Four great days of rain

An unusual weekend of light rain, cold overcast skies, and early morning fog, blanketed all of Garza County and this West Texas region, producing welcome moisture ranging all the way from 30 of an inch officially in Post to up to two inches in some rural areas. Many rural areas got an inch and a half, some more.

The rains started Friday and continued into Tuesday with 24 officially recorded here Saturday morning at 8 a. m., 12 of an inch Sunday morning, 37 more Monday morning, and 17 of an inch Tuesday morning to total out .90 for the rainy spell.

The moisture brought 1975's rainfall total here to 1.21 inches to date.

The rains will enable farmers to put up their land and help hold it against blowing in the spring winds.

It also was good for rangeland and will start the weeds to growing, one rancher observed.

employees to Two Draw Lake here for a holiday picnic. Note the Jim Power Grocery on the left and the "tailor shop" sign pointing to Jim Hundley's place of business.

mental truck line.

Dalby died at 5:45 p. m. Wednesday in Houston's Methodist Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Dalby bought his first truck for $200 from his father, L. W. Dalby who used it to haul from the gin at Close City to the railroad in Post while his son was attending the Close City schools.

It was in 1927 when Dalby unobtrusively launched his freight line from Post to Lubbock and return by hauling a 70-pound crate of lettuce from a Lubbock produce firm in his wheezy Model T Ford truck and received 35 cents for the three-hour journey required to deliver it in Post.

He had gone to Lubbock that day with a list of freight to be picked up in Lubbock for Post merchants, but lost the list from his pocket and thus had only the crate of lettuce from his remembered first stop for his cargo home.

That small start did not daunt him and he continued to build up his Lubbock to Post delivery service through his Dalby Motor Freight Co.

By 1930 he was operating a second truck and had added an employee. He also had acquired a contract for delivery of the output of the Postex Cotton Mills and had to purchase two additional trucks to keep up with his mushrooming business.

In the latter part of 1932, he purchased a truck line running from Lubbock to Amarillo and was definitely "on his way" in the trucking business.

On June 10, 1932, he had married Miss Blanche Connell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Connell of Post.

In September of 1933 he talked his father-in-law out of a loan and bought out of the competing truck line to Amarillo and moved with his family (See Arno Dalby, Page 12)

ARNO R. DALBY

The story of Arno Dalby's death on today's front page is something a little different.

It's a feature story about how a boy from Close City bought a Model T truck from his dad for $200 and in 47 years converted it into a multi-million dollar freight line.

Many Post folks who came here after Arno moved to Lubbock in 1933 never knew the details of how the big T. I. M. E. freight line was built.

This final story attempts to tell that interesting story. Included is an unusual picture of his truck fleet made on Post's Main street on the fourth of July, 1935.

The Post Public Library has three more of Tom Ryan's framed prints hanging in the library. They have been loaned to the book-lending institution by David and Ruth Ann Newby. Included is Ryan's famous "Sharing an Apple" which won the Cowboy Hall of Fame competition a few years back. The Newbys' generous offer of the prints will enable the entire community to enjoy this fine cowboy art.

For sport fans wondering about the football future of Post's second all-state tackle, Grayling Johnson, this is to report that several of the smaller colleges and universities are interested in Grayling, but the local youngster now has the firm intention of entering military service after high school graduation before going on to college under the GI Bill. Grayling sounds like he is planning for college without having to be dependent upon football to put him through.

Rotarians hear how best to plan estate

Clarence Brazil, Lubbock attorney, spoke on "How to Conserve Your Estate" before the Post Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon Tuesday in City Hall.

Brazil emphasized that estates are dissipated through income and estate taxes and by mismanagement due to lack of planning and lack of experience.

He declared that estates can be conserved through: (1) taking advantage of income tax breaks offered by the Internal Revenue Service, (2) taking advantage of all estate tax breaks offered by Internal Revenue, and (3) taking advantage of management services offered by bank trust departments.

He explained in some detail the operation of various pension and profit sharing plans permitted by the government, including the Keogh plan for self-employed, and the new IRA plan (Individual Retirement Account) which only came into being on Jan. 1 of this year.

Brazil said the First National Bank here is preparing to offer such plans to its customers.

