All-out clean-up effort scheduled here Saturday

25 organizations to unite forces

Post is scheduled to get a gigantic "spring cleaning" Saturday — if everything comes off according to present elaborate plan.

Some 25 youth and adult organizations have joined forces in an effort to clean all the litter out of and off of Post streets, vacant lots, and highway approaches.

The Woman's Culture Club, which is coordinating the first-such-ever effort, has assigned various cleanup areas to the various participating organizations.

Prizes are even being offered for "the best cleaner-upper" in each of the youth groups.

Mrs. Mary Mayo, chairman of the culture club's Shell Oil Contest committee, refused yesterday to predict just how many people actually will "get involved" in this spring clean-up but the potential is tremendous.

Everyone who is going to participate is asked to meet at the city-county park at 10 a.m. Saturday. All available pickups to haul off the debris also are requested at the same time.

The day has been officially designated by Mayor Giles C. McCrary as "All-Out Clean-Up Day."

Mrs. Mayo asked clean-up workers to wear work clothes and gloves and also to bring burlap bags or such for litter collection.

"If possible," she suggested, "wear red, white or blue clothing." That's the patriotic motive coming through in this first environmental undertaking.

With the Post High School Band collecting returnable bottles and aluminum cans to help pay the organization's expenses to Six Flags next month, all organizations in the clean-up effort are asked to assist the band by sorting these items from other litter and placing them in a cotton trailer at 308 Mohawk Drive, which is serving as a collection station for the band.

Mrs. Mayo said the youth prizes consist of a pair of free dinners at Toby's Restaurant and two tickets to the Zogi TV Revue here next Thursday night for each youth voted as "the hardest worker for the day" in each participating youth group.

"We still lack several areas in which no one is now scheduled to work," Mrs. Mayo said, citing one of these areas the Gail Highway. She asked any individuals or other groups who want to participate in the clean-up to report to the park ready to work at 10 a.m. Saturday.

The Green Thumbers went to work yesterday on their assignment. Cleaning the litter in the area from East Main Street north to East 15th Street between Broadway and the Santa Fe railroad track.

Joe Williams, highway department maintenance foreman here, has promised to put out warning signs on the highways where "litter-pickers" will work, and State Highway Patrolman Ken Gilbreath will patrol these highways during the clean-up.

Supt. of Schools Bill Shiver has promised to call for an all-out clean-up of school district property on Friday, April 23.

While this big clean-up is going on, the Junior Amity Study Club and the Post Rotary Club also have joined forces in sponsoring another Saturday morning clean-up.

Elementary students in grades four and five are helping the Rotary Club clean up three streets in Mill Village. This cleanup day is in connection with Junior Amity's program in the 4th and 5th grades here this week.

The women's club will furnish refreshments for all their young workers on this project.

All Garza County 4-H club members will clean the Tahoka highway right-of-way, beginning at 9:30 a.m. Saturday. 4-Hers are asked to meet at the courthouse at that time and to join the workers on the job if they arrive late.

Mrs. Mayo told The Dispatch the assignment of youth groups participating in All-Out Clean-Up Day Saturday are as follows:

Boy Scouts, highway right-of-way from Terrace Cemetery into Post on US-380; FHA, US-84 from city limits to one mile south toward Snyder; Girl Scouts, Mill Village Road (Loop 46) from Clairmont on Highway to Snyder Highway.

4-H Clubs, Tahoka Highway from Caprock into Post; Cub Scouts, clean vacant lots north of Garza Memorial Hospital and also around hospital; Brownies, clean vacant lot north and east of Snake Shack on West Eighth.

FFA, clean former laundry location on South Broadway; PHS band, US-84 north from Post to top of caprock.

Cleanup duties assigned to adult organizations include:

Rotary Club, Mill Village area; Lions Club, NT LOTS IN DOWNTOWN area; Chamber of Commerce, downtown alleys; Post Jaycees, from Clairmont Highway on Loop 46 north to 15th street; Amity Junior Study Club, area between West Main and 15th Streets and Avenue

PRIZE MONEY INCENTIVE

Chamber votes $100 rodeo parade support

Financial encouragement for one of the best Post Stampede rodeo parades in many years was voted by Post Chamber of Commerce directors Monday night when they put up $100 for parade prize money to be matched by the rodeo organization.

Chamber directors before the vote said they hoped the larger contribution to the parade would provide prize money incentive for the best parade ever to open the rodeo here in early August.

Directors also voted a $50 contribution to the Garza County Historical Survey Committee to help finance its work, which directors pointed out has brought wide recognition to Post and Garza County.

The board also approved a $22.50 bill to pay for new directional signs to Post's sextuple oil well on the northwest edge of the city.

Jim Cornish reported that the Chamber's all-out membership drive launched in March has resulted in a gain of 29 new business and ranch memberships, 26 more individual memberships, and five increases by regular members for a total 1971 dues increase of $2,139. He said a dozen or so cards were still out and a few additional memberships were expected to be added.

He also reported the Post Cactus Garden completely financed with the Chamber's original donation of $350 for site preparation sufficient for those expenses. The Chamber had budgeted $700 for the project and the remaining $350 can now be applied on other 1971 projects.

A committee was named to look into Post's Christmas decorations. The decorations suffered severe wind damage two seasons ago and correspondence is being conducted by the Chamber office concerning "make good" on the seller's guarantee of serviceability of the decorations.

Since July 4th this year falls on a Sunday, directors instructed Secretary Wyvonne Kennedy to write several area towns and cities to de-

Flower Shower sponsors hope for big closeout

Friends of the Post Public Library are hoping for "a big closing weekend" which could make their Flower Shower and Trummage Sale, which ends here Saturday, the most successful benefit project in the library's five-year history. Mrs. Peeswee Pierce, one of the co-chairmen of the Flower Shower, reports profits to date have topped the $400 mark with a good stock and assortment of bedding plants still on hand for the weekend wind-up.

Postex Plant awarded government contract

Sen. John G. Tower advised The Dispatch by telegram last Thursday that General Services Administration officials are awarding a contract to Postex Plant for an indefinite quantity of cotton bed sheets.

The contract runs from July 1, 1971, through June 30, 1972, and sales could amount to $805,801, according to a GSA estimate.

Nine additional flats of bedding plants were secured from the Lubbock nursery Saturday to bolster short supplies in several popular items brought about by the opening rush last weekend.

