

All in readiness for Post's fourth July 4th blowout

Everything is in readiness for Post's fourth annual Fourth of July Celebration in City-County park Tuesday afternoon and evening, July 4.

Top features will be an evening barbecue with the serving to start at 5 p. m. and with a 90-minute nighttime fireworks display over the lake.

It's free to all and a crowd of around 2,500 is expected. At least that's what Rusty Dean and his barbecue cooks are preparing for with barbecued chicken the main item on the menu.

Beans, pickles, onions and bread also will be on the serving table to complete the meal.

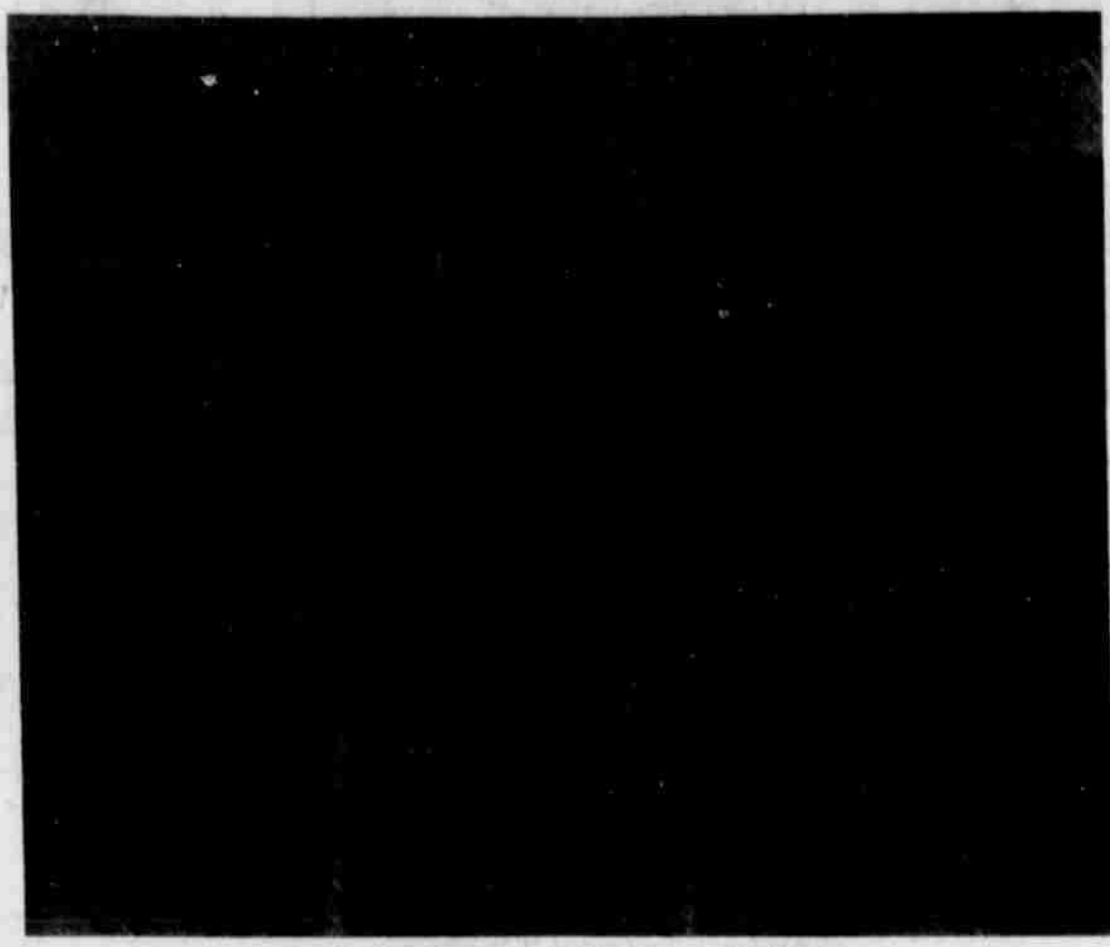

Folks who want desert can buy it at one of the food booths along with cold drinks.

Some 650 chickens are on order. Since the menu was changed from beef to chicken this year because of beef prices, the barbecuing all will be done the same day. An all-night session for the cooks won't be required.

Chamber Secretary Wyvonne Kennedy reports in the booths line that the Post High School Band will have a game booth, the Gamma Mus will have a combination drink and game booth, the XI Delta Rhos will have a food and drink booth as will the Garza County Home Demonstration Council.

An afternoon swim meet also is on the program with full details to be announced next week.

Several hours of free entertainment by local and area performers also is being lined up by Jim Boles, KPOS radio station manager. It is scheduled to get under (See Celebration, page 8)

4-H horse show will draw 500 next Wednesday

Probably the biggest day of the 1972 tourist season is due next Wednesday when some 450 to 500 kids and their parents pour into Post for the District 2 4-H Horse Show. And that's not counting all the horses.

Some even are coming in Tuesday afternoon and staying overnight because the show kicks off to an 8 a. m. start.

According to County Agent Syd Conner a total of 167 youngsters have made 460 class entries. Each entrant is entitled to enter not more than three of the five show classes.

The young riders and their parents will come from a 20-county area which includes Briscoe, Swisher, Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Gaines, Dawson, Borden, Scurry and Mitchell counties.

Show classes include halter, western pleasure, reining, pole bending and barrel racing.

The all-day affair is free to the public.

This will be the second time the district show has been held in Post, the local inaugural being two years ago.

The top 20 from the district show will qualify for the state 4-H Horse Show to be held in San Antonio July 19-22.

The Graham 4-H Horse Club is hosting the concession stand and equipment, and the Pleasant Valley 4-H Horse Club will stage the opening exercise for the show.

Garza County's district horse show entrants will be the "top ten" selected last week in county eliminations in the Noel White arena.

They are Cindy Bird, Melvin Stewart, Jan Hall, John Bill Hedrick, Steve White, Stephen Myers, Jimmy Norman, Melanie King, Marla Shelton and Sue Bevers. Alternates are John Chaffin, Mark Bevers and Billy Alexander.

Chamber seeking movie 'location'

Bryan J. Williams is the Post Chamber of Commerce's "committee of one" to try to book in a movie production company from Hollywood to film a motion picture on location somewhere in the Caprock ranch country around Post.

He accepted the new assignment this week after Chamber president Jim Cornish returned from a Houston visit with his daughter and family with a Houston newspaper clipping telling of a producer who was beginning to film a movie near Houston and asked Williams to "take over the project."

Bryan J. immediately got busy and phoned the "Houston Lady columnist" for details.

He was advised to proceed via Governor Preston Smith's new Texas Film Commission established a year ago to help bring such movie companies to locations in the Lone Star state.

He also got a "tip" on other companies interested in filming in Texas from the columnist and other useful information.

He lost no time in getting in touch with the state film commission either. He called Governor Smith in Austin and established his contact with the commission through the governor himself.

