

The First National Bank got immediate results with its big "rain ad" on page 3 of today's Dispatch. It took just 20 minutes.

The bank, leading "rain advertiser" in the Southwest, seeks a "super" in the drought-busting, cotton-saving, tank-filling and spirit-lifting RAIN. It added that "immediate delivery" was essential.

The first four-page section of today's Dispatch, containing the bank's rain ad, went to press at 11:40 a.m. Tuesday.

At noon that day Rotarians heading for their weekly luncheon at City Hall had to make a "run for it" to keep from getting soaked in a brisk downpour which fell off and on throughout the afternoon.

Of course to satisfy all requirements of the ad, much more of the same is yet to come.

Readers who pop into The Dispatch office Thursday mornings to buy their new edition of our weekly newspaper off the front desk found something new here today. It was a coin-operated newspaper vending rack which we set up on the sidewalk outside The Dispatch's front door for added customer convenience.

Reason for the vending machine is to save our readers money.

The Texas sales tax laws provide that we must charge a penny sales tax if Dispatches are sold over the counter, but that no tax is required for up to 15 cents on items sold through vending machines.

So when you see the fresh Dispatches in our vending machine you'll understand the reason—we did it with you in mind.

Today's edition is a 20-pager because of an eight-page tabloid third section telling all about the new Western Texas College which will open at Snyder this fall. The informative section is being included this week in the Snyder Daily (See Postings, page 8)

27 members of Post band are attending camp

Twenty-seven Post band members have been attending the annual Texas Tech Band Camp on the Tech campus in Lubbock the past two weeks and will participate in the concluding band concert which starts at 4:30 p.m. Friday in the University Center at Texas Tech.

Admission to the concert is free, according to Post High Band Director Herb Germer. The concert continues until 9:30 p.m., including a "supper break" at 6 p.m.

The Honors Band (I) will be directed by Francis McBeth. He will present his most recent band composition, The Seventh Day.

A total of 832 bandmen are attending the Tech band camp from all over the Southwest. Dean Killian, Tech band director, heads the camp.

The Post band group has been commencing back and forth to the camp daily in a school bus driven by Germer.

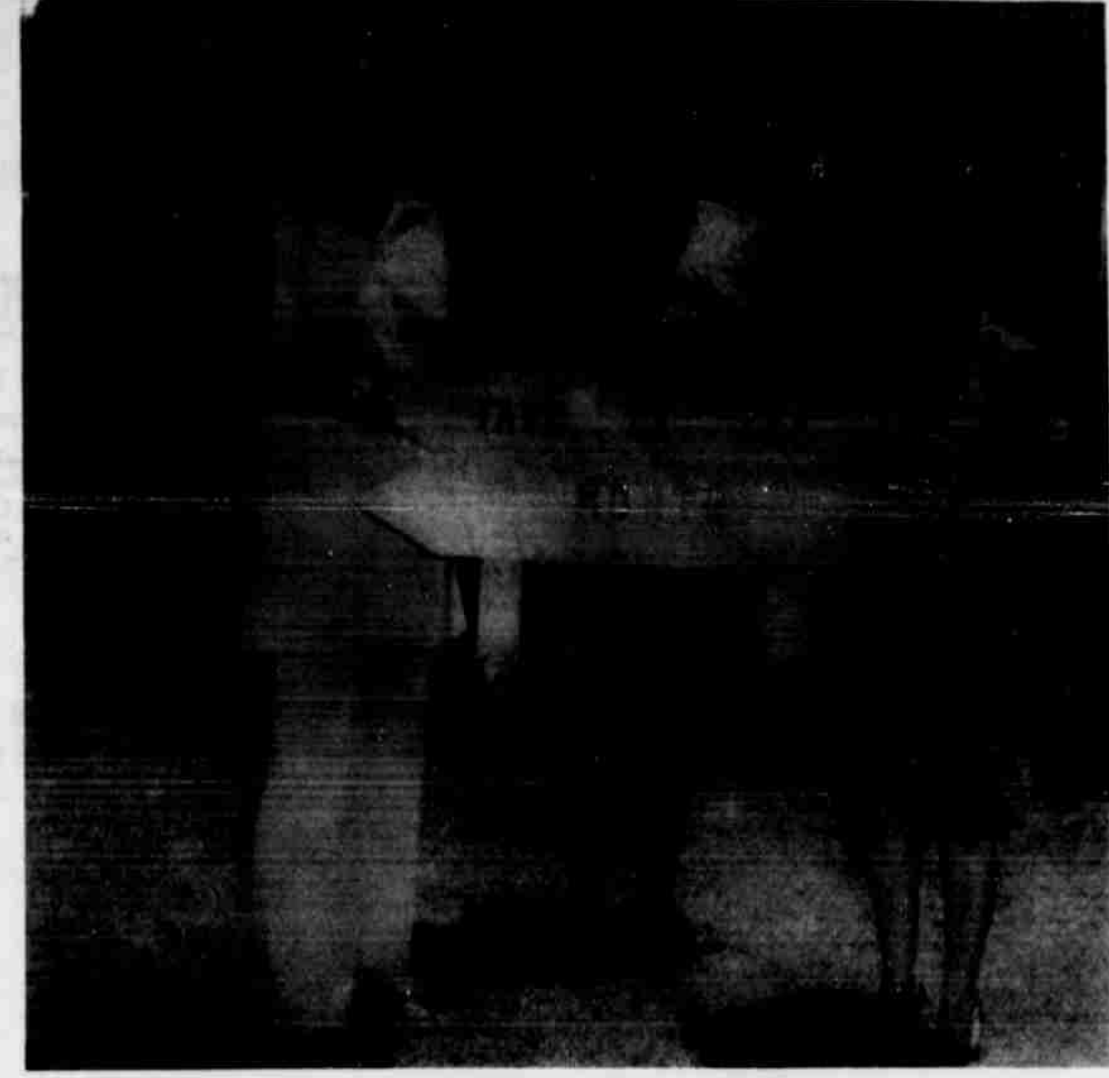

Each band student at the camp was placed in a band according to individual ability and age during the first week of the camp, Germer told The Dispatch.

