stallation of the carpeting in the Textile Research Center. Slater is manager of the Postex Plant of Burlington Industries and represented the Burlington Foundation at presentation of the grant funds.

Free fireworks, barbecue to highlight the Fourth

Dedication of school marker also scheduled

Post's Fourth of July celebration, which will feature a free 45-minute fireworks display and a free barbecue, added another attraction this week when the Garza County Historical Survey Committee announced that July 4 has been set as the date of the dedication of an Official Texas Historical Marker at the old Post High School building, which is now the junior high building.

The school marker dedication is set for 10 a. m. and is to be followed by a tour of historical markers in the city.

J. A. Stallings, one of the two surviving members of the school board which was serving when the old high school was built, will make the dedicatory address. The other surviving school board member is Dr. A. C. Surman.

Meanwhile, the Chamber of Commerce and Post Jaycees are working on other program plans for the town's first Independence Day celebration in more than 20 years.

"We plan to have something going constantly from 10 a. m. until the fireworks display is over at 10 p. m.," said Jim Jackson, Chamber president.

The free barbecue will be held at the City - County Park. Gene Moore, Chamber director, is barbecue chairman.

The night's fireworks display will be in charge of Joe Bailey of the Jaycees. The fireworks will be set off at the lake in the City-County Park.

In addition to the barbecue and fireworks display, there will be pony rides, a wishing well, sack races, three-legged races, horse-shoe pitching, barrel races, washer pitching and a fishing rodeo. Homemade ice cream and cake will be served.

A number of Post organizations will have booths of various types during the day - long celebration. (See July Fourth, Page 8)

Council considering air rifle ordinance

Bailey Mayo was a real "pinch hitter" for The Dispatch Monday night when he replaced Editor Charlie Didway, sidelined with a broken foot, in this newspaper's camera lineup to shoot pictures of the Little League standouts at the 12th annual awards presentation.

We found Bailey umpiring at third base in the final inning and he agreed to go get his camera while I "sports-carried" to the office after film.

Bailey not only snapped pix of the 1969 Little League Champions, the Yankees, the all-star squad, and the most valuable player and the sportsmanship winner, but he stayed another 30 minutes and shot pictures of every club in the league for us.

When Charlie is able to climb those stairs again to the darkroom — and it can't be too soon for him — The Dispatch will announce that we're accepting orders for team photos at our regular going price.

Since Charlie has been really shut out in the camera department (neither shooting or developing), the Snyder Daily News has stepped in and done some "pinch-hitting" too in printing our pix.

We thought that despite all of Bailey's good work we were not going to have the pictures back for printing in today's edition because the bus driver "boo-hoed" and carried the plates right through Snyder Tuesday morning. They finally got back to Snyder Wednesday morning, the News' lab got busy, and we ended up with our baseball pictures after all, coming in on the Wednesday afternoon bus.

Face surgery for Billy Snow set

Post youngster Billy Snow left Wednesday morning for Galveston, where he is scheduled to undergo plastic face surgery.

Billy was accompanied on the plane trip to Galveston by Paul Cartwright, a member of the Post Jaycees, and Mrs. Cartwright. They left Lubbock by plane about 7 a. m. for the Galveston hospital.

The youngster has already undergone two operations at Galveston, the most recent one about eight months ago. He was back at the hospital about three months ago for examination and check-up.

The Post Jaycees are sponsoring Billy's treatment as a club project.

Passage of a city ordinance forbidding the shooting of air rifles and pellet guns within the city limits was discussed by the city council last Thursday at one of a series of weekly meetings it is holding for the purpose of discussing city matters between regular monthly council meetings.

Police Chief Bill Gordon told Mayor Giles C. McCrary and the three council members present that the police department has received and investigated a number of reports of property damage caused by air rifles and pellet guns.

The council indicated that action on passage of an air rifle - pellet gun ordinance would be taken at its regular meeting the first Monday night in July.

Also discussed was the possibility of a curfew ordinance to help eliminate acts of vandalism occurring late at night. Most of the vandalism has been reported by operators of all-night filling stations, some of whom have reported restrooms and other station facilities vandalized.

The council tentatively agreed—with definite action expected to be taken at the next regular council

CLUBHOUSE LIFE SHORT FOR SNAKE

Golfers who play the Caprock Golf course north of town don't have to worry too much about finding a rattlesnake on the nine-hole course.

But they had better be careful when they enter the clubhouse. D. H. Bartlett, who operates the course, killed a three-foot rattler slithering across the clubhouse floor about 7:45 p. m. Saturday.

He had been out on the putting green with Teddy Scott. When he walked back into the clubhouse the snake was inside and looking the place over. Bartlett killed it.

meeting — to follow the recommendation of local insurance men that all the City of Post's insurance policies be consolidated under one agent, with the other agents involved continuing to share in the city's insurance business.

The council also agreed to follow the recommendation of City Manager Bobby Pierce that the angle of the parking stripes on Avenue I be changed to allow more parking room and more driving room for traffic using the street.

Councilmen present at the meeting were Donald Windham, Frank Blanton and Lester Nichols.

Legion's Independence Day supper is July 3

The American Legion post will hold its annual Independence Day supper at the Legion Hall here at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, July 3.

All members and non-members who are veterans are invited to attend the supper.

Wounded soldier being evacuated

Spec. 5 Freddy T. Simmons, who was critically wounded in Vietnam on May 29, was scheduled to leave Yokohama, Japan, yesterday (Wednesday) on a special flight evacuating him to Beaumont Hospital in El Paso.

Simmons' wife, Susan, was notified of the plans for her husband's evacuation by the American Red Cross. She was told that the special flight evacuating her husband to the United States would take "from two to three days."

Sunday night, Mrs. Simmons and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard S. Ramsey had talked by telephone to an Army major in Japan who told them that Freddy was to be evacuated to the States. The word from the Red Cross followed.

Funeral services held Sunday for Harry J. Dietrich

Funeral services for Harry J. Dietrich, 79, a long-time prominent and well-known citizen of Post, were conducted at 3 p. m. Sunday in the First Methodist Church, of which he was a member.

Mr. Dietrich died about 3 p. m. Saturday in a Tahoka convalescent home, where he had been for 19 days. He had been in failing health for the last few years.

From Aug. 1, 1889, at Tipp City, Ohio, he was married to Margie Baker at Hereford on June 26, 1915, the couple moving to Post two weeks later and living here since.

Mr. Dietrich was employed as a telegraph operator by the Santa Fe Railway, as cashier of the First National Bank and served two terms as Garza County treasurer. He owned and operated a laundry for several years and was in the insurance business prior to his retirement in 1956.

Mr. Dietrich was widely known throughout the area for his hobby of raising German Shepherd dogs, in which he was engaged for some 20 years. His dogs won numerous awards at shows throughout the area. He sold some, but many he gave away for use as seeing-eye dogs for the blind. When Mr. Dietrich would hear of a blind person, especially a child, anywhere in the area, he would inquire to see if a seeing-eye dog was desired. If it was, he would have one of his dogs trained for that purpose and then give it to the blind person.

Mr. Dietrich was a member of (See Dietrich rites, Page 8)

Sometimes things get out of hand

After sitting in on a City Council discussion meeting last Thursday, we'll be disappointed if the council does not enact some sort of air rifle and pellet gun controls at their next regular meeting.