The commission's job is to bring the Hollywood production companies in contact with interested Texas parties and aid in the essential business negotiations necessary.

The Chamber, which has been interested in getting a movie filmed in the area since last year, is well aware of the many difficulties involved in landing such a "movie production," but thinks it has "all the scenery needed," besides being able to meet a lot of the other "movie location requirements."

The Post Dispatch

Forty-Sixth Year Post, Garza County, Texas Thursday, June 22, 1972 Number 4

Big pump on water line burns out

How times have changed! Post had a "water problem" Tuesday — and didn't even know it.

The big 300-horsepower motor on the Post line pump at the White River Lake "burned out" Tuesday morning.

Al O'Brien, water district manager, told The Dispatch that "we had to shut off our water flooding sales to oil companies for the day, but we juggled around with smaller pumps and kept enough water coming to satisfy Posts' thirst lawn hoses and air conditioners."

The big pump was taken into Lubbock Tuesday night and repaired.

O'Brien said it wasn't any major crisis.

Four accidents, 3 hurt in five days near Post

If you head south out of Post on US-84 this week — be careful, and don't get sleepy.

The highway patrol reports four accidents in a 23-mile stretch between Post from Friday through Tuesday resulting in three injuries. Two of the accidents were caused by the drivers taking a nap enroute.

The mishaps in chronological order:

Lewis Carroll Jenkins of Lubbock, driver of a truck tractor-trailer combination owned by the Pride Refining, Inc., of Abilene, suffered lacerations of the head and arms when he "went to sleep" at 8:30 a. m. last Friday, 16.2 miles southeast of Post on US-84.

The truck trailer swerved across the median, across the other traffic lanes and into John Boren's pasture without turning over.

The injured man was treated at Garza Memorial Hospital and then taken to Highland Hospital in Lubbock.

The second accident was a two-pickup truck collision at Justiceburg at the US-84 and FM 2458 intersection at 5 p. m. Friday. Sid Cross of Justiceburg was crossing US-84 in his 1968 Chevrolet pickup when struck by a 1972 Ford pickup driven by Clinton Little of Pasadena, Tex.

Neither driver was injured, the highway patrol reports, but Mrs. Little and their daughter, Nancy, riding with Little, were treated for minor injuries at Garza Memorial Hospital here and released.

The third accident happened at 3:15 p. m. Sunday, 7.9 miles southeast on US-84 when a 1968 Ford driven by Joyce Owen of Abilene overturned and rolled back on its wheels. Neither the driver nor LaGay Vanderveer of Abilene, who was riding with her, were injured.

The investigating patrolman said the Abilene woman started to pass a pickup just when it pulled out to pass a truck ahead of it. To avoid a collision the Abilene driver swerved her car into the center median and the vehicle overturned.

Final crash of the series came at 8 a. m. Tuesday, 22.7 miles southeast on US-84 when Gary Wayne Kennedy of Lubbock went to sleep at the wheel of his 1965 Plymouth,

Pete Hays suffers two broken legs

Pete Hays, an employe of the Springer Drilling Co., suffers two broken legs in a drilling test Saturday night on a new drilling test in the Calgary vicinity, 4.9 miles northeast of Post.

He was treated at Garza Memorial Hospital and then taken by ambulance to St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock where he underwent surgery Sunday to set both legs.

He is in room 312 at St. Mary's Hospital.

Oil swabbed from Garza wildcat

Sun Oil Co. has swabbed oil from the Wolfcamp at its No. 3-A Swenson, a wildcat test 19 miles northeast of Post in Garza County.

In 6½ hours, the operation recovered eight barrels of new oil and 36 barrels of load water from perforations at 6,326-6,329 feet.

The prospect is 1½ miles northeast of the Swenson (Strawn and Ellenburger) field, and spots 935.2 feet from north and 691.7 feet from east lines of Section 16, Block 2, H&GN Survey.

City council hires 2nd officer for police dept

The city council at a special meeting yesterday afternoon hired Dean Gressett of Patricia, Tex., as Post's new police department patrolman.

Gressett, 23, is a certified officer and has had 19 months experience with the San Angelo Police Department.

He is married and has one small daughter.

Mayor Giles C. McCrary said Gressett will "start work" just as soon as he can move here and find suitable living quarters.

The city dads have not named a police chief. "We didn't even discuss the subject today," Mayor McCrary told The Dispatch.

The mayor said both Post patrolmen will work in a coordinated schedule with the county sheriff's department.

L. L. (LINK) LINCOLN Drive In Manager

Boston Super Dog opens as Post's newest business

The Boston Super Dog, Post's big, new drive-in restaurant, opened here Tuesday at 202 South Broadway under the management of L. L. (Link) Lincoln.

Post's Boston Super Dog is the third to be built and opened by Harold D. Boston of Brownfield who has been in the drive-in food business for 22 years.

His other Boston Super Dogs are located in Brownfield and Slaton. Lincoln is managing both the Slaton and Post drive-ins.

The Boston Super Dog's announcement appears on page 7 of today's Dispatch.

The drive-in offers a menu featuring super dogs, "Boston" burgers, fried chicken, box lunches of either shrimp or fish sticks, and a complete fountain service, including parfaits, sundaes and shakes and melts of all sizes.

The Boston Super Dog will be open from 10 a. m. to 11 p. m. daily and has a large all-weather parking lot which can accommodate 65 to 70 cars at one time.

"We stress 100 per cent cleanliness in our entire food and fountain service," Lincoln told The Dispatch Monday. He invites all local folks to "please come by and get acquainted with us and our food and fountain drinks."

Boston Super Dog also features a refrigerated air-conditioned dining room.

To help with written tests

Driving 'school' here July 11-13

A free three-night "school" on the required written test for Texas driver licenses is scheduled for the Lorenzo Alexander Center July 11-13, Mrs. Sue Shytles, center director, announced today.

State highway patrol instructors will be in charge of the session which are open to all those who need instruction to be able to pass the written license test.

Mrs. Shytles emphasized that no actual driving instruction will be given.

She said the classes will be open to Spanish speaking people too and that she planned to have an interpreter there just in case the state patrolmen assigned don't speak Spanish.

The session each night will start at 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. Shytles said that those wanting additional information on the instruction, or who wish to sign up for the classes, should come by the center or call 495-2329.

Advance registration is not required, however. She is hopeful of a class of 100 or more. All adults 18 years and over are qualified to attend the classes.

Such classes in recent years, sponsored by the Garza County Community Action Committee — which arranged this one too — have drawn large, interested crowds.

Some thoughts on 'big city prices'

One of the modern day myths is that "big city prices" are always cheaper. This just isn't necessarily so.

Just this week we sat in a coffee booth with a local merchant and a paint salesman. This Post business man knew he was selling point at less per gallon than his competitors in Lubbock. He quoted "their prices" and "his prices". Then he brought up the item of masking tape. The difference in prices there was even more pronounced in the local merchant's favor.