Mrs. Rosemary Chapman, chairman of the rummage sale division of the benefit promotion, has been adding to the rummage offer in $5 daily with contributions continuing to come in.

The sale headquarters are at 107 West Main and is open from 10 to 6 p.m. daily this week.

On Saturday, the closing day of the project, the flower shower and rummage sale will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Proceeds from the sale will go into the library's memorial building fund which now totals approximately $5,000 in memorial gifts.

Funeral held for Aubrey R. Noble

Funeral services for Aubrey R. Noble, 68, of 412 West 11th St., were held at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the First Baptist Church at Wilson, with the Rev. Darold Baldwin, pastor, and the Rev. H. F. Scott of Lubbock officiating.

Noble, a retired bookkeeper, died about 6 a.m. Sunday at his home here after a lengthy illness. Born in Royce City, Tenn., Sept. 17, 1903, he lived at Greenville before moving to Wilson in 1932 and to Post in 1954.

Surviving are his wife, Alene, and two sons, Phillip Ray and Alton Dale, both of the home in Lubbock. He was preceded in death by his father, J. D. Noble, and his mother, Mrs. Iris Noble, both of Dallas.

Burial was in the Wilson Cemetery under the direction of Hudman Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Herman Thomas, Tom Cowan, Harold Keith, and the Rev. Steven Jiggs. Services were held at 3 p.m.

NEW COUNCILMEN SWORN IN

FIRST PLACE PLAQUE PRESENTED

Amanda Wheeler, winner of the 1971 Garza County Spelling Bee, is being presented her first place plaque by Mrs. Jack Windlow, pronouncer. Amanda's sister, Jenny, won second place, and their cousin, Kendon Wheeler, finished third for a Southland clean sweep.

—(Staff Photo)

Southland's Wheelers dominate spelling bee

Wheeler rhymes with spieler, but it should rhyme with speller.

Three Wheelers from Southland — two sisters and their cousin — won first, second and third places in the annual Garza County Spelling Bee held last Friday afternoon in the Post Junior High School Library.

The first place winner was Amanda Wheeler, 14-year-old eighth grade student at Southland, with her sister, Jenny, a 12-year-old seventh grader taking second place, and their cousin, Kendon Wheeler, a 13-year-old seventh grader, finishing third.

Amanda and Jenny are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Wheeler and Kendon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Wheeler. The trio outspelled 27 other students to win the three top places in the spelling bee.

Amanda correctly spelled "achromatic" after her sister Jenny had misspelled it to win first place and the right to represent Garza County in the regional spelling bee to be held in Lubbock May 1.

Their cousin Kendon had to be satisfied with third place after starting to spell "caterpillar" with a "ci".

Another Southland speller, 13-year-old Kelly Chaffin, who is in the seventh grade, won fourth after missing on the word "buoyant." She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Chaffin.

The last Post student to be eliminated was David Morrow, a fifth grade student and son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morrow. David misspelled "grievance."

Mrs. Carolyn Sawyers, bee director, presented a plaque to the first place winner, a blue ribbon to the winner in each grade represented and white ribbons to the other contestants.

Mrs. Jack Windlow was the pronouncer and judges were Barry Balzen, Mrs. V. C. Wheeler, Mrs. Ruby Lobban and Mrs. Beth Walker.

Horse Show is set for Sunday

Post's eighth annual Paint Horse Show, sponsored by the Garza County Sheriff's Posse, will be held Sunday, April 25, at the Post Stampede Rodeo arena, beginning at 12 noon.

Tommy Buckner of Lamesa will be judge of the show, which is approved by the American Paint Horse Association, Texas Paint Horse Club and West Texas and New Mexico Paint Horse Club.

There will be halter and performance classes, with the latter including pole bending, barrel racing, calf roping, cutting and other events.

Trophies will be awarded for grand and reserve champions and all first place winners, in addition to a high point all-around award, according to Floy Richardson, secretary.

BOBCAT, NOT WOLF, AT FARMER'S DOOR

Rex Welch, who farms nine miles north of Post on the Ralls highway, says he is managing to keep the wolf away from his door, but that he can't say the same for the bobcats.

Just before sundown last Saturday, a full-grown bobcat ventured up to the Welches' back door, but took off when Welch took a shot at it.

Welch said he didn't know if he hit the bobcat when he shot at it, but that he at least came close enough to "turn it a flip."

Four Negroes elected to Action Committee

Four Negro representatives of the target area were elected to Garza County's Community Action Committee Tuesday night at the April meeting of the board of directors in the Lorenzo Alexander Neighborhood Center.

They are Melvin Lee, Mrs. Mozelle Mitchell, Mrs. Hulene McDaniels and Mrs. Ruby Hambrick.

The public session, which drew the largest group since the committee was organized, saw a vote taken to re-charter the committee's Boy Scout troop and heard reports on bringing cable TV to the target area in May, a highly successful sewing class for girls, the progress of the two family planning classes now being conducted, and the current status of the proposed regional housing authority which would provide home construction loans to lower and medium income families.

Scoutmaster A. C. Douglas of the scout troop told the committee and Dr. B. E. Young, Scouter who came to discuss the re-chartering of the troop, that the unit hoped to complete necessary application papers for a new charter at a troop meeting at the center last night.

A troop committee named by the community action board includes William Scott, Willie Burleson, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Lee, and John Smith.

Mrs. Powell Shyles, director of the neighborhood center, told directors that this week she has a class of 26 girls ranging in ages from 10 through 14 years meeting at the center each afternoon after

Last rites held for Luther Reed

Last rites for Luther Reed, 78, a resident of Justiceburg for 67 years, were held at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Hudman Funeral Home chapel with the Rev. A. T. Nixon, pastor of the Justiceburg Baptist Church, officiating.

Reed, a retired farmer, died Friday in Ray's Hospitality Home in Lubbock following a long illness. He was born June 5, 1892 in Johnson County.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. W. L. Cantrell of Lubbock, three nephews and three nieces. Reed was a bachelor.

Interment was in the Justiceburg Cemetery under the direction of Hudman Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Bob Tidwell, John Boren, Sam Bevers, Billy Blacklock, Don Robison and Henry Key.

RAIN HEPED, BUT . . .

