkey cart ride! Other calls came in rapidly from the Jaycees and Jaycee-ettes. I don't have official word but it is being rumored by Joe Bailey that the Jaycees will sponsor a penny toss and maybe sell snow cones. The Jaycee-ettes will be selling popcorn.

The United Presbyterian Women, who will set up a used toy booth, beat the Christian Women's Fellowship in by one hour in reporting their choices and happiness in participating. The CWF will be selling cookies and brownies. Gamma Mu chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha is the first sorority heard from and they are going to repeat on their famous Spook House. The "Friends", who are sponsoring the whole thing, are planning a Country Store, which we heard really went over in a big way at the Halloween school carnival.

Keep those cards and letters coming!

Whoops! Just had a call from Post Art Guild representative Barbara McKeown who said that club will do splatter paintings and other ideas pertaining to art. We are getting results!

Ring-a-ding-ding! Another call from Xi Delta Rho telling us that they are going to set up the donkey rides. Hurray for them!

I love Mrs. Cecil Bland. She called the minute she heard about Miss Jacquelyn Moore hosts slumber party

Miss Jacquelyn Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Moore, was hostess of a slumber party last Friday night at her home.

Guests were Lynne McCormick, Patsy Gamble, Becky Rudd, Jill Moeller and Connie Rinne, all of Slaton, and "honored" guest, Clay, Jacquelyn's little brother.

The girls attended the movie Friday night and toured the local stores Saturday morning.

Jacquelyn is spending the Easter holidays with her parents. She is finishing the spring semester at Slaton Junior High School and will graduate with approximately 150 students, May 28. She will enroll as a freshman next fall in Post.

the Book Fair and said she didn't belong to a single club but was real excited about the affair and hoped we'd let her help in some way. We certainly plan on putting her to work!

Rosemary Chapman told me before she left for Mexico that when she came home she wanted me to have lots of work planned for her. I took her at her word. When she came into the office for the first time after returning I said: "How was your trip? I want you to be in charge of the music." I received a rather startled look.

Mrs. Bland is party responsible for planning the musical entertainment. When she called with her offer to help she wondered if we planned any music and intimated that we might twist her husband's and son's arms and have a bit of guitar playing. This was all we needed to appoint a music chairman and Rosemary is looking like mad for all-out talented musicians in the county, including, we hope, some old-time fiddlers.

It's going to be great fun, so all of you other clubs plan on joining in to make our Book Fair a huge success. As one of the state library workers told George Miller, librarian, when he attended a recent meeting in Lubbock: "We don't really consider that one has a library until it has 10,000 books." That means we have 4,000 to go and the Book Fair should help us reach that goal.

The Post Music Club's sponsored "Messiah" played to a "packed house" Sunday afternoon and the community owes them a great big thanks for a job well done. The organist, Patty Kirkpatrick, did a magnificent job. Mrs. Jim Ed Peor certainly is entitled to special consideration for getting all that good music from 30 talented community singers. The soloists, Marita Jackson, Diana Moxley, Vernon Scott and George Miller, all did terrifically well.

Looking at the choir Sunday I decided approximately 30 children belonged to this mixed group so I think a thank you is due to the husbands who baby sat while their wives were out in many, many rehearsals.

Many thanks to the Post Music Club. I hope our Book Fair will turn out as well.

Bride-elect is shower honoree

Miss Jendy Briggs, bride-elect of Wayne T. Gamblin, was honored with a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Victor Hudman Saturday night between 7:30 and 9 o'clock.

Miss Mary Ann Wright registered the guests before they were presented to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Alton Briggs of Wilcox, Ariz., and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Thomas W. Gamblin.

The serving table was covered with nylon net over white and held a yellow floral centerpiece. Frosted punch, cake squares iced in yellow and nuts were served by alternating hostesses. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

Other hostesses were Miss Sammie Kay Caffey and Mmes. R. B. Dodson, Elwood Wright and Dave Sanford of Odessa.

PRISCILLA CLUB MEETING
The Priscilla Club will meet Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Monroe Lane, 702 West 7th St.

