Post and Floydada, both undefeated, clash Friday

The Floydada Whirlwinds, pegged at the top of District 3AAA with Dimmitt, will blow into Antelope Stadium here Friday night seeking their third win in as many outings. Coach Billy Hahn's Antelopes, off to their best start since 1966, will try to blow them back out.

With a bevy of fast-stepping backs, glue-fingered receivers and hard-charging linemen, the Floydada eleven has hardly been extended in its first two games, winning its opener, 27-13, over a good Ralls team, and demolishing the Class AAA Tulia Hornets, 34 to 0, last Friday night.

The Post coaching staff scouts, who saw Floydada whip Tulia, say the 'Winds are a better club than the Lockney eleven, which fell to

Cotton crop situation in Garza called 'odd'

County Agent Syd Conner terms the present status of Garza County cotton crop "the oddest situation within memory" as far as the cotton farmers knowing what to do is concerned.

Although no Garza County bales have been ginned locally, two bales in the northern part of the county have been "hand pulled" and taken to Slaton to win a cash prize for "first bales in the Slaton area."

"We have plenty of the early cotton open and ready but there is no incentive to pick it now because of the high cost of hand pulling," Conner said.

He said late August rains have caused new cotton growth but it is going to depend upon the "first freeze date" and the weather be-

City police report

Five persons injured in weekend accidents

Five persons were injured, one seriously, in two automobile accidents Friday and Sunday nights.

Mrs. Melvin Osborne of Midland suffered a broken arm, broken ribs and face and head lacerations about 9:10 p. m. Friday when the car driven by her husband and another automobile collided at the intersection of State Highway 207 (Ralls road) and 15th Street.

Mr. Osborne and the driver of the other car, Norris Workman of Post, received bruises, but were hospitalized. Mrs. Osborne was admitted to Garza Memorial Hospital and later transferred to a Midland hospital where knee surgery was scheduled.

Max Chaffin, city patrolman, said the accident occurred when Workman, traveling north on the highway, made a left turn onto 15th Street. The Osbornes were traveling south on the highway.

The officer said Workman was given a ticket for failure to yield right of way.

Both automobiles were described as "total losses" by the investigating officer.

Two persons received minor injuries in an automobile - pickup collision at 7:30 p. m. Sunday at the intersection of Broadway (U. S. Hwy. 84) and 8th Street.

The accident occurred when a pickup with four persons in the cab and three in the rear of the vehicle collided with an automobile driven by Debra Wood, 19, a McMurry College student. Miss Wood's college roommate, whose name was not learned, received a slight cut on the nose, but did not require treatment.

The driver of the pickup was Santos G. Navarette, 19, of Tahoka. A 65-year-old man riding in the pickup suffered bruises and contusions and was taken to a Tahoka hospital, according to Max Chaffin, city patrolman, who investigated the accident.

The collision occurred when Navarette, driving north, started to turn off Broadway onto 8th Street. The car driven by Miss Wood was headed south on the highway.

Navarette was charged with making an improper turn and failure to yield right of way, the officer said.

Both vehicles were heavily damaged in the collision.

Collins rites are conducted here

Funeral services for Willie Collins, 61, of Dalhart, brother of Mrs. Faver Moreman of Post, were held at 4 p. m. Monday in the Hudson Funeral Home chapel.

Mr. Collins died about 9 a. m. Sunday in a Dalhart hospital where he has been a patient 12 days. Born Jan. 27, 1908, at Garza, he had lived at Dalhart five years, where he was engaged in farming.

Surviving are two sons, Harold of Ellensburg, Wash., and Donald L. Collins of Portland, Ore.; two daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Moore of North Little Rock, Ark., and Mrs. Patsy Blaisdell of Pine, Ore.; his mother, Mrs. Anna Collins of Modesto, Calif.; a son, John H. Collins of Barstow, Calif.; four sisters, Mrs. Emma, Mrs. Ethel Anderson of Omaha, Mrs. Bessie Yowell of Modesto, Calif., and Mrs. Margaret Waddell of Modesto, and seven grandchildren.

The Rev. O. Curtis Lee, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, officiated at the funeral service.

Burial was in Terrace Cemetery under the direction of Hudson Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Ernest Magnus, Bryce Martin, Travis Thomas, Jim Jackson, Arthur Jackson and Harold Lucas.

