Justiceburg trustees to seek consolidation vote

Would join with Post district

The Justiceburg school board voted Tuesday night to seek an election to consolidate the Justiceburg school district with the Post Independent School District.

With the opening of the 1971-72 school year little more than four weeks away, the Justiceburg school district has no teacher and too few students to operate school this year without special permission of the Texas Educational Agency.

The state law provides that to effect such a consolidation of the two school districts, a petition asking the county judge to call such an election must be signed by 20 qualified voters in each school district, or a majority of the qualified voters in the districts.

A 20-day waiting period then must follow publication or posting of the notice of election.

A majority of voters voting in each school district must approve the consolidation for it to become effective.

There is barely time enough to effect such a consolidation before the opening of the fall term here August 30.

Petitions asking the county judge to call such a consolidation election were drawn here yesterday. The Justiceburg school district has some 58 qualified voters.

Earl Chapman, president of the Post school trustees, met with the Justiceburg board Tuesday night at the invitation of the Justiceburg board.

He told Justiceburg trustees the Post district would agree (1) to leave the Justiceburg school building which is used as a source of water for conversion to a community center, (2) leave the Justiceburg lake which is used as a source of water supply for many Justiceburg residents, and (3) would agree to put the new school bus which the Justiceburg district is in the process of buying on the Justiceburg school route if the districts are consolidated. Five out of the six members of the Justiceburg school board met here Friday morning in County Supt. of Schools Dean Robinson's office with P. E. Hutchinson of Austin, director of finance of the Texas Educational Agency.

John Boren, president of the Justiceburg board, told The Dispatch following the Friday meeting, that the state law requires a minimum of 15 students for state approval for a school unless special permission is granted by the state commissioner of education.

The Justiceburg school had an average daily attendance of only 11.7 students last year, according to Boren, and it is on the ADA that the 15 student minimum figure is based.

Boren also said Mrs. Lois Frank- (See Consolidation, page 8)

ATTEND WORKSHOP HERE

Twenty-four directors, representing nine districts, attended a Soil and Water Conservation workshop here Wednesday of last week, discussing recent legislative changes affecting districts, working with councils of government, and the district's changing role in working with city and rural people. Five of those attending were, left to right: John Millican of Temple, assistant executive director, state SCWD; Aubrey Dalrymple of Temple, state board member; L. G. Thuet Jr., Post, chairman Garza SWCD; Frank Gray, Lubbock, state board member, and Harvey Davis, state board executive director.—(Photo by Bailey Mayo)

HEAD COACH TELLS BOOSTERS

'Attitude number one in athletic program'

"Attitude is number one in our athletic program," Athletic Director and Head Coach Bobby Davis told members of the Antelope Booster Club and other fans at a booster club meeting Tuesday night at the Antelope fieldhouse.

"We are going to try to win, we don't care what it is — football, basketball, track, golf or tennis."

HORSES VACCINATED

VEE 'needle drive' completed in county

The big "horse vaccination drive" was concluded yesterday here in Garza County, Veterinarian Ed Murray of Spur told The Dispatch.

He said due to "a mountain of paper work required by the government" it won't be known until Friday or Saturday just exactly how many Garza horses got the needle, but he estimated between 1,000 and 1,500.

Dr. Murray said approximately 90 per cent of all the horses in Texas had been vaccinated for the dread VEE by Tuesday. All that is left are the stragglers.

The veterinarians said that area veterinarians will have the necessary vaccine only one day a week now in an effort to prevent waste of the vaccine which must be used within only a number of hours after being issued to vets.

He said he would have the vaccine at his office in Spur each Monday.

Dr. Murray said he wanted to apologize to horse owners who were angered when his efforts to get the vaccine here as quickly as possible resulted in some hold-ups.

The veterinarian told The Dispatch, "We did the best we could." He said he wished to thank County Judge Giles Dalby, County Agent Syd Conner, and Bill Carlisle for their cooperation in helping to get Garza's horses vaccinated in the shortest possible time.

Coach Davis said. Approximately 50 booster club members and prospective members, many of them parents of junior high and high school athletes, attended the meeting.

With Marky Rasbury, booster club president, presiding, Ronald Simpson was elected as new president for 1971-72; Mike Mitchell, vice president, and Bill McBride, secretary-treasurer.

The five coaches and the wives of the four who are married were introduced. Don Black was introduced by Coach Davis as "the bachelor of the bunch." The others recognized were Mr. and Mrs. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Giddens, Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander and Mr. and Mrs. Lane Tannehill.

