

MEETING BAD LUCK HALFWAY—Benita Jean and Boyd Robert, children of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Noble, don't figure that all their luck will be bad this Friday the 13th, since only one of the cats they are holding is black. In fact, the black cat doesn't even belong . . . he's just a stray that comes around for occasional petting. The gray cat, "Vegas," is an old family standby. Benita Jean, better known as "Punkin," is five years old, and Boyd Robert, who answers more often to the name of "Be-Bop," was four years old Monday.—(Staff Photo.)

COUNCIL SETS ANNUAL CLEAN-UP DRIVE FOR MAY

Cemetery Is Transferred To City Of Post Operation

With the exception of signing of the papers—and that came the following morning—the Terrace Cemetery was transferred to the City of Post at a special meeting of the City Council last Thursday night.

Discussion of the transfer, including a report on the condition of the records, was held at the meeting by city officials and the following officers of the Terrace

Cemetery Association: R. B. Dodson, Mrs. A. C. Surman, Mrs. Irene Rodgers, Noah Stone and L. G. Thuet Jr.

Under terms of the agreement, the City of Post will maintain and operate the cemetery, which had been under the maintenance and operation of the cemetery association for more than 40 years.

Also at Thursday night's council meeting, attorney Carleton P. Webb was authorized to draw up for the council's consideration an ordinance on the regulating of sales here by peddlers.

The annual city-wide clean-up campaign was set for May, with a definite date to be announced later, and City Supt. R. H. Tate was authorized to have the bathroom painted at the city swimming pool.

The city superintendent was also authorized to purchase a carload of four and six-inch pipe after quoting the council prices he had obtained on the material.

In other action, the council authorized Fire Chief Robert Cato to take bids on hose and other materials needed by the fire department.

The vote of the April 3 city election was canvassed, after which aldermen Powell Shyties and C. R. Thaxton were sworn in for two-year terms. The other elected alderman, L. A. Presson, was out of town and will take his oath of office at a later meeting.

Three Are Seeking Tax Office Post

The new elective office of county tax assessor-collector attracted two new candidates this week, bringing to three the number in the race for the office.

Latest to announce are George N. Leggett and Percy Printz, who served one term as county sheriff and tax assessor-collector.

The first to announce for the office was Mrs. Exa Thomas, present chief deputy tax assessor-collector.

The announcement last week of Odean Cummings also brings to three the number of candidates in the race for sheriff. The other two are Carl Rains, who is seeking re-election, and Nathan Mears, a former holder of the office.

There are four candidates in the race for Precinct 1 county commissioner. They are the incumbent, B. F. (Boone) Evans, Truett Fry, L. P. Kennedy Jr. and Racy Robinson.

Ozell Williams, who has announced for re-election as Precinct 3 commissioner, has drawn no opponent to date.

Former Resident One Of Six Men Killed In Mexico Air Accident

Morris Davis of Lubbock, former Post resident, and Ray Watson of Levelland, cousin of Mrs. Clint Herring of Post, were two of six West Texas men who were killed Tuesday afternoon in a plane crash near Jalapa, Mexico.

Details of the air crash were lacking late Wednesday. Definite arrangements for transfer of the bodies were awaiting communications with those occupying a second plane of West Texans on the trip.

The six men were part of a two-plane fishing party of 11 men.

Davis, owner of the Prescription Lab in Lubbock, was a 1926 graduate of Post High School, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Davis. He moved to Lubbock soon after his graduation from pharmaceutical school. Mrs. Tom Sims, who lives north of Post, is a sister.

Watson, owner of a hardware store in Levelland, was nationally known as a big game hunter.

Shelley Camp Is Re-Elected Board Leader

S. E. (Shelley) Camp was re-elected president of the board of trustees of the Post Independent School District Monday night at the board's first meeting since Saturday's election.

Ira Farmer was elected vice-president to succeed Clint Herring and Robert Cox was named secretary to succeed Leo M. Acker.

Reorganization of the board followed a canvass of Saturday's vote, and the swearing in of new board members Bill Edwards and Victor Hudman for three-year terms. Outgoing board members are Acker and Paul Jones.

The board unanimously adopted a resolution expressing its thanks to Acker and Jones for their outstanding service as members of the board.

Holdover board members are Camp, Farmer, Cox, Herring and J. L. Ballentine.

A resume of this year's school program to date and plans for the future were given by Glenn Whittenberg, high school principal. The board also heard a reading of the quarterly financial report.

A called meeting of the board has been set for Monday night, according to Supt. R. K. Green.

'Mother Of The Year' Is To Be Selected In Theater Contest

As a feature of Mother's Day, May 13, the Tower Theater will award a $100 fur stole to Garza County's outstanding mother, in cooperation with The Post Dispatch and a number of Post merchants.

John N. Hopkins, theater manager, said the outstanding mother will be selected by vote and the fur stole awarded the winner in a Mother's Day program.

Anyone may nominate a mother for the honor, Hopkins said. The official nomination blank appears on page 8 of this issue of The Dispatch. Entries may be made until midnight Thursday, April 19.

The nomination blank will appear again in next week's paper, but readers are urged to mail their nominations as soon as possible. It isn't necessary to write a letter telling why you are making your nomination—just mail the blank.

After all nominations are in, Hopkins said, a committee will select the 10 or 15 mothers who will compete for the honor. Voting is scheduled to begin April 23 at the stores of cooperating merchants and continue through Saturday, May 12.

Incumbents Lose Saturday In Trustee Balloting; 256 Vote

A whirlwind write-in campaign in Saturday's election elected Bill Edwards to the board of trustees of the Post Independent School District, along with Victor Hudman, whose name was on the ballot.

A total of 256 votes was cast, with Hudman's 180 leading the ticket. Edwards' write-in votes totaled 112. Incumbents Leo M. Acker and Paul Jones received 102 and 99 votes, respectively, and seven write-in votes went to Mrs. Giles C. McCrary.

Edwards, a resident of Post for the past six years, is associated with his father-in-law, T. R. Greenfield, at Greenfield Hardware Co.

Elections were also held Saturday for three members of the Garza County Board of Education

BILL EDWARDS Wins On Write-Ins

Reddell Resigns; Going To Idalou

Olin Reddell, head track coach and assistant football coach here since September of 1954, has announced his resignation, effective at the end of the current school term.

Reddell, who also coached freshman and sophomore basketball, has accepted the position of head coach at Idalou High School, where he replaces Lloyd Hunt, who recently resigned.

In addition to his coaching duties here, Reddell has taught civics and mathematics. He directed the junior baseball program last summer for the Post Junior Chamber of Commerce, of which he is a member.