Garza designated for drought aid

Garza County has been declared a drought disaster area by President Nixon — despite last Saturday's welcome rain — but as yet no one here has been told what sort of federal aid farmers and ranchers can expect. All of the county received from .41 to 1.50 inches of moisture in Saturday mornings slow falling rain which ended shortly after sun-up.

GETTING WETTER An additional .15 of an inch of moisture was deposited in Post by rains Wednesday night and early this morning, according to the rain gauge measurement by the Southwestern Public Service Company here.

It was the first moisture — except for a .07 December shower — to fall over the county since November 1.

Post got an official .49 of an inch. Heaviest falls were up to 1.5 inches along the Lynn County line in the west and in the Southland area. Verbenia received .086 inch.

County Agent Syd Conner said the Garza County ASCS committee has received no information yet from Washington on what type of help to expect.

The last time Garza qualified for drought aid was away back in 1959 (See Drought Aid, page 8)

It's going to be interesting to see how big a "head of steam" the women get up here Saturday in their biggest spring clean-up undertaking in many years.

Trying to coordinate such an all-out effort by so many organizations is a big undertaking all by itself. But the women really take hold of something, especially something like a spring cleaning chore, they can all expect the litter to really

And with youth, which started the clean out on its present environmental binge, given major assignments, the combined forces should reduce local "trash levels" substantially.

Over on page 11 you'll find a full page reminder of All-Out Clean-Up Day Saturday sponsored by merchants who like the idea of a clean town.

Speaking of public service advertising, the First National Bank on page 3 has another "rain wanted" sign calling attention to the fact that a lot of moisture is going to be needed besides the early Saturday morning rain before the current drought is broken.

David and Ruth Ann Newby flew to Europe Tuesday for that semi-lifetime "continent tour." They are meeting their daughters, Meredith and Marcia, who have been in Europe since March, and the four will see what the girls haven't seen already.

David was trying to "finish up" the Post Cactus Garden by getting the signs before he left. But it wasn't easy. The sign painter Lubbock promised the signs for delivery three times — before David finally got them (and you just don't believe when that was).

David was getting his last sleep in his home bed before the "tour" when the phone rang at 5 a.m. on Tuesday. It was his sign painter.

"What are you doing" the painter said. "I've just finished your signs" — he made the story short, painter and signs got here just 20 minutes before David and his wife were to leave to catch the plane.

Why Manager Bobby Pierce has lumbered city workers to get the signs up soon, probably this week. (See Postings, page 8)

Vote for clean water May 18

The problems and costs surrounding sewage treatment are steadily mounting for cities and other local governmental agencies all over Texas.

About 80 per cent of the people of Texas, of more than 8.5 million, live in areas that either have now or soon will have inadequate systems for disposing of their sewage.

The City of Post a few months ago improved its sewage treatment plant and announced plans for even further improvements to meet state health requirements. In the face of stricter requirements, however, these improvements may prove only temporarily adequate, with the city in the not-too-distant future finding itself once again forced to update its sewage treatment system, perhaps to the extent of having to build a costly new plant.

Passage of Amendment No. 4 on the May 18 ballot would help Post and other cities take care of such problems by providing low-interest loans for sewage improvement projects.

The amendment would authorize the sale of $100 million in general obligation bonds by the state. Bonds would be issued at an interest rate not to exceed 6 per cent, which would insure their marketability. The proceeds would go to provide low-interest loans for the construction of public sewage treatment facilities.

In a program "to educate and inform Texas voters for passage of Amendment No. 4," the Clean Water for Texas Committee sets forth the following major reasons why every Texan, no matter where he lives, has an interest in its passage:

1. Financial: It will reduce the local tax burden in providing adequate sewage treatment facilities, and it will help bring back almost $200 million in federal tax money for use in Texas.

2. Environmental: It will help prevent improperly treated sewage from ruining our rivers, streams, and lakes and endangering the fish and wildlife.

3. Conservation: It will help preserve one of our most precious natural resources—water.

4. Public Health: It will help avoid serious health problems because of inadequate sewage treatment facilities.

With the many problems facing cities and other governments of all sizes, public agencies are finding it difficult, if not impossible, to continue providing new and expanded facilities under the present local-federal program which has local governments paying 67 per cent of the cost of sewage treatment facilities. The federal government now pays just 33 per cent of the cost.

With help from the clean water amendment, the local share will drop to 45 per cent and 25 per cent of this would come from the state loan. The federal share would rise to 55 per cent.

The great incentive to update our sewage treatment facilities would be lost if this amendment is not passed, not to mention the loss of economic assistance to the state with almost $300 million in jobs from the projects.—CD

Education costs are high enough

One of the main arguments against the Texas legislature raising college tuition fees in its search for more tax money is the fact that from grade school through college, education is becoming a costly, complicated business.

In fact, it has gotten to the point where education at all levels may be affected by taxpayer revolts and the inability of students and their families to pay tuition and other expenses of higher education.

At higher educational levels, rising costs are putting college out of reach of millions of American families. It costs us $4,400 a year at present to attend a university. Consequently, applications are down at many institutions.

If the present trend continues, estimates place tuition and living costs at a university in excess of $8,000 a year before the end of the 1970's.

Currently, a bachelor's degree at a first-rank university costs a student about $22,000—a doctorate up to $47,000. It requires a fourth to a half of an average family's income to pay expenses at most colleges if the student lives on campus.

Anything that can be done to hold the line on the costs of acquiring an education should work out to the country's benefit. As it is, it appears that the economics of acquiring an education may largely solve the problems of student unrest. Those fortunate enough to attend college will be there but for one purpose—to get the most for their money in their chosen fields of learning.—CD

What our contemporaries are saying

The British junked their old currency system and moved to a decimal system where a pound is now worth 100 pennies. We hope they have better luck keeping it that way than we've had keeping a dollar worth 100 cents.—Alexandria, Journal-Standard.

If you've made up your mind you can't do something—you're absolutely right!—Beamrider, Indianapolis.

LAST THURSDAY, April 15, was a big day. Not only was it the last day for filing your income tax return, but it also was the first day in over six months for us to get as much as a drop of rain.

While Thursday's rain didn't amount to much, it was considerably better than what we'd been getting, and it set the stage for bigger showers Saturday.

APRIL 15 WAS also our No. 2 son's birthday, to which we haven't paid much attention since we lost him as an income tax exemption some six years ago.