Guild to sponsor Book Fair booth

The Post Art Guild met Monday night at the Reddy Room with Barbara McKeown as hostess.

The club voted to sponsor a splatter-paint booth at the county-wide Book Fair along with other art ideas.

Boo Olson gave a talk on sketching and Ed Neff, a guest, showed slides pertaining to sketching.

Easter bunny cake and coffee were served to:

Allie Martin, Bertha Irons, Glenda Morrow, JoAnn Reed, Lee Mack, Mary Cross, Pauline Warren, Eleanor Cooke, Boo Olson, Evelyn Neff, Marie Neff, and the guest, Ed Neff.

LEAVES INTENSIVE CARE
Mrs. Molly Conoly, who underwent lung surgery at Lubbock Methodist Hospital on April 2, was removed from the intensive care ward Tuesday, relatives here said. Mrs. Conoly, the wife of G. H. Conoly, is an employee of the First National Bank.

Carla Winkler becomes bride of Charles Thompson, Friday

Carla Gaye Winkler of Kaledon Charles Hale Thompson and Mrs. Winkler were united in marriage Friday at 7:30 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents.

Rev. Dennis Bennett, pastor of Bethel Baptist Church in Lubbock, officiated at the reading of the vows.

Members of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Boney Winkler of Kaledon and Mrs. C. B. Winkler of Lubbock.

The bride is a graduate of Crossington High School and attended Texas Tech. Mr. Thompson is employed by J. J. Fritch Company.

ers which were attached to the waistline. She carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Miss Nan Winkler was her sister's maid of honor. She chose a pastel green dress and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Bill Cornet of Knox City served as best man. Terry Yates Thompson, brother of the bridegroom, seated the guests.

A reception followed in the home.

The couple will reside at 28th and University in Lubbock where Mrs. Thompson is attending Commercial College and Mr. Thompson is attending Texas Tech.

HALLELUJAH

Eddie was the smallest one in the choir today. He stood at the end of the front row, stretched tall as he could, and sang with his whole heart.

I looked up at his round freckled boy-face and wondered what he was thinking as the Easter anthem rose in crescendo and blessed the April air. Were his thoughts on chocolate bunnies and rainbow-colored eggs, or on the stirring story he was singing — "He is not here, but is risen"?

Of one thing I am certain. When he is grown and thinks of Eastertime back home, it won't be the candy eggs and Easter baskets he'll remember; but the smell of lilies at the chancel rail, the joy of joining his voice to a Hallelujah chorus.

Give your child a lifetime gift. Celebrate special Sundays and every Sunday by going to your church and taking him with you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read you Bible daily.

ROSEMARY CHAPMAN wrote while I was gone last week. He said that our library was a service, not a thing. Our library is not a service or a thing. Everybody knows that OUR library is a person. He talks to me all the time. OUCH. (Pardon me. Sometimes I get these terrible headaches.)

Happening No. 3 by Louise McCrary. We have in our library a book called "Games Christians Play." This short book is a humorous account of the attitudes and actions of Christians — ministers as well as their flock. It is all about what they say and do, or "games" they play to impress others with their superiority as Christians or to cover up some of their shortcomings.

Happening No. 4 by Joy Parker. A small boy (9 or 10) came in the library the other day and said he wanted "THAT book about the birds and the bees." His daddy had told him he was old enough to read about them!

Happening No. 5 by Mary Prather. One day Rosemary Chapman handed me some cards and said, "Here, call these people up and tell them that they have overdue books." The very first lady that I phoned was extremely irritated when I told her about her overdue books. (I think I must have gotten her out of the bathtub or something) and I prefer not to dwell upon the severe bad-mouthing that she gave me. Her parting shot, however, was "And furthermore, I'm going to report you to Mrs. Chapman."

HAPPENINGS, a Public Service Feature, has been brought to you by the entire volunteer staff at the Post Public Library with the exception of a few bright souls who thought they were being smart when they said "no."