Reddell came to Post from O. Donnell. He is a graduate of Plainview High School and McMurry College, where he lettered at a line position on the varsity football team. He was in the Navy for two years following his graduation from high school in 1944.

Mail Questionnaires Still At Slow Pace

Postmaster Harold Voss said Wednesday that the city mail delivery questionnaires distributed March 18 will be accepted until the postal inspector arrives to pick them up.

"I don't know when he'll be here, but I hope we have the required number of questionnaires back in the office when he does arrive," the postmaster said.

Less than half of the 1,000 questionnaires distributed have been returned, Voss said. They are for the purpose of determining if patrons want city mail delivery providing requirements can be met.

$10,500 Dividends Go To Stockholders

Approximately $10,500 in dividends was distributed to stockholders of the Hackberry Cooperative Gin Tuesday evening at their annual meeting, held in the school gymnasium at Southland.

E. D. Cummings was re-elected to the board of directors, and talks were made by Otho Key, assistant manager of the Plains Co-op Oil Mill in Lubbock, and John Gregg, representing the National Cotton Council.

Approximately 300 persons attended the meeting and were served a barbecue meal. Those attending from Post included Irby G. Metcalf Jr. and Bill Humphrey, president and vice president of the First National Bank.

Besides Cummings, the board of directors is composed of Weldon McGehee, president; Aubrey McNeely, vice president; R. W. Saunders, secretary, and Harley Martin.

Leonard Anderson is the gin manager.

Neck Is Broken In Highway Accident

Miss Bera Wilson of the Close City community suffered a broken neck last Thursday in an automobile accident while en route to Noodle to attend funeral services for the Rev. W. K. Horn, retired Baptist minister.

Miss Wilson's brother, Berchard Wilson, also of the Close City community, and Mrs. E. E. Cass of Post were less seriously injured in the wreck, which occurred four miles out of Roby.

The accident occurred when Wilson pulled to the side of the road to avert a head-on collision with a truck which had started to pass another truck. As Wilson slammed on his brakes, an automobile behind him crashed into the rear

Resuscitator Fund Is Continuing To Lag

Although approximately $100 was donated to the Post Volunteer Fire Department's new resuscitator fund while the equipment was on display Saturday at the Medical & Professional Building, only about half the goal has been met, according to Fire Chief Robert Cato.

"We still need about $250 before we'll have enough money to purchase the resuscitator," Cato said Wednesday.

The equipment is on display this week at Tom Power's Ford place, and there is a container along with it for those wishing to make contributions toward its purchase.

Boy Scouts Tell Rotarians About District Camporee

The Post Rotary Club presented Boy Scout Troop 16 its new charter at Tuesday's club luncheon and then heard five members of the troop describe the Comanche Trails District Camporee to be held Friday and Saturday at C. W. Post Memorial Scout Camp here.

The charter presentation was made by Bill Edwards, institutional representative for the Scout troop.

It was announced at the luncheon that in an effort to bring about a closer relationship between the club and the troop it sponsors, the Boy Scouts will present a program every three months during the year.

Four members of the troop, introduced by a fifth member, Bryan J. Williams III, talked on Scouting skills in which the troop will compete at this weekend's Camporee.

Butch Wilson described fire building and water boiling and fire building with flint and steel. Tommy Young, judging distance and compass reading; Victor Hudman Jr., signaling by Morse code, tent pitching, and nature study, and Gary Welch, knot-tying and swimming.

Raymond Luper, Boy Scout executive from Lubbock, will direct the Camporee, which is to begin at 8 p. m. Friday and continue through Saturday morning.

Troops competing the greatest number of points will represent the district next month in the South Plains County Camporall at Mackenzie State Park in Lubbock.

For the last four years, Troop 16 has won the high point award and the high proficiency award in the district camporee.

Other troops competing will be from Southland, Slaton, Wilson, Ralls, Crosbyton, Idalou and Jayton.

WILMER SMITH OF LYNN COUNTY TO BE SPEAKER

PCG Meeting To Be April 27

Wilmer Smith of Lynn County, an official of the Plains Cotton Growers organization, will speak at a meeting of Garza County cotton farmers and businessmen at 8 o'clock Friday night, April 27, in the district courtroom, Irby G. Metcalf Jr. has announced.

Metcalf, who is a Garza County director on the PCG, said Smith will make a report on his recent visit in Washington, D. C., with other PCG representatives.

All cotton farmers and businessmen are urged to attend the April 27 meeting, Metcalf said. At the two previous county meetings, there have been a large number of cotton farmers, but very few businessmen, he said.

Metcalf and L. G. Thuet Jr., the county's other director on the PCG, were in Lubbock Friday afternoon for the April meeting of the organization's directors.

W. O. Fortenberry, president, told the approximately 35 directors that the charter for Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., had been received. Directors then passed by-laws for the organization and heard special reports of members who were sent to Washington, D. C., and Memphis on group business.

The directors voted to investigate possibilities of the PCG becoming a member of the National Cotton Producers, an organization of farmers and cotton men from nine southern states.

M. A. (Rip) Elms Jr., secretary-treasurer, made a financial report to directors and the group discussed the hiring of a permanent secretary or executive director.

In other PCG business, directors voted to repay county directors who had forwarded funds earlier to get the PCG in operation.

Directors also went on record to notify the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, which is handling the South Plains and West Texas cotton allotment suits against the state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, that if additional funds are needed to finance these suits, the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., is interested in backing the suits and will support the fight financially.

Numbers Contestants Named At Junior High

Post Junior High School's numbers sense entrants for Friday's district Interscholastic League meet at Floydada were named Wednesday by Jimmy Pollard, member of the junior high faculty.

Charles Tubbs and Linda Wilks, both 8th grade students, won the right to represent the school in elimination contests. Runners-up were Shirley Heintz and Kathy Weatherby.

MEET THE TEACHERS

Teacher Says Capitalize On Pupil's Interests

"Capitalize on the pupil's interests and you'll help him get along better in school," says Mrs. Glenn Whittenberg, third grade teacher and wife of the high school principal.

"A few of the pupils," she said, "seem to have no interests, but most of them have so many they'll bring them to you from day to day."

Mrs. Whittenberg said she had observed in ten years of teaching third graders that the youngsters' interests are very important to them and that when they are shared by the teacher it makes for better classroom relations all the way around.

"Nowadays," she said, "just teaching the three 'R's' is not enough. In fact, it never was—it just took school administrators and teachers a long time to find it out."

Mrs. Whittenberg says she enjoys teaching third grade pupils because they are old enough to really enjoy school and are at an age where their emotional stability is on a higher plane than it was during their first and second years of school.

It is also a grade in which many amusing incidents occur. She remembers a boy in one of her reading groups who had never learned to listen, and she was making special efforts to improve his faculties along that line.

