Reorganization begun to assure government funds

Post's Community Action Committee voluntarily organized in the summer of 1968 by a group of concerned local citizens, is going to be completely reorganized in the next two weeks to meet all federal requirements for the securing of available OEO funds for local community action projects, including child day care center.

County Judge J. E. Parker, and four representatives of the Office of Economic Opportunity. The four who advised such reorganization were Jimmy Karr of Crosbyton, director of the Floyd-Crosby, Dickens and Kent Community Action Council; Truett Mayes of Crosbyton, chairman of this same four-county Community Action Council board; George Tiner of Lubbock, administrative secretary of the Lubbock - South Plains area planning commission for community action projects, and Howard Maddera of Levelland, former Wacker's manager here who is director of the Lubbock - South Plains area planning commission.

Maddera told those present that planning money already had been assigned for the area which includes Garza County to push through immediate planning for community action projects. Karr of Crosbyton told the group that his four-county Community Action Council board had included Garza County in its $190,000 request for federal OEO funds and that the application would go in to Washington soon.

Mayes explained how several towns in that four-county council already have successful neighborhood center projects at which a wide variety of classes desired by residents of the poor areas of those communities were organized. The four visitors indicated that Garza County could expect to receive federal support of its child day care center, which will open its second year of operation Aug. 26, and that other desirable projects also would be supported here by federal funds.

Major emphasis in next Tuesday's state amendment election centers on Amendment 2 on the ballot which would authorize the raising of the limit on water development bonds to $3,500,000,000 to help finance future importation of water into Texas.

You'll find an eight-page tabloid, starting from the water development map for the state on page 1, was prepared by the Governor's Committee of 500, to explain the complicated project to Texas voters.

Lucas was runnerup in Group 10 Chevrolet's May - June Pace-A-Sale campaign to win the Mexico City trip. There were 19 dealers in Texas and Oklahoma in the group. Lucas wound up the campaign by attaining 138.46 per cent of the sales objective for his dealership.

Final rites held for Howton Haire. Funeral services for Charles Howton Haire, 72, of the Gordon community, were held at 10 a. m. today at the First United Methodist Church in Slaton, with the Rev. Bruce Parks, pastor, and the Rev. Drake of Lancaster officiating. Mr. Haire, who was a retired engineer and a resident of the Gordon community since 1917, died Saturday morning in Mercy Hospital at Slaton following a lengthy illness. He was born April 12, 1897, in Garza County, and was married to Mrs. Grace Stotts on Feb. 21, 1925, at Slaton. Mr. Haire was a veteran of World War I. Surviving are his wife; two sons, one of Lubbock and Jack Haire of Slaton; a daughter, Mrs. Diane Haire of Irving; two brothers, one of Slaton and J. H. (Hub) Haire of Post; seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Burial was in the Southland Cemetery under the direction of Hudman Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Earl Hardy, B. B. After big backyard shoot out' Strategy changed in skunk invasion

The J. W. (Dub) Grays' residence at 611 West 12th is under attack from thirsty skunks.

After five were killed in a big Tuesday night "shoot out" Gray has changed his tactics and has decided to try to "wait out" three more invaders who have gotten in under his house.

Police Sgt. Otis G. Shepherd told the Dispatch yesterday that the "skunk invasion" was the big news in law enforcement here this week. Shepherd said Gray used an old yard dog house after five skunks table to block the door of his backyard slipped into the dog house.

To Shepherd's knowledge, the dog escaped attack. After cornering the skunks in the doghouse, Gray called "the law" and asked for protection.

Responding were Sgt. Shepherd, Patrolman Max Chaffin, and Charles Propst, on vacation from the FBI. They took their trusty shotgun, pulled the table from the door and the "shoot out" was on.

Result: Five dead skunks and a very smelly backyard. "We shot 'em and left," Shepherd told The Dispatch. "We don't mind shooting skunks but removing them isn't in our line of work."

The police then got another call Wednesday morning. Gray reported three more skunks had invaded his backyard after the "shoot out" and were there under his house.

Gray told Shepherd he was adopting the strategy of "letting them drift out" because those "shoot outs" were so hard on the nose.

Beauty entries being accepted

Entries are now being accepted for the preliminary Post competition leading to the White River Day Queen contest. Tommy Young, Jaycee contest chairman for Post, announced today.

Young said the contest to select two representatives from Post will be held here sometime in late August. Girls to enter must be high school students, Young said. Entries should arrive for a business firm to sponsor each of them.

Young is accepting the applications. He said the Post beauty contest will be similar to the one the Jaycees sponsored here last year. Full details should be ready next week, including the date of the contest, Young added.

After 58 years apart M. J. Malouf, sister are reunited here

Mrs. Karmey Said Malouf, a 74-year-old widow, who has been in Post since mid-July visiting her brother, M. J. Malouf, will have traveled around the world when she returns to her home in Lebanon, for she is going from here to Australia to visit three of her children.

The reunion was a happy one for the sister and brother when Mrs. Malouf arrived in Post from Dallas the other day. They hadn't seen each other in 58 years — since 1911, the year Mr. Malouf left his native Lebanon for America. Mr. Malouf, a longtime Post merchant, has been back to his home country since he left it 58 years ago, but he didn't get to see his sister. She and her husband had moved to Australia. They lived in Australia for 18 years, where they farmed, before returning to Lebanon in 1937. Mr. Malouf died in 1962. The brother and sister admit that having the same surname is confusing, but Maloufs are rather numerous in Lebanon, the Post man explains, so it happened that his sister married a man with the same surname as her own. Mrs. Malouf boarded a jet plane at 8 p. m. Monday, July 14, at Beirut, Lebanon, which has the busiest airport in the Middle East. In what she describes as "no time at all," she was at Kennedy Airport in New York City, and then, "almost before I knew it," was in Dallas, from where a niece brought her to Post. Post wins trophy for most bandsmen at music camp

The Post public school bands won the Governor's Trophy for having the most musicians — 42 — enrolled from outside Lubbock in the Texas Tech Youth Music Camp, which ended two weeks of intensive training last Friday.

The presentation was made at the annual camp banquet. Kent Kirkpatrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kirkpatrick, won a full scholarship for the 1970 summer music camp by being one of the 21 youngsters named as student officers for next year's camp.

He was one of the five assistant captains named by the faculty of the 1969 camp. Kent will live in the camp dormitory and receive all meals and tuition free next year. He was selected because of his outstanding performance in all areas of the camp.

Seven Post musicians also received special recognition by being placed in the advanced bands at the camp. They are Rodney Holmes, Sherrell Guichard, Ken Herron, Grayling Johnson, Rusty Conner, Kirkpatrick, and Steve Hays.

The Post students traveled to Lubbock daily for two weeks in school buses to attend the music camp sessions held on the Tech campus. The ten musicians who attended from Post but were not present when the trophy presentation picture was made are Rodney Holmes, Sherrell Guichard, Grayling Johnson, Tony Conner, Larry Barton, Melody Rose, Brent Shafer, Joni Huffman, Jamie Norman and Carol Davis.

Dean Killion, director of Texas Tech's famed "Goin' Band from Raiderland", directed the summer music camp attended by 511 young musicians. The Post Band Boosters had presented tuition scholarships to five of the bandsmen attending the camp and also bought camp "patches" for all those having perfect camp attendance for the two weeks.

"I would like to thank all the parents who made it possible for their children to attend the camp in Lubbock this year," Herb Germer, director of the Post band program, said. (See Band trophy, Page 8)

Jaycees to haul off 'junk cars' Saturday

Post Jaycees under Joe Bailey are planning another "junk car" haul away here Saturday at no charge to the property owners. Anyone having junk cars they want removed should call Mrs. Helen Cornish, Post's Operation Clean Sweep chairman, at The Post Dispatch Friday.

Funeral services for John Elza Belyeu, 66, retired local carpenter, will be held at 10 o'clock Friday morning in the Calvary Baptist Church with the Rev. Joe Vernon officiating.

A resident of Post for 19 years, Belyeu died Wednesday morning in Methodist Hospital at Lubbock where he had been a patient for five days. Mr. Belyeu was born Dec. 27, 1902, in Texas and was a member of the Church of Christ. The Belyeu home is at 601 South G. Place.

Survivors include the wife of the home; three daughters, Mrs. Aileen Mitchell of Slaton, Mrs. Joyce Okom of Post and Mrs. Opal McClain of Paris, Tex.; three brothers, Sam of Walnut Springs, Tex., Reuben of Cross Plains, and David of Stayton, Ore.; one sister, Mrs. Eva Ashley of Stayton; and nine grandchildren.

Burial will be in Terrace Cemetery under direction of the Hudman Funeral Home.

More enthusiasm here than in years

Post's 1969 Stampede Rodeo, which will open three colorful night performances next Thursday night, appears "all set" with one of the biggest rodeo parades in years and a lot of extra community support from the Post Chamber of Commerce and the Post Jaycees.

The downtown parade, scheduled for 5:30 p. m. next Thursday afternoon, is expected to be composed of more riding groups and more floats than an rodeo opener has drawn here in a decade.

"We've had more promises for floats than in seven or eight years," Floy Richardson, parade chairman, said this week. Cash prizes for floats will be $25 first prize, $15 for second, and $10 for third. Richardson also said between 25 and 30 riding groups have been invited to participate in the rodeo parade and that between 15 and 20 of these clubs are expected to be on hand.

Mayor Giles C. McCrary has officially proclaimed next week as "Western Week in Post." To add to the rodeo atmosphere, cash prizes of $15 and $10 have been offered for the two best beards entered in the judging an hour before the rodeo parade next Thursday.

Jim Jackson, Chamber president, has plenty of quantity in his beard though the quality of his "trimmings" will have to be left to local barbers who will pick the winners. Beard contest entries are asked to make the rounds of both downtown barber shops for the judging between 4:30 and 5 p. m. next Thursday. The beard champ and runnerup will be featured in the parade.

More atmosphere is promised by Post Jaycees next Thursday with their administration of "frontier justice" to all persons caught downtown not wearing western clothes. The Jaycees will set up a "jail" at the corner of Main and Avenue I and will dole out dime fines or jail sentences to those "arrested" in civilian garb.