The income tax deadline brought on the usual flurry of late filers. One fellow told me he'd just figured out why they call it the 1040. "That's how it works," he said—"10 for us, 40 for the government, 10 for us, 40 for the government, 10 for us, 40 for the government, 10 for us..."

AND AFTER reading the directions and filling out the back pages, one taxpayer found he could claim the extra exemption for blindness.

Now more taxpayers can have a IRS figure their tax for them. And if IRS is so smart, maybe it can figure out where you're going to get the income, too.

AND THE MAN up the street says he can remember when "pot" was something you raked in at a poker game.

In his "Little D" column in the Southwest Dallas County Suburban at Duncanville, Royce Brown asks the question, "Why is it newspaper circulation keeps climbing in the face of 'non-readership'?" Nobody reads newspapers anymore, he says. You can get all the news you need on TV and radio.

EXCEPT... The parents of the bride who want extra copies of the paper to send the wedding story to their friends and relatives.

The widow who wants to be sure that her husband's obituary is correct, and that all the survivors are identified.

The high school youth who wants to see his picture, taken during the big football game Friday night.

The businessman who wants to know what his competitors are doing, what they are advertising, and who's been promoted.

The boy in service, far from home, who gets the paper a week or more late and reads every word.

The civics teacher, who uses the paper as a textbook for his class, teaching them about the functions of city and county government, where the tax money goes and who spends it.

The housewife, who not only wants to read about her church groups and club meetings, but wants to check through the ads for the best buys on everything in town.

The college student, who looks upon each issue of the paper as "a letter from home."

The minister, because the local newspaper reflects the temper and timber of his congregation and his community.

Aside from these few folks, and hundreds like them who eagerly await every issue of their hometown papers, there's hardly a n-y-one who reads the newspapers anymore.

IF IT HADN'T been Nation's Library Week, I might have overlooked this one: There are so many books on sex now that the library no longer asks folks to be quiet, just to remain calm.

No one here seems to understand why it is that the Bureau of the Census has not released official 1970 population figures for Post. Or, if the figures have been released why it is that the bureau has not notified anyone here. During the last several weeks, The Dispatch has checked with the local census enumerator, the mayor and the Chamber of Commerce office, but none of them have received a ny announcement from the bureau on Post's 1970 population. All anyone knows is the preliminary figure released some seven or eight months ago, which was 3,815.

THIS WEEK, however, The Dispatch received from the Bureau of Census the rankings of the 10 cities with the biggest population in the 1970 nose count, so perhaps they're starting at the top and working down to Post, which means that we might receive the official figure about the time they start taking the 1980 census.

In case you're interested in the ten biggest cities, they are as follows: 1. New York; 2. Los Angeles-Long Beach; 3. Chicago; 4. Philadelphia; 5. Detroit; 6. San Francisco-Oakland; 7. Washington, D.C.; 8. Boston; 9. Pittsburgh, Pa.; 10. St. Louis.

YOU CAN SEE that no Texas cities made the top 10, but Houston ranked 13th and Dallas, 16th. They are both growing and maybe they will be in the top 10 by the time Post's official 1970 population is announced.

Agriculture Commissioner believes current drouth is 'history maker'

AUSTIN — The severest drouth in recent history — and one that gives indications it may become a history maker—has everyone concerned, Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White commented in reviewing conditions over the state for the five months of November, December, January, February and March.

Cattlemen have been culling their herds for weeks, he said, while hoping for rains to bring up spring grasses so that it would not be necessary to feed the cattle remaining in their herds. That hope has been in vain through the first three months of 1971.

Also, Texas farmers are apprehensive that not enough moisture will fall for planting crops or to bring up crops "dry planted." In some places, it is already too late.

Prior to April 12, over 60 counties had been recommended for designation as "disaster areas," which can bring federal relief; and all the 254 counties in Texas may qualify for that designation soon.

Figures compiled in the Texas Department of Agriculture under Commissioner White's direction show that no section of the State has received more than 41 per cent of normal rainfall in the months of November, December, January, February and March.

The extreme northern tier of counties in the Texas Panhandle had the 41 per cent of average rainfall, while counties in the Southern High Plains nearby received only 11 per cent of normal rainfall. Snow accounted for most

Ranchers installing livestock pipelines

Many ranchers of the Post area who have a dependable well somewhere on their place are installing livestock pipelines to help combat poor range conditions, reports J.R.

Bell of the Garza County Soil and Water Conservation District.
"After going for six months with little measurable rain fall, range conditions are generally poor throughout this area of the state,"
Bell said.

"The situation is critical and many ranchers are out of stock water as well as grass," Bell continued. "Probably half the earthen ponds in the county are dry."

More and more ranchers are finding livestock pipelines to be more dependable sources of water year in and year out, the SCS man explained, adding that it is often more economical to install a pipeline than to dig an earthen pond.

"These pipelines can be either gravity flow or pressure pumped and can cross some fairly uneven terrain in many cases," Bell said.
He predicted this practice will probably become increasingly popular in the future as more ranchers realize the advantage of pipelines for better distribution of water and greater dependability of supply.

? Your Name ?

WHAT'S IN IT?
By CHARLES DIDWAY

POWELL
When Welsh in origin, the only difference between the surnames Powell and Howell is the first letter. The names have the same origin and meaning.

Powell originally was "ap Howell," which was Welsh for "son of Howell." Howell, which meant "eminent," was the name of a 10th century Welsh king and later became a popular personal name in Wales and in the bordering English counties.

When they became surnames, both Powell and Howell meant "son or descendant of Howell." 17th century records list Howell and in 1524 we find that the transition was nearly complete with an entry in that year for an Apowell.

Some English Howells, however, derive their name from the personal name Paul, which in some of the earliest written records was spelled Powl or Powl.

The surname Powell is especially common in the English county of Herefordshire and is also very frequent in the counties of Monmouthshire and Shropshire and in South Wales.

In Ireland, Powell is occasionally a synonym for the Irish surname Gullfoyle.

Powell is the 79th commonest surname in the United States with an estimated 198,000 persons by the name. In 1770 the British Crown granted an estate near Upper-ville, Virginia, to a family of Howells who had emigrated to America from Wales. One of the descendants of this family was the painter Lucien Whiting Powell, born in 1846, who is especially remembered for his paintings of the Grand Canyon.