Brazil said 75 per cent of current wills already are out of date for various reasons and he started out by declaring that 99 per cent of businessmen, farmers and ranchers need CPA advice to aid them in their tax work.

Guilty plea here draws probation

Barry Vale Gorden pleaded guilty in district court here Tuesday to a forgery charge and received a three-year probation by District Judge George Hansard on the sentence of one year in the county jail.

He was ordered to pay $50 court costs and $10 monthly probation fee for the three years.

Dog bounty to be paid again

It's that "doggone time" again!

Starting Monday, Feb. 10, the city of Post will begin paying a bounty for stray dogs picked up by citizens and delivered to the city warehouse between 4:30 and 5 p. m.

A $3 bounty will be paid for each dog 25 pounds and under, and a $6 bounty for dogs over 25 pounds.

Tickets will be issued at the warehouse for the dogs and the tickets are to be taken to city hall to be cashed.

Sports banquet is proposed

The Antelope Booster Club will meet at 6:30 o'clock tonight in the junior high school film room to discuss the possibility of holding an all-sports banquet. Joe McCowen, booster club president, has announced.

Some basketball action also will be shown on film, including 40 feet of the Post Does' game with Slaton here and a like amount of film of one of the Antelopes' games.

Everyone is invited to the meeting who is interested in the high school sports program here, including parents, McCowen emphasized.

Rites today for Mrs. John Herd

Funeral services will be held at 1 p. m. today in Dallas for Mrs. Joyce Herd, widow of John Herd and former Post resident, who was found dead in her Dallas apartment Monday. She was not in poor health and was believed to have suffered a heart attack sometime Saturday. Her friends became concerned when unable to contact her, obtained a key from the maid and found her body in her apartment.

Mrs. Herd moved to Dallas from Post following the death of her husband here in the early 1900's.

The Sparkman Hillcrest Funeral Directors of Dallas are in charge of arrangements.

Garza County Flag Ordered

Half Algerita funding raised, committee told

About one half the necessary funding sought for the preservation of the Algerita Hotel has been raised, Jim Hundley, who heads the citizens committee, told the Garza County Historical Survey Committee Tuesday morning in the bank community room.

Mrs. Gwen Boren announced that April 1 is the deadline for making an application for matching restoration funds for the year 1975.

In reporting on BiCentennial Committee work, Mrs. Ruby Kirkpatrick said a Garza County flag has been adopted, and a flag ordered. The flag will be presented to the county when it arrives in six to eight weeks.

Mrs. Joy Greer reported the BiCentennial Commemorative Coins, sponsored by the Post Chamber of Commerce, should be on sale by May.

George (Scotty) Samson was saluted by those present for observing his 91st birthday. Samson, the oldest member of the committee, presented a butterfly quilt containing the signatures of many old-timers in Garza County for the Garza Museum.

Mrs. Lal Conner was introduced (See Half Algerita, Page 12)

Police sergeant resigns, new patrolman is hired

Post's police force isn't large, but it is almost continually changing.

There were two more changes last week with the force still being four.

Sergeant Jim Howard resigned Monday "for personal reasons" and is moving to Rock. He had been on the force since last May.

Police Chief Jim Trulove, announced Howard's resignation, said a new patrolman had been added.

It is Bobby Dean, 27-year-old man who is the assistant pumper at Piggly Wiggly.

He told The Dispatch for the first time he is keeping both jobs, began his police duties today.

It is Dean's first employment as a law enforcement officer. He plans to begin the Burglary loot recovered

Police and sheriff officers Tuesday morning recovered the assortment of quilts and spreads and men's clothing including one suit, which had been stolen in a Friday night burglary here.

They had been taken in a burglary of Don Noel's trailer behind the Western garage Friday night.

Sheriff J. A. (Jimmy) Hollenbeck, Deputy Jim Pippin, Police Chief Jim Trulove and Officer Franklin found the stolen property at 210 East 10th after obtaining a search warrant for house, Trulove said.

The police chief said no charges have been filed, but the investigation is continuing.

This is Dental Health Week here

Mayor Giles C. McCrary has proclaimed this week to be Dental Health Week in Post.