If there had been any doubt in our mind that property damage is being inflicted by youths armed with air rifles and pellet guns, it was dispelled at the council meeting. Police Chief Bill Gordon told the council that "considerable damage" is being caused by the guns. The mayor and at least two of the councilmen present said they knew first-hand of damage caused by air rifles and/or pellet guns.

Fortunately, the damage thus far has been confined to holes in window panes, the shooting out of light bulbs and the killing of a few cats and possibly a dog or two with pellet guns. But who knows when some child might be hit and dangerously injured—or worse?

"Boypower '76" deserves support

"Boypower '76" is the title of a new, long-range expansion plan adopted by the Boy Scouts of America, several hundred of whom, from the South Plains Council, will be at Camp Post during the summer camping season which opens July 6 and continues through Aug. 2.

This new expansion plan, "Boypower '76", will run until 1976, the 200th anniversary of the founding of the United States as a nation. It is aimed to double Scout membership by some 6.5 million.

There was never a more important time in the history of our nation for young people to learn respect for law and order as the basis for their future rights, opportunities, obligations as citizens, and the perpetuation of the liberties they are privileged to enjoy.

The success of Scouting for boys of all ages

We are not against air rifles and pellet guns, but we don't think thickly populated areas of the town is the place to shoot them. We realize, too, that a few youngsters mean enough to deliberately shoot holes in window panes, breaks out light bulbs and shoot at pets make it hard on the youngsters who own an air rifle or pellet gun just for the fun of it and who use caution in shooting them.

With or without a city ordinance against shooting air rifles or pellet guns in town—and we happen to be without one—it is still the parents' responsibility to exercise some control over the child where the guns are concerned. Just about every other town the size of Post has an ordinance against the shooting of air rifles and pellet guns inside the city limits. We are sure the ordinance in any of these other towns doesn't stop it altogether, but we'll bet it slows it down. Why not try it here?—CD is reflected in the enthusiasm and interest of the volunteer leader. He teaches ideals along with the skills, has a genuine interest in the program, and demonstrates that his great concern is in seeing boys grow.

Encouraging young men to work together, to strive for personal goals in citizenship, community service, vocational exploration, social skills, personal fitness and outdoor living, are the very foundation stones of a government under liberty and law.

The volunteer leaders in Scouting can render a service beyond price. They deserve our wholehearted support. They can help build respect for law and order and property rights that seems to be somehow lacking in our educational system.

Give "Boypower '76" a hand today, and the boys will be a steadying influence in our country tomorrow.

Unrestricted oil imports would hurt

Newspaper men and women attending the annual convention of the Texas Press Association at Arlington Saturday heard a board member of Humble Oil & Refining Company state that half of the United States' domestic oil-producing capacity would probably be shut down for economic reasons if controls on imports of foreign oil are eliminated.

Nelson Jones, a vice president and director of Humble, said an unrestricted influx of foreign oil could lead to a weakening of national security by creating U. S. dependence on politically unreliable fuel sources.

"Texas and other oil-producing states would suffer drastic reductions in oil exploration and production activities if the U. S. is flooded with foreign oil," he said.

Pointing out that the Oil Import Control Program is under review in Washington by a cabinet-level presidential committee, Jones reminded the assembled newspapermen that some critics of the petroleum industry have demanded that all import restrictions on foreign oil be lifted.

"If this is done, the flood of foreign crude into the country would have serious economic repercussions," Mr. Jones said. "The domestic oil industry would be seriously weakened and national security could be threatened by undue dependence on oil from politically unstable foreign countries."

Mr. Jones revealed results of studies done to project the effects on U. S. producing capacity and reserves if import controls were eliminated:

—Without import controls, then number of exploratory wells drilled in the U. S. in the period 1970-1985 would be reduced by 85 per cent.

—Development well drilling in this same period would be reduced by 50 per cent.

—The additional premature abandonment of many thousands of existing low-productivity wells would reduce by over 60 per cent the number of active oil wells in the U. S. by the early 1980's.

—The net effect of all of these factors by 1985 would be a cumulative reduction of future oil reserves of approximately 55 per cent.

—Domestic production would be seven million barrels per day lower by 1985.

—The decline in oil industry activity would cause a reduction of more than 50 per cent in employment in the exploration and producing functions, the associated service organizations, and the oilfield supply organizations.

—The total displacement of trained petroleum industry personnel could be in excess of 100,000 people nationally.

What is called for, it appears, is a continuation of reasonable restraints on all imports of crude oil into the U. S. And, as Mr. Jones pointed out, there is a need for "a firm decision in principle" to phase out of the program "those elements of favoritism which have been allowed to creep in over the past several years."

The Post Dispatch

TODAY'S DISPATCH is the last one for the month of June and the next one will be dated July 3, which means that the ink will barely be dry before we'll be in the middle of our big July the Fourth celebration.

With the town's first Independence Day celebration in more than twenty years planned, everyone will want to stay home for the Fourth, of course, but if you're planning on getting out of town for a few days after that time, I know of a dozen or so places where you'd be likely to have a good time.

IF YOU DON'T have a way to get there, don't let that bother you, because July is Hitchhiking Month, according to Chases' Calendar of Annual Events. If you could thumb your way to Northern Ireland by July 12 you could take in Orangemen's Day, or if you wanted to hitch rides in the other direction you might, if you were lucky, reach Kyoto, Japan, in time for the Annual Assembly of the International Institute of Welding, which starts on July 13.

If you prefer to stay in the good old U. S. A. July 18 is set aside for the Miami Valley Steam Threshers Association annual reunion in Urbana, Ohio. On July 19, there's the International Brick and Rolling Pin Throwing contest in Stroud, Okla., but it's the same day as Post's Sidewalk Sale, which you probably wouldn't want to miss. Anyhow, Texas is having its own State Rolling Pin Throwing Tournament at Pittsburg on July 12, which would give you time to get back for the Sidewalk Sale.

LATER IN the month, on July 26, the Beanhole Bean Festival will be held at South Paris, Me. Some of the events closer home in July other than our own Independence Day celebration and Sidewalk Sale include the Texas Cowboy Reunion at Stamford July 3-5; the fourth annual "Christmas in July" at Seminole July 3-4; the Shrimpoore and Blessing of the Fleet at Palacios July 12, and the annual Polka and Waltz Festival at La Grange on July 12-13.

The wife says we'll be lucky if we get as far away as Justiceburg, Southland, Tahoka or Clairemont, in any direction, the rest of the summer. But, if she is right, we'll at least be here for the Fourth of July celebration and the Sidewalk Sale!

THE MAN UP the street says your children are growing up when they stop asking where they came from and start refusing to say where they are going.

Baseball fans will remember ol' Satchel Paige, the baseball pitcher who refused to grow old and who will long be remembered for his endurance record as an active player. Something else Satchel is remembered for is his six rules for staying young, phrased in his own inimitable language:

1. Avoid fried meats which anger up the blood.
2. If your stomach disputes you, lie down and pacify it with cool thoughts.
3. Keep the juices flowing by jangling around gently as you move.
4. Go very light on the vices such as carrying on in society. The social rambles ain't restful.
5. Avoid running at all times.
6. Don't look back. Something might be gaining on you.

And one of our readers reminds us that in this day and time patriotism is running kind of low, not only with respect to the flag, but to our country as well. He suggests that with the Fourth of July coming up we think over these things about the beautiful word "America":

What mental pictures do the seven letters in America create in your mind?