The rodeo office is scheduled to be opened Monday in the building formerly occupied by Garza Auto Parts in the 100 block in West Main street. The Post Stampede Rodeo has been reduced from a four-night to a three-night format this year with the feeling that the shorter season is better. (See Stampede Rodeo, Page 8)

Water amendment to be voted on Tuesday

A light vote is anticipated, although the proposed water amendment to the Texas Constitution has aroused considerable interest over the county, when Garza voters go to the polls next Tuesday along with voters throughout Texas to decide the fate of nine proposed amendments to the state constitution.

At a similar special amendment election two years ago only 400 to 500 Garza County voters were cast. All six voting boxes within the city of Post have been combined by the commissioners court for this election to cut down on election costs.

Post voters will cast their amendment ballots in the library at Post High School. Mrs. Loucille Morris will be the election judge of the combined city boxes, assisted by Mrs. Modena Farmer. Garza's rural voters all will vote in their accustomed precinct boxes. There has been no consolidation of boxes outside of Post. The polls will open at 8 a. m. and close at 7 p. m.

Due to the fact that interest in election results will hinge on the state court not the Garza County, The Dispatch does not plan to be open Tuesday night to give election returns. The amendments in the order they will appear on the ballot are as follows: No. 1: Clean-up amendment to repeal outmoded portions of constitution without making any substantive change; No. 2: To provide for the issuance of up to $3,500,000,000 in water development bonds by the state to pay for the importation of additional water into Texas with the cost eventually to be paid by the water users.

The first public hearing on the paving, called for July 15, failed to develop into anything official when the city council through a misunderstanding did not appear. About 50 property owners did show up, and another large crowd is expected Aug. 28. No new street paving projects were added to the project on "the second time around."

Dispatch urges passage of 7 amendments

Voters are reminded to go to the polls next Tuesday, Aug. 5, for the special state election to decide on nine proposed amendments to the Texas constitution.

Post voters are reminded too that there will be only one ballot box in Post Tuesday—that at the high school library, thus saving considerable election expense for what is sure to be a light vote.

The Texas Constitution of 1876 has been amended a total of 191 times, most recently in 1968 when seven of 14 proposals submitted to the electorate were adopted.

Changes in the state constitution are the most permanent form of legislation and also constitute the one area of legislation in which Texas citizens may participate directly by endorsement or by exercising veto power.

The Dispatch in this editorial urges your support for seven of the nine amendments and your opposition to two of them for reasons which we will set forth.

It is highly doubtful if even seven carry. The difficulty in getting Texas voters to ratify needed amendments is in getting the voters to understand the amendment, how and why it will operate.

To give the voter some degree of guidance as space permits is the purpose of this editorial.

The No. 1 amendment on the Tuesday ballot is known as the "clean-up amendment." It will make no substantive change but will clean up obsolete, superfluous, or unnecessary sections of the constitution. Nobody opposes this one. You can vote yes without fear.

Amendment No. 2 is the "big one" of this special election. It provides for increasing Texas water development bonds by a whopping $3.5 billion to finance a system for the importation of water from the Mississippi River or other out-of-state source.

The Dispatch is a staunch supporter of this one just as are most of the Plains farmers and business interests. The success of the long-range water importation plan will determine the future of the High Plains irrigated area which will substantially benefit.

Eventually water users will pay off this big bond issue by paying for the water they use.

The amendment, though only the first step in the development of water importation, has the solid support of almost all the state's water experts and surprisingly little opposition despite the big price tag.

Water importation into Texas is particularly important for this area as it will provide water to recharge our irrigated areas.

Be sure to VOTE YES for No. 2. It's worth the trip to the polls for your future and mine.

Amendment 3 authorizes the legislature to set its own salary and the salaries of the Speaker of the House and the Lieutenant Governor within certain limits.

The Dispatch opposes this one. Voters gave the legislature a pay raise via amendment in 1960 and in 1965 and 1968 defeated amendments aimed at giving the legislators more. If the legislature can get this amendment passed, they can write their own salary ticket from now on. Maybe they need a boost—but certainly not this.

Amendment 4 provides for the exempting of non-profit water supply corporations from taxation. It in effect would take the tax expense off the cost of operating rural water supply corporations such as the one formed north of Post not long ago via an FHA loan. Municipal water systems are tax free. Rural water systems deserve the same break. The Dispatch urges you vote YES.

Amendment 5 would increase the ceiling on assistance to four classes of needy in Texas from $80 million to $80 million annually from state funds.

The Dispatch favors this one, despite the $20 million price tag. If we vote this one an additional $55.8 million in federal funds will go to needy Texans under the matching state-federal formulas for the welfare programs.

This amendment was voted down in 1968 and resulted in drastic reduction of public assistance to needy children. If we vote it down again, another drastic cut is in the offing.

Amendment 6 would authorize removal of constitutional interest-rate limitations on certain bonds subject to limitations imposed by the legislature. The Dispatch thinks this is needed and that the legislature can provide all necessary curbs and keep Texas bond offerings at interest rates which will permit them to be readily sold.

Low interest rates as set in our constitution now hamper the Texas Opportunity Plan, which provides student loans enabling many young Texans to attend college, and the Texas Water Plan (which is what Amendment 2 is also all about).

Amendment 7 provides for payment of assistance to surviving spouses and minor children of governmental officers, employees and agents, including members of organized fire departments and certain organized police reserve units who have hazardous duties and are killed in performance of those duties. This expands a section of the constitution adopted in 1966 to provide for payment of assistance to surviving spouses and minor children of law enforcement officers, custodial personnel of the Texas Department of Corrections and fully paid fireman who suffer violent death in the performance of their duties.

The new amendment would extend this coverage to survivors of volunteer firemen, as here in Post, and others.

Certainly, The Dispatch supports this coverage for our volunteer firemen.

Amendment No. 8 authorizes the legislature to provide for additional loans to students at the college and university level under the Texas Opportunity Plan.

The Texas Opportunity Plan is unique in that no other state in the nation provides direct state loans to students. The student loan fund was established in 1965 with an initial authorization of $85 million in bonds. The coordinating board to date has sold $39 million bonds under this authorization and the remaining $46 million will be sold to meet anticipated loan demands and interest and sinking fund requirements during the next two years. By the end of fiscal year 1971 it is estimated that 212,000 loans will have been made to 75,400 students who will eventually repay the loans.

But before such repayments can come in under loan terms, it is estimated in the five-year period from 1971 to 1976, projections indicate an additional 117,000 students will borrow, if the money is available, $160 million more. Interest and sinking fund requirements during this five-year period are estimated to be $46 million; thus an additional bond authorization of $200 million is included in the proposed amendment.

This amendment is essential to continuation of the successful Texas Opportunity Plan for Texas student. Vote yes. There is no organized opposition.

Amendment No. 9 would provide for annual sessions of the Texas Legislature. This amendment would provide that regular sessions held in even-numbered year not exceed 60 days in length and would be limited to legislation funding state programs for the next fiscal year and emergency matters submitted by the governor.

There are good arguments both for and against this one, but due to added costs, the power of the governor to call special sessions when he desires, and because of increased frequency of regular sessions would make legislative service a full-time job and even more economically unattractive than it is at the present time. The Dispatch opposes the annual sessions.

These are just this newspaper's opinions. What count are the opinions of Texas voters who vote next Tuesday.—JC

LIKE THE heat wave, "moon madness" hangs on.

"The Proverbs" of John Heywood, first printed in 1546, includes many colloquial sayings about the moon. I've just learned by looking up some of the references to the moon in "Bartlett's Familiar Quotations." One of Heywood's proverbs, which we hope doesn't prove true, is: "Fears may force a man to cast beyond the moon." Another of his proverbs, which we now know isn't true, is: "The moon is made of a green cheese."

AND SHAKESPEARE in his "King Henry IV," wrote, "By heaven, methinks it were an easy leap to pluck bright honor from the pale-faced moon." It probably as easy as Shakespeare had in mind, but NASA and the astronauts made it look easy. It is interesting, too, to note that Neil Armstrong, like Shakespeare, used the word "leap" in his first statement upon setting foot on the moon.

The man up the street says the honeymoon's really over when he phones he'll be late for supper — and she's already left a note that it's in the refrigerator.

BEFORE I GOT around to writing an obituary awhile back, the man at the funeral home who had given me the information phoned back to me that I not use the term "Reverend" in front of the preacher's name — which I would have done if he hadn't called back, since the minister in question is not a Church of Christ minister, and up until then I had used "Reverend" in front of other minister's names, but had learned long ago not to use the term in front of a Church of Christ minister's name.

And now along comes a newspaper editor back East who points out in an editorial in his newspaper that a minister should never be called "Reverend" — and he seems to have a lot of backing for his conclusion. He explained:

"Wonder how many people are making the same mistake we have been making? If you call your minister 'Reverend Adair,' 'Reverend Clark,' or whatever his name, you are making a grave social error. The correct term is plain old 'Minister.'"

"Even Emily Post says so! 'But as many of us of the so-called 'common herd' tend to scoff at what Emily Post has to say, we'll quote other sources also. Alexander Woolcott used to call this error in speech 'a light-hearted vulgarity.'"

"Time Magazine, a few years ago, took it more seriously commenting on the abolition of its usage by the ministers of Lansing, Mich., when it said: 'Nothing so infuriates a minister named Jones as being called "Reverend Jones." Reverend is an adjective, not a title. If a parson is not a doctor, he is, like a other men, a minister.'"

"In commenting on the protest of those Lansing ministers, 'The Christian Century' called the error 'an odious practice, which, beginning with the illiterate and unchurched, has spread in recent years until one is no longer safe from it even in the column of metropolitan dailies or on the platforms of urban churches.'"

"Frank Colby, in his syndicated word column, made it clear: 'Reverend should never be used as a noun. It is not a title like Doctor, Captain, Mayor.'"

"The World Almanac puts it succinctly: 'A clergyman should never be referred to as "Reverend Blank." "Reverend" should be used only as "Honorable" is used. It is "The Rev. Mr. Blank" or "The Rev. John Blank," but never "Rev. Blank."'

