Number 37

2 commissioner races attract 7 candidates

No other Garza races contested

Monday's 6 p.m. filing deadline contests in only two commissioner's precincts in Garza County for the Democratic primary election, but contests in one district race and a number of state races are expected to add interest in this year's campaigning and balloting. Late filings brought the number of candidates in the Precinct 1 commissioner's race to three and in the Precinct 3 commissioner's race to four.

Jess Cornell filed Friday and V. L. (Buster) Shumard Monday as candidates for Precinct 1 county commissioner to oppose Paul H. Jones, who had filed earlier for re-election.

Conor Howell filed Monday as a candidate for Precinct 2 county commissioner to bring to four the number of candidates there. Filing earlier were Ben G. Sanchez for re-election, Julio Valdez and Cecil Foster Sr.

Seeking re-election unopposed in county races are Sheriff J. A. (Jimmy) Holleman, County Attorney Preston Poole, and County Tax Assessor-Collector T. H. Tipton.

Three candidates, including a Post man, are in the race for district attorney of the 106th Judicial District. Vernon Adcock, the incumbent, has drawn opponents in Joe E. Taylor of Post and Joe Smith of Seminole in his bid for re-election.

None of the candidates in national and state legislative races involving Garza County have opponents in their races for re-election. The incumbents, all "new" in serving Garza County because of the redistricting, are Omar Burleson of Anson, 17th U. S. Congressional District; H. J. (Doc) Blanchard of Lubbock, 28th Senatorial District, and W. S. (Bill) Healy of Paducah, 80th Legislative District.

Seventeen candidates — ten Democrats and seven Republicans — have filed for governor of Texas, making it the largest combined bid for that office in history.

An American Party candidate also has filed.

The most prominently mentioned Democrats for governor are Preston Smith, bidding for re-election; Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, Dolph Briscoe of Uvalde, and Rep. Frances Farenthold of Corpus Christi.

Probably the best known Republican candidates for governor are Sen. Henry Grover of Houston and Albert Fay, also of Houston.

Sen. John Tower, is unopposed in the primary for U. S. Senator, as is Rep. Maurice Angly of Austin, a candidate for state treasurer on the GOP ticket.

Five Democrats are in the U. S.

Banquet tickets placed on sale

Tickets for the annual Post Chamber of Commerce banquet Thursday night, Feb. 24, went on sale here this week for a $3.50 price tag, down 50 cents from 1971. Tickets may be obtained either at the Post Chamber of Commerce office, the First National Bank, or from any Chamber director. A goal of 300 diners has been set for the affair.

Texas Tech Head Football Coach Jim Carlen will be the banquet speaker. He has an excellent reputation as a public speaker, and since coming to the Tech campus in January of 1970 has averaged about a speech a day.

Bob Collier will be master of ceremonies for the occasion, which again will be held in the Post Community Center with Jackson's Cafeteria and catering service catering the meal.

Awards will be presented to Post's outstanding man, woman, and organization as one of the highlights of the banquet. The Top Twenty high school vocal group directed by Georgie Wilson will sing on the program.

The banquet also marks the start of a new Charaber year with newly elected officers and directors taking over for the next 12 months.

Senate primary to oppose Tower next November, including former Sen. Ralph Yarborough and Dallas lawyer Barefoot Sanders.

Nine Democrats are running for lieutenant governor, including State Sens. Joe Christie of El Paso, Wayne Connally of Floresville and Ralph Hall of Rockwall; Houston Post newspaper executive Bill Hobby, and Odessa oilman Bill Jones.

Nine Democrats are running for state comptroller and seven for state treasurer. Secretary of State Bob Bullcock announced today that he is mailing detailed instructions to all county party officials concerning the operation and financing of the 1972 primary. (See County Races, page 8)

AUTO CONVOY TURNS OVER

New cars and trucks smashed in accident

Five new Fords — three automobiles, a van and a truck — were smashed at 6:10 a.m. Wednesday when the double-decker convoy hauling them overturned about 12 miles southeast of Post on U. S. Hwy. 84.

Highway Patrolman Ken Glibreath, who investigated the accident, said the convoy turned completely over, landing back on its wheels, and that the new cars and trucks were smashed underneath the heavy vehicle.

The highway patrolman said the convoy turned over on a curve when the driver, Richard Preble of Amarillo, lost control while using one hand to change over from one gas tank to another. Preble's only injury was a scratch on top of his head.

Glibreath said an insurance adjuster late Wednesday morning estimated the damages to the five new vehicles alone at $19,500. Auto Convoy of Amarillo is the owner.

The wreckage was hauled to the Post Wrecking Yard. Tuesday morning, a truck which turned out to be stolen was run through a right-of-way fence about 17 miles southeast of Post on U. S. Hwy. 84.

The highway patrolman said he received a message while investigating the wreck that the cable dump truck had been stolen from the Scurry County barn at Dermott.

Glibreath said the driver of the truck had fled the scene when he arrived to make an investigation. In running off the highway and through the fence, the truck struck a culvert, resulting in heavy damage to the undercarriage, the officer reported.

24 HOURS A DAY

FM broadcasting slated for Post

Radio Station KPOS is expected to receive its license for FM broadcasting within the next month or so, Gary Joiner, new owner of the Post radio station, told Post Rotarians in a talk about the radio industry and his own background.

Called classification talks, each new Rotarian is asked to make one to acquaint members with himself and his vocation.

Joiner explained the station would operate round the clock, 24 hours a day, on the FM frequency, and during daylight hours only on AM frequency.

He said the FM broadcasts at night would be automated via prepared voice and musical tapes.

Joiner told Rotarians he had acquired all the stock of the KPOS broadcasting corporation and is "in the process" of having the station transferred to his name. Joiner said he now owns three radio stations and has an option to purchase a fourth.

Originally he said he came to Post to "put KPOS on its feet" and then leave for location in the South where he originally came from, but he found he liked the people and town so well he decided to stay.

Joiner explained the government controls imposed on the broadcasting industry and the records which must be kept for governmental inspectors.

County officials attend meeting

County Judge Giles W. Dalby and three of the four county commissioners are attending the annual County Judges and Commissioners Conference at Texas A&M University, College Station.

Judge Dalby and Commissioners Ted Aten, Paul Jones and Ben Sanchez drove down Tuesday and will return home tonight.

On the conference program is a report from the office of the Texas attorney general to be presented by Judge J. S. Davis, considered the state's top authority on county law.

The program also includes discussions on county welfare programs, election laws, county finances, county-wide waste disposal and other subjects of concern to the county commissioners courts of Texas.

Washington Sale to be Feb. 19

Post's annual George Washington Birthday Sale is scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 19, T. B. Odam, chairman of the Post Chamber of Commerce Retail Promotions Committee, announced today.