Garza Farm Tour set for Monday

The annual Garza County Farm Tour will start at the 4-H building here at 1:30 p. m. Monday, Sept. 29, extend from the Graham community through Close City, Pleasant Valley, Hackberry and Southland and back to Post for a domino party and hot dog supper.

Projects to be visited on the tour include cotton variety demonstration plots, agricultural conservation program practices, F-4-B emergency program practices, aerial spraying of mesquite for brush control, farm financing, cotton defoliation and desiccation, rebuilt terrace systems following the June 1968 floods, annual cotton and feed grain programs with cover crops and diverted acres, cotton irrigation management and disease control.

Sponsors of the tour are the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Soil Conservation Service, Farmers Home Administration and the county Extension Service agent, with the Post Rotary Club hosting the domino party and hot dog supper.

All interested area people are invited for the afternoon and evening activities.

Armyworms invading area's crops, lawns

Armyworms have invaded lawns and certain crops in the area during the last several days, reports County Agent Syd Conner.

The heavy infestation of the worms was first reported about two weeks ago and there has been little, if any, let-up, the county agent said Wednesday.

The agent, who is busy at the Panhandle South Plains Fair in Lubbock this week, said yesterday that his wife had received seven calls at her home since Saturday from people wanting to know what to do about the worms.

Most of the reports have involved the fall armyworm or the true armyworm. These insects are similar in appearance and habits and attack small grains, grain sorghum, corn, grasses and other such crops.

There may be several generations each year with the larval stage lasting 10 - 25 days during which time the larvae reach a length of from one to one and a half inches, explains Conner. When the larvae are full grown, they burrow into the soil and go through a pupal stage or rest period.

The adult female emerges usually within two weeks, but this is dependent upon the temperature. The adult generally flies some distance before laying the eggs. Each adult female lays about a thousand eggs.

Full grown fall armyworm larvae vary in color from light tan or green to nearly black, adds the agent. They have three yellowish-white hair lines down the back from head to tail. On the side next to the yellow lines is a wider dark stripe spotted with red. A prominent white inverted Y is on the front of the head.

Large numbers of fall armyworms can destroy entire fields or lawns and then invade adjoining areas. Build-ups are heaviest after cool, wet weather, points out Conner.

The agent recommends Sevin, a wettable powder, for lawn application against the armyworm. This chemical is safer than DDT and parathion, which should be used in field applications against the insect.

5 hurt when car overturns Sunday

A family of five from Clyde were treated at Garza Memorial Hospital here Sunday afternoon for minor injuries suffered when their car, a 1968 Oldsmobile, overturned in a one-car accident four and one-half miles northwest of Post on US-84 about 1 p. m.

Highway Patrolman Gene Posey said Roy Hazley Currence of Rt. 1, Clyde, lost control of the car when the vehicle hit a "slick spot in the pavement" in the south-bound lane.

Also treated at the hospital and released were Mrs. Lorane Currence, his wife, their daughter, Li-ora, and their two grandchildren, Mike and Tammie.

Highway patrolmen here also investigated a one-truck, no-injury crash about 2 p. m. Sunday 7.35 miles northwest of Post on US-84 in which an empty grain truck driven by Ted Hulse of Abilene "jackknifed" into the meridian.

Arnold Sanderson, president of the organization, said both men and women are invited to the convention, at which officers will be elected.

Go, Lopes, Go!

When the football "dope story" comes off the sport page over to top the front page of The Dispatch, it's a you'd-better-believe-it indication that fan interest in those Post Antelopes is starting to sizzle.

The Floydada - Post game tomorrow night should pull the biggest crowd of rooters into Antelope Stadium since the Antelopes whipped Denver City 14-0 to win the district crown in 1966.

Floydada fans with their best club in years — and a junior team at that — will be here in force in the east stands. Post fans who are starting to really get excited should make those turnstiles on the west cick at a merry clip.

It will be a "battle of the bands" at halftime too. The Whirlwind band year in and year out is one of the best in the area and the 1969 Post High marching band — off its performance last week — may be the best in years for the Black and Gold.

We hear that Coach Billy Hahn didn't get to sleep until 3 a. m. Saturday as he "replayed" that victory over Lockney horn by horn. We'd guess that about 1:30 a. m. he rolled over on his right side and started making some plans for Floydada.

Editor Charlie Didway, held out of photographic action for months by a busted foot, hit the practice field with his camera last week in time to get Post's undefeated grid squad pictured for today's front page.