"Once a man (or woman) realizes that the word means 'worthy of reverence,' he is reluctant to acquiesce in its use. Most ministers that we know want to be respected or admired or to be cordially regarded, but they don't want to be 'reverenced.' They choose to be considered on a much more friendly basis."

"After all, the one place this word is used in the Bible is not about man but in reference to God: 'Holy and reverend is His name' (Ps. 111:9)."

"Someday all the ministers may rise up to renounce all the smacks of forms that seek to accord them a preeminent that must be earned. For the 'Minister' or plain 'John Smith' will be good enough."

Well, here at The Dispatch, we've been about halfway right and halfway wrong in our use of "Reverend" in our news columns. We follow the style of the Associated Press in writing it "the Rev. John Smith" when first mentioning a minister, but must admit that on using the same name a second time in the story we've been writing it "Rev. Smith" instead of "Rev. Mr. Smith," which appears to be the correct usage. But, we've had few complaints and none at all, that I can recall, from any of the ministers.

It's My Turn

— By MRS. C.

It's with fear and trepidation that I open up The Post Dispatch office these mornings and head for the back shop to make the morning coffee.

The perfectly legitimate reason for this fear and trepidation on my part is the fact that we have a mouse in our "business house."

I have admitted before and I continue to admit that I'm so afraid of mice that I'm tempted to move out when they move in.

Corky Ammons and Danny Richardson who "inhabit our back shop also" are not sympathetic with my "mouse thing." (Mr. C is as he has gone through the torture of having to put up with me on the infrequent occasions that we have had a mouse in our house.) Corky and Danny just laughed at me the first day the mouse showed up.

Corky has been with us long enough to know that I'm a bit "kooky" about a few things but Danny, a bit newer on the scene, wanted to know why I was afraid of mice.

"The same reason a lot of MEN are afraid of snakes," I answered rather huffily. I got a weak "oh" response.

This has always puzzled me. Men always laugh when they encounter a woman who is afraid of mice but will freely admit they are deathly afraid of snakes. I've known men that leave a fishing area because of sighting a snake and I've known men who won't go out into their tomato patches to pick tomatoes because a snake has been sighted.

No one laughs at these "quaint" little fears when they come from men but let a woman shriek when sighting a mouse and everyone laughs hysterically. Life seems to be full of these "injustices."

We have a strange situation out at 307 Osage. We have a mouse in our woodpile, which is on the patio. Unbeknown to us (the C daughters will love this) we were feeding it.

Mr. C had purchased a bird-feeding station for me last year and we had it hanging in a tree on the patio. We knew it was a bird-feeding station but never could get this across to the birds never have I seen a bird eating at this station, sparrows included.

The wind blew it done one day

Mr. C set it on the woodpile until we would have time to rehang it. I, with my eagle eyes, had spotted a mouse in the woodpile one evening but gave no thought to Mr. C placing the feeding station there.

However, I did notice one evening that the nuts and tidbits in it invited woodpile visitor was having a banquet each night on the bird-un mo rep au uo pauwp it were sort of bunched up in spots food. Needless to say I had Mr. C (I won't go near the spot) remove the feeding station back to the tree. It is setting in the crotch of the tree and I have the feeling that the mouse climbs the tree and now eats there!

Miss Sam Basset is aware that she is sharing the patio with the small creature and it help her pass her lonely days while the C are at work. She spends hours sniffing at the woodpile and a few times has exerted herself to chasing said visitor. Not being the fleeter dog in the world this has all come to naught.

I have extracted a promise from Mr. C to rehang the feeding station correctly and place some poison behind the woodpile. I put a can of mouse power in Danny's hand on Monday and he sprinkled it around the back shop.

My nerves are settling down again and I am so happy I don't live in Texarkana where they have a RAT problem. I'd have left there long ago!

THE LADY WITH THE LAMP.

By Bernard S. Ramsey

A man took his little girl to see the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor. They had a great day and, when they arrived home she was tired. Still, she could not go to sleep, and she was so restless that her mother finally went to see if she could not quiet her.

"Why can't you go to sleep, dear?" the mother asked. The daughter replied: "I keep thinking of the lady with the lamp. Don't you think somebody ought to help her hold it up?"

This is a good word for America in 1969. That's the reason God put us here as a nation: to help the lady hold her lamp high.

The Church also is a great beacon light all across our land, and she also, needs somebody to help her hold her lamp high.

The Post Dispatch

By LARRY BARTON
Well, here it is a month away from school, yet it seems to me that summer started only yesterday. This is one of the many disadvantages of attending school for a year; it seems as though school will never end during this period of pure freedom, but when those three long awaited months known to the school as VACATION roll around, it seems as though you really know what happened.

During the past two weeks I've been getting back in the swing of things by attending the Youth Music Camp at Texas Tech. The camp is much bigger and better this year than in years past. There are a number of one-hour a day classes from which the student may choose including Conducting (Choral and Instrumental), Rhythm, and Music Appreciation. Students may also major in either Band or Choir, or both. Also, recreational activities are planned almost nightly for the students — swimming, miniature golf, skating and dances. This music camp is one of the best things I know of to spend two fun-filled summer weeks.

As you probably already know, the RCA Victor Record Company sent the library a large shipment of records a few weeks back, and since we at the library have no use for the records, we have offered them to you at the unbelievable price of $1 per album. These are brand new, never before played albums by such top names as Floyd Cramer, Perry Como, The Brotherhood and Hank Snow. So if, by the time you read this there are any albums left, hurry down and stock up on them while they're at such a tremendous discount. The money will go for library expenses and (maybe) new books.

Nothing very unusual has happened lately on Frankie Robbin's and my shift, except for the terrific amount of books being checked in and out. The smallest number I've checked out all summer has been 55, and that's quite a record compared to the 10 or 15 books which I used to check out on the 4-6 shift before the summer rush started.

I really enjoy my work at the library because one of my main interests is books, and I find that I meet some of the nicest people in this way also.

I noted a few new books in the library when I was there a few days ago. There was Catherine Marshall's inspiring "Beyond Ourselves" (We already have Mrs. Marshall's "To Live Again" on our shelves) and also "Between Parent and Teen-ager" by Dr. Halm Ginott.

These are just two of the many new books which have reached out shelves. Many others are due in the near future.

That's about all I have to say, but do remember to drop by and pay Frankie and I a visit on Fridays from 4-6, or if you can't make

Indian reservation offering Big Thicket tour to all tourists

Texas' only Indian Reservation, home of the Alabama and Coushatta Tribes near Livingston, has added a new interesting area to their Big Thicket Tour.

Last week Sen. Raip Yarborough, who is introducing a Bill in Congress to create a Big Thicket National Park next to the Reservation, made the maiden tour on one of the Indian Reservations' four wheel drive tour vehicles into the virgin forest and swamp land of the Reservation previously inaccessible by vehicles.

The Tribal Members have practiced their culture of conservation on the land held by the Tribes since 1854. As a consequence, the only known virgin hardwood forest remaining in Texas can be seen on the Reservation.

The Reservation has more State Champion trees (largest of a species in Texas) than any other property in Texas and possibly the United States. The State Champion trees are Water Tupelo Texas Honeylocus, Schumard Oak, American Hornbeam, Hercules Club, Water Hickory, White Ash, Mockernut Hickory, Red Maple, Amer-

Burlington sales up for quarter; net earnings in slight decrease

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Burlington Industries, Inc., today reported record consolidated net sales of $447,627,000 for the quarter ended June 28, 1969, compared to sales of $410,418,000 for the same quarter last year.

Net earnings for the quarter were $19,607,000 equal to 76 cents per share. For the comparable quarter last year, net earnings were $20,486,000 or 80 cents per share.

For the nine months ended June 28, net sales were $1,331,560,000 and net earnings were $60,162,000 or $2.32 per share on the 25,973,000 average shares outstanding during the period. In the comparable nine months last year, sales totaled $1,202,277,000 and earnings were $59,264,000 or $2.34 per share on the 25,322,000 average shares outstanding during the period.

Charles F. Myers Jr., chairman, commented that while the 9 percent increase in sales volume in the June quarter reflected a continuing high level of business, pre-tax profit margins of 9.3 percent for the quarter were lower than the 10.3 percent margins of the same period last year. The lower margins, he commented, resulted from lower selling prices in several product areas and increased costs, generally occurring in the economy.

The Board of Directors, meeting in New York, declared a regular quarterly dividend of 35 cents per share, payable Sept. 1, 1969, to shareholders of record at the close of business Aug. 1, 1969.

Grain sorghum vote is sought

AUSTIN — Northwest Texas Grain Sorghum producers are the second Texas farm group to seek certification for a commodity check-off referendum, according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

A public hearing has been set for 10:30 a. m., Monday, Aug. 4 in the Texas Department of Agriculture offices in Austin. Evidence presented at the hearing will determine whether or not the Grain Sorghum Producers' Association of Lubbock will be certified to hold a referendum and election in a 29-county area of the Texas high plains and panhandle.

If a referendum is authorized, White explained, growers in the affected area will vote on a proposition of whether or not to assess themselves to finance research, disease and insect control, education, and promotion of their crops. They will also vote on a commodity producers board to carry out programs with funds collected.

'Love Bug' is comedy about auto racing

Dean Jones has more fun than perhaps a hard-working actor should playing race car driver in the hilarious Walt Disney production, "The Love Bug," which plays at the Tower Theatre here Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The film also stars Michele Lee, David Tomlinson and Buddy Hackett.

For Jones, an avid car buff, the film dealing with the antics of a Volkswagen with a will to win proves more play than work.

Some of the greatest names in auto racing helped produce this comedy hit.

The ocean contains about 929 trillion dollars worth of gold, but it would cost more than that to extract it.

Clyde youth heads Texas FFA group

FORT WORTH — Murray Edwards of Clyde was named president of the 50,000 member Texas Association of Future Farmers of America here recently during the organization's 41st Annual meeting. South Texan, Peggy Wilborn of Anahuac, is the 1969 - 70 State FFA Sweetheart.

