Community Action group to launch 'target area' survey

The Garza County Community Action Committee was officially organized here Tuesday night during an open meeting of the 15-member group in the Community Room with plans made to adopt bylaws and launch a survey of the county's entire target area by interviewers hired with OEO planning funds.

The Rev. George L. Miller was elected as president of the committee.

Other officers elected were Jack Lott, first vice president; William Scott, second vice president; Madie Johnson, third vice president; Pat N. Walker, secretary, and Louise Valdez, treasurer.

Mrs. Helen Cornish was appointed publicity director.

A bylaws committee, consisting of Walker, chairman, Mrs. Maxine Marks, and Mrs. Johnson, was appointed to draw up bylaws to be presented for consideration at the committee's next open meeting at 8 p. m. next Tuesday in the Community Room.

Names to a survey form committee to come up with recommendations next Tuesday for the survey questions to be asked were Scott, chairman, A. C. Douglas, and Mrs. Valdez.

A recruiting committee also was appointed to line up interviewers to conduct the survey. On this committee are Earl Chapman, chairman, Benny Valdez, County Commissioner Ben Sanchez, and Lott.

Howard Maddera of Levelland, director of the Lubock - South Plains area planning commission for OEO, met with the Garza County committee Tuesday night to aid them in their organization.

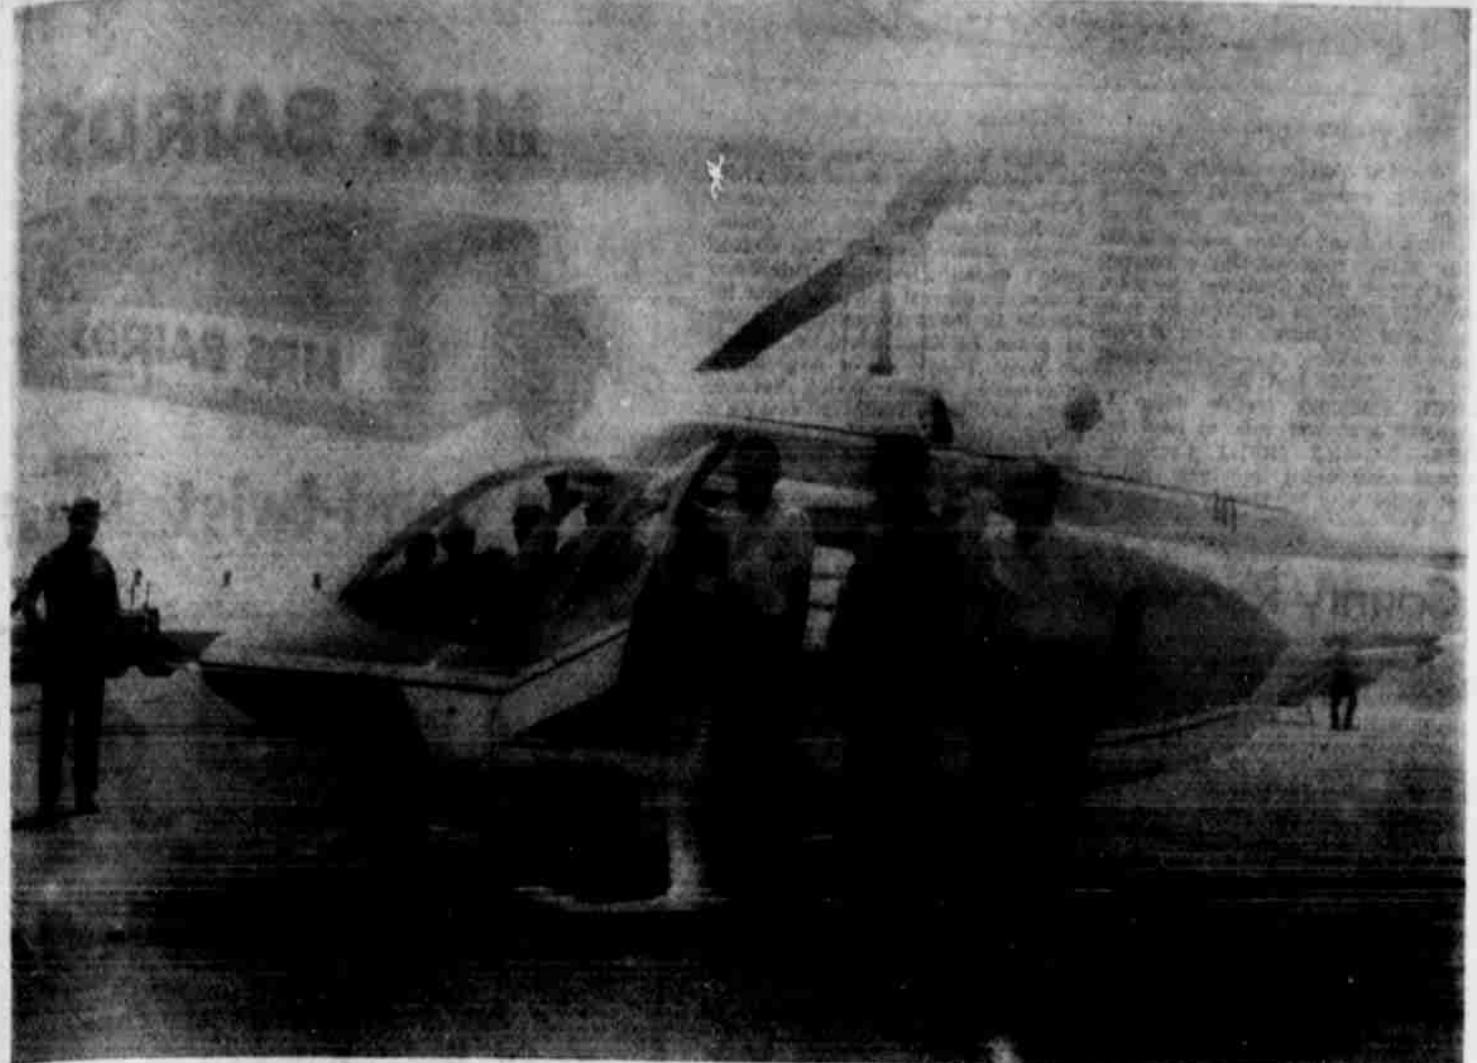

Six were elected to the Garza County Community Action Committee to represent the target area at an open meeting held in the Pleasant Home Baptist Church at 8 p. m. Friday with Mrs. Johnson in charge.

Elected at that meeting to the committee were William Scott, Pete Torres, Benny Valdez, Louise Valdez, Madie Johnson and A. C. Douglas.

This election meeting for the target area was monitored by Jimmy Karr of Crosbyton, director of the Floyd, Crosby, Dickens and Kent Community Action Council.

Present at the Tuesday night other than those already mentioned was County Judge J. E. Parker.

The Garza County Community Action Committee is hopeful of obtaining federal OEO funds for several projects for the target area here as soon as the necessary survey is completed.

POSTITES LEARN ABOUT, RIDE IN 'COPTER

The pilot of the DPS helicopter stands between Darrell Eckols and Joe Williams as the two Post men prepare to board the craft for a ride over the city. These two and other passengers were taken for free rides after its use and operation was explained at a DPS-sponsored meeting here.