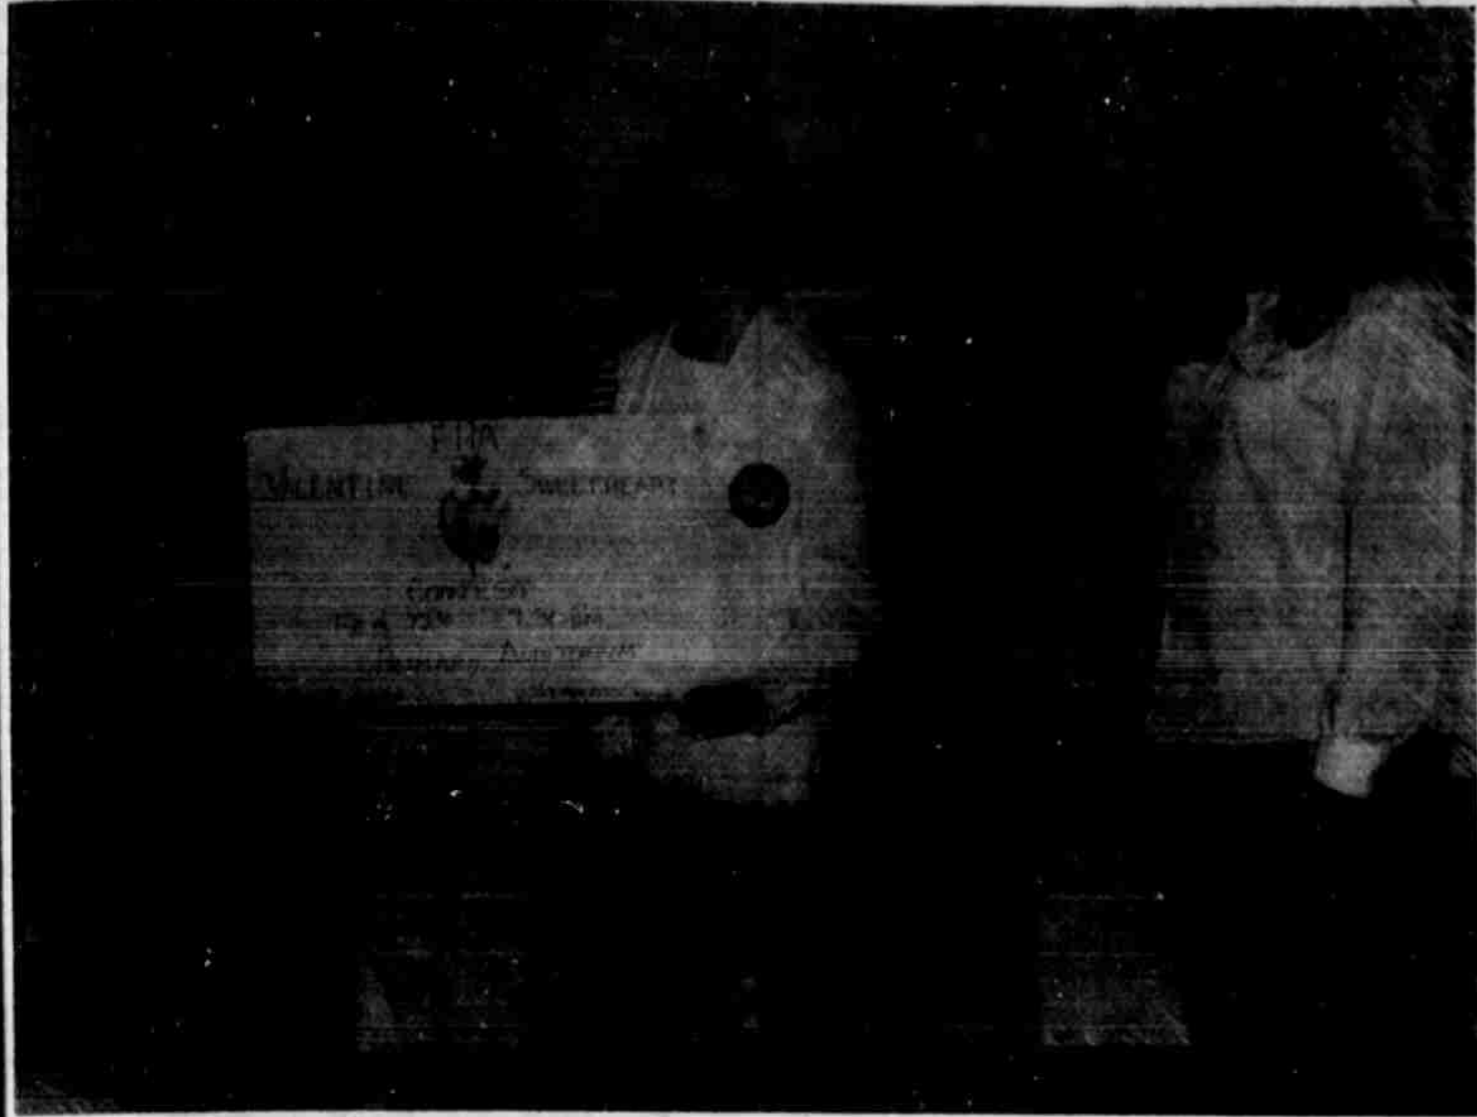

He said letters were being sent to local merchants informing them of details for the promotion.

George Washington's birthday anniversary comes on Tuesday, Feb. 22, and the holiday is scheduled as one of those new "Monday holidays."

Odam urged merchants to get ready with some ridiculous prices for the annual final winter clearance promotion.

ESTIMATED $200 LOSS

Lavelle Shop is hit by burglars

Merchandise valued at approximately $200 was stolen from the Lavelle Shop, 215 East Main, late Thursday night or early Friday morning by burglars who broke in through the back door.

Police Chief Otis G. Shepherd Jr. said O. V. McMahon, owner of the shop, reported as stolen in the burglary three dozen men's shirts, $25 worth of men's socks, and bolts of fabric material.

Also taken was a little red wagon which had been used at the store for several years to move merchandise from one place to another. The burglars had also piled levis, socks, shoes and other items in the middle of the floor, but left them behind, the police chief said.

The break-in was reported by McMahon at 9:09 a.m. Friday.

Fourth sheriff's sale set March 7

The fourth sheriff's sale for the disposition of tax delinquent properties here is scheduled for Tuesday, March 7.

Some 13 properties are scheduled for sale that day on the courthouse steps to the highest bidder. Sale notices on seven of these properties begin three weeks of publication in The Dispatch today on page 6.

The other six can be found posted on the bulletin board at the courthouse.

Two major sales have been held and one small one involving but two properties since November.

SEASONAL INCREASE

Numerous cases of flu reported here

While there has been a high incidence of influenza here the last few days, Post has escaped the heavy outbreaks of the disease that have hit a number of other towns in West Texas.

Dr. Harry A. Tubbs, city health officer, Wednesday attributed the higher-than-usual incidence of influenza here to the usual season increase.

Donald Windham, Garza Memorial Hospital administrator, said influenza cases had increased the hospital's patient load to "pretty close to full" the last few days.

Women's Division elects officers

Mrs. Inez Hartel was elected as president of the Women's Division of the Post Chamber of Commerce, to succeed Mrs. Ruby Kirkpatrick, at a meeting of the organization at noon Tuesday in the Reddy Room.

Other officers elected were Mmes Ramona Brockman, first vice president; Betty Posey, second vice president; Wyvonne Kennedy, secretary-treasurer; Nancy Jolly, public relations; and Maxine Marks, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Brockman reported on the "Miss-less Post" beauty pageant and Mrs. Kennedy gave a financial report. The group also discussed the possibility of having a membership drive.

Others attending the meeting were Mmes. Edith Ramsey, Sue Sytles, Mary Goodwin and Evelyn Neff.

Stores open tonight for Postex Night

Tonight is Postex Employees Appreciation night with a number of Post stores planning to remain open from 7 to 8:30 p.m. or longer for the shopping convenience of their customers.

Advertising in today's Dispatch they will be open tonight are Maxine's, Wacker's, Marshall's Department Store and Hundley's.

Wherever "dog heaven" is, our Miss Sam Basset should be wagging her tail today.

Our fat hound—as "her doctor" called her—departed this world at 7:50 p.m. last Wednesday night in Dr. David Hughes' veterinary clinic at Slaton despite all "her doctor" could do.

Dogs have diseases just like humans do. Sam had an incurable kidney ailment, common to the basset breed, which Dr. Hughes felt could be "controlled" and still leave Sam with lots more "barking life."

Every other night with her supper, Sam had a little yellow pill. Things for months seemed to be under control. She appeared happy and content, ate well, slept well, and guarded the "castle" against neighborhood kids with wild abandon.

But all of a sudden Tuesday things went bad for Sam. She declined her supper that night and couldn't even be coaxed with a bowl of milk. Next morning she was too weak to wag her tail. We carried her to the Camaro and rushed her to Slaton and Dr. Hughes pronounced her a very sick dog.

The next morning he called to break the awful news, "I'm sorry, we lost Sam last night."

Sam, short for Samantha, was "middle aged" as dogs go—being 7½ years old. Comparable to human age she was almost 53. Sam was gray along her nose. And of late she liked to stretch out and sleep in the sun in preference to dog romping with friends.

She was Mrs. C's dog. We gave Sam to Mrs. C as a three months old puppy on Mrs. C's birthday, two months after Molly, our heart Daschund died of a heart attack in the back hall while we were at a Tech football game.

Sam had the distinction of almost writing an "autobiography."

You know Mrs. C was a tremendous reader and with the instant success of her Dispatch column, "It's My Turn," we encouraged her to try her hand at a book.

She made her start with a child. (See Postings, pages—)

New HD agent begins duties

Mrs. Dana Feaster, Garza County's new home demonstration agent, began her new duties here Feb. 1. Formerly of Colorado City, Mrs. Feaster has been living in Lubbock.

She was appointed to the post by the Garza County Commissioners' Court in November following the resignation of Mrs. Janice Choate.

Elections costs still up in air

Secretary of State Bob Bullock is being criticized in some quarters for the new guidelines he drafted for conduct of the state's first publicly-financed primary elections.

However, in view of the fact that the rules set by Bullock as chief Texas election officer will save the taxpayers the cool million dollars it would have cost to call a special session of the Legislature, we think Bullock should be applauded instead of criticized.

Few doubt that a special session of the Legislature would have been called had not Bullock or somebody else come up with a set of rules in line with a federal court amendment to the decision outlawing filing fees as proposed in a 1971 law.

Bullock's filing fee schedule will not come anywhere near financing the primary elections, but he has proposed that the May and June primaries be financed with funds transferred from another state appropriation. Gov. Preston Smith has expressed satisfaction with this proposal by Bullock and said he will direct the necessary transfer.

There's still a hitch, however, since the legality of the proposal to transfer state funds to pay the cost of the elections is yet to be ruled on by the attorney general.