Edwards, 17, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Edwards. He plans to enter the ranching field following a year as president of FFA and his college education. He has earned FFA honors in Public Speaking with the farming program, and has served in several offices on the local, area and state level. Miss Wilborn is 17 years old, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wilborn and plans to enter Baylor University this fall.

Gary Bishop of Hearn will serve as First Vice President of Texas FFA, and Rebecca Sue Weatherby of Fort Stockton was runner-up in the Sweetheart contest.

In other convention activities, Pat Jarrett of Mission was named winner in Public Speaking. The talent contest was won by western singer James Hand of West.

It doesn't complicate your life.
Maverick is the simple machine—simple to own, simple to repair, simple to service, simple to drive.

It doesn't cost a lot.
With prices everywhere going sky-high, Maverick comes along with a down-to-earth price—$1995.*

It doesn't have a tiny trunk.
Maverick gives you 10.4 cu. ft. of trunk space—nearly twice as much as the leading import. Now the whole family's luggage can go along for the ride.

It doesn't squeeze you in.
Some big people live in this country. That's why we made Maverick bigger than the imports. Lots of legroom and shoulder room.

It doesn't squeeze you out.
It's great for parking, great for handling, great for zipping through traffic.

It doesn't cost a lot for maintenance.
You can do most maintenance jobs yourself, if you want. If your mechanic does it, he can do it in a lot less time. Great when time is money and the money is yours.

It doesn't need a lot of service.
Maverick oil changes and chassis lubrication come less often than in the leading import. (Isn't it time you started seeing less of your mechanic and more of your car?)

It doesn't burn a lot of gas.
Maverick gives you the kind of mileage you'd expect from a little import—even with a powerful six-cylinder engine.

It doesn't hold back on power.
Turn on the engine and turn loose 105 horses—nearly twice as much as the leading import. This means highway power, passing power. The kind of power you need.

It doesn't handle like a kite.
The road might be wet and the wind strong but Maverick's tread is wider than the car is high—great for stability. (Most economy imports are higher than their tread is wide.)

It doesn't follow the herd.
Maverick's new, different. A bright idea with bold, new colors. See your Ford Dealer for the rest of the story. Find out why Maverick is the hottest selling new car to come along since Mustang.

It doesn't skimp on essentials.
Maverick gives you tough brakes, unitized body construction, rustproofing, and four coats of paint. Its 3-speed transmission is able to handle twice as much horsepower as the engine turns out.

Cheaper by the doesn'ts.

Entries being accepted for Post day care center

Applications are now being accepted for the position of director and assistant director for the Post Day Care Center which will open in new quarters this year in the Post Public Housing unit on East Pine Street.

The Post Day Care Center, which was successfully operated last year in the basement of the First Methodist Church, has been granted permission by the Post Public Housing Authority to use one of its vacant units for this purpose.

A tentative opening on Aug. 25—to coincide with the opening of the Post public schools — has been set by the Post Day Care Center board of directors.

Applications are also being accepted for children from ages two through five years of age to attend the center, according to board president, Mrs. Ruth Ann Newby.

All children in this age bracket whose mothers work and cannot afford commercial day rates for their children, will be considered for attendance. The center is licensed to care for 20 children.

If federal funds are obtained, as promised, a new position of assistant director, will be possible. Applications will be taken for this position and will be acted upon as soon as the money becomes available.

Mrs. Newby also pointed out that children who were enrolled at the center last year must re-apply this year.

Applications for the two positions and enrollment for children may be made to Mrs. Madie Johnson, 810 West Pine or Mrs. Helen Cornish at the Post Dispatch.

As the opening time is fast approaching it is suggested that these applications be made promptly. Appointments will be set up for interviews with the director applicants the first of next week. Those applying will be notified by phone as to the interview time.

An application appears on page 4 of today's Dispatch. It may be clipped and mailed or brought to the Post Dispatch office. An ad regarding hiring of the director and assistant director also appears in this week's paper.

Rotarians told how blind feel

John Whistler, the blind musician who is being featured in the Church of the Nazarene revival this week, told Post Rotarians at their Tuesday luncheon that he was a living example of the need for a guide dog.

He lost his sight when a shotgun was discharged into his face when he was a child.

Whistler told an interesting story of "feeling his way through life" and how he is led by the third of his guide dogs. The other two died in his service.

Whistler also sang, accompanied himself at the piano, and whistled. He had his own dance band, touring Kansas on one-night-stands, he said "before I gave my heart to the Lord" in 1941.

Whistler was introduced by the Rev. Charles E. Peters.

Reorganization—

When the Community Action Committee board is reorganized, it then will take up the subject of possible affiliation with the four-county (Floyd, Crosby, Dickens and Kent) community action council for the development of the local community action program beyond the present day care center operation.

The child day care center was operated its first year without any federal money via private and club donations and the Garza County United Fund.

Attending the Monday night meeting here were Mrs. Ruth Ann Newby, Mrs. Helen Cornish, Pat N. Walker, Mr. Miller, Mrs. Maxine Marks, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lott, Mrs. Ruby Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Madie Johnson, Mrs. Hulene Daniels, William Scott, Hulene Hoyer, Ed Blanton, head of the Post Public Housing Board, County Judge J. E. Parker, and Jim Cornish.

'Simmons fund' now stands at $620

The "Freddy and Susan Simmons fund" stood at $620 at the First National Bank yesterday afternoon with contributions to help finance the stay of Mrs. Simmons at the hospital bedside of her wounded husband in El Paso.

One check was received this week from California from a former Post resident who lauded the community for its humanitarian effort.

Others who wish to give are asked to leave their checks at the bank.

Malouf—

Mrs. Malouf arrived in Post a few days ahead of the moon landing, which she watched on television with her brother and his family. She said the people in Lebanon were "very excited and curious" about the Apollo 11 journey. "They had looked forward to it for weeks," she said.

Since Lebanon itself is a thickly populated country, Mrs. Malouf said she was not as much impressed by the crowded conditions in the eastern part of the United States as she is by the wide open spaces in Texas.

Mountains dominate Lebanon, with the only fertile plain in the central interior of the country. "I live in the mountains in the summertime and in Beirut in the winter," said the visitor. "The weather was warm when I left Beirut, but not nearly as warm as you've had it here."

Mrs. Malouf has three children in Lebanon as well as the three in Australia. A son and two daughters live in Lebanon, where the son is employed by an American airlines company. Two sons and a daughter live in Australia, where the sons are in business for themselves, one as a laundry owner and the other as a factory owner.

The visitor's sister-in-law, Mrs. Linda Malouf, added the information that their house guest has nine grandchildren. Grandchildren are especially important to the Post woman, who has 17 of her own.

Lebanon is a member of the Arab League, but its role in the Arab-Israeli wars have been minimal, Mr. Malouf explained for his sister.

"Lebanon would prefer to remain neutral," Mr. Malouf said. "The Lebanese are not warriors."

The nation of Lebanon is a republic, with a population of 2,400,000. More than a half-million of its inhabitants live in the capital city of Beirut, which is situated on the Mediterranean Sea at the foot of the Lebanon Mountains.

After World War I, France received a mandate over Lebanon, where tension between Muslims and Christians continued to pose problems, as they had for centuries. Declared a republic in 1926, the country was promised independence by 1939 in a treaty never ratified by France. Vichy French control was broken during World War II by British and Free French forces, and in 1943 Lebanon won its independence and joined the United Nations.

Lebanon, with the highest standard of living of any Arab country, benefits greatly from tourism, as well as from its banking and commercial services — especially those it offers the oil-rich countries of the Middle East.

Capital has been invested to improve agriculture, which has not been very productive. Special emphasis has been placed on the production of fruit, an important export.

Mrs. Malouf plans to travel to Australia in a more leisurely manner than from Lebanon to here. She will go to Australia on an ocean liner with the journey requiring about 20 days.

"Of course, we're going to keep her with us as long as we can before we let her go on to Australia," said Mrs. Linda Malouf.

The visitor from Lebanon appears to be enjoying every minute of her visit in Post. Sunday afternoon, she was present at the wedding of a grand-niece in the Malouf home, and on that occasion got to see many nephews and nieces and grand-nephews and grand-nieces that she had never seen before.

In Our Time

INSECTS WERE ON THE SCENE LONG BEFORE MAN...

THEIR CAPACITY FOR MULTIPLYING IS INCREDIBLY GREAT...

THE U.S. BUREAU OF ENTOMOLOGY HAS DEMONSTRATED THAT ONE HIBERNATING FEMALE FLY COULD EASILY PROVIDE 5 1/2 TRILLION MORE FLIES FROM APRIL 15 TO THE END OF SEPTEMBER.

FLIES, LIKE MOST INSECTS, ARE BORN EDUCATED. NO ADULT NEEDS TO FEED THEM. WHEN THEIR LIFE PURPOSE HAS BEEN ACCOMPLISHED, THEY DIE.

MAN, AS THE INGENUOUS OBSERVER, RESPECTS THE BEE AS A SOURCE OF FOOD FOR ITS ROLE AS POLLINATOR OF PLANTS. HE ABHORRS THE FLY FOR ITS ROLE AS SCAVENGER AND CONSIDERS IT A PEST.

ONE OF THE MOST POPULAR CONTROL DEVICES ON THE MARKET TODAY FOR SMALL FLYING INSECTS IS SHELL'S NO-PEST STRIP INSECTICIDE. ONE HANGING IN AN AVERAGE SIZE ROOM OF 12' X 12' X 8' WILL KILL FLIES AND MOSQUITOES FOR UP TO A THREE MONTH PERIOD.

Guns stolen from Virgil Smith home

Sheriff L. E. (Fay) Claborn in reporting the Saturday night burglary of the Virgil Smith home in the Hackberry community again emphasized to all residents the need to keep serial numbers in a safe place so that investigating officers will have some means of identifying stolen property.

Burglars got in through a window at the Smith home and stole three shotguns, a .22 rifle, an 8 . m. projector, and a container of film.

"Guns, applicanes, projectors, TV's, radios, sewing machines, and many other items which are often stolen have serial numbers and we need these both to identify the stolen property and to make our case in court," Claborn told The Dispatch.

