

City dump ground becomes sanitary land fill; trash buried, not burned

"Sanitary Land Fill" is the new and more glamorous name of the city dump grounds now that a project is under way there to bury trash instead of burn it.

The long-range City of Post project to completely change the trash disposal method at the dump grounds and at the same time change the unsightly appearance of the area is being done to conform with State Health Department requirements, according to City Manager Eddie Warren.

"They told us to stop burning the trash and start burying it," Warren said.

At this stage of the project, with the first of the pits already dug and some of them filled and covered over, the city's main concern is the public's attitude toward driving into the pits to dump their trash when they haul it out there themselves.

"It is perfectly safe for them to drive into the pits," the city manager said. "The city's 9,000-pound truck drives in and out of the pits without any trouble and sometimes with a load weighing as much as 6,000 pounds."

Warren said the grade into the pits does not slope more than 25 per cent and that gravel is used on rough spots.

"It's easy to back in and drive out of the pits," he said.

One of the new trash disposal pits had been filled and covered and another was being dug when a Dispatch reporter - photographer visited the project with the city manager last week.

The pits are about eight feet in depth and, when filled with trash, are covered with the dirt excavated in digging them. The procedure is to dig one pit, skip one, dig another, then go back in between the two pits to dig a third one.

"We can go back in about three years, open up a pit and use it again," Warren said, explaining that the trash dumped into a pit and covered will decompose and deteriorate in that length of time.

He said each trash pit is being mapped and numbered, showing the date it was "closed up."

There are still "mountains" of trash at the dump grounds, but it is being buried as each new pit is dug and when the project is completed the dump grounds will be perfectly flat, Warren explained.

New fences are also being built at the dump grounds, including one that separates the area from the pit where the city gets its gravel for street work.

The City of Post owns the 31 acres on which the dump grounds are located, but only about 15 acres are now in use for trash disposal, according to the city manager.

He said the sanitary land fills are being required by the State Health Department in order to halt the burning of trash and thereby cut down on air pollution.

"Don't forget to point out that it's safe for trash haulers to drive into the pits," the city manager said as he and the reporter drove away from the dump grounds. "And don't forget," he added, "to refer to it in the future as a sanitary land fill, not as a dump ground."

EASY TO DRIVE IN AND OUT

One of the city sanitation trucks shows how easy it is to back into the garbage disposal pits to dump trash. Residents hauling trash to the dump ground are asked to drive into the pits and not dump their trash around the edges.

TOMMY YOUNG

Post Jaycee is elected to state director office

Tommy Young, president of the Post Jaycees, was elected a state director at the Area I winter meeting of the Texas Jaycees held Saturday and Sunday in Dumas.

Young was elected by proxy, since he did not attend the meeting because of an impending "blessed event" in his family.

Some of those attending the meeting said to their knowledge it was the first time a state director had been elected by proxy in this area.

Young will be installed in the office at the state Jaycee convention in San Antonio next May. He will succeed Joe Bailey, also of Post.

Four other state directors and two vice presidents from throughout the South Plains area were elected at the Dumas meeting. Levelland was chosen as the site of the next such meeting.

Dan Rankin of Post finished as runner-up in the first-timer's contest, of which Jerry Thuet, also of Post, was chairman. Frank Blanton was runner-up and Ken Callaway finished sixth in a field of 46 in the spark plug contest, with Don Ammons serving on the judging committee. Callaway was Young's campaign chairman.

Those attending from Post were Mr. and Mrs. Dan Rankin, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blanton, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Callaway, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Thuet, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Don Ammons, and Johnny Kemp.

New home soon for Garza Auto

The first downtown business construction for 1969 is the remodeling and expansion of the garage building at 110 West Main into a new home for Garza Auto Parts.

James Mitchell, who operated the parts firm, purchased the garage property from Ralph Kirkpatrick last year and last week got the construction project under way with Elbert (Lefty) Davies in charge.

The 30 by 60 foot garage building will be expanded an additional 30 feet to the rear, a new glass and aluminum front installed and a new floor laid.

Mitchell hopes to have the building ready in about a month. He says it will have some additional floor space over the present building occupied by Garza Auto Parts across the street.

In 1968 expenditures

County tax funds used by hospital

Garza County's 15-cent tax designated for hospital use — $24,800 worth — was spent in 1968 although Garza Memorial Hospital came within $70 of actually collecting enough money from patients to pay all but $70 of its operational costs during the 12 months period.

No focus - pocus was involved either.

So that Dispatch readers won't get the wrong impression of hospital financing — or a "we're out of the woods" attitude — hospital authorities emphasized that the county doesn't have any $24,800 of tax money now in a built-up reserve.

If the hospital needed only $70 of the tax money for its operational expenditures what happened to the other $24,730, Dispatch readers ask.

The answer is that:

$7,800 of it went to make the 1968 payment on the hospital time warrants ($35,000 was spent three years ago for remodeling and some new equipment).

$9,000 more in round figures, went to pay for the hospital's operation in December, 1967.

$3,000 went to the county treasurer's office for handling the hospital account and paying hospital accounts at a rate two and one-half per cent handling charge rate, the same charge made to all other county officers for similar work.

$4,300 still remains in the hospital sinking fund to apply on the 1969 time warrants payment. (Only two more of these are due — 1969 and 1970).

Going back to that $9,000 for December, 1967, readers will recall the hospital was closed in the fall of 1967 because it wasn't paying its own way and the county had no funds it could use to pay hospital bills.

The hospital was reopened Dec. 1, 1967, and Kenneth Sledge took over his duties as hospital administrator here in mid-December. There was little hospital use and a heavy expense load in getting the hospital reopened again.

So far, this year none of the county's 15-cent tax has been transferred to the hospital operating fund.

Starting hospital trustees in the fall as reported last week, however, is a stable investment in new better equipment. The present boiler is leaking and wheezing and (See Tax Funds, page 8)

Chamber banquet expected to draw 300 here Feb. 6

Approximately 300 members and guests are expected to attend the annual membership banquet of the Post Chamber of Commerce at 7 p. m. Thursday, Feb. 6, in the elementary school gymnasium.

Tickets to the banquet have been on sale by members the last three weeks and also at the Chamber office.

Lee D. Herring, Grand Prairie banker, will be the keynote speaker at the banquet, which has a theme of "Progress Through Unity."

The banquet program will also include various awards, installation of Jim Jackson as 1969 president, and introduction of new, hold-over and outgoing directors.

The Rev. O. Curtis Lee, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will be master of ceremonies. Invocation will be by the Rev. George L. Miller, First Presbyterian pastor, with Vernon Scott, a past-president of the Chamber, to give the welcome.

Dinner music will be provided by Georgie M. Willson, Post High School choral director.

1969 auto license tags to be 'reflectORIZED'

The new 1969 Texas auto tags, which will go on sale Monday at the county tax assessor-collector's office, will have a "reflectORIZED finish" for better visibility at night.

Tipton said the tags will be black lettering on a white background this year.

He also requested an increase in price in the license plates for the new year.

March of Dimes total over $900

Garza County's 1969 March of Dimes was "marching on" this week with approximately $927 raised from a benefit dance, the Mothers March, and contributions reported from the rural areas of the county.

Margie Pennell, treasurer of the Garza County chapter of the National Foundation, reported that Saturday night's benefit dance raised $107, and Monday evening's annual Mothers March brought in approximately $300. Contributions from the rural areas totaled some $300.

"My sincere appreciation to all those who have helped make the March of Dimes so successful in Post and Garza County," the treasurer said.

"Special thanks go to Flyte Ltd. for playing at the benefit dance, to which 127 teen-agers came and gave their $1 toward the fight on birth defects.

"Also to Mrs. Martha Compton, (See Dimes March, page 8)

We can only hope that this week's installment of the hospital's financial story doesn't confuse our readers.

Last week we reported the hospital had come within $70 of paying its own way in 1968.

These facts were correct. Hospital Administrator Kenneth Sledge has assured us.

The confusion comes because the county also spent $24,800 worth of county tax money for the hospital during the same 12 months period.

But the tax money went for other things we discovered Monday morning when a member of the county commissioners' court, two hospital trustees, and county trails met with Hospital Administrator Sledge in his office to talk finances.

With a hospital district election due to come up sometime this spring, nobody wants any wrong impressions in the public's mind about hospital financing.

The administrator and the hospital trustees scored a remarkable achievement with the hospital's financial record for 1968 from virtually a standing start. But, as Sledge pointed out Monday, part of the record was written by "scrimping" on everything, which isn't possible to continue year after year.

The Dispatch is happy to announce it has extended its news coverage back over the Close City area. Mrs. Barrie Jones in our new Close City correspondent and readers will find her first Close City community news report on page 3 of today's Dispatch.

Tahoka host at firemen supper

Members of the Post Volunteer Fire Department, along with firemen from Slaton and O'Donnell, were honored at a steak supper in Tahoka last Friday in appreciation of the help given by the neighboring fire departments in fighting an industrial blaze at Tahoka on Dec. 22.