The Post bandmen attending the camp and the band in which they will play in the final concert are: Band VII — Jimmy Pierce, Vickie Cannon, Carolyn Strawn, Donna Ammons, Jay Strawn, Butch Pierce, Christie Conner, Neida (See Band Camp, page 8)

STEEDES EXPECTED TO BE CLEARED

Post Stampede Rodeo draws 'green light'

Directors decided Monday night to go ahead with plans for the 31st annual Post Stampede Rodeo, that had been threatened by quarantines preventing movement of horses because of the heavy outbreak downstate of Venezuelan sleeping sickness (VEE).

Cash prizes doubled for first day parade

Cash prizes have been more than doubled for floats and decorated bicycles in this year's Post Stampede Rodeo parade sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Bill McBride, parade chairman, announced today that prizes in the float division will be $100, first; $50, second, and $25 third. First, second and third place prizes for decorated bicycles will be $10, $7.50 and $5.

The increased prize money was made possible by Post Stampede, Inc., voting to match the $100 the Chamber was putting up for parade prizes, thus making available $200 for prizes.

The parade is set for 5:30 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 12, the first day of the Stampede Rodeo.

Merchants and organizations that wish to enter floats in the parade are asked to contact Wynonne Kennedy, Chamber secretary, by telephoning the Chamber office, 3461.

The parade also will include area sheriff's posses and other riding groups, with trophies awarded the first, second and third place winners in this division.

Also at Monday night's meeting, directors voted to match the $100 being put up by the Post Chamber of Commerce for float prizes, which will double the amount of prize money for floats and decorated bicycles in the opening day parade.

The directors also voted to purchase three new stop watches for use by the rodeo timekeepers, and discussed a proposed office building and ticket office at the rodeo arena.

Secretary Johnny Kemp said the rodeo office will open Monday morning, Aug. 9, and that entries will be accepted until noon of the rodeo's opening day, Thursday, Aug. 12.

This year's rodeo events are bareback bronc riding, saddle bronc riding, bull riding, calf roping, barrel racing and team roping. Added attractions will be the Pony Express relay races, which proved so popular when held for the first time last year, and wild mare races.

A. J. Howell hurt in pickup crash

A. J. Howell of 707 West 15th St., is in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock with a compound fracture of the left arm, a fractured left ankle and head lacerations as a result of a pickup truck collision Sunday morning.

Howell, who must undergo an operation to set his broken arm, was treated at Garza Memorial Hospital and then taken to Methodist Hospital.

An investigating highway patrolman said Joe Valdez, of route 1, Post, was the driver of the other pickup, but x-rays taken at the Mercy Hospital in Slaton disclosed no broken bones. He suffered only bruises.

Eliminations in the Pony Express relay races will be held Thursday and Friday nights and the championship will be held Saturday.

Four veterinarians have been giving the vaccinations in Garza County. They are Dr. Ed Murray of Spur, Dr. David Hughes of Slaton, a Lubbock veterinarian and a Snyder veterinarian.

County Agent Syd Conner said Wednesday that the veterinarians were "just about through" with their work in this county.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Bull and son, Timmons, left Tuesday afternoon, for Houston where Mr. Bull is scheduled for two weeks of treatments at St. Joseph Hospital.

Post Chamber will try to lure movie makers

Seen as major state industry

Post Chamber of Commerce directors decided Monday night to tie in with the new Texas efforts to attract movie companies to picture shooting on location in the Lone Star state by trying to interest them in using some choice Garza County ranch country for a future film.

Action came after it was pointed out that the last Texas legislature had enacted a new law establishing a state commission whose purpose will be to woo movie producers to Texas. New Mexico has for many years made a major industry out of movie making.

In two other actions, directors decided to set up a permanent committee to work with the White River Municipal Water District on their new Post lake project, and voted to turn over to the Chamber projects committee chairman, Earl Chapman, the problem of getting the American flags back up on Main Street for patriotic holidays.

Efforts to attract a movie producer to this area to shoot a film on location will be handled by the Chamber's tourist committee, headed by David Newby.

Directors in their discussion pointed out that Garza County with its caprock rim ranch country has some of the most spectacular scenery in the Southwest, is within 40 miles of the Lubbock regional airport, has an airport of its own for private planes and could provide good catering service to a movie company on location via the Jackson catering service.

The new state commission on movie production will first be contacted by Newby to coordinate efforts to bring a movie producer to this county for film shooting.

The new permanent committee to work on the Post lake project will be named within the month by Chamber president Vic Slater.

In proposing the committee, Jim Cornish pointed out that several years work is required to plan, finance and build such a dam and all possible assistance should be offered to White River water district directors on the project.

Such a lake would be built only if a proven need for additional water for waterflooding purposes be required in Garza County and the immediate surrounding area. It would have to be financed on a water loan after water contracts for the sale of such water to oil firms are secured to guarantee the loan payout.

The water district already has secured a state water permit for such a dam about four miles or less east of Post.

The recreational benefits of such a lake for Post of course would be (See Movie Maker, page 8)

6 'areas of concern' in educator's report

Dr. William E. Barron cited "six areas of concern" for the Post schools in his 1971 written report to Post school trustees, one of them being "the expenditure of $23,395 for improvement in athletic program plus expansion of field house."

Dean of the Division of Extension Field Services for the University of Texas, Dr. Barron has served as an educational consultant for the Post schools for the last seven years. He recently visited Post in his role as consultant and from that visit prepared the written report presented trustees at their July meeting last Thursday night.

Dr. Barron in his 1971 report focused on "short and long range planning" for schools.

Under the heading "Situation in Post", Dr. Barron wrote that he sees several gains over the past several years but "to cite them would be repetitive."

The five other areas of concern he listed, besides the athletic program expenditure, were: Stabilization of enrollments, level of retention, dropouts and transient student population, possible loss of revenue through decline of assessed valuation, and assessment of property.

He urged school trustees, working with the district's professional staff, to establish its "goals" for the Post schools.

Supt. Bill Shiver told trustees that a discussion of such "goals" will be scheduled for the trustees' August meeting, giving members time to thoroughly study Dr. Barron's suggestions prior to the discussion.