Vavasor Powell was a 17th century Welsh itinerant preacher who wrote several treatises and also some hymns. George Powell, born in 1858, was an English actor and playwright and the son of an actor of the

BOWLING'S MEMORY LANES

— BY THOMPSON

For years inventors and engineers tried to perfect a machine that would bring automation to bowling. The hand set method, used since the beginning of the game, was tedious and time consuming, and permitted only a limited number of people to bowl. They had little to pin their hopes on.

But in 1946, AMF introduced its Automatic Pinsetter machine in Buffalo, New York where the American Bowling Congress was holding its annual national tournament nearby. The demonstration was a striking success and marked the start of the modern bowling era.

It took five years and millions of additional research dollars for AMF to develop a production line model of its Automatic Pinsetter. In 1951, AMF installed 16 machines into the Bowl-O-Drome in Mt. Clemens, Mich. which became the first completely automated bowling center in history. The test was a success. The bowling boom was on.

The impact of the pinsetter machine on the industry is best reflected in the tremendous growth in bowling facilities and participants since 1951 when the machine reached the mass production stage. Today, more than 50 million bowlers are having a ball all over the world.

Bowling is now a billion dollar industry, a recreational activity for millions and a multi-million dollar professional sport. And it all stems from 1946 when the AMF Automatic Pinsetter became a reality.

same name. There are towns named Powell in Missouri, Nebraska, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Texas and Wyoming; a Powellville, Maryland; a Powellville and a Powells Point, North Carolina; a Powell Butte, Oregon; and a Powellton, West Virginia.

Library LISTENING POST

By GEORGE L. MILLER
The Second Annual Flower Show-er is in full swing, and promises to produce a tidy sum for our Building Fund. An innovation this year is the addition of a Giant Rummage Sale, and it is both popular and profitable.

We couldn't get the doors open fast enough for the eager public. Our flowers arrived Thursday afternoon, and one customer had already selected his plants before we'd had a chance to put prices on them.

The same was true for our Rummage. Rosemary Chapman, our official rummage pricer, had several items sold Thursday afternoon, while our sale didn't really begin till Friday at 1 p.m.

Fortunately, this promising beginning proved a good indication of things to come. By Friday evening, we had made enough to pay our bills and were beginning to show a clear profit. We had a handsome deposit to put in the bank Monday morning.

And remember, the sale still goes on! We'll be in business through Saturday afternoon until 6:00 p.m. So you have a chance to get in on it all. This may well be the biggest money-raising project our library has ever had.

All our profit this year will be placed in our Building Fund. In case you haven't kept up with the latest developments in the library we have a healthy building fund growing. Over $4,000 is in the bank in Certificates of Deposit and close to another $1,000 in a savings account.

Ever since January, the Library Board has been meeting frequently with basically one item of business—what kind of library ought we to plan for here in Post? Several proposals have been considered and various methods of funding explored. A final decision has not been made, but the Board has set itself a deadline of June 30. By that time they hope to commit themselves to a definite building program for the completing of the library.

There are several ways they can go. The reasons for building are all the same. The library has continued growing from the day it opened in June of 1966. Our original room has been augmented with three more rooms. Shelf space is limited and there is a day coming when we can't find room for another book in our present library.

We estimate that our library can house about 10,000 volumes—and that's all. We also estimate that a town our size will ultimately need a library with 15,000 to 20,000 volumes. In other words, we need to be twice the size we are to have adequate room for the books we'll own.

Hence the need for money. In two years time, we must have our library completed. The only way we can reach that goal is by working now. If what we've done in the past is any indication, we'll make it!

If you'd like to help—come on down to the Flower Shower and Rummage Sale. We'll be glad to have you as one of our customers.

Outstanding watercolor is museum acquisition

LUBBOCK — The Museum of Texas Tech University announces the recent acquisition of a watercolor, "The Dancer", by the Futurist painter, Gino Severini.

Signed and dated, the 22 by 30 inch work was donated by Mrs. Daisy V. Shapiro, of New York City, who in recent years has made several contributions to the Museum's permanent collection.

The Beautiful Cross

By Larry West

When we think of Paul of Tarsus, we immediately remember his profession—not his occupation, but his profession. Paul's occupation was tentmaking, but he is more well remembered for his profession, being "Jesus Christ and Him crucified" (I Cor. 2:1-2). To Paul the crucified Christ was the most beautiful picture he could imagine. Unlike Paul, too many contemporaries do not enjoy thinking of the crucified Christ because to them the sacrificial elements present no beauty. Possibly the reason for this is based on the lack of real understanding concerning the actual meaning of the event. The following story might help to bring the meaning of the occurrence into clearer focus:

Once upon a time a small boy was playing in the kitchen at his home while his mother was cooking dinner. At once, he looked up and into the scarred face of his mother and said unexpectedly, "You're ugly!" Being immediately surprised, the mother just could not control herself and began to cry. The father heard the commotion and ran into the kitchen and took the hand of his small son and led him into another room, away from the mother. He sat down and began to talk to the boy in a soft and understanding tone. He said, "Son, one day when you were a small baby in your crib, our house caught fire. Your mother, caring less for herself, ran into the burning house and grabbed you out of the crib and carried you to safety. In the process, she was badly burned, but because she loved you so much, she was willing to give her life to save yours." Though the boy did not understand completely at first, the story made an impression on him and as he grew older, the face of his mother, though scarred and ugly to look upon, became the most beautiful in the world to him. It was the symbol of grace, mercy and real love!

Understanding why this picture was so beautiful to Paul, is your profession like his?

By ANITA LITTLE

The Easter holidays from school were celebrated by many last week—students and teachers alike.

Stephanie Davis was a member of those who enjoyed an exciting holiday, taking a trip to Arizona to visit relatives and enjoy the sights. Robert Pace and W. D. Sims also took a trip to El Paso. While in El Paso they visited some of Robert's cousins, Pee Wee Johnson and family spent part of their holiday in Jayton visiting with Mr. Johnson's parents.

Among the teachers who received visitors into their homes were Mrs. Fleming and Mr. and Mrs. King. Mrs. Fleming's niece, Mrs. Retha Ford and Royce from Lamesa, and nephew, Dr. and Mrs. H. T. Carr and Tommy from Canyon visited in the Fleming home during Easter. Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Johnson and family from Mineral Wells and Larry Johnson from El Paso visited the King family.