The informal get-together was sponsored by the Tahoka Volunteer Fire Department and the City of Tahoka.

Gene Moore, a member of the Post fire department, entertained the group with impromptu piano playing.

Attending from Post were Fire Chief Loyd Mock, Neal Clary, Jimmie Redman, Pat Sullivan, Darrell Eckols, Gene Moore, D. E. Morris, Lester Josey and Larry Waldrip.

Funeral services held Tuesday for pioneer resident

Funeral services for Bob Warren, pioneer Post businessman and civic leader, were held at 10 a. m. Tuesday at the First Methodist Church.

Mr. Warren, a retired pharmacist, died Sunday morning in Garza Memorial Hospital following a short illness. He was 88.

Mr. Warren opened a drug store here in 1912 after moving to Post from Snyder, where he had been in the drug business with his brother, Will Warren.

For some forty years, Mr. Warren owned and operated the drug store here — in three different locations during that time — until selling out in the early 1950's. After that, he was employed as a pharmacist here until his retirement a few years ago.

He was a charter member of the Post Masonic Lodge and of the Post Rotary Club, and had served on the city council and the school board. Mr. Warren was selected as "Man of the Year" at the 1962 membership banquet of the Post Chamber of Commerce.

1968 report made

Industrial efforts focused on plant

Directors of the Post Industrial Foundation reported by letter to the foundation membership this week that the foundation concentrated its efforts in 1968 to helping Jim and Bo Jackson with their proposed new meat processing and locker plant.

The report said the Jackson brothers now are in the process of completing their formal application for a Small Business Administration loan to help with the financing of the plant.

The foundation will participate in the small business loan for the meat plant if it receives SBA approval.

Members also were given a financial statement which showed operating expenses of $2,215.56 for 1968 and deposits of $7,739.07 as of Dec. 31.

The report urged members behind in their foundation pledges to pay up by Feb. 15 so necessary funds will be available for the planned loan participation.

Directors asked foundation members for any suggestions they have for the continuing search for new industry for Post. Director's reported that "we are continually searching for an additional industry for Post."

Washington sale set for Feb. 22

Plans have been completed by the Retail Promotions Committee of the Post Chamber of Commerce for Post's sixth annual George Washington Birthday Sale Saturday, Feb. 22.

The committee, headed by Frank Blanton, met last Thursday afternoon to make the sale arrangements. Letters will go out soon to local merchants advising them of the plans.

The Washington Birthday Sale is a national promotional tradition in which stores the nation over chop their prices just like George hacked down his father's cherry tree.

Tribute to a 'Man of the Year'

Bob Warren, retired pharmacist and Post's "Man of the Year" in 1962, passed away Sunday morning at the age of 88.

"Mister Bob," as he was known to his multitude of friends and acquaintances, was the type of person who conceivably could have received the "Man of the Year" award every year.

Mister Bob was one of Post's pioneer businessmen, having owned and operated his own drug store here in the town's earlier years, then working for others as a pharmacist until his retirement a few years ago. He received the Texas Pharmaceutical Association's 50-year award not long before his retirement in the early 1960's.

He was a charter member of the Post Masonic Lodge, from which he received a 50-year membership pin a few years ago, and of the Post Rotary Club. He had served his community on the school board and city council and as a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

Bob Collier, himself a pharmacist, presented the "Man of the Year" award to Mister Bob at the Chamber of Commerce banquet in February of 1962 with this comment: "Possibly no other man has contributed more working hours to serving his community."

Mister Bob's acceptance speech when he received the award was a brief one. He said: "I don't know if I deserve this or not, but I have done my best."—CD

Texas Library System is proposed

The Post Library trustees at their January meeting last week by resolution unanimously endorsed a proposed bill which is going to the 1969 Legislature for "the establishment, operation and financing of a state library system."

Texas is woefully weak in providing its citizens with good library service.

For example Texas spends $5,700 to educate each citizen for 12 years in its public schools, but then spends only $62 during the next 50 years to provide him with the public library materials to fully utilize and extend this education.

Texas city and county governments spend an average of only $1.24 per capita annually on public library service. By comparison California spends $3.80 and Massachusetts $4.81. Here in Garza County, the cost for operating the Post Public Library with entirely volunteer help is but 33 cents per head from public funds.

One million Texans, 10 per cent of the state's population, have no public library service or none worthy of the name. Until two and one-half years ago, Garza counties all fell within this category.

Texas public libraries have only 35 books per capita. In other words there is not one library book in Texas per Texan. And it would take 1,656,065 additional books to increase resources to the bare minimum of one volume per capita.

The Texas Library Association is sponsoring the bill for a Texas library system with state grants to aid in its establishment and development. Purpose of the bill is to encourage the educational, economic and cultural growth of the state by raising the level of library service in Texas and making adequate library service equally available to every citizen.

Without sacrificing their local autonomy, city or county libraries would link themselves together by contract to form a system whereby improved library service can be offered at a reduced total cost to all participating libraries.

Library systems are the most economical and efficient means of improving library service because by sharing library materials and personnel, they stretch library resources as far as they will go; by providing good library service at quantity price, they stretch the tax dollar as far as it will go.

The Post Public Library would become a part of the state system just as it already is a member of the recently established major resource center library system set up by federal library aid.

When the local library needs reference material it cannot afford, it simply requests the material from its major resource center and within a few days it is mailed to Post from various parts of the state. When the local library patron is through with the material it is returned to the sources from which it came at no cost to the local library.

The new bill also would provide "state aid" to public libraries to help improve library service beyond local means.

It all adds up to a major step forward in library service to Texans — something sorely needed too. The Dispatch urges the support of its readers for this bill to establish a Texas library system.—JC

Texas Water Plan looks ahead

Something big that the average Texan hasn't given much thought to is the Texas Water Development Board's sweeping plan to provide Texas with water for the next 50 years. He will soon start hearing more about it, though, for the water board is going to recommend to the Legislature, now in session, that the State adopt a plan for financing the State's share of the costs of the Texas Water Plan.

And just what is the Texas Water Plan? As described by Howard B. Boswell, executive director of the water board, it is "a flexible guide for the development, conservation, management and use of the State's water resources to the year 2020 and beyond," and calls for the transportation of surplus water from the lower Mississippi River into Texas to augment the State's water resources.

"There is simply not enough water within the borders of Texas to provide the water our growing cities, our expanding industry, and our thriving irrigated agriculture will need beyond the end of this century," Boswell said. The State will pass from water surplus to water shortage by the 1990-2000 decade, he added.

The Texas Water Plan provides for 67 proposed or potential dams and reservoirs, having a total storage capacity of 32,133,969 million acre-feet of water, transmission canals and pipelines, pumping stations and power facilities for the movement of 16 million to 17 million acre-feet of interstate and interstate water annually to water-deficient areas in Texas and New Mexico to serve municipal, industrial, agricultural, and other beneficial requirements. The estimated cost of the plan, in today's dollars, is $10 billion.

The water board's executive director said that Texas would need to import 12 million to 13 million acre-feet of water annually "if we are to prevent economic loss to the State of major geographic areas where water supplies are being depleted and where sources are limited."

The Water Development Board, in its search for water for import into Texas, investigated the possibilities of securing water from the Columbia and Missouri rivers are not now considered as Alaska, and the Mississippi River. The Columbia and Missouri rivers are not now considered as possible sources of surplus water. The most likely and earliest source appears to be surplus water from the lower Mississippi.

The key to the Texas Water Plan is the Texas Water System, a complex of dams and reservoirs, pipelines and canals, pumping stations and power facilities necessary to manage an imported water supply and the water resources of Texas basins with an interim or long-range surplus to meet intrabasin needs and to make surplus waters available for movement to areas of deficiency in Texas.

Three divisions—Trans-Texas, Coastal, and Eastern—are set up for the system.

The division that would serve Garza County and other South Plains areas would be the Trans-Texas division.

Movement of water through the Trans-Texas Canal would begin in the upper Sulphur River Basin in East Texas and end at terminal storage reservoirs at the Caprock Reservoir and the Bull Lake complex near Lubbock. Water would be lifted approximately 2,700 feet through the canal from Cooper Reservoir in the Sulphur River Basin to Caprock Reservoir, a distance of almost 500 miles.

Distribution systems will be needed in North Central Texas, the South High Plains, and the Trans-Pecos for irrigation water. The canal conveying water from a point near Lubbock to the Trans-Pecos will be a main artery of the system on the High Plains.

The Texas Water Plan, if carried out, would be a joint local, State and Federal partnership undertaking.

The timetable points to authorization of design and construction of the interstate system beginning by 1971. The Texas Water Board says these schedules must be met if the first delivery of water to areas of need is to be met not later than 1981.—CD

GUEST EDITORIAL

Leave it up to the counties

Texas taxpayers are spending $2.8 million a year to support county school superintendent offices in 245 of the state's 254 counties. Nine counties have abolished the office altogether after receiving approval of the State Legislature.