Whatever the outcome, things are not as gloomy as they first appeared a few weeks ago when the Dallas federal court outlawed Texas' old filing fee system, which allowed levies of $7,000 and $8,000 for some county offices.

Bullock stressed that the new fees were not designed to raise revenue to pay for the primaries, but are to regulate length of the ballot.

If Bullock's proposed fund transfer to finance the elections does not go through, then there is still going to be a shortage of over a million dollars, since it is estimated that the new fees will not raise more than a half million dollars.

There has been talk all along of the primary elections being held by volunteer workers instead of paid workers, as has been the case. There is little doubt that this could be done. However, the election workers' pay is not the only election expense. Ballots and other election supplies must be paid for, and in many cases rental fees paid on places used to hold the elections.

It's a sticky problem and one that by no means has yet been solved. But Bullock's streamlined list of filing fees is a step in the right direction, even though they make it lighter on the candidate and, in the long run, more expensive to the voters.—CD

Antelope basketball looking up

Of all the high school basketball teams on the South Plains none has had any more "ups and downs" this season than our own Post Antelopes. Yet, as the season nears its end, it must appear even to the most disinterested fan that Coach John Alexander, in his first year here, has brought the Antelopes a long way since the first of the season.

The team's first half finish was unglamorous, to say the least, but it has been a contender from the start for the second half championship, and this week is still in the running for the title.

The Antelopes have been an interesting team to watch all season long. They have worked hard in practice and they have played their hearts out in every game, win or lose. Coach Alexander has nothing but praise for the players' attitudes and the way they have performed.

From week to week, this season's Antelope team probably has faced stiffer competition than any other cage team in the school's history. There is no doubt that they have played more teams of a higher classification than any other Post team, and in one of the three tournaments they competed in the "Lopes" were the only Class AA team entered, all the others being AAA classification.

We'd say that from a rebuilding standpoint, this has been a highly successful season for the Antelopes and Coach Alexander. And the prospects for next year are exceedingly bright, since only two squad members who have played regularly will graduate next spring.

Yep, we'd say that Post Antelope basketball definitely is on the upgrade.—CD

Water, Inc., has many problems

Two news releases reaching The Dispatch news desk at about the same time is one announcing the fifth annual membership meeting of Water, Inc., to be held at Plainview on Feb. 19, and another telling of a further increase in 1971 in the amount of irrigated land and the number of irrigation wells in the Panhandle and South Plains.

Even to the most casual observer it must be apparent that these two news releases tie in with each other.

Since Water, Inc., is an organization working toward adequate future water for all interests, it naturally is concerned with the increase in irrigation and the fact that this increase is contributing to the depletion of the High Plains water supply.

Some 1,200 irrigation wells were drilled in the Panhandle and South Plains last year to raise the total to more than 66,000. But in 1971, each well irrigated only 87 acres, as compared to 103 acres 10 years ago. Almost 90 per cent of the wells now must lift water more than 125 feet, and almost 75 per cent average less than 700 gallons output per minute.

No one argues with the fact that irrigation is necessary to maintain our agricultural economy, but the fact remains that its depletion of our water supply is one of the problems faced by Water, Inc., in its goal of adequate water for all future interests.

A happy note is that using water from playa lakes and other recirculating systems is becoming more common. About 2,500 lakes and 2,200 recirculating systems were used in 1971 to supplement wells.—CD

The importance of dental health

The twenty-fourth annual observance of National Children's Dental Health Week, Feb. 6-12, draws public attention to the continuing leadership of the dental profession in achieving better health for all Americans.

Modern science has proved beyond any doubt that dental diseases can be prevented—and prevention should therefore be the health theme of this decade. Early and regular professional care and consistent adherence to home hygiene practices are indispensable to fighting diseases effectively that affect nearly every individual during his lifetime.

In his public statement on National Children's Dental Health Week, President Nixon said:

"I welcome the opportunity of this special week to urge professionals and private citizens alike to continue to work together to eliminate dental disease, and thus to contribute to the future well-being of our society. Let us all at this time and throughout the year ahead reinforce our individual and collective commitment to this effort."

The Abundant Life...

BLESSED ARE THE STARVING SPIRITS

"Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled."
—Matt. 5:6

While we know almost nothing about real hunger, the people of Jesus' time were never far from actual starvation. A working man in Palestine ate meat only once a week and if he missed a week's work he was in a very precarious position. There were few fat people in that era.

These people were even more acquainted with thirst. They did not have tap water in their homes. There was a city well and the well was not always reliable. They knew the terrible thirst that comes during a hot sand storm that leaves the nostrils filled with sand and the lips cracked and scorched.

So, when Jesus speaks of those that hunger and thirst after righteousness he speaks of a desperate craving that cannot be satisfied unless one drinks deep of Christ and his wisdom.

Most of us have a general desire for good. We desire a good town, schools and home. But few have an intense desire that causes us to take action. When we start wanting righteousness in our lives like a starving or thirsty man longs for food and water, we will be filled.

MONDAY IS St. Valentine's Day. Don't forget the candy!

Some joker who says he keeps up with my name column contributed this:

There was a little girl in El Paso named Carmen Cohen. Her mother called her Carmen, but her father — for reasons only he could explain — always called her by her last name, Cohen.

As a result, by the time the little girl had reached the age of 12, she didn't know whether she was Carmen or Cohen.

THANKS TO Leslie Brown, the Post Public Library has a copy of the Jimmy Banks book, "Money Marbles and Chalk," subtitled, "The Wondrous World of Texas Politics." Librarian Pee Wee Pierce says Leslie donated the book after reading in this column that the library would like to have a copy of it. So, for that reason, Pee Wee says, she is letting me be the first library patron here to check out the book.

Mrs. A. R. Scogin of 316 West 14th St. sends us a clipping from a Los Angeles newspaper about her "baby brother," 64-year-old William L. (Bill) Hopson, who, with a sixth grade cowtown education, has written 40-odd western novels, 100 pulp, slick shorts and magazine articles.

HOPSON, WHO was born in Clairmont, some 40 miles east of Post, and who finished high school in Victorville, Calif., at the age of 36, was quoted in Bill Kennedy's column, "Mr. L. A.," in the Los Angeles newspaper. Hopson's comments were on the fellow who once "made the cowtown towns with a worn-out, hand-cranked projector. . . whose big attraction was a serial, 'The Silent Mystery,' starring Francis Ford. And you can bet that on Saturday nights everybody in town could be found in the courtroom of the old red sandstone building to see if Francis Ford was going to make it until the next chapter."

And in Aurora, Colo., former Postie Dan Tillman has brought statewide recognition to his area through winning the Tall Tale Oratorical contest at the Colorado-Wyoming Toastmasters convention recently in Greeley.

Dan's father, George Tillman, has shown us a copy of the prize-winning Tall Tale, as taken down in shorthand by a reporter at the convention. It follows:

"THE REAL truth about the Alamo!

"As a small boy one day playing with my pet horned frog, great granddaddy says to me, 'Come here, boy, and listen to your old granddaddy.'

"So, I did, and he commenced to tell me how come all these fellers from Tennessee and a couple of other foreign countries came to be in San Antone, Texas.

"It seems like the Mexican government was running Texas 'bout then, and everybody heard they had a welfare program that was almost too good to believe. And it was — too good to believe, that is. Old Davy Crockett, Matt Dillon, Jim Bowie and the others didn't mind too much eating beans for lunch and dinner, but for breakfast — wow! Plus working, too.

"Anyhow that's how come they was there; they was living in a church 'cause they had to. They ain't got no rent money. One day they commenced to play draw poker with deuces and one-eyed jacks wild. They was using food stamps for money. Long 'bout midnight old Davy Crockett is way ahead. So he asks Jim Bowie to take some food stamps, go to McDonald's Ride-in and bring him back a Big Mac sandwich.

"So Jim gets his horse and high-tails it into town. And, wouldn't you know, McDonald's was closed. Now Jim knows old Davy Crockett is about half crocked on his bootleg tequila, so he figures he better bring something back for Davy to eat.

"So he sees this Taco Bell restaurant and he drives his horse into the parking lot. Now the manager of this Taco Bell was a big Mexican named Santa Anna, who didn't cotton too much to these foreign hippies anyway. On top of that, Santa Anna didn't speak no English and Jim Bowie didn't speak no Spanish. So the conversation went something like this:

"S. A.: 'Que quieres souseo, hombre.'

"Jim: 'Hoday. I reckon I'll have a meas of Tacos to go.'

"Now Jim didn't know what was said, but he thought that S. A. was making fun of him. Now S. A. thought he'd just fix this guy, and he really filled those Tacos with hot peppers. He put them in a box, gave them to Jim and said, 'Viene pesos, por favor.' (That means 20 pesos, y'all). So this is where Jim gets his revenge. He gave S. A. a handful of food stamps, jumped on his horse and took off down the road.

"When he got back to the Alamo with the Tacos he told everybody the story and everybody had

IF WE COULD HAVE A CHOICE...