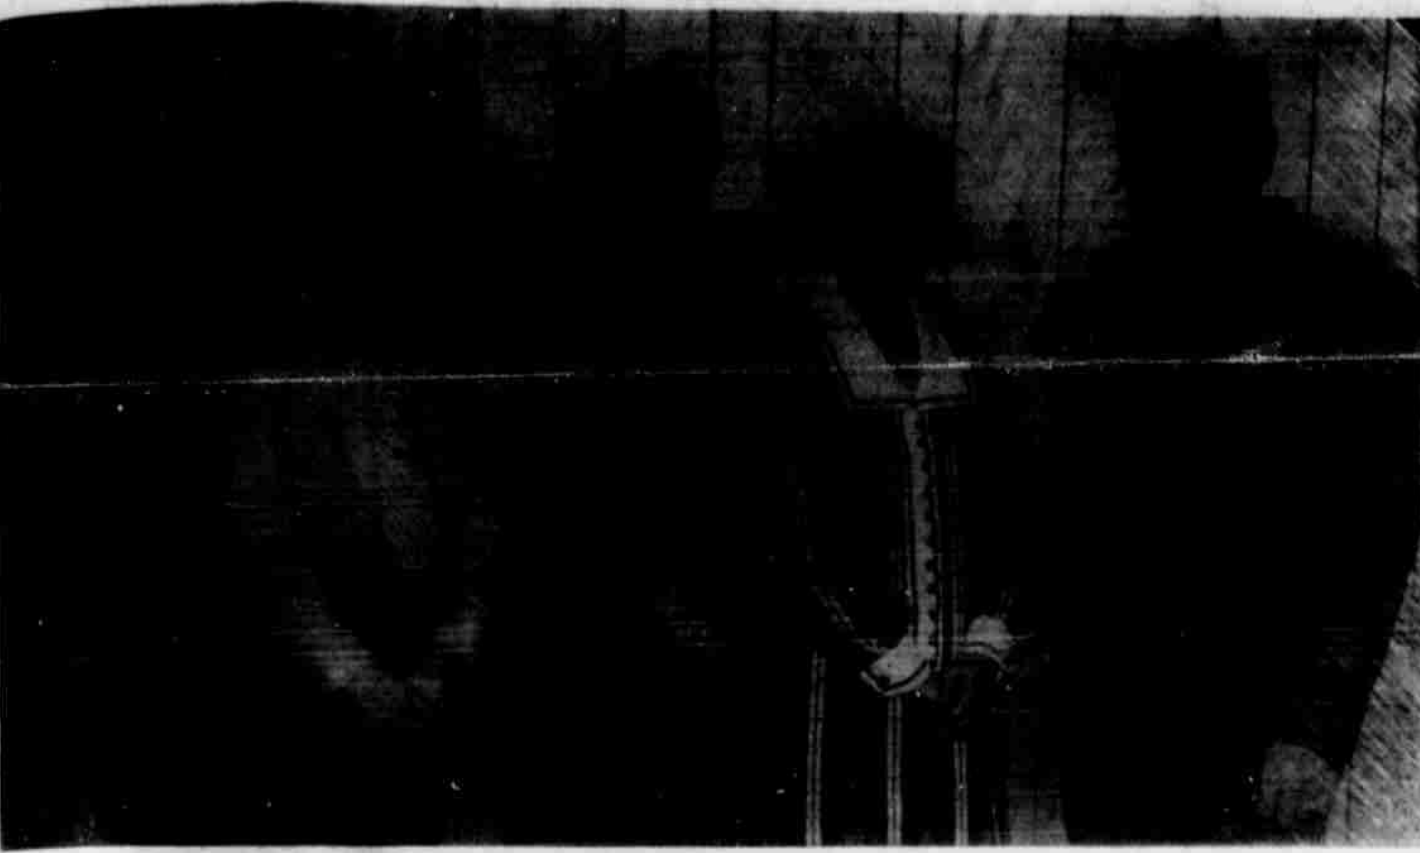

Following the meeting in the fieldhouse, the crowd went to the junior high gym to watch coaches direct about 20 sweat-soaked athletes in calisthenics, and then to the weight room where the new $2,300 weight machine purchased by the booster club was demonstrated.

At the meeting in the fieldhouse, Coach Davis briefly outlined the athletic program. "We will have no sixth grade competition in sports, but that the fundamentals of football and basketball will be taught the students at that grade level.

He said here will be competitive sports in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades, with boys in those (See Booster Club, page 8)

CONDITION CRITICAL

City Manager Bobby Pierce, who has been seriously ill for the last several weeks, was admitted to Garza Memorial Hospital Monday in a critical condition. He first became ill last October, but had been back at work at intervals since that time.

HEAD OF FARMERS UNION VISITS

Total enrollment by each member in an effort to increase membership in the Texas Farmers Union to 10,000 members by the end of next year was urged at a meeting of the Garza County Farmers Union here last week with Jay Naman of Waco, state president, as honored guest. Naman stressed the additional "bargaining power" that would be made possible by an increase in membership. Above, left to right, are: Kenneth Moss, state membership chairman; Elvus Davis, president of the Garza County chapter; Naman; Mrs. Ted Aten, Garza County FU secretary, and County Judge Giles W. Dalby.

SALE STARTS 7 P. M.

'Moon Madness' to strike Friday

Only a few hours after American astronauts land on the moon tomorrow, Post will have some "Moonlight madness" of its own.

It's the city-wide Moonlight Madness Sale which will start at 7 p.m. Friday with stores participating in the Chamber of Commerce retail promotion reopening at that time with a lot of "mad prices" to attract shoppers.

The sale is billed for a three-hour run, providing shoppers are busy buying that long. Most merchants say they will stay open as long as the "crowd stays."

This is a new promotion which replaces Post's annual summer Sidewalk Sale.

You'll find the special Moonlight Sale ads of ten Post merchants in this edition of The Dispatch with real "mad prices."

For example: Men's $7.98 sta-pret pants for just $1.90; or men's $5 to $9 sport shirts, also at $1.90; plastic ice trays for 15 cents each; house brooms for just 99 cents.

How about $22.45 off the regular price of a new electric twin-blade mower? Or 45 RPM records at "3 for a quarter"?

Regular $2.98 ladies' belts for only eight cents each is another real "mad price." A little girl would be pleased with a $4.95 doll bed advertised for exactly 37 cents.

Where better could you get this wading pool buy for the kids — an inflatable Disneyland pool, regularly priced at $6.99 for a mere $1.77.

Then you can select a new portable bar-b-q grill at well under half price, only $1.77 for a $3.99 value.

Your boy need some t-shirts? You can get the 49 cent value Friday night at one store for "eight cents." And at another you can buy him regular $3 and $4 white (See Moonlight, page 8)

Parade entries for the Post Stampede Rodeo Aug. 12-14 still are coming in rather slowly, according to Wynonne Kennedy, secretary of the Post Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the parade.

Mrs. Kennedy said Wednesday that "about a half dozen" floats had been entered, but that the Chamber hopes to have at least that many more in the parade, which will be held at 5:30 p.m. on Aug. 12.

Float prize money has been doubled over that of previous years for the 1971 rodeo parade. The float winning first place will receive $100, with the second place float drawing down $50 and the third place float $25.

There will be first, second and third place prizes of $10, $7.50 and $5 in the decorated bicycle division. The Chamber secretary said it is not necessary for the decorated bicycles to be entered ahead of time. "All they need to do to be eligible is to be on hand by the time the parade starts," she said.

In addition to floats and decorated bicycles, there will be a number of sheriff's posses and other riding groups in the parade. Floy Richardson is in charge of inviting area riding organizations to take part in the parade. Trophies will be awarded the first, second and third place winners.

JERRY BUSH

Jaycee of Month is Jerry Bush

Post "Jaycee of the Month" for July is Jerry Bush, who racked up points toward the award with his committee work on the club's July Fourth fireworks sale. He also was active during the month in other Jaycee projects.

Bush, a lifelong resident of the Post vicinity, has been a member of the local Jaycee organization for the last two years. He and his wife, Judy, and their two children live on Route 2, where Jerry farms. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Bush.

Services will be held at 8 p.m. nightly. J. O. Reed of Tahoka will be the song director.

The public is cordially invited to attend the services.

Jury panels of future will be selected here by wheel system

The jury commission system of selecting the names of persons who will be called as potential jurors was used for the last time this week in Garza County.

Sometime between Aug. 1-15, the jury wheel system will be instituted in Garza County and in all other Texas counties under 10,000 population that have been using the jury commission system.