4 new teachers hired at special trustee meeting

Post Independent School District trustees at a special meeting last Friday afternoon employed four more new teachers for the 1969-70 school year, designated the First National Bank as the depository for school funds for the next two years and took care of several other items of business.

The new teachers hired, all just out of college, are:

Denali Phipps, a Texas Tech graduate in the spring, single, who will teach high school social studies, principally American history.

William M. Watts, Texas Tech spring graduate, who will teach 6th grade. His wife is now attending Tech.

Miss Betty C. Kuwaski, spring Texas Tech grad, who comes from Taboka and will teach sixth grade.

Miss Kathleen A. Shanafelt, a graduate of Texas A&I at Kingsville and a native of Seguin, who will teach sixth grade.

In the new depository pledge contract with the First National Bank, the school district will receive 5 per cent interest on surplus funds on deposit.

Trustees set 1 p. m. Friday, Aug. 22, in the board room as the time and place for the public hearing on the new school district budget. The current year's budget, which ends Aug. 31, will be amended at that special meeting.

Trustees in another action transferred the $4,382.89 athletic department tax subsidy for the 1968-69 school year to the athletic fund.

Supt. Bill Shiver gave a progress report on the Planned Program Budgeting System, which revealed that the district is paying quite a bit of salary for non-professional help. Trustees indicated concern over this development.

A hearing to show cause why such an injunction should not be issued has been set for 10 a. m. Thursday, Aug. 21.

SEASON FOOTBALL TICKETS ON SALE

Season football tickets for the Post Antelope five home games are on sale today (Thursday) at the high school office, Principal Vernon Payne announced.

The season tickets will remain on sale at the school office for those who bought season tickets last year can go by and purchase tickets for the same seats.

After one week, the tickets that have not been sold will be turned over to the Antelope Boosters Club and sold from the office of Pat N. Walker, Mr. Payne said.

Passengers taken for free rides in 'copter

More than fifty Post citizens, including a number of city and county officials, were "briefed" last Friday afternoon on the operation of the Department of Public Safety helicopter, which has been based at the Lubbock Municipal Airport since last May.

The briefing took place at the maintenance building of the Texas Highway Department, with maintenance superintendent Joe Williams and members of his staff as hosts.

Following a brief meeting at which Lt. Fred D. Marshall explained the various uses of the helicopter in this area, a number of those attending were taken for rides over the city in the helicopter.

The helicopter spent about three hours here taking up passengers for "free rides."

Haskell rites are held for Post's police chief

Funeral services for Police Chief Bill Gordon, 49, who died of an apparent heart attack Sunday morning, less than an hour after he had helped Deputy Sheriff Reid Parker recapture an escaped prisoner, were held at 4 p. m. Monday in the First Baptist Church at Haskell.

Mr. Gordon died about 10:30 a. m. after returning to the police station following a three-block chase in which he and the deputy sheriff recaptured Larry Steve Taylor, who was being held on a drunk charge.

Parker said he called the police chief to help him recapture Taylor after the prisoner fled from his county jail cell when the deputy entered the cell to turn off a water faucet Taylor had turned on.

Taylor ran down two flights of stairs, out of the courthouse and east on Main Street. The police chief and deputy overtook the prisoner near the First National Bank where, after a struggle, they handcuffed him and put him in the police car. Parker said Taylor jumped out of the car and ran, the officers overtaking him again near the United Spuer Market. He was again subdued, put back in the car and returned to the jail.

Police Sgt. Otis G. Shepherd Jr., who had arrived at the super market while the prisoner was being put back in the officer's car, said he followed them to the courthouse and that he and Mr. Gordon went from there to the police station.

Shepherd said the police chief soon complained of feeling exhausted and lay down on a couch in the police station. Shortly afterward, he was observed having difficulty breathing and Shepherd asked (See Gordon Rites, page 8)

Time to be taken on replacement

Naming of a replacement for Police Chief Bill Gordon, who died suddenly Sunday morning, will not be done hastily, Mayor Giles C. McCrary said today.

The mayor said he and the council will "evaluate our police needs and requirements to see if it is possible to get better and more efficient law enforcement for the amount of money we are spending."

Mayor McCrary said various possibilities toward more efficient operation of the police department will be explored by the council. "In the meantime, we will operate the police department with our present two-man force," he said.

Graham community sets plans for homecoming

A homecoming of all former pupils and teachers of the Graham Chapel School, formerly located in the southwest part of Garza County, will be held the weekend of Aug. 30-31.

The homecoming activities will begin at 6:30 p. m. Saturday, Aug. 30, with an ice cream supper and visiting at the Graham Community Center, seven miles southwest of Post.

A historical marker will be dedicated at 4:30 p. m. Sunday, Aug. 31, at the school building site, with a program and dedication ceremonies planned. The afternoon of visiting will begin at 2 o'clock with refreshments to be served.

The Graham Chapel School was built in 1904 on land donated by Joe McMahon. The school remained at that site until 1915 when it was moved to the present Graham community. A new brick building with a gymnasium was completed in 1931. School was held in this building until complete consolidation with the Post Independent School District in 1959.

A book containing the history of the Graham school and community will be sold at the homecoming.

When the drive for funds to erect the marker at the school site was completed recently, enough money (See Homecoming, page 8)

Lt. Marshall explained that the DPS helicopter has brought a new era in law enforcement techniques to this area, including assistance to accident victims and others in need of emergency hospitalization.

"All any city or county official has to do to obtain the service of the helicopter is request it," Lt. Marshall said.

The helicopter has two portable stretchers for quick installation inside the machine, and is equipped with a resuscitator for in-flight use. The craft is available for all types of mercy missions such as the rapid transfer of injured persons, when feasible, from limited treatment centers to hospitals with more sophisticated facilities.

The helicopter is also available for a number of other uses, including search for fugitives from the law, observation of traffic, in case of tornadoes or other disasters, especially damage surveys.

The pilot and co-pilot of the craft have had the same type first aid and evacuation of injured that is given to the medical corpsmen on helicopter service in war zones.

The DPS helicopter in no way competes with private ambulances, Lt. Marshall said. It will be sent only on the authorization of Maj. C. W. Bell, regional commander of the DPS, after he receives competent medical advice that the service is actually needed and that overland transportation is not best for the patient.

Funeral services for Mrs. Jessie I. Voss, 82, a resident of Garza County since 1915, were held at 3 p. m. Wednesday in the First Methodist Church, with the Rev. Marvin Boyd of Lubbock officiating.

Mrs. Voss died Tuesday in West Texas Hospital in Lubbock where she had been a patient two weeks.

Born Sept. 1, 1886, in Ellis County, she was married to Joseph E. Voss on Nov. 22, 1905, in Ellis County. They moved to Garza County in 1915. Mrs. Voss passing away Aug. 14, 1969.

Mrs. Voss had been a member of the Methodist Church since childhood.

Surviving are a son, Harold Voss of Post; two daughters, Mrs. Geneva Snell of Albuquerque, N. M., and Mrs. Joe Anderson of Seminole; four sisters, Mrs. J. V. Boyd of McLean, Mrs. Stella Parrish of Altus, Okla., Mrs. J. B. Hopkins of Norman, Okla., and Mrs. J. E. Cooper of Clinton, Mo., and one granddaughter, Miss Voda Beth Voss of Post.