One day she told him she was going to lay her book aside and read from his and that she wanted him to show with his finger that he was keeping up with her reading. She said that as she read, he moved his finger from word to word and from line to line to keep up with the place. Suddenly, she said, the period bell rang, and without looking up from the book or losing his place, the youngster mocked the bell, "Ding-a-ling-ling," and went right on with his reading.

WE DON'T REMEMBER, for sure, from which direction they said the wind was blowing at sunrise on March 21, but we can almost swear it wasn't raining, if that's any help.

TOMORROW IS FRIDAY the 13th, another "Black Cat Day," and if you are one of the leasure class who can get by with it, you might do well to stay in bed all day. The rest of us will just have to get up at the usual time and take our chances.

THAT HIT TUNE, "Poor People of Paris," has been bothering us ever since our youngest son asked us if the song referred to the poor people of Paris, France, or the poor people of Paris, Texas. While we don't think he needed the information for any of his school work, it bothered us because we couldn't give him a quick answer.

SINCE THE TUNE has no words, it's a little hard to figure out just which Paris they do mean. It's more than likely Paris, France, but then besides Paris, Texas, there's also a Paris, Ark., a Paris, Ill., and no telling how many others, and, more than likely, there are poor people in all those places.

THEN, TOO, IF the composer of the tune had Paris, France, in mind, he might have been calling them "poor people" just because they lived in such a place instead of somewhere else, in which case he wouldn't have meant "poverty-stricken" people at all.

NOT BEING ANY too musically inclined, we can't make much sense out of pieces that don't have words to go along with them, even when the melody is as pretty as that of "Poor People of Paris." When the melodies have words to go with them, like "Heartbreak Hotel," some of it gets through to us, except when Elvis Presley sings them.

A GOOD SET of Ten Commandments for teenagers appeared in a recent church bulletin. They are:

1. Don't let your parents down. They brought you up.
2. Stop and think before you drink.
3. Be smart—obey; you'll give orders some day.
4. Ditch dirty thoughts fast or they will ditch you.
5. Show-off driving is juvenile. Don't act your age.
6. Pick the right friends to be picked for a good friend.
7. Choose a date fit for a mate.
8. Don't go steady unless you are ready.
9. Love God and neighbor.
10. Live carefully. The soul you save may be yours.

CONGRATULATIONS to the Post High School golf team and girls' volleyball team for winning district championships over the weekend in competition at Floydada. Now if the tennis teams, literary and speech contestants and track and field teams can do as well this weekend, we'll have cut quite a swath in this year's competition.

Roger W. Babson Writes This Week:

Automation Is Necessary If We Are To Continue To Raise Standard Of Living

BABSON PARK, Mass.—We see much in the news today regarding "Automation," which is the scientific name for automatic factories. I want all investors to know how I feel regarding such developments.

Changes Will Come Slowly

The automatic factory is coming, but will come slowly, for several reasons: (1) It awaits more consolidations. (2) It requires large capital expenditure. (3) It applies only to standard goods which can be used in great quantities, and cannot now be used for a product which has various styles and sizes. The oil industry uses automation successfully; but the baking, candy, textile, and many other industries could also do so if they could raise the capital and secure the volume necessary for a profitable change-over.

Investors should realize that it is foolish to invest in obsolete concerns. Many corporations listed on the N. Y. Stock Exchange are now earning good money, but have obsolete plants. They could not stand up, in competition, with this new automatic development. The sooner these stocks are sold, the better. Please, however, do not write me for the names of these companies. Your investment advisor or local bank should be able to give you this information. I believe that investors have much more to fear from automation than has labor.

Reasons For Automation

Automation is absolutely necessary if we are to continue to raise the American standard of living. It is also necessary for our national security. A recent article in LIFE magazine, March 5, 1956, shows how the Russians are educating their youth for automation. Most important of all, the automatic factory is in the best interest of all groups—customers, suppliers, share owners, the public, and employees. Although labor leaders have not openly opposed automation, they are using it in an appeal for shorter hours and higher wages. Temporarily, when a factory changes over to automatic operation, it will throw some people out of employment, but the most intelligent workers will still be needed to watch the machines and keep them in order. In other words, the automatic factory will upgrade labor and encourage efficiency and quality.

IT WORKS BOTH WAYS . . .

At the two meetings of the Plains Cotton Growers held here in February and March, only a handful of businessmen showed up at each gathering, which isn't very encouraging from any standpoint.

The two Garza County directors on the area Plains Cotton Growers organization say that the businessmen of Post have indicated an interest in and a willingness to help the PCG, but that they have not manifested that feeling by attending the meetings.

Business concerns which buy from or sell to farmers certainly should be interested enough in their welfare to get solidly behind such an organization as the PCG. It is going to require the combined efforts of both farmers and businessmen to carry out the objectives of the program.

On the other hand, agricultural leaders and individual farmers should seek out every opportunity to boost the PCG to non-farm people. Newspaper publicity isn't all that is required to assure representative turn-outs at these important meetings.

Another meeting has been scheduled for April 27. Agricultural leaders and farmers should take advantage of the time between now and then to urge their business acquaintances to attend.

The farmer doesn't want Government hand-outs. He is not looking for charity, or pity. All he wants is an equal opportunity in a free America to share fairly in the prosperity he has helped create. For several years the farmer has not been getting an even break. The Plains Cotton Growers is one of many organizations springing up to try to help him with his problems.

Businessmen, too, have had and are having their problems. Their welfare depends on that of the farmer, just as the business outlook is reflected in the agricultural picture. Anything that helps either group would be a good thing for each to support.

school and junior high school entering most of the contests for the first time in a number of years. Administrators and faculty members, especially those who coached the contestants, are to be commended for doing something that should have been done every year.

CONGRATULATIONS ALSO to Ray Gary, Post's crack half-miler, who set a new record in the 880-yard run at Hale Center's invitational track meet Saturday. Ray competed in the state meet last year and it looks like he'll make it again this year, since he's posting better times than he was a year ago.

THE PLAINS COTTON Growers organization is encouraging communities to observe National Cotton Week, May 14-19. Post held an observance last year, which included downtown window displays and open house at the Postex Cotton Mill. As yet, there's been no official word from the Chamber of Commerce as to whether or not an observance is being planned, but let's hope there is.

EDUCATION HAS produced a vast population able to read, but unable to distinguish what is worth reading.

Getting Out On The Limb

By EDDIE the editor

SUDDEN THOUGHT: Most of us wouldn't mind lending our ears if people didn't keep them so long.

If you are looking for a helping hand, you will find none better than the one at the end of your arm.