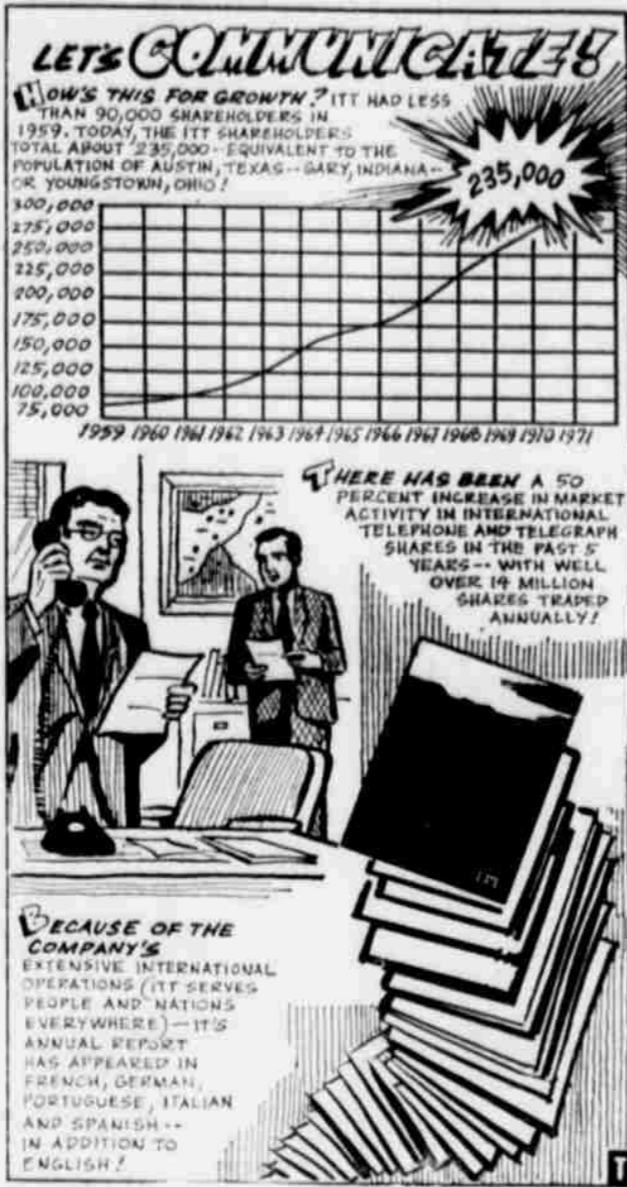

Then there were those lucky few of us who got to stay home during the entire holiday and do nothing. Oh well, I enjoyed staying home and feeding someone else's dog while they were out of town.

BUICK BARGAIN DAYS ARE HERE

Buick Bargain Days are saving days.

A bargain price on a stripped-down car is no bargain. But a Buick or Opel at a bargain is something else again. Because we're not selling some special stripped-down model. We're selling Buicks and Opels, the same great cars we've sold all year.

With one difference. The deals have never been better. Which means that you can move out in a new Buick or Opel at a price that's hard to believe. When Buick talks about a bargain, we give you something to believe in.

Opel 1900 Sport Coupe. With a 1.9 liter engine that operates efficiently on low-lead or no-lead gasoline; hydraulic valve lifters for quiet engine operation; power front disc brakes and more.

Skylark Custom. With Buick's exclusive nickel-plated engine exhaust valves for smoother operation on today's cleaner fuels; Comfort-Flo ventilation system and more.

Your Buick-Opel dealer will give you better reasons to buy a new car now than anybody else.

The business of auto safety.

Auto safety is everyone's concern. But it's our business.

And we think the attention that's being paid to auto safety now is a good thing. Because it will result in better driving for everyone.

And, frankly, better driving for everyone means better business for us.

We say Buick is something to believe in. That's why we're trying to make it easy to be safe by putting in safety features that work by themselves. You don't have to do anything to make them work.

Like side guard beams. And the energy absorbing steering column. And the cargo guard between the trunk and back seat. They start "working" even before you get in the car.

But two safety features, two of the most vital, are worthless unless you do something first.

Seat and shoulder belts.

Unfastened they do nothing. And you've seen enough statistics to know what a difference they can make. So use them.

But that's not all you can do. Because the most effective safety feature of all can't be added to our cars or anybody else's.

That feature is you. And the way you drive.

Which should be defensively. And rested. And sober. We're all in this together. And together we can solve the auto safety problem once and for all.

And the time is now.

Scout Council operations are told Rotarians

The many services rendered to Scouting by the South Plains Council, Boy Scouts of America, in the 20-county area it serves were described by Warren S. Green, council program chairman, Tuesday at the weekly luncheon of the Post Rotary Club.

Green told of the establishment and development of councils, which became necessary when the Boy Scout movement grew too large for the one-troop, one-leader system of operation. Boy Scout councils, he explained, are a banding-together for administration and operation of large Scout areas such as the 20-county area served by the South Plains Council.

He said the South Plains Council has a quarter million dollars invested in its camping program alone, that figure including only the property, not the cost of operating the summer camping program here and at Camp Tres Ritos in New Mexico.

In discussing the Scouting program at the boy-level, Green said, "Scouting makes a difference in the life of a boy."

'Operation Kick-it' set for Tuesday

"Operation Kick-it," the Texas Department Corrections drug program will be given in the Post schools and several other area schools next week.

The program is to be presented at Post High School at 9 a.m. on Tuesday, April 27. It is being sponsored in the area by Gerald Huffaker, county attorney, and Norvell Redwine, county sheriff of Lynn County, in conjunction with the National Honor Society.

"Operation Kick-it," a panel of four inmates, has been touring the state since June, telling the story of drug misuse before junior and senior high school assemblies.

The four volunteer panelists are young, first offenders, ages 17 to 21. Each was convicted of possession of marijuana, one for the sale of drugs.

Truck swapping session is held

The city council held a special meeting Tuesday afternoon just to swap trucks with Robert Buckley.

Buckley is the man the city recently made a deal with to demolish 20 condemned houses in exchange for a 1963 truck owned by the city.

The eight-year-old truck broke down on Buckley and the council voted at the meeting to swap him a 1967 truck for it, with Buckley to "pay" the difference by demolishing 20 condemned houses instead of the 20 called for in the original agreement.