We wouldn't be surprised if even the Lubbock Avalanche - Journal had one of its young sports writers here to "cover" the Post-Floydada game. But if they don't this is to explain that really the A-J doesn't have it "in" for Post as most local fans have suspected for years.

But since most everybody in town knows that Editor Charlie phones in home game reports to the A-J on Post games, this is to explain that Charlie has no control over that game story. He gets any one of the young special Friday night sports reporters the A-J has answering the phone and hopes the names get spelled right, that his listener gets it all down, and that he has enough time to write most of it. The guy who took it for the A-J last week used only part of the account Charlie phoned in.

Police 'appreciate' driver cooperation

The Post police department is receiving "good cooperation" from local drivers, including the young people, according to Patrolman Max Chaffin.

He termed local driving now at an "acceptable level."

"There are of course a few who create traffic difficulties, but the large majority is cooperating very well," Chaffin said.

He wants the driving public to know the police appreciate such cooperation.

SORGHUM NURSERY IS FEATURED AT FIELD DAY
A grain sorghum performance nursery featuring some 75 different hybrids was one of four special attractions or tours at the annual field day and open house held at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research Extension Center north of Lubbock on Tuesday, Sept. 9.

Of this selection, 64 are commercial hybrids with some 20 commercial companies being represented," points out Dr. Jerry Johnson, who is conducting grain sorghum research at the center. "The remainder are experimental hybrids or hybrids developed by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station."

Hybrids in the nursery receive the same cultural practices with regards to fertility and water management as those generally practiced by farmers on the High Plains. Thus, field day visitors were able to see all these hybrids growing under similar field conditions.

"The nursery looks real good this year," says Johnson. "We have had a successful insect control program and have had few disease problems. A timely rain in late July helped tremendously as these tests are only watered twice plus a pre-plant irrigation."

Other featured tours at this year's field day included cotton varieties, broadcast cotton and weed control. Each of the four special tours lasted about 45 minutes with featured speakers providing in-depth information of vital concern to farmers and agribusinessmen of the area. General tours of research plots at the center were also conducted throughout the afternoon.

IMPORTS SUPPLY ONE-EIGHTH OF OUR FOODS

One-eighth of the things we eat comes from another land. This fact, says W. E. Black, Extension economist in marketing and policy at Texas A&M University, is based on the most recent U. S. Department of Agriculture food imports figures.

Some of these imports, he adds, compete directly with foods we grow here in this country. Among these are some meats, dairy products, and fruit and vegetable products. Such imports work some hardships on our farmers, but to our consumers it means competition and more attractive food prices, explains Black.

However, a large proportion of our imported eating is items not grown in this country, yet are a part of nearly every meal. It's pretty hard to think of eating very many meals without a steaming (or iced) cup of coffee, tea, or cocoa. Yet all of these beverages come from other countries — Asia, Africa, South and Central America, notes Black.

Too, it's pretty hard to imagine meats without pepper, hot rolls without ginger, ham without cloves — you could go on and on. Cooking and, of course, eating would be very boring without the spices and herbs. Here again we rely heavily upon overseas friends to help us out.

A very high proportion of our most popular and widely used flavoring agents come from other countries. Pepper from East India, cinnamon from India, China, cloves from Zanzibar, oregano from Greece, allspice from Honduras, poppy seeds from Holland — the whole world helps make our meals tasty and different.

Another food, and one of our favorites, for which we rely upon overseas friends is bananas. They come to us from South or Central America or the Caribbean countries.

One bite in eight — that's how much of our food comes from overseas. While some of it competes directly with our own foods, much is types and kind we wouldn't otherwise have but like very much.

ABILENE — In trucks, trailers and pickups loaned by other ranchers, volunteers are busy driving off over the state picking up stock donated to the Cattlemen's Round-up for Crippled Children.

The round-up, the unique fund raising event which annually provides a bulk of the operational funds for the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, is set for Sept. 29 at Ranchera and Farmers Livestock Auction here.

Another Clash Between Unbeaten Teams!

POST ANTELOPES

VS

FLOYDADA WHIRLWINDS

8 P.M. Friday,
SEPT. 26
IN
Antelope Stadium

GO! LOPES GO!

For the third weekend in a row, the Post Antelopes' schedule grows progressively tougher. The foe this week is a highly rated, undefeated Floydada team which has scored a 27-13 victory over Class A district champion Ralls Jackrabbits and a 34-0 pasting of a weaker than usual but AAA-sized Tulia. It should be a real shootout with the Lopes shooting for what the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal would term the "third upset in a row" if it comes off. If it does, look for the area folks to wake up to the fact that Post has another one of those rough-tough football teams. This one shapes up as a dilly!