Garza County's jury wheel has been ordered and will be received here in time to be filled with the names of registered voters by Aug. 15, it was reported Tuesday by County Judge Giles H. Dalby. Meanwhile, Tuesday, a jury commission selected the names of potential jurors for the August and November terms of county court. The jury wheel will be used, however, for the next selection of potential jurors — those for a term of district court.

The new jury wheel will be a smallish brown contraption made of steel. Its appearance is similar to a container for drawing numbers in a giveaway drawing or a game of bingo.

But the jury wheel will be for a different type of drawing — pulling names of prospective court jurors.

The wheel comes officially to Garza County through recent state legislation that specifically repealed the jury commission method of picking prospective jurors.

The new legislation repeals all laws regulating the formation and functioning of jury commissions, according to Texas Attorney General Crawford Martin.

Only in the case of grand jury selection will the jury commission method be continued.

With the jury wheel, the names of every qualified voter within the county will be placed in the container. And prospective jurors will be drawn from this pool of names as the need arises.

Under the new law, the jury wheel must be filled with the names of registered voters between Aug. 1 and Aug. 15.

Names of voters are being typed on small rectangles of paper, and sometime during the period of Aug. 1-15, the law will require County Clerk Carl Cederholm, Tax Assess- (See Jury Wheel, page 8)

side park to public

Midred Outlaw Memorial Park was opened to the public by the Texas Highway Department here Wednesday afternoon according to Joe Williams, maintenance engineer.

The stands at Post Stampede Rodeo arena, where the crusade was held, were almost completely filled for the concluding service.

A special youth service was held Saturday night, following a weiner roast for young people earlier in the day at City-County Park. Approximately 100 young people of junior high and high school age attended the park outing.

A spokesman for sponsors of the crusade said the event was considered "highly successful."

Crusade called 'huge success'

The week-long Crusade for Christ — sponsored by 17 churches of Garza County — ended Sunday night with the largest crowd of the week on hand.

Clinic eligibility misunderstood

The Well Baby Clinic sponsored by the Women's Division of the Post Chamber of Commerce is off to a good start in its first few weeks, but could be off to a better start, say the sponsors, if so many people did not misunderstand the eligibility requirements.

The Well Baby Clinic is located at the Post Day Care Center in the northeast part of town where the residents are mainly Negroes and Mexican-Americans, but this does not mean that the clinic is not also for babies from Anglo families, the sponsors wish to point out.

The purpose of the clinic is to provide immunization for children under six years of age whose parents feel they cannot afford to pay for the immunization. The race or ethnic group to which the child belongs does not make any difference.

Sponsors also point out that it is up to the parents of the child to decide whether or not they can afford to pay for the immunization. The purpose of the clinic, they explain, is to provide protection against contagious diseases to children from low-income families.

Because of the new state law that all students in Texas schools must begin an immunization program by Jan. 1, 1972, the Well Baby Clinic will be of special benefit through its immunization of pre-school age children.

Through last week, 50 children had received immunizations at the Well Baby Clinic. The sponsors of the clinic say they feel that the number could just as well have been 100 if it were generally understood that the clinics services are for all children under six years of age whose families are in the low-income group—regardless of race.—CD

Farm and Ranch Safety Week

Farm and Ranch Safety Week began Sunday and is to continue through Saturday, but since rural residents should never treat the subject lightly, farm and ranch safety is something that should be observed the year round.

Theme for this year's Farm and Ranch Safety Week is "Protect Yourself—Work Safely." And, adds the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, this means the use of safety devices on every piece of equipment used on the farm or in and around the home.

Among those calling attention to the week-long observance is Joe L. Smetana, vice president for farm and ranch of the Texas Safety Association.

"At least 100 persons engaged in agricultural pursuits died last year in water, fire and machinery accidents in Texas," Mr. Smetana points out. Other factors accounted for 63 deaths. Farm and ranch machinery were involved in most of the fatal accidents. Forty persons died in such mishaps. Six deaths were caused by vehicles that fell off jacks. Tractor overturns accounted for 16 others. Six deaths involved shredders, two came in cultivator accidents and two grew out of mower mishaps.

Water-oriented mishaps claimed 31 rural lives in boating, swimming and fishing areas of farms and ranches.

Fire claimed at least one human life each month except one. There were 29 fire deaths last year.

"If all rural residents would simply be more alert to the possible hazards of everyday life" farm and ranch activities would result in much less toll, Mr. Smetana says.—CD

Rodeo parades need floats

The Dispatch this week adds its voice to that of the Post Chamber of Commerce in a plea for rodeo parade float entries.

With the prize money doubled for the top three floats, there certainly is more incentive this time.

It takes time, of course, to construct a float, and time is what very few of us have plenty of. The time spent in constructing a float often pays off, however, in good will, and this year will pay off more in money than it ever has before.

Floats and riding clubs are what make rodeo parades. If the horses are moving again as expected by rodeo time, we'll have the riding clubs. Let us hope that we also have a goodly representation of floats.

What our contemporaries are saying

Let's face it. Though many "Johnnys and Marys" are college material, there are many who are not. A great injustice is done when our children are not guided according to their individual aptitudes. Furthermore, along with those with college degrees, specialists are needed now, more so than ever before. Trade schools offer vocational training to prepare our young people for respectable and well-paying jobs in our technical society.—Potter County News, Gettysburg, S. D.

SUNDAY WILL BE the first day of August — a new month. Also, it's the only month this year that has a Friday the 13th in it. So get ready!

August never has been much of a month on its own, but it has long been noted for what it leads up to — school, football, a utumn, etc.

SOMEONE ASKED me the other day if Garza County pays a bounty on coyotes and other predators. I didn't know and since I didn't have time right then to check on it, I suggested that he call County Judge Giles Dalby's office to find out. Whether he did or not, I don't know, but I got to thinking about his question later, and all of a sudden I thought about a clipping I had been saving for the edification of my readers. So, read on and be edified:

Years ago there was a certain justice of the peace who held office in a township near Mena, Ark. At that time the state of Arkansas had a law providing a bounty for the killing of wolves and wildcats. The county courts were authorized to pay five dollars for each such animal slain.

One day this justice of the peace notified the county court that John Smith had killed a wolf, had brought in the wolf's scalp, and had assigned the certificate for collection of the bounty to the justice, who was promptly given five dollars.

A few days later John Smith killed another wolf, and the justice collected the money. Before long John Smith was slaughtering wolves and wildcats at a prodigious rate and the bounty money was flowing from the county court to the justice of the peace. At last some meddling crank grew suspicious and the grand jury began an investigation. The justice of the peace was summoned for examination.