We've "covered" Post's business beat for 15 years now. Usually not a month passes but the comparison comes up at one of our stops—the favorable comparison of the local business man's price for a particular item with that asked by his competitors in Lubbock.

The items have included most anything—including new automobiles and television sets, a particular brand dress, to name a few which come immediately to mind.

What we are asking our readers to remember is that your local merchants are "working at the job" of being price competitive with Lubbock. In a variety of cases they offer you a better price than what you will find if you spend some extra dollars to drive to Lubbock to "save money."

Of course, there are cases the smaller local merchant cannot compete price wise with much larger competitors who can buy at much lower prices. But even in these cases, the local merchant often trims his markup to be more competitive in a bid for your trade dollar.

There is a long list of solid economic reasons why it pays to "trade at home" with your local merchants. Most readers know them well.

But there one which has "to bug" any local merchant when he is selling at a price under his Lubbock competition is that his own customers don't realize it.

There are all too few of us budget minded shoppers who make the honest effort to compare the price in a local store with that uncovered in Lubbock, and who come back to Post to buy when they discover the local price is actually lowest.

The whole point of this editorial is simply to say that no shopper is to assume that "big city prices are always lowest." There is no way to check prices until you go into your hometown store first and get that merchant's price on the item you want.

If all of us would put the myth aside and do that, there would be a whole lot of time and money saved in not "going up the road."—JC

New 'oil depletion battle' shaping

America today is facing an "energy crisis." We are growing so big and demanding so much in the way of energy operated conveniences that planners are now looking into the future and seeing shortages ahead for our "energy makers."

One of the "energy makers" is oil, which in these parts is a healthy part of our economy.

For the first time since oil conservation came to Texas, oil producers are being allowed full production month after month because of America's mounting demands for more and more oil to keep more and more cars zipping down our highways.

Obviously, this has to tell the home folks something.

Full production is beckoning again the hard search for new oil somewhere, anywhere. That has brought increased drilling to Garza County and this oil area.

While it is now apparent that America needs to find new oil and a lot of it, there is a far different battle shaping up in the congressional halls of Congress.

That battle is to plug "tax loopholes" so that more billions of federal tax dollars can be raised—and quickly spent—without adding heavily to the burden of the average taxpayer.

You guessed it? Foes of the oil depletion allowance—established to encourage the risky business of wildcatting for new oil—soon will be after it again.

And this is notwithstanding the obvious fact that America today needs all the new oil it can find at home.

So the situation does not make economic sense. The depletion allowance encourages the search for new oil because it helps the oil man to cover his "dry hole losses." If America takes away this "tax incentive," it will at the same time make the oil man's gamble a bigger one and thus bring about a reduction in the search for new oil.

The tax depletion allowance in recent years has become a pushing and pulling contest between the "haves" and the "have nots." Folks in non-oil producing areas want to cut the "oil barons' down to size. In production areas, such as in Garza County, the oilmen want to keep going and find some new oil for all the years ahead. The families dependent upon that oil search and the oil production want to encourage them too.

The farmers face the same situation now most of America has moved into the cities. They have a hard time with government farm programs because they represent a minority at the ballot box today.

1972 is an election year—a presidential election year. You won't hear candidates talking about such "bread and butter" issues as the oil depletion allowance out here in "oil country" in all the TV time they are going to use up in the coming months. The voter is going to have to figure it out for himself—where he or she stands.

The "oil bloc" is now a minority too. The oil industry is going to need all its friends and all sensible voters who understand today's energy crisis if it is to emerge from the upcoming "oil depletion" battle with any "tax incentive" left to encourage development of new production.

The most effective support is, as always, at the ballot box. Determine where all the candidates stand on "oil depletion" before you decide who to "x" in November.—JC

Some facts on 'paper pollution'

At last, our about-to-be new congressman (come Jan. 1, 1973) Omar Burleson has come up with the amazing figures we have always wanted about the "paper pollution" emitting from our seats of government.

Omar has put The Dispatch on the mailing list for his regular "As It Looks From Here" column from Washington, and the one arriving this week was really a shocker.

Maybe paperwork doesn't give off noxious fumes to pollute the air we breathe or contaminate the water in our lakes or rivers, but the stuff required from the federal bureaucrats is truly amazing, and pollutes the time and profits, if any, of all businessmen large and small.

After a 15 year lapse, a Senate subcommittee is back on the job studying the "paper blitz." It already has come up with the estimate that all the paper work of federal, state and local governments is costing the taxpayers, individuals and businessmen—had your hat—$36 billion dollars each and every year.

The study of government paper work reveals that this flood of required reports and applications figures out to ten forms for every man, woman and child in the nation.

For example, the owners of a small hospital, who serve their community well, found they had to report to 23 separate agencies of government. They say they are simply unable to meet such a task and are threatening to close down.

One small businessman decided to hire one college student part-time to help him with his paper work. He finally figured he had to hire three part-time students, but when he found out it took a bundle of paper work just to hire the students, he decided to do the work himself rather than to employ the students.

Congressman Burleson concludes: "Certain proper and necessary information must be had to protect the government's interest, which means the taxpayer's interest, but a vast amount of it is nonproductive, contributes to the cost, and slows performance. With so many new government programs now in the offing, indications are that this flood of paper work will continue to increase. It all adds up to the conclusion that there is simply too much government."

Unfortunately, much of it is demanded by all of us, and we are getting it.—JC

What our contemporaries are saying

The darkest hour in any man's life is when he sits down to plan how he can get money without earning it.—Skeston, Mo. Standard.

Death and taxes are always certain, you've always heard. The saying is true, but there is one big difference between the two: Death is no worse than it was, but taxes get more fearsome every year. Income taxes are by far the worst of all. School and city taxes we can understand, and see the benefits, but what galls us hard-working people is to cough up the confiscatory federal taxes, a great part of which goes to bureaucracy and waste, and also to support drones who are too lazy to work.—Belton, Tex., Journal.

Scientists are concerned about the origin of the moon, and are wont to study a variety of rocks returned this trip by American astronauts and on previous trips. There are many disturbed taxpayers wondering about the expenditure of billions on these trips, but there are others who desire to know what the scientists plan to do about it when they discover what has happened on the moon these billions of years.—Fairfax, Okla., Chief.

Any attempt to limit the amount of money candidates may spend on political campaigns and to have them report accurately the amounts so spent is comparable to trying to bolt a pound of loose lard to a waterfowl.—Gordon, Nebr., Journal.

NO, THE DISPATCH is not behind the times. We were a s k e e d some time ago by a women's libber why we didn't "get with it" and use Ms. in place of Mrs. or Miss in front of a woman's name. The women's libbers want us to use Ms. to conceal whether or not a woman is married. Can you beat that?

One reason The Dispatch hasn't started using Ms. is because we just haven't been able to "get with" the women's liberation movement yet. Another reason we haven't used it is because we haven't been sure just how one would pronounce Ms., which up until the women's libbers started their thing going was the abbreviation for "manuscript."