A big laugh — until they commenced to eat the Tacos. Then, with tears running down their faces, they all ran for the front door so they could go out to the river bank and drink water.

"But Santa Anna had rounded up a bunch of his buddies, and they was out front, too. So then the battle started. Everyone has heard all about how these defenders of the Alamo was so brave — but, really, the hot peppers were burning up their gizzards and they just wanted some water to drink.

"How do I know this is true? "Well, old great granddaddy had passed out at the poker game from drinking too much tequila. When he came to, he took off out the back door and was the sole survivor. And I can prove my story is true, because. . .

(And at this point, Dan Tillman reached down onto the podium and produced a solid brass doorknob.)

Rural development is goal of new agency

MELLAND — A new approach to development problems and initiatives has been undertaken by a group of business and civic leaders in a 14-county South Plains area that includes Garza County. The group is chartered as a revolving fund non-profit corporation, Southwest Economic Opportunities, Inc., with headquarters in Melland. The new corporation is organized as a quasi-public agency to stimulate and enhance development in the 14-county area. The agency was chartered by an advisory board of directors representing Cochran, Floyd, Crosby, Garza, Hale, Lamb, Terry, and Yoakum counties. The area served is expected to undergo expansion as other communities request membership in the organization. One of the more unusual aspects of the agency is that it is seeking government recognition for the receipt and making of grants and pertaining to rural economic development activities, and yet still local private, voluntary leadership to develop, guide and direct the agency in its charter. Incorporated, SEO has three primary goals: the creation of new jobs and job opportunities; the training of unemployed and underemployed for job-holdings; and promoting and creating opportunities for low middle-income families. Supporters state that it will also be for developing, organizing and chartering a rural development council to follow the concept of the recently state authorized Business Development Corporation, a Small Business Investment Corporation, or even a rural development bank (which would be a separate arm from SEO, with its own board members, authority and policies).

Research and study into requirements necessary to combine governmental funding and financing capabilities with local control was headed up by Jake Street, executive director of the Lubbock-based community and economic development firm, Action Programs Today.

The research-study project was

Santa Fe slates oil, gas search

AMARILLO — A search for oil and gas on approximately 250,000 acres in a lightly explored area of New Mexico will be conducted by Shell Oil Company through a contract with Santa Fe Pacific Railroad Company, a Santa Fe Industries company, which holds mineral rights to the property. The acreage is located in Socorro, Valencia, Bernalillo and Sandoval counties.

Announcement of the contract for the exploration program was made today by Ernest S. Marsh, chairman of the board and chief executive officer, Santa Fe Industries, Chicago.

Shell Oil plans to evaluate multiple geologic zones in the area and if discovery is made, Santa Fe Pacific has the option to waive its royalty position and take a working interest in the property under lease.

Europe is named for the goddess Europa.

underwritten by the region's Community Action agencies to explore and, if possible, develop an organizational vehicle to carry out a program for rural development.

SEO president is Thad McDonnell, president of the Level and State Bank.

Members of the board of directors include the Rev. George L. Miller of Post.

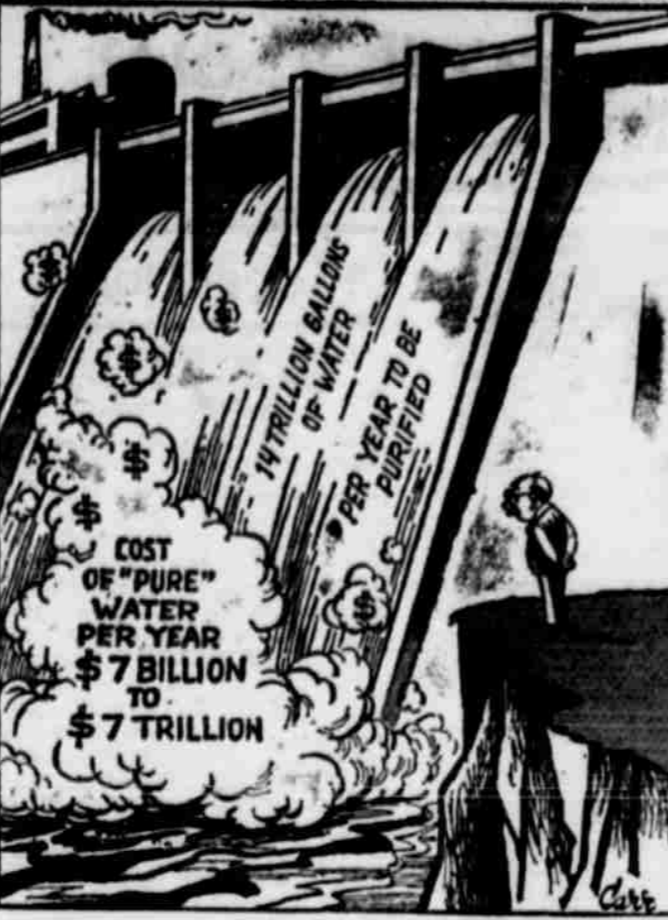

"In the 14 counties SEO has been chartered to serve, all lost population to urban centers between 1960 and 1970," McDonnell stated. "In the 32 incorporated towns of 1,000 population and over, all but nine reflected a population loss. And as people and people activities create dollar-flows, to let this trend continue would adversely affect our economy and way of life."

McDonnell points out that area leaders know that the region has certain resources and existing opportunities, and that rural development is rapidly becoming a major concern to economic and urban experts, as well as state and national governmental agencies.

"But," McDonnell adds, "we cannot expect our urban centers or the government to do our job for us. We, in the rural areas, must do for ourselves by blending all area capabilities with our local control and direction for total area development. And we believe that SEO can now provide us the means to help ourselves."

Support for SEO is strictly voluntary, with membership open to all interested in an area approach to rural development. Dues are set at $100 annually and are solicited on a voluntary basis to demonstrate the area's support of SEO to governmental agencies.

Barnes says trailer law working hardship on thousands of Texans

AUSTIN — Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes Friday called on Gov. Preston Smith to include revision of the portion of the "Rules of the Road" law involving trailers in legislation due later this year.

Barnes said the bill—S. B. 183—contained language "which apparently is working hardships on many thousands of Texans who pull trailers behind their vehicles."

The bill requires trailers over 3000 pounds to have brakes on all wheels which can be operated from the towing vehicle plus emergency brakes for the trailers.

"During my travels, I have heard complaints from farmers and ranchers who have to haul farm products and livestock, and from sportsmen who pull boats and trailers," Barnes wrote the Governor.

Barnes said these Texans "are being penalized in a manner that was not the intent of the Legislature."

"The cost of this law will run from $250 to $800 per trailer, and that means we are talking about $100,000,000, which I am sure you will agree is punitive," Barnes said.

He said a lesser requirement could be worked out to meet the necessary safety needs, in urging the Governor to include the legislation in matters to be considered.

San Antonio Rodeo attracts champs

SAN ANTONIO — Everyone of the champion cowboys for 1971, crowned at the National Finals Rodeo in Oklahoma City in December, have entered the 1972 Rodeo of Champions at the San Antonio Stock Show.

Heading the roster is Phil Lyne, of George West, who won the All Around Cowboy title by winning $44,905 during 1971.

Other champions who have entered the San Antonio competition include Joe Alexander, top bareback bronc rider of last year; Bill Smith, the 1971 saddle bronc riding champion; Bill Nelson, last year's leading money winner in bull riding; and Nathan Haley, the nation's number one steer wrestler.

Lyne also took top money in calf roping during the 1971 season.

Card of Thanks

We would like to say thank you to everyone for their concern and thoughtfulness while Ray was in the hospital and since his return home. To those who helped with the children, the visits, flowers, food and cards. Especially we appreciate the special prayers of everyone.

Sincerely, Judy and Ray Crisp

We both wish to thank the good people of Post and Garza County who were so kind and loving during Mae's illness in hospitals and since her return home. We hesitate to try to mention names, personally because some might be omitted unintentionally, but let us say that Dr. Charles Tubbs and the nurses are the best. Surely God placed the greatest people in the world in this small community and we will always thank Him for each and everyone of you.

Meredith Newby is home for visit after year in Europe

Miss Meredith Newby flew home from over a year's stay in Europe, arriving in Lubbock Monday, for a visit here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Newby. Speaking of her travels, Miss Newby told The Dispatch, "It's something everybody wants to do, but seldom has the opportunity." Miss Newby spent the last seven months at Dumoon, Scotland, a town not quite the size of Post located on the seacoast near the mountains. There's an American colony of about 1,500 persons there as the town is a refueling point for U. S. nuclear Polaris submarines. Miss Newby flew to Europe with her sister, Marcia, in January of 1971. The two worked in London for a few weeks, hiked around both Scotland and Ireland and then toured the continent of Europe, including visits to Holland, West Germany, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Italy, France, Spain, Switzerland, Portugal and Austria. Part of their continental tour was made with their parents who flew over last spring for about six weeks tour. After Mr. and Mrs. Newby and then Marcia flew back to America, Meredith lived in London through June and July, 1971, and then went back to Scotland and lived in Dumoon, where the sun seldom shines and there are no refrigerators, just kitchen cupboards which have an outside door one leaves open to keep the food cold. Miss Newby explained one shops for meat at a meat store, for vegetables at a vegetable store, and for other foods at other more or less specialty stores.