Most experts contend that the offices are an anachronism left over from the state's rural past. In 1910 there were 3,053 districts subject to the jurisdiction of the county superintendent. Last year there were only 282. The Texas Education Agency has reported that only 130 counties actually go to the trouble of electing a county superintendent. The county judge serves as ex-officio superintendent in 104 counties.

A question basic to the issue, however, is whether the Legislature should take the responsibility of abolishing the office on a statewide basis or leave the matter to local residents. The latter position is more reasonable.

Many counties would like to abolish the office, but the lengthy process of securing special legislation for each county discourages the effort. The Legislature should consider allowing any county to vote on abolition of the office in an election called by the Commissioners Court.

Texas has shown a willingness to modernize local government when given the opportunity. The Legislature should provide that opportunity.—The Dallas Morning News

TODAY IS NEXT to the last day of January, with February due in Saturday. We got our 29-day February last year, so don't make any February plans that will take more than 28 days.

February is a great month. Not only is it Frozen Potato Month, but it begins with National Pay Your Bills Week, Feb. 15 is Susan B. Anthony day, and Feb. 18 is Sprengidagur, or Bursting day, in Iceland, with feasting on salted mutton and thick pea soup. Feb. 20-March 1 is National Kraut and Frankfurter Week, and Feb. 28, of course, is Bachelor's Day.

LESS EXCITING events in February include Groundhog Day on Feb. 2, St. Valentine's Day on Feb. 14, and Lincoln and Washington's birthdays.

Our cat Blackie, as illustrated here, is looking forward to Sunday's big event.

THE MAN UP the street says anyone who can swallow a pill at a drinking fountain deserves to get well.

Billye Stockton, editor of the Crosbyton Review, wrote last week that things were getting a little hectic around there when Sandi Willingham typed a classified ad for an "automatic zug-zagger." The error was pointed out and Sandi corrected it to "zip-zapper."

WE HERE at The Dispatch belong to the same club when it comes to typing up classified ads. But what else can be expected when one is faced with such words as zig-zagger, Chihuahua, Pekingese, hegar, etc?*

Another word that "throws" many newspaper workers, but more often in the society columns than in the classified ads, is "sequin," which the office dictionary describes as "a small spangle used to ornament a dress." Well, nearly every bride has sequins somewhere on her wedding gown, and sometimes in a wedding write-up, the word comes out "sequin" instead of "sequin" — either through the fault of the writer, the typewriter or the proofreader, or, perhaps, all three.

WHAT BROUGHT ALL this up was an item in a recent issue of the Seguin (Tex.) Gazette, which we receive on exchange here at The Dispatch office. One of the Gazette's columnists wrote as follows:

How's this for a switch? Our town has been mis-labeled "Seguin" — with a "q" instead of a "g" — since its naming in the mid-1800s.

Well, the New York Times in a Jan. 10 story evened up the score a little when they had "sequin feathers" adorning the leggy landmarks of Manhattan's nightlife. . . . those landmarks being the dancing girls of the famed Copacabana nightclub.

A newspaper clipping service mailed us a copy of the story headlined "Copa Girls Deliver Last Kicks." One item of the story said:

"The Copa girls, in fact, wore lots of feathers and sequins and were never nude."

Another said:

"At a typical performance, the girls stalk, wiggle or slither on stage, flashing blinding smiles into the middle distance, resplendent in tight, pink, sequined covered gowns, feathered headdresses and rhinestone earrings."

The clipping service asked us merely: "Why Seguin?"

Our answer, after re-reading the story, would be, "So they could keep from catching cold."

Back home, Arnold Sanderson, upon receiving the "Outstanding Conservation Rancher" award from the Garza Soil Conservation District Board at a meeting in the Ralph Welch home, gave his listeners something to think about when he commented: "We are not going to find fertile land on the moon. It is up to us to conserve what we have here on the earth. That is something for our city cousins to think about."

A NEWSPAPER filler says that about 35 gallons of water are used by the average person taking a tub bath and that a shower consumes only 25 gallons. That, however, isn't the answer John Bockey of Louisville, Ky., not when, preparing for an out-of-town trip, he called ahead to a hotel in a small eastern Kentucky community.

"Do you want a room with a tub or shower?" the clerk asked.

"What's the difference?" asked Bockey, meaning the price per day.

"Well," came the patient reply, "with a tub you sit down."

Study course under way at Close City church

By MRS. BARNIE JONES
 Tuesday of last week at the Close City HD Club meeting the women of our community decided we would like to be represented in our local newspaper once again so I thought (with your help) I would try to report our activities. We have a real nice community here made up of good people like other communities but others do not know much about us or what we are doing. If all of you are interested in your neighbors and friends I hope you will enjoy my column and will help me represent you in the news. Please phone me or hand me your news by Monday morning so I can get it to the paper on time.

Twenty-five were present at Friendship Baptist Church Sunday morning. The church started a study course Sunday night at the Training Union hour. Studies of Isaiah is for the adults with the Rev. T. Nixon teaching. The juniors and intermediates are studying "Promises to Keep" with Mrs. Douglas Tipton as teacher. The primaries have Mrs. Robert Craig teaching them about the life of Joseph.

The Lucky Clover 4-H Club met at the home of its sponsor, Mrs. Clarence Gunn, last Thursday evening and studied about milk in the diet. They made chocolate pudding and then ate it for refreshments along with milk and tea. Those present were Amy Cowdrey, Jodine Tipton, Sandra Bostick and Darlene Gunn.

Wednesday afternoon of last week Odie Kemp, Bill Shelton, Juanita Hyles and Evelyn Jones visited E. Z. Jones in the Crosby-Nursing Home. Mr. Jones is doing real good since he returned from the hospital in Lubbock.

Miss Ruby Mason of Plainview visited Mrs. Eula B. Smith and children from Thursday night until Sunday. Mrs. A. T. Nixon went to Robert Lee to visit with two of her sisters Saturday. She had a wonderful time she reports.

Jerald Berry of Hurst was a breakfast guest in the Barnie Jones home last Thursday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Craig and Patricia visited Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gunn and children Friday night. Al Craig spent the night in Post with Mike Waldrip and Joe visited Randy Mason; Bob stayed with Kelvin Thomas of the Pleasant Valley community.

BOBBY TERRY was honored with a birthday dinner Sunday in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Terry. Those enjoying the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Mack Terry, Cindy and Jana, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Perrin of Post, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Terry of Tahoka, and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Terry and Mark and Brent.

Sunday dinner guests in the A. T. Nixon home were their son and daughter - in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Nixon, and children from Crosbyton. Stanley was speaker at the Trinity Baptist Church at the morning worship. The church was observing Baptist Men's Day.

Mrs. Joe McCowen visited in McCowen families last week. She Lubbock with the A. V. and Eddie also visited Dutch Wright in the Highland Hospital.

Jeff Williams spent Friday night with Danny Gunn.

The Clarence Gunns visited the Tom Autrys at Wilson Saturday night.

Mrs. Patsy McCowen and Mrs. Jane Terry were busy about their job of collecting for the March of Dimes Sunday afternoon. We wish them lots of luck as this is really a good thing.

Mrs. Jane Terry and Cindy were in Tahoka Tuesday afternoon as Cindy had a date with the dentist.

ABOUT 40 were present Thursday night at the Friendship Baptist Church for the Spanish-speaking worship service. The mission pastor, the Rev. Jose Rodriguez, of the Wilson Baptist Church is in charge of the services which consist of Bible teaching, singing and preaching. All Spanish-speaking people are invited to attend each Thursday night at 7:30.

Mrs. Thelma Thomas was hostess for a cosmetic party at the community center Monday afternoon. Mrs. Eldon Roberts of Lubbock was demonstrator.

Little Mark Blankenship visited his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. White, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Peel and Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Gene Peel and children went to Lubbock Sunday afternoon to the open house for Channel 28 - Lubbock's new television station.

The Close City HD Club will meet Tuesday, Feb. 4, at 2 p. m. in the Community center. Mrs. Loucille Morris of the Graham HD Club will give a program on citizenship, telling what she learned at the state meeting she attended. Everyone is invited to attend.

Cecil and Marvel Lee of Pleasant Valley and Douglas and Helen Livingston visited Lonnie and Lolita Peel Saturday night.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Tipton were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Elliot of Kerrville, Mr. and

CHILDREN'S CORNER BY THOMPSON

CARD SHARP

No matter how you cut them, cards are a big deal. Not only were they used as money in China, but they have been prominently used in Hindu, Jewish, and Christian religious rites.

They've also been important companions to kings, and wandering gypsies. Legend claims the French courtiers invented the 52-card deck to calm and amuse the mad King Charles VI, while the elegantly drawn French tarot cards were used to mystically foretell the course of a man's life, or predict the fate of a nation.

These cards, though - hand painted and elaborately drawn - were too costly for general use, and it wasn't until wood engraving became commonplace that even the middle class could pick up a pack.