A FRIEND OF mine who is pretty well "up" on most anything you can think of dropped by the office the other day and the conversation drifted around to politics on the local level. I said something about "so-and-so" running for office, and my friend said that years and years ago people didn't use the expression "running for office," but always said that a man would "stand" for office after he had announced his candidacy.

"Even today," he said, "the Britons still say 'stand' for office. They never use the term 'run' when speaking of a man seeking a political office."

To the ceremonious Briton, "continued my well-informed friend, "the imagery of running for office seems somewhat undignified. But in this, as in other nations, they may observe, Americans seem to be always in a hurry."

"In Britain there is time to 'stand' for the office, although even the most poised British politician knows that he may find it well, as did Mohammed, eventually, to make some move toward the mountain. And when he does move, the chief difference between the British and the American politician turns out to be merely the accent, not the stance or the gait."

"For instance, to quote British headlines of a few weeks ago, President Eisenhower will 'stand' for re-election. Being already in office, Mr. Eisenhower would, in a less extraordinary country, only have to stand to stay there. Britons well understand that in America he must run to do so."

Some people have grown under responsibility; others have merely swelled.

THE WOMEN, GOD LOVE 'EM: A sensible girl is one who is more sensible than she looks, because a sensible girl has more sense than to look sensible.

I DON'T KNOW how active Post's Civil Defense organization is, having heard nothing about it since several months ago when calls were going out for volunteer ground observers, whose jobs were to scan the skies for strange aircraft.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Political Folly

In fact, it wouldn't have entered my mind if I hadn't read in one of our exchanges that the Civil Defense organization in a town downstate is asking people who have storm cellars to write their name and address on a postal card and mail it to the city secretary.

The Civil Defense organization in this particular town needs the information in connection with its storm and disaster relief program.

One of the CD officials said the locations of cellars will be marked on a map of the city. In case of storm or other disaster, relief workers could check the map and learn immediately where to go to look for people that might be trapped in underground shelters.

It looks to me as if that would be a good plan for the CD to carry out here, or in any other town or city where such an organization is active. There's nothing like being prepared!

ONE OF OUR readers submits the following item, copied and re-copied from paper to paper so many times that the original author is now unknown:

"If you cannot refrain from drinking, start a saloon in your own home. Be the only customer and you will not have to buy a license. Give your wife $12 to buy a gallon of whiskey. There are 128 drinks to the gallon. Buy all your drinks from your wife at 40 cents a drink and in four days the gallon will be gone. She will have $32.20 to put in the bank and $12 to buy more whiskey. Keep this up for 10 years and you will be dead. Your wife will have $32,750.40 in the bank to bury you and bring up your children respectfully, buy a new home, marry a decent man and forget she ever knew you."

IF POST SUCCEEDS in getting city mail delivery service, the postmen are hereby warned to keep an eye peeled for cats as well as dogs.

In compiling reports on the number of carriers bitten by dogs, Dallas Post Office officials found that a cat had claimed A. L. Burson as a victim in March.

Otherwise, the statistics ran about normal. A total of 132 carriers were bitten during 1955 but just a few required medical attention and missed any working time. June was the top "bite" month with 20.

"Can We Afford NOT To Build Dam On White River?" Asks Crosbyton Editor

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article by Editor W. H. Curry of The Crosbyton Review is being reprinted here because of its general interest to residents of the Post area.)

We were disappointed last week with the announcement from Spur that Robert Lewis, Spur banker, had resigned from the Tri-City White River Lake committee. Mr. Lewis told the Spur City Council that he did not feel he could represent Spur on the project since he personally was not in favor of it. We sincerely hope that his feelings in this matter are personal or caused by business reasons, and do not reflect the thinking of Spur citizens.

This does give us an opportunity, however, to point out several thoughts that have occurred to us. White River is the only feasible drainage area available to the towns concerned in pushing the present project. Down river on the Brazos, of which White River is a tributary, towns and cities are clamoring for water. As more and more cities secure permits to use water from the Brazos, there will come a time in the very near future when all the water will have been allocated. Then there won't be any left for us even should we decide to build a dam. It wouldn't make any difference if all our wells went dry—if all the water from the Brazos and its tributaries has been allocated, we just couldn't get any of it. This may be our first and only chance to claim the water in White River which is rightfully ours.

Can we afford it? The question should be—can we afford NOT to build the dam? Weather men tell us we are in the midst of the worst drought in 600 years. Every year the water table goes down, and every year more and more irrigation wells are tapping the very lifeblood of Crosbyton and other towns in this area. Understand, we are all for these irrigation wells, but geologists believe there is a limit—that the time will come when the water just isn't there. What will happen to Crosbyton, Spur, Post, Ralls and other towns of this area then, if we haven't insured a water supply for ourselves? This is not just a bad dream—it is reality. And that reality can't be too many years in the future. Would the proposed dam supply the water needed? Engineers tell us that even during this worst drought in 600 years, there has been a sufficient flood period each year to refill the proposed reservoir. Regardless of the cost (and it will not be prohibitive), we don't want to learn the hard way that water is without any price when you are without it.

New 4-H Bulletin Is Available Here At Agent's Office

A story briefly told and well illustrated on how one youth organization, the 4-H clubs of Texas, is striving to improve its services to rural youth is available from the offices of the Garza County extension agents or from the Agricultural Information Office at College Station.

The new bulletin is titled "Youth Leads the Way in 4-H Club Work".

The attractive publication printed in the 4-H colors of green and white emphasizes that youth through clearer thinking, greater loyalty, larger service and better living are leading the way to greater achievements in their farming and home making demonstrations and activities.

Prospective 4-H members, boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 21, as well as their parents can get from the publication a clear understanding of how the 4-H organization functions and the responsibilities of the members, leaders, parents, extension agents and friends of 4-H.

The authors, the state 4-H leaders, point out that activity, achievement and adventure await youth enrolled in 4-H Club work. They suggest a visit with a local county extension agent for full details on what it means to be a member of the 4-H Club.

Cancer Killed 3,126 Texans In 1955 Because Treatment Began Too Late

AUSTIN (Spl.)—Cancer, the second leading cause of death, took the lives of 9,379 Texans last year. This means that a little over one person out of every 1,000 of our population died from this disease during that period.

According to Dr. Henry A. Holle, Commissioner of Health, one-third of these deaths could have been prevented by earlier detection and prompt treatment. On this basis 3,126 Texans needlessly died of cancer in 1955, because proper treatment was begun too late.

There are some encouraging aspects in the fight against cancer. Deaths from that disease among women in the United States have declined more than ten per cent in the past ten years.

Many thousands could be saved if men and women would have a complete physical examination once a year. Women over 35 should have a mid-year check-up for signs of uterine and breast cancer and men should secure an X-ray for signs of lung cancer.