Dreams for sale.

Everybody's got a dream lurking around in the back of his mind. A dream vacation. A dream cottage. A dream car. Dreams can be a lot more fun if you know you're doing something to make them come true. And that's what the Payroll Savings Plan is all about. When you sign up an amount you specify is set aside from each paycheck and used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds. Now Bonds mature in less than six years. That's the shortest maturity period ever, and makes Bonds a practical way to save for dreams you want to come true while you're still young enough to enjoy them.

See the folks in the payroll office where you work. They've got dreams for sale

Make it Bonds pay 4 1/2% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4 1/2% the first year). Bonds are repaid if lost, stolen, or destroyed. When needed they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter White and daughters, Cynthia and Sherry, will be honored with a going away party in the Graham Community Center, Friday, Feb. 11, at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is invited to attend.

Library LISTENING POST

By GEORGE L. MILLER
Love, Love, Love—Hurry for Love. That's the theme for today, with Feb. 14 and St. Valentine's Day just around the corner. All the world loves a lover, or so we've been told. A good love story is bound to be popular in the public library. Erich Segal rather cornered the market a year or so ago with his slim volume called "Love Story." Our library has three copies, and they all have seen plenty of circulation. When I first read it, I liked it, but there's been so much fuss over it since that I have gotten tired of the thing. How about trying "Wuthering Heights" by Emily Bronte instead? It's an old fashioned story, one filled with grand passion and evil and ghosts wandering across the moors. It's my all-time favorite love story. It may not be realistic, it may be totally out-of-date. But it's still a darn good story. If you want to take on some heavy reading, you might try Tolstoy's "Anna Karenina." This is the classic tale of adultery and its aftermath. Tolstoy was a moralist, and he wrote his tale to prove a point. But along the way, if you don't mind a long story, he covers a beautiful landscape of human relationships and emotions. Others have tried, but no one has matched this book. Do you know "Mrs. Mike" by Benedict and Nancy Freedman? What a joy she is! Pretty Katherine O'Fallon headed out to the Canadian Northwest for her health, and there she met and married Sgt. Mike Flannigan of the Northwest Mounted Police. Life was hard on the Canadian frontier. They had their tragedies and their sorrows, but the final note is one of joy. You're going to like this one. W. Somerset Maugham's great book "Of Human Bondage" is a different kind of love story. Here is a crippled hero completely infatuated with a heartless and mindless little waitress named Mildred. She stands as one of the all-time villains of literature—or should I say villainess? The humiliation and heartache the hero goes through is almost more than you can bear. It's a real classic.

Can anyone dispute the popularity of "Gone With the Wind" by Margaret Mitchell? Many claim it's cheap literature, that it doesn't bear wasting one's time on. But no one can deny it has a story that grips from the first paragraph, and never lets go. It's a love story too, one I have found endlessly entertaining. Try it, you'll like it. Do you want your story with incredible beauty? Then Boris Pasternak's "Dr. Zhivago" is the book for you. This is a modern giant, probably one of a handful of books that will live on past our time. It is not easy reading, its cast of characters with their host of multiple names can be infuriatingly confusing. But the imagery of the writing, the poetry in prose—after all, Dr. Zhivago is a poet, and the book includes a generous sampling of poems—gives you an intoxicating reading experience. There are many, many more love stories in the library, classic and modern. They run the gamut from Jane Austen's "Pride and Prejudice" to Herman Wouk's "Marjorie Morningstar"—I like the first, hated the second. Some, like Charlotte Bronte's "Jane Eyre", grow on you. Others, like "The Wine and the Music" by William Barrett (about a priest who fails in love and leaves his orders to marry) strike me as cheap and silly. The nice thing about love, as St. Valentine knew, it comes to us all in an infinite number of ways. You can find a great variety of love stories in the library. Drop in and let us be your Valentine!

N.E.W. — to many, these initials stand for NATIONAL ELECTRICAL WEEK, an annual event designated to call attention to the many wonderful things electric power has made possible. N.E.W. — to us, these initials also mean NORMAL EVERYDAY WEEK. For whatever the occasion or celebration, our work goes on — 24 hours every day and every night. Electricity which has done so much in the past to raise the living hopes of millions is now, say many experts, the one hope for the future of our environment. Dependable electricity, cleanest of all energies at the point of use, is being depended upon as the means for effectively and efficiently cleaning up our environment. But, that's what you'd expect from us, isn't it?

Prayer for A Running Man

By George L. Miller

Look, Jesus, I've got sixteen things to do today, and hardly time enough for half of them. I've got to pick the kids up at school and take them to the dentist. I've got to leave these suits off at the cleaners. I've been carrying the rent check in my shirt pocket for three days and haven't made it to the landlord's yet.

In case you hadn't noticed, I'm beginning to panic. I'm afraid I won't get it all done. I'm afraid I'll forget something really important. I've written myself notes, but I keep losing them. I feel like I'm exploding into a million pieces and nobody knows what's happening to me.

Can you keep up with me, Jesus? When I think of you, I think of a quiet man, a man of infinite calm, and I want so much to be calm like you. I want to hide off in the wilderness somewhere, and pretend that all my work is done. I want to be completely alone where no one can disturb me or add more chores to my impossible list. I want to be like you, unmoved by the frantic rush of things.

But instead of calm, I'm running harder than ever. I can't hide out, I can't stop and rest, I can't pretend my work is done. I've got to keep going even when I'm tired and scared and wondering what it's all about.

Please keep up with me, keep me company. Let me find glimpses of your face along the way. Remind me that there's joy as well as drudgery in this fast pace I run. Keep tugging at my arm to make me notice those around me, for their friendship and love make the race worthwhile. I'm not running by myself.

And please, Lord, show me how to stop now and then. Even if it's only for a little while. I can keep on running for a long, long time if you'll just show me how to rest.

Oh dear, I'm getting further behind. See you later, Jesus. Amen.

Food stamp changes affect Texas grocers

DALLAS — Three important program changes will directly affect Texas grocers who participate in the U. S. Department of Agriculture's food stamp program.

Changes include a slightly different 50-cent coupon which will be used by food stamp families soon as well as a new type of redemption certificate to be used by grocers and the elimination of cash for change in food stamp transactions — the latter two of which will go into effect March 1, according to Martin Garber, south east regional administrator of USDA's Food and Nutrition Service, the agency which handles federal responsibilities for the food stamp program.

Garber outlined specifically the changes which will be involved: The new redemption certificates to be used beginning March 1 will be in card form which will be read automatically by a computer. The familiar yellow paper certificate will no longer be used. The card is to be filled out by the retailer and submitted to the bank or wholesaler along with the food stamps being redeemed.

Beginning March 1, retailers can no longer give cash for change in food stamp transactions or accept food coupons as payment for bottle or other container deposits.

Credit slips or tokens not to exceed 49 cents per transaction must be used for any change due of 49 cents or less. The food stamp customer still has the option of trading out change due in eligible foods or paying the difference in cash. Bottle and other container deposits must be paid for with cash.

The orange colored 50-cent coupons will look slightly different. The coupons will be a lighter shade and will have square instead of round notches along the left side and the lower left-hand corner will bear the legend, "Series 1971A".

The 50-cent coupons currently in use are valid so long as they are in circulation. Fifty-cent coupons are the only coupons which may be used in making change of more than 49 cents.

Texas grocers authorized to accept food stamps will be mailed further details on the changes in the next few days, Garber said.

The food stamp program in Texas is administered by the State Department of Public Welfare in cooperation with USDA's Food and Nutrition Service.

INSTALL GAS AIR CONDITIONING NOW?

Install GAS air conditioning now and beat the rush that always comes with the first hot days. While everyone else is waiting on installation, central GAS air conditioning will be quietly and efficiently cooling your whole house. And another benefit of installing now is you have the time to consider the advantages that GAS air conditioning has over the other kinds.

A GAS air conditioning system is ruggedly built and operates on a simple principle. Heat from the steady blue flame circulates a refrigerant through the system to cool the air. There are fewer major moving parts and no compressor to break down or wear out. It's this simplicity that gives GAS air conditioning its low operating costs, its long life with no loss of cooling capacity, and its easy maintenance with few repair bills. GAS air conditioning also filters the air to reduce dust and pollen.

If you have a forced air heating system, you may be able to use the same ductwork for GAS air conditioning. So, be foxy. Call Pioneer Natural Gas Company for a free air conditioning survey of your home or business.

