

New program to combat high infant death rate

Federal grant for 2-year effort

The Garza County Community Action board voted Tuesday night of last week for this county to participate in the South Plains new federal-funded program to improve the nutritional status of infants born to indigent mothers through prenatal and postnatal education and care, including fortified infant food.

Action came after John Moody of Levelland, the county's association consultant, told directors the "sad fact is that the 16-county South Plains area ranks third in the entire nation in high infant mortality and first in the state of Texas."

Directors also voted to have a study group determine both need and operational procedures to provide a nutritional program for the area's low-income elderly.

The study group, with Mrs. Pee Wee Pierce as chairman, will come back to the board with recommendations at its mid-January meeting.

A great amount of interest already has been aroused here for a nutrition program for the elderly, with Moody reporting federal guidelines providing a great deal of leeway in how such a program for senior citizens can be established in each locality.

These two major actions—the biggest steps taken by the community action group since institution of the family planning program here over a year ago—came after an informal ceremony in which the Lorenzo Alexander women's club presented a check for $350 to Mrs. Margie Pennell representing the First National Bank as final payment on a $4,350 note to complete construction and equip the Lorenzo Alexander Community Center.

The City of Post and Garza County paid all of the construction and equipment costs except for the final $350 which the women club raised through monthly dues and benefit affairs.

The Rev. George L. Miller, chairman of the community action group, Mrs. Mozelle Mitchell, president of the women's club, and Mrs. Sue Shytles, director of the center, briefly outlined the history of the development of the community and opened in May of 1970.

Moody described the community center project as the most worthwhile center project undertaken in the South Plains area since the 16-county association was formed.

Garza County will be one of the seven counties served in maternal and child health program.

Moody told the session which had a considerable number of visitors for its open session. Objectives of the program include reduction in infant mortality; reduction in incidence of handicaps at birth and during early years of life due to malnutrition; improvement in health of infants, young children, pregnant women and nursing mothers; and demonstration of the need to increase federal, state and local programs dealing with nutritional needs of low-income pregnant women and infants born to these women.

Fifty-two thousand dollars in federal funds are provided, Moody said, to establish and infant feeding program to serve 500 infants in the seven counties from low-income families over a two-year period at no cost to the families (See New Program, page 4)

Community choir to sing

Festival of Lights to open up yule season

The Yuletide Festival of Lights, featuring a community choir under the direction of Bob Stice, will inaugurate Post's Christmas season Saturday night.

The program of Christmas songs and lights will begin on the courthouse lawn at 7 p.m.

The vocal program besides choir numbers will feature both soloists and quartet numbers.

The choir will proceed up Main street after the initial program on the lawn, singing as they go, and Post's downtown Christmas lights will be turned on for the first time block by block as the choir moves east on Main Street.

Stores will be open for shoppers and the public is invited to turn out and enjoy the most unusual inaugural of the Christmas season in Post in many years. It is sponsored by the Women's Division of the Post Chamber of Commerce.

Herb Germer and some high school bandmen will assist in the musical portion of the festival with Baldrige Broad's sound truck providing the amplification for the singers.

On the following Saturday, Dec. 9, a "Smart Shoppers Window Contest" will be conducted by participating merchants and the Retail Promotions Committee of the Post Chamber of Commerce.

Those who identify all, or the most items in windows which the stores do not sell will receive gift certificate prizes. There will be a $25 certificate for the winner and that will be determined by (See Festival, page 8)

Eight indicted by grand jury

Eight indictments were returned by a Garza County district court grand jury here Nov. 21, one against Larry Harris for a shooting at the Log Cabin only two nights before.

Harris, who is out on $3,000 bond, was indicted for assault with an unlawfully carried probated weapon, after shooting and wounding Nathaniel Elder in the arm.

Four of the other indictments were on marijuana possession charges.

Samuel T. Sheffield was charged with marijuana possession and possession of narcotic paraphernalia following his arrest Jan. 29, 1972; and George A. Fuentes, Rene Garza and Roy Garza all were charged with marijuana possession May 7, 1972.

One two of the indictments those charged are still to be apprehended.

Gary E. Oliver was indicted for theft under $50 and over $5 and then his case transferred to county court because the size of the theft was not large enough for district court jurisdiction.

Yule decoration contest slated

The Amity Junior Study Club has announced it will sponsor its Outdoor Christmas Decoration contest again this year.

This year's contest will include all outside decorations instead of the usual decorated door.

Application blanks for those wishing to enter the contest will appear in the Dec. 7 and Dec. 14 issues of The Post Dispatch.

Prizes will be awarded first, second and third place winners in the contest.

Inch of snow halts harvest

Garza County's almost started cotton harvest was stopped again yesterday by an inch of wet snow as a new cold front moved in.

Official moisture measurements here over the last 10 days or so include .20 of an inch Nov. 18, a similar amount on Nov. 24, and a trace of snow Nov. 21.

On dry days, of which there have only been a few, county gins have been busy.

Storie funeral is held Wednesday

Funeral services for A. L. "Skinner" Storie, who was dead on arrival at 8 a.m. Tuesday of last week after being taken by ambulance from Colonial Nursing Home in Tahoka to the hospital, were held at 3 p.m. Wednesday of last week at the First Baptist Church here.

Storie came to Post from Knox County on Jan. 20, 1915, with his brother, the late S. C. Storie, in a buggy.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Storie, and older brother and a younger brother were already here, having come on a month before after the family had purchased a farm in the Close City community.

Skinner Storie first worked for the Double U Company here on their windmill crew, but later became engaged in carpenter work, building a number of houses in Post and on the plains.

He was a World War I veteran. (See Storie Rites, page 8)

In talk before Post Rotarians

Reese commander cites gun concentration around Hanoi

There are more anti-aircraft guns around Hanoi today than in all of Germany during World War II, Col. Walter H. (Buzz) Baxter, wing commander at Reese Air Force Base outside Lubbock told Post Rotarians Tuesday noon.

This observation came during a question and answer period following a slide presentation and talk by Baxter entitled "Facets and Facts, Reese AFB."

Colonel Baxter knew of what he spoke first hand. He's been above those Hanoi guns.

The observation came after he was asked by a Rotarian, "What's wrong with the F-117?"