'Swords and Swordsmen' program is presented

By JUDY LOFTON
Dr. Ellis Pierce presented the program, "Swords and Swordsmen of America," in a high school assembly last Wednesday.

Honk-a-Thon is rally highlight

By BEVERLY ALLEN
Last Thursday night it seemed that half the town of Post had turned out to cheer the Antelopes to victory at the bonfire. Also there were the PHS spirit-getters, the cheerleaders, band, pep squad and a score of PHS students.

Those named captains for the week were Steve Newby, Randy Hudman and George Torres. Randy and Steve commented that Luckney had a lot of speed, but they couldn't get far on the ground. It seems their prophecy came true.

swordsmen who have played an important part in American history.

Dr. Pierce's display of over fifty swords, cutlasses, daggers, and dueling articles were vividly explained as to their intricate and varied uses.

Dr. Pierce has had over 44 years of fencing experience. He has been fencing coach at Drew University, the University of Illinois and St. Lawrence University.

Dr. Pierce's collection of nearly 300 swords and daggers is assuredly the largest and most varied of any private collector. Much of his time has been devoted to tracing the early origin and development of the swords used by America's military forces in securing and maintaining our country's independence throughout its history.

The program was thoroughly enjoyed by teachers and students alike.

The Future Teachers of America met Sept. 6 to discuss this year's plans. President David Pierce gave a rundown on the club's activities for the 1969-70 school year. The club decided to meet the second and fourth Thursday of every month. Other officers for this year are as follows:
Vice president, George Torres; secretary-treasurer, Nancy Hart, and reporter, Ryan Thomas.
The first meeting will be held Thursday, Sept. 26.

I would like to start off by congratulating the pep squad on the great job they did in decorating the halls and gym Friday before the Lockney game.

The Antelopes did it again. They played a great game Friday night which won them their second victory. The bonfire and pep rally really raised the spirit of the Antelopes and the fans.

Sunday was "Antelope Day." The services were Sunday night at the First Baptist Church in honor of all athletic teams and high school groups.

After the game Friday night there was a "Fifth Quarter" at the City Hall. Music was furnished by "Square Root of Nine" from Wayland Baptist College.

Those appearing were Beth Peel, Nancy Norman, Nina Young, Judy Lofton, Elbert Rudd, Jodi Cash, Debbie Gray, Bud Sparlin, Karen Stanley, Janie Smith, Anita Little, Paula Criswell;

CONSUMER CREDIT — A 3-PARTY SYSTEM

It involves (1) the consumer, the person who buys merchandise or service on credit; (2) the credit grantor, the business which sells goods or services to the consumer; and (3) the credit bureau, an organization which maintains a comprehensive record of the consumers paying habits and makes sure this record is readily available when and where the consumer needs it.

The credit bureau is such an important part of this triangle because credit grantors cannot afford to sell goods or services on credit or to extend loans unless they have some assurance that the consumers will keep their part of the bargain by paying as agreed.

Obviously, not all consumers and credit grantors can be personally acquainted with one another. It's also obvious the cost would be enormous if each credit grantor had to gather all the necessary credit information on each prospective consumer.

Such a practice would not only make the cost of granting credit prohibitive, but also cause the consumer a great deal of delay and inconvenience.

High performance rear axle ratios, too. And lots more. Wide-tread fiberglass belted tires that are standard on all 1970 Buicks give improved traction during braking, cornering and acceleration, significant increases in tread life, and substantially superior resistance to road hazards. 12 SKUNKS FALL BEFORE NEW GUN

City Patrolman Max Chaffin reports a "good week of skunk shooting" last week.

The officer killed 12 skunks—11 of them on last Thursday night 8 with 12 shots from the city's trusty new skunk gun, a 20-gauge shotgun purchased especially to fight the summer skunk invasion.

Chaffin goes skunk hunting about 5 a. m. in the mornings—catching the skunks feeding on buses under the street lights.

The officer not only bagged 12 skunks with 12 shots but he got 11 of the 12 without any odor effects on the neighborhoods involved. The only skunk who fired back and left some odor lingering on was one Chaffin downed on the courthouse lawn.