"Who is this John Smith who killed a wolf on such and such a date?" he was asked.

"Well," said the county jurist, "I didn't know him personally. He was a stranger just passing through, and he happened to kill this wolf. He couldn't stay around, had to be in Texas, so he sold me the certificate at a ten per cent discount."

Additional certificates were produced, and in each case the justice said that this particular John Smith also was a stranger, passing through, killing a wolf in transit. The justice was now asked why the signature of John Smith on each of the certificates and his own signature were in the same handwriting. Well, he said, these fellows named John Smith were all old men and couldn't write so good with a pen and had asked him to sign for them.

For some queer reason the grand jury didn't believe his story and indicted the justice for obtaining a whole series of bounty warrants under false pretenses. He was convicted of the charge and on the day of sentencing was called to the bar and asked if he had anything to say.

"You damn right I got something to say," he retorted with passion. "You go ahead and send me to the pen and leave the damn wolves and wildcats to take the country and go to hell with it!"

The court obliged him.

The man up the street says it's going to be interesting to hear what today's teen-agers will tell their children about what they had to do without.

READING A metropolitan newspaper is like eating a meal at a big restaurant — you pick and choose from what's offered. But reading the home town weekly is like eating a good old home-cooked meal. A fellow doesn't want to miss a thing.

(How's that for tooting our own horn.)

Historical markers on the highway (of which there are a number in Garza County) will be easier to find now, thanks to a new policy of the Texas Highway Department.

BEGINNING IN February, big signs bearing the words "Historical Marker" and an arrow are being placed directly at all qualifying marker sites.

This should alleviate the complaints of many tourists that the gray historical markers are difficult to spot at 70 miles per hour, even with a warning sign a mile before.

New livestock disease looms

AUSTIN — As sleeping-sickness-like Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis continued to strike horses and some humans, threat of a new livestock malady loomed. An outbreak of African hog fever in Cuba has alarmed swine owners. The disease is almost invariably fatal, and there is no known vaccine. The ailment does not affect people, as does VEE (which is usually mild in humans).

More than 1,100 Texas horses are believed to have been killed by VEE and 1,500 others stricken. More

Club program on keeping records

The Close City Home Demonstration Club met Friday, July 23, at 2 p. m. in a joint session with Barnum Springs H. D. Club.

Marvin Sartin, area specialist in farm and ranch management from Lubbock, presented a program on keeping farm records. He cited three major reasons people give for keeping records — income tax reporting, banking transactions and management, in that order. He urged keeping a good set of records for management first and the others would come easily. Sartin passed out a year's supply of forms to those present. These are new forms and are available through the extension office.

Roll call for the business session was a definition of a successful woman. Others present were Mmes. Lola Peel, Nora Kiker, visitor, Lela Long, Selma Loveless, Lela Knowles, Inez Ritchie, Della Davis, Oreta Bevers, Faye Payton, Jewell Long and Janis Choate, home demonstration agent. # Immunization to be required of students

by AL WILLIAMS
State Health Department

Students in Texas schools must begin an immunization program by Jan. 1, 1972, under provisions of a new law being implemented by the State Department of Health under guidelines set by the State Board of Health.

All students will be allowed to enter their respective school systems during the summer and fall terms this year with the provision that their immunizations against at least one of six diseases has been started by Jan. 1, 1972, and completed as soon as medically feasible.

Required for grade school level youngsters are immunizations against diphtheria, tetanus, poliomyelitis, measles, rubella and smallpox. Measles immunization is not required if there is a history of measles illness.

The number of immunizations is fewer for junior high, high school and college-level students.

Immunization requirements are spelled out in Senate Bill 27, which amends the Texas Education Code. Senate Bill 971, an amendment to Senate Bill 27, allows the State Health Department to modify, delete or add any of the required immunizations.

Legislative action came with a San Antonio diphtheria epidemic fresh on the minds of its members and a rise in other diseases which can be prevented by immunizations.

In its guidelines, the State Board of Health set Jan. 1 as the date for having started the immunizations. New enrollees in the spring of 1972 and later semesters who have not completed the required immunizations at time of enrollment must complete them as soon as is medically feasible.

Included under the law are students in kindergartens associated with elementary schools, elementary or secondary schools, academies, colleges, universities and the schools for blind, deaf, mentally ill and mentally retarded.

Exclusions from compliance may be granted to those who may be harmed by the required immunizations. A certificate is required from a physician licensed by the Texas Board of Medical Examiners. Exemptions also may be obtained on religious grounds. A religious exemption won't apply in time of emergency or epidemic declared by Commissioner of Health Dr. James E. Peavy.

FREE IMMUNIZATIONS

Pre-school age children of Garza County can receive the required immunizations at the Well Baby Clinic held every Wednesday from 7 until 8:30 p. m. at 802 Pine St. Two local physicians, assisted by two registered nurses and members of the Women's Division of the Post Chamber of Commerce, will give the immunizations free of charge to pre-school age children whose parents feel that they are not able to pay the cost of the immunizations.

Immunization schedules according to age or age groupings include:

KINDERGARTEN, grades one through five or children ages 5 through 11 in ungraded schools:

Polio — At least three doses of oral vaccine, provided one or more doses have been received since the fourth birthday.

Diphtheria-Tetanus — Minimum of three doses, with at least one dose having been received since the fourth birthday. (Usually given as DTP for children less than six years of age and Td for children six years and older.)

Measles — One dose of vaccine, or history of measles illness.

Rubella — One dose of vaccine. Not required past age 12 years.

Smallpox — One vaccination within the past 10 years.

SECONDARY SCHOOL, children and others in grades six through 12, or children and others ages 12 and older in ungraded schools other than institutions of higher learning.

Polio — At least three doses of oral vaccine, provided one or more doses have been received since the fourth birthday. (Polio vaccine is not required for persons 19 years of age or older.)

Diphtheria-Tetanus — Minimum of three doses with last dose within 10 years. Booster dose only after initial series. (Pertussis should not be given past age of six years.)

Measles — The majority of children in this group will have been previously immunized or obtained natural immunity through infection.

System changed on medicine aid

AUSTIN — On Sept. 1 the State Department of Public Welfare will begin making payments directly to pharmacists for drugs prescribed to Texas welfare recipients.

Under the current system, allowance for drugs is included in the monthly assistance checks. The Legislature this year appropriated $11.9 million for the new vendor drug program.

Welfare authorities believe the new system will provide improved prescribed medicine coverage and delay a cut in overall welfare payments for food, clothing and shelter.