Rotarians plan for Book Fair

Post Rotarians voted unanimously at their Tuesday luncheon in City Hall to sponsor a booth in the Book Fair May 11. Dick Dickson was named chairman of the club's booth committee.

President Bill Pool called attention to the Rotary district assembly which is expected to draw over 100 officers of West Texas Rotary clubs here for an all-day conference at the First Methodist Church June 4.

"We've got a lot of work to do to get ready for this," Pool told the club and appointed club committees to handle the various assembly assignments.

Mrs. Ella Herringer of Lubbock, who is in charge of nursing recruitment for Methodist Hospital, told Rotarians that if "you are interested in a community action organization in the field of public health, there are a lot of people who will be glad to come to Post and help you with such work."

Mrs. Herringer and Mrs. Maxine Marks were guests of Lou Marks for the luncheon.

Lowell Short, who had been assigned the program, did not have enough time left after the business session to present his topic so he reminisced on the many changes in Post's Main Street since he came to Post 22 years ago.

He said he could count only eight businesses which have not either changed hands or locations in that period of time. He looked around the room and said he saw only five Rotarians present who were members of the club 22 years ago.

Easter services—

There will be no evening message, with a number of the children and young people of the church to be baptized and receive their first communion.

"Last Sunday, four made the Good Confession," Rev. Ramsey said. "They were Chrissy Davis, Carol Davis, Ronald Case and Rhonda Case, and several more will make the Confession Easter Sunday."

"This will indeed be a beautiful service," the pastor added.

"Resurrection Is Our New Life" will be the sermon topic of the Rev. O. Curtis Lee at the First Methodist Church on Easter morning. Thirty pieces of silver by individuals to honor Christ as our Lord will be a special event at the service.

A series of united Holy Week services were held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday night by members of the Presbyterian, Methodist and First Christian churches.

The group met Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Marks for a study on "The Nature of Prejudice," led by Rev. Lee. Those attending were divided into three groups for discussion.

Tuesday night, the meeting was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Kirkpatrick with Gordon Lee, high school history teacher, presenting "Memo From the Ghetto — Dispirit of 1967," by Ernest Dunbar, senior editor of Look Magazine, and "Showdown for Non-violence," by Martin Luther King.

The group met Wednesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Newby, splitting into groups for a discussion of the "Digest of the Kerper Report."

Mrs. Tubbs, who is treasurer of the Texas Society of Medical Technologists, said the Panhandle District will be hosts to the society April 23-26, 1969. The national convention will be held at Houston in June.

Speakers at the convention included Dr. John W. Alexander, associate pathologist at Harris Hospital, Fort Worth; Dr. John J. School board—

(Continued From Front Page) already has been replaced, but much of it is lasting longer than predicted two years ago.

The superintendent proposed that $10,000 of this year's surplus funds be set aside for the pipe replacement whenever the need develops and the remainder of the surplus be used to provide funds for other maintenance items on the list in the order of their importance.

Supt. Shiver told trustees that two ex-students, following a police investigation, have admitted discharging all the fire extinguishers in the primary building during play practice on the night of April 2. He said the two have agreed to pay the cost of having the extinguishers refilled.

The danger to the school, the superintendent emphasized, is to have a fire emergency with the fire extinguishers empty, unknowing to school personnel.

Shiver said fire extinguisher vandalism at the schools have cost approximately $1,000 in the past year.

Trustees present were Russell Wilks Jr., Earl Chapman, Giles Dalby, Wayne Carpenter and Virgil Bilbo.

The anniversary of the death of the Founder of Christianity will be celebrated by the witnesses in 197 lands, which they believe is the anniversary of the death of Jesus Christ, beginning at sundown on Friday, April 12.

Persons interested in attending are invited to attend free of any collections.

Sporting News says

Norm Cash solid at Tiger position

Eddie Mathews is sure to help the Detroit Tiger baseball club as a free swinger, but Norm Cash must be the first baseman day in and day out, according to the current issue of "The Sporting News."