ACTUALLY, HOWEVER, we can no longer fall back on the excuse that we don't use Ms. because we don't know how to pronounce it. No less an authority than Editor & Publisher magazine informs us that the proper pronunciation of Ms. is Miz. But that pronunciation, although there seems to be no satisfactory alternative, has its unfortunate aspects.

For one thing, Miz is well established as a dialectal pronunciation of Mrs., as often used in the comic strips Pogo and Barney Google and Snuffy Smith. How can women's lib be satisfied with a designation that not only might be confused with Mrs., but also has a hillbilly sound?

WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS such as The Dispatch find themselves especially hard-pressed as to the use of Ms., because they get lists of married women's names turned in so many different ways. Sometimes it seems that each club, chapter or sewing circle has a different way of turning in the names of the women who attended their meeting.

Some organizations list their members' names as Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. Jim Jones, etc. Others list them as Mrs. Hattie Smith, Mrs. Maybelle Jones, etc., while still others merely list them as Hattie Smith, Maybelle Jones, etc., without any indication as to whether or not they are married.

THE DISPATCH has always preferred, and we think most newspapers do, that when a list of married women's names are given they be listed by their husband's first name, such as Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. Jim Jones, etc. There are exceptions, of course, such as where a widow prefers to use her given name after the Mrs. instead of the given name of her deceased husband.

Actually, though, we're not hidebound about it. We're glad to get news of the meetings of women's organizations and will run the names most any way the club prefers—up to a certain point, of course. And one of those certain points is that we haven't started using Ms. instead of Mrs. yet and, perhaps, will have to be completely sold on women's lib before we do so.

ONE THING MORE, though, before I leave the subject: I don't think I'll ever be able to keep from wincing when I get a telephone call from someone who insists on pronouncing Mrs. as "Misseries."

Anyway, as the man up the street says, if they draft women it'll be no problem to get them to fight—the sergeant will just have to yell "Charge!" and "Green Stamps!"

MRS. MARY RAPHELT of Lubbock was recently elected president of this district of the Texas State Teachers Association. Until moving to Lubbock several years ago, Mrs. Raphehl and her husband, Herman, taught for a number of years in the Post schools. Herman finally winding up as elementary school principal.

I knew all along that Mary Raphehl was quite a teacher, but had never realized that she had made such an impression on her pupils class history, etc., started coming until this year's senior biographies, alone for publication in The Dispatch. I was amazed at the number of times, Mrs. Raphehl was mentioned by some of the students, especially since it had been so many years since she had taught them.

MORE THAN ONE of the seniors remembered the luau Mrs. Raphehl once gave for them, and also the time capsule her class buried in the 1960s somewhere on the school campus. Incidentally, I hope that time capsule isn't forgotten when it comes time to dig it up in the 2660's.

Not long before the Raphehls moved from Post to Lubbock, I attended a high school choir banquet

CREDIT CARDS

There are presently over 300 million cards in use in this country. This provides a bonanza for the swindler and thief. Losses each year from unauthorized use of such cards total an estimated 200 million dollars.

The ready acceptability of credit cards by merchants and dealers without demanding any identification from the user and the sending of unsolicited credit cards by mail have been the greatest causes for such losses.

Recently enacted federal legislation has effectively limited liability of the card holder and should help to alleviate some of the more serious problems.

Under the new law the credit card owner is liable for unauthorized use of his card only if it is an accepted card. An accepted card is one which the owner requested and actually received, or one he has signed and used.

Even where an accepted card is stolen or lost and unlawfully used, the owner's liability is now limited to a $50 maximum, and then only on certain conditions.

For any liability to attach at all the card issuer must notify the holder as to his potential liability. The issuer is also required to provide the card holder with a stamped self-addressed notification to be mailed to the issuer in case of loss or theft.

The card issuer must also furnish the owner with a method of identifying himself as the person authorized to use it.

No liability for any card issued on or subsequent to Jan. 25, 1971, exists unless all the above conditions are met.

Furthermore, any unauthorized use must occur before the card holder notifies the issuer of loss or theft.

As a further restriction, no credit card can now be issued unless it is in renewal of, or in substitution for, a previously accepted card, or unless a specific request or application is made for it.

The burden of proof is on the issuer to show that the use was authorized, or, if it was unlawfully used, to prove that the above mentioned conditions for liability have been met.

The passage of this law by Congress should help to stem the tide that has allowed credit card fraud to become a relatively easy form of larceny in the United States.

Janyce Brockman is wed to Glen Branson Friday night

Janyce Brockman and Glen Branson exchanged wedding vows at 8 p.m. in the Church of Christ here.

Bill McBride officiated the ceremony before the bride and groom were decorated with white gladioli.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brockman, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Branson.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by Mr. Jim Huntley and given away by her father. She wore a formal gown of white heirloom lace with chapel-length train. Her face was veiled with white mantilla. The bridal bouquet was composed of white gladioli and daisies with a white Bible.

Connie Cockrell Fortner, of Dallas, was matron of honor. She wore a floor-length lavender dress and a lavender picture hat.

Miss Sherry Brockman, Miss Sherry Brockman, sister of the bride, and Miss Gaynell King were bridesmaids. They each wore a lavender and white lace length and white picture hats with white picture hats with white trim. They each carried a bouquet.

David Hart served as best man. The groomsmen were Jimmy Bertrand, Larry Duren and Kenny McKamie.

Miss Kelly Brockman, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. John Brockman, brother of the bride, acted as ring bearer.

Wedding music was provided by Miss Nancy Reno.

Reception followed the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church. Miss Pat Johnson, Miss Crystal and Miss Sue Parrish served the three-tiered wedding cake from a table laid with a white cloth centered with an arrangement of mixed glassware.

Following a wedding trip to Dallas and Fort Worth, the couple will be home in Altus, Okla., where Branson is employed by the G. F. Wacker stores.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Brockman, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Brockman and Jennifer, all of Throckmorton, Mr. Ben Daws, Rob. Tina and Sarah of Lawton, Okla., Mrs. Iva Morrell, Mike, Milan, Jay Husky and Lorraine Peacock of Big Spring, Mrs. Robert Brockman, Kim and Kelly of Killeen, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Thronberry and children of Dallas, and Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Hines and Ricky of Lubbock.

Shower honors Mrs. Bertrand

A bridal shower honoring Mrs. Ronald Bertrand, formerly Miss Betty Sue Hutchins, was given in the home of Mrs. Beth Walker Saturday, June 17.

Miss Jill Bertrand, Mrs. Connie Bertrand and Miss Sandra Richardson served cookies, nuts, mints and punch from a table laid with a white cloth centered with an arrangement of daisies.

The guests were registered by Mrs. Dennis Odum.

Special guests for the occasion were Mrs. J. M. Hutchins, mother of Mrs. Bertrand, and Mrs. William Bertrand, mother of Mr. Bertrand.