At West Texas Boys Ranch

Sunday to be 'Garza Day'

West Texas Boys Ranch, near San Angelo, is holding a "Garza County Appreciation Day" Sunday to honor all Post and Garza folks who had a hand in the highly successful O. S. Ranch Benefit Steer Roping and Art Exhibit Sept. 30-Oct. 1.

Ranch officials are hopeful of having 125 to 150 guests from this community and area attend.

The program opens with a service in the boys' ranch chapel at 11 a.m. with all the boys of the ranch during which the Garza group will be thanked for their efforts in raising $20,000 for the ranch's operations.

That will be followed with a Sunday dinner with the boys in the new dining hall. A tour of the ranch will conclude "the day."

All those wanting to ride buses from Post to the ranch for the event are asked to contact Jim Prather here by Friday so he can arrange for adequate transportation.

Buses will leave Post at 7:45 by 5 p.m.

All committee members who worked on either the benefit steer roping or art exhibit, all who helped with either event or the barbecue, ropers, artists, and page sponsors in the catalog printed for the event are cordially invited to attend.

CENTER IS 'PAID IN FULL'

Meeting set on meals for aged

All persons interested in the proposed Meals on Wheels program to provide a hot meal daily to senior citizens in Post who can not provide it for themselves are asked to attend an open meeting at 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday, Dec. 5, at the First United Methodist Church.

Mrs. C. K. Pierce, chairman of a study committee of the Garza County Community Action organization, has called the session to determine the need for such a program here and to see if there will be enough volunteers to take the meals to shut-ins.

Federal funds are available for such a program here (see community action group story for details).

Those who need such a meal service and will be unable to attend the meeting are asked to contact Mrs. Pierce at the Post Public Library, phone 2149, between 2 and 6 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

$400 given library building fund here

A $400 contribution by Mrs. Willard M. Kirkpatrick to the Memorial Building Fund of the Post Public Library was announced today by Jim Cornish, chairman of the library trustees.

The gift brings to almost $9,000 the amount now in the fund for construction of a library addition next spring on the vacant lot between the City Hall and the Tower Theater.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick's gift included

$100 in the name of each of her parents, Mr and Mrs. K. Stoker, $100 in the name of her late husband, Willard M. Kirkpatrick, and a $100 life membership for herself in the Post Friends of the Public Library organization.

The Memorial Building Fund was started 27 months ago and had grown to over $8,400 before Mrs. Kirkpatrick's gift.

This column from time to time contains a little bit about almost everything on the local scene — so why not extol the most unlikely book anybody ever recommended to Texans to get a no-holds-barred peek at their native state.

It's Neal R. Pierce's "The Megastates of America — People, Politics and Power in the Ten Great States."

We'll tell you right off it is a tough, hard book to read because it compacts so much into ten tremendous chapters. What Pierce, a Washington-based political writer with quite an educational pedigree, attempts is to condense into his 694 page book the political, governmental, geographical, industrial, ethnic, metropolitan history and overview of the ten great states of America's 50, where over half of America lives.

The states are New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Florida, Texas and California.

Like the normal reader we started our literary journey on page 1 with the chapter about the state of New York and were amazed to read of the monumental achievements, as Pierce sees them, of the progressive state government in (See Postings, page 8)

Striking hard at major problem

"The sad fact is," John Moody of Level-land explained to directors of the Garza County Community Action Committee last week, the South Plains Community Action Committee 16-county area ranks third in the nation and first in Texas in high infant mortality rate."

The community action coordinator was explaining why the South Plains organization, of which Garza County is a part, recently received a $52,000 two-year grant to initiate a program to improve the nutrition of infants born to indigent mothers in this area.

The truth is this South Plains area got the federal funding here simply because it was one of the areas of greatest need.

That is a "sad fact." But why, you ask, does this South Plains area outrank "the valley" in South Texas in high infant mortality rates?

The answer is simple enough. The health problem in the valley was recognized years ago. A lot has been done in that area in public health programs to aid the families of the large number of migrant workers who headquarter there in the winters.

In other words, public health in the valley is already at work on high infant mortality among other problems. While here on the South Plains, no such public health programs up to now have been initiated.

This is the start. It obviously is a trial program, aimed at testing on a limited scale what efforts can be successfully undertaken to give a lot of South Plains infants at least a better chance for a start in life.

Local citizens generally do not understand or pay too much attention to the community action program in the county. But like the family planning program now underway here, the program to cut down infant mortality will strike hard at one of this area's major problems.

It deserves public support and understanding.

The federal government in the past few years has poured billions of dollars into the fight to improve the opportunities of America's poor.

While taxpayers might question the use of much of this money as expensive failures, there is no denying that a number of vital programs are a part of this effort that deserve full citizen support.

This program is one of them. It's only a two-year testing effort now, but it can bear fruit and blossom into something bigger and more meaningful if an all-out community effort is made to prove the point that something can sensibly be done to cut our high infant mortality rate.—JC

Basketball merits our support

With football equipment stored away until next season, attention here has turned to basketball with a total of ten teams out at the schools having already opened their season.

The roundball sport will continue until well up into February, with three tournaments on tap for the varsity teams in addition to their district and non-district games. The other teams will also be in tournaments as the season advances, with one of the junior high district tournaments to be held in Post.

More than 100 junior high and high school athletes will be involved in basketball here under the direction of seven coaches. That all adds up to a lot of people in a program that merits every local fan's enthusiasm and support.

Attend all the games you can. The season gives every promise of being an interesting one and every team and every individual player will perform better if they know the fans are behind them.—CD

Put yourself into 'Christmas mood'

The Christmas season is at hand, and it is always good to put it into proper perspective.

It's a rush-rush season sure, but it's nothing to get into an ugly mood about. Some people do, you know. But it's so silly. They seem to think they're so busy with "normal living" they can't possibly find the time to speed up their pace a bit, do the planning, gift buying, mailing, cooking, and attend parties and special events.

If you catch yourself thinking along such lines, give yourself a piece of your mind. Put yourself now into the "Christmas mood" and thoroughly enjoy the very best season of the year. We're looking forward to it ourselves and we're going to have a bigger "house full" than ever before.

Post merchants are planning an interesting Christmas season for you folks, too. Take a look at the First National Bank ad on page 3 and stop and realize what an amount of planning and cooperation this takes during their busiest season of the business year.