The Detroit Tiger roundup story in the weekly baseball publication continues as follows:

"Cash has a defensive edge and he batted quite well in Florida. "When Norm gets rolling, he hits left-handed pitching reasonably well. Last September, he lost his confidence with the bat as the Detroit fans booed him.

"The end result was the use of Mathews against left-handers in an odd platoon plan. Both Cash and Mathews are left-handed swingers.

"Cash is the first baseman until further notice."

At Lakeland, Fla., March 30, Cash smashed two homers, each with a man on base, to pace the Tigers to a 6-5 victory over the Atlanta Braves in their spring series.

Freshman runner wins first place

With Pat Ayala winning first place in the 1,320-yard run, Coach Bill Smith's freshman track team scored 24 points last Friday in the 9th grade division of the District 4AA track and field meet at Frenship.

The 400-yard relay team of Ralph Menchaca, Robert Pace, Robert Bullock and Johnny Hodges finished fourth. The 1,320-yard relay team, with the same runners, placed fifth.

Hodges won sixth place in the 100-yard dash, and David Perez placed sixth in the shot put.

Frenship won the freshman division with a total of 140 points. Other teams finished as follows: Denver City, 109; Stanton and Slaton, 69; Morton, 47; Midland Carver, 26; Post, 24.

8th grade team in district meet

Coach Bud Davis' 8th grade track and field team scored 61 points in the District 4AA junior high school meet at Frenship Saturday to finish fifth in the team standings.

Midland Carver won the 8th grade division with a total of 162 points. Frenship was second with 82, Denver City third with 77, Morton fourth with 63, Stanton sixth with 29, and Slaton seventh with 23.

The Post 8th graders won three first places, Scotty Hoyle winning the 330-yard dash, Kyle Josey the 660-yard run and Tony Rosas the 1,320-yard run.

Hoyle finished third and Josey fourth in the 100-yard dash, and Josey fifth and Hoyle sixth in the 220.

Josey also placed fourth in the broad jump, with Danny Vargas getting fourth and Larry Hair sixth in the 1,320-yard run.

David Woods finished third in the 70-yard low hurdles.

Judges generous in their praise of Antelope band

The Post High School band received Division III ratings in all three categories — marching, concert and sight-reading — at the University Interscholastic League meet at Dimmitt Wednesday of last week, but received compliments from all judges on their performance.

"Best band I have heard from Post in years — good performance," said N. Howell, one of the judges. "Good contrasting program, band shows fine instruction," Howell added.

Fred Carpenter, who judged the sight-reading, said, "The band has good sound—good director."

Judge Charles Enloe called the Antelope band a "good-looking band" and said much good teaching is evident.

Division III, under UIL standards, is given bands making an average performance, but not outstanding. It also signifies a band's showing accomplishment and marked promise, but lacking in one or more essential qualities.

Director Herb Germer's Post band competed in Class AA with 10 other bands. Sweepstakes honors went to the Hale Center and Morton bands, which received Division I ratings in all three categories.

Working toward their goal of a trip to the Tri-State Band Festival at Enid, Okla., the band members, helped to "beautify" Post by weeding people's yards, mowing lawns, cleaning garages, painting fences, carrying away trash, cleaning windows, ironing and baby-sitting.

In payment, the band received donations. Approximately $100 was raised.

Farm Topics

SYD CONNER
Garza County Agent

Farmers have had computers working for them many, many years. Every seed they plant is a tiny computer.

Plant breeders, explains R. J. Hodges, Extension agronomist at Texas A&M University, program the little "computers" to do a certain job. The characteristics of the plant depend on how the seed was "programmed" with built-in factors to resist diseases and insects, to increase yields, to resist lodging and to uniformly mature.

Farmers, he adds, realize they must choose a variety that is adapted to suit their needs, and they buy seeds with known origin and quality. Certified seed — the seed with the blue tag — meet these requirements.

The agronomist says certified seed have been field tested, field inspected, tagged and sealed to insure their quality. This means these seeds have been "programmed" for highest yields and quality.