The council also voted to trade the 1963 truck returned by Buckley in to Harold Lucas Chevrolet-Olds on the purchase of a new 1971 truck for the street department.

John Reeves of Levelland, representing the South Plains Community Action Committee, said his agency hopes to complete organization of the regional housing authority by mid-summer, so low interest loans may be offered to build a thousand new homes.

He reported two more counties must agree to participate in the housing program to provide the necessary population base for the project.

County will send trio to teletype training school

The Garza County Commissioners Court at its recent April meeting voted to send three law enforcement employees to the Department of Public Safety Teletype Operations School in May.

This will be a training school for the new city-county teletype system to be installed in mid-July.

Garza Memorial Hospital Administrator Donald Windham appeared before the court to discuss the problem of financing indigent patients, cost of transportation for such patients to other hospitals and other financial problems encountered by the hospital district in the handling of these cases.

The court agreed to consider the problems and to cooperate toward a workable solution acceptable both to the county and the hospital district.

The court entered into a four-months option to purchase contract for a new radar detection system for the state highway patrol unit stationed here. It is customary for the counties to provide such equipment as traffic violators cited by the patrol are routed into the county courts.

In other actions, the court: Voted to pay a $50 monthly fee to Dr. William C. Wilson for his duties as county health officer.

Authorized Sheriff J. A. Holliman to purchase new toilet and lavatory facilities for the county jail at "the most economical price available."

Voted the distribution of $750 to the Post Public Library as the county's share of the library's operation for 1971.

Set Monday, May 10, as the date to receive the assessments and books of the tax-assessor-collector, and to assess, inspect and collect the same as the county board of equalization.

Accepted the county school trustee election returns.

Contest judging and tour slated at Close City

Judging of records and a program and tour for the judges will be held Tuesday, April 27, as the climax to the Close City community participation — for the seventh consecutive year — in the Texas Community Improvement Program.

Following the program at 3 p.m. Tuesday at the Close City Community Center, the judges will tour the community to view the improvements made during the past year. Everyone, particularly residents of the community, is invited to attend the program and go on the tour.

The records, which have already been submitted for judging, are designed to show the community's goals and accomplishments. Mmes. R. H. Sappington, Barrie Jones, and Lonnie H. Peel completed details of the record book.

The board of directors for the community were in charge of meetings held to plan ways to improve the community. Members of the board were Alvin Young, president; Mike Custer, vice president; Evelyn Jones, secretary; J. D. McCampbell, treasurer, and Lonnie Gene Peel, reporter.

4-Hers will sell candy for center

Garza County 4-H members will begin calling on local citizens to purchase a bar of World's Finest Chocolate, April 23, as part of a state-wide effort to raise funds for a Texas 4-H educational center.

Mrs. Gene Kennedy, local 4-H leader, who is heading the county sales campaign, says the county sales goal is 15 bars per 4-H member. The bars will sell for a dollar each.

A state 4-H center is badly needed since the Texas 4-H program does not own any type of training or camping facility. The proposed center will cost approximately one million dollars and will accommodate about 175 people. The center will be a focal point for camping-type programs, 4-H leadership training, citizenship seminars, leadership training labs, international 4-H activities, project training and other Extension Service activities. When not in use by 4-H, the center will be available to other groups with educational programs.

While the 4-Hers themselves make their contribution, a state-wide development council composed of business leaders will help raise the balance of the funds.

Garza's 1970 cotton output 17,640 bales

Garza County produced 17,640 bales of cotton in 1970, an increase of 1,739 bales over 1969, according to ginning figures just released by the U. S. Bureau of Census.

The 25 High Plains counties represented by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., produced 1,734,767 bales of cotton in 1970, according to the report.

Production in Texas came to 3,144,192 bales, of which the Plains accounted for a whopping 55.2 percent, the highest percentage ever recorded. Texas production in 1969 was only 2,807,017 bales, 1,392,800 or 49.6 percent of which came from the Plains.

Total U. S. production for 1970 was reported at 10,120,273 bales, of which the Plains total figures 17.1 percent. This too is a new high for the area. National production in 1969 totaled 9,937,068 bales, "only" 14 percent of which was grown in PCG's 25 counties.

The top 10 cotton producing counties in Texas were on the Plains, eight of them producing over 100,000 bales each, and the Plains area again produced more cotton than any entire state, excepting Texas itself.

Lubbock County, with 215,485 bales, ranked third among the cotton counties of the nation and Dawson County's 135,532 bales came in tenth.

The two top producing counties in the U. S. were both in California. Kern County turned out 357,000 bales and Fresno County ginned 299,408 bales. Fourth through ninth places in the national county standings were taken by Pinal (185,690) and Maricopa (180,287) of Arizona; Tulare of California (175,265), Sunflower of Mississippi (172,406), Kings of California (166,909), and Bolivar County, Mississippi (158,668).

Choosing right variety important to narrow row cotton production

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of weekly articles on narrow-row cotton production. Other articles will feature weed control, planting, irrigation, fertility, insect and disease control and harvesting.)

LUBBOCK — A bright future is lingering on the horizon for South Plains cotton producers as they move into narrow-row production. But choosing the wrong variety for this type of production could be a disaster.

Dr. LeVon Ray, who heads up the cotton breeding program at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Lubbock, points out that "varietal selection is the key to successful narrow-row cotton production. And, the right variety may not be the one which the producer has found best for conventional row spacing."

"Certain characteristics adapt a variety to narrow rows," explains Ray. "Our research program at the Center has identified some of these. First of all, the plant should be small in stature—short in height with short limbs. The variety also should produce minimum vegetative growth. Small leaves are also advantageous as they allow light to penetrate into the plant canopy, thereby allowing normal development."

The type of row spacing to be used will affect varietal selection, contends the cotton breeder. Much of the narrow-row cotton will probably be planted double-row—two rows spaced 10 to 16 inches apart on the bed—or in rows spaced uniformly 18 to 26 inches apart. With these row spacings, producers have a much wider choice of varieties than with grain-drilled row widths (7 to 12 inches). In fact, most early maturing, High Plains varieties will perform satisfactorily in double-row or other intermediate-row spacing patterns, Ray points out.

Varieties such as Blightmaster, Acala and Western Stormproof that are late-maturing and vegetative will generally be poor performers in narrow rows," says Ray. "Even if these varieties did yield more in narrow rows, the large plants would be difficult to harvest."