The consultant had this to say about increased cost of the athletic program: "This is not an attempt to question or castigate the decision to increase the expenditure for an athletic program; however, if this kind of program is desired, pay for it with increased taxes. The most damaging solution to this increased expenditure would be to reduce or eliminate the $400 excess increment paid to teachers." (See Barron Report, page 8)

Schools' new learning center' wins approval

Post school trustees at their July meeting last Thursday night gave a strong endorsement to continuation of the schools' new learning center, an education innovation here; employed three new teachers; accepted the resignation of a teacher's aide; and received the 1971 written report on the Post schools by Dr. William E. Barron, which this year focused on "short and long range planning."

Supt. Bill Shiver presented both a cost analysis and growth analysis of the learning center.

The costs totaled $22,186.62 for the school year or an average of $116.16 for the 191 students who participated in the learning centers program and showed an average growth in reading comprehension per student of 1.5 years for the year's work.

The school administrator explained the students selected for participation in the learning center were those from two groups — the first being "under-achievers" in reading comprehension; and the second being the highest achievers in the school.

"The growth pattern is good," he told trustees. He said more detailed evaluation can be made when the S.R.A. Achievement test results are returned.

Shiver told the board the reading center program could be continued or discarded at the discretion of the board, and he asked that the decision for the 1971-72 school year be made at the meeting for staff planning purposes.

Trustees agreed that the learning center was a good educational investment and should be continued.

The superintendent said he hopes to develop a "satellite reading center" (See School Board, page 5)

Chamber supports underground lines

The Post Chamber of Commerce by resolution Monday night went on record as supporting the efforts of area farmers to get General Telephone to bury rural phone lines underground.

Directors at their July meeting, however, did not include any mention in their resolution of General Telephone's proposal that local phone rates be increased to help pay for rural phone improvements which would include the burying of the phone lines.

Mrs. Maxine Marks pointed out that farmers have difficulty working their fields with tractors and equipment because turn-around efforts must include "missing field bordering phone lines."

Chamber secretary Wynonne Kennedy reported she is helping to conduct a "phone poll" of rural phone subscribers of General Telephone to determine their views on the phone company's proposal.

Tuesday shower plus 71 for high

A "cool front" which rolled into the Post area Monday afternoon and stayed Tuesday to even scatter some showers around the area also broke a hot three-day weekend during which the thermometer hit an even 100 degrees for Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Post received an official 21 of an inch of moisture in the Tuesday afternoon shower with the most moisture in the area being 60 of an inch reported from Hackberry.

Fluvanna received a three-inch downpour Monday night and Post's Little League All-Stars were "rained out" of their first-rounder in the Little League tourney at O'Donnell Monday night when a two-inch downpour stalled some of the cars of fans around the playing field.

You won't believe the Tuesday temperature either — high for the day was only 71, following a 95 degree high Monday.

Broadway Bunch to meet Tuesday

The proposed Main Street flower box project is on the agenda for discussion at a meeting of the Broadway Beautification Bunch at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 27, at the Reddy Room.

All members of the organization and others interested in the city's beautification are invited to attend the meeting, said Mrs. C. K. "Pee Wee" Pierce, president.

Crusade attracts big crowds here

Despite threatening weather, attendance Tuesday night at the week-long, community-wide "Crusade for Christ" exceeded that at Monday night's opening service, with a constant increase in attendance expected through Sunday's final service.

Approximately 300 persons were present at the Post Stampede Rodeo arena for the first service Monday night, with an even larger crowd present Tuesday night despite heavily overcast skies and a threat of more rain following a n early afternoon shower.

Bo and Dick Baker are evangelists in the crusade, which is being sponsored by 17 churches of Garza County.

Large crowds also attended the first two morning services, held at 10 o'clock Monday and Tuesday mornings at the Community Center. Attendance at the Tuesday morning service was estimated at 130.

Each evening service at the rodeo arena starts at 8 o'clock. Ministers of most of the participating churches have been seated each (See Crusade, page 8)

Takes close look at Post schools

Dr. William E. Barron, who was employed on a part-time basis by the Post schools seven years ago, as an educational consultant, has submitted his 1971 written report to Post trustees after a recent fact-finding visit here.

The University of Texas educator serves as a prod for the trustees and the administration to employ the best available ideas in the development of the local school system.

His reports over the years have covered a wide range of educational subjects and have been instrumental in considerable improvement to the local school system because they have pointed the way toward better things and higher goals.

His current effort is aimed primarily at the development of long and short range goals for the Post schools via a well thought-out planning program.

Such a planning program must of necessity start at the very top with the trustees and be developed right down through the faculty. The principals need some five and 10-year range objectives and some specifics for each new year. It all needs to be well planned and coordinated.

Dr. Barron also takes the opportunity during his visits here to make a wide range of suggestions and proposed changes. He rightfully says that educational programs are the "primary work" of the schools.

A separate story on Dr. Barron's 1971 report on Post schools will be found in today's Dispatch, beginning on the front page.

Dr. Barron does not take up space by pointing to any local accomplishments. He uses his time and words to urge changes, and when his recommendations are overlooked one year you can be sure his next report will re-emphasize each major point which hasn't been taken care of since he last was in Post.

This time he obviously was "miffed" at the trustees' decision to make the effort and spend the money to launch a quality athletic program.

Obviously, his suggestions will not always "set well" with everybody involved in the educational process here, but his ideas are useful and stimulating.

All of which doesn't mean that the Post schools are filled with soft spots, but only that your school trustees and administration see the value of having the recommendations of an experienced educator who will say exactly what he thinks.

His consulting services are extremely useful and we think the parents will be interested in his observations. But we wrote this editorial to explain his direct approach.—JC

Some towns soon to get their chance

The plight of this nation's cities is now so great that there is no question but that the American small towns are going to bounce back.

The only questions are when—and what kind of small towns.

Government at both national and state levels already are "making motions" to encourage business and industry to move out of the cities back to smaller communities. At the same time the cities are roosting on government's doorstep, both in the national and state capitals, trying to wedge tax help from the "big boys."

It is pretty obvious to all students of city problems that the most economical way to solve this is to spread some of the economic wealth back to the smaller towns rather than pump billions of tax dollars into a city situation which has no bottom but has become sort of an open pit operation.

As to the when question for this movement to really get started, it could come a whole lot sooner than you think.