It's going to be a gay Christmas for you and yours if you will accept it as such. So put your grouching aside — if you have this very human tendency — aside for January — when you'll have plenty of company.—JC Bureaucracy—ain't it wonderful?

It's a shame that more anecdotes about bureaucracy in action aren't brought to public attention. It would provide a lot of laughs, and since the bureaucratic jungle is costing the taxpayers so much money, it's too bad they, or rather we, don't get a little more pleasure out of the whole thing.

A wonderful bureaucracy report comes from the Memphis, Tenn., Commercial Appeal. The events described took place in a major, midwestern city, where the Police Department one day asked city officials how it happened that a brand new city car had been parked far several months behind the police station and never used.

It was discovered that the automobile had been purchased for the city's legal adviser. More checking turned up the embarrassing fact that the city did not have a legal adviser. That being the case, it might seem logical to sell the car. But no, you guessed it. The city fathers are going to hire a legal adviser instead. Who knows, maybe they even need one. In any event, that's bureaucracy in action—ain't it wonderful?

The Post Dispatch

I HAVEN'T counted them, but with Thanksgiving past, there just can't be many shopping days left until Christmas. Which reminds me, it's time for your youngsters to start getting their Santa Claus letters in to The Dispatch.

The following would be more appropriate on the church page, but since it was mailed in addressed to "Thursday to Thursday," that's where it's being run:

There is a message making the rounds which was written by the Rev. Richard Halverson, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian Church of Washington, D. C. Those who digest the pastor's words may get their thinking processes working overtime with beneficial results to themselves and to others.

"You're going to meet an old man someday! Down the road ahead—10, 20, 30 years—he's waiting there for you. You'll be catching up with him!

"What kind of old man are you going to meet? That's a rather significant question!

"He may be a seasoned, soft, gracious fellow—a gentleman who has grown old gracefully, surrounded by hosts of friends who call him blessed because of what his life has meant to them.

"He may be a bitter, disillusioned, dried-up, cynical old buzzard, without a good word for anybody—soured, friendless and alone.

"The kind of old man you will meet depends entirely on you. Because that old man will be you. He'll be the composite of everything you do, say, and think today and tomorrow. His heart will be turning out what you've been putting in.

"Every little thought, every deed, goes into the making of this old man. He'll be exactly what you make him—nothing more, nothing less. It's up to you. You'll have no one else to credit or blame.

"Every day in every way you are becoming more like yourself. Amazing, but true! You're getting to look more like yourself, think more like yourself, talk more like yourself. You're becoming yourself more and more.

"Live only in terms of what you're getting out of life and the old man gets smaller, drier, harder, crabbier, more self-centered.

"Open your life to others, think in terms of what you can give to life, and the old man grows larger, softer, kinder, greater.

"A point to remember is that these things don't always show immediately, but they'll show up sooner than you think. These little things, so unimportant now, but they'll show sooner than you think. These little things, so unimportant now—attitudes, goals, ambitions, desires — they're adding up inside, where you can't see them, crystallizing in your heart and mind. Someday they'll harden into that old man, and nothing will be able to soften or change them.

"The time to take care of that old man is right now—this week, today. Examine his motives, attitudes, goals. Check up on him. Work him over while he's still plastic, still in a formative condition. The day comes, awfully soon, when it's too late. The hardness will have set in, worse than paralysis. Character crystallizes, sets, jells. That's the finish.

"Any wise man takes personal inventory regularly. We all need to in the light of Christ and His Word. You'll be much more likely to meet a splendid old fellow at the proper time—the fellow you'd like to be."

THE MAN UP the street says to really know a man, observe his behavior with a woman, a flat tire, and children.

A political candidate in Arkansas published this advertisement after losing his race:

"In my campaigning I lost four months and 20 days canvassing; lost 1,360 hours sleep thinking about the election; lost 40 acres of corn and a whole lot of sweet potatoes; lost two front teeth and a whole lot of hair in a personal encounter with an opponent; donated one beef, four shoats and five sheep to barbecues; gave away two pairs of suspenders and five calico dresses, five dolls and 15 baby rattles; kissed 126 babies; kindled 14 kitchen fires; put up eight stoves; cut 495 bundles of fodder; walked 4,065 miles; shook hands 9,060 times; told 10,000 lies and talked enough to make 10,000 volumes; attended 27 revivals; was baptized four times by immersion and twice by sprinkling; contributed $15 to foreign missions; made love to nine grass widows; got dog bit 29 times, and then lost the election."

Medicare 'Reasonable charges' is explained

The voluntary Medicare part of Medicare "reasonable charges" services and other services covered by the Medicare pays 80 per cent of the reasonable charges for services covered by the medical insurance program, after the $50 annual deductible has been incurred.

If the doctor and patient agree, the doctor can file the Medicare claim and payment will be made directly to him. "In that case, the doctor also agrees to accept Medicare's reasonable charge as full payment for the service," Hutton said, "and can bill the patient only for the 20 per cent of reasonable charges which Medicare does not pay."

"If the patient submits the claims himself, he said, "Medicare will pay 80 per cent of the reasonable charge directly to him, and he is responsible for the doctor's full bill even though it is more than Medicare pays. The patient may file his claim either before or after he pays the doctor."

CONSUMER CREDIT COMMISSION

The Office of Consumer Credit Commissioner was created in 1967 to administer and enforce the provisions of the Texas Consumer Credit Code. This is the law regulating the majority of the consumer credit transactions in Texas. The Commissioner has the responsibility of issuing licenses to those in the business of loaning money, and, in general, to supervise and regulate the activities of the licensees. Persons making cash loans or selling goods under installment sales agreements fall under the Commissioner's regulation.

If you borrow money from a loan company, or purchase an appliance or an automobile in installments over a period of time, the transaction would be one which is regulated by the Commissioner's office.

On the other hand, if the loan is one in which the entire amount is repayable in a lump sum at the end of the term, rather than through periodic installments, the transaction is not within the Commissioner's jurisdiction unless an usurious interest rate is charged.

It is the Commissioner's duty to insure that all interest and other finance charges are within the limits authorized by Texas law and that all disclosures and other requirements concerning documentation of the transaction are complied with.

Maximum rates of interest set by Texas statute are $18 a year for each $100 up to $300. For each $100 in excess of $300 but not more than $2500 the maximum rate is $8 a year.

On loans of $100 or less, a different rule applies. If the loan is $29.99 or less, the lender may charge $1 for each $5 loaned.