The capital letter "A" suggests our magnificent snow-covered mountain peaks, and the wiggles of the original Americans.

The letter "m" symbolizes the broad shoulders of our pioneers; shoulders - to - the - wheel, pushing our frontiers westward; broad shoulders swinging axes, building a nation.

The letter "c" might be the lariats of the cowboys riding the plains; lariats of Kit Carson or Buffalo Bill.

The letter "r" is a man with hand outstretched in friendship and cooperation toward all who love freedom, justice and peace.

The letter "i" represents the individual American with his rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

The letter "e" is a bent bow from which an arrow has just sped toward the stars of mankind's highest ideals.

The final letter "a" is a man on his knees in prayer, symbolizing a nation which recognizes its Creator and gives thanks for His blessings.

America is a beautiful word.

Southland woman hurt when barrel tips over

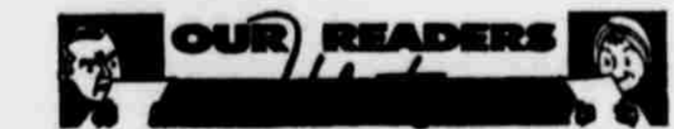

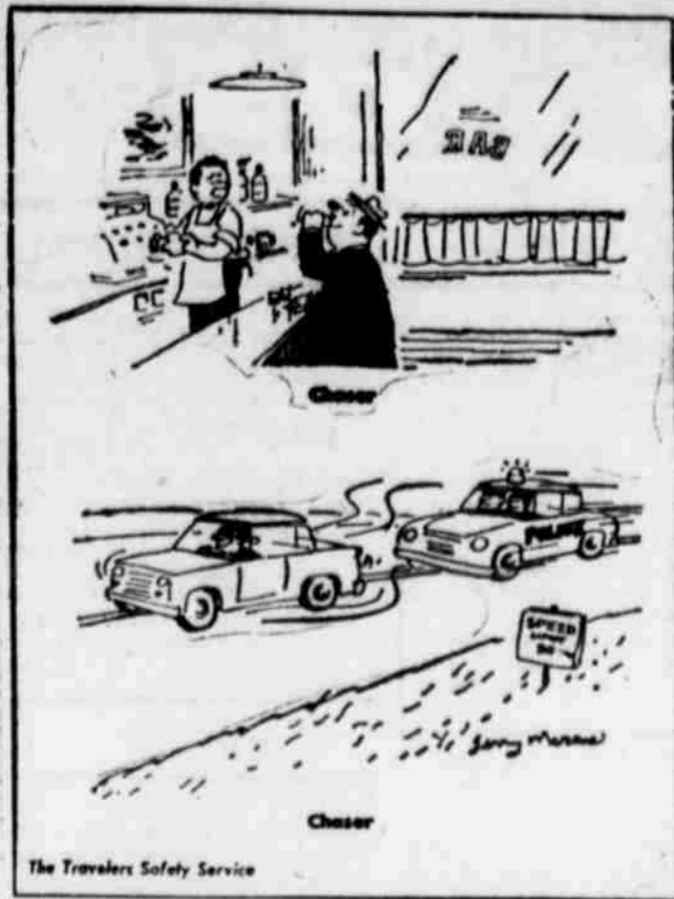

By MRS. EDMUND WILKE
I think a good way to start this week is with this wonderful gem of faith: "Live every day as if it was the first day you ever seen and the last day you are going to see."
Mrs. G. D. Ellis was standing on a barrel last week picking cherries when the barrel tipped over and fell, spraining her ankle and bruising her arm. Her ankle is so bad and she has been confined to bed for several days. We really hope that it won't be so bad until it is much better and she can be up and around.
Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Riney on the birth of their daughter June 11. This little lass weighed in at six pounds and is the daughter of Mrs. R. D. Eckhardt and Mr. F. B. Riney. They now have a boy and a girl.
Mrs. Clark Barton recently purchased a trailer home at Circle S Camp at Buchanan. We go to this camp every year around Easter and we just got there. We are looking forward to visiting the Bartons the next time we go there.
Mrs. H. C. Dunn, Dayneen and J. E. Day of Muleshoe left and Palo Duro Canyon. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wartes visited in Fort Worth and Del Rio recently.

Mike Mason and Darrell Wilke are in Fort Worth presently working for the Santa Fe.
SHERRI WILKE returned home last Friday afternoon after being gone 16 days on a trip to Washington, Lorraine Chambers of Odessa, who also went on the trip, came home with Sherril and spent Friday night.
Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Basinger of San Antonio spent from Monday until Wednesday here visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Basinger. Mrs. Joan Basinger and children of Slaton also visited with the Basingers.
Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Basinger visited Mr. and Mrs. Grover Brewster in the Gordon community on Sunday afternoon.
Larry Long, who is a camp counselor at Possum Kingdom Lake, spent a couple of days last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Long.
Bro. W. T. Dodd celebrated his birthday Sunday and friends dropping in to help him celebrate were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lancaster, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Flanagan, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Taylor and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hardy, Mrs. Herman Havis and Mrs. Jack Myers. Mrs. Dodd served birthday cake, coffee and punch. Here is a belated "Happy Birthday", Bro. Dodd.
Bro. Dodd's sister, Mrs. Millie Phares of Lubbock, and nephew, Brent Phares of Olton visited the Southland First Baptist Church on Sunday morning and visited with the Dodds for a short time.
Will Dodd is spending some time with his grandmother, Mrs. Mamie Greenwood, in Littlefield. D. S. Dodd is attending summer school in Lubbock and staying with her sister, Lynn. She usually comes home on weekends.
Blane Dyess is a player on the Pee-wee "Pirates" and I think they came out the winners over all the other teams. Congratulations to this team, and especially to you, Blane.
Mrs. Aslee Hollis of Southland and Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Elliton of Lubbock spent the weekend in Bryan visiting Mrs. Malinda Lee and other relatives. While there, Aslee attended the Zion Jubilee anniversary.
We extend our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Nellie Mathis and other relatives in this community. Mrs. Mathis' niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Dean and two children of Friona were recently killed in a car wreck at Decatur. May God comfort this family in their great sorrow.

MEDICAL STAFF WELCOMES DIRECTOR OF NURSES

Dear Editor:
The Medical Staff of Garza Memorial Hospital welcomes the addition of Mrs. Jacquelyn Wood to the nursing staff of the hospital as Director of Nurses.
Much has been said about the need for more doctors in this community. The assumption has been that if we just have enough doctors, Garza Memorial Hospital will stay fairly full. That is a false assumption. No matter how many physicians there are, the hospital will still not serve the community as it should without good professional nurses.
Sick people have a free choice of physician. They also have a free choice of hospitals in this area. They base their choice of hospitals on their doctors' recommendation, and upon how they are treated in hospital by hospital employees. Since once in hospital they are subjected to exposure to people they cannot easily avoid by seeking another attendant, they are especially sensitive to personalities and proficiencies which are, in a sense, imposed upon them.
For the first time in a long time Garza Memorial Hospital now has a full time Registered Nurse as Director of Nurses who can be expected to attract patients to our community family care hospital by virtue of an attractive personality, and good professional training and experience.
No one need expect a 25 - bed county hospital to be all things to all sick people. We can expect such a facility to render kind, efficient, pleasant, primary professional service to all who need entry into the medical care system, and complete care to any who do not need highly limited specialty treatment.