POST AREA'S TREFLAN DEALER

THE INFORMED CONSUMER

BY CRAWFORD C. MARTIN
Attorney General of Texas

HOLDER IN DUE COURSE
Have you ever purchased on the time installment plan? Practically all major appliances are purchased in this manner.

Here's how it works: You, as the consumer, purchase a washer and dryer from one of the local appliance dealers in your city. You sign a time installment contract and promissory note for the total purchase price, payable in monthly installments ranging from 12 to 36 months.

(It should be noted that the time installment plan is utilized in the purchase of furniture, dance lessons, etc. as well as appliances.)

Your promissory note for the total price of the washer and dryer is in turn assigned or transferred by the appliance dealer to a bank or other lending institution. By the terms of this assignment or transfer, the appliance dealer who sold you the washer and dryer is paid in full by the bank and you now begin to make regular payments to the bank for the purchase of your appliances. The bank, who owns your promissory note now, is probably a "Holder In Due Course."

So what does this mean to you, a consumer? Legally speaking, it means a great deal in terms of the rights and liabilities of all three parties — you, the appliance dealer, and the financial institution — to this everyday commercial transaction.

What exactly is a "Holder In Due Course"? Generally, a "Holder In Due Course" is one who takes a negotiable promissory note in the regular course of business, paying a valuable consideration between you and the appliance dealer is other than legitimate. As a "Holder In Due Course," the bank is legally entitled to expect payment to be made by you according to the terms of your note. All well and good so far!

But, consider this situation: As you begin to use your new appliances, suppose the dryer ceases to function due to faulty installation by the appliance dealer. If the dealer is a reputable one, he will repair it or see that it is installed properly pursuant to your warranty. But suppose that the appliance dealer has in the meantime quit doing business or has moved from your city and cannot be located. What do you do now? Can you legally cease making payments until your dryer is repaired or replaced? If the bank is a "Holder In Due Course," the answer is no.

Remember, the bank paid valuable consideration for your note. It paid the dealer cash in full. It makes a profit from the interest you are paying on the note, and the bank more than likely would have had no reason to believe the dealer was other than reputable. (Or at least it will be extremely difficult for you to prove otherwise.)

Where does this leave you legally? This leaves you with monthly installments to pay on your note stuck with a faulty appliance with a questionable appliance dealer unavailable.

Before signing the contract and making your purchase, know with whom you are dealing. Is he a reputable and honest businessman? If you are not sure, check with your local Chamber of Commerce or Better Business Bureau.

Remember, when purchasing products or services on the time installment payment plan, your contract and note in many cases will be assigned to a "Holder In Due Course."

dren's book to be the "autobiography" of our basset hound.

Mrs. C worked hard enough one whole weekend and finished the first draft of seven chapters — 27 pages in length.

Then it got "laid back" in my desk drawer. There was never time again to finish it and polish it. At the time, Mrs. C was going to proposition Chris or Susan, our two daughters, to illustrate it.

There were chapters about various true episodes in Sam's life — such as converting our patio planter box into a bone depository, a chapter about her early illnesses and her "operation", her strange friendship with Shep, the police dog, who would leap over our 7-foot fence to see her; and others.

My favorite was the true story of how a gate blew shut late at night and she got trapped in with two friends in the Bryan J. Williams backyard, a block away.

When she didn't come home, Mrs. C put a robe over her nightgown, slipped out while we were asleep and went looking for her in the car around the neighborhood, stopping every once in a while to call rather softly for her.

Sam finally heard her and barked furiously, though not furiously enough to awaken the Williamses at 2 a.m. Mrs. C wasn't tall enough to reach over the gate and open it from the inside. So she came home, woke me up and I managed to free Sam without waking the entire neighborhood.

The last chapter of the unfinished book was entitled, "Surely, there's a dog heaven." It was about the death of Sam's best friend, Shep Police Dog, who had heart trouble.

And so, it is not too difficult to conjure up the fantasy of that "dog heaven" with Sam and Shep together again.

We think Sam was lonely the last couple of years. We used to take her for walks in the summer time around the area, but we are both so stubborn that the "walk" usually would resolve with my unhooking the leash and walking home alone while Sam "explored" something of unusual interest she had sniffed out along the way and refused to leave.

We were always sorry that some of the youngsters in our neighborhood weren't taught by their parents about dogs. Sam so wanted to play with all of them. But she got so many rocks thrown at her that she finally became afraid of almost any human not fully grown.

We learned a lot about the "good things of life" from Sam. She lavished her love and devotion upon the C family, one and all, whether our skies were blue or gray.

If we humans could truly earn the unwavering devotion of a dog for her master, how much happier our lives would be.

8th grade boys and 9th grade girls share loop titles

Boys tied with Ralls; girls in 3-way hangup

The Post 8th grade boys came from behind in the fourth quarter to beat Roosevelt, 28 to 26, here Monday night and finish in a tie with Ralls for the conference championship.

There will be a playoff for the championship, Coach John Alexander said Tuesday, with school officials to get together this week to decide on the time and site.

Both Post and Ralls 8th grade teams finished with 11-3 records.

The 8th grade victory here Monday night was one of three scored by Post over Roosevelt, with all three games nip-and-tuck affairs. The 7th grade won by a score of 27-25, and the 9th grade, 49-45.

In the 8th grade game, Post led 7-4 at the first quarter buzzer and 12-9 at the halftime intermission, but was behind 22-18 going into the fourth quarter, in which they outscored their opponents by six points.

Bryan Davis, with 10 points, grabbed scoring honors for Post. Martinez added six; Shepherd and Price, four each; Dudley, three,

Freshman girls beat Roosevelt, 33 to 18

The Post freshman girls downed Roosevelt, 33 to 18, Monday night to finish the season in a three-way tie with Slaton and Idalou for the conference championship.

School officials were scheduled to get together this week to decide whether or not a playoff will be held to determine the champion.

The Post team, coached by Sherry Woods, finished with a 12-2 record. It's only defeats coming at the hands of Slaton. In the final of three games between these two teams Post won, 55 to 51.

A total of 627 books were checked out during the month, including 446 adult books and 181 juvenile books.

TIGERS CLAW OUT 67-57 WIN

Slaton subdues Post to annex loop lead

The Slaton Tigers knocked off the Post Antelopes, 67 to 57, here Tuesday night to win the second half championship in District 4AA, with Idalou losing to Tahoka.

Going into Tuesday night's games, Slaton, Post and Idalou were tied for the second half lead with 4-1 marks. Slaton is now 5-1 and will end its regular season against Denver City Friday night. Since Denver City is on UIL probation, Friday night's game with the Mustangs will count as a win for Slaton regardless of the outcome.

Following the end of the regular season, Slaton and Ralls, the first half winner, will meet in a playoff game for the district championship.

DENVER CITY WINS Mustangs score from outside to nip Post

Shooting over a tight defense effectively, the Denver City Mustangs outgained the Post Antelopes 58 to 51 last Friday night on the Mustangs' court.

A 22-point second quarter in which the Mustangs hit effectively on long shots was the big factor in the Denver City victory. They were ahead by only two points, 12 to 10, at the end of the first period, but had increased their margin to nine points for a 34-25 lead at halftime, and were out in front by seven, 48-41, going into the final period of play.

Steve Hays scored 10 points for Post in the first half, but sat out most of the second half after running into foul trouble, and wound up with 14 points. Reggie Moore paced the Post attack with 20, while the Mustangs' Bruce Shores garnered 22 points on 11 field goals for game scoring honors.

About the only consolation for Post was that the loss does not count against their District 4AA record, since Denver City is on UIL probation and ineligible for loop title consideration.

In the preliminary game, the Mustang "B" team outshot the Antelopes "B" cagers, 59-49, with Rodney Compton and Victor Cisneros each scoring 10 points to lead the Post offense.

The scoring summaries:

FINAL GAME FRIDAY

The Post Antelopes basketball team will end its 1971-72 season at Frenship this Friday night in a District 4AA game. The "Lopes" go into the final game with a 12-16 season record and 4-2 in second half district play, after finishing the first half with a 3-4 conference mark.

6-0 lead against the Antelopes here Tuesday night and were never behind, although Post tied the score at 32-32 and again at 33-33 early in the second half.

Slaton led 21-13 at the end of the first quarter, but were outscored 17-10 by the Antelopes in the second quarter and held only a one-point lead, 31-30, at halftime. David Woods had followed up his own shot to score just before the first half buzzer and pull the "Lopes" to within one point of the Tigers.

The game stayed close for the first few minutes of the second half, but Slaton began pulling away midway of the third quarter and led by 14 points, 55-41, at the buzzer.

The Tigers slowed the pace early in the final period, waiting for the good shot against a tight Post defense, then stalled out the final three minutes of play.

Every time the "Lopes" got close, Slaton employed an effective full court press that resulted in crucial turnovers by the Post team.

Three players scored 57 of Slaton's 67 points, Lloyd Kitten and James Conwright each hitting 20, and T. W. Whitfield getting 17. Woods and Reggie Moore led the Post scoring with 14 points apiece, and Steve Hays scored 12.