If the loan is more than $29.99 but not more than $35, an acquisition charge not in excess of one-tenth of the cash advance is allowed. In addition, an installment account handling charge not exceeding $3 a month is allowed.

When the cash advance is in excess of $35 but is not more than $70, the authorized acquisition charge is the same but an installment account handling charge not to exceed $3.50 a month is allowed.

The acquisition charge on cash advances of from $70 and not exceeding $100 is the same, but an installment account handling charge of not more than $4 per month is allowed.

In addition to the licensing and supervision of persons making small loans, the Commissioner has concurrent responsibility with my office for enforcing the deceptive trade practice provisions found in Chapter 10 of the Code. He has the authority to authorize investigation of alleged deceptive trade practice violations on his own. If the facts warrant, he may request the Attorney General's office to file suit on behalf of the State to enjoin such conduct in the future.

It is apparent that the Consumer Credit Commissioner's office is of vital importance to the Texas consumer. This office is the one you should contact if you have questions or problems in the areas discussed above.

Betty Crocker Homemaker test scheduled for Post on Dec. 5

College scholarships totaling $111,000 will be at stake Tuesday, Dec. 5, when high school seniors here and throughout the country join in the written knowledge and attitude examination of the 1973 Betty Crocker Search for American Homemakers of Tomorrow. This year, for the first time in the 19-year history of the educational program, boys are eligible to participate.

Scores on the 50-minute test will form the basis for selection of a Homemaker of Tomorrow here. This student will receive a specially designed award from General Mills, sponsor of the Betty Crocker Search, and will, together with all other school winners, remain in the running for state and national honors.

State Homemakers of Tomorrow — one from each state and the District of Columbia — will be awarded $1,500 scholarships. To be chosen in judging centering on performance in the written examination, they will also earn for their schools a 20-volume reference work "The Annals of America," from Encyclopaedia Britannica Educational Corporation. Second-ranking participants in each state will receive $500 college grants. Late next April, the 51 State

Homemakers of Tomorrow, such accompanied by a faculty adviser, will gather in Washington, D. C., for an expense-paid educational tour of the capital city and Colonial Williamsburg, Va. Personal observation and interviews during the tour will be added factors in the selection, from the state winners, of the 1973 Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow and three runners-up. Scholarships of the four national winners will be increased to $5,000, $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000.

The term "checkmate" comes from the Arab "shah mat," meaning "the king is dead."

A $1,000 Nutrition Scholarship, instituted in last year's Betty Crocker Search, will be part of the program again this year. The Search examination is prepared and graded by Science Research Associates, Chicago.

Timely Tips

By DANA FEASTER

TENSIONS—VALUES, RELIEFS
 Last Friday I had a very interesting talk with one of my regular office callers on tension. He discussed how he believed tension was a very human element and often did one a world of good. After he left, I did some more thinking on the subject, and checked on what some of the experts had to say. My office visitor was right—one likely value in life can be tension.

I enjoyed my research and my visit so much, I thought I might share some of it with you. Some people would say happiness is freedom from tension, but a certain amount of tension is an essential part of everyday living. Tension can be of great value to us if it stimulates adjustment to things we can't change, if it spurs us to take action on our problems, or if it helps us grow and mature physically, socially and mentally.

On the other hand, tension can hinder. Fear and anxiety set off tension. When we're tense, we feel threatened in some way. Tensions can be damaging if they overpower us so we don't face our problems, work to solve them, or learn to accept what can't be changed.

Positive action is the key factor for tension relief. Below are 12 suggestions to help you along. 1. Locate the cause of tension. Ask yourself, "Who is bothering me? What is bothering me? Why am I bothered? What is the worst thing that can happen? How can I remedy it?"

2. Talk it out with someone you respect and trust. Talking it out helps clear your mind of confusion so you can concentrate on the problem. When there's no one to talk to, write it out.

3. Escape for awhile when tension mounts. Escape may be simply the next room, but get away before your emotions bring on some wild decision. 4. Be sure your life includes some recreation you truly enjoy.

5. Take one thing at a time. When several problems arise at once, select the single most important one and get to work on that. The other problems can wait and sometimes have a way of taking care of themselves.

6. Get rid of your anger. Scrub the floor dig in the garden, or pound nails. Work out your anger on some inanimate thing. 7. Don't feel you have to be perfect—no one else is, and trying to be can keep you in constant tension.

8. Steer clear of "mood pills" unless prescribed by your doctor. Such crutches keep you from ever being able to solve your problems. 9. Keep yourself as healthy as possible—eat a well-balanced diet, and get enough rest.

10. Do something for someone else when you feel low. 11. Make decisions when they need to be made—then don't waste your time wondering if you made the right ones. 12. Develop your sense of humor—a hearty laugh relieves everyone's tension.

With these 12 helps we can all spend the next week working on our tensions, and be ready for the season of giving.

involved in the program. Involved in this program will be the South Plains Association's family planning personnel, 23 area physicians, South Plains Health Unit that serves a five-county area, well and sick baby clinics in Post, Levelland, Brownfield and Morton, nurses societies, and women volunteers of the Federated Women's Clubs.

Moody said the South Plains Association received one of only 10 grants approved in the nation because of this area's high infant mortality rate.

In the nutritional program for the elderly, the aim is to provide one hot meal daily, five days a week, for elderly who cannot provide hot meals for themselves because of disabilities, infirmities or lack of income.

Senior citizens who can afford such meals but cannot obtain them can participate in the program. Moody said, but must pay the cost of their meals.

Forty-eight thousand dollars in federal funds are provided for such a program to serve some 160 elderly persons daily over the next two years.

Mrs. Pierce's study group will hold an open meeting in the near future to hear a presentation of the Lubbock Meals on Wheels program operated in that city by volunteer

SEALED BID OFFER: HWY-6325L. Sealed bids will be received in the State Board of Control, State Finance Building, 111 E. 17th St., Austin, Texas until 11:00 AM December 14, 1972 covering the sale of delineator posts belonging to the Texas Highway Department located in Post, Athens, and Seguin and may be inspected by contacting Mr. Samuel Etter in Post, Mr. Alfred Balzen in Athens, and Mr. Charles Johnson in Seguin.