The 1972 political campaign, with candidates looking for issues, might polarize it. If that doesn't, the pure weight of excessive cost of doing business in the city is going to force the business community to desert the frantic cities who must keep turning the knob tighter and tighter in their efforts to stay afloat.

The more important question really is "what kind of small towns" will benefit.

We heard the premise put the other day in a serious discussion of this point that Post is "too small a small town" to benefit from the flow back.

We disagree that our size is the determining factor. Our point of view is that it is the small town with the "firstist" that will get the "mostist."

It is the small town, wide awake enough to be ready and willing and to have the necessary facilities to offer which stands to benefit.

We are firmly convinced that small towns must get ready. They must evaluate themselves, working to improve their weak points and emphasizing their strong points. That takes some vision, some cooperation, and a continuing faith in the old "American dream."

It's going to be up to the people in each small town whether or not they can come back and start growing again. The climate is going to be right sooner than you think. Which should leave us all with something to think about—and do something about.—JC

TOO BAD ABOUT all the rodeos and horse shows having to be postponed or cancelled on account of the epidemic of Venezuelan Equine Encephalitis, but it's even worse that so many horses are stricken.

As reported in last Thursday's Dispatch and again in today's, there is a good chance that the epidemic will be brought under control in time for the Post Stampede Rodeo to go ahead as scheduled.

IF THINGS AREN'T under control by that time, we'll just have to forego this year's rodeo and chalk it up to hard luck, as Snyder, Tulla, Floydada and a number of other area towns have already had to do.

They went ahead and held the John Coomer Memorial Rodeo in Wylie, Tex., last Thursday because the quarantine did not affect the bucking horses, which had been in the area since the previous Monday. But Wylie's rodeo parade was horseless, with stick horses, bikes and even a riding lawnmower used for transportation.

ONE HAPPY BUNCH of parade watchers, though, was Wylie's street department clean-up crew. They leaned back on their brooms and said it was the best parade they'd ever seen!

The man up the street says the nicest thing about an egotist is that he never goes around talking about other people.

THAT DOWNTOWN block on Avenue I between Man and 10th Streets sometimes can be twice as dangerous as "Calamity Corner" at the intersection of East Main (U. S. Hwy.) and Avenue F.

There haven't been as many serious accidents on the one-block stretch of Avenue I as there have been at "Calamity Corner," but if some drivers don't take to looking behind them when they back away from the curb on Avenue I, there's going to be a wreck there someday that will put any crash that has occurred at "Calamity Corner" in the shade.

THAT "BIG WRECK" came close to happening at noon last Thursday, and I hope the galoot who backed out without looking behind him, sees this and, for the sake of his own neck and that of other drivers, doesn't let it happen again.

At a city council meeting here not long ago, a suggestion was made that one of the council members be appointed to make a study of all existing ordinances in order that obsolete ones might be done away with and the outdated provisions of some of the other ordinances brought up to date.

LIKE SO MANY other things that are brought up at city council meetings, nothing more was ever done about updating the ordinances, which disappointed this reporter, who figured there might be some "good stories" in some of the old outdated ordinances.

I am reminded of what I might have missed now that I have read where a history teacher at a high school in Illinois looked into some of the old laws littering the statute books of some of the towns in Illitourist information centers all over the state. It may also be obtained free from the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, P.O. Box 12276, Austin, Texas 78711.

The announcement was made by Lester Prokop, president of the Survey Committee, state agency which compiled the marker guide. The booklet was published by the Texas Historical Foundation.

The 109-page guide lists over 8,000 historical markers and their locations in cities and towns throughout the state. The number of markers represents an increase of approximately 3,000 since the last edition of the guide, published in 1969.

Skimming the booklet, the historical-minded tourist can find markers at, for example, the community named "Nameless," in Travis County, or at the smallest state park in Texas, Acton State Historic Site, which consists of a .006 acre plot containing the graves of Davy Crockett's second wife and two of his children.

Or if he prefers, the traveler can visit the boyhood home of notorious outlaw John Wesley Hardin, near Moscow community, or the Dallas home of lovely Confederate spy Belle Boyd.

Mysterious glassy rocks known as tektites, called "jewels of the moon" by Indians, are mentioned in the marker for Bedias community. Locally called "bediasites," the rocks come from outer space, according to some authorities.

The "Boll Weevil Railway" (Texas & Brazos Valley Railroad) is commemorated in a marker at Teague. In its youth the historic railroad also bore the ignominious nickname of "Turnip and Bean Vine," which recalls the farmland through which it traveled.

THE OFFICE OF CIVIL DEFENSE DEFINES "PROTECTION FACTOR" (PF) AS THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THE AMOUNT OF FALLOUT GAMMA RADIATION RECEIVED BY AN UNPROTECTED PERSON AND THAT RECEIVED BY ONE IN A FALLOUT SHELTER.

FOR EXAMPLE, AN OCCUPANT OF A SHELTER WITH PF 40 WOULD BE EXPOSED TO A DOSE RATE 1/40th (OR 2 1/2%) OF THE RATE HE WOULD BE EXPOSED TO IF OUTSIDE AND COMPLETELY UNPROTECTED.

School districts to receive $121.90 in state funds for each ADA student

AUSTIN — Texas school districts this year will receive $121.90 in state funds for each student in average daily attendance during 1970-71.

This record-breaking Available School Fund allotment, which will total nearly $302,486,800 statewide, was approved July 10 by the State Board of Education. The 1971-72 school year allocation is based on last year's average daily attendance of 2,479,400 students in all Texas public schools. Actual enrollment tops 2.7 million.

The State Available School Fund is financed by earnings of the Permanent School Fund and various dedicated taxes. After a portion of the Available School Fund is set aside for the purchase of state-adopted textbooks, the remainder is distributed each year to the public schools.

Local districts may use their allocation to help pay for annual operating expenses, including teacher salaries.

The State Available School Fund is one of the two major state sources of public school funding. The other, the Permanent School Fund, is a perpetual resource composed of investment trust and landed endowment.

Income from this endowment includes oil and gas royalties, motor vehicle taxes, and $45.8 million in ad valorem taxes. Earnings from the Permanent School Fund are deposited to the State Available School Fund.

The Permanent School Fund has grown from $2 million in 1854 to more than $835 million. These funds are invested in municipal bonds, government bonds, corporate bonds, and common and preferred stocks.