Dr. Holle says that at least 50 per cent of all cancers are accessible to examination by a physician through sight or touch.

Of all Americans who die of cancer today the deaths of one-third could be avoided if proper treatment were begun before the cancers spread. The profession of surgery is proof of this, as the latest figures show that cancer deaths among surgeons are only 66 per cent of the general rate. Evidently surgeons not only have the proper knowledge of the facts about cancer, but act promptly on the basis of that knowledge.

Today cancer is being attacked by research within nearly every branch of science. Also, studies are being made of large numbers of people to discover if living conditions are in any way responsible for cancer.

Editorial Comment...

Like a Balking Team

Floyd County's two cities too many times work like a balking team. When one pulls the other holds back and vice versa. So it seems is the case with the highway improvement program for this county. In the first two votes on bond issues to pay for right-of-way for the highway program, Lockney held back because among other reasons they weren't satisfied with the highway department's route through town. The plans called for practically bypassing the town and leaving present businesses completely off the new route. It appeared to most of us that such drastic measures weren't necessary.—"Minute Editorials" in The Lockney Beacon.

Being Mad Helps

"I haven't a single idea for a column this week. I ain't mad at nobody." This I just told Mrs. Craig.

Maybe you think not being mad isn't of any consequence. Well, it is. It is much easier to write when you feel definitely about something. Nothing is harder to grind out than one of those paragraphs about a special week that someone has asked you to plug. Things that have to be written are always harder to write.

Just get worked up about something and your fingers can't find the typewriter keys fast enough to get thoughts on paper.—"Sights, Sounds and Signs" in The Stamford American.

Pete Pituitary says his son found out how hard it is to drive a bargain after he bought that used car.—"Nearly News" in The Lamb County Leader.

Big Mess Right Quick

Well, the governor's race got into a big mess right quick. I never saw so many candidates. Still, many people are finding it hard to choose "the man" in the race. O'Daniel, Yarborough and White are going to split the liberal vote into many pieces. Price Daniel, the conservative, is also being hampered by the fact that he has not resigned from his U. S. Senate post. Many, many people feel that Mr. Daniel is taking unfair advantage in holding a cinch in office—even if he loses. Folks seem to think that he should resign and take his chances on an equal footing.—"Hereford Bull" in The Hereford Brand.

GOING HOME

You've heard of heredity and environment. You know that the latter usually exercises the stronger influence upon the development of a child.

Then you are face to face with the dilemma of the Church.

The Church can give to every child who comes within its influence the heritage of the Christian faith. It can teach him the truth about God; it can show him the Christian way of life.

But what happens when a child goes home? Will the lesson "stay learned?" Or will it be destroyed by language, attitude and example contrary to all the Church has taught?

It isn't enough to send your child to church school. Become a church-going family! Let Christian truth mold the life of your home and it will mold the life of your child.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Area Farmers Can Get Details Now About 1956 Smith-Doxey Program

Cotton farmers can get the details now about the U. S. Department of Agriculture's 1956 Smith-Doxey program.

This was announced today by Leil O. Buchanan, who is in charge of the Agricultural Marketing Service's Lubbock cotton classing office.

"Farmers will follow about the same procedures as in past years in signing up for this program," Buchanan said.

Under the Smith-Doxey program, farmers get their cotton classed without cost. Also, they receive by mail a weekly cotton market news bulletin prepared especially for their locality.

Buchanan pointed out that farmers must take these steps in order to be eligible for Smith-Doxey services: organize a group to promote the improvement of cotton; adopt a variety of cotton that grows well on local soil, file an application with AMS before Aug. 1, 1956; arrange for sampling and meet certain other requirements as to membership in the group.

AUSTIN (Spl.)—A wonderland of engineering and science marvels will be shown at the University of Texas' annual Exposition and Power Show May 3-5.

The theme of this year's extravaganza will be "Automation Through Engineering." Visitors will see baffling stunts and educational displays of latest technological progress, including models of launching sites for space rockets.

Other displays will include clouds seeded to produce rain, an artificial tornado which whirls across a miniature countryside, and an automatic cigarette lighter which actually lights and puffs a cigarette and offers it to the bystander.

Power Show visitors may match wits with an electronic tic-tac-toe wizard, lift a heavy weight merely by moving their hands near a motor, and see hundreds of other entertaining and enlightening wonders of science.

The exhibits will be displayed Friday, May 4, from 6 to 10 p. m. at various University buildings. Guide service and maps will be available to visitors unfamiliar with the campus.

Honor guests at the show will be hundreds of high school students, their parents, teachers and friends who will be in Austin May 3-5 for the annual University Interscholastic League State Meet.

The event also will provide opportunities for career counseling.

Rancher Agrees With SCS Men That Proper Grazing Is Best

Bryan J. Williams Sr., whose ranch covers five sections in western Garza and eastern Lynn counties, says he'll go along with Soil Conservation Service technicians on their idea that proper grazing is the first and most important requirement for a range-conservation program.

As an example, Williams points to a native pasture of buffalo and blue grama grass which received only one soaking rain last year, but on which the grass is still in good condition with close to 3,000 pounds per acre of forage still on the ground. On this pasture of less than 600 acres, he carried 20 head of his registered Hereford herd throughout the winter, without other feed. The cattle look as good as the grass.

He has followed the same practice of not overstocking the range in other pastures where his herd of more than 200 cattle graze.

"I feel," said Williams, "that the most important kind of conservation practice on ranges in this county is the adjustment of grazing to bring about a proper balance between the amount of vegetation consumed by livestock, and that left to protect the soil. I try to maintain a proper distribution of grazing animals so that localized areas are not overgrazed, while other sections of the same pasture are undergrazed."

Guy W. Nutt, work unit conservationist of the Post Work Unit of the Duck Creek Soil Conservation District, is one of the technicians who has assisted Williams on his range deferment and proper use program. He says that a range-conservation program should utilize all types of conservation measures adapted to the range involved.

"The use of only a part of the desirable conservation measures," he said, "will usually fall far short of the goal, and in some instances may be worthless or even harmful. It is also highly essential that the various conservation practices and treatments applied to any given tract of range land be so correlated that each practice used will supplement the other conservation methods in use."

Williams' ranch comprised nine sections when he purchased it more than 40 years ago, but he has since sold four sections.

He purchased the land from owners who lived in Virginia, and recalls that there were so many heirs he had to acquire it a section or two at a time.

Williams started his registered herd in Borden County shortly after the turn of the century. He had purchased his foundation herd from Guggell and Simpson, who were the first to bring Herefords to this country from England. Considered the nation's top Hereford breeders, one of their herd bulls was Prince Domino, who still holds the highest merit of any bull in the United States, according to Williams.