Burial was in Terrace Cemetery under the direction of Mason Funeral Home. Pallbearers were: Curtis Davies, Harold Lucas, Clint Herring, Walter Boren, A. J. McAllister, Jimmie Redman, Nick Vukad and Jim Jewell of Tahoka.

Nancy Norman was the organist at the funeral services, and Sue Harrison sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere."

Sign of the times (seen in San Angelo during West Texas Press Press Association convention visit): "Pray for Rain."

Where are all of Post's pretty girls?

Tommy Young, Jaycee chairman to stage a beauty contest to choose two Post representatives of the White River Lake Day queen contest, complains that he has no entries.

Other member towns of the district — Crosbyton, Ralls and Spur — already have made their selections. What's more the White River Lake Day is coming up on Sept. 6.

What we can't figure out is whether Tommy is dragging his feet about making date and arrangements for the Post beauty pageant or whether the girls are the real shy ones.

The C's are off for an "anniversary weekend" to cool off from the heat wave.

Where are we going? There's no doubt about it being Ruidoso ever since the TV weatherman Tuesday night predicted an overnight low for that "fun place" of 42 degrees.

Heat wave holds on; crops suffer

Garza County's 1969 dryland cotton crop has suffered more this week from the record heat wave and lack of moisture than it has in all the rest of the growing season to date, according to reports from rural areas.

"We're badly in need of rain," Lewis Herron, farm representative of the First National Bank, declared. County Agent Syd Conner is out of the city.

The area hasn't had a general rain since mid-June.

Herron called this the hottest summer for an unbroken heat wave since he moved to the county in 1949.

Seven more days of unbroken heat this past week has extended the current heat wave to 51 days during which the thermometer has only dipped under a 95 degree high for one day.

This week started out just about the hottest for the entire summer with three straight 100 degree or better days. It was 100 Sunday, 102 Monday, and 103 Tuesday.

Other highs for the seven day period included 96 for last Wednesday, 98 for Thursday, 97 for Friday and 99 for Saturday.

City Manager Bobby Pierce gave added impact to the long heat wave here by announcing this week that water consumption in Post for July was the highest on record.

He said the city used an average of 1,056,000 gallons of water daily for the 31 days of July. This is excluding water used in two water flooding oil operations in the county which is purchased from the water district and is pumped through the Post line.

Many home owners and businessmen were "flinching" from their monthly electric bills received in the mail Monday. With air conditioners running night and day here for weeks on end, a record electric usage probably was set, but Glen Barley said he wouldn't have the company figures on it for another week.

Barley explained that refrigerated air units in this unbroken record heat wave simply don't have a chance to cut off and run continuously.

History of Garza schools published

"School Bells Toll for Garza County," a history of the county's early day schools, was dedicated and copies distributed to members at the regular monthly meeting of the Garza County Historical Survey Committee on Tuesday morning in the county superintendent's office at the courthouse.

The book is dedicated to County Supt. Dean A. Robinson and representatives of area schools. Mr. Robinson did extensive research and wrote the general history of the schools contained in the book.

The book contains personal accounts of early-day schools written by Miss Henrietta Nichols, Mrs. Joe Callis, Mrs. Garland Davelyns, Mrs. Mae Gossett, Mrs. Evelyn Neff, Mrs. Elton Nance, Mrs. Cameron Justice, Mrs. Thelma Thomas and Mrs. Paul Duren.

A brief memoir written by the late Mrs. Mae Tuffing is also in the book, and she was given recognition at Tuesday's meeting. The Leforest School, the first in the Justiceburg area, was named for Mrs. Tuffing's two sons, Lee and Forrest.

Mrs. E. A. (Pauline) Warren designed the book and did the lettering and art work.

Copies of "School Bells Toll for Garza County" are on sale by members of the Garza County Historical Survey Committee.

No entries yet in lake contest

What would a White River Day beauty contest be without entries from Post?

That question might have to be answered between now and Sept. 6, the date of the second annual White River Day, unless the Post Jaycees get some entries, contest chairman Tommy Young said today.

Not a single Post entry had been received up to 2 p. m. Wednesday, the contest chairman said.

He asks that girls wishing to enter contact a prospective business firm sponsor, or that firms wishing to sponsor a girl in the contest contact a prospective entry. There is a $5 sponsorship fee.

Two girls — of high school age — are to be selected to represent Post in the contest, where they will compete against two contestants from each of the towns of Spur, Ralls and Crosbyton.

Young said if enough entries are received, the Post contest will be held later this month.

Father of Post woman succumbs

Glenn Harris, 74, of Brownfield, father of Mrs. Paul H. Jones of Post, died about 5 a. m. Wednesday in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock, where he had been in intensive care since entering the hospital about a week ago with a ruptured artery.

Funeral services will be held in the First Methodist Church at Brownfield at 4 p. m. today (Thursday), with burial in the Terry County Cemetery.

Mr. Harris was a longtime resident of Brownfield and Terry County. The old Harris School near Brownfield was named for his family.

Besides the daughter of Post, Mr. Harris is survived by his wife; a son, Myron Harris of Chicago, Ill., and a number of brothers, sisters and grandchildren.

Outstanding parade

1969 rodeo event champions named

Champions in five events were decided Saturday night at the concluding performance of the annual Post Stampede Rodeo, which was a three-night show this year instead of a four-night show as in the past.

The Saturday night crowd was said by one of the rodeo officials to have been one of the largest in the rodeo's history, but the opening night and Friday night crowds were not as large.

Dillard Morris, Post Stampede secretary, said it would be probably thirty days — after all the bills are in — before it can be decided whether or not this year's event was a financial success.

Otherwise, the rodeo was one of the best ever held here, with Thursday afternoon's opening parade also ranking as one of the best. There were more riding groups and floats in this year's parade than in any of recent years.

Winner of the $25 first place prize in the parade's float division was Jackson's Cafe & Cafeteria, with Jackson Bros. Food Lockers taking the second place prize of $15, and the Post Jaycees the third place prize of $10. Outstanding floats were also entered by the Garza Memorial Hospital, Graham 4-H Club, World of Difference, and others.

The first place trophy for riding groups went to the Fisher County Sheriff's Posse, with the Scurry County Sheriff's Posse winning second place and the Floyd County Sheriff's Posse, third place. A special trophy was presented to the Fisher County Junior Riding Club. Trophies for the most typically (See Stampede Rodeo, Page 8)

Stock transfer tax is proposed

The Texas Legislature is all intrigued by the prospect of "finding" a new tax which can raise untold millions of dollars for that whopping teachers' pay raise already voted but not financed.

We learned about it at the West Texas Press Association's summer convention in San Angelo over the weekend. One of the publishers, George Baker, of Fort Stockton is a representative in the lower house at Austin this year and, according to our way of thinking, quite a conscientious legislator.

Anyway, George reported the "new tax" which has all Austin agog is called a stock transfer tax.

The way it would work would be to tax each stock transaction which originated in Texas. If a man bought 100 shares of General Motors or 20 shares of Burlington Industries he would be charged the tax.

The originator of this tax plan (not Baker) claims that a $2.50 tax on each such transaction would raise a fantastic $350 million dollars in new Texas taxes.

The word from Baker is that there are too many "iffies" about such a proposal to be fully dependent upon it to solve Texas' spending needs this time around.

Although the Texas attorney-general says such a tax is legal, the New York Stock Market is almost certain to challenge the validity of such a new tax in the courts.