During the past year more than 102,000 acres of Texas crops were inspected and the seed certified by the Texas Department of Agriculture. Hodges said included were more than 53,000 acres of cotton, 13,000 acres of both peanuts and small grains, 5,000 acres of grain sorghums of all types, 4,700 acres of rice, 4,100 acres of millet, 3,100 acres of soybeans and many others ranging down to 7 acres of grasses.

From these acres came the blue tag certified seed produced in the state in 1967. But, explains Hodges, the seed used to plant the above acres came from registered seed breeders who produce seed under even more stringent regulations while they in turn, in many instances, received their foundation seed from the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station's Foundation Seed Section. Some individual plant breeders produce their own foundation and registered seed, as well as the certified seed which is best known to farmers.

MANY AIDS TO FIGHT WEEDS IN COTTON

Farmers have a wide choice of chemical and mechanical aids for fighting weeds and grass in their cotton fields this year. Fred C. Elliott, Extension cotton specialist, says a control program using chemicals and mechanical means is not only cheaper but faster and easier to carry out than the old hand hoeing method.

The Texas A&M University specialist lists as available, nine pre-emerge chemicals, eight post-emerges, three "layby" treatments and three spot-sprays. Their efficiency was proved last year, he adds, on more than 2.5 million acres of Texas cotton in 154 different counties.

As for the mechanical methods, Elliott says to give careful attention to cultivation. The use of the rotary hoe or rotary hoe-cultivation is still the "backbone" of weed control in cotton and was used last year in 165 counties. Flame cultivation was used last year in 48 counties and involved 1,461 flame cultivators, he adds.

Elliott lists four steps which growers have found important in carrying out a complete season weed control program. They include the application of a pre-plant chemical, a pre-emerge spray as a band application at planting; early post-emerge treatment and layby where adapted (mostly under irrigation and river bottom areas.)

The use of pre-plant chemicals such as Planavin or Treflan is a suggested start. Also, DSMA can be used as pre-plant on Johnson-grass if an early spring brings out this grass. Then you can "love lay" with pre-emerge chemicals on a band basis at planting time, with such materials as Caparol, Cotarol, CIPC, Karmex, Telvar or Her-

ban. Early post-emerge chemicals include lateral oiling, DSMA or MSMA for grass control and Herban or Cotarol combinations plus surfactants for broadleaf weeds, beginning when the cotton plants are three inches high and until bloom.

After the cotton is six inches high, Karmex or Caparol can be used on the weeds. For layby, some of the same pre-emerge chemicals can be used, some as a contact layby or late pre-emerge layby.

The cotton specialist suggests that interested farmers contact the county agent for a copy of the newly revised publication, B-1029, "Suggestions for Weed Control with Chemicals." It lists complete details on recommendations. Chemical container labels should be carefully read and followed. advise Elliott.

April 20 is date of Peace Corps test at Lubbock

Post area residents interested in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world are invited to take the Peace Corps Placement Test at 1:30 p. m. on Saturday, April 20, at the Post Office building in Lubbock.

The Peace Corps uses the Placement Test to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language, not education or achievement. The test requires no preparation and is non-competitive; an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

Persons interested in serving with the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before the test. Application forms are available from post offices or from the Peace Corps in Washington, D. C. 20525.

Twelve thousand volunteers are currently serving in Asia, Africa, Latin America and the Pacific Islands, working with the people of those nations in self-help projects ranging from agriculture and nutrition to auto mechanics, education and health. Many volunteers are needed for programs which will begin this spring and summer.

Many attractions dot Forest Trail

— A 750-mile route through four national forests with some of the oldest, most scenic towns in the state high on the Texas Forest Trail, one of the Texas Forest Trails announced here by Gov. John Connally.

The trail, it offers traveler attractions ranging from Tyler's colorful panorama of Kilgore's amazing boom to 1,100 oil derricks in its city limits.

The Forest Trail more than satisfies the requirements of a trail designation. It takes visitors on high-speed highways and back roads for a glimpse at some of the most scenic, geologic and historic interest.