Williams drove his herd of 1,000 cattle, including 300 registered Herefords, through Post in 1907 en route to Crosby County, where he had leased grassland for five cents an acre. After a year and a half in Crosby County, he sold all his cattle except the registered animals and moved to Garza County, where he leased 75 sections of grassland for 15 cents an acre from C. W. Post, the town's founder.

After giving up his lease on the grassland and acquiring the nine sections for his ranch, Williams went into the real estate business for the C. W. Post Estate.

At that time, he recalls, Post had an agricultural experiment station at Ragtown (now Close City), and determined from extensive tests that land on the caprock and in the breaks east of Post was best suited for feed and cotton.

"We sold the land up on the plains for $18 an acre, and that in the breaks for less than half that amount," Williams said.

He and his son, Bryan J. are still in the real estate business in Post. The elder Williams lives in town and his son lives with his wife and their two sons, Bryan J. III and Lee, in the ranch house, which is in the Garnolia community, west of Post.

"We built that house for Bryan and his wife, Minnie Will, right after they married while attending Texas Tech," the elder Williams said.

The pioneer rancher says that droughts have been frequent and severe during the more than 40 years that he has ranched and sold land in Garza County. But on only one occasion, in 1953, has he moved any of the cattle off his ranch for grazing. That year he took most of his herd to South Dakota.

"I almost had to in 1913, right after I started operations here," he recalls. "The drought that year was one of the worst we've ever had, and I made up my mind to move my cattle to grazing land near Amarillo. But while I was in Post making travel arrangements, it came a 'gully-washer' out on the ranch and I decided to hold off."

Williams' ranch foreman is Arthur Nelson, who has been with him more than 20 years.

The pioneer rancher says he likes the cattle business. "You don't have to hoe out weeds," he said as he drove through a pasture where sleek Herefords grazed on surprisingly good grass.

"Just give them grass and you'll make money while you sleep," he said.

Slight Pay Shows Tended In County

Jack Markham et al of Lubbock have uncovered slight pay indications and salt water on drillstem test of the Strawn at their projected 9,000-foot test in southwest Garza County, the No. 2 J. B. Slaughter Estate.

At Floydada Friday, the Post team had a much harder time in its first round game, downing the host team, 15-13 and 15-9 after losing the first game, 13-15.

Abernathy advanced to the finals by defeating Spur, 15-1 and 15-0.

Spur won the junior high division by defeating Abernathy in the finals, 15-11 and 15-3. In the semi-finals, Abernathy had defeated Slaton, 15-6 and 15-4. Abernathy won over Floydada in the first round, 15-8, 14-16 and 15-11, and Spur took the measure of the Post junior high team, 15-7 and 15-11.

Investigation was conducted from 8,360-84 feet after top of the Strawn had been picked at 8,335 feet, minus datum of 5,445 feet. Recovery, with tool open one and three-quarters hours, was 190 feet of oil and gas-cut mud and 1,290 feet of salt water.

Flowing pressure was 658 pounds and 15-minute shut-in gauge showed 3,220 pounds. Top of Strawn was found 16 feet low to reference well, General Crude's No. 1 Slaughter.

Drill site is 330 feet from southwest and 2,310 feet from northwest lines of Section 1, Block 30, T-5-N, TW&NG Survey, seven miles southwest of Post.

New Guide Available At Agent's Office On Landscape Plantings

COLLEGE STATION, (Spl.)—As an aid to those making or planning landscape plantings, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service has released a new publication titled, "A Selected List of Woody Plants for Texas." The number is MP-139 and it is available from the offices of local county extension agents or the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

The author, A. F. DeWorth, head, Department of Floriculture and Landscape Architecture of the Texas A. M. College System, says an arbitrary classification of woody plants in definite size groups has been made to broaden the appreciation of the need and use of plant materials and to restrict the number of plants selected.

Many of our woody plants, he continues, are so nearly alike in texture, color of foliage and in the form of growth, that one could be substituted for another without changing to any extent the landscape composition. This being true, more attention should be focused on growth habits, soil and environmental requirements and freedom from injurious insects and diseases. Their ability to withstand drought and possible crowding and to hold their lower branches also has been considered.

The author uses a zone map of Texas to show plant hardiness and adaptability. He also offers additional suggestions for making the guide more useful.

National Cotton Week Observance Nears

Summertime is Cotton Time, and National Cotton Week focuses the spotlight on the new 1956 crop of summer fashions.

Cotton Week, which will be celebrated throughout the country May 14 to 19 for the 26th straight year, also pays annual tribute to the king of fibers. Cotton accounts for 68 per cent of all textiles made in America.

Production And Processing Moving Into The Jet Age

W. C. WHITE, Director of Agriculture, said production and processing into the jet age, in short time, nuclear energy may be used to produce new versatility and textile properties. It is just one of many experiments now planned by federal cotton research and create new uses which will put a new "King Cotton" on a finished crown. Plans were laid for cotton research and marketing meeting in Washington last month. The committee, composed of leading agriculturists from over the nation, set a course of action that includes all phases of cotton handling, including production, utilization and marketing.

Rated high on the list were experiments on irrigation of cotton grown in humid areas, improved weed control, better processing methods for cottonseed oil and meal and other work to reduce costs of cotton production. Any savings effected will give a needed shot in the arm to this white crop, notorious for its expensive growing and harvesting methods.

The Gulf Coast area of Texas will be the site of research to study irrigation in humid areas for more prolific production. At the same time, mechanical and chemical weed control studies will be conducted to determine best methods for various localities.

The pink bollworm, Texas' most serious cotton pest, is on the list for advanced research, as well as cotton breeding to improve fiber quality and increase growing efficiency.

New uses for cotton must be developed also. Development is planned on cotton-filled plastic laminates for industrial uses, and stretchable cotton yarns for socks and other knit wear.

These are but a few of the plans outlined by the committee. Cottonseed and related by-products are due their full share of attention. Progress reports on research data will be made available to the industry as they become available.

A. No. But you do have the right to choose one of two methods of payment: (1) lump sum, or (2) equal monthly installments ranging in number from 36 to 240, in multiples of 12.

Q. Is there any time limit for applying for disability compensation?

A. There is no time limit. A veteran may apply at any time during his life. YOUTHS CARRY OUT 'DO-IT-YOURSELF' IDEAS

Improved Living Is Goal Of Three National 4-H Club Programs In '56

Comfortable homes, modern conveniences, safe communities, and recreation for all, are the goals of 4-H Club members throughout the country participating in the National 4-H Home Improvement, Electric, Safety and Recreation Programs.

