Contracts go to 53 teachers; pay hikes to coaches

Full Independent School district trustees at their March meeting Monday night voted to extend 1969-70 teaching contracts to 53 teachers on the present staff and gave raises to six coaches and Band Director Herb Germer.

Teachers will receive experience increments of $117 additional each for the next year with the board expressing itself as hopeful of being able to go along with the anticipated state teachers pay raise which will cost the district an estimated $20,800.

Trustees, who have been considering proposals to evaluate and strengthen the school athletic program, started on the proposition of following a recommendation to give needed pay increases to grid coaches here and wound up voting increases to six coaches.

Two take out of councilman race; seven are left

The city lost more candidates than they gained in the final 24 hours before the filing deadline last week for the April election.

J. D. Windham, local cafe operator, was the only new candidate for the city councilmen posts while two withdrew from the race.

Asking that their names be withdrawn were Bobby Pierce, who had intended to apply for the city manager's position to be vacated by Eddie Warren next month, and E. W. Chapman Jr., who had that new work duties prevent him from giving proper time to the position if he were elected.

Chapman has been named manager of R. S. Anderson's production office here in addition to his duties as manager of the Rocker A Well Service.

The filing deadline passed at midnight last Thursday with Giles McCrary opposing John N. Hopwood for mayor, and the following seven men seeking the three city councilman posts: Lester Nichols, E. D. Caylor, Jerry J. Riedel, L. W. McDonald, J. D. Windham, Mike Mitchell and David N. New-

Man held here on molesting charge

Filomeno S. Casarez, 39, was arrested in justice of the peace court Monday with molesting a 10-year-old boy and was being held in jail Wednesday in lieu of $250 bond.

City Police Sgt. Otis G. Shepherd Jr. who arrested Casarez, filed a complaint on information furnished him by the child's parents.

The alleged molestation took place March 5 near the boy's home on the southeast part of town, Shepherd said.

Casarez, first arrested by the officer on a charge of being drunk, was later identified as the boy's neighbor, the officer said.

Casarez, a former resident of Lubbock, has been in Post only a short time, according to Sgt. Shepherd.

$116 taken from tax office safe

The safe in the county tax assessor-collector's office was forced open last Thursday night and approximately $116 stolen, according to Tax Assessor-Collector T. H. Warren.

About $200 damage was done to the safe by the burglar, or burglars, who entered the office through a west window after breaking through a wall.

The loss in money would have been much greater were it not for the fact that the tax office makes deposits regularly at the bank, Warren said.

The burglary was reported Friday morning to the sheriff's office, which is now across the courthouse from the tax office.

state for coaching duties, Waco Reynolds was hiked $500 to $1,100 above state; Freshman Coach Bill Smith was boosted $250 to $850 above state; Junior High Coach Bud Davis also received a $250 increase to $550 above state.

Head Football Coach Glynn Gregg was boosted $300 to $2,477 above state, and N. R. (Jiggs) King, girls high school basketball coach whose team tied for district honors, received a $500 increase to $1,200 above state.

The band director was voted a $400 raise to $1,692 above the state schedule.

The boosts came after trustees studied a survey of salaries paid coaches at 15 other area schools of Post's size or smaller which showed Post at the very bottom of such salary schedules. The new salary hikes will only close the gap between Post and a few of the other schools.

The increase voted Germer also was made after a study of payments made by other same size or smaller schools to their band directors, which placed Post lower than most.

Teachers to whom 1969-70 contracts will be extended upon the recommendation of Supt. Bill Shiver and the school principals involved include 21 on the high school faculty, 12 in junior high, and 20 in the elementary school.

Shiver told the board five had asked not to be considered as they are seeking positions elsewhere.

Those recommended for new contracts:

High School: Patricia Casey, J. W. Clifford, Cora Fleming, Herb Germer, Kathryn Hamilton, Tom Hamilton, E. A. Howard, Florene King, N. R. King, Taylor Knight, Marge Lee, Gordon Lee, Linda Linn, Theresa Molinar, Kenneth Poole, Joy Pool, Sandra Richardson, Bill Smith, Marion Wheatley, Iris Wilkins and Georgie Willson.

Junior High School: Lee Davis, Billy Hahn, Ella Mae Hudman.

Benefit 'girls' game scheduled

The Post Rotarians and the Interact Club, its sponsored teen-age civic club of high school boys, will clash in a benefit "girls basketball game" at 7:30 p. m. next Thursday night, March 20, in the high school gym.

The two teams will dress as girls and play under girls' rules which will be helpful to the Rotarians who won't have to "run" the length of the court.

County Agent Syd Conner is the captain of the Rotarian team which is expected to sport some real "charmers" including Bob Collier, Gene Moore, Bill McBride and Kenneth Sledge.

While height and weight will lie with the Rotarians, the Interact "girls" are sure to have superior mobility.

Proceeds will go to the Interact Club project of providing an outside bulletin board in front of Post High School.

Car bodies, burning

The approaching deadline for "no trash burning" at sanitary landfills applies only to the larger cities and not to towns the size of Post, according to City Manager Eddie Warren.

Presently, the City of Post is burning tree limbs, tires and certain other refuse at the sanitary land fill, the city manager said.

He points out that one of the biggest problems at this time is disposing of old car bodies and concrete blocks that residents dump out at the land fill. The city manager asks that these be taken elsewhere to be disposed of.

Another problem is that of people hauling trash to the land fill setting the trash in the pits on fire. "They think that they are doing us a favor, but they are not," Warren said.

He explained that the trash in the pits is not supposed to be burned and that when it is set on fire, the sanitation workers must put it out. "There is always the danger," he said, "of a truck or bulldozer working in the pit catching fire from the burning trash."

The city manager said unless people going to the land fill stop setting the pit trash on fire, it will become necessary to lock the gates after closing hours so they cannot drive into the sanitary land fill area.

'Biggest ever' predicted for weekend stock show and fair

One of Garza County's biggest combination events of the year, the Junior Livestock Show and County Fair, will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the 4-H Building, with sponsors of the two events predicting the "biggest and best ever."

The stock show will open at 7:30 p. m. with the judging of 4-H Club and FFA swine and will continue through Saturday afternoon's auction sale. Lambs will be judged at 7:30 p. m. Friday and calves at 9 a. m. Saturday.

Approximately 120 animals will be shown in the three classes, according to Jerry Thuest, president of the junior livestock association, with some 60 of the animals to be led into the auction ring at Saturday afternoon's sale.

Jim Jenkins of South Plains College, Levelland, will judge the animals. The auctioneer will be Monte Paxton of Seminole, with Jim Jackson of Post as the announcer.

The animals will be on exhibit all day Friday.

A barbecue will be held at noon Saturday at the City-County Park with L. D. Jackson in charge. The barbecue will be served by home demonstration women.

The home demonstration women also have a bake sale on schedule for all day Saturday, and will operate a concession stand Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the fair exhibits building.

All entries for the fair were to be accepted from 8:30 a. m. to noon today (Thursday). Judging of the fair exhibits by out-of-town judges will get under way at 1 p. m. Thursday. The public fair exhibits will be open to the public from 9 a. m. until 9 p. m. Thursday, from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. Friday, and from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Saturday.

HE'S THE "TOP HAND"

Doug Chance is being presented the Top Hand award from the Rodeo Club at South Plains College, Levelland, with the president of the club making the presentation.

Doug Chance gets award at college

LEVELLAND — Doug Chance, South Plains College sophomore from Post, has received the coveted Top Hand award from the College Rodeo Club.

The gold and silver western belt buckle was given in appreciation of the many favors Chance has extended the club during the year.

The award was made at the annual Cowboy Auction in the Student Union Building.

Chance, an Industrial Art Design major, has shown much enthusiasm in all the club's activities and has made posters for the Rodeo Club as well as attractive posters and art work for all college activities.

Quality pays off for sheriff posse

Quality, not quantity, netted the Garza County Sheriff's Posse the third place trophy in a rodeo parade at San Angelo last Friday.

Five of the posse's riders plus their new queen, Joan Minor, won the third place trophy for their parade performance. A total of 31 sheriff's posses and other riding groups took part in the parade.

The local sheriff posse's next appearance will be Wednesday, March 19, in the parade opening the ABC Rodeo in Lubbock.

Rites for father of Post woman

Graveside rites for Lewis G. Watson, 96, South Plains pioneer who died Friday at Canyon, were held at 5 p. m. Sunday in the Slaton Cemetery.

Mr. Watson was the father of Mrs. G. E. Fleming, commercial subjects teacher at Post High School, and had made his home here with his daughter before going to a convalescent home at Canyon two years ago.

Mr. Watson operated a freight line with mule teams from Lovington, N. M., to Big Spring at the turn of the century. He was a teamster during the first oil boom at Eastland, moving from there to Tahoka in 1920.

After farming two years in the Tahoka vicinity, Mr. Watson opened a garage at Wilson. He was a deputy sheriff for 17 years in Lynn, Dawson and Eastland counties.

Besides the daughter of Post, Mr. Watson is survived by three other daughters, Mrs. A. M. Fox of Lubbock, Mrs. H. T. Carr of Canyon and Mrs. H. V. Williams of Fort Worth; 10 grandchildren, 22 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Commissioners' Court sets April 19 as date

Garza County voters will decide Saturday, April 19, whether or not to create a separate Garza Hospital District with powers to tax and elect hospital trustees for the operation of Garza Memorial Hospital.

The Garza County Commissioners Court at its March meeting Monday unanimously voted to call the hospital district election for April 19.

The hospital since its establishment has been operated by the county with the county commissioners court appointing hospital trustees.

The Texas Legislature at its 60th session in 1967 passed a bill permitting the formation of a Garza Hospital District with the approval of a majority of the voters of the county.