Then there is the problem of how the comptroller could with any accuracy certify how much money the tax would raise, which would be a requirement because the state must have sufficient revenue by law before expenditures can be made.

On top of this is the question of collection and enforcement.

As a result, the legislature this time is considering just a token "10 cent tax" on each stock transaction which is forecast as good for $18 million. If the tax proves legal, workable, etc., and it doesn't chase the market transactions out of state, a stock transactions tax may loom big in the future for Texas and for every other state.

All of this is not to say any such $2.50 tax per stock transaction is a fair one. It obviously, if it ever came to that, would heap a whole lot of the tax burden on one type of business. Only part of the story has been told, one side of it.

But it does point up the quite obvious fact that levying new taxes is something sure to meet heavy resistance and have, in many cases, serious political repercussions.—JC

Death came in the line of duty

The entire community was shocked and saddened by the sudden death Sunday morning of Police Chief Bill Gordon, who died in the line of duty.

Chief Gordon was a dedicated law enforcement officer and had the respect of all who knew him, not only as an officer of the law, but as a man.

He was conscientious in the discharge of his duties as chief of police and any mistakes he made in the discharge of those duties were the same as those made by any dedicated police officer—honest ones.

Bill Gordon was the type of man law-abiding people like to have on their side, and as long as we do have this type of man on our side, crime is not going to get the upper hand.

The Dispatch extends its condolences to Chief Gordon's wife and daughter.—CD

Texas Water Plan is not dead

The Texas Water Plan, which was defeated by a narrow margin in the Aug. 5 constitutional amendment election, is not dead.

Preliminary negotiations for out-of-state water can continue, and another vote can be scheduled on the bonds in 1971. Hopefully by then, some of the major objections will be resolved.

One organization that has pledged itself not to let the Texas Water Plan die is Water, Inc., which will "redouble its efforts" toward ultimate adoption of the plan, according to K. B. "Tex" Watson of Amarillo, president.

State Rep. Bill Clayton, executive director of Water, Inc., emphasized that "West Texas, particularly, should not take a defeatist attitude. We know the job can be done and we are dedicated to doing it," he said.

This newspaper is confident that the same proposition submitted in 1971 would carry, even in the eastern and southeastern areas of the state where opposition was the heaviest.

The reason we think so is that by mid-1971 studies now under way to determine the extent of surplus water in the Mississippi River would be far enough along to indicate determination of availability. Also, the Louisiana and Mississippi Delta study will, by that time, have progressed to the point where the water plan can be "sold" to the people in that area.—CD

SOME LIKE it hot. I always thought I did until this summer, but I don't think I'll ever complain about cold weather again.

Someone was just in the office and asked me if I was about to get all right again, referring of course, to my broken heel and the fact that I've had my right leg in a cast and been on crutches since May 20. I answered the question by saying I wasn't about to get all right again, but I was about to get back like I used to be before I broke my foot.

THE DOCTOR told me when I went to see him Saturday that the cast will have been on my foot three months come next Wednesday, Aug. 20, and that he would date and make another x-ray. If the cast has to go back on, it is going to hamper my coverage of the Antelopes' football games this season, since getting up to a stadium press box is sometimes a chore even when you are not on crutches.

I am hopeful, however, that I'll be able to leave the cast off after next Wednesday — for it has been a long, hot summer with it on. It has been a long time since I have been able to get upstairs to the photo lab here at The Dispatch, with the result that orders for pictures have stacked up — but I'll get around to filling the orders one of these days, if the people who ordered the pictures still want them after waiting so long.

IN THE MEANTIME, I want to thank Ollie Stevens and all the others up at the drug store who have opened the door for me as I've hobbled in and out on my infrequent coffee breaks.

I've also enjoyed being waited on "hand and foot" at other places — especially at home. So, you see, I'm not writing all this because I feel sorry for myself, but just to let those who might be interested know how I am "getting on."

The bull riding event proved the toughest of all at the 1969 Post Stampede Rodeo that closed Saturday night. The first two nights, not a rider stayed on a bull. They had a little better luck the final night, with Tommy Carr of Canadian and Jeff Davenport of Hereford staying on for first and second places, respectively. Are the bulls getting tougher or are the cowboys getting softer?

I was listening to a "Lost and Found" radio broadcast the other day in which everything that had been lost or found were dogs, cats or parakeets. Nealy every dog or cat that had been lost or found was described as wearing a flea collar. These flea collars are something comparatively new. I've never bought one for my dog and two cats. I believe it's perfectly natural for dogs and cats, especially dogs, to have fleas. I've never owned a cat that appeared to be bothered too much by fleas. But a dog just doesn't seem much like a dog unless he spends part of the day scratching fleas. I don't believe a dog suffers much from fleas unless he has them so thick there is danger of them carrying him off. In that case, I'd probably buy mine a flea collar.

Southland school opens new term on Aug. 23

By TOMMIE WILKE

School days, school days, dear golden rule days! School will be opening its doors Aug. 23. It's opening its doors warm and stuffy in those classrooms reading writing but don't guess it will be the students long to get into the swing of things. The school met Monday at "dark-thirteenth" at the schoolhouse for its monthly meeting.

Coach and Mrs. Bob Dyess and Mrs. Bob Long last week were J. H. Poindexter of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Long, Patti and Mike of Seattle, Wash., Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Black, Sherry and Doris and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Black of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. George Long and grandchildren, Steve and Cara, of Snyder, Okla., and Loyd Maudlin of Post.

The Bob's Longs' son, Larry, returned from Camp Grady Spruce at Possum Kingdom Lake at noon on Sunday.

Bob Long brought his grandson, Mike, his first pair of striped overalls. The little fellow came to the Post office and showed them to me. Let me tell you, he was a mighty proud of them!

Joe E. Basinger is home for the next two weeks and will play in the All-Star basketball game at Levigland. He will return to Fort Worth where he will enter TCU.

The Jerusalem Baptist Church held services Sunday with the Rev. O. D. Kennedy of New Home preaching. Church will be held here on the second and fourth Sundays of each month.

Mrs. Stonewall Jefferson went to Fort Worth last week and brought her granddaughter, Dorene, home with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Becker and children of Kansas City, Mo., spent two days here last week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Becker. Joe Don and Terry Becker of Brownfield were also guests.

WELCOME TO A new family in Southland. Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hufnagle moved to the Lazy K Ranch last weekend. They are a young couple and we hope that they will like it here.

Patsy Gindorf has moved to an apartment in Lubbock where she is employed. Chris Gindorf and Joan and Patsy spent a recent weekend at Lake Brownwood.

Marilyn Basinger of Mercedes, daughter of the Bill Basingers, arrived one day last week to visit her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Basinger, and other relatives.

Bro. and Mrs. Bill Dodd and children, Dessa and Will, are vacationing in Arkansas.

Got a couple of corrections from last week! The Dee Hodge are in Port Lavaca instead of Port Aransas and Larry Long will be a senior at Texas Tech this fall instead of a junior. Sorry!

Danny Becker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Becker of Brownfield, spent the week here with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Becker, while his parents were in Austin attending a FFA meeting.

Got some brand new grandparents in our midst. Mr. and Mrs. Alve Albright have a new granddaughter born Aug. 6 at 5:30 p. m. in an Amarillo hospital. This little lass has been named Joy Dawn, and weighed 10 lbs., 9 1/2 ozs. Wow! Her mother is the former Elsie Albright. Congratulations, everybody.