The Post "B" team lost, 55 to 45, after leading 13-10 at the end of the first quarter and 26-24 at the halftime intermission. Rusty Conner was Post's top scorer with 12 points, while Whaley led Slaton with 22.

POST GIRLS WIN CONSOLATION

8th grade boys take tourney trophy here

The Post boys and the Roosevelt girls won the championship trophies in the conference 8th grade basketball tournament here Saturday night, the Post boys beating Roosevelt, 26 to 20, and the Roosevelt girls edging Slaton, 28-26, in overtime.

Tahoka won third place in the boys' bracket by beating Frenship 44-38 and the Cooper girls took third place in their division by beating Frenship, 19-13.

Consolation trophy winners were the Ralls boys with a 44-26 win over Slaton, and the Post girls with a 22-9 triumph over Tahoka.

Nine points in the final quarter, seven of them on free throws, gave Coach Joe Giddens' Post boys' team its championship win over Roosevelt. The teams were tied 17-17 at the end of the third quarter.

Mike Shepherd led the Post scoring with nine points. Davis and Bell scored four points each; Dudley, three, and Price, Solis and Martinez, two each.

In the girls' championship game, Roosevelt and Slaton were tied 24-24 at the end of the regulation playing time, but two field goals for Roosevelt against only two free throws for Slaton in the overtime period decided the contest.

The Post girls held Tahoka scoreless throughout the first half in their 22-9 consolation win. Kim Mitchell scored 11 points for the winners, Rhonda Criswell, seven, and Patricia Bilberry, four.

The Post girls lost a first round game to Slaton, 24-10, but advanced to the consolation finals with a forfeit win over Idalou, whose teams were withdrawn from the tournament.

The Thursday afternoon game between the Post and Slaton girls was the third of the season between the two teams, with each having scored a victory over the other.

Coach Bing Bingham's Slaton team was in command throughout the tournament game, however, holding Post to its lowest scoring total of the season.

Kim Mitchell scored five of the 10 points posted by the losers and Rhonda Criswell getting four and Pat Bilberry, one.

The Post boys won over Slaton, 22-19, in their first round game, then advanced to the Saturday night finals with a 43-24 win over Tahoka.

The Post team got a big jump on Slaton Thursday night by scoring eight points in the first quarter to none for their opponents. They were ahead 15-10 at halftime, and 20-14 at the end of the third period.

Shepherd's seven points led the Post scoring, with Davis, Dudley and Price getting four points each, and King, three.

In the semifinals win over Tahoka, Dudley was Post's leading scorer with 12 points, King scored 11; Davis, nine; Shepherd, five, and Price, Solis and Martinez, two each.

Athletic Director Bobby Davis was the tournament director.

7th, 8th grade girls lose close ones in finales

Post's 7th and 8th grade girls' basketball teams ended the season Monday night with "heartbreak" losses at Roosevelt.

Coach Billy Hahn's 7th grade girls lost by two points, 19-17, and the 8th grade team by three points, 23-20.

Trailing 18-10 at the end of the third quarter, the 7th grade team outscored Roosevelt 7 to 2 in the final period, but the rally came too late.

Karen Williams scored six points for Post, with Amy Cowdrey getting five, Donna Ammons, four, and Jodine Tipton, two.

The third quarter also proved disastrous for the Post 8th grade team. Their only scoring in the period came on a free throw, while Roosevelt was racking up nine points.

Kim Mitchell was Post's leading scorer with 10 points. Rhonda Criswell scored five; Pat Bilberry, three, and Stella Torres, two.

The 8th grade girls finished second in their conference with a 11-3 record. The 7th grade girls ended their season with an 8-6 mark.

Herbicide guide for West Texas available here

LUBBOCK — The latest herbicide recommendations for cotton weed control in West Texas are available to producers, chemical dealers and other agribusinessmen.

The recommendations are a summary of field tests by Texas A&M University researchers and Extension specialists throughout West Texas.

"The report summarizes field trials with preplant, preemerge and postemerge herbicides," explains Dr. Dudley Smith, weed scientist for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock.

The two-page publication lists the various chemicals that were tested, application rates and necessary precautions for safe use. In addition, the report gives information on herbicide use for weed control in narrow row cotton. Sprayer calibration recommendations are also offered. A special section is included on control of problem weeds such as morningglory, devil's claw, cocklebur and watergrass.

Copies of the bulletin are available free-of-charge at county Extension offices in West Texas. They can also be obtained by writing or calling the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center, Rt. 3, in Lubbock. Ginners, chemical dealers, distributors and custom applicators may also get extra copies at the center.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

NEWS OF EXPERIMENTS IN SOCIAL ACTION THAT HAVE PROVED HIGHLY PROMISING

VOLUNTEERS...STEP FORWARD!

By James D. Farley
Executive Vice President
First National City Bank
New York, N.Y.

Have government social service programs displaced the volunteer worker?

Not in the least, according to reports we receive daily from social agencies, and from those people already doing volunteer work. The need for part-timers to teach, wrap bandages, read to the sick or advise those in trouble continues to grow. It is a need that businesses can help meet.

In New York City, for example, Citibank's community activities include financing of low-income housing, as well as such programs as job training and minority business development. Helpful as these projects are, we recognize that not all of a community's problems can be solved with government spending or corporate urban affairs projects. Often, it is the individual volunteer that makes the difference in the lives of the disadvantaged.

Helping your neighbor through volunteer service is a part of the American tradition. In our ranks, we have many who contribute their time and effort. Their role has raised questions about how a business can add its contribution.

Looking into the problem, we discovered there were many people who wanted to get involved but didn't know what organizations needed help. We also found organizations that didn't know where to recruit volunteers. So we set up a match-making service. Soliciting requests for volunteers from outside agencies, we listed the available jobs. Then we notified our employees. We were able to match up skills, and talents and preferences with the available openings.

At last look, bank employees were involved in some 35 different volunteer projects. Assignments include teaching, helping blacks start a business, repairing homes for the poor, working with drug addicts and helping control noise.

Programs such as this do not spring into existence full blown. Interest in them tends to spurt, then sag, and then spurt again. We have found it requires some motivating. Pictures of volunteer workers in the company paper help for special mention of their efforts does encourage others to participate. And then volunteers do come forward to help. The faces will change, but like the incoming tide, the force and direction of the volunteer will be constant.

It's the Law . . .

BAIT AND SWITCH ADVERTISING

"Nearly new nationally-advertised brand zig-zag sewing machine for $24.95."

"Complete brake job for $15.00."

"Four rooms of furniture for $199.95."

Do the above "eye catchers" sound familiar? Most consumers at one time or another have responded to such advertisements, often hurrying to get there so they can take advantage of the tremendous offer before the merchant's supply of the product is exhausted. Many times these consumers are met with a constant belittling of the advertised product and are purposely switched to another more costly product by a smooth talking salesman.

Other times they are told the item is sold out even though the ad says the sale is good for three days and the store has only been open for ten minutes on the first day. They just happen to have a similar item, however, at a higher price. What a disappointing experience for the consumers who alertly see through the sales gimmick, and how tragic for those consumers who do not!

"Bait and Switch" advertising is prohibited by both Federal and State law. "Bait and Switch" is a practice whereby an offer is made not in order to sell the advertised product at the advertised price, but to draw consumers to the store to sell them another similar product which is more profitable to the advertiser. The merchant is even unwilling at times to sell his "bait" item to the consumer. It is not unusual for a merchant who engages in such tactics to actually fine his salesman if the advertised merchandise is sold.

Remember that merchants are operating their businesses to make a profit, and they cannot afford to give away their merchandise. Certainly not all merchants engage in the "Bait and Switch" form of advertising. There are numerous specials and other sales run each day that are bona fide, and they do not fall within the "Bait and Switch" practice. However, when an ad is just too eye catching to be true, you should carefully analyze it and then scrutinize the salesman's presentation. Don't be victimized by the "Bait and Switch" salesman; be an Informed Consumer!

Whenever you discover a business which engages in "Bait and Switch" advertising, be sure to notify Attorney General Crawford C. Martin, Attorney General of Texas, P. O. Box 12548, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711. By doing so you will help us protect others who are unaware of this advertising gimmick.

Garza County Agent

AGRONOMIST APPOINTED

Dr. James R. Supak began his duties Jan. 1 as area agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Supak will be located at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Lubbock. He replaces Dr. Robert Metzger who assumed the new position of area cotton specialist at the Lubbock center.

In announcing the appointment, Extension Service Director Dr. John E. Hutchison said that Supak will be responsible for conducting educational work relating to all agronomic crops other than cotton in Extension District 2. The position of area cotton specialist was created so that a more intensive educational program can be directed to cotton which is the top cash crop on the South Plains, added the director.

Supak will work closely with county Extension agents and county program building committees in designing effective farm demonstrations and assisting producers in developing more efficient production techniques.