Car 'stripped' in daylight on parking lot

Albert Rivera, a mechanic at Cash Implement Co., had his car "stripped" Tuesday evening in broad daylight while it was parked in the Piggly Wiggly parking lot.

Rivera was in Lubbock attending a John Deere tractor school. When he returned, according to Patrolman Max Chaffin, he found the carburetor, ignition wires, battery, tachometer, and hubcaps missing from the vehicle.

Chaffin said he noticed the vehicle was minus its hubcaps at 7 p. m., which meant that the "stripping" occurred sometime within a 90 minute period after Rivera left it there at 5:30 p. m.

ACCENT ON HEALTH

A little time and effort will make your home a safe place

Accident - proofing your home doesn't happen accidentally, and it takes a little time and effort to make "Home Sweet Home" a "Home Safe Home," advises the Texas State Department of Health. Home normally is thought of as a safe, secure place, but it isn't always that way. In fact, it's a dangerous place which can cause death or injury.

As modern living has become more complex, man has built in many dangers. Gas and electricity are useful tools, but they can cause fires or killing electric shocks. Our tiled baths, glossy floors, fancy draperies, decorations and never-ending supplies of new gadgets present hazards to our lives every day.

Last year the number of home deaths in this country was some 30,000 with falls, burns and poisons as the leading causes of these deaths.

Most of these deaths occur in the bedrooms, kitchens and bathrooms. Most people think first of the bathtub, with its hazards of falls and drowning, as the number one killer, but it isn't.

BEDROOMS rank first. Too many people smoke in bed and wake up dead from fire or lethal smoke. Many infants smother from improper covering or too large a pillow. And people get up during the night and fall over objects in the dark. Bad housekeeping is at fault here.

In our slick - floored kitchens we fall, burn, electrocute, bomb and poison ourselves. The oven cleaner, drain cleaner, bleach, dishwashing compounds, insecticide and furniture polish under the sink are products which are poisonous and easily accessible to children. Leaking gas — or fumes — may explode on contact with a pilot light on your stove.

In addition to falls around the tub, the bathroom has another potential killer in the medicine cabinet. It has been estimated that 302,000 children under five years of age ingested some potentially toxic product last year.

To prevent these home accidents, plan for safety. Keep medicines and home kitchen products out of the reach of children. Watch where you put your lighted cigarettes and matches. Put hand holds around your bathtubs and make sure all rugs are slide - free. Never place inflammables near a gas water heater. Before winter sets in, have your heating system checked to guard against fires — or carbon monoxide poisoning. Never touch any electrical appliance with your hands in water or while on a wet floor. And keep things in their places.

HERE ON FURLOUGH

Sgt. Joe Sanchez, local Vietnam veteran who has been recovering from shrapnel wounds, is here for a furlough visit with his father, County Commissioner Ben Sanchez. Rodeo cowboys today travel long distances

DENVER, Colo. — Professional rodeo cowboys today travel thousands of miles to compete in some 500 pro rodeos held annually throughout North America, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said.

Those nomad - athletes set a fast, grueling pace, pursuing world championship titles awarded annually to the top money - winners in each rodeo event. The cowboys receive only what they are good enough to win in the arena.

One of the top rodeo cowboys today is Doug Brown, 23, of Silverton, Ore. He is earning his first world championship title in bull riding, and so far has won nearly $24,300 in the event. In addition, he has won nearly $11,000 in saddle bronc riding — in which he currently is sixth in money winnings.

One week, Brown made a "run" to ten rodeos. He began by competing at a rodeo in Burwell, Neb., on a Saturday afternoon. Afterwards, he flew his private airplane to Colorado Springs, Colo., for the Pikes Peak or Bust rodeo that night.

Brown began the next day at 3 a. m. That's when he left in his plane for Omak, Wash. for an afternoon rodeo, and Portland, Ore., for a rodeo that night.

The following day, Monday, found him in Denver, where he rented a car and drove to Sidney, Neb., to ride a bull and saddle bronc there. He drove back to Denver, boarded a commercial jet to New York City to compete in the Madison Square Garden rodeo the following day, then flew back to Denver.

From Denver he flew to Rapid City, S. D., with another cowboy, and completed the following night. Next day, Thursday, he flew to Miles City, Mont., for an afternoon rodeo, and to Kalispel, Mont., for a night rodeo. Friday afternoon he was in Moses Lake, Wash., for another rodeo.