Under this special state law, the hospital district boundaries would be the same as the boundaries of

Besides the city and school board elections coming up next month, which appear to be attracting more than the usual interest, voters are going to be asked for decisions on whether or not to create a Garza Hospital District to permit better financing of the hospital operation here and whether or not the city should build a jail.

Interest in the city election is heightened by the fact that there are bound to be new men in three of the five councilman chairs at the April session and can mean a virtual complete change in city direction. Not one of the three councilmen now holding those positions are seeking re-election. Should Giles McCrary unseat John Hopkins as mayor there would be a turnover of four of the six places on the council. Change is already in the air. But the voters must decide through their selection of candidates in what direction they want Post to go.

Interest in the school board election centers basically around the bid of two women for board positions. They are the first women to seek school posts here in many years.

The jail issue is on a separate ballot — for taxpayers only — because an election was petitioned when the city held a public hearing on issuing $8,000 in tax warrants to build a jail.

That means that opposition to the jail's construction already is organized.

The Dispatch has favored the jail's construction in the hopes of seeing it end the continual "continual confrontation" between our city and county lawmen.

It's silly to build a second jail when we already have one, many point out. Generally we would agree with that. But it is also a fact that for several months now the city has been denied the use of the county jail and are having to haul their prisoners back and forth to the Slaton jail. According to our calculations if Post has to send a carload of prisoners up once a day

Choir Parents go 'hog wild'

The Choir Parents organization, backing the Post High School choir, has gone "hog wild" on a project to help send the choir to Enid, Okla., in May for the Tri-State Music Festival.

Tuesday evening, March 18, from 8 until 7 o'clock is "hog calling time" for the Choir Parents, and they will serve a ham supper at the school cafeteria.

The ham supper will also include salads, pie a la carte and tea or coffee.

"Everyone is invited to come to the ham supper, eat all they want, and help the choir go to Enid," said a Choir Parent, officer.

County pays $2,500 into park fund

The county is back as a 1969 "paid up member" of the City-County Park operation here after a year's absence due to the county's lack of funds in 1968.

The Garza County Commissioners Court unanimously voted to transfer $2,500 from the county's permanent improvement fund to the City-County Park fund for park board use at its March meeting Monday.

This is the amount both city and county have been "short" annually for park operation and development, except in 1968 when the county managed only $500.

Choir concert is set for Tuesday

"Say It With Music," an evening of singing by students of the choir of the Post schools, will be presented Tuesday, March 18, at 7:30 p. m. in the Post Primary School auditorium.

Sixty-seven students from the fifth grade will begin the program, with a number of this age group soloing with their choir.

Ninety-six students from the sixth, seventh and eighth grade choir will sing five Irving Berlin songs. A specialty of this group will be music from "The Sound of Music," with bell accompaniment.

The freshman choir will sing "Gallant Men," "Mr. Touchdown" and "Comin' Through the Rye." Selections by the high school girls' choir will be "Hares on the Mountain," "The Ash Grove" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The mixed choir will sing "Gloria Patri," "Did Mary Know?" and "The Bells."

Also singing during the performance will be "The Top 20," a group of 10 boys and 10 girls.

The identity of the Choir Princess will be made known during the concert.

Attend YOUR stock show and county fair this weekend!

THURSDAY, MARCH 13, 1969

Attend the stock show and fair

The fourth annual Garza County Junior Livestock Show and the annual Garza County Fair, both of which projects a great amount of work has been invested by the sponsoring organizations, will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the 4-H Building.

Both the livestock show and the county fair will be larger this year and are being held three days instead of two, as in the past. That's a sure sign that both events are growing.

Every man, woman and child in the county is invited to attend the stock show and fair. There will be something going on most anytime you choose to go out there, with Saturday the big day, of course. That is the day of the barbecue at the City-County Park, which will be held at noon, just prior to the livestock show auction sale.

Livestock association officials say there will be a large number of out-of-county folks attending the show and sale, many of them buyers. A good way to impress these visitors and to get them to come back next year are for us who live here to turn out in large numbers and to show by our support that we think Garza County has a livestock show and county fair second to none.

By supporting our livestock show and sale we will be supporting our young people, which is about the best investment any county can have. The boys and girls who will be showing stock in this weekend's show and exhibiting at the county fair are the citizens of tomorrow. Let's set good examples by showing them that we are interested in their work.—CD

History teaching continuance urged

Proposed bills now before the 81st Legislature would repeal requirements for college and university courses in Texas and American history and government.

What would it mean for these bills to pass? According to Charles R. Woodburn of Amarillo, president of the Texas State Historical Committee, passage of the bills would have the effect of depriving this state and nation of enlightened voters and leaders for time to come.

The Garza County Historical Survey Committee, which has done so much to record and preserve the history of Post and Garza County, has gone on record as being opposed to passage of the bills, and has suggested that its members and other interested persons write their state representative and state senator to voice their disapproval.

These bills would repeal requirements for college and university courses in Texas and American history and government.

About time for tornado season

Spring approaches and it won't be long before a jittery West-Texas citizen braces for the tornado season. Last year tornadoes killed more people than all other weather-caused natural disasters, according to Robert M. Pierpont, director of the American Red Cross Disaster Services.

The tragic note in this report is that many of the 129 persons killed by tornadoes could have been saved if they had followed some simple safety steps.

While there is no perfect defense against the wrath of a tornado, with the exception of caves and below-ground shelters, there are steps that may be taken that will reduce the odds against weathering the storm. We print them here in the hope that the information is of a kind you'll never need to use.

IN OPEN COUNTRY: Move away from the tornado's path at right angles. If escape isn't possible, lie flat in the nearest ditch or ravine.

IN A CITY OR TOWN: In office buildings, stand in interior halls on a lower (preferably basement) floor. In factories, plan in advance to shut off electric, fuel and gas lines and locate the section of the plant that affords the greatest protection. At home, find shelter in the basement beneath a heavy table or solid workbench where there are no heavy appliances on the floor directly above. If you have no basement, take cover under heavy furniture near the center of the house. Open some windows on the side of the house opposite the storm approach, but do not stay near the windows. Do not stay in a mobile home; seek out a ravine, ditch or strong building. In school, curtains and blinds should be closed. Seek an interior hallway on a lower floor. Avoid the gym, auditorium or other areas with a wide, free-span roof. In a shopping center, seek emergency shelter areas, if designated, or take cover against interior walls or under sturdy counters. Avoid buildings with free-span roofs. Never remain in a car.

One other caution: a tornado warning means the storm has been sighted. A tornado watch means that a tornado could develop.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY, DEGORRA!
Our cat Blackie and some of his friends remind us that Monday, March 17, is St. Patrick's Day. Blackie doesn't care much for Irish stew, but the rest of us out at our house do.

THE MAN UP the streets says some people feel the government owes them a living, but that the rest of us would settle for a small tax refund.

Someone asked me the other day if I wrote society news here at the Dispatch. The answer is "No" — not if I can get out of it. I have nothing against society news, but writing it isn't in my department.

However, if I did write society news, the whole system would be different and weddings wouldn't read quite so much as though the bridegroom just showed up as an escort. If you've read a wedding story in the newspaper recently, you know what I mean.

One of these days, though, I might go to a wedding and write the story the way it should be written. First of all, there will be a large picture of the bridegroom (perhaps the bride, too — if she is pretty). Here is the way I am going to write the story:

"The bridegroom looked radiant in his Oxford gray cutaway coat, worn over dark trousers with a subtle vertical stripe. His pearl-gray vest was set off with a broad black and silver-gray striped program ascot, flowing from a sporty, wing collar. He chose cuff links of antique hammered gold, and wore simple, but elegant, smoked-pearl studs. The entire ensemble was accented by a boutonniere of a single gardenia and a sprig of lilies of the valley. The bride wore conventional white.

"The best man was attired in a similar outfit, but was set apart from the bridegroom by a plain gray ascot and white carnation boutonniere. The ushers were attired in morning coats and striped trousers, complemented with white pleated shirts with fold collars and double French cuffs, gray four-in-hand ties, and matching opal studs and cuff links, with brilliant red carnation boutonnières. The bridesmaids and maid of honor all wore matching blue dresses.

"To greet the guests at the wedding reception, the father of the bridegroom chose a black double-breasted tuxedo with wide peaked lapels, black silk bow tie, and white pique vest. The father of the bride looked elegant in a fitted single-breasted tuxedo with modern, slim lapels, highlighted by matching tie and cummerbund.

"For the honeymoon trip, which will take the happy couple to a hunting cabin in northwest Canada, the bridegroom selected a stunning outfit of black mohair trousers and a black and white sport coat with a subtle houndstooth check. His bride was dressed in 'something blue'."

I WOULDN'T HAZARD a guess, though, as to how many readers our society page might lose after such a write-up.

There was a story going the rounds last week of the young minister that went to his first charge.

Before he went there, his superiors impressed upon him to ask two questions of everyone he met: "Are you lost?" and "Are you prepared for the Judgment Day?"

The first morning he went out on the streets and asked the first man he met, "Are you lost?"

The man looked at the minister and said, "No, I live just down the street."

Well, this one didn't go over too good, the young minister decided, so he asked the other question of the next man he met, "Are you prepared for the Judgment Day?"

The man replied, "Well, I don't know. When is it?"

The minister said, "Oh, it could be anytime. It could be tomorrow or the next day."

"Oh, my gosh," the man said, "Don't tell my wife or she will want to go both days."

I'll see you at the livestock show.

SPUR — The second annual Rattlesnake Roundup, sponsored by the Spur Jaycees, will be held here Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The unique event in which live rattlers are collected serves a purpose of clearing surrounding ranch and farm lands of the poisonous reptiles, the sponsors said. Snake hunters must register to be eligible for prizes that will go to catchers of the largest rattlesnake, one weighing the most, and the snake with the most rattlers. The Spur Jaycees will pay 20 cents a pound for rattlers Friday; 15 cents a pound Saturday, and 10 cents a pound Sunday.