? Your Name ?

WHAT'S IN IT?

By CHARLES DIDWAY

JOLLY

Nicknames were responsible for many of the surnames originating several hundred years ago when it became necessary that a person be identified by something more than a first name such as Tom, Dick or Harry.

The surname Jolly, for instance, is traced back to one who was "cheerful, lively, agreeable." The early form of the name was the Old French "jollif," meaning "jolly, merry, gay, festive." Similarly, the early form of the English word "bailey" was the Old French "baillif."

The name occurs in a number of forms both in the British Isles and France. Besides Jolly we find it spelled as Jolley, Jollie, Jolliff and Jolliffe. In England, Jolliffe is the family name of the barons Hylton.

Found in early English records is a Henry Jolly in Yorkshire in 1379, as well as a Robertus Jolyf and an Alicia Jolyff.

The names Jolly and Jollie were recorded in Scotland as early as the 14th century, and the names are on record in Ireland since the 16th century.

Alexander Jolly was a bishop of Moray, Scotland, of whom William Wordsworth wrote, "His history belongs to the records of primitive Christianity on account of the devout simplicity of his character."

Pierre Charles Emile Jolly, born in 1896, is a French administrator who serves as director-general of the Paris Chamber of Commerce and commander of the Legion of Honor.

John Lawlor Jolly, born in 1840 in Canada, moved to Wisconsin in 1847, served in the Civil War and represented the state of Wisconsin in the 52nd U. S. Congress.

There is a Jolley, Iowa, and a Jollytown, Penn.

before freezing, packaging material used, storage temperature and kind of food stored. Do not store for too long. For example, fruits and vegetables have a storage time of not more than one year.

Timely Tips from CHDA

By JANIS CHOATE

SUCCESS IN FREEZING

One of the simplest, fastest ways to preserve foods at home is to freeze them.

Freezing retains the natural color, fresh flavor and food value of most fruits, vegetables and meats far better than any other method of food preservation.

All of you are aware that summer is the best time to freeze fruits and vegetables because they are in season and less expensive. To maintain quality and nutritional value during storage life, follow the five keys for success.

1. Careful selection of foods to be frozen is very important. Foods taken from a freezer will not be any better than they were before being frozen and stored.

2. Speed in preparation is necessary. Promptness in handling, chilling and freezing any product helps retain quality. Prevent discoloration by adding a little powdered ascorbic acid or commercial anti-darkening preparation.

3. Proper packaging is important if you are to keep food items from drying out and preserve food value, flavor and pleasing texture. Glass, metal and rigid plastics are suggested packaging material as they are moisture-vapor-resistant (prevent evaporation that results in freezer burn). Most bags, sheets of freezer wrapping materials and waxed cartons made for freezing are also moisture-vapor-resistant. Ordinary wax paper, aluminum foil, sandwich bags, cottage cheese and butter cartons should not be used; they do not prevent evaporation.

Rigid containers will probably be best for liquid packs. Check to see that the seal is airtight. Application of freezer tape where lid and container come together will help.

Bags and wraps will be best for dry-packed foods. Be sure to squeeze all air from the filled bag. Twist the top, fold in half and secure. The bags may then be placed in cardboard containers to protect against punctures and make stacking easier.

4. Fruits and vegetables should be frozen soon after they are packed. Once they are frozen, store at 0 degrees F. or below. Put no more unfrozen food into a freezer than will freeze within 24 hours. Usually this will be 2 to 3 pounds of food per cubic foot of freezer space.

5. Length of storage is another important factor. Frozen foods will not retain quality indefinitely. The length of time before loss of quality depends on proper handling

Panhandle South Plains Fair catalogues mailed

LUBBOCK — Catalogs listing more than $38,000 in cash premiums for the 54th annual edition of the Panhandle South Plains Fair are now being distributed.

Steve L. Lewis, manager, said about 4,500 copies of the catalog, slightly larger this year, are being mailed to prospective exhibitors, superintendents and others.

The fair is slated Sept. 27-Oct. 2 this year.

The bulk of the premiums are earmarked for the open livestock show, which is expected to draw record numbers this year. A total of $21,777 is being offered in the swine show and Angus, Milking Shorthorn, Jersey, Holstein and Brown Swiss cattle divisions.

In addition, $3,100 is tabbed for the junior livestock show, including premiums for breeding pigs, Brown Swiss, Holstein, Jersey, Milking Shorthorn, Hereford and Angus cattle judging.

A quarter horse show is offering $2,350 and $990 is pegged for the Appaloosa horse show. In addition an open horse show also will be presented during the weeklong fair run.

Exhibitors in the rabbit show will be competing for nearly $2,000 in premiums and $4,127.50 is being offered in the ever-popular women's division. Agriculture exhibitors may pick up as much as $1,688.50, while a total of $2,075 is earmarked for other fair events, including $1,250 for the big parade of bands.

Lewis said that persons interested in obtaining copies may stop at the fair office on the fairgrounds or request them by mail by writing to the Fair Association at P. O. Box 208, Lubbock, Texas 79408.

Special days for city and area students, college students, military personnel and others are being planned again this year.

Tennessee Ernie Ford, who set and still holds the box office record for a weeklong engagement at the fair, returns to headline the Fair Park Coliseum state this year. He will be presented on the first three days of the fair.

On Thursday, an all-star Mexican variety show featuring a songstress Lucha Villa and recording star Jose Alfredo Jimenez and the Guadalarajas, will be in the spotlight.

On Friday and Saturday, Merle Haggard, who has climbed to the top in the country and western music field, will appear along with his wife, Bonnie Owens, and The Strangers.

A free attraction — the daredevil Sky Kings, who perform on sways — has been scheduled at 5:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. daily.

Tickets purchased prior to the fair opening will be accompanied by free gate admission passes.

Mail order requests now are being accepted by the Fair Association.

What Does Your Credit Bureau Do?

The credit bureau provides necessary information to credit granters to show how well a person has earned the privilege of credit.

Most people pay their bills as agreed and the credit bureau helps to speed the granting of credit for them. Some consumers are saved from over-obligating themselves and their families because the credit bureau maintains records that show a prospective credit grantee that the person has a recurring record of financial instability. Most credit granters will draw the conclusion that such a record would indicate further indebtedness to be unwise.