The competence of our Director of Nurses in obstetrical cases is especially valuable, and appreciated by the Medical Staff, along with her other high qualifications.
A hospital, no matter its size, can expect to be financially successful only so long as it merits the attraction of patients. But for the long view, good nursing care is the greatest patient - attracting quality of a hospital.
Good doctors practice where there are other good doctors. Good nurses practice where there are other good nurses; and sick people go where there are both.

MEDICAL STAFF WELCOMES DIRECTOR OF NURSES

Dear Editor:
The Medical Staff of Garza Memorial Hospital welcomes the addition of Mrs. Jacquelyn Wood to the nursing staff of the hospital as Director of Nurses.
Much has been said about the need for more doctors in this community. The assumption has been that if we just have enough doctors, Garza Memorial Hospital will stay fairly full. That is a false assumption. No matter how many physicians there are, the hospital will still not serve the community as it should without good professional nurses.
Sick people have a free choice of physician. They also have a free choice of hospitals in this area. They base their choice of hospitals on their doctors' recommendation, and upon how they are treated in hospital by hospital employees. Since once in hospital they are subjected to exposure to people they cannot easily avoid by seeking another attendant, they are especially sensitive to personalities and proficiencies which are, in a sense, imposed upon them.
For the first time in a long time Garza Memorial Hospital now has a full time Registered Nurse as Director of Nurses who can be expected to attract patients to our community family care hospital by virtue of an attractive personality, and good professional training and experience.
No one need expect a 25 - bed county hospital to be all things to all sick people. We can expect such a facility to render kind, efficient, pleasant, primary professional service to all who need entry into the medical care system, and complete

$850 voted for new library books

The Post Public Library trustees in their final meeting of the summer Tuesday night authorized the expenditure of $850 for the purchase of new books by the Friends' acquisitions committee plus additional funds made available by Friends from the recent Book Fair or membership sources, possibly $600.

Trustees authorized the acquisitions group to order as many of the series of Time - Life books as the committee deemed advisable for library use.

Librarian George L. Miller indicated probably around $600 worth of these books will be ordered. Trustees voted to join other Texas schools and libraries in a damage suit against 28 publishers of children's books for allegedly conspiring to fix book prices by not providing volume discounts. The library's participation in the suit will be dependent upon the library having made sufficient purchases from these firms in 1966 and 1967. The Texas attorney - general has filed the suit in U. S. district court in Illinois and will represent Texas schools and libraries.

created a real "book rush" at the library this month and that he has secured additional volunteers for library work so the library desk can be manned by two persons instead of one on almost every volunteer shift.

Attending the meeting were Trustees Ruth Young, Patty Kirkpatrick, Rosemary Chapman, and Jim Cornish, and Librarian Miller.

Burnett-Duvall vows exchanged recently in Midlothian church

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Burnett Jr., son of Bruce Burnett Sr., of Ryan, Okla., and the late Mrs. Burnett. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white peau de soie overlaid with silk organza with a Victorian neckline and empire bodice enhanced with hand-clipped English lace embroidered with seed pearls. The straight skirt was trimmed with panels of lace at either side of the front. The scallops of lace were embroidered with small seed pearls. The bishop sleeves of organza were fastened with small, self-covered buttons and trimmed with medallions of lace above the wide cuffs. Lace also bordered the hemline of the chapel-length train attached at the waistline. Her shoulder-length bouffant veil of imported silk illusion fell in tiers from a forehead spray of lace and petals rimmed with seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis centered by a white orchid and placed on a white Bible.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Miss Renee Duvall. Bridesmaids were Miss Susan Beasley of Longview, Miss Sharon Edie of Dallas, and Mrs. Pat Germany of Waco. They wore identical gowns of apricot-colored peau de soie with over-dresses of matching chiffon. Headpieces were circlets of apricot tulle caught in triple bows of peau and chiffon. They carried princess baskets filled with mint, English ivy and apricot-colored miniature carnations. James Stewart of Ryan, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsmen were Robert Parsons of Odessa, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Hugh Inman of Dallas, brother-in-law of the bride and Walker Ryan of Ryan. Seating the guests were Delbert Ward of Midlothian, and Jim Gilchrist and Jimmy Stewart of Ryan. Miss Lori McLemore of Waxahachie, attired as the attendants, was flower girl. Lighting the candles were Bobby Parsons of Odessa and Patrick Stewart of Ryan, nephews of the bridegroom. George Kent was accompanied by W. P. McClure as he sang "The Song of Ruth" and "The Lord's Prayer."

13th birthday party proves unusual one for Becky Dalby

Becky Dalby will remember her birthday Saturday for two reasons — first, because of 105-degree weather and second, because she and her friends were dressed up by a "circus bus" and taken to Lubbock for a party in her honor at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arno Dalby. The birthday guests met at 3 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McCrary to await the chartered bus from Lubbock which arrived complete with clowns and party players. The group, including the Giles McCrarys and Beck's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Giles Dalby, "sang along" with the guitar players on the ride to Lubbock. Upon arriving at the Dalby home, the youths changed into bathing suits and swam in the pool before being served dinner on the porch.

It's My Turn

— By MRS. C.

Mr. C and I journeyed to Lubbock - town Saturday night to see the Academy Award winner, "Olivier" and thoroughly enjoyed it.

Just as interesting as the show, though, was intermission time which most people spend in the lobby. A few observations made by the Cs after looking at the young audience were:

Boys in Lubbock are not wearing their hair quite so long — they all have modified versions of the long-do. I didn't see a single young man there with hair longer than mine! So, things are looking up in that department.

Girls were there in various stages of dress and undress. Long, long hair still seems to be in vogue as does "anything-goes-in-the-wearing-apparel" department.

One girl wore a pair of hip-bugger pants and a bare midriff top which left a good foot of bare skin exposed. Many girls wore shorts and many girls had on mini-dresses — and most of them shouldn't have!

One either has legs to show off or one doesn't!

I was amused to note that the "young marrieds" were much better and cuter dressed than the "young unmarrieds." Does this mean that it's easier to "catch a feller" than to hang on to one?

On the way to the "city" we learned via car radio that Garza County was not included in a weather zone alert. I was not aware that we were now being "zoned."

"I can see it all now Mr. C." I said. "Pretty soon we'll all have numbers that we'll have to learn to know whether we're in the latest forecast for weather. Better yet, the forecasters can borrow the area code number to cover a broad area, which in the winter could be referred to as "area cold". (Bad pun, what!) In the summer, when they are the most frantic with weather, they can use the Zip Code. Nothing could be more appropriate to describe our weather which "zips" in and out."

Nothing tastes better than tree-ripened fruit. I made that statement so I could bring in some mention of the C's fruit trees.

As I've mentioned before we have an apricot tree, plum tree, cherry tree and apple tree in our backyard and this seems to be the year for them all to show off.

The apricot tree is and has been loaded heavily, as has the plum tree. My only complaint is that I have not had the joy of "picking" this fruit. That is, I haven't gotten to pick it off the tree — only off the ground. The wind blows the fruit off the trees before I can get it picked so Mr. C and I have spent much time crawling around on our hands and knees gathering fruit.

We might be the only bruised-knee fruit-pickers in the nation.

I was sorry to read in the Southland news that Mrs. G. D. Ellis fell off a barrel while picking cherries off her tree but I also stored this information in my mind for future use. Right now if I stood on a barrel I'd be far above my cherry tree. It sort of pooped out on us this year. Last year the crop was big enough to make half a cherry pie. This year a small tart would be the best effort.