Congratulations to J. B. Rackler Jr., who graduated from James Connally Technical Institute Aug. 7 with an associate degree of applied science in chemical technology. His mom and dad, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Rackler Sr., live in the Gordon community.

MRS. NELLIE Mathis told me last week that she has sold her home and will be moving to Salem, Ore., within the next month or so. She has lived here for about 50 years and was postmistress for over 20 years. Her son, Dick, lives in Salem and also two of her grandchildren, Ronnie and Marie. She feels like she would like to live close to them and we can't blame her. Nevertheless, we are really going to miss her. Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Albright have bought her place.

Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Espinosa and family have moved back to Southland from Plainview.

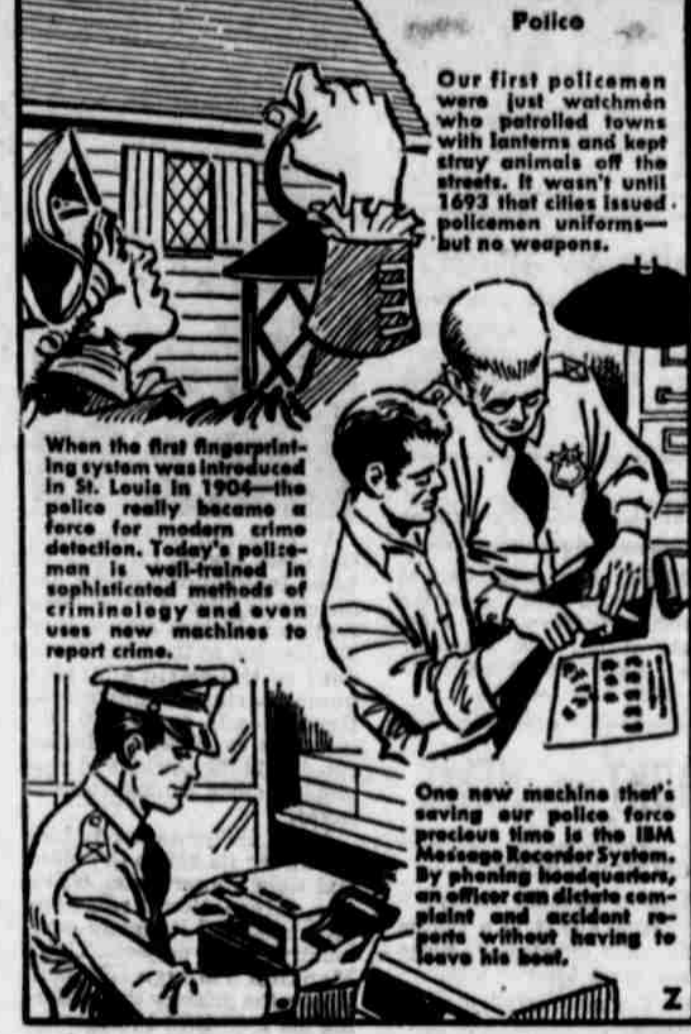

Larry and Martha Wilke have recently visited in our home on two different days. Martha also visited the J. W. Basinger home.

Darrell Wilke and Mike Mason returned home this week from Fort Worth where they have been employed with the Santa Fe Railroad. Darrell will register at Texas Tech on Aug. 14 and 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Mueller of Artesia, N. M., visited Mrs. A. Wilke last weekend. Saturday they visited Mrs. Bertha Betts and son, Darrell, in Morton.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stolle were Mrs. Agnes Waleick of Yoakum, Mrs. Ed Siewert, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Klesel of Anton, Mrs. Selma Klesel

BEHIND THE SCENES

Police

Our first policemen were just watchmen who patrolled towns with lanterns and kept stray animals off the streets. It wasn't until 1693 that cities issued policemen uniforms—but no weapons.

When the first fingerprinting system was introduced in St. Louis in 1904—the police really became a force for modern crime detection. Today's policeman is well-trained in sophisticated methods of criminology and even uses new machines to report crime.

One new machine that's saving our police force precious time is the IBM Message Recorder System. By phoning headquarters, an officer can dictate complaint and accident reports without having to leave his boat.

TOWN OF IDEALS

Pride in Post prompted writer to praise its glories 47 years ago

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article by the late Phoebe K. Warner, which appeared in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram in 1922, has been contributed by a Dispatch reader. We feel it will be of interest historically to today's readers.)

AN IDEAL LITTLE TOWN
By Phoebe K. Warner

You wouldn't know there was a town anywhere near. For miles and miles all is quiet and serene. The best of roads, comfortable houses, blooming gardens, and fields of grain. Everything in sight bears evidence of a happy, prosperous people.

You can tell a lot about the kind of folks that live in a country simply by driving through it. If you never see a single person or hear a single name, the paint on the houses, the flowers in the yards, the chickens in the barnyard, and even the hogs on the place are all evidence of the standards of the people.

Driving through such a country at the rate of thirty miles an hour, you become so absorbed in the wonderful things around you until you forget that there is such a thing as a man-made town until you drop over the Caprock of the canyon and there several hundred feet below a beautiful little city stretches out before you. What a surprise!

HID AWAY IN a beautiful valley just its size, with a perfect road leading right down to the heart of the town. And when you get down to it, the town is Post.

Did you ever see a country, or town, that was the ripened fruit of a dream? If you have not, then you have no idea what this whole world might have been if it had all been planned and designed before a single house, or a single little town had ever been built. There is one example on record where this was done, and that is in Garza County, Texas.

Many Texas people remember when Mr. C. W. Post bought up a large tract of land a few years ago for the purpose of creating a perfect country and a perfect town, as nearly as he could. After looking the country over, he selected Garza County, Texas, for his experiment.

If you know a man or woman who do not believe in the power of ideals you should go to Garza County and study what has happened in the short space of fifteen years. In this country is written the story of a man with an ideal, a human ideal. An ideal of life and living. If only more men would get ideals in their hearts, and go out into some bare place in the world and go to work with their minds, hearts and pocket-books to realize that dream.

THE FIRST THING Mr. Post did was to plan enough ideal farms to make an ideal community, next he carved these farms out of the raw land he had purchased, just like you cut a dress out of a new piece of goods. There he built a comfortable home for the average size family and when everything was ready to move into he offered these ideal farm homes for sale. Did the people buy them? Do people like ideal homes? Go to Garza County, Texas, and see for yourself. Seeing will be believing. And when he had the county fitted up to support a town he went to work to build an ideal town—not a city, but a town. The streets were planned. The homes were begun on a modern pattern. Thousands of trees were planted to be growing while the town grew, so that every new home would have a bit of nature and shade around it as soon as it was built. A great factory was created to give everybody something to do in their home town so they could build themselves homes.

A park was set aside to be developed before somebody bought all the more desirable places, for pleasure.

A golf ground was provided for

Scouters' 'Fun-Storm' to be held Aug. 23-24

From fifty to sixty adult Boy Scout leaders will gather on the shores of White River Lake on Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 23-24, to participate in a "Fun-Storm."

The 24-hour encampment will involve fishing, fun and fellowship as well as the "brainstorming" of new ideas in service to Scouting units.

Carl Minor, South Plains Council commissioner, said that one major concern of council Scouters is the improvement of each C's pack, Scout troop, and Explorer unit program offered to the boys. This event is designed to help in this area.