EAST TEXAS COUNTIES through which the trail passes include Anderson, Gregg, Harrison, Jasper, Houston, Liberator, Montague, Morris, Newton, Panola, Rock, Sabine, San Augustine, Shelby, Smith, San Jacinto, Walker and Wood. Tyler, Walker and Wood are the famed municipal roses and Kilgore's oil derrick are only two attractions that make the trail so inviting. For starters who may believe Texas is all dry wasteland, a trip along Farm Road 149 from Huntsville through Houston National Forest is an awakening. The trail winds through Angelina and Crockett National Forests, Sabine National Forest, and Sam Houston County. This was his home and his resting place. Buildings and furniture which make up the Sam Houston Shrine are located just on U. S. 75 from Sam Houston College, well within the city limits. Two of the houses in which he lived and worked are restored to their original furnishings. The museum contains papers and mementos of the man who led the Texas revolution. The restoration of the General's original home built in Huntsville in 1842, his old law office and his kitchen in which the Houston's meals were prepared.

SAM HOUSTON MUSEUM includes personal belongings of the great Texas hero, also of the man he defeated at Jacinto — Santa Anna. The museum is a gem. Houston's was called Raven Hill. It was here he came to retire from public life and here he died in 1836.

From Huntsville, the Forest Trail moves northward through Crockett, fifth oldest town in the state and site of the Mission San Francisco de Las Tejas built in 1690. At Tyler, Caldwell children's zoo, features "petting pens" where youngsters may play with all kinds of baby animals.

The eastern rim of the Texas Forest Trail blends history, scenery and recreation into a handsome touring package. It travels along the shores of Lake of the Pines, one of the state's newest water recreation areas. Nearby is Jefferson, once Texas' second largest city and largest inland port. Today this quaint ante-bellum community is a living reminder of the Southern plantation era. The annual spring pilgrimage recreates the days of the mid-1800s when the Excelsior House recorded such names as Oscar Wilde, Ulysses S. Grant and Rutherford B. Hayes in its guest register.

STERN - WHEELERS once churned up Big Cypress Bayou to a busy river port landing. Now the main landing has been abandoned by boats. But the atmosphere of the 1900s has been retained in the unique and rustic Rover Front Restaurant, housed in the basement of an old river front warehouse.

Immediately east of Jefferson is beautiful Caddo Lake State Park and Karnack, birthplace of Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson. Marshall served as capitol of Missouri during the Civil War strife. And Longview hosts the beginning of the great East Texas oil field.

Farther south, Nacogdoches lies steeped in history and legend of the Caddo Indian chief who divided his lands between two sons, Nacogdoches and Natchitoches. Each settled a land and gave birth to the cities by the same names in Texas and Louisiana. Hernando de Soto explored the Nacogdoches area as early as 1542. Famous Old Stone Fort was originally built in 1779 and now has been restored on the Stephen F. Austin College campus. The Old North Church is said to be the first Baptist Church in Texas.

State Highway 21, the famed T7 Camino Real or King's Highway, leads to San Augustine 30 miles to the east. This is the oldest Anglo-American town in Texas and is in the center of the state's best land.

On U. S. 190, between Livingston and Woodville, is the Alabama - Coahuila Indian Reservation. Visitors may see tribal dances performed, take a Big Thicket tour through virgin pine forests and two Indian baskets and head-work done.

The south loop of the Forest Trail leads through Livingston, Goldsboro, Coalinga and returns to Montgomery.

NEW! For clean Sorghum... spray weeds when you see them! with BANVEL

VELSICOL announces Banvel herbicide for control of all hard-to-kill weeds of major importance in grain sorghum. This includes carelessweed (pigweed), sunflower, lambs-quarter, purslane, morning glory and other annual broadleaf weeds. Banvel herbicide is applied post-emergence, so there are no wasted sprays in years when rain is scarce and weeds are not a problem. With Banvel you see your weed problem and then spray—all in plenty of time to give young sorghum plants plenty of opportunity to grow.

Banvel is sprayed onto weed leaves and translocates to the roots... for new, total control of weeds. Just apply Banvel between the 10th and 25th day after emergence of grain sorghum (approximately 4 to 12 inches tall).