Spotlight on Science

From the American Association for the Advancement of Science

NEXT OBJECTIVE IN SPACE
Following man's imminent personal exploration of the moon, the next major objective of our future space efforts should be directed to the goal of better understanding the earth, and better predicting, and better controlling, our atmospheric environment, says Dr. Robert Roberts, president, University Corporation for Atmospheric Research, Boulder, Colo., in an address to President Nixon on a commitment to this inspiring objective, Dr. Roberts says in making such a commitment the President will have still another challenging opportunity. "By aiming the skills of space toward earth-oriented and peaceful uses, not only can he serve the tangible interests of people in every corner of the globe but he can call for the attainment of this goal through a world-cooperative research and engineering effort in which nations in many stages of development can participate. By this step he will greatly advance international understanding. Everyone will benefit if the Soviets, Americans, and others conduct peaceful space research in concert, with joint planning and joint execution. It is a rare chance for initiative."

WANDERING CONTINENTS
For more than one hundred years scientists have argued about the idea that continents now separated by thousands of miles of oceans might have been united at one time.

In addition, seven separate shipments, valued at $483,000, are being available shipping space. The shipments were re-routed to West Coast ports, at additional expense, due to the shutdown of East and Gulf Coast ports by the longshoremen's strike.

But what evidence could one find today to support a theory about events that might have taken place millions of years ago? Geologists Gilles O. Allard and Vernon J. Hurst of the University of Georgia at Athens report in "Science" new evidence to support the idea that Africa and South America were once in close contact.

The shipments include beans, condensed milk, potato flakes, condensed milk, and high-protein processed foods. In addition, CROP has also made funds available to help finance the Mercy Bridge, operated by a consortium of several church-related agencies, from the Portuguese island of Sao Tome.

If one tries to fit a map cut-out of South America to one of Africa, it is obvious that the easternmost tip of Brazil fits quite well into the notch between Ghana and Gabon; coastal areas north and south of these points also match reasonably well. Matching of this kind alone, however, is less than convincing proof that these continents were once together.

INTERNATIONAL SET
In 198, 21 countries were producing or circulating 44 denominations of pure nickel coins and 94 series were producing or circulating 71 denominations of 75 per cent copper, 25 per cent nickel.

Professors Allard and Hurst show that a complex assemblage of rocks—like those found in Brazil and running 350 kilometers perpendicular to the coast line—is found also in Africa near Gabon. These rock formations in both continents are enormous in size; they are arranged in the same order; and using continental "fit" as a guide, they are in the right location. This combination of similarities is too great to ascribe to mere coincidence.

WONNELL STOCK SHOW
WONNELL — More than $600 awards went to winners in the annual livestock show here today. The grand champion was shown by Susan Pearson and the reserve champion by Wood.

This continental "link" discovered by Professors Allard and Hurst is the third of three independent trends that can be located in the field that strongly supports the hypothesis of continental drift.

BAPTISTS SHOW GAIN
NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Preliminary estimates place membership in the Southern Baptist Convention at the end of 1968 at 11.3 million, on the basis of data received from 25,369 of the approximately 34,000 churches in the denomination. This would be an increase of 180,000 over the 1967 membership.

There are nine chemicals recommended for use as preemerges in cotton. All of these can be applied in a band at the time of planting with equipment mounted on the tractor with the planter. Elliott said they can also be band or broadcast applied as a separate operation immediately after planting.

WEED CONTROL FACTS
In recent years of good moisture and areas of high annual rainfall (above 30 inches), weed control is one of the most important factors to consider in getting a good stand of cotton, says Fred C. Elliott, Extension cotton specialist at Texas A&M University.

Chemicals for controlling weeds and grass offer a means of doing away with hand hoeing, as well as offering a cheaper method. There are a number of herbicides available, noted Elliott, but all of them have some limitations. It would be well to study all the materials and learn as much as possible about their use, pointed out the specialist.

SPECIALIST OUTLINES CONTROL FOR CREEPING MESQUITE
The best known method for controlling creeping mesquite for range restoration is with repeated yearly aerial application of 2, 4, 5-T, reports G. C. Hoffman, Extension range brush and weed control specialist at Texas A&M University.

Hoffman's recommendation calls for 0.67 pounds of 2, 4, 5-T low volatile ester mixed in 1 gallon of diesel oil and water for a total of 5 gallons of solution per acre.

Beef cow numbers up from 1959-64

COLLEGE STATION—Total Texas beef cow numbers experienced a growth of 25 per cent during the period between 1959 and 1964, according to Dr. Edward Uvacek, Extension livestock marketing specialist at Texas A&M University. The total growth of the Texas beef cow population in these five years was 962,058 head.

One hundred and sixty-two Texas counties experienced an increase in beef cow numbers of at least 24 per cent during the period. The Panhandle and Caprock areas of Texas showed a large increase. The TransPecos area of the state also was an area of intense growth, but since their total numbers are not too large, even a small increase showed up as a substantial percentage change, pointed out the specialist.

Northeast Texas was another area of tremendous expansion while the Gulf Coast area recorded

It's My Turn

— By MRS. C.

Local clubwomen go to Girlstown dedication event

Four members of the Woman's Culture Club and Mrs. Winnie Tuffing were present last Saturday at Girlstown, USA, when a tree-lined "Avenue of Opportunity" was laid out by clubwomen of the South Plains area.

WCC members attending were the president, Mrs. M. J. Malouf, and Mrs. R. T. Dickson, Mrs. Jack Burreas and Mrs. J. H. Haire.

The "face-lifting" project was a made tangible by the planting of 83 honey locust trees along the entrance driveway to the sparsely landscaped Girlstown, a spread of 1,425 acres.

Approximately 125 representatives of the Caprock District of Texas Federation of Women's Clubs were on hand for the planting. All the women's clubs in the district are sponsoring one or more of the trees.

At the ceremony in the Girlstown dining area, Mrs. Preston Flegley of Lubbock, chairman for the projects, gave the invocation, followed by Mrs. Lane Decker of Floydada, district president, who led the activities and gave a dedication address for the naming of the "Avenue of Opportunity."

A tour of the facilities, led by the director, Marshall W. Cooper, followed a luncheon.

Rushes attend chapter meeting

Margaret Allen, rush chairman, extended a welcome to rushes Sharla Wells, Joyce Haney, Helen Mason and Florene Allen, Monday night when Gamma Mu chapter of Epsilon Alpha met at the Reddy Room.

Plans were made for a garage sale to be held March 29. It was reported the "penny per inch member" paid last month has been sent to the State Disaster Fund and that State dues have been paid.

A decorations committee was appointed for the district meeting which will be held in Post April 13. A nominating committee was also appointed.

Using slides and a record, Patty Rausman, assisted by Florene Allen, presented an interesting program on Holland.

Finger sandwiches, pie, Cokes and coffee were served to the rushes and following members:

Patty Bausman, Laveta Norman, Johnny Norman, Sandra Alexander, Thelma Mason and Margaret Allen by the hostess, Anita Blanton.

Officers elected by Jaycee-ettes

Nell Bailey was elected to succeed Allane Ammons as president of the Jaycee-ettes at a meeting last Thursday night at 8:30 o'clock at the Jaycee office.

Others elected were: Barbara Crenshaw, vice president; Delores Smith, secretary-treasurer; Ruth Ann Young, historian; Allane Ammons, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Crenshaw was hostess and served refreshments to: Nell Bailey, Norma Baumann, Anita Blanton, Ruth Ann Young, Kathy Rankin, Allane Ammons, Lora Blanton and Delores Smith.

Jehovah's Witnesses hear talk on law and order at convention

"Lawlessness and disorder have gone far beyond man's ability to correct as evidenced by the fact that people of all levels of society now live in fear behind locked doors of their own homes," were the introductory remarks of L. M. Dugan who spoke before 620 delegates in Snyder who were attending the main Bible lecture of their convention.

Entitled "Law and Order—When and How?" was the subject presented to the area members of Jehovah's Witnesses, was the highlight of their three-day convention with Dugan pointing to the lack of law and order today. "It is not detached from us but it affects each one of us personally; it touches our family, our relatives, our friends," he said. "We are living in fear; we live in a world of watchdogs and locks, high walls, fences and barred windows and the future looks even worse."

Those from Post will resume their regular schedule of activities here in the Kingdom Hall.

MRS. GENE WILKERSON (Linda Rae Keith)

Keith-Wilkerson wedding is event of March 1 at Devine

Miss Linda Rae Keith and Calvin Gene Wilkerson were united in marriage Saturday, March 1, at 8 o'clock in the evening at the United Methodist Church at Devine.

The Rev. Allen Roe read the double ring wedding vows in a setting of candelabras and baskets of gladioli.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Keith of Devine and Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Wilkerson of Post.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal-length gown of white bridal satin made in the empire style, featuring a lace yoke seeded with pearls and elbow-length lace sleeves. Her veil of illusion fell from a bow of satin and lace enhanced with pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Mrs. Pat Byrd of Crystal City and Miss Karen Keith of Temple, cousin of the bride, were matron and maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Sharon Littleton and Miss Jo Ann Ward. They wore dresses of pink peau de soie in the empire style and carried nosegays of miniature white flowers.

Mrs. Tillman Jones, leader of the "Texas and Federation" program, asked Mrs. E. L. Marks to lead in singing the federation song before introducing Mrs. Decker.