Am I making jelly, jam and "butter" with my fruit? Certainly not, I'm running bags of it around to impress my friends. That's easier and much more gratifying.

Religious Authority

By Don Davenport

Almost everyone will admit that, in the final analysis, all authority and power resides with God. Authority has to head-up somewhere, and it heads-up in God. And during the earthly ministry of Jesus He was always careful to give His Father all the credit. He said, "the words which I speak are not mine own, they belong unto the Father, and the words of the Father take I and give unto you." Jesus said, "I came not to do my own will, but the will of Him who sent me."

ALL AUTHORITY

But reading in Matthew 28:18 we find Jesus saying, "All authority hath been given unto me in heaven and on earth." This was after our Lord had conquered death, hades and the grave. He was about to ascend unto the right hand of God. And when Jesus said, "all authority hath been given unto me," He was talking about the transference of authority. IN THIS REPOSITORY OF DIVINE AUTHORITY, ALL RELIGIOUS AUTHORITY RESTS TODAY.

APOSTOLIC AUTHORITY

There is no such thing! Jesus said that all authority had been given to Him, and He didn't pass out any of that authority to any human being, at any time. If He had, our Lord could not be Lord of Lords and King of Kings. There would be other Lords and Kings beside Him. Jesus having all authority makes the citizens of His Kingdom all equal. Nobody looks up or down, but each looks parallel into his brothers eye.

What authority did the Apostles have that gave us the New Testament? They didn't have any! They simply spake as the Holy Spirit gave them utterance. Paul said the Apostles did speak in words of man's wisdom, but words which the Holy Spirit speaketh. On the day of Pentecost the Apostles spake as the Spirit gave them utterance. The Apostles were nothing more than mouth pieces for God.

CHURCH AUTHORITY

Jesus did not come any closer to delegating authority to the church than He did to the Apostles. There isn't any such thing as the law of Christ and the law of the church. It's not ordinances of the Lord and ordinances of the church. Many churches claim that Baptism and the Lord's Supper are orders of the church. But the church of the Lord does not have any ordinances, because Christ did not give the church any authority to pass any. Only Jesus can determine whether a person can and has received baptism, and only He adds them to His church (Acts 2:47).

BIBLICAL AUTHORITY

What we have in the New Testament is the record of the writings and speeches of the witnesses of our Lord. And when we accommodatingly say that Peter and Paul say so and so, what we mean is that Jesus taught these things and the Holy Spirit brought to their remembrance His teachings. We do not have the bricks of divine revelation held together by the mortar of human opinion. And unless the Bible is as authoritative and accurately written down as was the original revelation, then we don't have anything to base our faith on. We simply must have everything, or we have nothing. There is not a mind among us smart enough to draw the line between what is human in the Bible and what is Divine. And to presume such intellect is to de-throne God and put the human mind in His place. Do you suppose that God would give us the iron of divine revelation, mixed with the clay of human writings, making the Bible a mass of human fallibility and divine infallibility? I ask you—what would be the purpose in the Holy Spirit guiding any Truth at all?

FORMALDEHYDE FOUND IN SPACE

Astronomers working with the 140-foot radio telescope at the National Radio Astronomy Observatory in Greenbank, W. Va., have found that formaldehyde is widely distributed in the clouds of dust and gases that exist in interstellar space. The discovery intensifies speculation about the connection between the contents of these clouds and the origin of life on earth.

Since the 1950's it has been known that vast amounts of hydrocarbons are present in huge interstellar clouds, and many astronomers now believe that these clouds spin and contract for millions of years and eventually form stars and planetary systems. Therefore, a study of the clouds could be expected in the planetary atmospheres.

At the same time that astronomers were discovering the hydrocarbons in space, biochemists were showing that amino acids — organic molecules known to be basic units of life — could be produced in an atmosphere of methane, ammonia, hydrogen and water. It is generally agreed that primitive life forms could develop from these gases, but until recently none of the complex molecules had been found in the interstellar clouds that form the planetary atmospheres.

Texas oil wells for week 140

AUSTIN — The Railroad Commission reported Saturday that 140 oil and gas wells were completed in Texas last week.

That raised the total oil well completions for the year to 2,367 compared to 2,388 a year ago, and gas well completions to 1,191, compared to 1,985.

The commission said 262 wells were plugged, including 74 dry holes.

VISIT FROM DALLAS

Mrs. Ricard Feris and children, Gregory and Lisa, arrived from Dallas Tuesday to spend several days visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Didway, and her brother, Walter Didway, and family.

Then last December a team of radio astronomers from the University of California reported the presence of ammonia — a molecule containing four atoms — in the clouds. In February, the same team announced the discovery of interstellar water; thus the only substance remaining to complete the presumed life-forming atmosphere was methane.

Methane, unfortunately, does not have a molecular structure that makes its detection possible with radio telescopes. However, the presence of the chemically related formaldehyde molecule is strong, indirect evidence of the presence of methane; therefore the National Radio Astronomy Observatory discovery has completed, in a roundabout way, the list of chemicals necessary for the origin of life.

The work is reported by Drs. Lewis E. Snyder, David Buhl, Benjamin Zuckerman, and Patrick Palmer in "Physical Review Letters," a publication of the American Physical Society.

DOING SOMETHING ABOUT WEATHER PREDICTION

Success in long range weather forecasting will not be achieved until much more is learned about the complex connection between the sun's energy and the earth's oceans. The most ambitious effort ever made to study this connection will begin next May and is known as BOMEX — Barbados Oceanographic and Meteorological Experiment.

BOMEX Director, Dr. Joachim P. Kuetner, explains that "most of the heat received from the sun is stored in the tropical oceans between the latitudes 30 degrees North and 30 degrees South, a region representing half the earth's surface."

The part of this region selected for study is a 90,000 square mile section of the Atlantic east of Barbados, a British dependency southeast of Puerto Rico. The study, which includes the atmosphere up to an altitude of 100,000 feet and the sea to its bottom at 18,000 feet in addition to the ocean surface, will require more than 1500 people manning 80 separate projects. A dozen buoys, 24 planes, 10 ships — including one that "flips" from horizontal to vertical position — and several satellites are included in the equipment necessary for the study.

IN THIS WORLD

IT IS SIGNIFICANT TO NOTE (U.S. FIG.) THE MILEAGE DEATH RATE FOR ALL ROADS IS 5.6 DEATHS PER 100,000,000 MILES. IT IS 7.5 DEATHS PER 100,000,000 ON COUNTY AND RURAL ROADS.

IMPROVEMENT IN SUPER HIGHWAYS SIGNING SYSTEM IS ONE OF THE DECIDING FACTORS.

COMPLIANCE WITH U.S. MANUAL ON UNIFORM TRAFFIC CONTROL DEVICES KEEPS SIGNS STANDARD AS TO SIZE, COLOR, SHAPE, MESSAGE AND REFLECTIVE OR ILLUMINATED FOR NIGHT VISIBILITY.

OF THE NATION'S 3.6 MILLION MILES OF STREETS AND HIGHWAYS 1.7 ARE UNDER COUNTY JURISDICTION. ABOUT 10 PERCENT OF THESE ROADS, LOCATED IN 3,040 COUNTIES, HAVE SUBSTANDARD TRAFFIC SIGNS.