For the very narrow rows (10 inches or less), variety selection is even more critical. According to the researcher, the full potential of narrow-row production cannot be attained with any of the presently available varieties. However, several of the early, close-fruited varieties have performed well in such row spacings. These include Gregg 35, Rilco 90, Stripper N, Lockett 4789A, Little's Special and Blanco 3363.

Certain other varieties which are similar in earliness and plant characteristics may perform well in narrow rows, adds Ray. However, these have not been tested at the A&M Center.

"We are in the process of developing new varieties specifically for narrow-row production," says Ray. "They will greatly enhance the potential of narrow rows for increasing yield, improving fiber quality and lowering production costs. The first of these should be on the market in 1973. Such varieties will allow South Plains producers to make one of the most spectacular advancements in cotton production since the introduction of the storm-proof boll and once-over, mechanical harvesting."

Southland area gets two inches of rain

By TOMMIE WILKE

"And then the rains came..." Yes, we finally got some rain last week—around two inches—and everyone was grinning from ear to ear! It is a great sound, to wake up in the middle of the night and hear water running off the roof. Hope wherever you are that you, too, had some rain.

Once again we have had some uninvited visitors in our Southland Post Office. Sometime during the night of April 13th someone broke into the post office and carried off several items, but thanks to the different law enforcements, they were caught and are being held. This is twice that this has happened since I have worked here, and it is a terrible feeling to come in here, after a break-in, and see what has happened. My nerves get "kinda all up-tight."

Congratulations to Miss Shirley Lee and Glen Woodard who announced their engagement recently. Shirley is a graduate of Southland High School and attended Baylor University and Hardin-Simmons. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Lee. They are planning a July 10th wedding.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Milton Gindorf of Lewisville on the birth of their second daughter, Kimberly Layne, born April 5 at 8:18 a.m. in the Baylor Hospital in Dallas. The proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Wheatley of Post and Chris Gindorf Jr. of Slaton. The Gindorf's other daughter is Shelly and she, too, is so proud of her little sister.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Wartes on birth of their second daughter Lena Kay, in Garza Memorial Hospital April 7. The proud Southland grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wartes.

We extend our deepest sympathies to the family of Curtis Driver, 68, who died last Friday at 3:30 a.m. after an extended illness. His funeral was held this past Saturday and he was buried in the Tahoka cemetery. He is survived by his wife, three sons, four sisters, one brother, nine grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren. Mr. Driver, was at one time the ginner at the Southland gin. May God comfort this family in their grief.

This certainly is a week of "congratulations": Southland had four students to take the top four honors at the Garza County Spelling Bee last Friday. Congratulations to Amanda Wheeler, 14, 8th grader at Southland for winning the bee. She will participate in the May 1st regional spelling bee to be held at the Smylie Wilson Junior High school in Lubbock. The contest is sponsored by the Lubbock Avian Club and the overall winner will receive prizes and an expense-paid trip to Washington, D.C. Thirty students participated in this contest. The winning word was "achromatic." Amanda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Wheeler.

Congratulations to Amanda Wheeler, 12, for being the runner-up. She is Amanda's sister.

Congratulations to Kendall Wheeler for winning third place. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Wheeler.

Congratulations to Kelly Chaffin for winning fourth place. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Chaffin. All four of these young people are to be commended. We are very proud of them.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Anderson came down from Lubbock Tuesday night, April 13th, to help their sister, Breonne Winterrowd, celebrate her 18th birthday. Here is a belated Happy Birthday, Breonne.

Sounds like last Saturday night, April 17th, was a red letter date for the P. W. Crawford's. It was their 33rd wedding anniversary and also their oldest son James' 36th birthday. In honor of these two occasions, their children took them to Underwoods for a delicious barbecue dinner. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Crawford and Debra, Mr. and Mrs. James Crawford and children, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wayne Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Maner and boys, and Mr. and Mrs. Webster Crawford. Later they enjoyed a get-together in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wayne Crawford. Debra Crawford spent Saturday night with her nieces, the daughters of James Crawford. This is the first time that she had done this, so naturally she enjoyed it very much.

The Southland Juniors will be honoring the seniors and the high school teachers with a banquet at the Villa Inn this Friday night. More about what went on — next week! Sounds like a serial on TV — more about this next week! Ha, ha!

The True Light Spiritual Singers of Midland will be singing at the Freewill Baptist Church in Slaton May 16th at 3 and 8 p.m. Everyone is invited to come. They are being sponsored by Mrs. Roosevelt Hollis of Southland.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Lyles visited their mother, Mrs. M. A. Dunn

Sunday. The Southland Cemetery directors met in the home of Mrs. H. C. Dunn Monday morning to make plans for this year's cemetery care. More on this later.

Received a letter last week from Mrs. Mary McKee, who is visiting her daughter and son-in-law up in Roundup, Montana. She said there is still snow on the ground there and it is still pretty cold. On the way up there she saw buffaloes, antelopes and deer and the farther north they went, the more snow there was on the mountains.

Mrs. Otto Klaus is still a patient in Mercy Hospital and her condition doesn't seem to be getting any better.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Pollard, who have been living down on the "Lazy K" ranch have moved to route 1, Slaton. Sure hated to lose this nice family from our community.

Ben Cardenas came by the post office one day last week and picked up his mail. He and his wife were on their way to San Antonio to visit with relatives.

My brother-in-law, Aubrey Bryan stopped by for a short visit Friday afternoon of last week. He was on his way from Fort Worth to his home in Farmington, N.M., with a load of pipe. Sure was good to see him! Mrs. Rod Callaway was on the "puny" list last week but is feeling much better this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Limmer and Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Limmer of Slaton visited with Mr. and Mrs. Willie Becker Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leggy Voigt and family of Crosbyton visited with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Voigt Sunday and attended Grace Lutheran Church in Slaton.

Southland's two new school board members are Robert Mock and Billy Lester. One new teacher has been hired for the coming year. I also understand that the school taxes are going to be raised a little again, so know this piece of news will upset some people in this district.

Mrs. Jack Myers, Mrs. Donald Pennell and Mrs. Herman Havlis attended the Women's Culture Club in the home of Mrs. R. L. Marks at Post last Wednesday.

Mrs. Howton Haire visited the Southland Baptist Church Sunday night with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hardy.

How is this for a nice thought? "A cheerful friend is like a sunny day."