Banvel is not dependent on soil moisture for its effectiveness, so its results are dependable. And it's a liquid that won't clog your sprayers; nor does Banvel need constant agitation.

Banvel increases yields. It's excellent for use on grain sorghum, wheat, barley, oats and field corn. Order Banvel herbicide to get full potential from your valuable, high-yielding sorghum seed. See your dealer today. You'll be glad you did!

Vietnam View

as reported by Marine Corps Combat Correspondents and edited by Gysgt. Bob Montgomery

A country boy from the hills of West Virginia is helping the people of Hoa Khanh Village near Da Nang to protect themselves from the Viet Cong.

Sgt. John Gillum, 22, commands Combined Action Platoon Q-6, made up of U. S. Marines and Vietnamese Popular Forces (militia). They are based in a small fort on the edge of Hoa Khanh. The platoon's job is to guard the village and help out in any way they can.

Residents of the village use an elaborate network of listening posts, spotters, signals and passwords to keep the platoon informed of Viet Cong activity.

"If any Viet Cong comes into Hoa Khanh, we are notified by prearranged signals," says Gillum. He is the link between Hoa Khanh Village and district headquarters. The material needs of the people are made known to him and he passes the information. With the CAP commander as a supply channel, the village requisitioned and received enough barbed wire to surround all seven of its hamlets.

A major effort undertaken by the CAP is the Medical Civil Affairs Program (medcap). Daily, from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m., an average of 150 patients are treated. Skin diseases, ear infections and other ills caused by a lack of sanitation are the major ailments. With assistance from the Navy's Mobile Construction Battalion 42, based nearby, the Marines and PFs are building a medcap clinic outside their compound.

Pioneered by the Marine Corps, the combined action concept is designed to increase the efficiency of the Popular Force units charged with protecting their home villages. About 100 CAPs are now operating in the I Corps area of South Vietnam. When a village has been pacified and PF troops sufficiently trained, the Marines withdraw and turn the CAP over to the Popular Forces.

"Any of the Popular Force leaders here can take out any patrol or ambush and accomplish a very mission," says Gillum.

Since the CAPs establishment in February 1967, cordial relations have been maintained with the villagers. Hoa Khanh is about evenly divided between Catholics and Buddhists, and the CAP Marines energetically celebrate the birthdays of both Christ and Buddha. The Marines are regularly invited to dine with the village families.

Helping to break the language barrier for the Marines in CAP Q-6 is the job of a plucky, 14-year-old Vietnamese boy named Le Van Khai. The Marines, for some undetermined reason, call him "Wilbur." He practically lives in the Q-6 compound, and is invaluable in helping village officials and Marines converse. Wilbur's parents were murdered by the VC and the young boy is now attending school on a General Lewis Walt Scholarship.

In a recent letter to Brig. Gen. Harry C. Olson, commanding general of the Force Logistics Command at nearby Camp Brooks, the village chief praised the Combined Action Platoon: "They have devoted much time to helping us on our cause for peace... they have the lasting affection of our people."

A patrol from the 7th Communications Battalion, USMC, teamed with a Vietnamese Revolutionary Development Team (RDT) recently to capture three Viet Cong and their weapons in a cave near Yen Bai Village, south of Da Nang.

Working on an intelligence tip the RDT had received from a small boy in the village, the combined forces moved to a bamboo thicket and located the cave entrance after a one-half hour search.

Stored inside were Chi - com grenades, Claymore mines, ammunition and propaganda leaflets in Vietnamese, Korean and English.

The lad then led the patrol to another cave entrance and said that he had seen people enter it the day before. The RDT announced that any VC in the cave were to come out or be killed.

One by one, three guerrillas crawled out of the cave with their hands up. Also found inside were an AK-47 assault rifle, grenades and documents.

When questioned, the VC said that they had infiltrated into the village during the recent Tet offensive. One told his captors that during their trip from the mountains near Laos to the village two of his traveling companions had been killed by a Marine Combined Action Platoon.