The famous French Sun King Louis XIV, however, learned playing cards was also hard work. For his tutor dealt his geography lessons on playing cards - until the wily king realized the cards could be used just as easily for solitaire.

The somber Puritans, a bit more heavy-handed in their attitude toward cards, disapproved of their use, and actually prohibited them when they settled here, though today nearly 87 percent of all Americans keep a pack in their home for a leisurely evening of bridge or gin.

Simpler card games, like "Old Maid" or "Go Fish" are common among children, and now, a new card game "Recall" by Milton Bradley joins the pack - but with a new twist.

Four cards are placed on a revolving turntable, and as it spins players try to duplicate its pattern before the finishing bell gongs.

"Recall" is a challenging way for children to test their memories, and often they'll beat their parents, in this fast-paced game where there's no bluffing or bluffing, and the excitement is wild.

Here's one game where the eye is quicker than the hand.

General Telephone sets record budget for '69

SAN ANGELO — In announcing a record breaking budget for General Telephone Company of the Southwest during 1969, L. Gray Beck, president, predicted steady growth in the company's operating territory and forecast a gain of more than 42,400 telephones during the year.

The budget for construction and expansion of facilities exceeds $47 million and will provide for current and anticipated communications needs for approximately 500,000 General Telephone customers in 435 exchanges in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

Mrs. Lewis Williams and Cissy of Girard, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Williams and Janet of Lubbock, Mrs. W. H. Childs, Janet and Nedra, and D'Wayne Gannon.

Duke and Dennis Altman were Sunday dinner guests in the D. H. Bartlett home Sunday. They were visiting Jimmie Bartlett who is home between semesters from Texas Tech.

Barnie and Ivan Jones visited their father, E. Z. Jones, in Crosbyton Sunday afternoon.

Burlington sales and earnings up in first quarter

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Burlington Industries, Inc., today reported consolidated net sales of $438,178,000 for its first fiscal 1969 quarter, an increase of 12 per cent over sales of $319,770,000 for the period last year.

Net earnings for the quarter, which ended Dec. 28, 1968, were $20,785,000, or 80 cents per share on 25,980,000 shares outstanding at Dec. 28. For the comparable quarter last year, earnings were $20,032,000 or 79 cents per share on 25,322,000 shares outstanding.

The Federal income tax surcharge reduced earnings for the quarter by approximately 7 cents per share. The surcharge was not applied to the Company's first quarter a year ago.

Charles F. Myers Jr., chairman and chief executive of the diversified textile firm, noted that the domestic economy and textile sales have generally remained at a high level, despite the tax surcharge and higher money rates.

The Board of Directors of Burlington Industries, meeting in New York today, declared a regular quarterly dividend of 35 cents per share, payable March 1 to shareholders of record at the close of business Feb. 7, 1969.

NEW MEXICO VISITOR
 Mrs. Georgia Johnson of Albuquerque, N. M., will leave Friday after a two-week visit in Post in the homes of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Nichols, and her brother and sister, John and Henrietta Nichols. Sunday the group visited in Spur with the Bruce Tylers, former Post residents.

Funeral held for McDougle infant

Funeral services for John Dalin McDougle, 21-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Garion McDougle, were held at 2 p. m. Monday at the Trinity Baptist Church, with the Rev. James Criswell, pastor, officiating.

The child died about 10 a. m. Saturday in Garza Memorial Hospital.

Surviving are the parents; five brothers, Rickie Glenn, Garland Wade, Tony Michael, Christopher and Wayne; a sister, LaDonna; paternal grandmother, Mrs. Myrtle McDougle of Post, and maternal grandparents, Mrs. M. W. Hogue of Post and R. E. Hensley Sr., of Levelland.

Burial was in Terrace Cemetery under the direction of Hudman Funeral Home.

AUSTIN — Immediate implementation of the Texas Water Development Board's $10 billion Water Plan (to take water to every part of Texas), lowering the voting age to 18, lifting the constitutional ceiling on state welfare contributions, and a gradual revision of the State Constitution were some of the surprises Gov. Preston Smith offered the legislature.

All 181 Legislators had been pacing themselves for the first two weeks of the session, waiting to see what their new governor wanted from them, and now they know his aims. But he has yet to reveal his budget and tax recommendations, which will have tremendous bearing on whether his programs are enacted.

Governor Smith lauded the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System's plan to provide upper-level senior colleges in Midland - Odessa, Corpus Christi, Houston and Dallas and a four-year college in San Antonio, but he did not adopt it specifically. However, he did embrace the board's recommendation for new state medical schools in Houston and Lubbock, a new dental school in San Antonio, and state participation in Baylor University's dental and medical schools.

HE CALLED for a state police certification program for prison parolees, and "implied consent" DWI test to cut down on traffic accidents involving alcohol, "enlarging" the Parks & Wildlife Commission to obtain better geographical distribution, and raising workmen's compensation benefits from $35 to $45 a week.

Governor Smith endorsed the 1968 State Democratic platform (which had his approval), but he added: "I have read the Texas Republican Platform. I think you will find the two quite similar."

Smith's message to the Legislature left unanswered the question of spending and taxing. He called for economy, but conceded that new taxes may be needed. His recommendations as to what should be spent and where it should come from will follow in another message.

His legislative program was very extensive. Rural legislators who have been getting objections to the proposals for school consolidation made by Gov. John Connally's Committee on Public School Education were glad to hear Smith call that plan impossible to pass. He did agree with the Committee that there should be some school consolidations, but he felt they should be voluntary.

Attracting much interest was the fact that the new governor did not mention in his list of proposed constitutional amendments the one to allow local option liquor - by-the-drink. Instead, he merely gave legislators a copy of the Democratic platform which called for a statewide vote on the question.

His message came after a colorful inaugural program which brought thousands to Austin. A "victory dinner" attracted 6,000. As many as 40,000 may have attended the six inaugural balls. More than 100 units took part in the inaugural parade.

When Smith and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes took office, they gave the Capitol the first West Texas team since 1947. West Texans were prominent among those in Austin to cheer for the men from Lubbock and DeLeon.

TUITION HIKE PROPOSED — Finance committee of Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System found tuition of students must be doubled to help pay the expected $484.2-million biennial operating cost of higher education facilities by 1975-76.

Committee also proposed $185 a year student building fee to float bonds for a $401-million college construction program. Fee would apply only on six new campuses recommended during the next decade.

Tuition suggested by the committee would be $7 per semester credit hour for Texas residents and $20 per credit hour for nonresidents. This would raise an additional $22-million a year. Present tuition rate, unchanged since 1957, is $50 a semester. It is one of the lowest in the nation.

Committee strongly recommended a uniform building system and standardized construction components for new campuses, as well as new procedures to cut down operating costs.

Report will be acted on at the Feb. 10 Coordinating Board meeting, together with a request to merge South Texas College of Law at Houston with Texas A&M University.

REGISTER CARS PROPERLY — Auto registration regulations will be enforced tighter due to computerization, Highway Commission and Department of Public Safety warns.

Highway Department says that many motorists have cars registered illegally in counties where they do not reside. Others who live in cities show only a post office box number instead of the required residence address.

Computerization also will aid in law enforcement, and reduce the waiting-in-line time to obtain a license. Motorist will get forms to fill out in advance, saving typing time at busy license distribution points.

SDEC EXPANDS ACTIVITIES — State Democratic Committee, which took in a tidy sum from its inauguration - eve victory dinner, has approved plans to expand work in three fields and to publish a monthly political magazine.

New committees were authorized on youth activities, woman's organization and communications. Latter department will supervise the magazine.

Card of Thanks

We want to take this opportunity to thank our friends and neighbors for the flowers, food and their prayers during our time of sorrow. We especially want to thank the doctors and nurses for doing everything humanly possible for our son, and we want to thank the Lord with all our hearts for giving us the comfort and strength we needed to bear this great loss. The Garlon McDougle family

Words cannot express our sincere thanks and appreciation for the kindness extended to us during the loss of our loved one. A special thanks for all the flowers, cards and food and to the ladies who served it. May God bless each and everyone of you.
 The family of Raydale Redman

Many thanks to all my friends for their concern during my stay in Methodist Hospital. A special thanks to those who sent flowers and cards and came to visit.

Frankie Robbins selected as chapter Valentine Sweetheart

Frankie Robbins will be crowned Valentine Sweetheart, a long with other area and Lubbock chapter nominees, at the Ko-Ko Palace in Lubbock Saturday, Feb. 8, where a Valentine dance for Beta Sigma Phi sorority will be held. Mrs. Robbins was selected for the honor by her chapter, Xi Delta Rho, and the above plans were announced at the Monday meeting in the home of Willie Cross with Sylvia Shipp as co-hostess.