Cowboys' Camp Meeting slated at Snyder arena

SNYDER — Religious services reminiscent of the old-time camp meeting will return to Snyder during the week of Aug. 18-24 when the Scurry County Sheriff's posse will sponsor a Cowboys Camp Meeting at the rodeo arena west of town.

There will be nightly preaching services at 8 o'clock with Orin Hardenbrook of Clayton, Wash., bringing the messages. Known widely for "the saddle as his pulpit," Hardenbrook has devoted his life since 33 years of age to "spreading the word of God" to people who lived too far from the cities to attend church regularly.

Leading the singing for the Cowboys Camp Meeting will be W. A. (Bill) Anderson of Lovington, N. M.

Sunday morning services will be held on horseback and all that possibly can be urged to be mounted. A barbecue dinner will be cooked on the grounds at noon Sunday, Aug. 24. A team roping and calf roping will be held afterwards, and the revival will conclude with the Sunday night service.

More than half of the present farm maketings come from irrigated farmlands.

Professional Ag workers to meet in Fort Worth

COLLEGE STATION — "The Shape of Things to Come" is the theme for the 43rd annual conference of Professional Agricultural Workers of Texas. The meeting will be held Aug. 21-22 at the West Hotel in Fort Worth.

President Joe Rothe, state agricultural agent, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said, "We will take a close look at factors which may shape the future of agriculture and related fields."

UNDERGOES SURGERY

Robert Lee Hagler underwent emergency major surgery at 6 p. m. last Friday in St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock.

Deadline near on mailing antibiotic refund claims

AUSTIN — Attorney General Crawford C. Martin reminded Texans today that Aug. 16, 1969, is the deadline for mailing refund claims on broad spectrum antibiotics for which they were overcharged during the years 1954 through 1966.

That is the deadline set by the federal court for individuals to file claims for a share of the $100 million settlement offered by five drug manufacturers after multiple civil antitrust actions were filed against them by Texas and other states.

Martin said the procedure for filing consumer claims was the result of an order issued by the U. S. District Court in New York. The forms for the refund claims may be picked up at the county clerk's office in each county courthouse. A number of newspapers have also printed copies of the form.

If a person fails to file a claim, it will constitute authorization to use the money recovered in his behalf for the benefit of all consumers in a manner directed by the federal court.

The notarized claims must be mailed to the Clerk, United States District Court, P. O. Box 745, Bronx, New York 10451.

Drugs involved in the settlement are Aureomycin, Terramycin, Achromycin, Mysteclin, Panalbs, Panmycin, Polycycline, Steclin, Tetracyclin and Tetrex.

and Judy, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Klesel and Rhea Lynn, Capt. and Mrs. David McInturff, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Siewert, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Camden, and Mrs. Jim Parker and daughters and Mrs. Marie Klesel of Slaton.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Callaway entertained their sons and families with a fish fry Sunday night. The Callaways caught the fish in Colorado.

Guess this is about all for this week. See you next week, God willing.

It's the Law...

BEANED BY BAGGAGE

Wheeling around a corner, the bus driver cut so sharply that a suitcase fell out of the overhead rack. It landed squarely on the head of an unsuspecting woman passenger, inflicting painful injuries.

In due course, she sued the bus company for damages. At the trial the company protested that it should not be held responsible for such an unlikely accident.

But the court felt otherwise and ordered the company to pay the woman's claim. The judge said it was part of a driver's job to handle his bus with full regard for the dangers of falling luggage.

As it does on all common carriers, the law imposes substantial responsibility on a bus company for the safety of the traveling public. This responsibility extends not only to the way the driver handles the bus but also to the way luggage is placed—either on the rack overhead or in the seats and aisles.

Consider this case: A passenger set his suitcase on the floor, where it protruded more than two feet into the aisle. Another passenger, coming through, stumbled over the suitcase and suffered a broken leg.

Here, too, a damage suit against the bus company was successful. The victim won his case on the ground that the suitcase on the ground had been in that obstructive position long enough for the bus driver — if he had been reasonably alert — to have noticed it.

Trinity Baptist group building brush arbor
Men of the Trinity Baptist Church have been busy after working hours building a brush arbor on the south side of the church in preparation for a Brush Arbor Meeting to be held Sept. 7 through Sept. 14.

The project will be completed next week when the men cover it with cedar.

The Rev. Chester Soeman of Bay City will preach each evening and Bobby Gordon will lead the singing during the meetings.

Under these circumstances, a court could find no basis for holding the bus company liable. The judge said he saw no way by which the driver, no matter how conscientious, could have foreseen and forestalled an accident like this.

Yet, unbeknownst to him, a sachel on the overhead rack contained a kitten. During the ride the kitten moved, shifting the center of gravity and bringing the sachel crashing down upon a passenger's shoulder.

Nevertheless, while the law demands due care of the driver, it does not expect the impossible. In another case, the driver did check the position of all luggage — above and below — before starting out. Furthermore, he drove his bus with proper care.

Yet, unbeknownst to him, a sachel on the overhead rack contained a kitten. During the ride the kitten moved, shifting the center of gravity and bringing the sachel crashing down upon a passenger's shoulder.

Under these circumstances, a court could find no basis for holding the bus company liable. The judge said he saw no way by which the driver, no matter how conscientious, could have foreseen and forestalled an accident like this.

"Whatever is Begotten By God Conquers the World"

By Rev. Thomas Andrew

Who is "begotten by God?" We who have been baptized into the death and resurrection of Christ.

What does "Conquer the world mean?" Certainly John did not mean we would crush governments. Christ said, "My kingdom is not of this world." John did not mean we would destroy all evil. If he meant that, then why, after 2000 years, do we still find evil in the world?

John means all who have been born of God, all who live by the Spirit of Christ will rise above all evil. Evil will not bother us because, if God is for us, who can conquer us?

Why then do we find unhappiness in our lives? Maybe because we have not "put on that mind which is in Christ Jesus." Ask someone why they do not go to church. Their answer, "My pastor did this or said that," or "look at so-and-so he goes to church and see how he acts. So why should I go to church?"

How would Christ react? "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do."

Another situation—in the face of war on poverty we hear people say "let the bums get out and work." McGeorge Bundy, president of Ford Foundation, reacted differently. "It's most important for people who have power and money to be sensitive to the intensity of the needs and feelings of those who haven't made it . . . they must share it." This man puts into modern terms what Christ said about using our talents to help, not only those who deserve it, but everyone.

Christ offers us his peace. But his peace will not rest on us as long as we fear temporary, material hurt from others. The spiritual can not be hurt or killed. Only when we put spiritual values first will we find that peace.

OUR READERS

(EDITOR'S NOTE: A reader has sent this in to The Dispatch "to share it," she says, with other readers.)

MY MEAN MOTHER

I had the meanest mother in the whole world! While other kids ate cereal for breakfast, I had to have cereal, eggs or toast! When others had cake or candy for lunch, I had to eat a sandwich, and, as you can guess, my supper was different from the other kids, too! My sister and two brothers had the same mean mother as I did!

My mother insisted upon knowing where we kids were at all times. You'd think we were on a chain gang. She had to know who our friends were, and what we were doing. She insisted if we said we'd be gone an hour that we would be gone not one hour and one minute. I am ashamed to admit it, but she actually struck us; not once, but each time we did as we pleased. Can you imagine someone actually hitting a child just because he disobeyed? Now you can begin to see how mean she really was.