In his proclamation he urged persons to make individual efforts to learn proper oral health care and hygiene with emphasis on promotion of good dental health habits in children of all ages.

Five new well locations, one completion for Garza

Developments announced last week for Garza County include five new well locations, one of them deep wildcats, and one completion.

C. Stelzer is planning to drill three wells in the East area (Glorieta) field, two northwest of Post.

They are the No. 1-A Clifford Adams, the No. 2-A Clifford Adams, and the No. 3-A Clifford Adams. Each will be drilled to a 1,800 foot depth.

Two more Garza County lateral oil tests, one near Southland and the other near Antlersburg, have been announced. Both are deep tests.

One is the Amoco Production Co. No. 1 Thomas Hughes survey No. 1, four and one-half miles northeast of Southland which will be drilled to 9,800 feet.

Five new well locations, one completion for Garza

It is located 704 feet from north line and 475 feet from west line of Thomas Hughes survey No. 1, abstract 1,119.

The other is Union Oil Company of California No. 14-C.K. Stoker and wife, five miles northwest of Justiceburg which is planned for an 8,200 foot depth.

Its location is 750 feet from the north line and 467 feet from the west line of Section 838, Block 97, H&TC survey.

Shenandoa Oil Corp. has completed a new oil well for Garza County.

It's the No. 3 John F. Lott in the Lazy J L. (lower Spraberry) field, 15 miles southwest of Post.

Rites today for Mrs. John Herd

Funeral services will be held at 1 p. m. today in Dallas for Mrs. Joyce Herd, widow of John Herd and former Post resident, who was found dead in her Dallas apartment Monday. She was not in poor health and was believed to have suffered a heart attack sometime Saturday. Her friends became concerned when unable to contact her, obtained a key from the maid and found her body in her apartment.

Mrs. Herd moved to Dallas from Post following the death of her husband here in the early 1900's.

The Sparkman Hillcrest Funeral Directors of Dallas are in charge of arrangements.

Post fans can see both 'big games' Tuesday night

Thanks to good cooperation from Slaton athletic officials, Post fans will have the opportunity to see both the Post Does play the Slaton Tigerettes at Slaton and the Post Antelopes here against Denver City Tuesday night.

If the two local high school teams come through here Friday night with wins over Frenship, both probably will be playing for second half district crowns Tuesday night.

Post Athletic Director Bobby Davis Wednesday morning arranged with Slaton to move up their girls' high school double-header by two hours with the JV girls teams of the two schools tipping off at 4:30 p. m. at Slaton with the varsity game to follow.

That should put the game between the unbeaten Post and

Slaton varsity teams starting at around 6 p. m. with the second half district crown at stake.

With the Post vs. Denver City JV game starting here at 6:30 p. m., the varsity game between the Antelopes and Mustangs won't get under way until 8 p. m. or a little later.

This will give local cage fans a chance to see the girls game in Slaton and drive home to see the boys against Denver City.

That way both clubs will have the fan support they deserve in their drive for the district titles.

HOLD PROCLAMATION — Kathi Rankin and Mayor Giles C. McCrary hold the mayor's recent proclamation proclaiming February as American Heart Month in Post.

20 to compete Saturday in FHA Sweetheart contest

Randy Josey is the beau, now who will be the sweetheart?

Trailer hit at crossing

Things were a little surprising and shocking for Eustace Weaver from Hobbs, Tuesday afternoon when the low boy implement trailer he was pulling stuck as he was crossing the railroad at 12th street and he was unable to free the trailer before a Santa Fe train passing through Post hit the trailer, yanking it free from the pickup, and completely demolishing the trailer.

The driver was not injured and the pickup was not damaged other than the hitch was pulled off.

Weaver was issued a citation by the city police for failure to yield the right of way to an approaching train.

The engine of the train was damaged slightly and was delayed for about an hour and 15 minutes before it could go on its way.

'75 car tags on sale here

New Texas car license plates for 1975 went on sale in County Tax Collector-Assessor T. H. Tipton's office.

They are different from former plates in that they have been designed to last for five years, or the life of the car if that is less than five years.