Lora Blanton presented the program on the Lutheran Church, largest Protestant church in the world, by telling about its founder, Martia Luther. She explained the church's beliefs in baptism, communion, Apostles' Creed and confirmation. Mrs. Blanton told of the order of worship which includes an introduction, word section, communion and conclusion. She also told of the many Lutheran schools. Enjoying the program were: Vee Gordon, Joyce Teaff, Suzanne Clifford, Ginger Carlisle, Frankie Robbins, Brenda Cooper, Janice Smith, Janey Middleton, Sammie Maddox, Allane Ammons, Johnnie Francis, Lorrye McAllister, Willie Cross and Sylvia Shipp.

It's My Turn

— By MRS. C.

Everytime Mr. C and I drive through South and East Texas German-named towns I'm reminded of my German ancestry. I'm afraid my Irish ancestry shows through more than my one-fourth each of French and German, though.

Fredericksburg always reminds me of a long-deceased great-uncle, who, to me, was a typical German. His name was Florian Trimmer. (How does that grab you?) Uncle Florian was a trim man of small stature who knew where he was going and why in this life. He was married to a plump little lady whose name was Christine.

The Trimmers lived in a typical German-type house. You know the kind I mean — there wasn't a blade of grass out of place in the yard, the grounds were fenced in with an iron fence with pointed spikes and the front gate was always kept closed. In back of the house was a barn, which by the time I was old enough to remember, housed only goats. I imagine before then it had stabled a horse or two.

The barn was as clean as the house, which was immaculate. Any way I always supposed it was, but like all good German farms, the house was kept so dark (lights not money) that I might only have imagined that it was spotlessly clean. However, as I remember Uncle Florian he would not have staid any dirt in Aunt Christine's night in this department if she had dared.

Gad, I'm leaving out the bees, naturally Uncle Florian kept bees and made honey. Once or twice I remember that I was allowed to be in on the honey-making bit, once or twice I believe he even gave our family some!

We only lived a couple of blocks from the Trimmers and we young ones were always made to feel welcome to drop in even though I had as feeling that Uncle Florian never quite forgave my mother for carrying "that wild Irishman." My father had no idea where he was going in this life and couldn't have cared less!

Several times a year we made a duty that could only be called "duty calls." This meant we dressed in our Sunday best — none of us could be excused — and were entertained in the front parlor. The front parlor always smelled like moth balls and roaming hands could usually dig out one or two from the horsehair sofa. Ecru lace curtains covered the dark green window shades, which were only raised on these occasions.

"Children were to be seen and not heard," so you can imagine the agony we rather boisterous children went through. However, in the Trimmer house it was best to sit quietly and not move because if one did one usually ended up being bitten by a Spitz dog. They always had the same kind of dog, they all looked alike, and they all hated children.

The worst thing about these calls were the refreshments! To this day I feel a little sick when I smell goat's milk. Yep, that's right, we were served goat-milk ice cream and we HAD to eat it ALL. Just anticipating it was bad enough to ruin the whole day so my mother would usually just give us enough time to get dressed to go so she wouldn't have to listen to all the complaining.

I found out at an early age to grab a seat on the end of the sofa by myself and if I didn't move too fast I could sneakily criticize one of those Spitz dogs to not most of mine. I always felt like I might come up missing a hand but it would have been worth it. Florian and Christine lived to a fine old age and I'm sure they ended up in heaven. And I'm also sure heaven is a neater place than then.

'Do Littles' Club new organization

A group of young married women met last Thursday at the Reddy Room and formed a new club. They chose the name Do Littles and plan to meet once a month. They discussed prospective new members and worthwhile projects. Those attending the organizational meeting wish to extend a warm welcome to any young married women who desire to join. Vietnamese school children in the Dong Ha area have received an unexpected boost toward a better education.

Officers and men of the 3rd Marine Division's civil affairs section distributed nearly 5,000 packets of some 30 hamlets in the area. In school supplies to youngsters in addition to the school kits, 35 Vietnamese carpenters received sets of woodworking tools.

The entire project is part of 3rd Marine Division's accelerated pacification program, and is coordinated by 1st Lt. Barry G. McMullan, Meridian, Miss., a staff officer with the division's civil affairs section.

"We work our civic action programs with the objective of teaching the Vietnamese villagers how to improve their skills and thereby better their way of life," explains McMullan.

The actual distribution of the school kits and carpenters' tools is handled by local Vietnamese village officials.

There is a Marine officer or senior NCO assigned to coordinate the pacification projects in each of the 30 - some hamlets. These men serve as local representatives of the division civil affairs section and maintain close liaison with the inhabitants of their respective hamlets.

One such Marine is 1st Lt. Jack L. Sammons, Atlanta, Ga., the civil affairs officer for Touong Hinh hamlet, just north of Dong Ha. "Working with the Vietnamese people gives me a great deal of personal satisfaction and I really look forward to my visits to the hamlet," says Sammons.

The current project of distributing school kits to Vietnamese youngsters is the first of many planned for 1969 by the 3rd Marine Division Civil Affairs personnel as they continue their efforts to aid the Vietnamese villagers to build a better life for themselves.

Somewhere in the mountains west of An Hoa there is an unhappy Viet Cong — he's missing a rifle and his clothing.

The enemy's loss was caused by Marine Lance Cpl. John E. Lose, Cleveland, Ohio. He located the VC's weapon and clothing and removed them from their hiding place, a cave 14 miles west of An Hoa.

Lose, a member of 1st Bn., 3rd Marine Regiment, discovered the enemy hiding place while providing security for fellow Leathernecks searching a VC bunker complex.

"I noticed a cave opening, partly concealed by a large rock," recalled the six-month Vietnam veteran. "After rounding up a few men to cover me, I entered the cave."

The 3rd Marine Division Leatherneck was surprised at the size of the cave. "It was about 20 feet deep, six feet wide and high enough

Ask Dr. QUIZMEE

Dr. Quizmee, our information specialist, is happy to answer his readers' questions in his weekly column. All responses are verified by Funk & Wagnalls Standard Reference Encyclopedia.

Dennis L. has been reading about the Arctic and wants to know: "How can an igloo made from snow keep someone warm?"

One of the best insulating materials against cold air is air itself!

The blocks of snow used in igloos have lots of air trapped in them, which effectively insulates these snowy homes against the minus 50 or 60 degrees reached in the Arctic!

"What is meant by the expression 'Trojan horse'?" Brenda R. asks.

Ancient stories say the Trojan horse was built by the Greeks 3,000 years ago to deceive their Trojan enemies. After 10 years of war, the Greeks built a huge wooden horse and offered it as a gift to the city of Troy. It was accepted, and dragged into the city. That night, Greek soldiers came out of the hollow horse and conquered Troy. Today "Trojan horse" means something deceitful.

"What causes breakers at the beach?" writes Peter D.

Wind and storms blowing over the ocean cause waves to form. These waves move forward uninterrupted for thousands of miles. When something like a sand bar blocks the wave, it curls over and "breaks"—as at the beach.

If you are the first to submit a question to Dr. Quizmee, in care of this newspaper, (the writer of this column to be sole judge), you will receive free the full 25 volume set of Funk & Wagnalls Standard Reference Encyclopedia.

A Bunch of Other Guys

By Bernard S. Ramsey

In a recent issue of "Sports Illustrated" there was an article discussing the Philadelphia Eagles and some of their troubles. Coach Kuharich was talking about the game and he said:

"Football is a game you play strictly with individuals anyhow. In baseball, when Mickey Mantle is up to bat, the other eight guys on his club might as well be asleep unless they are on base, because it all comes down to: 'Does he hit the ball or doesn't he?' But when a quarterback goes back to pass—I don't care if he is Unitas or who he is—he's got to have a bunch of other guys out there working in his behalf or he is nothing."

That seemed to me to be one of the best remarks about life that I've heard in a long time. It is religious in its understanding of the nature of living.

No man does it by himself. No matter how able a man is, he is always dependent on "those other guys" who are working in his behalf.

Many of the brethren who we depend on, we do not know. Our life is lived with obligations to so many people that it frightens us just to begin to contemplate how many there are. There is not much room here for egocentricity or selfish pride.

My guess is that when we begin to understand how many people make it possible for us to do our thing, we shall become mighty humble indeed—and we'll pick out the church of our choice and sign up for the team of the best "bunch of other guys" in the world.

Fireproof? Fireproof.

Texas Tech prof is FTA speaker

By Sharyn Bilberry
Monday, Jan. 20, the Post High School Future Teachers of America met with Delbert Rudd, president, presiding. The meeting was called to order at 7:30 in the high school library.

The first business taken care of was to change the dues from $3 a year to $1.50. Also discussed was the State Convention to be held in Austin Feb. 21-22.

Those at the meeting enjoyed a very interesting talk made by Jack Chambless, a professor at Texas Tech, who is working in the Family Life Department.

Professor Chambless spoke on the discipline problems of teachers, especially first year teachers. He has studied under Dr. Rudolf Dreikurs, who teaches the philosophy of life held by Dr. Alfred Adler. A struggle for respect is one of the main causes to trouble in the classrooms, says Mr. Chambless.