The Garza study group will determine need for such a Garza program as well as a recommended procedure for providing the meals. Moody said a restaurant can be hired to provide the meals, but volunteers must take them to the elderly and maintain the federal records required for the program.

Other aspects of the program for the elderly include health and welfare counseling services, instruction in nutrition, and recreational activities.

Rev. Miller at the end of the meeting appointed a nominating committee to nominate officers for the directors and new directors to fill "interested citizens" positions on the board.

Named to the committee were Walter Didway, Molly Conolly, Mozella Mitchell and Jim Cornish.

SEALED BID OFFER: HWY-6325L. Sealed bids will be received in the State Board of Control, State Finance Building, 111 E. 17th St., Austin, Texas until 11:00 AM December 14, 1972 covering the sale of delineator posts belonging to the Texas Highway Department located in Post, Athens, and Seguin and may be inspected by contacting Mr. Samuel Etter in Post, Mr. Alfred Balzen in Athens, and Mr. Charles Johnson in Seguin.

The Garza study group will determine need for such a Garza program as well as a recommended procedure for providing the meals. Moody said a restaurant can be hired to provide the meals, but volunteers must take them to the elderly and maintain the federal records required for the program.

Other aspects of the program for the elderly include health and welfare counseling services, instruction in nutrition, and recreational activities.

Rev. Miller at the end of the meeting appointed a nominating committee to nominate officers for the directors and new directors to fill "interested citizens" positions on the board.

Named to the committee were Walter Didway, Molly Conolly, Mozella Mitchell and Jim Cornish.

SERMON TOPIC
 Bernard S. Ramsey has announced his sermon topic for the 11 a.m. Sunday worship service at the First Christian Church will be "Peace Through Pain."

Potluck

By ROSEMARY CHAPMAN

We went to Santa Fe for the Thanksgiving holidays, and made our usual tour of the art galleries. Always looking, never buying, that's our motto. It's amazing how much fun you can have without spending a dime.

We were impressed with the number of people in the art galleries who, when they found out we were from Post, asked about the O. S. Ranch Art Exhibit. They all seemed interested, impressed, and just a tad bit jealous. We felt as though Post had really been put on the map.

At each gallery, one of the first questions asked was, "How much did you make?" At the first place we told them we'd sold between 50 and 60 thousand dollars worth of paintings but for some reason, that estimate kept climbing at each stop, and by the time we reached the last one, we'd sold between 90 and 100 thousand. Next one that goes to Santa Fe, make it 150 thou. O little exaggeration never hurts.

One old hen at one of the galleries seemed downright unfriendly. She sniffed (actually SNIFFED—have you ever seen anyone really do that before) and insisted that the O.S. Ranch Art Exhibit had gotten all the cowboy artists that exhibited with them into a mess of trouble with the Cowboy Hall of Fame in Oklahoma City. That was the first I'd heard of it and I'm curious. If anyone knows the real lowdown, give me a ring.

By the way, there's a super book on Tom Ryan, the cowboy artist who helped the Art Committee so much with the exhibit, down at Post Library. You might want to look at it.

I'd like to recommend a couple of new fiction books at the library as well. One is "The Stepford Wives" by Ira Levin and the other is "The Man Who Loved Cat Dancing" by Marilyn Durham. Although Earl and I seldom like the same books, we both enjoyed these two, so that in itself makes them worth mentioning.

Neither could be called heavy literature. They're strictly for fun. Levin's book is short and not-so-sweet with a bang-up ending that left us gasping. The Durham book is more or less a high-class western with lots of adventure.

How did I get on this subject anyway? I was going to do a column on Thanksgiving in Santa Fe. Oh, well. Some other Thanksgiving.

Windup soon for United Fund drive

A few company checks from out of town and contacting a few donors who have not been reached as yet is all that remains of Garza County's 1973 United Fund drive.

Chairman Jim Cornish said he is hopeful of concluding the drive within the next 10 days and will announce at that time whether or not the campaign reached its $9,500 goal.

"We're just waiting to hear now, all have been contacted," Cornish said. "It just takes some extra time at the finish. At present the fund is some $200 short of its objective."

Reese Co.

if they appear, will be buried deep inside the newspapers, but a anytime an F-111 goes down it's page 1 in the New York Times," he commented.

"It's a new air force today from what it was in World War II or even five years ago," Mayor Giles C. McCrary told Rotarians in introducing Col. Baxter.

McCrary recently made a flying tour of three air force training bases for first-hand observations on the training program.

Col. Baxter put it another way. "We're a people-orientated military society today rather than an equipment-orientated society as we were in World War II and the Korean War," he said.

The wing commander said he was a close friend of Bill Webb, a native of Post who is now an air force general.

Some of the facts and figures on the Reese air training program as presented by Col. Baxter should prove of real interest to Dispatch readers.

Reese AFB has a $36.8 million annual budget of which almost $30 million is being spent for salaries of civilian and military personnel. The base has 3,968 on its payroll—886 officers, 1,544 enlisted men, and 638 civilian employees.

A total of 178 jet training planes, worth over $82 million are based at Reese and over 100,000 hours of training is flown each year with a "wonderful safety record."

Flying students receive 52 weeks of training at Reese to learn to fly one and one-half times the speed of sound and that includes 225½ hours flying time, 266 hours of academic training, and 161 hours of military training.

A student flyer's daily training consists of 11 hours of work plus two hours of night study, five days weekly.

"Our mission," Col. Baxter said, "is to train top quality pilots at the least possible cost."

Reese AFB operated from 1941-45 training World War II pilots, remained closed until 1949 when it was reactivated and has continued as a major flight training base ever since.

"The air force returns 70,000 young men to civilian life each year, all possessing valuable skills 'they did not have before,'" Col. Baxter said. He added that nearly all the airport traffic controllers in the nation today are air force-trained.

HOME FROM SERVICE

James Frank Halford, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Halford, arrived home Tuesday following his discharge from the Air Force where he had spent four years—the last 13 months in Korea. James Frank is a 1967 graduate of Post High School.

Postings—

that state under a succession of able governors, the current one being Nelson Rockefeller.

We're sure we would have learned a tremendous amount of current, up-to-the-minute American history if we could have staunchly marched through that book from beginning to end. We pride ourselves on self discipline, but we simply were overwhelmed by all the Pierce-marshalled facts, ideas, trends and "overview" or evaluation of what has and is even now in 1972 transpiring.