Thus the credit bureau can furnish the information that may keep a person from compounding his financial problems.

Through all these services the credit bureau serves the community and makes it possible for consumers and credit granters to deal with one another in an atmosphere of mutual trust and goodwill.

Some disabled veterans to get free 1972 auto license plates

AUSTIN — Details of a new program which will provide free 1972 automobile license plates to some disabled veterans were revealed today by the Texas Highway Department.

The program was set up by an act of the 62nd Legislature.

To qualify, an applicant must:

- Be a Texas resident;
- Be a veteran of the armed forces of the United States;
- Have a disability rating of 70 per cent or more;
- Be drawing compensation from the federal government as the result of service-connected disability.

A qualified veteran is entitled to register one passenger car or light commercial vehicle with a manufacturer's rated carrying capacity of one ton or less for his own use without paying the prescribed registration fee. There is a statutory fee of $1 which must accompany each application.

Specially designed license plates will be issued with the letters "DV" appearing as either a prefix or suffix to the license number. The words "Disabled Vet" also will appear on the plates.

Vehicles with Disabled Vet plates will be exempt from paying parking fees charged by any governmental authority other than the federal government. This includes parking meters.

The license plates will not be available until the beginning of the 1972 registration year. The law provides that the disabled veteran must make application by October 1 preceding the registration year for which the plates are requested.

All Disabled Vet plates will be issued directly from the Motor Vehicle Division of the Texas Highway Department in Austin.

As a prerequisite, the veteran's disability rating must be verified by the Veterans Administration or the branch of the armed forces from which he draws his disability compensation.

Also, the Texas title to the vehicle must be issued in the name of the veteran.

Application forms and instructions may be secured from the Texas Highway Department, Motor Vehicle Division, 40th and Jackson Avenue, Austin, Texas 78703.

The forms also will be available from Motor Vehicle Division District Offices in Houston, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Port Arthur, El Paso, Fort Worth, Dallas, Lubbock, Amarillo and Longview, as well as county tax offices; county veteran service officers; American Legion headquarters in Austin and Veterans of Foreign Wars headquarters in Austin.

THE CASE FOR WELFARE
Dear Editor:

In these days of the welfare Cadillac, it is certainly encouraging to read that the county can no longer pay hospitalization and doctor bills for the "needy".

Each of us knows that there are indigent people in Garza County and each of us also knows that there are "pseudo-indigent" people. I just hope the attorney general knows what he is doing when he "rules" that the counties cannot pay the medical bills for the persons who REALLY need that financial assistance.

I just can't go along with Garza County not being able to help the people who really need it when our elected officials are having dropped ceilings and carpeting installed in their offices and meeting rooms. It seems to me a few well-placed nails and, perhaps, a coat of paint would suffice.

And it gets pretty hot in my place of employment. Do you suppose the commissioners' court would consider air-conditioning it after they have helped pay for air-conditioning an office in Lamesa?

Wisdom on a Wall

By George Miller

A fellow named Robert Reiser has been collecting comments and sayings written on public walls, and has published the more printable ones in a book called "Graffiti". At first glance, one might think there would be little of interest in such a collection. My father used to teach me that "fools names and fools faces always appear in public places". But surprisingly enough, there's been some wisdom penned on public walls.

Take for example, this thought, "We didn't invent sin we're just trying to perfect it". The man who wrote that deserves an "A" in theology! So many people seem to think they are the world's worst sinners. They see their mistakes as so gross, so evil and so unforgivable that God becomes a furious judge just waiting to plunge them into hell.

The fact is, most of our sins are pretty foolish. They're not pleasant, of course, but they're not that glamorous or dramatic either. Unfortunately, many of us are hungry for some distinction, and the only thing that looks promising is the hideousness of our sins. So we act like we created sin all on our own.

But we didn't, it's been around a lot longer than we have. Most of us are rank amateurs compared to some who have gone before us. Our trouble is that we're trying to hard to perfect it, make it acceptable, prove to ourselves and others that we're as good as anybody else. We do this by insisting that bad is really good, which is a pretty neat trick even in our mixed-up generation. Or we do it by covering it up, hoping that no one will notice the smudges on our lives.

Either way we end up lying, and we know it. It's hard to build perfection on a lie. So not only have we failed to invent sin, we can't even perfect it. We're just trying to. What a pitiful waste of time and energy.

The man who penned that saying on the wall may have been a "fool" but he speaks wisdom to us all. St. Paul considered himself a "fool" for Christ and spent his life instructing new Christians in the nature of sin and its danger. He knew the problem first hand and firmly believed that sin was neither of our own making nor something we could perfect by ourselves.

If he were alive today, and had an opportunity to see this saying written on a wall, I think he'd add AMEN!

Area youth is taking basic Army training

By TOMMIE WILKE

Greetings from Southland. Not much going on right now except a few rain showers. Farmers are still waiting for some rain and they have really been pushing the irrigation water and down those rows of cotton. For the crops have really done very well, but if it doesn't rain in a few days, well, it will be another dry spell. Weatherman talks a little more favorable today (Monday), but let's keep our fingers crossed!

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Dunn and Mrs. Bob Dyess, Blaine, visited the weekend at Possum King Lake. Didn't do any fishing, but did a lot of water skiing and playing in the water. Hubert and Mrs. E. L. Dunn of Dallas visited and stayed for a few days with them.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Mueller of Artesia, N.M., visited the weekend at Ft. Ord, Calif.

After basic training he will go to Germany for a 16 months tour of duty. Larry is a 1970 Southland graduate. Mr. and Mrs. Lockridge and family, who have lived on a ranch near Southland for quite a few years, are moving to East Texas in the next few weeks. Sure hate to lose this family from our community, but wish them the best!

John Flemming, former Southland community resident, came by the post office one day last week and we had a nice little chat. He and his wife are living in Tahoka and he was wondering why our Southland news wasn't in the Lynn County News any more. Says he has to borrow his neighbor's Post Dispatch to see what we're doing over here. He was asking if I knew anything about the Wrights who used to live on the Bartlett place. One of the boy's name was "Sunshine." Do any of you remember them, and if so, do you know where they are? Sunshine and Joe Gayle Flemming were good friends but have lost contact over the years, so they were just wondering about them. He mentioned the names of a lot of the old timers around here, some are still here and some are gone.