After Mr. Chambless spoke and asked each individual what he thought of what he had said, refreshments were served.

THEY STAY PREPARED

NEW YORK — The Insurance Information Institute points out that the insurance industry is always ready to swing into action when catastrophe strikes. Adjusters often are transferred hundreds of miles in a matter of hours to help handle the deluge of claims that often follow hurricanes, tornadoes and the like.

QUIET is the word for last week. The dreaded torture named semester tests was being inflicted upon students of The Institution. And yesterday, results were issued in the form of report cards. Sympathy goes out to those who are "grounded" now. Anyway, look at it this way: We survived and we're alive. Or are we?

Post teachers invited to Lubbock for 'Learning Problems' program

Public school teachers from 20 South Plains Counties, including all teachers in Post, have been invited to hear a world-renowned expert in the field of instructional media and technology at Coronado High School in Lubbock Friday and Saturday, Jan. 31-Feb. 1.

Dr. Wesley C. Meierhenry, professor at the University of Nebraska since 1943, will present a program at 7:30 p. m. Friday on "Learning Problems in Media — Elementary" and at 10 a. m. Saturday on "Learning Problems in Media — Secondary." Both sessions will be held in the Coronado High School Auditorium, 3331 Vickburg St. (East of the intersection of the Brownfield Highway and 24th Street.)

All teachers, principals, superintendents, supervisory personnel and special educators are invited to attend. The event is sponsored by the Region XVII Education Service Center.

Dr. Meierhenry's presentation will include the use of an overhead projector, 16mm film projector, slide projector, and tape recorder. He will demonstrate and explain how and under what conditions the use of media is most effective in the classroom.

During the course of his presentation, Dr. Meierhenry will stress

Sophomores have new classmate

By Kay Lofton
The Sophomore class of Post High School is happy to welcome Cindy Wells. Cindy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Baker and comes to our school from Lubbock, where she attended Monterey High School.

Cindy's favorite color is yellow and her favorite song is "Son of a Preacher Man." Her favorite actor and actress are Paul Newman and Audrey Hepburn.

Cindy says that this school is much smaller and that you know everybody here. She also commented that she likes it very well here.

What price Electricity... and progress?

When you stop and think about it, it's a real bargain!

A MESSAGE FROM ROY TOLK, PRESIDENT SOUTHWESTERN PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY

I'm sure the figures on the right will surprise you as much as they did me. Being in the electric industry, I knew that the manufacturers, as well as the people in our Company were doing a magnificent job in holding down costs in spite of the run-away inflation we've all been experiencing... but no one had previously published the appliance cost comparisons.

In our own Company, by careful handling and attention to costs, coupled with advances in technology and prudent investment in plant and equipment, we have not only stayed ahead of your electricity needs but have been able to reduce the average cost per kilowatt hour of the electricity used in your home.

In 1948 the average cost of your electricity was 3.89 CENTS per kilowatt hour and today it has dropped to 2.74 CENTS, a reduction of 29.56 PERCENT. Certainly most of us have larger bills today because we use electricity for so many labor saving chores as well as comforts and conveniences. But, without the dedicated efforts of our employees in holding our costs down, your dollar cost would be way, way up. In fact, the current CONSUMER PRICE INDEX, the measure of how much we all spend as a group on the things we buy, indicated that we're paying 1/2 again as much for most things today as we were paying in 1948. Yet, the average kilowatt hour cost of electricity that you buy from us for your family's use is down 29.56%.

This coming year to keep you fully supplied with electric power and to keep electric service as efficient and economical as possible, we shall invest nearly 16 million dollars in required new equipment.

You may rest assured that your electric service will continue to be modern, dependable and brought to you at the lowest possible price. Reddy Kilowatt, and his fellow workers will see to it.

Despite inflation, the electric industry has kept costs low...

How about these price differences over the past 20 years?

- A DISPOSER
was $119.50 in '48, now it's $78.50 and there have been over 100 external and internal improvements made.
 - A DISHWASHER
costing $339.95 in '48 is $299.95 now and it offers more cycles, better styling, more setting space.
 - AN AIR CONDITIONER
at $425 in '48 averages $175 today and it looks better, works better, and is cheaper to operate.
 - ELECTRIC DRYERS
at $299 in '48 now range from $249 to $299 with electronic dampness controls, many cycles, end-of-cycle signals, permanent press controls — and some models for as little as $100.
 - A REFRIGERATOR-FREEZER
in '48 at a cost of $31 per cubic foot is now $22 per cubic foot and you get no-frost, thinwall insulation, ice-makers, decorator fronts and colors.
 - AN ELECTRIC RANGE
which was $343 in '48 is $350 today. And that's with all the modern sophisticated controls and self-cleaning thrown in for good measure.

Post soldier is wounded by Cong

SP4 Freddy Simmons is hospitalized in Vietnam with a wound in the upper part of his left arm, his wife, Susan, was notified here Tuesday by letter from her husband.

The bullet went through the fleshy part of his upper arm without striking a bone.

The Post youth wrote that the wound occurred Jan. 21 and that he would be "out of the hospital in five or six days" and back with his unit, the 21st Infantry.

Simmons wrote he was wounded when his unit had surrounded a village in Vietnam where Viet Cong were believed to be hiding. He was covering for other soldiers trying to get hiding Viet Cong out of their "spider holes" when he was hit.

Simmons has been in the Vietnam war zone since last October. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Simmons, now of Lubbock. His wife is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Bernard Ramsey and is living here.

The Old Timer

"Success is just around the corner—only sometimes it's a long block."

Tax funds—

The hospital has been "making do", as both Sledge and Trustee Chairman Ed Sawyers and Trustee it, fearful of using the county 1969 tax money for such repairs and then coming up needing a portion of the money for a tax subsidy to sustain operations should operational revenue drop.

Several thousand dollars will be required here.

Hospital Administrator Sledge also wants to make another point for public consideration.

"We scrimped and saved to get through 1968 on only $113,000 in operating costs," Sledge commented Monday. "According to American Hospital Association standards this 30-bed hospital should be costing $205,000 annually to operate. This figure permits needed repairs to be made and equipment purchased."

The point Sledge was making is that the hospital can't be expected to operate annually for $113,000 because such scrimping can't be kept up over a number of years without reducing the hospital's operating efficiency.

To sum up the hospital's financial situation, the hospital managed to make ends meet in 1968 operationally but it wasn't easy and the county's tax subsidy of $24,800 has been mostly spent.

Cotton meeting set for Lubbock on Wednesday

Post area farmers and ginners and other interested persons are invited to attend the third annual meeting on the production of quality cotton, to be held at the Koko Palace in Lubbock at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday, Feb. 5.

The meeting, sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will feature a top slate of speakers on hand to discuss the current cotton production situation for the South Plains.

Headlining the event will be a discussion by Dabney S. Wellford, top economist with the National Cotton Council. Wellford's address will touch on the overall outlook picture for cotton in 1969 to include domestic and foreign consumption as well as mill demands and promotional efforts to increase the consumption of this area's top cash crop.

Other speakers will include Dr. Levon Ray, who is in charge of the cotton breeding program at The Texas A&M University Agricultural Center near Lubbock; Dr. H. O. Kunkel, Dean of Agriculture, Texas A&M University, and Elmer B. Hudspeth, agricultural engineer.

Vote registration deadline Friday

With the 1969 voter registration deadline only 24 hours away, approximately 35 per cent of Garza's 1968 registered voters have yet to qualify to vote in any elections here this year.

The registration deadline for the year is 5 p. m. Friday, Jan. 31.

Registrations should be made in the county tax assessor-collector's office in the courthouse. There is no charge.

County Tax Assessor - Collector T. H. Tipton told The Dispatch yesterday afternoon that only 1,644 voters had registered up to that time to vote this year.

Last year's registration, the first under the new state law requiring registration of those over 60 years of age, totaled 2,506.

Voters have had four months to register, but most of them wait until the deadline nears.

Tipton expected a final rush for registration both today and Friday.

Since no regular state or national elections will be held this year, registration is normally expected to be lighter than in even years when more elections are held.

The Jaycees expressed their appreciation to the following firms for making the OYP program possible: Cash Implement Co., Close City Co-op. Gin, Farmers Supply Co., Graham Co-op. Gin, Post Implement Co., Planters Gin.

Stolen SCS pickup found abandoned

A federal government pickup used by Iron Newman, range conservationist here, was stolen from the parking lot at the SCS office, 804 West 8th St., sometime after 7:30 p. m. Tuesday.

The pickup was found yesterday morning abandoned in a narrow ditch near Hereford.

Bailey Mayo, district conservationist in charge of the Garza district office, told The Dispatch that a farm woman noticed the pickup in the narrow ditch yesterday morning with its motor running.

When she returned yesterday afternoon it was still there, so she notified the sheriff's office.

Newman's name on the radiator's anti-freeze tap eventually brought a phone call here yesterday afternoon.