However, some complained of welfare check cuts, since drug allotments no longer will go to recipients, and a few who get only payment for drugs will be taken off welfare rolls. The latter will be interviewed by the welfare department to determine if they should still get cash aid.

SMALL GRAIN SYMPOSIUM

LUBBOCK — Grazing small grains will be the center of attention at a symposium scheduled for Aug. 5 at the USDA Southwestern Great Plains Research Center at Bushland. The program will feature scientists from the U. S. Department of Agriculture and Texas A&M University along with a discussion of the practical aspects of grazing small grains by Martin Gossett, farmer and stockman of Dumas.

It is recommended but not required on an individualized basis if history of vaccine or illness is thought to be negative.

Rubella — Not required past age 12 years.

Smallpox — One vaccination within the past 10 years.

INSTITUTIONS OF Higher Education:

Polio — At least three doses of oral vaccine, provided one or more doses have been received since the fourth birthday. (Polio vaccine is not required for persons 19 years of age or older.)

Diphtheria-Tetanus — Minimum of three doses with last dose within 10 years. Booster dose only after initial series. (Td adult type.)

Smallpox — One vaccination within the past 10 years.

All schools will be required to maintain records of the immunization status of individual students. The State Health Department is designing a standard form for this purpose.

Since many types of personal immunization records are in current use, any document listing each immunization received by year will be acceptable during the 1971-72 school year for either initiating or updating school immunization records.

Burlington to convert trio of plants over to home furnishings

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Expansion of its growing home products area is being stepped up by Burlington Industries, which today announced it would convert three former Worsteds division plants to new home furnishings operations.

Horace C. Jones, executive vice president, said that Burlington's major move into towels would require one of the plants. Special dyeing, printing and finishing facilities — for a number of home products divisions — will be established in a second plant, in addition to existing facilities. A third plant is being assigned to the Company's furniture division.

"We are committing substantial new investment to the expansion of facilities producing textiles and other products for the home," Jones stated. "Towels and blankets are the newest additions, but improvements and expansion in other divisions of the Burlington House products group either have been completed or are now underway."

Home furnishings accounted for 25 per cent of Burlington Industries' total 1970 sales of $1.8 billion. Jones said he expected the percentage to be higher in 1972.

A Crusader's Prayer

By Bernard S. Ramsey

I have been deeply humbled by the number of requests received for copies of the Opening Prayer, Thursday evening, July 22nd, at our Garza County Crusade for Christ. I am therefore humbly presenting it on the Church Page in the hope that it will glorify our Lord and help all of us to hold on to the soul-searching, deeply enriching experience that have come to us as a result of our Crusade:

Our Father in heaven . . . we are in trouble again . . . and as usual we've come running to you, remembering you've told us to bring you our problems and burdens . . . we are in trouble because we know we just haven't measured up to the sort of persons we had hoped to be . . . we have completely missed the mark.

Your Servant, Paul, has described our condition and situation precisely . . . when in his Roman letter he laments: . . . "In practice, what happens? My own behavior baffles me, for I find myself not doing what I really want to, but doing what I really loathe. I don't accomplish the good I set out to do, and the evil I don't really want to do, I find I am always doing. It is an agonizing situation . . . and who on earth can set me free from the clutches of my own sinful nature? I thank God there is a way out through Jesus Christ, our Lord."

We just wonder sometimes, Father, how you put up with some of us. We are so fickle and undependable and vacillating and untrustworthy. Please forgive us for this Father and be patient with us; give us another chance.

Out of your kindness and love for us, you have sent two of your most gifted servants to us to preach the Gospel by word and song . . . to show us the way out of our apathy and lethargy

. . . to give us fresh insights in to your Holy Word . . . to give us a push in the right direction . . . and they have done just that superbly—without stint; without sparing themselves . . . with genuine sincerity and deep conviction . . . persuasively and with real Christian love and compassion.

But Father, we suspect that in our response thus far . . . we have been weighed in the balance and found wanting. Most of us just haven't done as much as we could to give our Lord the victory he deserves.

And yet, Father . . . what Bo and Dick Baker have given us so generously has not, by any measure, been wasted. It will be a long time, if ever, before we forget the spiritual contributions they have made to us individually and to our community. Scores of lives have been radically changed; many of us will never be quite the same again. We are so grateful to you for them—for sending them our way.

We pray, Father, that you will get such a strong, loving grip on our hearts . . . so move us through them . . . and stir us . . . and wake us up . . . and yes, disturb us—that never again we will take your will for our lives and our Lord's Church so lightly and so for granted.

Help each of us to promise our Lord and ourselves to really take him seriously when he says to us: "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself, take up his Cross daily and follow me." That is the best we can do for Him and ourselves and we dare not do any less.

We pray in the name of Christ, our Savior, who loves us and gave His life a ransom for us. Amen. (Romans 7:15, 19, 23-25. 1BPhillips)

Pre-registration at WTC continues

SNYDER — Pre-registration at Western Texas College is moving along at a good pace, Dr. Duane Hood, director of admissions-registrar has reported.

Dr. Hood explained that pre-registration serves three purposes: to find out what courses people want to take; to find out how many people want to take course work; and to counsel with people to find out what courses they need to take in order to fulfill their educational goals.

A good number of the pre-registrants have been high school graduates, he explained, "but we are not getting enough adults to enroll."

Dr. Hood pointed out that "the adults are welcome to come out and pre-register along with other students at any time of the day and night."

SCREWORM THREAT

Though the outbreak of Venezuelan Equine Encephalitis among the state's horses is getting major attention, stockmen are reminded to stay on the alert for possible cases of screwworms. The recent outbreak in the northeast corner of the state and a nearby area in Arkansas illustrate what can happen. A sample of any worms found in animal wounds should be sent to the Mission Laboratory for positive identification.

Plans announced for hospital foundation

SLATON — Agreement has been reached with the Sisters of Mercy whereby the present Mercy Hospital will be owned and operated by a charitable, non-profit corporation to be known as Mercy Hospital Memorial Foundation of Slaton, it has been announced by Bill Sewell, chairman of a citizens study group.

Immediate steps will be taken to secure a charter, Sewell said. "It is contemplated that the Sisters of Mercy will convey to the foundation all of the property — real and personal — now owned by the hospital, with the exception of the property now being used for the convent," Sewell added.

A service agreement with the Sisters of Mercy will be effected so that the sisters now on duty at the hospital will remain.

The Sisters of Mercy had announced April 1 that "they no longer had the resources nor the personnel to update hospital facilities or make a long-range commitment to the community."