Mrs. Decker, whose theme for the year is "Enthusiasm for Life and Fellowship Creates a Woman Involved", mentioned the opportunities, accomplishments and satisfaction in working in federation. She reminded the club of the Big Thicket project of the state president, and Girlstown, USA, Caprock District project.

She urged the members to be present for the tree planting at Girlstown which was scheduled for last Saturday.

In a brief business meeting the club voted to sponsor the beautification of the old sanitarium and set March 19 as the date to honor early settlers of the area at a "Kissin' Kid Tea."

Enjoying the luncheon beside the honored guest was Mrs. Bill Carlisle, president of the Amity Study Club and the following members: Mmes. C. R. Thaxton, Joe Irons, B. E. Young, R. T. Library Listening Post

By ROSEMARY CHAPMAN

Mother seldom reads a book after reading a review of it. "Why bother?" she says. "They tell you so much about it, you don't need to read it." In her opinion, a good review is brief and to the point — "Ick", for instance, or its antithesis, "Great!" With that criterion in mind, I'd like to call your attention to a few recent Post Library acquisitions.

"A Small Town in Germany" by John Le Carré. Coward - McCann, 1968. Spying at its best. La Carré can't be beaten in this genre.

"The Inquisitor's House" by Robert Sommerlott. Viking, 1968. A weirdo — mediums in Mexico, and all that jazz. The first chapter is a little tedious, but carry on — the rest provides interesting entertainment.

"The Magus" by John Fowles. Little, Brown, 1965. Another weirdo, most of which I didn't understand, but enjoyed it thoroughly anyway. A surprise a minute by the author of "The Collector".

"And Other Stories" by John O'Hara. Random House, 1968. O'Hara sounds so much like O'Hara. I can't read one of his books without thinking that I've been there before. Still, there's no doubt that he's one of the sharpest short story writers around, and I wouldn't miss one for the world.

"The Sleep of Reason" by C. P. Snow. Scribner's, 1968. This is the first book that I've read by the highly touted Mr. Snow. Spent a pleasant enough evening with it — there's an excellent trial scene — but found him a bit limited. On the whole, disappointing.

"2001, A Space Odyssey" by Arthur C. Clarke. New American Library, 1968. I've often seen movies that were made from books, but this is the first book I've read that was made from a movie. The picture — a mysterious, thought-provoking affair — was much better than its mundane afterthought. All but the most devout science fiction buffs are advised to skip the novel.

"Ladies, Please Come to Order" by Peggy Cameron King. Grosset & Dunlap, 1968. This is the dumbest book I've ever read. It supposedly presents helpful hints for clubwomen in a charming manner. Ha. If I thought I had to be in a club with this King woman, I'd scream my head off.

Chapman new Anderson manager

R. S. Anderson, Midland independent oil operator, has announced that Earl Chapman has been named manager of his production office here in a shift necessitated by the resignation of David Newby March 1 to enter private business.

Chapman's new duties will be in addition to those as manager of the Rocker A Well Service.

Newby was production superintendent for Anderson. Chapman will not assume all of these duties, but will manage the production in two fields. Am I doing all right, mom?

Recent book donors: Mrs. O. L. Weakley, Vicki Anderson Jones, the McCrary Building which will remain open and have the same box number.

Anderson also announced the elevation of three men in his organization to production foremen.

These include Sam Heintz of Post, pumper who has become production foreman of the Rocker A field and the Rocker A South Unit; P. O. Martin of Post, production foreman of the R. S. A. unit waterflood in the Rocker A field, and Kenneth Elliot, production foreman of the 40-well operation in Mitchell County.

Anderson told The Dispatch that he wishes Newby well in his new venture into franchised automatic car washes and commented that his long association with Newby here had been a very pleasant one.

TRULY EVANGELICAL

By George L. Miller

One of the three principles guiding the Consultation on Church Union is the phrase "truly Evangelical." These words are welcome to many contemporary church-goers. "What the Church needs now is Evangelism" they cry. And until the consultation began, no one seemed to be hearing them.

The present emphasis on evangelism arises — in part at least — from the dismay many people feel at the churches' participation in social concerns. Ministers and priests have taken revolutionary steps in order to correct what they consider are social wrongs. We have seen them assault local draft board offices and burn their files. We have seen them participate in civil rights marches. We have seen them give their blessing to Black Power militants and student demonstrators. We have been urged to boycott California table grapes to show our support of the grape pickers strike.

Such activities are highly emotional and controversial. They make society uneasy, and threaten the atmosphere of peace which we prize so highly in our land. Obviously, it is difficult for church members to accept such activities gracefully. It seems inconceivable that our Lord Jesus Christ could condone such goings on.

Thus the emphasis on Evangelism. It is a call to piety and repentance. Only as the individual is saved from his sin will society find healing. In prayer and good works the church can do its proper work. It must shun society, not get involved with it.

However, a second look at the words "truly Evangelical" may prove less welcome to some than you'd think.

What is Evangelism, what does it mean to be Evangelical? The image most of us have is of the camp meeting or the week-long revival meeting. It suggests emotional fervor, prayers and singing, and above all other-worldliness. As one song puts it "This world is not my home, I'm just a passin' through." It is usually subjective and more than a little self-centered.

The word "Evangelism," on the other hand, is closer to preaching or proclamation. It's letting the whole world know the Good News, the "Evangel" of Jesus Christ. As such, it is outward in its reach instead of inward. It's concerned with others rather than with ourselves.

What is the Good News? Simply that God loves you, that God cares about you. Whoever you are, wherever you are, whatever you are. Thus the student protestor and the Black militant are included in God's love every bit as much as the pious church goer. And the Evangelist must go out to them, bringing this good news to them.

Most would agree this is true, the only difference of opinion is how this should be done. Jesus gave us no blueprint for evangelism, he only said "Go." But we have the example of other greater evangelists — men like Paul and Luther and Calvin and Wesley. They went out, they identified themselves with the people they spoke to, and most important of all, they showed by their ministry that they genuinely cared. We are satisfied too easily by telling people God loves them. These men showed God's love in their lives.

If the Church is to become "truly Evangelical" it must take seriously the task of showing God's love. It must become less preoccupied with the sins of society and become more sensitive to people and their needs. John tells us, "We love because He first loved us." In the same manner we should care, because God cares.

You can lose it.
You can burn it.
You can tear it up.

We replace it.

Now, we don't suggest that you start taking U. S. Savings Bonds to parties to light your cigarettes. But if your Savings Bond is ever lost, stolen, mutilated or destroyed, all you have to do to have it replaced are these two things:

1. Notify the Bureau of Public Debt, Division of Loans and Currency, 536 South Clark Street, Chicago, Illinois 60605. Send in the serial number, if you have it, along with information about where and when you bought it. And send whatever is left of your damaged Bond.

2. Then complete and return Form PD 104B which the Treasury will be sending you.

We'll replace your Bond with a duplicate. Or with full payment, if you like. Because Savings Bonds are an investment in your country. And there's no safer investment than that.

Another thing. Savings Bonds are easy to buy, too. Just go to your bank. Or join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Drivers 'used spirits' even in Grandpa's day

AUSTIN — Drunk drivers who have been on the highway scene for some 65 years, the Texas Safety Association noted in commenting on the long-ago and recently proposed legislation designed to remove Texas drivers from the state's highways as early as 1944, the Quarterly Journal of Inebriety reported that drivers were at fault in at least 19 of 25 fatal accidents involving automobiles.

A careful inquiry showed that 18 of these accidents the drivers used spirits within an hour or more of the disaster. The other six were of moderate drinkers who were not ascertained whether they had used spirits preceding the accident," the Journal noted.

It was also reported that in the fatal accidents, 15 persons occupied the wagons were killed outright, five more died two days later and three other persons were injured, some seriously.

In illustrating the "new danger," the publication cited the following recent case between the owners of large wagons, in which a number of gentlemen took part, was abruptly terminated by one of the owners and drivers, who perished in using spirits. His friends carried him, and in returning to home his wagon ran off a bridge and was wrecked.

The Journal predicted that "with the increased popularity of these wagons, accidents of this kind will rapidly multiply." It also concluded that "inebriates and moderate drinkers are the most incapable of all persons to drive motor wagons," and that "the precaution of railroad companies to have only total abstainers guide their engines will soon extend to the owners and drivers of these new motor wagons."

Although the drunk driver problem was identified as early as 1904, it was not shown to be serious until about 1924, the Safety Association explained. Since then, every competent investigation has demonstrated that excessive use of alcohol is a major source of highway crashes and as a result, some 31 states now have laws requiring chemical tests for intoxication. Texas is not yet one of the states requiring chemical tests although Texas studies show that drunk drivers contribute to more than one-half of the state's highway deaths. One 10-year study shows that as many as 68 per cent of the Texas drivers killed in one-car accidents are drunk when they die.

Shortcourse set for 4-H members

COLLEGE STATION—4-H members who will enter either their junior or senior year in high school in September, 1969, may attend the National 4-H Citizenship Shortcourse, according to Tom Davison, assistant state 4-H leader at Texas A&M University.

Davison said the shortcourse, to be held at the National 4-H Center in Washington, D. C., June 15-21, will provide an opportunity for 4-H members to supplement the citizenship education and leadership development training they receive through the home, the school, the church, and other organizations.

The shortcourse is designed to help participants develop a greater understanding and appreciation of our American heritage, and learn the basic functions of government at the national level. They will gain an appreciation and understanding of the international aspects of citizenship, and deepen their commitment to the democratic way of life. Davison said they would also develop skills for practicing and teaching citizenship in their local 4-H clubs.

Hamilton rites held at Jayton

Last rites for Mrs. Ina Isadora Hamilton, 84, a Kent County resident since 1916, were held at 2 p. m. Wednesday in the First Baptist Church at Jayton.