Mrs. P. W. Crawford, who underwent major surgery at Mercy Hospital last week, is doing very nicely this week. Don't know just what day she will be coming home and we certainly hope that all continues to go well with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Long have gone to Virginia to visit with Mrs. Long's relatives.

Breonne Winterrowd has enrolled for the fall semester at WTSU in Canyon.

We extend our deepest sympathies to the P. M. Wheatley, Arno Allbrecht, H. D. Hallman and Leo Stolle families in the loss of Mrs. Fern Wheatley Hallman last week. She had been ill for several months, but her death was very unexpected. May God continue to comfort these families in their great sorrow.

Weekend guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Ellis were her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gyles, Terry, John and Janie, from Duncan, Okla.

Robert Long left Monday morning for Oklahoma to be with a sister who is very ill at this time.

We extend our deepest sympathies to Mr. and Mrs. Buford Jones on the loss of Mrs. Jones' sister, Mrs. Emma Stanley of Vernon. Mr. and Mrs. Jones spent Sunday night here with their son, J. B. and family, and went to Vernon Monday. May God comfort them in their loss.

Jeanette Brosch of Dallas spent the weekend here with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Brosch. Others visiting in the Brosch home during the weekend were Randy Stengel of Sherman, Sid Stengel of Plano, Father Roland Bukemper of Floydada, Karen Stengel of Florida, and Mrs. Oscar Heinrich of Slaton.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Pennell and Stacy Callaway, Jr. and Mrs. Jerry Pennell and Kim and Mrs. Dorothy Dugger from Lubbock attended the Pinnell-Royal National Reunion which was held in Cisco this past weekend. Approximately 100 people attended with several states being represented. Donald was elected president for the coming year and Opal was reelected secretary. They were not down riday and came back Sunday.

Brother Harmonson's sister and niece stopped by the D. D. Pennells last week and visited a while. Brother Harmonson is a former Southland Baptist pastor. They also went by the Southland cemetery where their mother and father are buried.

Mrs. Dillard Dunn is at her home now after undergoing heart surgery recently. Last week I reported she was in the West Texas Hospital, but I found out later that she was in the Methodist Hospital.

Until next week, here is a little something extra. "The greatest happiness of life is conviction that we are loved, loved for ourselves, or rather loved in spite of ourselves."

DALLAS—What kinds of federal assistance are available to farmers, ranchers, farm workers, small business men, and others hit by the severe drought in parts of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico?

Answers, in general terms, have been consolidated in a 16-page pamphlet prepared in English and Spanish by the President's Interagency Drought Committee, Dallas. It's called "Guide to Federal Emergency Drought Help Available," with separate versions for each state.

Copies of the pamphlet are available at county offices that handle U. S. Department of Agriculture drought assistance programs and in formation, including County Extension Agent, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), Farmers Home Administration (FHA), and Soil Conservation Service (SCS). State and regional offices of Small Business Administration, Internal Revenue Service and Department of Labor also have copies for individuals who ask for it.

"Information on federal assistance in the pamphlet has to be general because all programs are not effective in all counties of the state," points out George Hastings, chairman of the Interagency Drought Committee.

Specific types of assistance have to be requested, county by county, depending on need, Hastings said. Martin Garber, USDA representative and committee vice chairman, suggests that any farm operator or owner who needs assistance through the federal government should discuss his needs with his county ASCS, SCS or FHA office. These offices know which programs operate in each county and can place requests for additional assistance that may be needed.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH
The sermon subject at the 11 a. m. service at the First Christian Church here Sunday, July 25, will be, "Special Attraction: For Sinners Only!" The Lord's Supper will also be observed. The public is cordially invited, said Bernard S. Ramsey, minister. There is a supervised nursery.

Texas students are to be among best immunized in United States

AUSTIN — Texas school children will soon be among the best immunized in the country.

The recent session of the Texas Legislature amended the Texas Education Code to require immunizations against certain childhood diseases as a condition for entering school.

"This new state law will have great impact on the immunization level of the school population and, eventually, all the population of Texas," says Dr. J. E. Peavy, state health commissioner. "We are delighted with the law."

The Texas State Department of Health now has authority to set the rules and regulations for implementation of the compulsory immunizations. The Board of Health has set Jan. 1, 1972, as the date by which all children's immunization series must have begun. School districts that have required compulsory immunizations in the past will still maintain their usual September deadlines for proving immunizations to enter school.

The immunizations previously required for all school children were set only by the individual school district, but now the state is requiring immunizations for up to six childhood diseases in some cases.

Elementary students will now be required to be immunized against diphtheria, tetanus, polio and smallpox. If there is no history of measles, that shot will also be required. All children under 12 years of age must also be immunized against rubella.

The number of required immunizations is fewer for junior high, high school, and college-level students. Junior high and high school require immunizations against only diphtheria, polio tetanus, and smallpox. College requires full immunization against polio if the student is under 19 years of age, and immunization against diphtheria, tetanus, and smallpox within the past ten years.

Nearly every student in the state will be covered by this broad new law. Immunizations will be required of students in kindergartens that are associated with elementary schools, all the elementary or secondary public schools, private or parochial schools, academies, colleges, universities, schools for the blind deaf, mentally ill and mentally retarded. The only children exempted are those with religious conflicts, or medical problems — those that a physician determines would be injurious to health.

Dr. Peavy said he "urged all parents to contact their physician or public health clinic now, and begin their children's immunization program long before they enter school."

Barron report—

 "If a program is 'demanded' by the citizenry, then explain the costs and if they are willing to pay for it, implement it."
 Dr. Barron noted that from a three-year study of enrollment by classes in Post High School, "it is evident that few curricular changes have been made", citing the discontinuance of five courses (Speech III, French I, Shop I and II and Mechanical Drawing II) and the addition of the same number (Related Math I and II, Cooperative Vocational Agriculture, General Business and Reading).

Presenting a table comparing retention of pupils in the first five grades here over the last two years Dr. Barron suggested (1) careful study of any case for retention before a decision is reached, with the final decision based on the best interest of the pupil, and (2) an apparent need exists to investigate the cause for 16 first grade retentions in the last two years.