Mayo said the FBI has been brought in on the case because it was stolen federal property. He said the pickup was locked and the ignition key was not in the vehicle, but the thief or thieves broke into the pickup and "hot wired" it to get the motor running.

Tahoka and Idalou next for Post basketball teams

Girls off to good start toward district honors

The Post Antelopes, still looking for their first District 4AA win, and the Post Does, undefeated in their only two district starts thus far, travel to Tahoka Friday night for conference games, then play host to the Idalou boys' and girls' teams next Tuesday night. The Does are favored in their Friday night clash with the Tahoka girls' team, but the boys' game is rated as a toss-up, with Tahoka figured to fight it out with Post and Frenship to stay out of the district cellar.

Post girls ease past Cooper sextet, 63-39

The Post Does, "warming up" for district games at Tahoka Friday night, easily defeated the Cooper girls' team, 63 to 39, Tuesday night at Cooper.

The game was close the first quarter, with the Post girls out front by only three points, 14-11, at the buzzer. They widened the gap to a 32-20 halftime lead, however, and were ahead 46-27 at the end of the third quarter.

Sharon and Karon Windham each scored 18 points for Post, Sharon on seven field goals and four free throws and Karon on six field goals and six from the charity line. Karen Lee scored 14 points on seven buckets from the field; Benita Noble, eight, on a field goal and six free throws; Sherry Bird, three, on a field goal and a charity toss, and Jan Wilks, two on a field goal.

Jody Dunn was Cooper's top scorer with 17 points.

Tonight (Thursday) the Antelope and Doe "B" teams and the Post freshman boys' teams play at Lorenzo, with the freshman boys' game getting the triple-header under way at 5:30 o'clock.

Monday night, the four junior high school teams go to Tahoka for conference games. Coach Bud Davis' undefeated 8th grade boys' team will be in for a hot night of action in their game. They defeated the Tahoka 8th grade team by four points, 35-31, here a few weeks ago to hand the Tahokans their only conference setback to date.

Junior High shooters triumph over Idalou

Post Junior High basketball teams won three out of four conference games from Idalou here Monday night.

The 8th grade boys, undefeated in conference play, won by a score of 39 to 12, but the 7th grade boys lost a close one, 23 to 19. Both girls' teams won, the 8th graders, 19 to 16, and the 7th graders, 28 to 13.

Coach Bud Davis' 8th grade cagers led 8-4 at the end of the first quarter, 18-7 at halftime, and 25-9 at the end of the third quarter. The first team played the first and second quarters and the first half of the final period. The second team played the third quarter, with the third team taking the floor halfway through the final quarter to finish up.

Danny Lee, with 20 points, was Post's high scorer. Roger Pace and Steve Hays scored four each, and getting two each were Robert Mindieta, Mike Hughes, Jerry Saldivar, Mike Huff and Freddy Huff. Ricky King scored one point.

In the 7th grade game, Coach Dudley scored seven and John

Gary Parnell's Post team trailed 7-4 at the end of the first quarter, 13-10 at halftime, and 16-12 at the end of the third quarter.

Johnny Jefferson led the Post scoring with eight points. Richard

It's the Law...

YOUR BALLOT: HOW SECRET?

Defeated in a contest for sheriff, a candidate challenged the validity of the election. In a court hearing he demanded that certain voters be ordered to tell for whom they voted.

But the court decided it had no right to make such an order. "Our whole ballot system," said the court, "is based upon the idea that unless secrecy is preserved, there can be no safety against those personal or political influences which destroy individual freedom of choice."

Secrecy of the ballot has long been recognized as a cornerstone of democracy. One of the earliest court decisions in the nation's history a South Carolina case in 1795, denounced prying into votes as "a kind of inquisitorial power unknown to the principles of our government."

There is an exception. Generally speaking, it is permissible for a court to inquire into a person's vote if that vote is shown to have been cast illegally.

But otherwise, secrecy is the rule. This applies not only in court hearings but in voting procedures as well.

In one election, the voting booths were merely open, uncurtained cubicles. Voters could easily be observed either by other voters or by election officials. When tested in court, this system was held inadequate to insure privacy and the votes were thrown out.

Not only booths but also ballots and ballot boxes are regulated with the same objective of secrecy. Thus, a referendum on a local liquor law was held null and void because voters had to deposit their ballots into either one of two boxes — plainly marked "FOR" and "AGAINST."

What about the use of voting machines? Again, secrecy must prevail. One early machine worked fine if the voter wanted to vote a straight party ticket. But if not, he had to ask for a special ballot from an election official.

This arrangement, a judge ruled later, was unacceptable. "It is obvious," he said, "that a voter cannot ask for such a ballot without indicating he does not vote for his full party ticket. It appearing that the machines do not afford an opportunity to vote a secret ballot, they cannot lawfully be used."

Redman, four. Other starters were Jay Pollard and Mark Bevers, with Steve Sawyers, Ronnie Ammons and Victor Cisneros also seeing action.

Coach Billy Hahn's 8th grade girls were behind, 7-5, at the end of the first quarter, but the guards did an outstanding job in holding Idalou scoreless in the second period, and Post was out in front, 10-7, at the half. The guards kept up their good work in the third period, in which Idalou scored only one point, and Post led, 15-8, going into the final period.

Pat Johnson's 10 points topped the Post scoring, with Trena Jackson hitting seven, and Anita Crisado, two. Playing at the guard positions were Janyce Brockman, Phyllis Eckols, Pam Feagin, Deborah Hundley, Gaynell King and Jo Beth Gandy.

The 7th grade girls led Idalou, 6-4, at the end of the first quarter, 14-6 at the half, and 22-10 at the end of the third quarter.

Lindy Bird's 23 points on seven field goals and nine free throws earned her high point honors. Cindy Bird scored three points and Sue Cowdrey, two. Others seeing action were Susan Solis, Eva Vargas, Rita Morales, Beckie Dalby, Jan Hall, Darla Baker, Mary Salinas and Phyllis Kennedy.

Wilson will hold volleyball meet

WILSON — The Wilson Lions Club will hold its annual adult volleyball tournament on Feb. 24, 25, 27, 28, and March 1.

A $5 entry fee will be charged and should be mailed along with the entry to Billy Weaver, Route 2, Wilson, Tex. 79381. This fee will be returned to each team when its playing schedule in the tournament has been completed.

A roster of players will be required at the time of each team's first game.

Individual trophies will be awarded members of teams winning first and second places and consolation in both men's and women's divisions. There will be six individual trophies for each winning team.

Proceeds from the tournament will be used by the Wilson Lions Club in its various community projects.

Does win, 'Lopes lose

Post teams split pair in Frenship encounters

The Post Does and Antelopes divided a District 4AA doubleheader with Frenship here last Friday night, the Does winning, 50 to 36, but the 'Lopes losing, 60 to 45.

For Coach Jiggs King's Does, it was their second district win against no defeats, and for Coach Kenny Poole's Antelopes, their third loss in as many district games.

The Post girls led 11-7 at the end of the first quarter and 19-16 at the half, but widened the gap in the third quarter to go into the final period of play with a 12-point lead, 31-19.

Sharon Windham was Post's high scorer with 17 points, followed by Karon Windham's 14, Sherry Bird's nine, and Karen Lee's seven. Benita Noble also played at a forward position.

The Post guards were Kay Altman, Thresa Sims, Kay Herron and Martha Jo Walls.

Debbie Brooks of Frenship was the game's high scorer with 19 points.

In the boys' game, the Antelopes led 15-13 at the end of the first quarter, but the Tigers racked up 25 points in the second period to 19 for the 'Lopes to forge into a 38-34 lead. The visitors were ahead 50-40 at the end of the third period.

After scoring 15 points in the first quarter and 19 in the second, the Post team ran out of gas in the second half, hitting only six points in the third period and five in the fourth.

Ray Altman's 16 points was tops for Post, with Boyd Noble getting 11. Jake Rogans was the Tigers' top point-getter with 20.

The scoring summary: FRENSHIP — K. Morris 3 0 6;

Texas hunters in 1968 killed deer in record numbers

AUSTIN — Texas hunters this year had the best season ever on record, according to estimates just released by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

They killed 280,047 deer, including 10,189 mule deer, and 24,847 turkeys this year compared with the second best kill in 1966 of 271,599 deer and 18,410 turkeys.

Last year, hunters killed 10,395 turkeys and 239,017 deer.

Department biologists attribute the high kill to a large deer population resulting from a plentiful food supply and ideal conditions for reproduction. Deer in all parts of the State were in excellent condition.

Hunting at times was slow in some areas due to heavy foliage—the result of the same ideal conditions which made the deer population high. Census studies made before the season started indicated both high populations and excellent antler growth.

Although the kill was down from last year in some counties, other counties had substantial increases.