Before we were half way through New York, we decided to concentrate upon Pierce's chapter on Texas.

So we turned to page 495 and began a thoroughly enjoyable, full evening's reading of "Texas, Land of the Monied Establishment." The chapter is 69 pages long and is crammed with a lot you have read in your newspapers about Texas in the last decade, but this time it is all woven into historical fiber.

Even Novelist Larry McMurtry, without any of his four-letter words, is quoted a few times on his impressions of his home state. It is all there. You won't like a lot of what you read, but the approach is rather impersonal and matter-of-fact. Texas shortcomings, as well as its strengths, are laid out for all to see. There's a study of the geographical regions, of the politics, and of the cities.

When you've finished the chapter, you'll have a better understanding of today's Texas — and even possibly the growing desire to reform it along more modern American lines.

In a whole lot of ways, Texas has a whole lot of catching up to do. For example in the late 1960's, Texas ranked this way in per capita government outlays for services as compared to other states—38th in welfare, 43rd in health and hospitals, 27th in police protection, 30th in higher education, 38th in local schools. The state's tax effort (taxes paid in relation to personal income) was 42nd among the 50 states. As Pierce says, "With the exception of its excellent highway system, there are few areas of state legislation or programming where Texas may be considered a leader in the nation."

Our state legislature, for example, comes in for stiff criticism in performance, and not just by Pierce. A 1971 report by the Citizens Conference on State Legislatures ranked Texas only 38th among the 50 in an aggregate rating of its ability to perform in a functional, accountable, informed, independent and representative manner. That, readers, is anything but a high mark. Concludes Pierce, "All the legislative shortcomings seem to be failures that a big and prosperous state like Texas could easily correct."

But we're not going any deeper. It's a tough book, and if you're interested in that Texas chapter, we will make you dig it out for yourself. The book is in the Post Public Library, so it won't cost you the $12.95 copy price for 69 pages of Lone Star state revelations and evaluations.

IN HOME OPENERS TUESDAY

Post cagers win all three Spur contests

Post High School basketball teams swept a three-game set with Spur here Tuesday night, the Antelopes winning, 50-40, the Does, 53-40, and the junior varsity Does, 53-26.

The results left the 'Lopes with a 1-1 mark, the Does, 2-1, and the JV Does, 2-0.

There were some anxious moments in the fourth quarter in the boys' game, with Coach John Alexander's team hitting a cold streak and the visiting Bulldogs, who had trailed through the first three quarters, pulling up to within six points early in the final period.

Six free throws and two field goals, both by Danny Lee, was all the scoring by the Antelopes in the fourth quarter, whose performance showed that they have quite a way to go before measuring up to their pre-season role of favorites to win the District 5AA championship. As in their first game, however, they were without the services of all-district Reggie Moore, who has yet to suit out for a game.

Post held a comfortable 16-4 lead at the end of the first quarter and went to the dressing room at halftime with a 28-18 margin. They were out in front by 12 points, 40 to 28, going into the final quarter of play.

Steve Hays, although sitting out a few minutes of both the first and second halves because of foul trouble, topped the Post scorers with 22 points. Cliff Smith, who went out on fouls late in the final quarter, led Spur with 14 points.

Matters also got a little "shaky" in the girls' game after two of Coach Jay Wilson's starting forwards, Melanie King and Becky Dalby, went out on fouls in the third quarter. King went out early in the second half after having scored nine points, and Dalby followed her to the bench a few minutes later with 17 points to her credit. The other starting forward, Jenda Gilmore, finished as high scorer with 19 points on five field goals and nine free throws, with Jodi Norman and Anita Criado replacing King and Dalby at the forward positions. Norman scored eight points.

Jan Hall, one of the Does' starting guards, was benched with five personal fouls early in the fourth quarter. Others seeing action at the guard positions were Pam Feagin, Lea Merrie Cross, Ann Mitchell, Phyllis Kennedy and Sylvia Smith.

Deann Gallaway, Spur's sharpshooting forward, led all scorers with 28 points.

The Does led by only 14-11 at the end of the first quarter, but scored 16 points to Spur's three in the second period to hold a 30-14 halftime lead, and were out in front 44-23 going into the fourth.

Sandra Dudley's 18 points was tops for the junior varsity Does in their 53-26 win. Tina McAlister scored 16 points and Sandy Bullard, 11, with Carol Davis also seeing action at forward. The guards were Nancy Reno, Sherry Compton, Jana McKamie, Patricia Davis and Marguerite Vines.

The scoring summary of the boys' game follows: SPUR: Bethany 3 1 7; Rainbolt 4 0 8; Walker 5 0 10; Patterson 0 0 0; Vargas 0 1 1; Alexander 0 0 0; Smith 4 6 14; TOTALS 16 8 40.

POST: Hays 8 6 22; Lee 5 4 14; Jefferson 3 0 6; Shepherd 1 3 5; Pace 1 0 2; Compton 0 1 1; Hudman 0 0 0; Conner 0 0 0. TOTALS 18 14 58.

Post teacher makes tour of institutes

AMARILLO—Lane Tannehill of Post was in Amarillo Nov. 16 on a tour of Texas State Technical Institute and Amarillo College. The tour was sponsored by the Greater Southwest Vocational Technical Training Committee of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce.

The purpose of the tour was to better acquaint counselors, principals, superintendents, and veterans officers with vocational technical training in general and TSTI and Amarillo College facilities in particular.

Tannehill and 39 others registered for the tour.

HOLIDAY WITH PARENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Storie and two daughters of Richardson spent Thanksgiving with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Storie.

VICTORS OVER SLATON

7th grade boys win opener in district

In three district games at Slaton Monday night, the Post 7th graders won, 36 to 24, with the freshmen losing a close one, 27-25, and the 8th graders a not-so-close one, 23 to 13.

The games were the first of the season for the Post teams, Cooper having cancelled last week's scheduled openers.

Post's two Brads — Davis and Shepherd — led the scoring in the 7th grade win, Davis getting 12 points and Shepherd 10. Others scoring for Post were Jim Hays, eight, and Steve Hair, Rodney Gray and Randy Baker, two each.

Other 7th graders seeing action were Evans Heaton, Stephen Myers, Brent Terry, Raymie Holly, Jeff Greene, Bruce Waldrip, Ricky Ferguson, Douglas Hall and Mark Shedd.