Dr. Barron called attention by table to the fact that approximately 10 per cent of the Post schools' student body transfer in and out each year.

He suggested some "exploration should be made toward consolidation" due to obvious reduction in taxes from oil firms in the district in the years ahead. He noted that the ten largest taxpayers in the district list oil as a major resource. He saw no immediate solution to this problem, but recommended exploration toward consolidation as one effort that could be made.

On assessments, he said "the assessment of homes in Post is in need of study."

Dr. Barron said two examples checked showed a purchase price of $8,600 and $8,400 on the houses sold and that if the 75 per cent assessment ratio were applied to these two homes, the assessed valuation should have been $6,450 and $6,300. But in each case, the consultant noted, "the assessed valuation exceeded the purchase price."

These may be isolated cases, he said, but a strong sampling should be made to determine if these are exceptions or if a review of assessment practices is in order.

Dr. Barron also listed five "educated guesses" as a result of his recent visit to the Post schools:

1. Little innovation in teaching techniques was noted at either elementary or secondary level.
2. Classes are still textbook oriented and the focus is the same as in the past.
3. Little evidence is available concerning real progress in in-service training.
4. Nothing has been done concerning the suggested self-evaluation program.
5. Neither an instructional staff member nor a counselor has been added to the staff (both were recommended by Dr. Barron in his 1970 report).

In his report conclusions, Dr. Barron wrote:

"The board has been supplied with a great array of financial data that supports and questions certain activities and programs. In fact, there is more basic financial data available for decision making than is usually found in school districts. This is a credit to the chief school officer."

"Esprit is quite high among teachers, so again I caution you concerning reduction of the $400 excess."

"The board is to be commended for sticking with a plan for facility and financial improvement. I hope you become as program oriented as you are fiscal, facility and athletic in the near future because that is the 'primary work' of any educational enterprise."

Dr. Barron devoted the first several pages of his annual consultant's report to reviewing the focus of his previous reports and his suggestions as to how to establish a program of long and short range goals for the Post schools and implement them.

He listed as "examples" of such goals, (1) career education for all who can benefit, (2) elimination of racial or cultural isolation, (3) quality education for all students, including gifted or talented, so-called average, and the culturally, educationally and economically deprived, and (4) innovation and renewal wherever it can strengthen education."

Pastor officiates at sister's rites

At the request of the family, the Rev. George L. Miller conducted the funeral services for his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Baskins, 35, who died Sunday night in the Valley Community Hospital at Sylmar, Calif.

The rites were conducted at 2:30 p.m. yesterday afternoon in the First Presbyterian Church at Granada Hills, Calif.

Mrs. Baskins, mother of three, one a baby only two months old, died of complications following major surgery.

Survivors include her husband, Dean; three children, Christine, Dena and Craig; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy O. Miller of Lancaster, Calif.; and another brother, James Miller of Aptos, Calif.

Rev. Miller flew to California from Lubbock Monday morning. Giles C. McCrary flew to Sylmar Tuesday afternoon to attend the funeral services.

McCrary planned to return to Post via Houston where he will visit with S. E. Camp who is scheduled for surgery there Friday.

GROUP ATTENDS 4H ELECTRIC CAMP

Ten Garza County representatives took part in the 12th annual 4-H Electric Camp sponsored by Southwestern Public Service Co. and held July 12-16 at Camp Scott Able in the Sacramento Mountains of New Mexico. Bill Harr of the Lubbock office of the electric company instructed the local group

Rotarians hear two evangelists

Post Rotarians "heard" both Bo and Dick Baker, the two evangelists who are conducting the community-wide Crusade for Christ at the rodeo grounds this week, at their weekly luncheon Tuesday.

Dick sang one of the hymns he has composed and accompanied himself on the piano, after leading Rotarians in singing "How Great Thou Art."

Bo Baker gave a 15-minute talk on "The Changing World" in which he pointed out that while most things today are changing rapidly "God's word is unchangeable."

They were introduced by the Rev. Robert Griffin, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Dr. Charles G. Tubbs was inducted into the club as a new member by Bob Collier prior to the program.

School board—

 program" in junior high school next year as a result of the successful learning center program.

Cost of the program included portions of salaries of three teachers who participated in learning center instruction, depreciation of the equipment, and "consumables" averaging about $6.50 per student.

New teachers employed by trustees were Samuel Buchanan and his wife, Tanya, who will come to Post from Cotton Center, and Mrs. Linda McGinnis who is returning to Post from Amarillo.

Mr. Buchanan, who is studying for his master's degree in math at Texas Tech, will teach high school mathematics; Mrs. Buchanan, part-time librarian and junior high social studies; and Mrs. McGinnis, junior high science.

The resignation accepted by the board was from Miss Lucila Valenzuela, learning center aide who is accepting a teaching position elsewhere.

In other actions, reports or discussions, trustees:

(1) Approved establishment of a savings account to cover the cost of the purchase of the new I.B.M. typewriters for the high school typing class, which will be paid for over 25 months, enabling the schools to save an estimated $400 through interest on the money set aside for the delayed payments on the typewriters.

(2) Decided to authorize Trustee Bob Macy, who is working on the project to construct two new tennis courts, to check costs of building own backstop fences and of lower price between two contractors.

Macy reported efforts to build the courts in the City-County Park with joint participation by city and county with the possibility of federal funding had "fallen through." The school will proceed to build the courts on its own. Macy said he has a "close estimate" of between $10,000 and $10,500 for a "turn key job" including backstops with the playing surface better than concrete but not the highest quality asphalt type surface previously discussed. He said the courts would be comparable to those at tennis centers in Lubbock and probably would be built by some of the same people.

Construction could be started within about two weeks and completed by September, he said.

(3) Transferred $4,382.89 to the athletic fund at the request of the administration.

(4) Approved the contract of Pat N. Walker to collect delinquent taxes for the school district for another year with Walker receiving 15 per cent commission on collections, the same rate as in his past contracts, but only a guaranteed minimum of $100 monthly instead of $150.

We passed the "tab idea" on that night to the Snyder publisher by phone after we got home from the meeting—and the whole thing jelled slick as a whistle.

We think it will do the new college a whole lot of good.