Boys and girls carry out "do-it-yourself" ideas by improving their homes, learning new and improved uses for electricity, practicing safety at all times, and taking the lead in recreation activities.

Incentives valued at $100,000 are provided through the National 4-H Award Programs in the four areas to encourage members to do more and better work. Home Improvement awards are given by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation; Electric honors by the Westinghouse Educational Foundation; Safety incentives by General Motors; and Recreation awards by the United States Rubber Company.

In each of the programs, four-gold-filled medals are offered for county winners. State honors consist of expense-paid trips to the Chicago. At the Congress, national awards of $300 college scholarships will be presented to six winners each in Electric and Recreation, and eight champions in Home Improvement and Safety.

Local clubs in each county reporting outstanding Recreation and Safety programs will be presented certificates of honor. Certificates are also provided for the ten clubs reporting State, and $20.00 cash awards are given to State blue award winner clubs in Recreation.

Leader training funds are made available in the Recreation Program. Each year, over 20,000 adult and junior leaders receive training made possible with these funds.

All of the programs are conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service, and the award programs arranged by the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work. Complete information is available at county Extension offices.

Family's Home Is Destroyed By Flood; Red Cross Helps Them Build New One

For families who will be caught in one of nature's catastrophes this year, as they were in the eastern floods, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Lanigan from their Red Cross financed home three miles northeast of Decatur, Ill., earnestly hope that the Red Cross annual campaign this year reaches its goal.

The Lanigans, with their four children, William, 12; Pamela and Patrick, 10-year-old twins; and Dennis, 7, were left with little hope after flood waters destroyed their home and all their belongings in East Grandby, Conn., early last fall.

They came to the Red Cross disaster office for help. The caseworker and advisory committee found that Lanigan did not have savings with which to make a down payment and his salary would permit him to pay $65 to $70 a month on a new home.

Lanigan, meanwhile, decided to move to Decatur, Ill., to a new job managing the Vendaway Corp., cafeteria at the Caterpillar Tractor Co. plant. Lanigan selected his new home there and the Red Cross supplied the down payment, which permitted him to pay the balance in monthly installments.

"I don't think I could have been a home owner again without Red Cross help," Lanigan said. He listed other assistance received from the Red Cross as follows:

$895 to pay off the mortgage on his Connecticut home.

$1,200 for furnishing his new Decatur home.

$400 for school clothing for the children and the family's winter clothing.

Before the flood disaster hit in the eastern states, Lanigan had known little about the Red Cross.

"Like a lot of other people I was skeptical about how much assistance the organization really provides.

"Now I'm convinced it is a wonderful organization and I want everyone to know how I feel."

When Lanigan tells his story to other persons here in the Midwest he is often asked when he must pay back the money he has received from the Red Cross.

"I have a hard time convincing them that I don't have to pay it back," he said. "The Red Cross doesn't do business that way. It's free—an outright gift of the American people."

The Lanigans are determined "to repay the Red Cross in some small way" by helping the local chapter whenever possible. Mrs. Lanigan already is serving as a volunteer worker.

They are both vitally concerned for the outcome of the present Red Cross campaign, knowing that after record disaster expenditures this fiscal year, the Red Cross now has less than $1,000,000 to meet the heaviest disaster months ahead.

In the six months between July and December, the Red Cross gave aid to stricken families and small businessmen at an average rate of $150,000 a day. By the start of the new year more than $27 million had been committed in 78 disaster operations.

Since the only resources of the Red Cross are funds put up by people appreciative of its work, the present matter boils down to this: The American people must dig deeper in their pockets, if the Red Cross is to stay on the job.

The Lanigans have been through the greatest of these disasters the Red Cross has met and they need no imagination to realize what would happen if another national emergency should come along, with the Red Cross off the job.

Many Automobiles To Pass State Check

There still are a large number of Garza County automobiles and trucks which have not been inspected, Department of Public Safety officials said this week.

The deadline is Sunday. Persons who fail to have their vehicles inspected by the deadline will be liable to a fine up to $200.

There are six inspection stations in Garza County—five in Post and one at Southland.

A LOSS IN FURS

BROADVIEW, Mont.—Rancher Herman Knobbel burned 21 skunk pelts before he learned they were worth $2.50 each on the fur market. Knobbel did not complain, however. He shot the skunks after he found them under his barn but they did not return the fire.

Other things being equal, large fence posts last longer than small ones.

Move Is Under Way To Boost Cotton's Uses, Reduce Cost

COLLEGE STATION, (Sp.)—Investigations of new chemical treatments, improved finishing materials and the possibility of modifying cotton fibers by means of nuclear-energy radiations to give cotton new versatility and improved textile properties, have been urged by USDA's Cotton Research Advisory Committee.

The committee, established under the Research and Marketing Act of 1946, is composed of 15 members representing every phase of the cotton industry. Texans on the committee and attending the recently held annual meeting include Roy B. Davis of Lubbock; Burris C. Jackson, Hillsboro and Aubrey L. Lockett of Vernon.

The group also asked for research on the irrigation of cotton grown in humid areas, improved weed control... both mechanical and chemical, better processing methods for cottonseed oil and meal, and other work to aid utilization and marketing of cotton and cottonseed and to reduce the cost of production.

Further work on methods for controlling the pink bollworm and an expanded program of basic and applied research in cotton breeding to improve fiber quality and increase production efficiency were also suggested.

Fiber research urged included determination of the economic need for improved bale wrappings; development of more practical and economical methods and equipment for automatic sampling of cotton bales and revival of Government statistical services. On seed, the committee asked for a consumer survey dealing with margarine; determination of effects of present chemical sources of food nitrogen on markets for proteins from agricultural sources and a study of the impact of price-support programs on cottonseed and soybean industries.

Extension Range Specialists estimate that Texas ranchmen added almost $3 million to their income last year from changes made in management plans as a result of range improvement demonstrations.

Mexican Nationals At Work In Area

Garza is one of nine South Plains counties in which 500 Mexican Nationals are working on spring planting chores, including plowing and pre-irrigation, the Texas Employment Commission reports.

The Mexican Nationals have been brought to the area to ease a mild labor shortage, according to B. T. O'Connell of Lubbock, TEC manager.

Other counties in which the Nationals are at work are Lubbock, Morton, Hockley, Crosby, Dickens, King, Stonewall and Kent.

Some of the farmers are doing more of their own work this year and this has eased the labor demand. TEC officials expect the labor demand picture to become more acute as planting season gets under way and more irrigation is needed after planting.

O'Connell asked that any farmer needing laborers contact Texas Employment Commission of-

Shop work was added to the curriculum this year, and plans are to offer Shop II (machine woodwork) and mechanical drawing for the 1956-57 school year. Whittenberg said.