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The sermon subject at the 11 a.m. worship at the First Christian Church for this coming Sunday will be, "Trouble in the Lord's House," with the Lord's Supper also to be observed. There is a supervised nursery at the church. The public is cordially invited to all services, says Bernard S. Ramsey, minister.

TO UNDERGO SURGERY

Mrs. Estelle Montgomery Keene will be admitted to the West Texas Hospital in Lubbock Sunday, Aug. 1, for chest surgery. This will be her sixth operation in the last 18 months.

Area hospital receives federal building grant

LUBBOCK — Methodist Hospital of Lubbock has been granted the $1 million it sought from the federal government to aid in building an $8.6 million, 200-bed addition.

The new facility, to be built east of the present hospital on 19th street will house new acute care and intensive care space as well as new quarters for dietary, radiology, surgery and clinical laboratory.

Hospital officials have said construction could begin soon after the federal aid was received. Completion is expected in 1974.

Federal drought aid available in county

Many types of assistance are being made available by the federal government to Garza counties and other residents of the Southwest to help them through the drought and its aftermath.

G. A. Lincoln, chairman of the Interagency Drought Committee, Executive Office of the President, points out that the county extension agents are "good people to know when you need technical information on drought-connected problems." They can refer specific inquiries to other agencies (like FHA, ASCS, SCS, SBA, IRS, Department of Labor, HEW, etc.) that can provide specific kinds of drought assistance.

Some of the drought aid available in Garza County and the agency to contact on each is as follows:

- Agricultural assistance loans: Farmers Home Administration.
- Business economic injury loan: Small Business Administration.
- Cattle feed at a reduced rate; haying and grazing on set-aside acres; emergency conservation assistance; hay transportation assistance; Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation Service.
- Food: County Welfare Office.
- Income tax advice and assistance: U. S. Internal Revenue Service.
- Some of these agencies have offices or representatives in Post. None are farther away than Lubbock. As suggested, the county agent or home demonstration agent would be good people to contact for information on how to make application for assistance to the out-of-town agencies.

Jury wheel—

(Continued From Front Page) or-Collector T. H. Tipton and Sheriff J. A. (Jimmy) Holleman (to represent by their deputies) to put the names of all the registered voters into the new jury wheel.

After the names — each on the same size paper slip — are placed in the wheel's cylinder, the two locks on the cylinder door will be fastened. Sheriff Holleman will keep one key and County Clerk Cederholm will keep the other.

These two officials — a county clerk and sheriff — will turn the jury wheel, mixing the names thoroughly, draw the names, then notify the prospective jurors as the court's issue jury calls.

Since a new law allows voting by 18, 19 and 20-year-olds, names of these youths who have registered to vote will be placed in the jury wheel. However, the attorney general has ruled that this does not interfere with the law that requires persons sitting on juries to be 21 years of age.

So, although an 18-year-old person's name may be drawn as a prospective juror, he still would be excluded from jury service until the age limit is changed by law or court decisions.

Consolidation—

(Continued From Front Page) In, who has taught at Justiceburg for 11 years, is retiring and the board does not have a teacher if such approval could be secured.

Hutchinson told The Dispatch he had come here "on a fact-finding mission" to determine what the situation at Justiceburg actually was. He said he had not advised the Justiceburg school trustees what they should do.

Hutchinson said he would make his report to the state commissioner of education and it would be the commissioner's decision whether or not special reorganization would be granted Justiceburg to hold school this year, should the Justiceburg board request it.

Boren said the school district had received special permission for one year several years ago.

Attending the meeting with Hutchinson here, besides Boren, were Justiceburg board members Sam Bevers, Bill Mize, Rafael Rios, and Willie Moreno. Riley Miller was the only trustee absent.

Boren said the Justiceburg board felt that in calling such a school consolidation election it could get the true feelings of the voters of the district—whether a majority favored consolidation or opposed it.

Moonlight—

A local auto dealer is going to get an early start on the Moonlight madness. He will start at high noon tomorrow cutting the cash price on three used cars by $5 an hour. If they don't go early that will mean $50 off the price by the time the Moonlight Sale closes at 10 p.m. that night. (Look on page 7 for details).

The women and girls should be "wowed" at another sale item — all colognes and perfumes in stock, sold at half price Friday night only due to moonlight madness. Bill-folds, cigarette cases, hair bows, lighted cosmetic mirrors, and one group of costume jewelry is all reduced to half price by the same merchant.

One store is advertising "25 per cent off on all new merchandise, used furniture, and material in stock" Friday night only.

A new store, which opened after summer clearance time, is advertising "10 per cent off store-wide" on any items purchased during the "moonlight madness" period.

Another, which is in high gear with summer clearance, is advertising "an additional 10 per cent off the sale prices for cash" on Friday night.

A fourth is advertising "25 per cent off for cash" store-wide on all items except for its stock of Wranglers and Levis, which don't carry even that much markup at the wholesale prices.

These are just some of the bargains which will be offered Friday night. It'll be a great time to meet your friends downtown after the heat of the day and do some real old-fashioned "bargain buying."

Shop the ads in today's Dispatch and then shop the store Friday night — beginning at 7 p.m.

It takes more muscles to frown than to smile.

Big cactus plant is 'demonstrator'

If you noticed the bright blue half barrel containing a large cactus plant in front of the Southwestern Public Service Co. offices this week, you were looking at the "demonstrator" for the Broadway Beautification Bunch's proposed '71 project.

The "bunch" meeting at the Reddy Room Tuesday night decided to tackle a project to put approximately 100 barrels of such cacti in the parkings up and down the length of Broadway.

They are a lot of "ifs" involved — and the half barrels won't be painted blue.

The "demonstrator" was put together over the weekend for "the bunch" to look at after Postex Plant workers had cut a barrel in half and spray painted the halves. Some of the "ifs" involved include state highway department approval, city approval, property owner approval, a supply of painted half barrels at a reasonable cost and lots of volunteer labor to haul gravel, sand and dirt and dig up and replant the cacti when spring comes.

Mrs. Pee Wee Pierce, president of the "bunch" plans to get right to work on some of the "ifs." If it gets that far, the women members of the "bunch" will select the color to paint the half barrels.

Booster Club—

Coach Davis said he will be in charge of the sixth grade fundamentals program. Coach Black, assisted by Davis, will have charge of the seventh grade athletes. The eighth graders will be in charge of Coaches Giddens and Tannehill or Black, and the freshmen, whose drill period will be the last period before noon, will be under the supervision of Coaches Tannehill and Alexander, assisted by Davis.

The high school athletes' drill period will be the last period of the day with all five coaches participating, Coach Davis said.