SINCE MOST COUNTY ROAD NETWORKS DO NOT RECEIVE FEDERAL AID, COMPLIANCE WITH U.S. MANUAL IS NOT MANDATORY RESULTING IN IMPROVEMENTS BEING ASSIGNED LOW PRIORITIES.

Musical drama 'Texas' reopening is set for Friday in Palo Duro Canyon

CANYON—The yawning chasms of Palo Duro Canyon are haunted each summer with the forgotten voices of pioneers who settled the Texas staked plains.

On June 27 the musical drama "Texas" will return to its theater under the stars, staged against a 600-foot backdrop of rock and boulders. The show runs through Sept. 2.

It began four years ago in 15,000-acre Palo Duro State Park. The Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation wanted to "pay tribute to the brave men and women who had the courage to settle a hard and bitter land, once called uninhabitable, and make it prosper."

In Pioneer Amphitheatre, nestled in a corner of the canyon, the stage was set. Foundation members found the playwright, Paul Green, a Pulitzer Prize-winning author who had scripted "The Lost Colony" and "Stephen Foster Story" for outdoor productions.

Palo Duro Canyon is a showcase arena as big as all outdoors, where travelers pay $4, $2.75 and $1.75 to watch professional and local actors relive the struggle to find a home in the West.

"Texas" begins at 8:55 p. m. nightly, except Tuesday, when a muted trumpet echoes sadly down the canyon walls at sunset, and two horsemen ride slowly to the shadowy rim 600 feet above the theater.

Lighting and stereophonic sound richest down the cliffs as a prairie fire rages, as people fight searing winds, dust storms and blizzards.

In a circle of light against a darkened wall a cowboy on a palomino drives an unseen herd of tape-recorded bellowing cattle to market. The first rain, also unseen, whistles mournfully in a rancher's dream. A thunderstorm explodes. The canyon itself, quieted by day, becomes alive with song, dance and laughter. It's heritage was a proud land with proud people, working hard and finding simple pleasures in hoe downs and "lump pickins" and "fiddle sawing."

The Texas Tourist Development Agency reports that the musical drama "Texas" was chosen for two years as one of the nation's top 20 summer events by the National Association of Travel Organizations.

The film, loaded with top talent both before and behind the Technicolor cameras, is like nothing anyone has ever seen because nothing remotely resembling it has ever been made before.

Albany man wins award for historical volume

ALBANY — The literary efforts of a West Texas man have earned the official state award for "Best Historical Publication of the Year on Local or Regional History" given annually by the Texas State Historical Survey Committee.

John Worth Cloud of Albany, was named recipient of the award for 1968 in surprise ceremonies following a Chamber of Commerce luncheon here.

The award was presented to Cloud in recognition of his book, "Legend of Old Stone Ranch" — a poetic interpretation of early 19th century life on the Texas frontier.

A resident newspaper man of Texas for nearly 40 years, he did not become interested in literary writing until after he moved to the Albany area.

Welches return from trip East

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Welch returned over the weekend from a three-week vacation trip to the east highlighted by the graduation of their son, Bernie Welch, who earned a master's degree from the school of social work at the University of Maryland.

The Welches drove to Buffalo, N. Y., from Post and then went on to New York City before going to Baltimore to attend their son's graduation from a class of 6,914 students.

Bernie accompanied his parents back to New York for several days of sightseeing before the Welches left for home.

He and his wife will visit in Post in July.

SUNDAY VISITORS

The rugged grandeur of this area deeply appealed to me. Here the Comanche and buffalo could almost be seen disappearing into the horizon. The rich cultural heritage was being reproduced in the Fort Griffin Fandangle. Every old-timer had his bit of history to share. Here was history with a gripping new dimension.

"Newton Givens and Old Stone Ranch came alive (to me) following a delightful visit to the Putnam Ranch and a tour of various sites pertinent to the story," Cloud relates.

Extensive research followed and "The Legend took shape—like Topsy. 'It just grew.' The love story of Newton and Lucinda is fiction but the rest was written after diligent inquiry and investigation."

While the main characters are fiction, the events surrounding their lives were very much a part of everyday life on the frontier. As stated by one reviewer, it is "A beautiful saga about our American heritage written in a most unusual style."

Cloud said, "Writing the Legend in verse was an irresistible challenge. While researching 'Shackelford County Sketches' by Don Biggers, I was so impressed by the grave scene that I wrote in in verse:

On a high hill overlooking Old Stone Ranch, a cemetery with a single grave stands vigil

That started it! Once the feel of its natural rhythm became familiar, it was almost like writing prose." The strong, distinctive meter of these lines will be familiar to those who have read the verse epic "Hiawatha's Hunting" by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

Publication of the book became a family project after a publisher for 390-page volume could not be found. Prevailing on his employer, John McGaughey, publisher of the Albany News, Cloud went ahead with publication handling all details personally. His daughter, Mrs. Maxine Dudley did actual press work while his wife handled the proofreading.

Rolling pins to fly at Pittsburg

PITTSBURG, Tex. — It only takes a $10 entry fee for Texas women to participate in a sport they are fabled to have mastered naturally.

The East Texas town of Pittsburg hosts the State Rolling Pin Throwing Tournament every year in July.

Women from all over the state are given a day to show the skills, it's rumored, they've been developing through months of practice.

Top prize for the longest throw includes a round-trip ticket to Pittsburgh, Pa., to compete in the National Rolling Pin Throwing Contest during August.

The piney woods tourney originated four years ago as a sidelight to the East Texas Peach Festival, held here July 7-12.

Contestants are judged on distance and style.

Record throw for the tournament was set last year at 144 feet.

And harried husbands usually don't get that much of a head start.

Fiesta Noche del Rio annual San Antonio summer musical event

SAN ANTONIO — The sleepy little San Antonio River is awakened these summer evenings with the sharp taps of flamenco heels and castanets that chatter like crickets in the night.

It's the beginning of a musical fiesta with a Latin beat, performed in the state's most unique outdoor theater.

San Antonio calls it Fiesta Noche del Rio. And it's a visit to the quaint atmosphere of Old Mexico for a two-hour show of authentic Spanish and Mexican dances, music and song in the heart of historic La Villita.

Fast-paced Fiesta Noche del Rio begins at 8:30 p. m. on Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. The musical Mexican market runs weekly through June, July and August.

San Antonio's "Party night on the river" is performed under the stars and cypress in Arneson Theatre, which straddles the city's tip-sy, winding river.

Mergerization gives cotton more luster and strength.

Aquatic camp is being held here for Scouts

An aquatic camp is under way this week at C. W. Post Boy Scout Camp, with the regular camping season to begin Sunday, July 6, and continue through Aug. 2.

Harold Drummond, district field executive from Brownfield, is in charge of the aquatic camp, which includes swimming, boating, canoeing and lifesaving drills.

Both the camp's lake and its swimming pool are being used in the water drills, according to F. A. "Chief" Runkles, camp ranger. About 40 Scouts are attending the aquatic camp.

Several hundred Scouts from over the South Plains Council will have been here for the regular summer camping period that opens July 6. Each troop attending will spend a week at the camp.

A training camp for counselors will begin Monday, June 30, at Camp Post, with about 20 counselors who will be working at the camp this summer expected to attend.

It's the Law...