Mrs. Hamilton, who died Monday morning at the Kent County Nursing Home in Jayton, was the mother of Thomas B. Hamilton, who teaches at Post High School. Besides the son of Post, Mrs. Hamilton is survived by two other sons, three daughters, a brother, a sister, 20 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Burial was in Jayton Cemetery under the direction of Campbell Funeral Home of Spur. Grandsons of Mrs. Hamilton were pallbearers.

Church at Close City holds Week of Prayer

By MRS. BARNIE JONES

This reporter has been ill for several days with the flu, and news will be scarce this week.

The week of prayer for Home Mission work was held last week at the Friendship Baptist Church. An average of six women were in attendance each day. The week closed Friday night with a program.

Bunny Smith of Fort Worth and Miss Kathleen Smith of Wichita Falls spent the weekend with their mother and sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Young were Sunday luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Peel.

$800 light damage at baseball park

Bill McBride gave an interesting talk on Post's boys summer baseball program before Post Rotarians at their weekly luncheon in City Hall Tuesday.

McBride pointed out that one of the program's biggest problems are parents of players, especially when it comes to all-star team selections.

Explaining that the program has the support of the Garza United Fund, McBride said that the program barely manages to make financial ends meet.

He said windstorms had blown down one of the lightpoles at the park since the last playing season and it would cost approximately $800 to repair the damage to the broken lights and replace the pole.

Rites for father of Post resident

Funeral services were held at Richland Springs last Thursday for Theodor Brigrance, father of Mrs. Vernon Payne of Post.

Mr. Brigrance died Tuesday of last week following a lengthy illness. He was a retired farmer.

Mrs. Payne was in Richland Springs when her father died. Mr. Payne, who is Post High School principal, and their daughter, Kippy, left for Richland Springs Wednesday of last week after receiving news of Mr. Brigrance's death.

Besides the daughter of Post, he is survived by his wife, five other daughters and a son.

and bring back a carload a day for trial, that figures at something like 31,200 miles a year for hauling drunks which at 10 cents a mile would be $3,120, not figuring the loss of the officer's time doing the driving.

Of course, Post will soon wear out its welcome at the State jail if the present arrangement has to be continued indefinitely and then will come the suggestion of maybe paying a little of the jail costs.

To those who say it's silly to have two jails, we can only say that it has been silly for the last decade or so to have our two law enforcement arms at odds with each other instead of cooperating together and reducing law enforcement cost to the taxpayers significantly. But we have it and none of us seem able to solve this problem.

The jail problem then is but a part of the larger, overall unsolved problem of law enforcement cooperation.

Since we cannot solve that apparently, a separation of the law enforcement activities appears to be the best alternative.

The city has its own corporation court and seeks its own jail.

Our guess is that the jail proposition will be beaten and law enforcement will stay on a "dog-eat-dog, ain't-it-a-dirty-shame basis."

That other April decision involves the Garza Hospital District. The Dispatch will take its editorial stand in short order now that the commissioners court this week has called the election for April 19.

Trustees passed action on employment of an attorney to press for collection of back taxes until outcome of a bill now before the legislature setting up requirements for such attorneys is determined.

Supt. Shiver reported approximately $5,400 in delinquent taxes has been collected from the tax letter request for payment sent out a month ago.

The superintendent discussed the budget preparation for the 1969-70 year, which begins Sept. 1, to receive any guidelines on budget preparation the board wished to make.

The board generally agreed that all available funds not used elsewhere in this year's budget be applied against one or more high priority school maintenance projects.

One of the projects, replacing the windows in the junior high building, will cost an estimated $40,000 alone, Shiver hopes to have some cost estimates ready for the board's consideration at the April meeting.

The board for several years has been working to apply every available dollar at the summer close of the school year to property maintenance so that major repair items will not force a tax increase on down the line.

Trustees instructed Shiver to try Friends of a Public Library set meeting

The annual meeting of the Friends of a Public Library will be held at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, March 18, in the Community Room at the First National Bank.

Gordon Lee will be in charge of the program, with the business portion of the meeting to include election of officers.

Courtroom brightens under new lighting

Everybody will be able to "see what's going on" now in any court proceedings in the Garza district courtroom here.

Travis Thomas over the weekend replaced the 45-year-old fixtures in the courtroom with new fixtures which provide 14 times more light.

County Judge J. E. Parker said when the old light fixtures were installed in 1924, the five candlepower they produced at floor level was the best lighting available.

The new fixtures provide 70 candlepower.

Trustees approved the admission into the first grade of Ty Lewis Staley, who is transferring into the Oklahoma although he was too young to qualify here in Texas. Board action came after Shiver recommended it, pointing out that "to keep Ty out of school now, would, in my opinion, seriously impair his learning growth."

The board gave Shiver the "go ahead" to continue in the federal programs next year and heard a report from Trustee Earl Chapman that it apparently will be impossible to meet state requirements for an automotive maintenance shop as a class for 20 boys would require some 4,200 square feet of class space which is not available.

Shiver suggested the school district sponsor short courses in a variety of fields for interested student in lieu of automotive training.

23 lettermen named

1969 football slate same as last year's

Except for the sites of the games, there are no changes in the Post Antelopes' 1969 football schedule from the 1968 schedule, Coach Glynn Gregg said today.

Coach Gregg also announced that 19 members and the four managers of the 1968 squad had been awarded letters, and that letter jackets have gone to the two seniors and 12 juniors on the squad and to the senior manager.

The five sophomore squadmen and three sophomore managers who lettered will receive jackets with their junior year with letter-stripe patches to show that they lettered their sophomore year, Gregg said.

The coach explained that under the new Interscholastic League rule in effect this year a high school athlete is allowed only one letter sweater. He said the athletic department decided that the one jacket would mean more to this year's sophomores when they are juniors, and that the boys' growth from their sophomore year into their junior year also was taken into consideration.

This year's junior lettermen who also letter in their senior year will receive an additional letter stripe for their jackets, the coach said.

The two senior lettermen are Jerry Crenshaw and James Polard, each receiving his second letter in football.

The 1969 football schedule as announced by Coach Gregg follows: Sept. 12: Hale Center at Hale Center.

Sept. 19: Lockney at Post.
Sept. 26: Floydada at Post.
Oct. 3: Roosevelt at Roosevelt.
Oct. 10: Stanton at Post.
Oct. 17: Tahoka at Post.
Oct. 24: Frenshin at Frenshin.
Oct. 31: Denver City at Post.
Nov. 7: Idalou at Idalou.
Nov. 14: Morton at Morton.

District 4AA games are those with Tahoka, Frenshin, Denver City, Idalou and Morton.

CHECK THESE RECORDS

Dear Editor: There are other records that are open to the school taxpayers of this district.

These are records of the awards that have been won through the years by Georgie Wilson and the high school choir for our town, and are displayed on the walls of the choir room.

The band is on display at every football game, whereas to hear the choir you must put forth a little more effort on your own to attend one of their concerts.

I especially want to urge the parents who do not have children in any of the choirs and the people who do not have children at all in school to please attend the benefit concert March 18, 7:30 p. m., in the high school gym. Help to send this sweepstakes winning choir to the Tri-State contest.

Thank you.
Mrs. Luther Bilberry
P. S.: The Choir Parents just happen to be serving supper at the cafeteria from 5 to 7 p. m. that same evening. Tickets are available from choir students, parents, or at the door.

on Saturday and burial was in the Slaton Englewood Cemetery. He is survived by his wife; six sons, a daughter, a brother, a sister, 25 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren. May God comfort this family in their sorrow.
We also want to extend sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Buford Jones and family. Her brother-in-law, W. C. Briggs at Adrian, suffered a heart attack March 3 and died en route to an Amarillo hospital. He was the husband of the former Easter Bell Woods who so many of you in this community know. Mr. Briggs was buried in Vega on March 5. Also, Mrs. Jones' sister-in-law, Mrs. Dink Woods, passed away recently at Paducah. May God comfort this family in their sorrow.

Mrs. Pat Dyess was confined to her home for several days with the flu. Hope you are feeling better, Pat.
Congratulations to Joe E. Basinger who placed first in the high jump at the Denver City track meet last Saturday.

Sunday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Havis were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Andrews and children of Brownfield, Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Lane and children of Friona, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Robbins and children of Idalou and Mrs. Carl Eudrey of Houston.
Mrs. Irmgard Bredemeyer from Sweetwater spent several days last week visiting here with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Stolle, and Beth.
Chris Gindorf and Joan, spent the weekend in Dallas with the Milton Gindorf family and Patsy Gindorf. Mr. and Mrs. Dee Hodge from Leveland spent the weekend visiting his parents in Post and with Mrs. Nellie Mathis.

Edmund, Sherri and Yours Truly were Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Riney at Slaton.
Mrs. Fred Steinhauser, who fell and broke her shoulder and cracked her hip recently, is still a patient at Mercy Hospital.

Boll weevil may be nearing end

AUSTIN — If experimentation under way in Dickens, Motley, Briscoe and Hall counties proves successful, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White says the dread boll weevil may become as extinct as the dinosaur.

High Plains cotton farmers are getting the help of an experimental boll weevil trap coupled with poison-baited plants to eradicate the biggest trouble-maker in Texas agriculture history and one of the South's biggest economy-changers.

The experiment will be carried out April 1 - June 30. Cotton plants used will be grown in Brownsville. Weevils used to bait thermal traps will be flown in weekly from Mississippi laboratories.

Texas beef some day will feed the world

AMARILLO — The day is coming soon, experts in the meat packing industry say, when Texas bred and fed cattle will be served on the tables of European families as everyday cuisine.

Giant jet cargo planes laden with prime beef cuts will depart Amarillo Air Terminal for ports around the world each day and the High Plains will be known as the livestock feeding and packing center of the globe.