The athletic director told the boosters that 12 athletes had dropped athletics after having the hair code and other rules and regulations spelled out to them last spring. He said of seven others placed on probation, five had quit, one had weathered his probation period, and another was still on probation.

"What the athlete does at home is between him and his parents, but he is answerable to us for his attitude and behavior at school, up town, on the practice field, on road trips and in the game," Coach Davis said.

The coach also told the booster club that the club had lost, through an administrative ruling, the concession rights it has had for the last six years, but that this might prove to be "a blessing in disguise."

As it was, he explained, only a few of the club members were doing all the work at the concession stands. He said he believes the boosters can make more money during the school year through fund-raising projects, which would also spread the work out over a larger membership area.

The coach also told of the school board's plans to make additional improvements at the field house, for which $13,000 has been budgeted.

The Antelope Booster Club's next meeting will be at 8 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 5, at the field-house. Parents of the athletes are especially invited.

Postings—

(Continued From Front Page) tention. The results — and Bobby had some strong backing too from Mayor Giles McCrary in the cleanup — were a city employee going quietly to work cutting the worst of the lots, especially along those highways; a new city crackdown on "junk cars" which have swept probably 200 to 300 old hulks out of town; and a program to tear down or burn old "abandoned houses" which were health and accident hazards, too, in almost every neighborhood.

Bobby and Mrs. C had many a "five minute conference" here in The Dispatch office during the busy working days over this phase or that of their cleanup.

Bobby at 44 should be looking forward to "lots more years of managing — and thoroughly enjoying it." Instead cancer caught him last October. Bobby has made the valiant fight, despite the pain.

After weeks in bed at home, they took him back to Garza Memorial Hospital Monday. He now is in a semi-coma and in very critical condition.

We last saw Bobby downtown on a Saturday morning a number of weeks ago. He bought us a cup of coffee at Collier's counter and was telling us "how many good things" had happened to his son, Ronnie, and how he had this great opportunity at Dallas to get into municipal work.

Coffee trees bear fruit for about 25 years.

Gasoline ignites, burns two youths

Gary Shepherd, 17, who received second degree burns on his back, right side and right arm when gasoline which had been spilled on his shirt was ignited Wednesday afternoon of last week, was reported in improved condition Tuesday at Garza Memorial Hospital.

Also burned when he tried to extinguish Gary's flaming clothing was 17-year-old Glen Branson.

The accident occurred shortly after 4:30 p.m. at the Ince Oil Co. Service Station, 604 North Broadway, where the two boys were employed.

According to Gary's father, Police Chief Otis G. Shepherd Jr., the Branson youth accidentally spilled gasoline on Gary's shirt after filling the gas tank of an automobile driven by Don Robinson of Hereford.

The gasoline on Gary's shirt ignited when someone struck a match inside the station while Gary was making change for the Hereford man.

The Branson youth, Clayton Tidwell, also an employe of the station, and the Hereford man collaborated in helping extinguish Gary's burning clothing. After Robinson grabbed the youth and threw him to the floor, Tidwell poured the contents of a five-gallon jug of drinking water over him to extinguish the flames.

Gary and Glen were taken by ambulance to the hospital, where Glen was dismissed after being treated for burns on the hands and

WEIGHT MACHINE INSTALLED

The Universal Gladiator-70, a $2,300 weight machine purchased by the Antelope Booster Club, for the Post schools' athletic department, was delivered last week and is already being used by high school and junior high school athletes.

The machine, called "the complete conditioning gym," has been installed in the weight room in the junior high gym just east of the Antelope fieldhouse.

The new weight machine has 15 separate stations, all of which can be used at one time, according to Coach Bobby Davis.

The new machine's stations include:

Leg press to 760 lbs.; chest press to 230 lbs.; shoulder press to 230 lbs.; high lat pull station to 210 lbs.; quad and dead lift station to 160 lbs.; chinning station; dipping; hip flexor; abdominal conditioner; thigh and knee machine to 160 lbs.; back hyperextension and swimmers kick station; rowing station to 160 lbs.; wrist conditioner; neck conditioner and hand gripper station.

Also included with the machine is a large wall workout chart showing over 100 positions and exercises.

Coach Joe Giddens who showed the new machine to a Dispatch reporter last Friday called it "the finest weight conditioning equipment available." He said it would be an essential part of the athletic department's conditioning program.

Little League All-Stars downed by Lamesa, 14-7

Post's Little League All-Stars fell to Lamesa, 14 to 7, last Thursday night in the championship game of the Area IV Little League Tournament at O'Donnell.

The game was halted by rain for about 20 minutes at the end of the top half of the fifth inning.

Lamesa put the game on ice early with three runs in the first inning and five in the second for an 8-0 lead before Post could get a run across.

Head of Little League expresses his thanks

Ken Gilbreath, president of the Post Little League, said Tuesday he wishes to thank everyone who contributed to the success of the season just ended.

"First of all, I want to thank the players for their enthusiasm and sportsmanship," the league president said. "Special thanks also go to the parents, especially those who helped out in one way or another to keep things going, the umpires, scorekeeper, announcer, other league officers, and everybody else who helped in any way."

It's the Law ...

FORBIDDEN FLOWERS

To the nature-loving judge, the prisoner's offense — picking flowers in a public park — was something horrendous. Counting a chipped flower as a separate crime, the judge imposed a fine of $720 or six years in jail.

But when the prisoner appealed to a higher court, the sentence was thrown out. The court said it was so harsh that it violated the United States Constitution's ban on "cruel and unusual punishment."

As a rule, when we use the expression "cruel and unusual punishment," we think of physical chastisement like flogging or maiming.

However, a too-severe jail sentence may also be held unconstitutional on the same grounds. In recent years, courts have shown a growing concern for humanitarian considerations in the field of sentencing. As one judge put it:

"What constitutes cruel and unusual punishment is to be judged in the light of developing civilization, so that what might not have been cruel and unusual yesterday may well be so today."

Nevertheless, even the longest possible sentence — life imprisonment without possibility of parole — will be upheld where reasonably related to the crime that has been committed.

Thus, in the case of a brutal kidnapping, such a sentence was held not to violate the defendant's constitutional rights. Calling a violation to the nature of the offense,

Countdown '72 names Maddox

AUSTIN — David T. Maddox, Austin, has been named by officials of Countdown '72 as a regional coordinator for the 49 counties of the Panhandle. Countdown '72 is sponsoring a statewide voter registration conference and workshop at the University of Texas in Austin Aug. 7-8.