How proposed water amendment will help this West Texas area

AUSTIN — Adequate water will insure the economic development of the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Congressional Districts in West Texas.

The proposed Amendment No. 2 to be voted upon Aug. 5 authorizes the Texas Water Development Board with the approval of two-thirds of the State Legislature to issue $2.5 billion in bonds to finance Texas' share of the water plan. The plan adopted by the Water Development Board is designed to provide adequate water to maintain the growth of Texas into the next century when it is estimated that we will have a population of 30.5 million people.

The Texas Water System proposes to deliver irrigation water to approximately 4 million acres in Districts 18 and 19 at full development. The local impact generated by this supply of irrigation water is estimated at $1.1 billion annually. The System will also deliver 80,000 acre - feet to Lubock, 20,000 acre - feet to Snyder and 59,000 acre-feet to Midland annually at full development for municipal and industrial purposes. Recreational impact will exceed $0.4 million annually by 2020. The total construction cost of the reservoirs and other facilities is estimated at $1.7 billion.

Some of the proposed and potential reservoirs as well as some that are already under construction or completed under the Texas water plan are: Rita in Hartley and Meredith in Hutchinson, Potter and Moore in the Canadian River Basin; Bivins in Randall and Buffalo; Greenbelt and Lella Lake Creek in Donley; Lower McClellan Creek in Gray and Sweetwater Creek in Wheeler in the Red River Basin; J. B. Thomas in Borden in the Colorado River Basin, and White River in Crosby in the Brazos River Basin.

The Eighteenth and Nineteenth Congressional Districts must have an assured water supply to support their towns, cities and rural areas.

Some hail damage from thunderstorm

Post and the western half of Garza County got a welcome shower Sunday afternoon although accompanying swirling winds and hail damaged cotton and outbuildings in the Graham area.

Between 25 and 50 per cent cotton damage was caused by the hail on the farms of Mason McClellan, Bobby Crowdy, Joe Taylor, Wilburn Morris and Elvie Peel.

The winds blew down a tool shed on the McClellan farm and reportedly some trees.

Moisture included an official half inch here in Post up to 1.5 inches at Close City and in the Storie Gin area. Pleasant Valley received about an inch and Graham about a half inch.

The hard hitting little thunderstorm didn't dent the heat wave, however, as it had on July 22.

Officials highs and lows here in Post ranged from 96 to 102 in the upper range during the past week and from 67 to 81 on the low side.

Highs and lows for the last seven days: Wednesday, July 25, 99 and 76; Thursday, 102 and 81; Friday, 100 and 81; Saturday, 98 and 80; Sunday, 97 and 72; Monday, 96 and 67; Tuesday, 99 and 74.

The shower, welcome as it was, wasn't nearly enough. More moisture is needed in all areas for the cotton.

Band trophy—

"All the 'getting up early' and 'staying up late' they have had to endure the last two weeks will pay off in the future, both for the band program here in Post and for these bandsmen as they continue their musical educations," Germer said.

Germer, who is now on vacation out of town, also announced that pre-school rehearsals for the Post Antelope Band will start on Monday, Aug. 18, at 8 p. m. in the band hall.

Stampede Rodeo—

This year's rodeo competition will include bareback bronc riding, calf roping, saddle bronc riding, barrel racing, team roping and bull riding.

One hundred dollars will be deducted in the saddle bronc riding all entry fees added back.

Fred Myers, one of the rodeo directors, said that Charlie Palmer of Elk City, Okla., the top producer for the Post rodeo, "a bunch of new young bulls is string which are as rank as I've seen in the country."

The rodeo will have a new nouncer this year, Don Webster of Chester, Okla.

Western dances on the slab of the three rodeo performances with the Westernaires, featuring Herb Prupps on the trumpet, the bandstand.

7 lettermen, bigger grid squad will report Aug. 18

Grid shoes will be issued for 'running' Aug. 13

Things are going to be a whole lot different when the Post Antelope grid squad checks out equipment and begins "two-a-day" practice Monday, Aug. 18, little more than two weeks away.

For one thing there will be 17 lettermen in suits, including nine offensive and nine defensive starters from the 1968 club.

That totals up to a lot of experience.

For another, a squad of about 40 hopefuls are expected — which materializes will be the largest here in years and years.

Thirty more freshmen are expected to report to the practice field too as soon as the grid staff calls out the freshman call.

There will be both varsity and team squads this year due to the larger size of the turnout.

That's going to be a helpful difference too.

Another important difference is there to be a "new" head coach, Billy Hahn, who has moved up from first assistant with the recent resignation of Glynn Gregg to start private business.

He will bring new ideas and new enthusiasm to the overall preparation of the veteran Antelope squad at the club's road opener, Sept. 1, at Hale Center.

He'll have new assistants too. Waco Reynolds moves up to first assistant and will take charge of the Black and Gold line. Lee (Bud) Davis, highly successful junior high coach, has been promoted to freshman coach and will be assisting with early varsity preparations. Kenneth Poole, an ex-Antelope back, will be on things during the opening whistle as the new B team grid coach. Bert Leaverton, a newcomer, who will assist Davis in freshman football, will complete the expanded grid staff.

One difference the players are sure to appreciate is that due to the early start of school there will be only one week of "two a day practices" instead of the customary 18 days to two weeks. Classes begin here Tuesday, Aug. 26, the latest autumn start for the team in a number of years.

Coach Hahn told The Dispatch yesterday that football shoes will be issued Wednesday, Aug. 13, at the fieldhouse so grid candidates can start running.

Speaking of running, Hahn reports that the enthusiasm among the coaches to get started is "running high."

"We're ready to go," Hahn said. Four members of the Antelope coaching staff are planning to attend the Texas High School Coaching school at Dallas next week. The school begins with registration Sunday and ends with the North-south all-star football game Thursday night.

Attending the full school will be coaches Hahn, Davis, and Leaverton, with Kenneth Poole, getting ready for the final two days after completion of driver training class.

Texas drownings have soared over 350 mark for '69

AUSTIN — Drownings in Texas have soared well over the 350 mark, and as the outdoor recreation season grinds on, there is no indication that the rate of drownings will fall, according to Robert G. Maueremann, deputy director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Department files show there have been at least 369 drownings this year. A major portion of these drownings are connected with recreation oriented activities such as swimming and boating.

"In other words," says Maueremann, "what starts out as a pleasant outing near or on the water turns into a tragedy."

The case histories of the drownings we receive here are alarmingly repetitious," he said. "People keep making the same mistakes over and over again."

According to Maueremann, water safety rules are few, simple, and easy to follow. And the rules could have saved the lives of a major portion of those drowned, had they been observed.

"Take boating for example," he says. "If everyone would wear the life jackets which are required to be aboard the boat for each passenger, drownings due to boating accidents would virtually be eliminated."

Maueremann says that while boating accidents account for a good portion of the drownings, wading and swimming accidents cause the majority of deaths.

"It is always amazing to me the number of non-swimmers who will wade in unknown waters where they can't see their feet," says Maueremann. "They then step into deep holes and can't swim the three or four feet back to shallow water to save their lives."

Swimmers are constantly overestimating their abilities and dying for it, according to Maueremann.

"The most heart-breaking tragedies are the children, the toddlers, two, three, and four years old, who somehow find their way to an apartment swimming pool or drainage ditch the moment their mother's back is turned," says Maueremann.

Longtime Southland resident succumbs

By MRS. EDMUND WILKE

The fellow who worries about what people think of him wouldn't worry so much if he only knew how seldom they do! How's that for an opener for this sultry Monday afternoon? We had a half inch of rain here Sunday afternoon and some farmers reported as much as an inch, but it is still hot and sultry. We sure have been needing some rain, so maybe with this little start we will be getting some more soon.

We extend our deepest sympathy to the family and friends of Howton Haire, who passed away at 5 a. m. Saturday. Mr. Haire lived in the Gordon community for some 52 years. May God comfort this family in their time of grief.

Mrs. G. D. Ellis was dismissed from Mercy Hospital to her home last Thursday. Welcome home, Mrs. Ellis.

Mrs. Bill Dodd fell one day last week and suffered a badly sprained ankle. She is the wife of the minister of the Southland First Baptist Church. We certainly hope all goes well with you, Mrs. Dodd.

Mike Mason, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mason, was home a couple of days last week pre-registering for the fall semester at Texas Tech. Mike works for the Santa Fe and is living with Darrell Wilke in Fort Worth.

Dan Eckert, son of Mrs. R. D. Eckert, is taking basic training at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio.

MRS. NELLIE Mathis returned home last Friday after spending several months in Oregon. Don't think she likes this hot weather that we are having after enjoying such nice weather in Oregon.

Congratulations to Miss Kelly Jo Myers and Bruce Beatty who will speak their wedding vows Saturday at the Slaton First Baptist Church. May God bless this young couple and their life together.

The two little daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Adamek spent several days last week visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Shelton, in Lovington, N. M.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Q. Poindexter and David of Seattle, Wash., visited Mr. and Mrs. Robert Long Saturday night. Mr. Poindexter and Mrs. Long are brother and sister. David is spending a few days in the Long home.

Cathy Long has spent the past two weeks visiting with Cindy Rainald in New Home. Her parents were expecting her home Monday.

Mrs. Paul Winterrowd, Dahlonsa, Breonne and Jerry, returned to Southland after spending a week in Fort Worth and Lake Whitney.

Guests in the home of Mrs. Aslee Hollis over the weekend were her nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. James Foster and children and a Mrs. Loumiller from Bryan.

If your dollar won't do as much as it once did, consider: Are you doing as much as you once did for a dollar? Until next week, so long!

Guilty plea in Grassland slaying

TAHOKA — George Hight of Brownfield was sentenced to 30 years in the penitentiary by District Judge Truett Smith after pleading guilty to a charge of murder with malice in the fatal beating in 1968 of an elderly Grassland community woman.

Hight admitted his part in the slaying of Mrs. Carrie Wall, who died Sept. 21 en route to a Lubbock hospital after being found severely beaten at her Grassland home.