The highest deer kill for any one county was in Llano County with 13,000. Other counties with representative deer kills in the different ecological areas of the State are: Brewster, 5,200; Colorado, 4,800; Bander, 6,500; Palo Pinto, 3,259; Webb, 3,500; and Gillespie, 12,000.

Jackson rites are held at O'Donnell

Funeral services for Mrs. Lois Bell Jackson, 57, of O'Donnell, who died Saturday morning in a Lamasa hospital, were held at 2:30 p. m. Monday in the First Baptist Church at O'Donnell.

Mrs. Jackson, born Feb. 27, 1911, in Bell County, moved to Lynn County in 1925 from Clyde. She was married to Floyd Jackson at Tahoka on March 14, 1928.

Survivors include her husband; a son, Marty Jackson of Brownfield; four daughters, Mrs. Erma Proctor of Coahoma, Mrs. Millie Gribble of Route 2, Post, Mrs. Nita Bradshaw of Route 1, Tahoka, and Mrs. Floyd Cagle of O'Donnell; two brothers, Noel Morgan of Big Spring and Ralph Morgan of Colorado City; two sisters, Mrs. R. C. Malone of Plainview and Mrs. N. T. Vest of Ennis, and 10 grandchildren.

The Rev. Calvin Partain, pastor, and the Rev. Bill Benton of Lubbock officiated at the funeral services. Burial was in the O'Donnell Cemetery under direction of White's Funeral Home of Tahoka.

TO WORK FOR YOU

MAKE AMERICA A BETTER PLACE.

LEAVE THE COUNTRY.

Of all the ways America can grow, one way is by having more jobs.

There are many ways you can help in the Peace Corps. You can't earn anywhere else.

You could start an irrigation program. And find that crochets and front towns look a little ridiculous. When there isn't enough wheat to go around in Nepal.

You could be the outsider who helps bring a Japanese fishing village to life, for the first time in more than a hundred years. And you could wonder if your country has outsiders enough. In Watts, in Detroit, in Appalachia. Or in the Indian reservations.

Last year, for the first time, Peace Corps alumni outnumbered Volunteers who are now out at work overseas.

By 1980, 200,000 Peace Corps alumni will be living their lives in every part of America.

There are those who think you can't change the world in the Peace Corps.

On the other hand, it's not just what you do in the Peace Corps that counts.

But what you do when you get back.

Grassland man injured in fall; taken to hospital

By MARY LEE LAWS

Luther Thomas was taken to Highland Hospital in Lubbock Saturday after falling in his home. He didn't break any bones but is pretty sore.

Mrs. Fox and Mrs. Zuelia Thomas are both in Lubbock hospitals; Gladys Fox is a patient at Garza Memorial Hospital and Mrs. O. R. Cook is in Medical Arts Hospital in Lamesa suffering from an inner ear infection.

We would like to extend our sincere sympathy to the Jackson families due to the loss of their loved one, Lois Jackson, who passed away Saturday morning in a Lamesa hospital. May God be with the family in their time of sorrow.

The Dean family enjoyed a Mexican supper at the Bill Ingles in Tahoka Saturday night.

Leona Pendleton, Judy Davis and Mark and Michael Shayne of Brownfield visited Mrs. R. L. Craig Saturday.

Mrs. Lois Mensch of Lubbock visited Mrs. W. E. Pierce Monday and they attended funeral services for Lois Jackson in O'Donnell.

Mrs. Norman Braddock visited Mary Craig Tuesday afternoon. Cindy and Clifford Laws and Bruce Spruiell spent Friday night with the Bill Ingles.

Mr. and Mrs. William Young of Lubbock were Sunday dinner guests of his parents, the Jurd Youngs.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Dockery of Tahoka visited Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Ramsey Sunday.

APPROXIMATELY 170 guests registered at the open house celebrating Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Short's 50th wedding anniversary at their home Sunday. Among the guests were Mrs. Esther Adams, an old friend who lives in Lubbock, and Dr. and Mrs. V. F. Stephens of Fort Collins, Colo., whom the Shorts met 15 years ago while spending the winter at San Benito. The Stephens arrived a week ago Wednesday and stayed through Monday. Other guests registered from Plains, Brownfield, Tahoka and Post.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. McCleskey had some surprise guests Tuesday of last week. They were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Edwards and Johnny, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McCleskey and Mr. and Mrs. Clay McCleskey, all of Lipan. They arrived about 9:30 a. m. and spent the day.

Sunday dinner guests of the W. G. McCleskeys were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Huffaker, visiting later in the day were the Rev. and Mrs. Grimes, Uncle Mack and Aunt Nora Ritchie and Hoolie and Laverne McCleskey. While they were all there, Jo Nell McDonald, called from Yukima, Wash. She said they received eight inches of snow the night before. She talked to everyone at the McCleskey home.

Dr. and Mrs. Eckley of Lubbock attended morning services at the Grassland Church of the Nazarene and were dinner guests of the Rev. and Mrs. E. A. Rawlings. The C. O. McCleskeys were also guests for dinner. Dr. Eckley is the Nazarene District Superintendent.

The Leo Withers, Talana Gribble and Mr. and Mrs. Archie Aten visited in the Dean Laws Sunday afternoon. Beulah Tew and Georgia Mae Kirk visited Mary Craig Sunday afternoon.

I HAD a letter from Kathy Warren last Thursday and they made it to Malta just fine. Their address is Mrs. Jimmie Warren, No. 3 St. Peters Falls, St. Lukes Road, Gwardamangia, Malta, G. C.

Visitors in the Uncle Mack Ritchie home for dinner were the Rev. and Mrs. Grimes of Roosevelt.

Jeanette McCleskey's father, Mr. Melton, spent Saturday night with them and left for his trucking route Sunday. Mrs. Melton is in East Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Braddock and Michael went to Plainview to spend the weekend with his brother, Jim, and family.

Mary Craig was a Friday dinner guest of the Jurd Youngs.

Calvin Mensch and Francis Hanley and two boys of Lubbock visited the W. E. Pierces during the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Walker went to Seagraves Sunday to visit the Bill Moores and help Kathryn celebrate her birthday.

Mrs. Amos Gerner visited Wednesday and Saturday nights with Mrs. Ruby Claborn and Mrs. Marie Anderson, who are staying with Fay Claborn who underwent major surgery last week in Methodist Hospital. He is still in intensive care.

Those visiting Mrs. C. C. Jones during the week and weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Bullock of Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. Marion (Son) Jones and son, Randy, and a friend, Mrs. Leonard Bain, all of Slaton, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Aten, Mrs. Ivy Young, Mrs. E. A. Rawlings, Nanny Cooper and Mrs. Evelyn Enloe and son, Tim of Slaton.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Bullock visited in Lavoy Nursing Home in Tahoka Saturday with Aunt Tiny Hill, Granny Walker, Mrs. Steward, and others.

The Bullocks and Mrs. C. C. Jones spent Saturday night with their sister, Ivy Young, and were Saturday night supper guests of another sister, Mrs. Nanny Cooper. Mr. and Mrs. Burk Baker and children of Carlsbad, N. M., and Mrs. L. A. Enloe of Slaton were visiting their mother.

Mrs. Amos Gerner visited her mother, Mrs. O. F. Haley, in the nursing home Sunday and then took her out for a drive and a visit with the Terrell Browns.

J. M. Haley visited in the Gerner home Monday morning.

NEW FANGLED WAYS

SHINING SHOES

In Grandma's day, shoe shining, like everything else, was a chore. First she mixed her own polish—equal portions of sweet oil, vinegar, molasses and enough lanplack to form a paste. Then she applied it with a flannel cloth. The finest finish was obtained when the shoe was polished with the palm of her hand. A really messy job.

When Grandpa traveled the rails, he had the advantage of a unique shoe cleaning service on the Pullman trains—a vanishing luxury now that rail travel diminishes daily. One deposited the soiled footwear into a special little shoe receptacle and it was replaced there the next morning shined to a glistening finish.

Today's homemaker can easily take a shine to her family's shoes. Application of a paste or liquid polish is an easy job with new Handi Wipes, the all-purpose cleaning cloth. Soft as chamois, it is perfect for polishing and buffing any footwear from heavy work-boots to the finest leathers. After rinsing, this cloth which dries in minutes, is ready again to tackle another pair.

March meeting set to discuss junior college

The possibility of a junior college for the region comprising Crosby, Dickens, Garza, Kent, Lubbock and Lynn counties is being studied by area educators. A meeting with members of the news media and chambers of commerce will be held in Lubbock on Feb. 2 p. m. March 13 in Idalou for further explanation of the possibility of such a college.

The primary purpose of the college would be to offer a liberal arts program transferable to a four-year school, to offer vocational and technical training and to offer adult education.

If, at the March meeting or a later one, an organization is formed to pursue the junior college project, planning committees would be named from the communities involved and an application submitted to the Junior College Coordinating Board.

If the plan is approved, the board gives permission for an election to be called to create a junior college district, set the tax rate and elect a board of regents.

The site of the college, if the project advances to that stage, would be determined by the board of regents.