Co-hostesses were Mes. Alene Brewer, Debbie Sneed, Kay Pace, Edna Owen and Jean Gandy.

Some cotton beginning to die near Southland

By MRS. TOMMIE WILKE
Well, hello, out there, whoever and wherever you are. Many of the crops are still looking good in the Southland community, but quite a few of the farmers are finding that their cotton is beginning to die out, for some reason. I've heard several versions as to what the trouble could be — sand burn, static electricity, thrip — I don't know what it could be, but it is very discouraging to these guys that have worked so hard to get their cotton this far. Well, maybe things will turn out better than we think! Congratulations to Dessa Diane Dodd and Larry Glen Mitchell on their marriage this past Saturday afternoon in a double ring ceremony in the Western Hills Baptist Church in Lubbock. Dessa is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Bill Dodd, formerly of Southland and now of Dell City, Tex. Larry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Olen

Mitchell of Seagraves. Dessa was presented in marriage by her father, who also officiated the ceremony. The bride wore a formal gown of lute song and re-embroidered alecon lace, fashioned with a waist-fitted bodice, petal point sleeves and princess style skirt. The gown was made by her mother and grandmother.
Her sister attended her as matron of honor. Other attendants were Miss Judy Dodd of Muleshoe, a cousin, and Mrs. Terri Gentry, sister of the groom from Bell City. Best man was Warren Abbott of Plainview. Sam Field of Levelland and Gerald Gentry of Dell City were groomsmen. Seating guests was Will Dodd, brother of the bride.
The bride is a 1970 graduate of Southland High School and attended South Plains College for two years. The groom is a 1970 graduate of Seagraves High School and also attended South Plains College. The couple will be living in Canyon where he will be a cattle inspector. May God's richest blessings be with this couple in their marriage.

Southland's Homecoming will be Saturday, Aug. 12, beginning at 4 p.m. in the Slaton Club House. Bring lunch for your own family. Playground and swimming facilities for the children will be available. Bobby Fields, former Southland resident, will be the guest speaker. Physco Ceramics will supply the entertainment. The outstanding citizen will be honored. I know that this is kind of early, in a way to be putting this in the Dispatch but we want everyone to hear about it, so if you read this, tell someone else about it and maybe the word will get around to everybody. I will be putting reminders in the paper from time to time. We are all hoping for a good turnout.

Supt. and Mrs. Ray Simon moved to Southland this past Saturday. We all want to give this new family a warm welcome, so when they get settled, why don't you drop by and get acquainted. They are living in the Methodist parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Mason has just returned from a trip to cool, cool Colorado. Jim said they camped out five days and fished and had a great time! Sounds groovy.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Pennell spent this past weekend in Cloudcroft.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Janke of Bartlett have been here visiting relatives in and around Southland.

FINGERING THE CRIMINAL

Harriet, victim of a mugging, was summoned to police headquarters to view a lineup. One of the men looked vaguely familiar, but she felt too doubtful to pick him out.

A week later, she was called to a second lineup. All the men were different except one — the same one who had seemed familiar the first time. With her confidence bolstered, Harriet pointed an accusing finger at him and said:

"He's the man."
But at the trial, her identification was ruled out of court. The judge said placing the man into both lineups was an unfair way of singling him out and making him look guilty.

Witnesses to a crime are often asked to select the culprit out of a police lineup. As a means of identification, the lineup—usually consisting of prisoners or plainclothes policemen—is widely approved.

However, to be constitutional, the procedure must be carried out with basic fairness. Police must not "stack" the lineup so as to draw special attention to the man they suspect.

On the other hand, the participants need not be perfect look-alikes.
In another case, the suspect was the only one in the lineup wearing a black jacket. Admittedly, this made him conspicuous to some degree. But a court upheld the procedure anyhow, since the jacket happened to be the man's regular attire.

Furthermore, even if the suspect is conspicuous in one respect, the witness may have other legitimate reasons for making the identification. For example:

A burglary suspect was placed in a lineup while wearing distinctive clothing. But the witness who picked him out did not rely just on his apparel. He said he recognized the man mainly by his height, his weight, his voice, and his posture.

The court decided that, with so much to support it, the identification by the witness was indeed worthy of the jury's consideration.

SERMON TOPIC

The sermon topic for the Rev. George L. Miller at the 11 a.m. worship service of the First Presbyterian Church Sunday, June 25, will be "Communion: Eat and Run!"

"The Layman Witnesses"

By Robert D. Griffin

Life is made up of experiences that we human beings share with each other. First Baptist Church had eight people visiting with us this past Sunday in the morning worship service and they shared with us what the Lord is doing in their lives and what he wants to do in every one's life that will let Him. These people were "lay witnesses" for Jesus and this is what the Lord expects of every disciple of His. He promised that if we would "sow in tears we could reap in joy." It is not enough to sow, we may do that constantly, but we must add passion, emotion, tender pity, and tears, if the second half of the verse is to be fulfilled, and we reap in joy.

But what a promise is here! You have sown long and patiently among young and old, sometimes to the point of giving up in despair, but to give up now would be to miss the harvest of all your labor. Be patient, persevere a little longer, God guarantees the harvest. He says, "You shall reap; you shall doubtless come again, bringing your sheaves." Even though you were to die without reaping, yet in another world you would come again, bringing your sheaves.

We are all sowing tears—tears over our Aboloms, tears over our failures and mistakes, tears over our disappointed hopes. But each tear overflowing from a consecrated soul is a seed-germ dropped into God's keeping, and it shall have its reward. He carefully gathers up our tears for his battle. God is not unrighteous to forget. He guards the buried seed, and stands sponsor for the harvest. No sigh, no tears, no prayer, inspired by the Spirit of God can positively be lost or unproductive. Like our Lord, we need to see the fields white unto harvest.

Former Post resident hits nail on head with his idea for magnet

James E. Vance, a Fort Worth writer for the Star-Telegram, recently wrote a feature on how Curtis Steele, a 1969 Post High School graduate and son of Mr. and Mrs. Steele of Post, found a better way to handle nails while shoeing horses. (The article appears below.)

CURTIS STEELE

Curtis Steele, there had to be a better way to handle nails while shoeing horses than the traditional way of using a "long reach," the mouth or the "long reach." Steele, a relative newcomer to the field of farriers, said that he held nails in his mouth he had run the risk of chipping or a puncture in his jaw. Steele said that horse shoe nails come from the farrier's mouth. "They cost away, even without the physical risk, horseshoe nails and the chew of tobacco just aren't suitable. Steele is now shoeing in a nearby tray each time he picks up a nail takes more time, Steele added. "And time is especially if the horse is young and frisky or to make shoeing horses easier and healthier, I used a small and powerful magnet in a manner in which most farriers described as "why didn't you do that?"