O'Dell Fullbright, a second defendant indicted for Mrs. Wall's murder, will be tried at a later date. A third defendant, Johnnie Coe, was charged only with intent to commit theft and was given a five-year probationary term after an innocent plea.

Mayo attends SCSA of Texas session

Bailey Mayo, SCSA district conservationist here, attended a three-day conference of the Texas Council of the Soil Conservation Society of America in Abilene last Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Approximately 160 members and their families from across the state attended the event, theme of which was "Pollution and the Quality of Our Environment."

Among the subjects covered at the meeting were "Texas Water Plan as It Affects West Texas", by Robert Wagstaff, director of Water, Inc., of Abilene.

"I used to stand up and say the world was a miserable place. Then I would sit down and do nothing about it."

Now comes the big question. What can you do? You're only one little individual among over 200 million people. How can you help?

For one thing, you might think about investing in your country. Showing your faith in its future.

That's exactly what you do when you sign up to buy U. S. Savings Bonds. You're simply buying a share in America.

You're also socking away some money for yourself.

Money that grows at a guaranteed rate, to pay you back $4 at maturity for every $3 you've saved.

Of course, Savings Bonds are not going to cure all our headaches. But they'll help to provide the economic strength we'll need for the job.

And at the same time, they can cure a lot of your financial headaches in the years to come.

Any way you look at it, they make good sense.

And that's just what we need in this country right now.

Texas Water News

Texas' Future Hinges on Water Amendment Ballot August 5

Texas voters will ballot Aug. 5 on a constitutional amendment that would provide the State of Texas the capability to authorize the issuing of $3.5 billion in water development fund bonds for Texas' share of the $9 billion Texas Water Plan.

Their decision on this first Tuesday in August will chart the course Texas will follow into the next century—a course leading to unprecedented economic growth and prosperity for the entire state, or a path leading to decline and stagnation caused by the lack of adequate water for the state's villages, towns and cities, its industries, and for its irrigated agriculture.

The Amendment—Number 2 on the ballot—authorizes an increase in the Water Development Fund of $1.5 billion; removal of the 4 per cent interest rate limitation on the Fund's bonds and authorizes the rate to be set by legislative enactment; expands use of the Fund for the development of water resources for the State, both within and without the limits of the state; removes the Dec. 31, 1982 cutoff date for use of the bond funds to assist political subdivisions of the state to develop their water resources; empowers the Water Development Board to contract with federal agencies, other states, foreign countries—such as Canada—and others for the development of water resources and the bonds would not be used for gifts or grants. They would be repaid—with interest—by the users of water. The Texas Water Plan is based on the concept that all reimbursable costs of water developments would be repaid by those who use the water.

Planners from the Texas Water Development Board estimate that Texas, after a full development of its water resources, will have a shortage of 12 to 13 million acre feet annually by 2020. An acre foot is 325,581 gallons.

To overcome this anticipated shortage, the Texas Water Plan proposes the importation of some 13 million acre feet of surplus water each year from the lower Mississippi River to meet an estimated requirement of 32 million acre feet for growing cities, industries, and agriculture.

The immense Texas Water Plan proposes the construction of 67 dams and reservoirs—with 33.6 million acre feet of conservation storage and 16.1 acre feet of flood control—at an estimated cost (in 1967 dollars) of $2.4 billion. Remaining costs would amount to some $6.5 billion.

The Texas Water Plan sketches a massive network of transstate transmission canals spanning north Texas and the Gulf Coast, connecting pipelines, pumping stations, and power plants—possibly nuclear powered.

The 500-mile concrete-lined northern canal would begin in the upper Sulphur River basin of east Texas and extend westward past Lubbock in the High Plains, turn south and west to the Trans Pecos where a pipeline would connect with the canal for movement of municipal and industrial water to El Paso. The Trans-Texas division would carry about 1 million acre feet of water a year for northern and western Texas.

In addition to serving the Northeast Texas basins, the cities of Dallas, Fort Worth, Lubbock, San Angelo, Abilene, Odessa, Midland, and other communities, the division, with its offshoot pipelines, would provide irrigation water for north central Texas, the High Plains, and the Trans Pecos.

"THANK YOU!"

The publishers wish to take this means of saying "thank you" to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, the Texas Highway Department, the Texas Tourist Development Agency, the Santa Fe Railroad, Central Power and Light Co., Aluminum Company of America, and the Texas water Development Board for photographs used in this edition. Their cooperation is greatly appreciated.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE CITIZENS OF TEXAS

The availability of an adequate supply of water has always made the difference between prosperity and want--between plenty and famine. For these reasons, water has played a major role in the Texas story--has been the essential element in placing a State known for wide open spaces in the position of sustaining the Nation's third largest population by 1985; a high rate of growth in business, industry and finance; and the Nation's third largest agricultural industry.

Our State's growth projections in these areas nearly defy imagination, and yet experts tell us that these projections and future prosperity cannot be realized unless giant steps are taken now to assure Texas' future water resources.

The Texas Water Plan was developed to make maximum use of the available water in our State and to provide for additional out-of-state water as needed. This work has taken place during all of our administrations as Governor of Texas. The plan comes to its first real public test on August 5 when you, the voters of Texas, are being asked to approve Constitutional Amendment No. 2, which will authorize the Texas Water Development Board to sell up to $3.5 billion in additional bonds over a forty year period, in amounts as needed, and as authorized by a two-thirds vote of the State Legislature--money that will eventually be repaid by water users.

We urge you to vote for Constitutional Amendment No. 2 on August 5. It may be the most important vote this generation of Texans will cast.

Sincerely,

Preston Smith

area. The 418-mile Coastal Canal and the Coastal Division would carry about 4.8 million acre feet annually, plus the amount supplied to metropolitan Houston and San Antonio by subsystems.

Rio Grande waters from Amistad Dam at Del Rio would move to Maverick and Webb counties and to the vegetable-growing Winter Garden area around Carrizo Springs.

As needed 220,000 acre feet of supplemental surface water for San Antonio could be provided from reservoirs in the Guadalupe and San Antonio rivers basins. Houston could be provided with additional surface water from the Brazos, the San Jacinto, the Trinity and the Neches river basins.

The Coastal Canal would supply municipal and industrial water for the Corpus Christi-Kingsville area and irrigation water for the Coastal Bend.

The Coastal Division would also provide 2.5 million acre feet of additional fresh water each year to the valuable bay and estuary system and to wild-life refuges, thus maintaining and enhancing their sports, commercial and aesthetic value to Texas and to the nation.

Timing of the developments proposed by the Texas Water Plan is an extremely critical factor, say Water Development Board planners. "Our best estimates indicate that by or before 1990 some of our metropolitan areas--Corpus Christi, San Antonio, El Paso--will need supplemental water to meet their growing requirements," said Howard B. Boswell, executive director of the Board.

"By 1985 ground water supplying irrigation on the South Plains will have been depleted to the point that agriculture will be increasingly dependent on dry-land farming," Boswell added.

"If this occurs, the entire state will suffer economic losses in investments, banking, insurance, transportation, markets for agricultural equipment and supplies, and the loss of population," he added.

Texans old enough to vote in the Aug. 5 election remember well the drought of the 1950's and what it's like to be without water. Water rationing was the rule in most Texas towns and cities. Lakes dried up. And farmers saw their land crack from the dry heat and crops die. Pastures dried and died, and ranchers sold their herds.

Texas' water planners hope to ease the plight of Texans, should drouth strike again, by the development, conservation and wise use and management of the state's water resources. Supporters of the Plan and Amendment No. 2 are hoping Texans recall the dry, dusty days of 1950-57 on Aug. 5.

Amendment No. 2

Someone has said—facetiously, yet seriously—“there are 11 million reasons to vote for Constitutional Amendment No. 2 on Aug. 5—the People of Texas.”

The Amendment, approved overwhelmingly by the 61st Legislature, broadens the powers of the Texas Water Development Board and the purposes of the Water Development Fund; eliminates the interest limitations (4 per cent) on Texas Water Development Bonds; raises the authorized amount of Texas Water Development Bonds by $3.5 billion; extends the maturity schedule on Texas Water Development Bonds from 40 to 50 years; eliminates the Dec. 31, 1982 cutoff date for financial assistance by the Board to political subdivisions for the development and improvement of their water supply systems; and empowers the Board to contract with the federal agencies, other states, foreign governments—such as Canada—and others for the development of water resources and facilities.

Voters of Texas will have their say on the proposed amendment to the Constitution on Aug. 5.

Basically, the proposed Amendment would provide the State of Texas with the capability to finance its share of the cost of the Texas Water Plan, estimated to be (in 1967 dollars) $9 billion. The balance of the costs initially financed by the federal government.

An important aspect of the Texas Water Plan, however, is that the entire projects' cost will ultimately be paid by water users. So the real question is not “Who will pay?” but, rather, “Who will advance the money?”

In this respect the State is performing the function of a banker supplying funds for interim financing. All costs to the State, both principal and interest, will be recovered—although the recovery will be spread over a long period of time.

Before any of the $3.5 billion in bonds could be issued—they will be issued over a period of 40 to 50 years—two-thirds of the Legislature must give approval. The bond funds will not be used for gifts or grants. Funds provided for the development of water resources must—and will—be repaid the State with interest.

Of the State's estimated $3.5 billion share of financing, $2.3 billion is earmarked for development of municipal and industrial water supplies; $65 million is earmarked for the cost of storage acquisition in reservoirs not a part of the Texas Water System; $600 million is set aside for future loan programs of the Texas Water Development Board; and $500 million for contingencies.

Approval of the Amendment on Aug. 5 will give the State the flexibility needed in the full development of the State's water resources for the benefit of the people of Texas.

Water Plans Will Meet State's Needs

Texas is entering a new era in the development of its water resources, an era unequalled in the state's long history.

To meet the water requirements of booming, dynamic Texas and its projected growth of 30.5 million people in the year 2020, the Texas Water Development Board has prepared a $9 billion master plan for the development of Texas water resources.