Beginning in 1976, car owners will only pay for a tag to fit over the '75 on the plate but it will cost the same price as the whole license plate. Additional annual tags then would be sold for four more years before a new plate is issued.

This is designed to save the state some plate-making money.

The new plates being sold in Garza County this year should be easier for the owners to remember too. The series starts with AYK-175 and continues through AYK-299, according to Tipton.

Is Geothermal power next?

Newspapers are generally mailed a copy of about every kind of report known to man, and one of these was a 15-page Texas Energy Report No. 10 which hit the news desk over last weekend.

This issue reports among other things that San Antonio plans to shred its garbage and use it as a supplementary fuel in a coal-fired municipal power plant being built.

Several pages were devoted to this subject in the report, but what really caught our eye was the possible commercialization of one of the exotic energy sources — geothermal — here in Texas.

Geothermal energy is the employment of the natural heat of the inner earth. This was first used to produce electric power in 1904 in Italy.

The governor's report says the only commercial geothermal power plant in the United States is in The Geysers near San Francisco, which produces 400 MW of electricity.

The report says the National Petroleum Council has estimated that if a concentrated effort is applied to geothermal technology, by 1985 the United States could be producing between 19,000 and 132,000 MW of power. By comparison, the current capacity of all nuclear plants in the United States is about 34,000 MW.

Here's how geothermal energy would work as a power plant energy source. As heat flows toward the surface from the center of the earth it warms rock formations. These hot rocks can be used to generate electricity by drilling wells to circulate water through them which flashes to steam and can be used to drive a turbine. Three areas of our state are thought to have geothermal potential. Two of them are in far west Texas — that portion lying south of the state of New Mexico — and the third is along the Gulf Coast.

Of the three the Gulf Coast area offers the greatest possibility for short range production. This area is thought to be a band of geo-pressured sands which run along the Gulf Coast at depths from 700 to 20,000 feet. Some of the sands with temperatures ranging from 325 to 400 degrees are believed to have large pockets of extremely hot, highly pressured water trapped in them.

When these pockets are punctured, the water rushes to the surface where it flashes into steam that can be used to produce electricity. There is also methane believed dissolved in these hot water pockets which could be extracted and used to supplement existing natural gas supplies.

The Center for Energy Studies at the University of Texas in Austin currently is involved in a three-year, $3,000,000 study which will result in a test of Texas' geothermal potential for electric production.

Preliminary cost estimates of such geothermal-produced electricity in 1980, which include wells, process equipment, power production facility and operating expenses, are about 30 to 35 mills per KWH. This compares with an average cost today of 18 to 25 mills per KWH for electricity generated by gas or fuel oil fired burners.

Initial estimates for these geopressured coastal regions of Texas range from a production capability of 22,000 MW for 20 years to 22,000 MW for 50 years to even higher.

One can't help wondering what the "hot water rights" will be worth on Texas land by 1985, or how much "hot water royalties" will total.

But it's nice to know that while the politicians in Washington bicker over the short range energy crisis, we have scientific people and business folks with real know-how who are working on a variety of long range energy answers for the future. — JC

General's argument weakening

Post's city dads last month postponed their February city council meeting to this coming Monday night to have their legal adviser on hand for the second confrontation with General Telephone over the phone utility's request for a stiff rate boost.

One of the most interesting aspects of the Monday night session will be the utility's reaction to dropping interest rates across the country as business firms cut back expansion and there no longer is such an overpowering demand for borrowed money.

General Telephone's argument, as we remember, was that 7.9 per cent profit is not a reasonable one because it costs over 10 per cent to borrow money.

Well, now the prime is dropping to nine per cent with the likelihood that in the next few months it will go even lower. As it drops,

General Telephone's principal argument for a rate boost gets weaker and weaker.

It will be interesting to see if the utility wishes to comment upon this Monday night.

Since Texas law forbids cities our size to grant utility boosts which would bring a profit of over eight per cent, the city's position appears to be pretty firm.

But the council did grant the utility a second opportunity to be heard.

With Southwestern Bell last week revealing it plans immediate sharp boosts in long-distance phone rates and Attorney-General Hill threatening to make any such move a court case, General's request here is again weakened.