BOOBY TRAP FOR DEBTORS

Applying for a personal loan. George was asked to write down all of his outstanding debts. Afraid he might not get the loan, he listed a total of only $1,500 — even though he actually owed more than $3,500.

Not long afterward, his burden of debt became so heavy that he went into bankruptcy. This did wipe out much of his indebtedness. But to his dismay, he found that bankruptcy did not wipe out his obligation to repay the loan — because he had gotten the money by giving a false financial statement.

Bankruptcy discharges most of a person's debts. But it does not get rid of a debt incurred through fraud. Thus, by deceiving the lender, the debtor may be setting a booby trap for himself.

On the other hand, the law also recognizes that the loan company itself may be at fault. Some lenders actually encourage the debtor to make a false financial statement, so they can keep a grip on him in case he goes bankrupt. Take this case:

A man filling out a loan application paused when he came to the space where he was supposed to list all of his obligations. Reassuringly, the manager said: "Just put down one or two. That is all we need."

This man too went bankrupt some time afterward. And the loan company insisted the loan was not wiped out by the bankruptcy "because he gave us a false financial statement."

But this time the court ruled that the debt was indeed cancelled, blaming the company's manager for inducing the debtor to fill out the form that way.

Furthermore, a loan company cannot point the finger at false information if it did not in fact rely on that information in making the loan.

In one case a company gave a man a loan even though it knew — from data in its own files — that he was in worse shape than he admitted on the application.

Again, a court decided the debt to the loan company was cancelled by bankruptcy — despite the debtor's false financial statement. The judge said the company could not fairly complain about deception if it wasn't really deceived at all.

77-year-old Texan looks for artifacts

SAN ANTONIO — No rocking chair and gold-headed cane for 77-year-old Grover Cleveland Ramsey.

He has a purpose in life. Although he retired 12 years ago, he still works every day.

Currently he is on a month-long trip for the Institute of Texas Cultures of San Antonio. He's making the first systematic survey ever conducted by the Institute in the Panhandle and South Plains in research of new and unusual artifacts for display.

Ramsey, a consultant to the research department, is a dynamo of energy. He is a retired school principal from Chicago. This near-octogenarian moved to Texas 12 years ago and now lives in a 50-foot trailer house in San Antonio.

He was born in 1892 and named for Grover Cleveland whom the Democrats had just nominated for a third term as president.

In the course of his current travels, Ramsey will visit the following county seats: Lubbock, Amarillo, Hereford, Matador, Dalhart, Claude, Childress, Crosbyton, Dickens, Floydada, Plainview, Littlefield, Muleshoe, Farwell, Dimmitt, Tulia, Silvertown, Spearman, Perryton, Lipscomb, Canadian, Miami, Pampa, Wheeler, Wellington, Clarendon and Memphis.

From the Tea Mo Ga Memorial Museum in Plains, Ramsey has obtained an unbreakable Anglo-American brass-headed doll, an early Danish telephone and an Anglo-American, combined apple peeler, corer and slicer.

In Andrews, he located a rare, French bustle bench about the size of a love seat. Dating from the 1850's, it provides room for one bustle-clad woman to sit.

Near Midland, he discovered an unusual double metate used by Mexican Texans to grind corn for making tortillas.

Lamesa provided him with a silver sugar bowl and spoon holder, circa 1890.

For the Indian section of the Institute, Ramsey got a pair of buffalo horns from the last buffalo killed in Borden County in the early 1890's. This item is from the Borden County Museum in Gail.

From the ranch of Gene Haley near Kermit, he found an oil painting of Sitting Bull by the Indian artist, L. Ship Shee. The West of the Pecos Museum in Pecos provided Ramsey with a man's coat made of buffalo skin for loan to the Institute of Texas Cultures.

A wedding dress dating from 1862 comes from the Odessa College Museum.

Ramsey has visited in Pecos, Monahans, Mentone, Kermit, Odessa, Midland, Stanton, Andrews, Lamesa, Seminole, Gail, Post, Levelland and Brownfield.

July Fourth—

(Continued from Page 1) Ken Callaway, a Chamber director and president of the Jaycees, said today that booth concessions are being thrown open to everyone, since not all the clubs and organizations have indicated that they will participate. Anyone wishing a booth concession is asked to get in touch with Callaway.

The old high school building at which the historical marker is to be dedicated the morning of the Fourth was completed in 1928 as the result of a campaign for a school bond election by the mothers of the area and the Parent-Teacher Association.

A new school building was needed because the old ones had become inadequate and obsolete and were in the process of being condemned.

A $100,000 bond issue was voted, with $84,000 being used for construction of the building and the remaining $16,000 for furniture and equipment.

Planners of the new building specified that stone and other materials from Post's first school building, which had been completed in 1909, were to be incorporated into the new building.

Native stone had been used to construct the first school building and the lower three and one-half to four feet of the outer walls of the high school building was built of this native stone.

The stone work on the new building was done by the same stone masons who had built the first structure — George "Scotty" Samson and Jimmy Napier.

The Rev. O. Curtis Lee, pastor of the First Methodist Church, and the Rev. J. R. Brincefield of Lubbock, formerly of Post, officiated at the funeral services.

Burial was in Terrace Cemetery under the direction of Hudman Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Harold Lucas, Glenn Voss, Marshall Reno, L. J. Richardson, Nat Parks and James Weaver.

Letters sent out on street paving

Letters went out from the City of Post to property owners this week in regard to a street paving program on which a public hearing has been set for July 15.

Each letter describes the owner's property abutting on the paving the city proposes to install and tells him what the cost will be, figured at $4.65 per foot to the property owner.

The letter asks that any property owner with questions he desires answered before the hearing contact the City of Post. It also asks those who wish to express their feelings in regard to the paving program, but who cannot appear in person at the hearing to write directly to the City Council.

HEAT READING AT COURTHOUSE LOW?

Apparently, Garza County's official thermometer at the courthouse is just like the county's official rain gauge. It registers lower than those of the natives.

The big "heat wave" which blew in Saturday on a "blast furnace wind" officially was clocked at 104 degrees.

Some other thermometers around town registered as high as 108 and 109.

The official reading for Sunday too was 104 with the high Monday dropping under the century mark to 99. But it climbed back Tuesday to a high of 101.

And if you're wondering about which was the hottest night among the hot nights, it was Tuesday night when the lowest was a rather warm 79.

Shed burns on Williams farm

Fire completely destroyed by 25 foot shed on the Melvin Williams farm on route 3 Sunday afternoon causing an estimated $10,000 loss.

The Post Volunteer Fire Department was called to extinguish the blaze.

The shed apparently caught from trash which was being burned in a barrel.

Firemen were called out day afternoon to the Posters parking lot to extinguish a blaze seat in a pickup truck, later to Marvin Odom.

Cotton goods were produced in England in 1712.

Tony Conner of the Cardinals was first runner-up for the award, with Randy Josey of the Wildcats and Rodney King of the Red Sox tying for second runner-up honors.

A number of Post women are keeping softball play going at the Jaycees' new diamond every Tuesday and Thursday, but more women are needed, Mrs. Theresa Gilbert said this week.

Mrs. Gilbert said they would like to have enough women for four teams and that if they get that many they will need team managers or coaches.

She said women interested in playing softball are invited to go out to the park on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6:15 until 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Gilbert said the younger women and girls of the community are invited to take part in the softball play.

"We had the softball activity going good for awhile, but interest has been slacking off and we want to build it back up," Mrs. Gilbert said.