The worst is yet to come! We had to be in bed by nine each night, and up early the next morning. We couldn't sleep till noon like our friends. So, while they slept, my mother actually had the nerve to break the child labor law. She made us work. We had to wash dishes, make beds, learn to cook, and all sorts of cruel things. I believe she laid awake at night thinking up mean things to do to us. She always insisted upon our telling the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, even if it killed us — and it nearly did. By the time we were teen-agers, she was much wiser, and our life became even more unbearable.

None of this tooting of the horn of a car in front of the house for us to come running. She embarrassed us to no end by making our dates and friends come to the door to get us.

I forgot to mention, while our friends were dating at the "mature" age of 12 and 13, my old-fashioned mother refused to let me date until the age of 15 and $18. Fifteen, that is, if you dated only to go to school functions, and that was twice a year.

My mother was a complete failure as a mother! None of us has ever been arrested or beaten his mate! Each of my brothers served his time in the service of his country. And whom do you think we have to blame for the terrible way we turned out? You are right, our mean mother! Look at all the things we missed — we never got to march in a protest parade; nor take part in a riot; burn draft cards or a million things that our friends did. She forced us to grow into God-fearing, educated, honest adults.

Using this as a background, I am trying to raise my three children. I stand a little taller and I am filled with pride when my children call me "mean." Because, you see, I thank God. He gave me the "meanest mother in the whole world."

Post High grad finishes camp at Fort Benning

FT. BENNING, Ga. — James E. Pollard Jr. of Post has completed the nation's only basic ROTC summer camp as a member of Company C, 9th Battalion.

Pollard, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Pollard Sr., is a 1969 graduate of Post High School and will attend New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell next year. He lettered in football and basketball two years in Post High School, made the honor band two years at the Tri-State Festival in Enid, Okla., and was vice president of his high school's Science and Math Club.

Conducted for the third consecutive year by the Training Center's 2nd Brigade, the six-week camp Pollard completed has doubled in size since the 1967 camp.

Unique in its concept of providing active-duty training in lieu of two years on-campus study, this camp differs in many aspects from the normal basic training cycle.

Each cadet attending the camp is a volunteer, under no obligation to continue the entire six weeks; therefore, those completing the program are highly motivated young men.

Covering basically the same course of instruction in two weeks less time, the cadets receive greater emphasis on tactics and leadership. Each cadet at some time served in a leadership position. The graduation ceremonies were conducted entirely by cadets.

Rodeo scheduled at Boys Ranch

The biggest Labor Day event of the Texas Panhandle is expected to attract a record crowd when the nearly 350 boys of Cal Farley's Boys Ranch near Amarillo, celebrate the silver anniversary of the annual Boys Ranch Rodeo.

More than 100 of the boys will compete under R. C. A. rules in the riding contests that will be held on Aug. 31 and Sept. 1 at 2:30 p. m. each day.

Considered the only one of its kind in the nation, the rodeo was witnessed by approximately 10,000 people in 1968. Among those attending this year will be many of the ranch's former boys and their families who will have a reserved section in the rodeo arena.

$1.5 million in educational grants provided by Burlington Foundation

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Educational grants totaling a record $1.5 million were awarded during the 1968-69 school year by the Aid To Education program administered by the Burlington Industries Foundation.

Among the recipients were 500 colleges, universities, secondary and preparatory schools in 36 states. More than 400 children of Burlington employees shared in the Company's educational loan program.

According to W. S. Markham Jr., executive director, the Burlington Foundation has channeled more than $5 million into education from a total of over $8 million given educational, health, recreational, cultural and social causes since 1964. Most of the donations center in the 92 communities in 15 states where Burlington operates manufacturing plants.

The company's Aid to Education Program is designed to help individuals and institutions and to encourage contributions from Company employees. For example, last year the Foundation matched $118,000 in employe gifts to 249 educational institutions. In the past school year, 50 students selected by 18 educational institutions were recipients of Burlington-sponsored scholarship and fellowship awards totaling $31,000. Burlington also makes grants annually at various state and national associations promoting higher education. The largest such grant in the 1968-69 school year was $50,000 to the United Negro College Fund.

Noel and McCowen win beard prizes

Don Noel and Joe McCowen won first and second places, respectively, in the Post Jaycees' beard-growing contest held in connection with the Post Stampede Rodeo. The large number of hirsute adornments sported by local rodeo boosters were judged by local barbers just before the start of Thursday's rodeo parade.

Noel won $15 as his first place prize and McCowen, $10 for second place.

The Post Jaycees' saddle, awarded at the final performance of the rodeo, went to Monty Plummer of Elk City, Okla., son of Charlie Plummer, stock producer for the rodeo.

X-RAYING THE PYRAMIDS

The use of physics to study the great Egyptian pyramids has dimmed hopes that one of the ancient structures may contain hidden chambers.

Several years ago, Dr. Luis W. Alvarez, Nobel Prize winning physicist from the University of California, returned from a trip to Egypt and began learning more about the pyramids he had just seen. He was struck by the fact that the first two pyramids of Gizeh are the same size, were built for father and son, that some architects had worked on both pyramids. However, the first pyramid contains a long passageway and an extra chamber while the second has only a small burial chamber.

Just as many before him, Dr. Alvarez began considering ways to determine if there were hidden chambers in the Khafra (second) pyramid. From his work as a high-energy physicist, he knew that cosmic rays can penetrate stone much as x-rays penetrate parts of the body. Thus, it seemed likely that cosmic rays could be used to reveal the internal structure of the Khafra pyramid.

Teaming up with scientists and scholars from Egypt, Dr. Alvarez set up elaborate detection equipment — including computers and a large spark chamber similar to those used in high-energy physics — in the chamber at the bottom of the pyramid. Months of measurements and data analysis showed no passageways or chambers.

Dr. Alvarez is confident that the method works because structural features — for example, the edges of the pyramid and a small cap at the top — showed up clearly in the results.

MOON STUDIES MAY ANSWER QUESTIONS OF LIFE ON EARTH

A proposal by Dr. Raymond Gold of Argonne National Laboratory may help solve a long-standing problem of biologists. At a recent American Physical Society meeting in Washington, D. C., Dr. Gold proposed that studies of cosmic ray tracks in lunar minerals be used to determine the cosmic ray activity in past ages.

For almost a century, biologists have wondered if normal mutation rates (changes in the genetic "code" that determine the characteristics of an organism) are fast enough to bring about the changes in species observed in fossil remains. It is known that changes in genes can be produced by cosmic rays just as they are produced by x-rays and radio-active fallout, and some scientists have argued that large bursts of cosmic rays are responsible for the relatively rapid changes in species that have been observed.

Dr. Gold says it may be possible to test this hypothesis on the moon because the surface has remained relatively undisturbed over millions of years, and that tiny cosmic ray tracks produced in previous epochs are probably still present.

FIRE FIGHTING TECHNIQUES LAG

Air and water pollution, noise, and crowded cities show everywhere that technological expertise is a mixed blessing. A less obvious example of this mixed blessing was pointed out by Harvard University's Dr. Howard W. Emmons at a recent meeting of The American Physical Society in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Emmons says that per capita losses of property and lives by fire in the United States are worse than any other country in the world — $1,800,000,000 in property and 12,000 lives lost each year. He says the reason is that our technology has produced sources of fire, such as electrical wires and stoves, and materials for fire, including new fuels and plastics, very rapidly while the technology of fire fighting has changed very little.