Steele said 30 to 45 minutes were required to trim, fit, nail and re-trim. Race horses will require a new set of shoes 12-15 times per year. He said they are shod with aluminum plates which are light and horses can "dig in" on a track to run faster. "By putting the magnet over my left knee nails are 'right there,' and saving five to 10 minutes per horse means a lot," Steele added, especially when a horse tries to move every time you had to reach to a container for a nail.

Steele "reckoned" he's one of the few younger farriers who could make horse shoes from strap iron bar stock. He said the magnet could be put over the right knee if a man were left handed. He also designed a split leather apron, and several other tools for his trade. "There's no patent for the magnet design," Steele said, "but The Rodeo Shop in Fort Worth already is in production to distribute through dealers, hopefully nationwide." A new set of shoes for a horse ranges from $12 for common horses up to $40 for top show horses requiring special shoes. Steele seemed convincing that the magnet system was much to advantage in handling nails — whether a farrier chews tobacco, or not.

Early registration conferences for new Tech students to begin July 17

LUBBOCK—More students than ever before will get sneak previews of college life and a head start on registration for the fall 1972 semester at Texas Tech University this summer. The registrar's office at Tech this week had already confirmed more than 2,730 reservations for academic advisement, orientation and early registration conferences for new students scheduled to begin July 17.

According to Dr. William H. Duvall, assistant dean of students for programs, this total is approximately 34 per cent higher than that of just 2,051 recorded several days earlier in 1971. Six separate two-day sessions have been scheduled with the first slated July 17-18. Other conference dates are July 20-21, July 24-25, July 27-28, July 31-Aug. 1, and Aug. 3-4. Duvall said parents are invited to accompany their sons or daughters to the sessions, pointing out that the conferences provide a golden opportunity for students to get a glimpse of contemporary college life. Most students and parents spend two days and one night on campus for the registration and orientation. The night is spent in one of Tech's campus residence halls. Invitations to participate in the programs of early registration, orientation and academic advisement are extended to new students after they have completed all necessary procedures for gaining admission.

HOW OUR STANDARD COMPARES

One U.S. family has as much income as 26.9 Pakistani.

In a world brutally divided between the haves and have-nots, one man's poverty-level is another man's affluence.

The average per capita personal income in the United States for instance, is around $3,600 a year — hardly a staggering sum by American standards.

Yet it represents undreamed-of riches to the average West Pakistani, whose yearly income is $130. He, in turn, stands financially head and shoulders above the inhabitants of East Pakistan, whose per capita income is a pitiful $77 a year.

By contrast, even for Mississippi — which occupies the bottom rung of the American per capita income ladder — the figure is around $2,000. From there, the state-by-state figures peak at about $5,000 for the District of Columbia.

The global disparity in income is one of the main targets of the war on poverty waged for the past 25 years by Catholic Relief Services. It explains why much of the agency's effort goes toward socio-economic programs aimed at encouraging self-help among the impoverished of more than 70 Third World countries. Thus, under the "Food for Work" program, volunteer laborers are paid wages in food rations for building community development projects.

Other food-incentive programs include adult education, mother-child nutrition care and agricultural extension. In a single year, the agency channels $5 million to these and other grass root development projects among the world's underprivileged of all races and religions.

By responding to this year's Catholic Relief Overseas Aid Fund Appeal from March 5 through March 12, you can join in this global operation. Send your contribution to the nearest Catholic church or to Catholic Overseas Aid Empire State Building, New York, N.Y. 10001.

You'll be helping to lift millions out of generation-after-generation poverty and pointing them toward the dignity of economic independence.

Celebration—

Any groups wanting to appear on the program are asked to contact Boles at the radio station.

The Post Volunteer Fire Department also will be back with their hoses for all the youngsters interested in playing water polo before the barbecue serving begins.

The fireworks reportedly are on hand—an even bigger and better supply than last year—and the license to pop them high into the sky already has been secured by the Chamber.

Earl Chapman, chairman of the celebration committee for the Chamber, says all that remains on the celebration schedule before the event comes off is to cook about 650 chickens and to raise a little donation money from anybody who wants to help to defray cost of the meal and the fireworks.

The Chamber is putting $500 into the affair from its budget and if there is a shortage will make up the deficit. Last year the organization paid $650 toward the cost of the celebration.

Post business men are being invited to help with the serving. It's a great way to see a lot of happy customers.

CORPUS CHRISTI VISITORS

Mrs. Cherry Moncrief and son of Corpus Christi will be visiting in Post until July 6 with Mrs. Moncrief's mother, Mrs. Frances Matthews and freinds and relatives. Mr. Moncrief will join his family and then will move to Lubbock to make their home.

SERMON TOPIC GIVEN

The sermon subject of Bernard S. Ramsey's sermon at the 11 a.m. Sunday worship service will be "The Man Nobody Knows?" The Lord's Supper will be observed and a supervised nursery will be available. No evening service will be held.

VISIT HERE

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gary and Susan last week were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gary and sons, Mrs. Sandy Ehret and daughters of Santa Fe, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gary and children formerly of Springfield, Tenn. They are in the process of moving to Mexico City where he will be teaching in the college. Susan returned home with her sister, Mrs. Ehret and daughters.

Tigers vs. Yankees tonight for Little League crown

Final 3-game sweep is needed by Tiger '9'

Tigers still have one final game to win the 1972 Little League championship, but it won't be an easy assignment.

Makeup games remain on the schedule — two tonight and one Saturday night if it affects the standings — and the Tigers must win all of them to take the crown, or must win the first two of the three to share the title with the Yankees.

The Yankees now sporting a 10-1 record, the Tigers will play the Dodgers in tonight's first game at 4 p.m. They then will meet the Yankees in the second game.

Managers picked the all-star team last night following a Little League swimming party for players and managers at the swimming pool.

The Yankees took a big title step Saturday night when they defeated the contending Tigers, 4 to 2, in the first of their head-to-head showdowns in the season's final nights.

Mike Macy outdueled Raymie Holly in that one with each club collecting seven hits.

The Yankees put it away in the fourth when Macy himself scored the winning run to break a 2-2 tie and Bud Jones who had got aboard on a fielder's choice followed him across the plate to up the final margin to two.

Rodney Josey got an important single with two aboard and none away for the winning blow.

The Tigers got their two runs in the first on four hits and a walk before Macy steadied to goose-egg them the rest of the way.

With one down, J. Mahon and Mike Holly singled in succession. Raymie Holly walked and Cain Abraham and Steve Hair followed with singles. Holly eventually was thrown out at the plate to end the big inning.

The Yankees also got one run in the first on a walk to Bryan Compton and a single by Evans Heaton. They tied the score in the third when Heaton hit a homerun in his next trip to the plate.

The Tigers, busiest team in the league down the stretch, did manage to pick up two victories over the week's play, however, defeating the Red Sox 8 to 6 Thursday night and the Wildcats, 9 to 7, on Monday night.

The Tigers had to come up with the winning runs in the last inning against the Red Sox with a hit batsman and a fielder's choice putting two aboard with Abraham singling them home.