That's because General won't discuss its long distance income from Post while the city council has insisted on the figures before it will act upon the rate request. — JC

Alamo story has moral

You probably read in the papers or heard on the TV news last week about "the new rich" Arab sheik who wrote a lawyer in Houston and asked him to buy the Alamo for his son, who had trained as a flying cadet at San Antonio.

One's first reaction is who the devil does this dumb so and so think he is trying to buy with petro-dollars probably the most historic shrine in Texas.

But then . . .

Remember the best-seller, "The Ugly American."

It was about a super-rich American — we can't remember if he was a Texan — who flaunted his wealth in other nations and stirred contempt and hate for all Americans regardless of our good intentions.

Well, this little Alamo story has the shoe on the other foot. Maybe we can learn a lesson here. — JC

Tex Watson talks about The Cost of Natural Gas

It's logical that Pioneer customers should ask why they are paying more for the energy they use in their homes. We are eager to have them understand why.

There is a lot of natural gas in West Texas, but we still must buy the gas in competition with other gas users across the country. To assure the people of West Texas that they will have the gas they need, now and in the future, we must pay the going price for new gas. Not only gas for our homes is involved, but most people's jobs depend on gas to run business and industry.

The gas is available, but we must pay the going price to get it. That price is reflected on your gas bill as a "cost of gas adjustment." I'm sure you don't like it. Neither do I. But I'm sure you agree that we must have the gas to run the homes and businesses of West Texas.

All energy will cost more in the future, but be assured that the Natural Energy Trust will still be the way to go.

Your bank is trust and integrity . . . honor and strength. Your bank is a dealer in dreams. Your bank helps farmers plant crops, people repair homes, our town to grow, expand and make progress.

Your bank helps people buy cars, take vacations, start businesses, remodel homes, straighten little Susie's teeth and send Junior to Texas Tech.

Your bank is an idea exchange, a merchant of progress. It is also romantic. Little old ladies keep fading wedding pictures in our safety deposit vaults . . . and parents keep birth certificates here for safety . . . and heirlooms . . . and deeds and marriage licenses and honorable discharges.

Your bank is filled with the drama of life . . . A proud father opens a $1 savings account for a new child . . . A little boy deposits $2.50 earned mowing lawns . . . A bashful lad withdraws $5 to buy a corsage for his best girl.

Your bank also sails the seven seas and never leaves home. The First National Bank cashes a check from a son . . . and sells a cashier's check for a purchase made in another country . . . and sells a traveler's check that will be cashed in Bombay, India.

Your bank is people. We have told you a little here about what your bank is, but we are going to take a series of Dispatch ads to tell you about our people. Watch for them.

This then is your bank . . . many things to many people . . . the financial heartbeat of the community . . . a friend and partner to all.

The Barnum Springs Home Demonstration Club met January 23, in the home of Mrs. Alma Daniels with Mrs. Mae McMahon as hostess. The program was presented by Mrs. Lil Conner, who showed slides of many findings at the burial site of an Indian woman of the Comanche tribe. These findings were displayed and were of great interest to all who attended. Particularly of interest was her explanation of the care one must take in sifting the gravel and soil at a finding so that not even the smallest trade bead would be lost. Trade beads are made in other countries, the club was told.

Those present for the meeting were Elwanda Bradbury, Maxine Marks, June Kiker, a new member, Della Davis, Alma Daniels, and Mrs. Mae McMahon. Guests present for the meeting were Mrs. Lil Conner and Brittany Cockrell.

Potluck

Did I ever tell you about the time I was attacked by a drunken Indian in the La Fonda Hotel in Taos, New Mexico? It was one of the Red Man's finest hours.

Earl, the kids and I had been shopping around the Plaza when I decided to duck into the La Fonda to find a bathroom. I couldn't find a bathroom. I also couldn't find any people to ask where the bathroom was.

The desk was deserted and there was no one in the dim lobby, either, or so I thought. Just as I was saying to myself, "Self, you have certainly picked a lively spot," there was a slight shuffling noise behind me. I turned and there, wrapped in a baby-blue and white blanket from Woolworth stood the fiercest, most hawk-nosed Indian I'd ever seen.

"You have purty hair," he said.