McBride said there were too many people who had contributed to the success of the league this season to introduce them all, but he gave special recognition to league president Jerry Conoly; Mrs.

Sox edge Dodgers in Little League finale

The Red Sox came up with four runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to defeat the Dodgers, 4 to 3, Monday night in the final game of the regular Little League season.

The Red Sox victory came behind the one-hit pitching of Rodney King, who yielded only a second inning single to Kevin Kenney.

All three of the Dodger runs came without the benefit of a hit. They scored two in the second on two walks and two infield errors and another in the fifth on two walks and a steal.

A LEAD-OFF double by Bob Craig, singles by Andy Torres and Charles Clanton, two fielder's choices and a single by Tim Owen gave the Red Sox their four game-winning runs in the bottom of the sixth.

Jackie Jennings, who gave up 11 hits, was the losing pitcher. Clanton and Craig each got three of the winners' hits.

The Red Sox also scored late to beat the Cardinals, 7 to 5, Saturday night, plating five runs in the fifth inning after the Cards had taken a 5-2 lead. The Sox ripped losing pitcher Tony Conner for eight hits, with Charles Clanton getting three of them, including a triple. Andy Torres was the winning pitcher, holding the losers to four hits, three of them by Conner, with Mark Terry picking up the other Cardinal hit.

IN SATURDAY'S first game, the Dodgers beat the Tigers, 7 to 1, with Jackie Jennings and J. Y. Strawn combining to pitch a three-hitter. Mike Hair was the starter and loser for the Tigers, with Grayling Johnson coming on in relief.

The Tigers picked up their only run in the first inning on a walk to David Bell and singles by Grayling Johnson and Danny Saldivar. The Dodgers got a total of six hits, with George Hester getting two-for-two and Kevin Kenny three-for-four.

Andre E. LeTendre of Wausau, Wis., was elected national Jaycee president over two other candidates, W. E. Dunkirk of Springfield, Ill., and A. Kirk Downing of Buffalo, N. Y.

Bob Buck of San Antonio, immediate past president of the Texas Jaycees, was one of 10 national vice presidents elected from among 15 candidates.

Hathaway said some of the highlights of the convention were the adoption of a national Jaycee flag, and the cooking and serving of 800 pounds of rattlesnake meat by the Texas Jaycees.

St. Louis, Mo., was selected as the site of the Jaycees' 50th annual convention. St. Louis was the site of the first Jaycee convention.

Loop's top team drops two games

The league-leading Indians fell to the Cubs, 23 to 17, Tuesday, and to the Braves, 11 to 9, Sunday to tighten things up in the Babe Ruth League.

With the regular season scheduled to end Monday, June 30, but with a number of make-up games to be played, the Indians apparently have not clinched the pennant, but they are still well out in front in the league standings with a 10-4 mark over a 7-6 reading for their nearest competitor, the Braves.

The Cubs were outhit 14 to 4 in scoring their 23-17 win over the Indians Tuesday, but capitalized on 28 walks issued by four Indian pitchers, with Johnny Minor the starter and loser.

The losers' 14 hits included a grand slam home run by shortstop Jerry Saldivar in the seventh inning. Kim Owen also homered for the losers. Danny Lee got two of the winners' four hits.

Monday, the White Sox laid it on the Braves, 15 to 5, in a game called at the end of five innings. Winning pitcher Mark Clayton gave up four hits, including a home run by Robert Mindiata. The White Sox got 10 hits, with Clayton and Ricky Hair connecting for two each.

The Braves downed the Indians 11 to 9, Sunday, with Kyle Josey the winning pitcher and Jerry Saldivar, who had come on in relief, the loser. Josey helped his own cause with a home run, and Robert Mindiata went four-for-five at the plate for the Braves. John Redman, Saldivar and Kim Owen got two hits apiece for the Indians.

The White Sox beat the Cubs, 5 to 3, last Friday, with the winners getting six hits and the losers five in a well-played game. Larry Hair, Mark Clayton and winning pitcher Jerry Smith accounted for all the White Sox hits with two apiece, while Freddy Huff and Danny Lee each got two hits for the losers. Kelly Duren was the losing pitcher.

Ricky King and Glenn Branson combined to pitch the Braves to an 11-8 win over the Cubs last Thursday night, with Danny Lee the starter and loser for the Cubs. Of the Braves' eight hits, Robert Mindiata got three and Kyle Josey two. Lee led the Cub batters with two hits, including a triple.

OUR READERS

(Editor's Note: One of our readers, who is also a volunteer worker in the Summer Youth Baseball program, contributes this clipping, which he says he feels is timely at this time of year. We agree.)

THE COACH SURVIVES
I stood in the middle of a small, barren field, trying to ignore the children gambling at my feet and the baseballs flying by my head, and interviewed my newest player.

"Okay, Wilmot, what position do you play?"

"I'm an outfielder, coach," announced the latest arrival, who stood something under three feet and had considerable difficulty seeing in from under his cap.

"Okay, fella, you go on out to center field."

"Where's center field, coach?" I pointed little Wilmot in the proper direction, picked up the clipboard and added him to the roster of my Little League team, which already included such stalwarts as a catcher who gets peeved if the pitcher throws too hard, a first baseman with a tendency to lie down between plays and a second baseman in constant quest of the rest room.

It all began one quiet evening as I sat at home, carefully minding my own business. A gentleman with the Little League called. He pointed out that my 8-year-old son was a Little Leaguer and said they needed help.

IN A MOMENT of aberration that may scar me for life, I reviewed my own days as a player, which grow more glorious with each passing year, my fondness for the game and the absurd idea that I had some spare time. Feeling noble I agreed to manage a team.

The next night I found myself sitting in a half-finished basement with a group of grim-visaged gentlemen clutching clipboards, rosters and file cards and harassing a couple of officials for newer hats and smaller athletic supporters.

It resembled a parody of the annual National Football League draft. Accusations of spying and raiding were bandied about, but finally the other managers coughed up 13 players — including my son — for my new team. I figured out later they were only joking. They won't miss the boys they gave me.

THEY ALSO gave me considerable advice, about mothers who may call in the dead of the night to berate me over some alleged mistreatment of their sons, and daddies who fall stone drunk into the dugout and announce they're taking over.

A few days later we got through the first practice with no disaster and I called the boys around me to tell them that in two days we had our first game.

Well, the game only lasted three innings. Our problem was that the pitchers couldn't get the ball very close to the plate.

The umpire, a very fair man, gave us strikes on the ones that went in front of the batter. Unfortunately most of the pitches went behind the batter.

Their pitcher didn't have the problem ours did and we couldn't touch him.

THE FEW parents of our team remarked to my wife that they liked my attitude. Only my wife could detect the little signs of agitation, like the nervous tic and the reddish face, turning to purple in the second inning.

One of the boys asked why I was gently tapping my head against the dugout post, but I told him I liked the way it felt and he seemed to understand.

The score was 22 to 0 at the end of the third inning. The other manager couldn't see why I wanted to call it quits. I told him it was just too dark to go on.

I told the kids they played a good game and not to worry. But I suggested maybe next time we would do a little better and make the score look like baseball instead of football, whereupon Wilmot says, "Are we gonna play football next time?"

To paraphrase Grantland Rice a bit, when the Great Scorer comes to write against my name, it matters not if I won or lost, but how I survived the game.