Highlighted by far-sighted proposals to transport surplus waters from the Mississippi River and moisture-rich east Texas by giant canals to parched west and south Texas and parts of New Mexico, the Plan represents more than a decade of intensive study and an expenditure of about $10 million. Estimated state share of overall project costs (in terms of 1967 dollars) is $3.5 billion. Federal and local funds would pay for the rest.

The Plan provides for the construction of 67 dams and reservoirs and alternates, huge transmission canals and pipelines, pumping stations, and power facilities for the movement of vast quantities of water annually to water-deficient area—about half of Texas—to meet the needs of towns and cities, industries, and agriculture. Other beneficial water requirements will also be met by the Plan.

Three divisions—the Trans-Texas, Coastal, and Eastern—form a dramatic part of the Texas Water Plan.

The Trans-Texas Division will supply municipal, industrial and agricultural requirements in the Northeast Texas basins, the Dallas-Fort Worth area, the North Central sector, the South Plains, Trans Pecos, El Paso, and eastern New Mexico.

A total of 10.3 million acre feet a year will move through the huge system from an Interstate System and from Northeast Texas across the top of Texas holding reservoirs on the Caprock near Lubbock for distribution to the Plains, Trans Pecos, El Paso and Eastern New Mexico. New Mexico will receive 1.5 million acre feet of out-of-state water while 7.5 million acre feet will be allocated to agriculture along the route served by the Canal. Municipal and industrial users will receive 950,000 acre feet of water to satisfy their requirements.

The Coastal Division will supply some 4.5 million acre feet annual water for municipal and industrial uses, for irrigation, the bays and estuaries and for wildlife refuges from the Sabine River to the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Estimated water requirements west and south of the Brazos River, plus inflows into Galveston Bay but excluding Houston and San Antonio requirements, are 1.8 million acre feet for irrigation, 2.5 million additional acre feet for bays and estuaries, 433,000 acre feet for municipal and industrial supplies, and 60,000 acre feet for fish and wildlife.

Water supplies for Houston can be met by several alternatives, including combinations of supply from the Brazos, Trinity, San Jacinto, and Neches river basins, ground water, and water from the Coastal Canal.

Cuero, Cibolo, and Goliad reservoirs, with Cannon reservoir and a pipeline system, part of the Coastal Division, can, through systems operation, supply San Antonio with 220,000 acre feet of water annually to supplement available ground water from the Edwards Aquifer.

The Winter Garden area, southwest of San Antonio, can be served by conveyance of releases out of Amistad Reservoir on the Rio Grande. Water supplied from Amistad to irrigators in these areas will be replaced in the Lower Valley by deliveries through the Coastal Canal.

The Eastern Division of the System includes facilities which will be required to move water imported from out-of-state sources to the Trans-Texas and Coastal divisions.

Subject to the results of feasibility studies, the Board proposes that design and construction begin in the following sequence:

AN EDITORIAL: Texas Water Plan a “Must”

— ARLINGTON CITIZEN

TEXANS ON AUGUST 5 will determine the course our state will take into the next century. One course, begun nearly two decades ago and ready for action now, will provide adequate water resources to keep Texas moving ahead with vision and determination. The other leads to stagnation and decline because of an inadequate water supply.

WHAT IS AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO?

Amendment No. 2 authorizes the Texas Water Development Board to issue $3.5 billion in bonds to finance Texas' share of the cost of the Texas Water Plan. This money is not to be used to provide gifts or grants, but will provide temporary financing which will be repaid by water users. The Amendment also removes the 4 per cent ceiling on Water Development Bonds.

WHAT IS THE TEXAS WATER PLAN?

The objective of the Texas Water Plan is to provide adequate water to maintain the growth and prosperity of Texas into the next century when it is estimated that we will have a population of 30.5 million people. The Plan provides for the full development of our water resources and the importation of surplus water from the lower Mississippi River for distribution to areas with declining water resources.

WHO IS TO PAY FOR THE PLAN?

Cost of the $9 billion Texas Water Plan—Texas' share is estimated at $3.5 billion—will be shared by local, state and federal governments, with those who ultimately use the water paying much of the costs of the Plan.

WHY DOES TEXAS NEED A WATER RESOURCE PLAN?

By the end of this century—in just 31 years—Texas will not have enough water to supply its growing cities, its expanding industry, and its irrigated agriculture. To assure an adequate water supply, the state has prepared a plan for the full development, management and use of its water resources—and an imported water supply—to serve Texas to the year 2020 and to assure all Texans water to meet their needs.

WILL THE PLAN PROVIDE ADEQUATE WATER FOR TEXAS?

Yes. With our current major reservoirs (157), the proposed full development of our water resources (67 dams and reservoirs) and an imported supply of water, Texas can meet its water demands to the year 2020.

WHO WILL BENEFIT FROM THE PLAN?

The people of Texas will benefit from the Texas Water Plan. The Plan provides for meeting all essential and beneficial water requirements throughout the state. The Plan will provide water for domestic and municipal uses, for industry, for agriculture, for recreation, for our bays and estuaries, and for other beneficial purposes. The Texas Water Plan will provide Water for Texas!

Water Development Not New In Texas, Neither Is Financial Plan

Planning the wise use of water is not new in Texas. Neither is financing the development of the state's water resources although providing funds for water development projects is not as old as the development and wise use of the state's water resources.

Spaniards, in 1680, began the wise use of water resources of the land now called Texas when they began the first irrigation of crops near what is now El Paso. Indians in the area planned the use of their meager water resources long before the Conquistadores invaded the land and settled there. Planning, development, and use of Texas' waters has continued in some manner to the present.

Development of the State's water resources moved slowly during the '30s and '40s with most of the development being done by cities, river authorities, the Corps of Engineers and the Bureau of Reclamation.

The drought and floods through which Texas passed during 1966-67 gave impetus to planning the conservation and management of Texas' water resources.

The flood waters of the Spring of 1957 had barely receded when the Legislature passed the Water Development Act, establishing the Water Development Board. The people of Texas, recognizing their responsibilities and approved an amendment to the Constitution which provided $200 million to aid political subdivisions of the State to develop, conserve, and manage their water resources.

Since that time, cities and towns, river authorities, and water districts in all sections of Texas have received some $100 million in loans and commitments for the development of their water supply resources. Projects are located from Northeast Texas to the Lower Rio Grande and from the Panhandle to Southeast Texas.

The Texas Water Development Fund and its purposes have had the overwhelming support of Texans. In 1962, the Constitution was again amended and the Water Development Board, in the name of the State of Texas, was authorized to acquire conservation storage space in reservoirs to be constructed on Texas streams. This provided for the optimum development of the limited number of dam and reservoir sites in the State.

Four years later—in 1966—Texans again approved an amendment to the Constitution, this time increasing the $200 million Water Development Fund to $400 million and expanding use of the Fund by the Board to construct any system of works necessary for the filtration, treatment, and transportation of water from storage to points of wholesale purchase and distribution. This new authority assured the State's participation in the full development of its water resources for the benefit of all sections of Texas.

Late in 1967, the Legislature during a called session, passed the Planning Act of 1967, creating the water planning division within the then Board of Water Engineers. This function was transferred to the Water Development Board in 1965 by the Legislature when it charged the Board with the development of a Texas Water Plan for the entire State.

The Board in mid-1966 presented the preliminary Texas Water Plan. After 27 public hearings and a series of public meetings, the Board staff began revision of the Plan to meet objections voiced during the public hearings.

In December 1968, the Texas Water Development Board released the Texas Water Plan, as a flexible guide for the orderly development, conservation, and wise management of the State's water resources to meet the needs of Texas to the year 2020.

The total estimated cost of the Plan based on 1967 construction cost levels is $9 billion. It is estimated that the State's share of financing will be some $3.5 billion.

To provide the State's share of the cost, the 61st Legislature authorized an amendment to the Constitution which would authorize the Water Development Board, upon authorization by two-thirds of the membership of the House and the Senate, to issue $3.5 billion in bonds. These bonds will be issued in increments over a 40 to 50 year period as the need arises and implementation of the Plan progresses.

Officials of the Texas Water Development Board and supporters of the Amendment, Governor Preston Smith's Committee of 500, which includes former Texas governor John Connally, Price Daniel, and Allan Shivers, and Lt. Governor Ben Barnes and Speaker of the House Gus Mutscher, points out that the proposal for the State to provide interim financial assistance to aid development to water supply projects is not a new program, but one that has been effectively used in Texas for a dozen years. It is an expansion of a program that has already been approved three times by the voters of Texas, they explain.

The only difference in Amendment No. 2 and previous amendments is the amount of money and the broader purposes for which the funds can be used.

Heretofore, the Water Development Fund was designed and used to develop the water resources of the State in piecemeal fashion. It is now proposed to achieve full development of our water resources in orderly fashion for the benefit of the State's

Questions and Answers

Q. What is the Texas Water Plan?
A. It is a flexible guide to the development, management and use of Texas' water resources and an imported supply to meet the State's water requirements to the year 2020.

Q. Who will benefit from the Plan?

A. The people of Texas.

Q. Will the Plan provide adequate water for Texas?

A. Yes. Estimates indicate that Texas will need 32 million acre feet of water annually by 2020 for cities and towns, for industry, for agriculture, and for all other beneficial uses. The Plan provides for the full development of Texas' water resources and importation from the lower Mississippi River of 12 to 13 million acre feet of water each year to supplement the State's supplies.

Q. What is the cost of the Plan?

A. About $9 billion (in 1967 dollars).

Q. What is Texas' share of the costs?

A. $3.5 billion.

Q. Who will pay the costs?

A. Those who use the water.

Q. Where will Texas get the money to finance its share of the Plan?

A. From the sale of Water Development Fund bonds.

Q. Will this be tax money?

A. No. Although the investment in the construction of the Texas Water Plan will require support from the general revenue fund of the State for meeting bond obligations during the interim period between development of water supplies and development of local water user capacities, General revenue support will be particularly heavy during the 13 years (1978-1991) when it is estimated that an aggregate amount of $630 million will be required to pay debt service. It must be remembered, however, that the general fund should receive income to repay these advances. Over the life of the Plan, about 50 years, the State will recover all of the expended funds.