Dr. Emmons notes that although there is some awareness of the problem — Congress passed a Fire Research and Safety Act last year — the problem is still not taken seriously — the $10 million budget originally recommended for the bill was cut out entirely.

Bouchier urges Rotary club into action

Tom Bouchier told Post Rotarians at their Tuesday luncheon in City Hall that when a Rotary Club ceases to maintain the objectives of Rotary it is a Rotary Club in name only.

He urged local club committees to get organized for the new club year and consider club projects.

Bouchier in a second part of his program read to Rotarians the various balances of funds of the White River Municipal Water District as of June 30, 1969.

All high school band students are urged to attend the rehearsals, the director said.

'Lope coaches expect 40 grid candidates Monday

Shoes and socks checked out for 'early running'

At the rate shoes and socks were being issued Wednesday, approximately forty candidates for this season's Post Antelope football team are expected to report Monday morning, Aug. 18, for the first day of grid drills.

Up to 10:15 a. m. Wednesday, Coach Billy Hahn and his assistants had issued football shoes and socks to 23 boys, with a number of others expected to check out the "foot equipment" before the end of the day.

Assistant Coach Waco Reynolds explained that the boys checking out shoes and socks can use them to "run in" the next few days to get their feet in shape and to "get the blisters out of the way" before regular football practice starts Monday.

Industrial tours in new brochure

AUSTIN — Texas hospitality in the form of more than 630 plant tour invitations has been extended by the state's industries through a brochure just released by the Travel and Information Division of the Texas Highway Department.

Largest industrial tour guide of any state, the 1969 publication lists 122 Texas cities with industries of interest, leads the list with 51 firms; Dallas has 47, and Austin is a surprising third with 32.

The listings include industries in smaller communities in addition to larger industrial complexes. The plants offering tours are engaged in diverse processes ranging from aerospace equipment to sportswear and cowboy boot manufacture. Included is the Post Plant of Burlington Industries at Post.

The brochure is available free upon request to the Texas Highway Department, Travel and Information Division, P. O. Box 5064, Austin 78703.

Coach Hahn, who succeeded Glynn Gregg as head coach, asks that all boys in the top three grades of high school who are coming out for football report at the field house at 7:30 a. m. Monday to check out other equipment.

"We'll be on the field at 8 o'clock for our first practice session, with two drills a day scheduled until school starts Aug. 26," Coach Hahn said.

Monday will be the first day of organized workouts for all Class A, AA and AAA schools in Texas, under University Interscholastic League rules.

After school starts Aug. 26, the Antelopes will switch from two practice sessions a day to one, Coach Hahn said. From the start of practice Monday, they have nearly a month in which to get ready for their opening game on Sept. 12 at Hale Center.

If as many as forty boys report for Monday's opening practice, as the coaches anticipate, it will be the largest number to turn out for football here in several years. Fewer than thirty reported for the start of last year's drills.

Coach Hahn said equipment will be issued freshman and junior high footballers on Aug. 26, the first day of school.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

It's the Law...

IS IGNORANCE AN EXCUSE?

It takes more than 100 volumes, each one huge, to describe what the American law is today. Viewing this mass of material, you may well quaver at the thought that every person is presumed to know the law — that ignorance of the law is no excuse.

Is that true? Are you really supposed to know everything in those books?

No — not in any absolute sense. For one thing, you cannot fairly be expected to know about laws that are totally unrelated to your own activities. A New York pedestrian, crossing Broadway, need not be aware of the jaywalking rules in Pasadena.

Furthermore, your ignorance of the law may be an excuse if you are accused of a crime that requires a specific guilty intent. Consider this case:

A landlady, noticing ink stains on the rug in a boarder's room, took possession of his radio. She planned to hold it until he paid for the damage to the rug. But he promptly retaliated by having her arrested on a charge of theft.

In court, the landlady pleaded ignorance of the law, saying she had honestly thought she had a right to take the radio. And the court decided she could not be convicted of theft, because she lacked the specific guilty intent called for in that crime.

Still, the rule that ignorance is no excuse does not apply in the vast majority of cases. Our whole system of criminal justice would fall apart if the excuse of ignorance — so easy to claim, so hard to disprove — were to be generally accepted.

For example, imagine the chaos if every motorist who had been caught speeding could escape punishment by saying:

"I did go fast. Your Honor, but I didn't realize that speeding was against the law."

True, the ignorance rule may be hard on the occasional individual who really did not know he was breaking the law. There is some harshness in punishing a person who, as one judge put it, "stumbles over an edict in the dark."

But for the sake of practical law enforcement, some unfairness cannot be avoided. Said Oliver Wendell Holmes:

"Justice to the individual is outweighed by larger interests on the other side of the scales."

Texas campground guide available

AUSTIN — Directions to some public campgrounds in Texas are provided in a new publication released today by the Texas Highway Department. The new Texas Public Campground Guide gives information about sites which range from primitive to elaborately modern. Directions are provided to undeveloped areas, and to sites with parking areas, electricity and drinking water. There are even directions to a site one can't get to by car, that is, (It's a fisherman's camping area on a Gulf coast island.)

The guide was published to serve the growing popularity of camping and recreational vehicles. It lists only those campgrounds which are operated by tax supported agencies — federal, state, county, city and such organizations as river authorities. Private commercial facilities are not included, that information usually being available in commercial tour and camping directories.

VISITORS FROM TULSA

Mrs. Dorothy Boren and seven-year-old granddaughter Suzie Johnston, both of Tulsa, Okla., arrived Sunday for a few days' visit with Mrs. Boren's brother, Charles Didway, and Mrs. Didway.

Free copies of the new Texas Public Campground Guide are available at Highway Department tourist bureaus and district offices, or by mail from the Texas Highway Department, Travel and Information Division, P. O. Box 5064, Austin 78703.

Oliver big winner at Cheyenne rodeo

DENVER, Colo. — At 39, an age when most rodeo cowboys are road founded and losing their zing for competition, Idaho's Dean Oliver is winging toward his biggest season, of 15 in the sport. The big man from Boise, six, three and 200 pounds, who already owns 10 national rodeo championships, emerged as the big money-winner at the Cheyenne, Wyo., Frontier Days Rodeo, snaring the calf roping for a total of $4,445. This was the most anyone won during six afternoons of arena action at Frontier Park. "The Wope" — so nicknamed because R's come out like W's when he speaks — thus established a rodeo record of sorts, and another for himself, since he had never hit the winner's circle at Cheyenne previously. The rodeo record is his string of victories since the July Fourth holiday. Oliver won five major rodeos, Calgary's Stampede, the Snake River Stampede, at Nampa, Ida.,

the California Rodeo, at Salinas—he never won that one before either— Pioneer Days at Ogden, Utah, and Cheyenne Frontier Days. Along the way, Oliver also picked up another $379 competing at Salt Lake City, which ran almost concurrently with Ogden, for a total of $12,918 in 25 days. That total brings his winnings with a lariat rope through July to $30,512, an all-time roping record this time of year. Last year, New Mexico's Glen Franklin won $30,252, for the full year, setting a new seasonal mark. So for Oliver, who despite the mileage on his speedometer is fit-