The new specialist is a native of Williamson County and a graduate of St. Mary's High School in Taylor. He holds B.S., M.S., and Ph.D. degrees in soil chemistry from Texas A&M University.

NEW YOUTH SPECIALIST

Edwin I. Garnett, who has served as area farm management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service since August, 1968, is now serving as area 4-H and youth specialist. He will continue to be headquartered in Amarillo.

According to Dr. Donald Stormer, state 4-H and youth leader, Garnett will give leadership to the 4-H and youth phase of the Extension Service in District 1 and 2. "Program expansion will receive major emphasis under Garnett's leadership," said Stormer. "Other areas of emphasis will include leadership development and curriculum improvement.

"Garnett has a tremendous personal commitment to 4-H and youth work and is well experienced," pointed out the 4-H and youth leader. "He and his wife have both served as adult 4-H leaders in Potter County."

The position is newly established in the Panhandle-South Plains area. Another area 4-H and youth specialist was appointed last fall to serve south and south central Texas.

Garnett is a native of Lynn County but grew up on a Terry County farm. He is a graduate of Brownfield High School and holds a B. S. degree from Texas Tech University in animal science and a minor in agricultural economics. He also has a M.S. degree from New Mexico State University in agricultural economics.

Political process to be topic of area workshop

LUBBOCK — A radically new approach to "grass roots" involvement in the political process will be discussed in a citizenship action workshop beginning at 4 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 16, at the Phillips Co-op Oil Mill in Lubbock.

Texas Farmers Union is cooperating with Rural Americans in sponsoring of the workshop. Rural Americans is an education project of National Farmers Union.

Blue Carstenson of Washington, D. C., will be in Lubbock to conduct the workshop. Registration fee will be $3.50.

"Farm families and rural Americans are realizing the political necessity of becoming involved in the decision-making processes at the local precinct level," says the Farmers Union President, N. Naman. "This workshop has been scheduled in order that the 'nuts and bolts' of political decision-making can be explained to those who have such a vital stake in the political processes."

W. R. Sage of Lubbock, coordinating chairman for the workshop states that the meeting is open to all interested citizens regardless of political party affiliation or occupation.

A CHINESE PUZZLE: PEKING AND POPULATION

A lot of tea has gone over the dam since the famous "Believe It Or Not" cartoon showing there are so many Chinese in the world they could go marching on forever. Communist China's population continues to grow, however, so that even today Peking is still alarmed.

Many of China's ancient customs may be falling under Communism. But the old taboo against a man's speaking affectionately to a woman in public still stands, and a kiss—even if the lady were your wife—might attract interest by the police. For after all, who knows where such a thing might lead? Not even the wise Confucius.

In his day, the Chinese believed that pregnancy could be prevented by such strange methods as swallowing live tadpoles, mercury or quicksilver.

Modern China is well aware of more scientific contraceptive pills like the birth control pill. In fact, telling Chinese women about the blessings of this way to prevent pregnancy is one of the main duties of the so-called "barefoot doctors," first-aid assistants who travel through China's countryside and bring simple health care to millions of peasants who never, ever see a real doctor.

There's an old chestnut that for a woman to be "barefoot and pregnant," China's barefoot medical should push the pill so hard when women also have several other ways to practice birth control. The diaphragm, Lippos Loop intrauterine device, and various spermicides are among the other good methods women can use. And spermicides like Conceptrol Birth Control Cream or Delfen Foam are even available in drugstores without any prescription from a doctor—barefoot or otherwise.

Big city or small town, it's a Chinese puzzle why Peking

FACTS ON FARMING

What would be your family's share if all the land used for farming in the United States were divided equally among U. S. families?

The answer is slightly more than 27½ acres, according to James O. Murphy, district conservationist. Since most of us are not farmers, yet all of us eat food, wear clothes and live in houses, the large share of which comes from farms, then how that farmer who is using your 27½ acres gets along is of great concern to each of us. Actually, only about 22 acres would be yours. The other five acres (one-half range and one-half woodland) would be rented or leased from the government. On this 22 acres you would have about nine acres in crops, 10 acres in pasture, grassland or range; one and one-half acres would be grazed woodland and one and one-half acres for buildings, roads and non-farm uses. On the nine acres of cropland, you would plant less than six acres to row crops. Biologically speaking, your animals and poultry are rather puzzling. You have one-fourth dairy cow which produced 3,287 pounds of milk annually. Your 1.8 cow herd produced three-fourths of a calf, while your one hog had a litter of two pigs. Your 6.4 hens laid 113 dozen eggs, and you produced 55 broilers and two and one fourth turkeys per year.

Your 22 acres is valued at $4,086 or about $182 per acre. When the year began you had about $460 worth of livestock and poultry and $211 worth of crops. Your machinery investment was about $671. For your year's work you produced $1,068 worth at a cost of $752, leaving you a net income of $316. That farmer who did all the work to let us eat better at lowest cost of any people on earth put in a lot of long, hot dusty days during the summer, and some cold, windy, muddy days in winter to produce the abundance of wholesome food we enjoy. He took the best of his produce to the market place. Some of the processors, wholesalers, retailers and haulers got more of the price you paid than he did. While this American farmer was operating your farm, he terraced the rolling land, planted crops on the contour, irrigated and re-used water on the level land. He strip-cropped some of the fields to prevent erosion so that your streams run clear; planted shelter belts around the farmstead where birds and small game find food and shelter. He let you hunt on the land, fish in the farm pond and the stream running through the woodland. And, at the same time, he

Mrs. Martha Compton to head Easter Seal Appeal in this area

DALLAS — Mrs. Martha Compton will head the 1972 Easter Seal Appeal in Garza County, it was announced today by Rodney D. Hargrove, president of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas.

Residents of Garza County will receive the annual Easter Seal Appeal letters in the mail beginning Feb. 28. The drive, conducted yearly to provide disabled persons and their families treatment and services, will continue through Easter Sunday, April 2.

Mrs. Compton is one of 223 men and women throughout Texas who are serving in this capacity.

kept the buildings, fences and farm roads in good repair, doing his part to keep America beautiful.

Along with all this, he serves on your school board, is an elder in your church, a board member of your Farmers Co-op, Grange or Farm Bureau. He serves as an ASCS community or county committee member, belongs to a cattle breeders association, and may be a Soil Conservation district director. Every other year he may be an election official, maybe Republican, Democrat or Independent.

He grants an easement for your road, utility lines and flood control dam, drainage or irrigation canal.

He looks after your country cabin, hunting or fishing camp or your land while you work at another job.

He goes to sleep at night worried about the rain he needs or the gully-washer he got, the hog price, grain market and farm outlook. He gets up two hours before you do, puts his pants on one leg at a time, like you do, and at times has worked three hours before you get to your job, and may work three hours after your quitting time.

The next time you meet Mr. American Farmer on the street of your town, salute him for a job well done. Remember that as he prospers, so will you. Hope and pray that he continues to do well with your 27½ acres, because your good health, wealth and well-being comes from the sweat of his brow and the labor of his hands applied to the land that sustains us all.

LEBANON -- LAND OF HISTORY

The name Lebanon originates with the Arabic word "Lubnan" meaning white; the white is the white of the snow which in winter blankets the cedars of Lebanon, growing in ancient majesty on the Lebanese Mountains.

For the tourist interested in antiquity and the memorable, history has indeed left its mark on Beirut - from its name to St. George's Bay - where the legendary saint slew the dragon and saved the maiden. In 64 B. C., the city came under Roman domination.

As Colonia Julia Augusta Felix Berythus it held the status of a Roman city and was famed in the Roman world for its law school, which rivaled those of Athens, Alexandria and Caesarea. The ruins of this law school, destroyed in an earthquake in 500 A.D., have recently been unearthed in the center of the city.

Lebanon is a scenic country with a rich history that has left its marks in varied forms and in many places. The ruins of Baalbeck are among the most majestic Roman ruins in the world. Crusader castles are perched on hilltops from the Syrian borders in the North, to the coast of Beirut in the South of Lebanon, and the National Museum exhibits Phoenician jewelry and glass made by side with Roman coins, fine Greek sculpture and Arab mosaic.

The ruins at Baalbeck and the cedars are probably the two best-known tourist attractions in Lebanon. Only a few of the stately old cedars trees, which once grew in forests covering the mountainsides of Lebanon, are left, although it is said these forests furnished wood for the building of Solomon's beautiful temple in Jerusalem (I Kings 5:6-10).

The road from Beirut to Tyre is exploited by many travelers as one of the loveliest in the world. Its charm is that of the simple beauty of blue sea, golden sand, low red-roofed houses, green orange, banana, and olive groves, and fishing boats. This area has also served as a fitting setting for magnificent civilizations, each of which has left behind a rich cultural heritage. One should very definitely luxuriate at the scenic bay where the whole Crusader castles are perched reputedly dumped Jonah!