Steve Hair went the route for the victory and Ronald Bratcher who hurled the first four taking the loss. Larry Harper finished up.

On Monday night, the Tigers got a four-hit route-going performance from Abraham for the victory over the Wildcats. Ronnie Gray at home went the distance for the losers.

The other big news of the week was the Wildcats' first victory of the season, an 8 to 7 triumph over the Dodgers, one notch above them in the standings.

Rodney Gray went the distance to win that one despite the fact the Dodgers outbit the Wildcats, 8 to 6. Gray survived a five-hit, five-run third to hold on for the win. The winners got four runs each

Braves win three to take over Babe Ruth loop lead

The Braves scored three straight victories this past week to take over the Babe Ruth League lead from the Indians who dropped two out of their three encounters to slip down into second.

The Braves will meet the loop's two second division clubs in their final pair of games tonight and up two more triumphs they will clinch the loop championship despite anything the Indians can do.

But with the Indians only one game back, anything can still happen during the weekend windup.

The Cubs dropped three straight this week to fall into the cellar while the lowly White Sox won two out of three to climb over them into third.

The Braves whipped the Cubs 5 to 3 last Thursday night, then the White Sox 9 to 3 Saturday night.

but the big "decider" for the loop lead came Tuesday night when Garland Dudley allowed the Indians only a first inning single and shut them out 5 to 0 to vault the Braves into the top spot.

Singles by Mark Terry, Bryan Davis and Buddy Britton mixed around walks to Benny Greene and Dudley in the first frame scored the first two runs for the Braves, and that was all they needed with Dudley throwing blanks.

Walks and a hit batsman with a single by Charles Clanton got them two more in the third and another in the fourth to ice it.

The Braves had a tougher time really in pulling out their 10 to 4 victory over the Cubs last Thursday night.

They did it with a six-run rally in the 10th as the two clubs finished the regulation seven frames all knotted at 4-4.

Walks and an error mixed with hits by Britton, Thomas DeLeon, and Charles Clanton did the damage. The Braves had an easier time Saturday night in their 9 to 3 romp over the White Sox as three Brave pitchers two-hit the White Sox for the Sox only loss of the week. The Braves got seven bingles and had it stored away safely in their bat bag after a five-run third, not to mention a four-run fifth.

What really hurt the Indians was their 8 to 7 extra inning loss to the White Sox last Thursday night, when the Sox tallied two times in the extra frame to only a single run for the Indians.

The White Sox won another close one from the Cubs Saturday night, pulling out a 7 to 6 decision as they came up with a six-run burst in the fourth to knot the count at 6 all and then pushed across the winner on an error and singles by J. O. Cummings and Mike Hair.

Blue Jays take Minor loop lead

The Blue Jays took over the Minor League lead this week with a 9 to 6 victory over the Colts, while the former league leaders all were dropping a 14 to 2 decision to the resurgent Astros, who started scoring runs far more plentifully than their major league counterparts.

The Astros made it two straight for the week with a 30 to 2 romp over the Harvesters.

But it wasn't all bad for the Harvesters who picked up their first win of the campaign by edging the Mets 10 to 9.

VISITING IN BOSTON

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Lott left Friday for a visit in Boston, Mass., with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Don Britt and their two children.

HOME AFTER SURGERY

Mrs. James Minor is now at home after undergoing surgery on her knee in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

In the first and second innings off Charles Hall, who was the losing pitcher, with Mike Gonzales pitching the final three frames.

The Cardinals came up with the most runs of the week with a 15 to 11 slugfest win over the Wildcats Thursday night. The winners got an even dozen safeties and the losers 10. Brad Davis got three hits in five trips to the plate.

Post leading Caprock BR into final week

Manager Bill Holly's Post team maintained their half game lead in the Caprock Babe Ruth League this week with only three more games to play.

Each of the league's four clubs split two games played last week-end with the Post club slugging out a 12 to 4 triumph here Monday night after dropping a 6 to 2 decision to Amos Supply at Lamesa Saturday night.

Runner-up Tahoka dropped a 4 to 2 decision Saturday night to the Lamesa No. 2 team at Lamesa and then came back to win a tight 2 to 0 verdict over Amos Supply here Monday night.

If Post can sweep their last three they will wind up with the league title. Probably, two victories would give the locals either the whole crown or a share of it.

The first test comes here at 2 p.m. Sunday when Manager Holly's locals host Tahoka. The game originally scheduled for Saturday night was rescheduled for Sunday.

because of the All-America football game in Lubbock Saturday night.

Then on Monday night the locals will meet Amos Supply of Lamesa, the only other of the three teams with a title chance. That game will be played here too.

Post walloped 12 hits in its easy Monday night triumph over Lamesa No. 2 as Reggie Moore gave up only three hits. After a shakey first inning, he was in control the rest of the way. Kyle Josey finished up on the mound.

Josey, who started at shortstop, got two doubles and a single in his three official trips, being hit by pitcher in his other plate appearance.

Post took the lead with a big six-run second and was never threatened after that. Ricky Hair, Reggie Moore, and Robert Mindeta each got a pair of safeties.

The Saturday night loss at Lamesa to Amos Supply came in the very first inning when the Lamesa club battered starter Danny Lee off the hill to score five runs on three hits and a pair of walks.

Moore came on in relief with only one out in the initial frame and faced only 18 batters the rest of the way, allowing but one run, striking out six, walking five, and giving up but two hits. But by that time the damage had been done.

The locals got six hits and had the benefit of five Lamesa errors, but managed only single runs in the fourth and sixth.

Moore collected a double and a single with Kim Owen, Rick Hair, Lee Roy Holly and Frank Martinez each getting a single for the other Post safeties.

Manager Holly said the league's all-star team will be selected probably this weekend from players of the four teams. The league all-stars will play the Lubbock league all-stars for the district crown and a trip to the state tournament.

RECOGNIZE THESE SEATS?

The school is looking for buyers of these 44-year old auditorium seats at $1 each, but so far has found no takers. The seats were installed in the auditorium when the old high school building (now the junior high) was constructed in 1928. They were moved to an upstairs assembly room when the old high school was remodeled for a junior high school in 1960. At the end of this school year, new seats, purchased by the junior high student council, were installed and the old ones were dumped on the east side of the junior high gym. (Staff Photo)

25 highway maintenance foremen nominated for 'Lady Bird' award

AUSTIN — Twenty-five nominees from some 275 Texas Highway Department maintenance foremen have been selected for the third annual Lady Bird Johnson Award for Highway Beautification.

The former First Lady established the award three years ago to single out and honor the Highway Department maintenance foreman who does the best job of highway beautification in his area.

The prizes consist of appropriate plaques and cash awards of $1,000 for the first place winner and $500 for the runner-up. Mrs. Johnson will make the awards this fall.