These are the predictions of those who are in the position to know just how important Texas home-grown beef has become in the past few years and what its potential is for the future. They are reported in a recent survey by Jack Porter, regional editor of the Amarillo Globe-News.

"THE HIGH Plains country will be the dominant feeding area in the United States, the nation's meat belt," says John Goodwin, an agricultural economist with Oklahoma State University.

Why the optimism from Goodwin and others in the business? Because economically it makes sense to put feed operations where the cattle are, and packing plants where the feeding is, says Porter.

Abundance of grain, cattle, a year-round feeding climate and central location to markets are all conducive to a feeder-packer industry which already, and in a period of only a few years, has surpassed Texas' cotton in dollar volume.

"So few people even realize it's anything close to the cotton industry," said Rex Kennedy of Texas Tech.

He pointed to the state's gross annual income from cotton at the farm level at about $750 million, while gross income from cattle, before they even enter the packing plant, is put at $765 million.

Kennedy's cattle analysis applies to an area within a 200-mile radius of Amarillo.

THE PROFESSOR cites the new Missouri Beef Packers plant at Hereford to show its economic impact on the Friona and Hereford areas. He said he could see it in the business activity, the number of people, cars and homes.

The overall impact, he says, will make Amarillo one of the big financial centers to carry the money load.

"There is a tremendous future in livestock feeding and packing," Kennedy says. "Water may be the big drawback, but I believe we will see our important water."

He was referring to the proposed importation of Mississippi River water to supplement underground supplies for grain growing.

Despite the water problem, Goodwin says the High Plains are destined to become the nation's meat belt. "It's been growing 25 per cent per year ever since I've been working with it," he related.

"WATER WILL have an impact," comments the Oklahoma State U. professor, "but we'll have dryland grain varieties and supplemental water sources."

Supporting Goodwin and Kennedy in their prediction of a bright future for the High Plains cattle industry are the dozen or more large plants already successfully operating there — and announced plans for other large facilities.

Wilson Co. has broken ground on a 400-acre tract at Hereford which will employ 200 persons in addition to providing work for nearly 200 others in service capacities.

The activity stretches through the Oklahoma Panhandle to western Kansas where National Packing Co. has broken ground at Liberal for a $4.2 million plant which will have a volume of 2,000 head per day.

Manager of the Liberal Chamber of Commerce Glen Gavin says that even small feedlot operators benefit from packing plants. He cited a Guyman, Okla., rancher as saying that when a Swift & Co. plant went in there the price of beef increased 25 cents per hundred, and that another 25 cents per hundred can be expected when the National Packing Co. opens at Liberal.

GAVIN SAID if 300,000 head of cattle were processed annually at the Liberal plant, 800 million pounds of beef would be required to feed them.

"We all know that the backbone of all our economy is agriculture," he said. "When we can take the raw products we have in abundance, such as feed grains, feed the cattle and process the meat to ship them out, we are taking advantage of all our natural products."

In agreement with him is W. G. Orwin, an executive with Swift & Co. "It's no secret this is the fastest growing feeding area in the United States," he said.

"I can visualize this area replacing the Corn Belt," Orwin said. "Feeders here are more efficient than Corn Belt feeders."

A SPOKESMAN for the industrial Development Committee of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce said a Lockheed 500 has a carrying capacity of 330,000 pounds and could carry 600 beef carcasses, and the Boeing 747 could handle

Texas-fed beef being promoted

AUSTIN — The most intensified promotional campaign in agricultural history has been opened by the Texas Department of Agriculture to make Texas grain-fed beef a household word.

"By the time the next two months are over, we hope that housewives will ask for Texas beef and not just beef," Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said in announcing TAP will turn its attention to beef promotion in March and April.

"We are going to do everything short of tying a string around the finger of the housewife to help the consumer remember to watch for the TAP symbol," White said.

The Department, with the help of private associations, will place more than 500 outdoor billboards 464 carcasses or about 220,000 pounds. The Amarillo air facilities can handle such planes.

Railroad freight managers are optimistic about what meat industry growth will mean to them, too.

And all the elation isn't limited to beef. At least a few men would just as soon have pork chops for supper as a sirloin and their taste isn't being overlooked.

A new Jimmy Dean Meat Co. at Plainview is now under construction and will have a per day capacity of 600 hogs.

"When hogs start smelling like money you'll see a big increase in hog production even if you don't wear cowboy boots and big white hats," one enthusiast remarked.

MORE THAN 100 MILES OF CABLE WAS BURIED TWO FEET BELOW THE OCEAN FLOOR BY THE FLOW. THE DEVICE, TOWED BY SHIP, OPERATES ON 4 SLED-LIKE RUNNERS. FUTURE CABLE-BURYING PROJECTS WILL MEAN INCREASED RELIABILITY FOR OVERSEAS TELEPHONE COMMUNICATIONS.

Karen's Korner

It's nice to have a vacation once in a while. That's what last Friday was when we were let out of school. The teachers had to attend a meeting at Texas Tech all day. However, the band went to Hale Center for criticisms on their playing. And I went to Lubbock and battled the dust and wind while wearing contacts! Now that Friday's vacation is gone, we can turn our bright young faces full of hope to the Easter holidays. You've got about three weeks to practice hunting for Easter eggs!

Post's own "Flyte Ltd.," consisting of Mike Scott, Giles McCrary, Curtis Lancaster, David Pierce, Timmons Bull and Steven Newby, played for the dance last Saturday night.  Also there were Larry Bilberry, Dicky Wallace, Helyn Cheshire, Ben McCain, Roger Dale Blair, David Midkiff, Rickie Hines, Jackie Moore, Ann Aten, Sue Litton, Bud Sparlin, Liz Dalby, Kim Hundley, Barbe Gilmore, Jan Olson, James Pollard, Norma Eckert, Billy Williams, Dan Eckert, Patti Allison, Jane Johnston, Rebecca Pruitt, Nancy Cook, Debbie Eubank, Ricky Lee, Martha Miller, Jay Bird, Johnny Hodges, Boyd Noble, Jan Bullock, Debbie Cummings, Suzy Romero, Donna Kolb, Darrell Odom, Jodie Kolb, Cheryl Pennell, Larry Rosas, Ronnie Petty, Mike Petty, Larry Scrivner, Brenda Lee, Ronnie Williams, Larry Barner, and Bill Turbyfill.
 Many thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Don Pennell for chaperoning the dance. The kids greatly appreciate their efforts. This Saturday night "The Seventh Story Darkness" from Dimmitt will play from 8:30 to 1 at $1 per person. So, EVERYBODY PLEASE COME!

The students of PHS express their condolences to Mr. Payne, our principal, for the loss of his father-in-law, to Mr. Hamilton, chemistry and science teacher, for the loss of his mother, and to Mrs. Fleming, commercial teacher, for the loss of her father.
 If you are one of the lucky Seniors who is taking economics or "Eco", you are probably counting your blessings right now. And I imagine that walking, calmly into that class and suddenly being thrown the role of a Peace Corps worker in a village in India would not be among the above numerical rating "Eco" students are studying the economy and life of India. After doing some reading on the country, we hold class "battles." The Peace Corps worker faces the Indian village (other classmates) and tries to explain why he is there and what he is going to do to help India. Believe me, it's like facing a pit of vipers; you want to turn and run from the antagonism. But this is an excellent way to understand the problems of India and of the Peace Corps worker there. We try to discover ways in which we can effectively help this overpopulated and poverty-stricken country. All those in favor of volunteering Mr. Gordon Lee, the economics teacher, for the Peace Corps in India, please stand up and be heard!

Wine industry prospects good

LUBBOCK — Swine industry prospects for West Texas were painted in bright colors by a college professor in testimony last week.

Gerald Thomas, dean of agriculture at Texas Tech, told a legislative committee that Texas can compete with the Corn Belt for a swine industry.

budget requests. "Texas has all the potentials of the Corn Belt states," Thomas said.

He said research money at Texas Tech has been spent on applied, not basic, research to further a swine industry for Texas.

After the United States purchased the Danish West Indies in 1917, the name was changed to Virgin Islands.

FFA program gives leadership training

By LT. GOV. BEN BARNES

A young man's education in this sophisticated age involves much more than absorbing facts from textbooks. The knowledge gained from books is of high importance, to be sure, but just as necessary in today's learning process is the development of individual character, moral fiber, and self-confidence required for active participation in modern society.

It could be called leadership training.

There are now approximately 50,000 young men of Texas who are getting an excellent basic education in leadership through the programs of vocational agriculture in our public schools and by participation in the Future Farmers of America.

MANY SCHOOL activities provide a certain amount of opportunity for personal achievement. These are all important. However, the Future Farmers of America is an area unto itself as a means of building personal responsibility, character, integrity, and the other qualities so necessary to effective leadership.

Members of the FFA learn the basic values of life earlier than most young people. They learn to be competitors.

Through carefully documented projects and organized contests, they learn that rewards come in almost direct relationship to the amount of sound judgment and personal effort invested.

Every youth who takes part in FFA activities learns the satisfaction of a job well done, whether it is a dollars-and-cents profit on his project books or a blue ribbon in the county fair show ring. He learns to accept honor with humility and grace. But also, certain to face failure at one time or another, he learns to accept defeat with dignity and renewed effort.

THESE ARE valuable lessons for life and for leadership. They are lessons that build strong citizens and prepare them for roles of responsibility in their communities, their state, and their nation.

As a former student of vocational agriculture and member of the Future Farmers of America, I find that I am still using skills and business practices from that phase of my life. Even more important, I can think of no other part of my education that had a more profound effect on my judgment and values or that did more to shape my views toward responsible leadership.

Since the future of Texas, the United States, or any land always depends on the values adopted by its youth, we must continually seek to bring out the utmost in the leadership potential of every generation.