PERSONAL RELIGION

By Joe Vernon

Ours is a country founded upon the principle that the individual is the most important asset in the country. The religion of Jesus Christ is definitely individual and personal. That is each person must respond to Jesus Christ and His teachings for himself and on an individual, personal basis.

In recent years we have seen a few persons change some policies about our prayers, and Bible reading in public as a result of court cases. Immediately we become unhappy and start a mass move to condemn the one who initiated the no prayer, no Bible reading proceedings. It is good that we are opposed to such encroachment upon the personal rights of Americans. We must continue to let our opposition be known.

Since religion is personal then each person must take advantage of his own privilege to pray, to attend worship services in the church of his choice, and to read God's Word. It is rather inconsistent to make broad complaints against those who want to stop prayer, Bible reading and other forms of religious services on a public level when we do not practice these virtues in our everyday life. Jesus said, "Why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?"

We have churches, Bibles and things of worship right here in Post, and the place to start our protest against an encroachment on our religious freedom is the use of our local facilities on a personal and individual basis. If prayer and reading of God's Word are important for all of the people, then they are just as important and even more so for each individual who calls himself a child of God.

Farmer's weed burning goes on despite rain

By MARY LEE LAWS
(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is last week's Grassland news, which was "crowded out" of last Thursday's Dispatch, much to our regret.)

We've had more rain this past week. After about 3 1/2 inches of rain most farmers would say it is too wet to plow. Even rain couldn't stop Amos Gerner from burning weeds with a weed burner and a portable butane bottle. So, even if it was raining Amos went right on burning weeds along the fence rows and around outside buildings.

Annual Highland Games in Austin to attract Scots living in Texas

AUSTIN — Bagpipes, with their haunting melody unchanged for centuries, are calling the Scots to Austin for the annual Highland Games, Oct. 18 and 19.

Long ago in Scotland, each summer, many clans would hold a "Tainchel" or deer drive. It was similar to a military maneuver.

And the chieftains and kings who called these "gatherings" found them ideally suited for recruiting the finest and strongest men to fill their ranks.

In later years Highland Societies were formed to preserve the customs, culture and traditions of the Scottish people. And once again, "gatherings" were called each year.

More than 40 different clans from throughout Texas will journey to Municipal Auditorium in Austin for the traditional "Ceilidh Spectacular," officially opening the Highland Games.

It will be a time for plaids and brogues and piping and the colorful introductions of the MacLeods, MacKays, MacGregors and MacLars.

But the ayes will be on the pipes.

1969 season big one at Ruidoso

RUIDOSO, N. M. — "The 1969 season at Ruidoso Downs," says general manager Richard Thompson, "must be one of the most remarkable years in the history of New Mexico horse racing. How can it be explained?"

The total pari-mutuel handle for Ruidoso Downs skyrocketed to an all-time high, $12,586,015, some $1,898,000 over the year of 1968.

The year of 1964 was the previous high handle when 62 days (against 1969's 52 days) saw $12,308,448 go through the machines, $198,523 as compared with a daily yet the daily average was only $188,523 as compared with a daily average of $242,038 this year.

Attendance for the 1969 season showed an estimated increase of some 6.14 per cent, while all segments of wagering revealed a marked increase. The Big "Q" enjoyed the greatest increase with 22 per cent, followed by the straight, 18 per cent, Daily Double, 15 per cent, and the Quinella, 13 per cent.

Some Scots even claim that they played the bagpipes, instead of the fiddle, while Rome burned.

Bagpipes were played in Babylon, Persia, China and India. Drawings of bagpipes may be seen on the walls of Egyptian tombs.

But it was in Scotland that the legend of the piper gained immortality — the piper who led his men to battle.

The pipes will once again signal the Scots to battle on the athletic field of Faro Farms, near the capital city.

The Highland Games, sponsored by the Scottish Society of Texas, test the skills of modern man against the traditional sports of old Scotland.

Events range from sheer muscular prowess to the apparent weightless grace of the Highland dancers.

Athletes "toss the caber," a 16-foot-long, 150 - pound pole. They "toss the sheaf," hurling 15 pounds of hay over a cross bar. Last year's winner pitched over 35 feet.

And other compete in tug-of-war, greasy - pole pillow fights, wrestling and putting the stone — a 50-pound rock brought over from Scotland.

Kilted dancers, spinning to the music of the pipes, do their thing. It was once an ancient victory ceremony danced upon the clansman's shield.

The games will be open to the public.