For the maintenance foreman's award, one Highway Department foreman is nominated each year from each of the Texas Highway Department's 25 districts.

"In spotlighting the maintenance foreman or maintenance construction supervisor for consideration for this high honor, Mrs. Johnson is very graciously calling attention to a group of Highway Department employees who often go unrecognized for their efforts to keep the highways safe and attractive," State Highway Engineer J. C. Dingwall said.

The maintenance foreman in charge of taking care of all maintained highway facilities, the roadways, their work on care of the roadsides and the Highway Department's 1100 rest areas, safety rest areas and picnic turnouts.

Maintenance is a vital part of operation of the Highway Department with more than half of Department's personnel engaged in maintenance.

Post students on Tech honor list

LUBBOCK — Gary D. Hays and James D. Gannon of Post are among the 369 students in the College of Agricultural Sciences at Texas Tech University who qualified for the dean's honor list for the 1972 spring semester, according to Dean Anson B. Bertrand.

Hays is majoring in entomology and Gannon in animal husbandry.

To qualify for the honor list, a student must be enrolled in 12 semester hours of courses, excluding pass-fail courses, and have at least a 3.0 grade point average. Texas Tech uses a 4.0 grading system.

CONSUMER TEXTILE COMPLAINTS

How should a consumer go about making a complaint concerning textile products? It's the consumer's responsibility to let his dissatisfaction be known. Ask yourself a few questions before filing a complaint. Was the imperfection of the manufacturer's fault? Were all instructions on fabric care followed? Was the product used for its intended purpose? Was common sense used in caring for the item? Were expectations of the product's performance reasonable?

If you can answer yes to these questions, you may have a legitimate complaint. Make your dissatisfaction known. But keep cool, and curb your emotions.

Begin by returning the product to the local retailer. Be certain the article is clean. The retailer should exchange the product, repair it or take it back and return the money. If this first encounter results no results, go to a higher level. Write the product manufacturer. The name and address should be available on the labels and hangtags that came on the article. Explain the complaint. Tell what's already been done in seeking help locally and give the name and address of the local retailer. Make a request for help in your final paragraph. Address the letter to Customs Service or the Consumer Relations Department for immediate results. Keep a copy of the letter for future reference.

If you don't receive a response within a month, let the product manufacturer know that you are taking the complaint to another level. Manufacturers don't want poor customer relations, now do they like bad publicity. The next step may be the action that gets results.

This third step is writing to a consumer protection agency. Include a copy of the letter sent to the manufacturer. This may involve local and national publicity particularly undesirable for the manufacturer. These agencies react upon similar complaints received by numerous persons.

For any kind of consumer complaints, write to Mrs. Virginia Knauer, Special Assistant to the President for Consumer Affairs, The White House, Washington, D.C.

The Better Business Bureau handles complaints involving advertising, poor trade practices and outright frauds. See the listings in the telephone directory for their address.

Trade associations are also becoming involved in reducing consumer complaints. For textile product complaints write to the American Textile Manufacturer Institute, 1501 Johnson Building, Charlotte, N. C. The American Apparel Manufacturers Association, 2000 K Street N. W., Washington, D. C. is also interested in hearing consumer complaints on textile items.

Remember your loyalty to brandnames and local retailers is your vote of confidence. If you're particularly pleased with a textile product, write a letter expressing your satisfaction. The resources are available. Now it's the consumer's responsibility to let his complaints and pleasures be heard.

PAY BILLS

To Enjoy Continued CREDIT

The credit bureau's message to the consumer is simple. Pay promptly. Spelling it out clearly—never let an account go past due without payment or immediate contact with the creditor.

Never allow an account to become an item charged off to profit and loss. This means that the merchant has given up hopes of collecting and has changed your account from an asset to an expense item. The item is automatically recorded in the files of the credit bureau. There it cannot be changed—altered unless subsequent dealings with the same firm results in a better record.

Never allow an account to be listed in the collection department of the credit bureau. Payment in full will result in better credit reports, but the item must remain on file for many years to come—perhaps for the rest of your life.

Your credit record is a picture of your character and has been found to be an extremely accurate guide to your future actions, particularly pertaining to whether you will pay future contracts and debts.

Keep your picture bright and shining and enjoy all the conveniences of the machine age. You can cut off the advantages of credit buying by disregarding or ignoring warnings of your merchant friends.

ASSOCIATION OF POST

Library

LISTENING POST

By GEORGE L. MILLER
Who said newspapers never print GOOD NEWS?
I got my copy of The Dispatch last week, and there on the front page, right smack in the middle of it in fact was the incredible announcement that the County Commissioners had doubled the amount to be allocated to the library for 1973. HALLELUJAH!
We went to the commissioners about a month ago and told them something about the library and where we were—financially, book statistics, circulation—everything we thought would indicate just how good a library we've got and how important it is we keep it. They gave us an attentive hearing, asked a few questions, but gave no hint that there could—or would—be an increase in county support. Being an ex-librarian and a member of the library board, it's real easy for me to think that the library ought to come higher on the list of priorities than others might think. I can easily overlook the hundreds of other worthwhile projects which a county has to keep in mind and financially support. When I do remember those projects I am extra grateful for the increase that is now being recommended. Of course, I still think the library deserves it, too!

And I believe I can prove it. For instance, anybody care to guess how many books have been checked out so far in the month of June?

As of June 16th that is? One half month only? We have already checked out 750 books!
Is everybody cheering? Probably not. But analyze that figure a minute. Last year's monthly average was not quite 690 books. That means this year we are more than doubling our monthly average during this month of June! (I ought to whisper that in case the second half of the month falls down a bit.) We will pass 1,000 books before this week is out, with another full week to go. Only one month in the whole history of the library have we topped 1,000 books. We're breaking records down here. One day we checked out 90 books. In one day! My out of town library friends are going to get bored with statistics like that. Lubbock would be ashamed if it didn't do better than that in one hour. But look at the size of Lubbock with its 150,000 people to patronize the library, and think of Post with its 3,600 people, or 5,500 when you count in all the rural folks in the county. Nine ty books in one day, opened only four hours, and with only one librarian to hold down the fort. That's a darn good record. (We're shooting for a goal of 100 in one day before the month is out! Come down and help us, OK?)

I can talk figures all day, but they don't tell the final story. It's those happy readers, coming in and finding the books they want to read. It's the kids in the Summer Reading Program, and the children at Story Hour. These friends are the mark of success in our library.
Last week, we had 14 children in Story Hour. 14 children and the librarian again on her own. We need some volunteer help there badly.
As of Monday morning we had 81 children enrolled in the Summer Reading Club. Five already have completed the requirement of reading at least 12 books for a reading certificate. Thirteen more have passed the half way mark books. And the rest have read five to nine books each. The best participation we've ever had. Make no mistake, that is a going concern. Things are going down there. So when it's time to finalize the budget for county for 1973, that $1,000,000 talking about how is going er and let him know how happy His vote for the library will be. Right?