THOSE WHO learn early about the values of self-reliance and hard work will understand best the necessity of personal responsibility. Those who learn teamwork with others in common projects will have a far better understanding of the problems of others and how to utilize the combined thinking, persuasion, concession, and compromise that is required for achieving mutual goals.

The young man equipped with this knowledge will be the one who is best prepared to actively share in the building of a stronger state and a stronger nation.

He will be the young man who will accept challenges as opportunities. And he will be the leader of tomorrow.

Every active Future Farmer of America can proudly place himself in that category.

Total value of state livestock's and poultry up

COLLEGE STATION—The total value of livestock and poultry on Texas farms and ranches on Jan. 1 was 12 per cent above a year ago, according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Cattle numbers were up five per cent, hogs one per cent and turkeys six per cent. Sheep numbers were down seven per cent from last year, goats 18 per cent and chickens 10 per cent, the service said.

On the first day of the year, the total value of livestock and poultry was set at $1,696.8 million. Cattle comprised 92.3 per cent of the total all sheep 3.9 per cent, hogs 1.3 per cent, goats 1.2 per cent and poultry 1.3 per cent.

For the fourth consecutive year, Texas cattle numbers increased. There were 11,521,000 cattle in the state with an average value per head of $136. Milk cow numbers, however, were six per cent below the 1968 total with 374,000 head on Texas farms and ranches on Jan. 1, 1969.

All sheep in the state totaled 3,949,000 head — down seven per cent from last year. Stock sheep were also down by seven per cent, but total sheep on feed remained unchanged at 242,000 head. All sheep were valued at $65.9 million.

Goat and kid numbers dropped 18 per cent from the 1968 figure to 2,929,000 head, valued at $6.70 per head. The current inventory had a farm value of $19.6 million, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service noted.

All hogs totaled 943,000 head, up one per cent. Hogs and pigs on Texas farms and ranches were valued at $22.3 million or an average of $23.70 per head.

Chickens numbered 17,445,000 on Jan. 1, with a total farm value of $18.3 million. The total, which excludes commercial broilers, was down 10 per cent. Turkeys, however, totaled 793,000 head, an increase of six per cent from last year. Turkeys in the state were valued at $3.7 million at the start of the year.

Production is keeping up in Texas dairy industry

COLLEGE STATION — The Texas dairy industry is growing, according to Dairy Herd Improvement Association figures for 1968.

The report, prepared by J. W. Davis, Extension dairy specialist with Texas A&M University, shows that the average dairy herd has almost doubled from the 57.5 average of 1958 to 97.4 cow years in 1968.

During the same period, the average milk yield per cow rose from 8,112 to 11,156 pounds per herd more than doubled from 466,440 pounds to 1,066,594 pounds per year.

The average yearly milk per year for the ten-year period, and the average daily milk herd went from 1,278 to 2,976 pounds. Butterfat per herd increased from 19,550 to 39,837 pounds.

Butterfat per cow went from 340 to 409 pounds per year during the 1958-1968 decade, and the daily butterfat average went from 53.6 to 97.4 pounds.

The statistics for the ten years were tabulated from annual reports of the DHIA's test year ending Sept. 30, 1968. The comparisons are made to show the progress made through the DHIA. Davis pointed out.

Bobby J. Traweck, Dublin, had the high milk herd in 1968 with 45.3 cow years producing 16,475 pounds of milk and 593 pounds of fat. J. Chester Elliff of Tullia owned the high fat herd with 85.5 cow years producing 11,574 pounds of milk and 858 pounds of butterfat.

Davis said that of the cows on test in 1968, 78.9 per cent were Holstein, 13.4 per cent Jersey and 7.7 per cent were other breeds.

The past statewide results are good yardsticks by which dairy producers can make their own comparisons. All records should be complete, accurate and used in making management decisions, the specialist stressed. Records can show the producer which cows to cull, how to make better decisions in management and breeding.

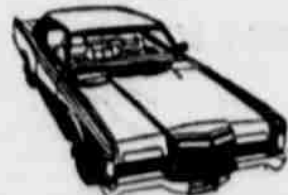

With the trend toward larger operations, the purchase of more feed and greater use of mechanical equipment, these records will play an even larger role, Davis added.

Santa Fe Railroad now in its 2nd century of service

Cyrus K. Holliday was the father of the Santa Fe Railroad, which this year is starting its second century of service.

Holliday was a dreamer but also a doer—possessed of an engaging personality, imagination, resourcefulness and unlimited perseverance.

He arrived on the Kansas scene in 1854 with two objectives in mind. He wanted to found a town in the new territory and he wanted to build a railroad capable of transporting the vast amount of goods moving to and from the trappers and traders at Santa Fe—the trade center of the vast Southwest.

The charter for the Atchison and Topeka Railroad—the base from which the present system grew—was prepared single-handedly by Holliday in 1859. The bill sailed through both the House and Senate and was approved by the Governor on Feb. 11, 1859.

The Civil War and the disarranged business conditions of the country slowed operations and it was Oct. 30, 1868, that saw the real beginning of the railroad—the turning of the first spadeful of earth at Topeka.

The new railroad headed neither for Atchison nor Santa Fe, but east toward the nearby Kaw River and a connection with the Kansas Pacific. Once this task had been accomplished, the road built nearly south to Burlingame, and Santa Fe's first train—the Wakarusa Picnic Special—rolled out of Topeka on April 26, 1869. In less than nine months, Santa Fe built 360 miles of road, including the long-awaited Topeka to Atchison link. The line to Granada, Colo., was opened May 10, 1873.

In 1876, the extension of the line to Pueblo, Colo., 138 miles west of Granada, was placed in regular service.

Las Vegas, N. M., was reached in 1879, and by this time the ultimate destination was the Pacific Coast, with the main line to follow the Rio Grande to Albuquerque.

It was a grave disappointment to learn that the road's main line could not be routed through the long-sought city of Santa Fe, but surveys indicated there was no practical way to build west out of this town. The citizenry of Santa Fe was determined, however, to have rail service and approved a bond issue to aid in constructing a branch line from Lamy. Thus, the first Santa Fe train to the namesake city arrived Feb. 16, 1880.

Expansion of the Santa Fe both east and west was begun in 1875. It was evident by 1883 that Santa

4-H AND CITIZENSHIP

The youth program of the Cooperative Extension Service, 4-H, has as a major objective the development of youth into purposeful and constructive citizens. Each 4-H project and activity contributes to this objective. Knowledge and understanding of citizenship responsibilities plus participation in group activities are among the important phases of the 4-H Citizenship project.

Fe should build to Chicago which was even then well on its way to becoming the "railroad center of the world." It was eventually decided to purchase and rebuild the Chicago & St. Louis and use about 100 miles of it as the new line. In January, 1888, train service was begun between Kansas City and Chicago and regular operations commenced on May 1.

From the turning of the first spadeful of earth on Oct. 30, 1868, the little railroad had, within a span of 20 years, become one of the greatest systems of the world—a railroad that extended from Lake Michigan to the Pacific Coast and to the Gulf of Mexico. The dream of Cyrus K. Holliday had been fulfilled.

Santa Fe anticipates $40 million from 501 industries along line

AMARILLO — About $40 million annual gross revenue is expected to be generated by Santa Fe Railroad from 501 industrial development projects which were located along its line during 1968, George W. Cox, vice president - industrial development, has announced.

Included were 349 new permanent industries and 152 expansions of plants served by Santa Fe. These new and expanded facilities represent an investment of almost $638 million. It is anticipated that this will produce more than 110,000 carloads of additional traffic, Cox said.

Santa Fe and its subsidiaries own more than 22,400 acres of industrial property adjacent to the railroad, including 600 acres acquired during 1968.

By VERN SANFORD

Texas Press Association
AUSTIN — Legislation dealing with peace officers and rebellious students are the dominant bills under consideration by the lawmakers.

Approved by the House was a measure that would provide criminal penalties for anyone involved in violent campus disruptions at both public and private schools throughout the state. Vote on the bill, by Rep. Joe Shannon of Fort Worth, was 135 to 12. It now goes to the Senate for action.

One of the two Negro members in the House, Rep. Curtis Graves of Houston, spoke against the bill saying it was "the kind of legislation that causes a backlash. If this passes, I predict this type of violence may come to our state, and each of us will regret passing it."

A clause in the bill outlawing disruptions by "loud or boisterous conduct" was deleted from the bill after some members said it was ambiguous and feared it might find the same fate as the state's disorderly conduct ordinance.

LAST YEAR a three judge panel in Waco ruled the disorderly conduct ordinance unconstitutional for not being specific enough. An appeal was made and the U. S. Supreme Court still is considering the measure.

Several amendments were added to the proposed bill, including one that would bar a student from attending a State - financed or assisted school for two years following three convictions for violation of the act. If a student were convicted twice under the act, he could not receive any State loans. Another amendment assures students taking part in demonstrations the right to peaceful protest.

A trespass bill by Rep. Menton Murray of Harlingen is awaiting action. This bill would make it unlawful for anyone "with a malicious and mischievous intent" to trespass on the property of someone else, including campuses. It now is in the House Committee on Criminal Jurisprudence.

OTHER BILLS were filed dealing with law enforcement. Senate Youth Affairs Committee voted to report favorably to the Senate two bills designed to provide fairer hearings on juvenile offenders, which could include some of the demonstrators — especially at high schools.

One of the proposals would require the court to appoint an attorney to represent a juvenile offender, if the parents cannot afford one. If the judge determines that the parents can afford an attorney, he can require that they get one.

Both of the bills were proposed by Sen. Criss Cole of Houston, who is chairman of the committee.

Another measure would require the defense attorney in juvenile actions to furnish transcripts of the trial in case of an appeal.