Slaton rallied in the fourth quarter to win the freshman game. The teams were tied 8-8 at the end of the first period, but Slaton was ahead 12-10 at the half, with Post forging to the front 18-15 by the end of the third quarter, but outscored by Slaton 12-7 in the final quarter.

Bryan Davis was Post's high scorer with 11 points, Garland Dudley hitting nine; Mike Hair, three, and Duke Bell, two. Kenny Gilbreath came up with nine rebounds to lead under the boards.

Coach Don Black's 8th grade team "just couldn't hit" in its 23 to 13 loss, with no player making over four points. Those seeing action included Jimmy Dorland, Dan Sawyers, Randall Wyatt, Mike Waldrip, Buddy Britton, Kyle Duran, Bryon Gray and Ricky Bell.

Hudman's heroics destroy Arizona

TUCSON, Ariz. — Kicker Randy Hudman booted the University of Arizona out of a possible Fiesta Bowl trip Nov. 18 as his fourth-quarter heroics gave Wyoming a 22-14 Western Athletic Conference victory in the Cowboys' final game of the season.

Hudman's 27-yard field goal, with 11:40 minutes left in the game, broke a 7-7 tie brought about by a brief first-quarter touchdown flurry by both teams.

After booting the three-pointer, Hudman, a junior student from Post, Tex., crossed up the Wildcats with an on-side kick, and then recovered the Arizona fumble himself. The Cowboys quickly took advantage of the break as quarterback Steve Cockreham hit Scott Freeman for a 31-yard touchdown pass.

DPS going after vehicle thefts

AUSTIN — The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety said today the DPS has created a highly specialized task force to coordinate a statewide effort with local and other authorities to combat commercialized motor vehicle thefts, both in and out of the state.

Col. Wilson E. Speir announced that a select group of 15 DPS officers has been assigned to the new Motor Vehicle Theft Section which will devote all its efforts to an attack on such operations. It is estimated that some 50,000 vehicles were stolen in Texas last year, with such thefts up 17 per cent over 1970. These crimes, alone resulted in a monetary loss to the general public estimated at over $35 million.

Speir said the problem is expected to increase. He noted that already the rate of vehicle thefts has outstripped the rate of growth of population and vehicle registrations at state and national levels. Motor vehicle thefts nationally rose 183 per cent from 1960 to 1970.

Jr. High girls win two, drop one in openers

Post's freshman and 7th grade girls won, but the 8th grade team lost in season openers with Cooper here Monday night of last week, with all three games conference contests.

Kim Mitchell's 29 points paced Coach Jay Wilson's freshman team to a 59-39 victory, with Post scoring 20 points in a big fourth quarter after trailing 14-12 at the end of the first period and leading by only 27-26 at the half and 39-32 at the end of the third period.

Others scoring for Post were Joni Hays, 19; Patricia Bilberry, seven, and Stella Torres, four. Post's starting guards were Jennifer Miller, Glennie Bevers and Lisa Haley. All 14 girls on the squad saw action.

Post lost the 8th grade game by a score of 30 to 18. Karen Williams was top scorer with 10 points, Amy Cowdrey hitting six and Donna Ammons two. Vicki Gannon also played at a forward position, and the guards were Carolyn Cruse, Nancy Gandy, Tina Dodson, Brenda Price, Hope Johnson, Christie Conner and Melani Holly.

Other forwards were Emma Raymundo, Debbie Wyatt, Rita Varela and Gayle Bowen. The guards were Sharon Johnson, Karla Kennedy, Nancy McCowen, Donna Josey, Danna Giddens and Betty Jefferson.

7th, 8th grade girls lose two

Slaton's 7th and 8th grade teams won district basketball games from Post here Monday night, the 8th grade by a score of 32 to 8 and the 7th grade, 31 to 20.

Amy Cowdrey scored six of the Post team's eight points in the 8th grade game with Tiana Shiver scoring the other two. Other forwards were Karen Williams, Donna Ammons, Jodine Tipton, Vickie Gannon and Sandra Bostick.

The 8th grade guards were Nancy Gandy, Carolyn Cruse, Tina Dodson, Brenda Price, Christie Conner, Kim Lott, Eleanor Martinez, Hope Johnson and Melani Holly.

It's the fiction in politics that causes most of the friction, people to endorse it.

'LOPES LOSE BY ONE

Crosbyton cagers win doubleheader

Both varsity basketball teams, the Antelopes and the Does, went down to defeat at Crosbyton last Saturday night, Coach John Alexander's 'Lopes quintet losing by one point, 53 to 52, and Coach Jay Wilson's Does dropping a 53-45 decision.

It was the first game of the season for the 'Lopes, who were without the services of their all-district starter Reggie Moore, who was out of town with his family due to the illness of a relative.

The 'Lopes and Chiefs were all even, 11-11, at the end of the first quarter, but Post was ahead by four points, 29-25, at the halftime intermission. The Chiefs had pulled out to a two-point lead, 39-37, at the end of the third period, and managed to choke off a Post rally that fell just one point short in the final period.

Coach Alexander said his team missed too many shots and also lost the battle under the boards, with Roger Pace's nine rebounds leading the locals in that department.

Steve Hays was Post's top scorer with 17 points, with Johnny Jefferson hitting 15. Chris Ellison was tops for Crosbyton with 13 points.

A cold second half in which they hit only eight points in each of the two final quarters contributed to the Post girls' eight-point setback, which was their first loss of the season after a victory over Spur earlier in the week.

The Does led Crosbyton 18-14 at the end of the first quarter and 29-28 at halftime, but were outshot 25 points to 16 in the second half. The Does hit only 20 per cent of their shots from the field, and 55 per cent from the free throw line. Crosbyton, on the other hand, hit on 45 per cent of the shots they put up from the field.

Melanie King led the Post scorers with 29 points, but Crosbyton's Mary Faye Smith took game scoring honors with 34 points. Others scoring for Post were Becky Dalby, 11, and Jenda Gilmore, five.

The scoring summary of the boys' game:

POST: Hays 8 1 17; Pace 1 0 2; Lee 4 2 10; Jefferson 5 5 15; Shepherd 2 0 4; Compton 1 0 2; Hudman 1 0 2; TOTALS 22 8 52.