The goal of Countdown '72 is to educate, through workshops and seminars, upwards of 500 young Texans in the methods and techniques of voter registration, the implications of the new registration law and ways in which young people can become active participants in the political community of Texas.

In his capacity as regional coordinator, Maddox will direct the efforts of the regional staff in contacting delegates to the conference from the Panhandle. Delegates will be selected from high schools and colleges as well as from the working force.

Paul Revere made George Washington's first set of false teeth.

the court said the sentence was "not so severe as to shock the moral sense of the community."

What about an open-ended sentence, like "one to twelve years"? When that punishment was imposed on a convicted burglar, he complained that the very uncertainty was a kind of cruelty.

But the sentence was upheld on appeal, where the court pointed out that the flexibility might well work out to the prisoner's advantage by speeding his release. The court said it was merely a device, within reasonable limits, to put his fate in his own hands.

Homeowners' Tax Relief Act' is produced by Pampa legislator

A "Homeowners' Tax Relief Act" has been introduced in the Texas House of Representatives by Rep. Bob Price of Pampa. The proposed legislation would relieve the local, state, and federal tax burden by allowing homeowners to take a depreciation deduction on their income tax in the same manner as owners of rental property are now able to do.

It within three years. Other provisions of the bill give special tax benefits to homeowners 65 and older.

"Any effort to bring relief to the tax-burdened homeowner should be commended," according to Joe Butler, executive vice president of the Lumbermen's Association of Texas. "Such legislation should receive the support of the many millions of citizens who take pride in home ownership. As an industry closely allied to home construction, we feel that any incentive to stimulate home ownership should be supported by advising your Washington representatives of your approval of the proposed legislation."

USE PESTICIDES SAFELY

Pesticides can be a blessing to gardeners and agricultural producers when insect pests come on the scene. But these chemicals can also be dangerous if used carelessly. Certain steps should be followed before using any pesticide. First of all, be sure there is a need to use a pesticide. Check the garden or field closely to determine whether insect pests are present and the amount of damage that is being done. Identify the insect or contact the county extension office for assistance.

Once the insect is identified and the situation warrants control measures, the next step is to select the proper pesticide for the particular job. Check the label carefully to be sure that the pesticide can be used safely on the crop in your field or garden. Pay particular attention to the waiting period described on the label which identifies the number of days required from the time of application until harvesting, grazing or other use of the crop.

Indiscriminate use of pesticides is the biggest problem with these chemical materials. Pesticides can work wonders in times of need, but they must be used cautiously. Do not spray during windy conditions so as to avoid drift onto another field or garden. Keep application equipment in good operating condition and wear protective clothing, especially rubber gloves and a respirator.

In case of pesticide poisoning or injury, contact the nearest Poison

Control Center at once.

We encourage all pesticide users to keep an accurate record of all material used, date of application, crop, weather conditions, soil type and any other information that may be valuable for later reference.

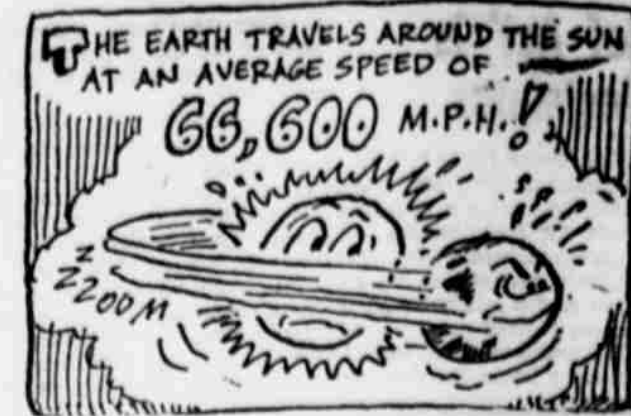

Last but not least, by any means, is the destruction of leftover pesticides and empty pesticide containers. This can be done by burying them at least 18 inches deep in an isolated area. If pesticides must be kept for the next season, be sure to store them in a locked room or shed where they will remain dry.

CALIFORNIA VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shirley of Fresno, Calif., visited last week with his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Boucher, and his mother, Mrs. George Shirley. Also visiting was a nephew and family, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Shirley and children of San Antonio.

We have this final word about the use of pesticides. "When in doubt, be sure to check first so that you won't be sorry later."

The Poison Control Center for this area is at Lubbock Methodist Hospital, Emergency Room, 1919 Knoxville, 79408, 792-1011.

CRAWFORD

A river-crossing where crows gathered may seem today a strange place for one to have acquired a surname, but not so in medieval England when family names were just beginning to come into style.

Crawford, originally spelled Crauford, meant "a ford with crows" from the Old English "crauf" for crow, and "ford" which was the name given any place on a stream shallow enough to be crossed by men and animals.

Surnames came from a variety of sources, one source being place-names—the locality where one lived or from where he came—and it is in this category that the name Crawford belongs.

As far back as the year 1205, a Nicolaus de Crauford was listed on the tax rolls in Somersetshire, a county of England.

Crawford is largely a Scots and North of England surname, but is found throughout the British Isles, including Ireland, where it is largely confined to County Donegal.

In Scotland, where Crawford is the 77th commonest surname, it was recorded as early as the 12th century. The Lindsay family of Scotland, which traces its descent back to the barons of Crawford who flourished in the 12th century, has long held the earldom of Crawford. The Scotland Crawfords, first recorded in Upper Clydesdale, were affiliated with the powerful Lindsay clan.

Crawford is the 129th commonest surname in the United States, just behind Tucker and just ahead of Webb. There are an estimated 149,500 persons named Crawford in the United States.

There are Crawford counties in 11 states. Most of these counties were named for William Harris Crawford, born in 1772, who served as Secretary of War and Secretary of the Treasury and at one time was a candidate for the presidency.

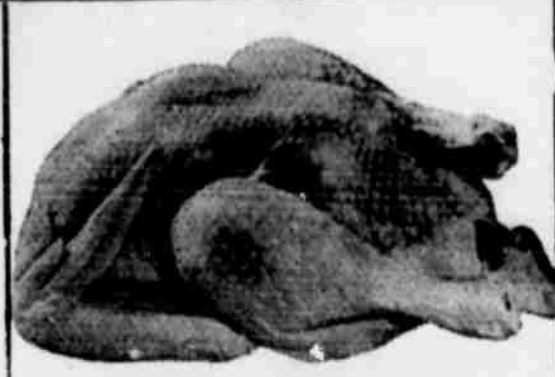

Francis Marion Crawford, born in 1854, was an American novelist. He was the son of Thomas Crawford, a well-known sculptor.