Sen. Jack Hightower of Vernon introduced a measure to help raise the standards of law enforcement officers.

This bill would give the Commission on Law Enforcement Officers Standards and Education the authority to certify persons as being qualified for police or other law enforcement jobs, and would set minimum standards. After Sept. 1, 1970, all appointive peace officers would be required to meet the educational, training, physical, mental and moral criteria set by the Commission. Elected officers, such as sheriffs and constables, would not have to qualify.

MONEY, MONEY, MONEY — With $71.6 million of Gov. Preston Smith's $261.5 million revenue package under constitutional challenge and another $38.5 million source under sharp criticism, Texas' chief executive apparently will be offering some alternative recommendations soon.

Smith told newsmen that if the attorney general holds substantial parts of his program unconstitutional, that is just what he will do.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin was due to hand down an opinion this week on the validity of diverting permanent school fund - bonded land - lease money to current education spending. Most authorities agreed earlier with Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler that the diversion is unconstitutional. Also, few were willing to wager much on the governor's suggestion for raising $38.5 million by a $10 surtax on traffic tickets.

While Smith's tax program drew widespread grumbling, nobody had anything better to offer.

House Speaker Gus Mutscher viewed with "alarm" the governor's all - consumer - tax approach and said he had hoped for a "better balance" with business - consumer levies.

Mutscher outlined ideas for a meeting with his revenue and tax committee and predicted a tax bill "run" in the House about April 8.

Meanwhile, the tax committee held its first full - dress session. Out of seven bills aired, two offered some hope of additional revenue. One would raise an estimated $31 million by increasing the liquor tax 40 cents on a four-fifths bottle. Another sought to subject Texas-based insurance companies to personal property taxation. The others, in one way or another, would cost the state money by reductions of, or exemptions from, existing levies.

BILLS, BILLS AND MORE BILLS — Legislators are wading in a pond of bills that soon will pass the 1,000 mark.

Sen. Henry C. Grover of Houston has introduced a resolution directing the Texas Coordinating Board of Colleges and Universities and the University of Texas Board of Regents to enter into negotiations to buy the Baylor College of Medicine at Houston.

A five - man sub - committee of the Higher Education Committee is studying a bill which would do away with the required six-hours of government or political science and six - hours of American or Texas history in Texas colleges. It is proposed by Rep. Don Cavness of Austin.

A proposal to create a state-wide library system was sent to a subcommittee by the Senate Committee on State Affairs. Sen. A. M. Aikin of Paris and Senator Hightower are co-sponsors of the bill. Rep. Joe Salem of Corpus Christi has introduced a resolution asking the House of Representatives to do something about poverty. His proposal calls for a five - man study committee made up of house members.

SENATOR GROVER also has introduced a bill which would allow the state to aid cities in raising policemen's and firemen's salaries.

A proposal that would permit

Texas cities to lend each other police officers in emergencies has a sponsor in a subcommittee of the House Urban Affairs Committee, Rep. Felix McDonald of Edinburg.

A bill backed by chain optometrists (TSO, Lee and others) to limit the state Board of Optometrists' law - making powers has a Senate committee approval.

Proposed constitutional amendments to lower the voting age to 18, knock out annual voter registration requirement and grant old folks a $3,000 overall property tax exemption found its way to the Senate calendar.

Houston legislators have offered bills to strengthen the state's open meeting law, to require posting of advance notices of all government agency sessions.

San Antonio Sen. V. E. (Red) Berry has introduced a proposed constitutional amendment to divide Texas into two states — North Texas and South Texas.

LEGISLATION ADVANCES — In the sharpest debate of the session, the House passed a tough bill to control disruptive activities on Texas school campuses and sent it to Senate.

Earlier the House approved a long string of bills including creation of a new medical school at San Antonio, changing the name of Stephen F. Austin State College at Nacogdoches to Stephen F. Austin State University, and lengthening the minimum time between local sales tax elections from two years to one. Later, representatives passed a law requiring eggs to be labeled as Texas or out-of-state products. A bill to increase city employee retirement benefits was dropped after an amendment excluded the Texas Municipal League staff.

An early House showdown was expected on the $3.5 billion water bond constitutional amendment.

Senate voted authority for separate State Commission for Rehabilitation Service to Handicapped, approved a $468,931 emergency appropriation to rebuild the old fire-damaged gymnasium at Southwest Texas State College, changed the name of Corpus Christi State School to Bruce Reagan State School (in honor of former senator), and passed a bill to allow Texans to buy long guns and ammunition in contiguous states.

Both houses agreed on bills creating a commission to administer the Admiral Chester W. Nimitz Memorial Museum in Fredericksburg, and to designate an Animal Health Commission to prescribe tick - dipping material and regulations.

4-H SAFETY PROGRAM

More than half a million 4 - H Club members in the United States this year are conducting projects in farm and home safety. In Texas, more than 5,800 members are enrolled and their promotion and practice of safety will include the farm and home, machinery, recreation, traffic, fire and health and other programs. Accidents are listed as the leading cause of death among all persons 1 to 37 years of age in the nation.

SOME UP, SOME DOWN

There were more cattle, hogs and turkeys on Texas farms and ranches Jan. 1 than a year ago, but fewer sheep, goats and chickens, reported the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

It's the Law . . .

LENDING MONEY TO RELATIVES

Suppose you lend $500 to your brother-in-law and he fails to pay it back. Could you deduct that amount as a "bad debt" on your next federal tax return?

It depends. To start with the tax law does indeed allow deductions for bad debts, including those owed by relatives.

The trouble is, the law also takes an extra close look at transactions between relatives — to see if they really are what they seem to be. Was it truly a loan that you made, or only a gift in disguise? Consider this case:

A man advanced money to his coed daughter so she could publish an art magazine that she had set her heart on. When the magazine folded, the father claimed a tax deduction for this "bad debt."

But in a court test, his claim was turned down. The court pointed out that the daughter had never signed an IOU, had never paid any interest, and had never set a date for repayment. This wasn't really a debt, said the judge, but only a generous gesture by a fond father.

Nor is it enough, in the government's eyes, that the relative feels a moral obligation to repay the money. As one court put it, in rejecting another claim of a bad debt:

"Reliance upon character, ability, and integrity cannot outweigh the lack of businesslike precautions or other evidence of an intention to establish a debtor-creditor relationship."

What if you do handle the transaction in a businesslike manner, with a clear understanding by your relative that he is bound—legally as well as morally—to pay you back? If he doesn't, may you then take a tax deduction?

There is still one more hurdle. For you must show not only that there was a real debt but also that it has become "bad"—that is, uncollectible.

This may be touchy. Family sensibilities may be at stake. You might not want to press for payment simply because you don't want to offend someone close to you.

If that is why you don't collect your money, then you are not entitled to a bad debt deduction on your tax return. You have a right, of course, to keep peace in the family by going easy on Brother Joe or Cousin Fred. But not at the expense of Uncle Sam.

Vietnam View

as reported by Marine Corps Combat Correspondents and edited by
GySgt. Bob Montgomery

When 3rd Marine Division bandmen boarded trucks for Quang Tri City they had a two-fold mission. Their trip was prompted by a love of music and a desire to help the Vietnamese.

The band, under the leadership of Capt. Sidney L. Snellings Jr., 1201 Pacific St., Oceanside, Calif., presented a concert at Quang Tri City and later, during ceremonies at the Vietnamese Information Service compound, presented 25 instruments to residents of Quang Tri Province.

The instruments were donated to the Vietnamese National Police Psychological Operations Section, a redevelopment cultural drama team, a group from the Army of the Republic of Vietnam and a local high school.

The instruments donated had been used by the Marine band but were replaced by newer ones. They included trumpets, saxophones, a drum set, clarinets, a flute, a trombone and a piccolo.

"All the instruments donated to the Vietnamese were in good playing condition," said Gunnery Sgt. John Wymen, Rumford, Me., instrument repairman for the band. "They were all completely checked. Those found faulty were repaired," added Wymen.

"During our many musical engagements in Quang Tri City and our contacts with various Vietnamese groups, their desire for instruments became quite apparent," commented Snellings. "It is our hope that these instruments will aid the growth of musical groups and increase music appreciation throughout Quang Tri Province."

A platoon of Marine infantrymen is a closely-knit unit—its members eat, live and fight together as a team and all share the hardships and hard-won victories in combat. But Leathernecks of the 1st Platoon, "C" Co., 1st Bn., Ninth Marines have gone one step further—they even write letters as a team.

How? With a "Family-gram" letter written by the entire platoon and addressed to all parents of the platoon members.

Sgt. Earl Wilson, Warren, Mich., the platoon sergeant and originator of the idea, estimated that the letter will travel 50,000 miles and through 25 states and Guam by the time it reaches all its addressees.

"It all started only half-seriously," says Wilson, "but then one of my men said, 'Why not?' and the letter was written and mailed."

The first recipients of the letter will be the parents of LCpl. Charles A. Domicello, Rochester, N. Y. Young Domicello has already written his parents telling them to expect the "Family-gram" and has urged them to forward it to the next parents on the list, with a letter of their own along with it.

"It's not often that all of us in the platoon can sit down and write letters to our parents. We have written one letter and have included in it the addresses of all our parents of the men in the platoon. We hope that this letter will be forwarded to all of them so they can all learn what everybody in the platoon is doing," read part of the letter.

The letter also explains that the Marines thought it would be a good way for their parents to get to know other parents of Marines serving in Vietnam.

The letter concludes: "We all think of you often and miss you. Please keep the prayers and goodies coming from the home front, and send this letter to the next family on the list."

"Who knows, after this shooting war is over, we all might have a huge family reunion," adds Sgt. Donald F. Meyers, Indianapolis, Ind., the platoon's right guide.