CROSBYTON: Walters 5 1 11; Johnson 3 1 7; Brown 2 1 5; Freeman 5 2 12; Ellison 5 3 13; Carr 1 0 2; Hodges 1 1 3. TOTALS: 22 9 53.

LISTENING POST

By GEORGE L. MILLER

I've been so busy bragging on how our library's growing and congratulating myself on how many new friends we're winning and celebrating the increase in circulation — I forgot to notice the books in the library! Boy, have we got some good books for you.

There's quite a fuss being kicked up these days over a slim little book called "Jonathan Livingston Seagull" by Richard Bach. Rosemary reordered it for months before we finally got a copy. It's No. 1 on the Best-Seller lists, and it looks like it will replace Gibran's "The Prophet" as the most popular book of our time.

Time magazine did a story about "Jonathan" making it sound like a combination of Horatio Alger, St. Exupery, Hare Krishna and Mary Baker Eddy. It's a little parable about a seagull that tried harder, and those who read it find it very inspirational. Frankly, it sounds nuts to me, but a lot of people like it. So we've got it.

R. F. Delderfield, a truly gentle English gentleman suddenly burst into popularity five or six years ago writing the kind of book we hadn't seen since Dickens went to his reward. They are large books, long and leisurely, tracing the ins and outs of generations in an English family. A year or so ago, he launched his most ambitious project with "God Is an Englishman" — a perfectly horrid title — about Adam Swann and his bride, Henrietta, and how they made their fortune with Swann-on-Wheels, a moving firm.

It was the beginning of a series that would stretch from the early 1800's to the present. Volume two, "Their Was the Kingdom" came out this year, continuing the saga. Delderfield interrupted the work to write "To Serve Them All My Days", a story about a private boys school. Those who have read it call it his best.

He finished one more novel about Adam Swann's family before his death this past summer. The work won't be completed, unfortunately. But Delderfield left a wealth of reading as a heritage for future generations. Old-fashioned, uncomplicated, with all the Victorian virtues in tact, and only a pinch of contemporary spice, these books will have a wide audience for many years to come.

Books are getting bigger these days. One, "A Portion for Foxes" by McClary, is advertised as the successor to Margaret Mitchell's "Gone With the Wind." That's quite a claim to live up to. It's a family story, set in the fox-hunt district of Virginia.

Solzhenitsyn, the Russian Nobel Prize winner, has begun a saga of his own about the Russian Revolution. The first volume is called "August 1914". It aspires to do for the Russian Revolution what Tolstoy did for the Napoleonic invasion of Russia in his masterpiece, "War and Peace". Russian novels are not easy reading. Names can be hard to pronounce and even harder to keep up with, but you can usually depend on the effort being worthwhile.

A first novel, called "The Man Who Loved Cat Dancing" by Durham has caught everyone by surprise. It has the same winsome quality as Portis' now classic tale "True Grit". It's a western and an adventure story with a good love story to boot. That's an unbeatable combination, one you don't see often these days.

Patrick Dennis hit the jackpot with a kooky gal he called "Auntie Mame". I'm told over 20 publishers turned it down before one bought it. It was an instant success and Mame is still bringing in millions. Patrick has tried to do it again — many times — usually to the same kind of plot. (He reminds me of Thorne Smith in that way.) Most of the time, he hasn't been able to give us another Auntie Mame. Folks say his newest effort, "3 D", finally delivers the goods. I hope so. Even if it doesn't, Dennis can be forgiven. A Mame is worth a whole life's work.

Next week I'll give you a sample of new non-fiction titles. And don't forget, we've acquired some new "oldies" that are proven quality.

Do yourself a favor, take a good book home from the Post Public Library!

Over 200 deer are being processed here

Jackson Bros. Meat Packers here already have received some 200 deer in the deer hunting season to date for processing for area hunters.

Jim Jackson reports about 100 deer carcasses last week and had received 50 more this week through Tuesday.

With the deer season running until Jan. 1, the processing of deer meat has become a major item of late season business for the meat packing plant here.

Registration for draft necessary for 18-year-olds

AUSTIN—Col. Melvin N. Giantz, the state director of Selective Service for Texas, has again reminded young men of their obligation to register with Selective Service within 30 days of their 18th birthday.

Giantz stressed that the requirement to register will continue in full effect whether the all-voluntary military force becomes a reality or not. Every native born and resident-alien young man is required to present himself for registration from 30 days before to 30 days after his 18th birthday. If, for any reason, a young man has failed to register he should do so immediately to escape the penalty of Federal law.

Failure to register may result in a fine, imprisonment, or both, under provisions of the Military Selective Service Act. Young men may register at the office of the local board near their home or place of residence, or may be registered by volunteer registrars who are located in most high schools or other similarly convenient locations. Registrars in the Garza and Lynn County areas are: Giles Dalby Courthouse, Post; H.G. Stokers 130 West Lynn, Slaton; Bob Kern Jr., 144 West Garza St., Slaton; George D. McCracken Courthouse, Tahoka.

Love vs. Fear

By BOB FORD

In the letter of 1 John 4:18-19 we read: "There is no fear in love, but perfect love casts out fear. For fear has to do with punishment, and he who fears is not perfected in love. We love, because he first loved us."

Our entire lives are lived out in a climate of fear. Much advertising is basically fear advertising. Fear of not being insured, fear of not having the right car, fear of having bad breath. Our national defense is based on fear of what can happen if we are not strong.

As the scripture says, fear has to do with punishment. What greater punishment for many of us than not being fully or adequately insured; of not having a prestigious enough car; of losing a boy friend or girl friend because of bad breath? We certainly do not want to lose the freedom that is ours because of a weak defensive posture!

Yet what bothers me is that to sell things and to base one's life on fear breeds distrust of others. Look at how people are turning against the systems. The low percentage of people voting in the general elections should tell us something about this. In our personal lives we need to look at how we approach people. Is it in openness or with distrust?

We are coming into the time of the year when people will sing of the birth of Jesus. There will be fervent wishes for "peace on earth, goodwill toward man." Yet it will last because we really do not trust each other.

Jesus was born in an eye of suspicion and distrust. He was one who, instead of fearing people, loved them. He was not afraid to love an enemy. He had no need of fear because he lived God completely he had no need of fear.

I know that to go out and love all people perfectly is a dream. Yet I would plead that we begin to practice the love of God and man—base our lives on love rather than fear so that he who came as Love might not have vain.