Health Department Radiation Experts Brief Public On Atomic Age 'Fall Out'

AUSTIN (Sp.)—Ever heard the expression "fall out" in connection with this atomic age? Ever wondered what it's all about?

State Health Department radiation experts say fall out is nothing more than particles of matter in the air, made radioactive by nuclear or thermonuclear explosions. When an atomic or hydrogen bomb is exploded close to the ground, thousands of tons of atomized earth, building materials, rocks and gases are sucked upward—like soda being sucked through a straw. Sometimes they reach a height of 80,000 feet—15 miles or more—helping to form the awesome cloud always seen after one of these explosions.

Larger radioactive particles spill out over the immediate area of the explosion soon after it occurs, but others—the lighter particles—may be wafted about by the upper breezes for hundreds of miles.

Sooner or later they settle to earth. This is fall out.

Many people think radioactivity is something new, a product of modern life like the Bikini bathing suit. That isn't true. Radiation experts say the whole world is radioactive, but normal amounts are not dangerous. It is only when radioactivity is present in highly concentrated amounts that it becomes dangerous.

Radioactivity is sometimes highly concentrated in fall out, say the experts. It can settle anywhere. You can't see, hear, taste, smell or feel it. Yet, if you're exposed to it long enough it can be lethal.

Fortunately, though, there are various mechanical devices available which are capable of detecting incredibly small amounts of radioactivity. Some are so sensitive a tiny bit of luminous paint on the face of a wrist watch will cause the indicator needle to jump clear off scale.

Teaching the proper use of these instruments to people in cities and towns and industries throughout the state is now a major function of the State Health Department's industrial hygiene section. The reason: so they'll be ready in case of industrial accidents. Or in case of "fall out."

Serious radioactivity contamination may extend 220 miles downwind from the point of a bomb explosion, and vary in width up to 40 miles. That's an area as large as from Fort Worth almost to San Marcos, taking in everything to 20 miles on either side of the line—Waco, Temple, Taylor, Lampasas . . .

Living in a small, non-target town is no longer insurance against the distress of bomb blast radioactivity. So what do we do about fall out?

The Federal Civil Defense Administration says being inside an ordinary house will cut radiation danger in half. An underground shelter will give almost complete protection.

GARZA COUNTY SHERIFF SAYS

Parents Have Responsibility In Teaching Children Traffic Safety

"Parents, teach your children how to stay safe in traffic!"

That was the advice of Sheriff Carl Rains to parents who are concerned about the heavy child pedestrian death toll. The sheriff made the suggestion this week as he discussed parents' responsibility in the current child pedestrian safety program which is being conducted by the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council.

"Parents probably have the prime responsibility for their children's safety in traffic because they have the care of the youngsters in their most formative years," Rains said. "Long before a child reaches school age he has been out in traffic with his parents, and the kind of safety training they have given him will greatly affect his traffic attitudes."

In discussing a child's early training, the sheriff said that example is of great importance. A child is likely to do what he sees his parents do even if it conflicts with what the parents teach. "Parents who cross streets only at intersections, wait for the signal light and look both ways and for turning traffic teach a lasting safety lesson," he said.

The officer also stressed the necessity for full cooperation between parents, schools and traffic officials in teaching safe traffic habits to children of school age. He advised parents to find out what the school is teaching the children and then to see that the instruction in the home supplements the school training.

"Be careful of your children when they're at play, too," the sheriff said. "See that they play only in approved play areas—not in the street—and teach them to use roller skates, tricycles, bicycles, scooters and other outdoor toys safely. Above all, impress them with the fact that safety rules must be given the same respect and obedience as other rules of conduct learned at home and in the school."

Mill Makes Giant Production strides In Few Years' Time

months we spent in Red River County, I'm a lifelong West Texan," Anderson said. He recalls that a fierce dust storm was blowing when they arrived in Post in February of 1913 and that he immediately became homesick for the comparatively mild East Texas climate they had just left.

"I've weathered lots of sandstorms since that first one more than forty years ago, and it seems to me that each season's series of dusts is worse than the preceding one."

Anderson's father served as an early-day county judge and county attorney and practiced law here. Both the town and county were less than seven years old when the family moved to Post, and construction was just getting underway at the cotton mill.

Post was a beehive of activity when they moved here 43 years ago, Anderson recalls. C. W. Post's Double U Company was selling land and prospective buyers were flocking in on special trains over the new railroad.

"Most of them were here today and gone tomorrow, but their coming and going certainly kept things humming for a while," Anderson said.

"All that was back in the early days of the automotive industry, but it was surprising the number of cars you could count on the streets of Post. I remember that the Hupmobile seemed to be one of the most popular automobiles; in fact, it was the leading make among ranchmen of the Post vicinity."

"They also made an automobile along about then that they called the 'Texan,' but it bore little resemblance to the present-day 'Texan' put out by the Dodge people."

"Road conditions were such that it was an all-day job to get to Lubbock and back."

Anderson recalled the varied enterprises of C. W. Post, the town's founder.

"I'll always remember his experimental orchard just east of town. There were all sorts of fruit trees, and it was one of the favorite spots of the town's youngsters. We spent lots of time there sampling the fruit, but it's doubtful that our findings contributed much to the experiments they were carrying on."

Bedwell Funeral Held At Lubbock

Last rites for Percy Albert Bedwell, former Post resident, were held in the Trinity Baptist Church of Lubbock at 4 p. m. Saturday. He was a brother-in-law of Herman Messer of Justiceburg.

The Rev. Roy Shahan officiated for the service, assisted by Trinity pastor, the Rev. Melvin R. Theal. Rix Funeral Home was in charge of burial.

Mr. Bedwell was born Nov. 14, 1890, in Boswell, Mo. He died about noon Friday following a long illness.

A former longtime employee of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., he was employed by Kidwell Construction Co. of Lubbock at the time of his death. He had been a Lubbock resident for about 11 years.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Dora Bedwell of Lubbock; a sister, Mrs. Mary Leopold, and two nieces, Mrs. Mell Littrell and Mrs. Bernice Crispin of Missouri.

work at the cotton mill has been in a supervisory capacity. Most of his time has been spent in the plant's finishing department, but after 29 years he is familiar with all phases of sheet and pillow case manufacture.

Like other employees, Anderson is proud of the mill's safety record, and says it's something they try to improve on every day of the year. There has been a very low rate of lost work hours due to accidents.

He describes the depression years of the early 1930s as the mill's most difficult period.

"The usual pattern of operation during those years," he said, "was to work two weeks and shut down one, all depending on the demand for our products."

The Andersons have a son, Gaylord, who is a 1953 graduate of Post High School and attended Texas Technological College for two years.