Q. Will the bonds be issued at one time?

A. No. The bonds will be issued, upon two-thirds approval of the Legislature, over a period of 40 to 50 years.

Q. Is this method of financing water development in Texas a new program?

A. No. In 1957, the voters of Texas amended the constitution and established the Texas Water Development Board and the Water Development Fund and authorized $200 million in Water Development Bonds. In 1966, the voters increased the fund to $400 million. Since then, some $100 million has been loaned or committed to political subdivisions of the state for the development of water supply facilities.

Q. Is the Fund used to provide gifts or grants?

A. No. The funds loaned must be repaid the State with interest.

dwindling water resources and to provide import water from outside of Texas.

The purpose of the Amendment is to provide the State with the financial capability that will be needed to place Texas in a strong position to discuss with the Congress and the federal agencies federal participation in the full development of Texas' water resources and place Texas in a position to have control of the development, management and use of its water resources.

Funds from the sale of bonds will be used to provide the interim financing necessary for payment of $2.3 billion of construction costs of that part of the Texas Water Plan allocated for municipal and industrial water; $600 million would be used for carrying on the present program of the Board which provides financial assistance to political subdivisions of the state for development of their water resources; $65 million would be used by the Board for storage acquisition in reservoirs not associated with the Texas Water System; and $500 million would be earmarked for contingencies.

The Amendment would also remove the present Dec. 31, 1982 cut-off date for the present program of financial assistance by the Board; it would empower the Board to contract with the federal agencies, other states, and foreign governments—such as Canada—for the development of water resources and facilities.

Board officials emphasize that the bonds would not be issued at one time, only in increments as needed over a 40 to 50 year period for implementation of the Plan. The bonds and debt service would be repaid from proceeds of sale of water to users. The Water Plan is based on the concept that all reimbursable costs of water development would be repaid, with interest, by users.

Such financing would require support from the general revenue fund of the state for meeting bond obligations during the interim between development of water supplies and development of local user capabilities.

General revenue fund support will be needed most during the 1978-91 period when it is estimated that the general revenue fund will be called upon to advance an aggregate amount of $630 million to pay debt service.

Beginning in 1992, however, the general fund should receive income to pay future principal and interest costs and start repayment of these advances.

The prestige of the State and its leaders has been placed behind the efforts to provide Texas with a plan—an effective plan—for meeting the State's water requirements into the next century. The decision is now up to the people of Texas.

2020 VISION

FORESIGHT is essential for progress. And a current advertisement of Phileo effectively makes that point by saying, "For years, America's been shortsighted about its future water supply. We're helping to give California 2020 vision."

Texans today face the choice between nearsightedness and looking forward to future supplies of the essential element to support people, growing plants and industrial plants—water.

As the advertisement says, "Funny thing about water. There's so much of it around, people have wasted it, polluted it and frittered it away for years. And suddenly, there's water, water everywhere—except where it's needed."

California State Water Project is the subject of that advertisement, and reluctantly Texans must admit that in some ways the Far West has been more foresighted than we have.

But our leaders have come up with a sound, forward-looking Texas Water Plan which is so important for all parts of the state that it has been endorsed by many Texas leaders.

Among those actively engaged in working for the plan to provide water needs in Texas at least until the year 2020 are Gov. Preston Smith, former Governors John Connally, Price Daniel and Allan Shivers, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and Speaker Gus Mutscher of the Texas House. There are many others all over the state who know our region and its needs.

Some conservationists who are concerned about ecological changes of environment have voiced opposition. A few have even intimated that Texas—especially West Texas—should not try to grow in population, agribusiness and industrialization. This, we suggest, is myopic.

The News agrees that wildlife, marine life and other assets should be preserved and is confident that the sound leadership involved in the Texas Water Plan will work toward that end without sacrificing the needs of people.

First essential step toward acquiring 2020 vision is approval of Amendment No. 2 on the ballot in the Aug. 5 election. Texans who will be vacationing then should arrange to vote absentee for Amendment 2; those who will be at home should be sure to go to the polls on Aug. 5. (Dallas News)

GOV. PRESTON SMITH

GOV. JOHN B. CONNALLY

GOV. PRICE DANIEL

GOV. ALLAN SHIVERS

Governor, 3 Former Governors Head Blue-Ribbon Panel for Amendment 2

The men who talk Texas, live Texas and epitomize the sterling qualities of Texas leadership are manning the ramparts on behalf of Constitutional Amendment No. 2.

This proposal is expected to reflect the combined influence of the state's finest on election day, August 5. Heading the massive effort to implement the 50-year water program are the four governors whose regimes marked inception of the vast Water Plan and the successive step to make it operational.

In order of service the Chief Executives are Governors Allan Shivers, Price Daniel, John B. Connally and the present Governor, Preston Smith.

Speaking of his predecessors, Governor Smith said,

"I know of none in Texas who have individually or collectively contributed more to the development and conservation of the state's vital water resources than these former governors. Each during his tenure provided the leadership and gave the time and energy to the development of our water resources. Texas has benefitted from their devotion, and future generations of Texas will be the beneficiaries of their vision and leadership."

"The availability of an adequate supply of water has always made the difference between prosperity and want—between plenty and famine. For these reasons, water has played a major role in the Texas story—has been the essential element in placing a State known for wide open spaces in the position of sustaining the Nation's third largest population by 1985; a high rate of growth in business, industry and finance; and the Nation's third largest agricultural industry.

"Our State's growth projections in these areas nearly defy imagination, and yet experts tell us that these projections and future prosperity cannot be realized unless giant steps are taken now to assure Texas' future water resources.

"The Texas Water Plan was developed to make maximum use of the available water in our State and to provide for additional out-of-state water as needed. This work has taken place during all of our administrations as Governor of Texas. The plan comes to its first real public test on August 5 when you, the voters of Texas, are being asked to approve Constitutional Amendment No. 2, which will authorize the Texas Water Development Board to sell up to $3.5 billion in additional bonds over a forty year period, in amounts as needed, and as authorized by a two-third vote of the State Legislature—money that will eventually be repaid by water users.

"We urge you to vote for Constitutional Amendment No. 2 on August 5. It may be the most important vote this generation of Texas will cast."

Chairmen of the Governor's Committee of 500, comprising leaders from all parts of Texas are:

- Attorneys - Joe Kilgore, Austin
- Agri-Business - Harold Hinn, Dallas
- Cities - Steve Matthews, Austin
- Contractors - Jim Richards, Austin
- Coordination - Rep. Bill Clayton, Springlake
- County Officials - W. D. Henson, Dalhart

Texas Can Rightfully Claim to be 'Land O' Lakes'

Move over, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Texas is hard after your claims to being the "Land O' Lakes."

Texas today has more square miles of inland water than any other state in the Union. And with the mammoth Texas

Water Plan now off the drawing boards and the state policy for the future development of the state's water resources, Texas—particularly East and Southeast Texas—could well become the nation's water wonderland.

The variety of recreation available in Texas is unsurpassed among the 50 states. Whether vacationists and recreationists want only a few hours of fun, a vacation of several weeks, or permanent retirement, they have an almost endless choice in Texas.

Texas today has 157 major reservoirs constructed or under construction. And these lakes offer abundant opportunities for recreation, be it fishing, water skiing, swimming or just plain loafing along their scenic shores. The Texas Water Plan proposes the construction of 67 major dams and reservoirs, or alternates, during the next 50 years or so to provide water needed by the people of Texas for their cities and towns, their industry, and for their agriculture. These reservoirs will also serve other useful and beneficial purposes, including recreation.

And the 35 counties that most of East Texas stand to gain immeasurable benefits from the Texas Water Plan. The Plan proposes the construction of 28 dams and reservoirs in this historic and exciting section of Texas in addition to the other facilities needed to provide water for Texans.

The benefits to East Texans—today and in the future—are staggering. Not only does the Plan provide an assured water supply for East Texas villages, towns and cities and the industry that abounds throughout the region, it will provide a more viable economic base which will not be limited because of lack of water.

The Texas Water Plan is based on the premise that there will be no interference with vested rights under existing water permits. The basin of origin provisions of the Texas Water Development Act provides legal basis for protection of intrabasin rights. There is no comparable legal protection in federal law or policies nor in other Texas statutes that provide such protection.

Reasonable intrabasin needs for all beneficial purposes developing within the next ensuing 50-year period will have absolute priority of right over exportation for out-of-basin demands except on a temporary interim basis.

Not only will these reservoirs provide an assured water supply for the future, many other economic benefits will accrue to the region.

During construction of the 28 dams and reservoirs and other facilities proposed by the Texas Water Plan in the region, more than $2.2 billion will be expended. This will contribute greatly to the economy of East Texas by providing jobs, demands for services, and sale of supplies by merchants and others in the region.

Recreation benefits to the region are expected to exceed $180 million annually by 2020 after full development of the water resources in East Texas.

west Texas and the Coastal Canal from the Lower Rio Grande Valley, building eastward. The Plan calls for construction of the dams and canal to begin in 1975, with delivery of interim supplies of water from these projects scheduled in 1980 into the Coastal Canal.

Construction of the Eastern and Trans-Texas divisions, with their reservoirs and transmission facilities, is scheduled to begin in 1977, with first delivery of water in 1985. It is anticipated that construction of the import system will begin in 1980, with delivery of water coming in 1988.

Water available as surplus from the Northeast Texas basins would move westward first, supplying the requirements of the Dallas-Fort Worth complex as needed, and other West Texas requirements.

As facilities from the Mississippi River are completed, additional water to West Texas, plus the 1.5 million acre feet annually for New Mexico, would be moved through the Trans-Texas Division facilities as rapidly as municipal demands increase and as irrigation distribution systems facilities are constructed to serve the land.

When the Coastal Canal is completed east to the Sabine River, Mississippi River water can be brought directly into the Coastal Division to supplement eastern basin water providing 2020 project requirements in the area supplied by the Coastal Division.

Projects proposed by the Plan include dams and reservoirs to meet local water requirements throughout the state and to provide flood control and other benefits to the area and to the state. Navigation, hurricane protection projects, upstream watershed-protection pro-