I did not care much for that comment because I had read that in their scalping prime, most Indians had preferred redheads, blondes and brunettes in that order. "Thank you, sir," I replied. "Can you tell me where the bathroom is?"

"I think that (hic) I am in love with you, White Woman," he said.

Whoops. It was time to call in the cavalry. "Help," I called meekly.

"I KNOW (hic) that I am in love with you, White Woman," he said. Where was John Wayne? Where, even, was the damn desk clerk? "HELP," I roared.

At that point, this nutty Indian flat planted one on me. There was nothing to do but faint with the right and let him have it with a left uppercut that started at my knees and ended on his chin.

N. O. W. would have been proud of me. That Indian tumbled ten feet until he hit the back of a couch and fell over it forwards. I had him now. I ran in front of the couch and everytime he tried to get up, I gave him a push, and back he'd go.

"You ought to be ASHAMED of yourself," I said, "picking on small, defenseless women. You are a DISCREDIT to your race," etc., etc., etc.

"Don't hurt me any more, lady," he pleaded.

After a ten minute lecture, I finally took pity on the poor guy. The desk clerk had returned, though hardly in the nick of time, and wanted to throw our captive in jail. Compassion prevailed, however, when we heard his sad story of no money, no relatives, and two white guys dragging him into a bar and forcing more firewater down his throat than he could handle.

The clerk and I carried him out the front door and loaded him in the back seat of a taxi. "How much to the nearest reservation?" we asked the cabbie. "$1.35," he replied.

We gave the Indian $2.00 and waved good-bye. Later, as I was telling the story to my family over tacos across the way, I happened to glance out the window and spot the same Indian making a beeline toward a cute little blonde who was just entering the La Fonda.

Even from that distance, I could have sworn that his eyes were clearer and his gait was steadier than they had been five minutes before. New Indian version of the old shell game? I could only hope that the lady had a good right cross, a better lecture, and no money whatsoever.

Mrs. Jack Kirkpatrick presents book review

The Women's Culture club met Jan. 22 in the Women's club house with Mrs. Lee Davis, Sr., and Mrs. J. W. Potts serving as hostesses.

After the welcome, Mrs. D. C. Williams, president, introduced Mrs. Jack Kirkpatrick, who brought a most interesting book review.

The book, entitled "The Hiding Place" by Corrie Ten Boom, was presented in the first person, giving one the feeling of sharing the experiences of Corrie and her sister Betsy, as they were sent from one prison camp to another. Although their hardships were heart breaking one felt great admiration and compassion for their courage and faith. Mrs. Kirkpatrick, in her own unique way, made Betsy a beautiful person.

Cindy Terry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Terry, played several piano selections.

During the social hour refreshments were served to Meses. Jack Burreas, Bob Dickson, I. L. Duckworth, J. H. Haire, Willard Kirkpatrick, M. J. Malouf, J. F. Storie, R. L. Marks, George Tracy, Williams, Davis and Potts. Guests present were: Mrs. Jack Kirkpatrick, Joe Callis, Margie Dietrich, Metzger, Jane Terry, Cindy Terry, H. C. Dunn, J. E. Parker, Lee Davis, Jr., of Post and Meses. Edwin Merriman, Wright Kerr and Mary Ingram all of Lubbock.

The next meeting will be Feb. 12 at the club house with Mrs. Jack Burreas serving as hostess.

VISITS HERE

Lopes aiming to win last three and clinch crown

Page 8 The Post (Tex.) Dispatch Thursday, Feb. 6, 1975

Does are out to win 2nd half at Slaton

Coach John Morrow's Does, pointing to their Tuesday night game at Slaton for the second half title, cruised past Tahoka at Tahoka Tuesday night, 82 to 62 for their third straight second half district win.

Lopes go cold shooting, lose to Eagles 48 to 42

Somebody put a lid over the basket the Post Antelopes were shooting at, at Roosevelt Friday night and Coach John Alexander's club suffered their first loss of district play with the Eagles winning 48 to 42.

The defeat dropped the locals out of the second half 5AA lead. The Lopes hit only 26 per cent from the free throw line and 27 per cent from the field in their coldest shooting night of the season. Nobody wins on that kind of performance.

Roosevelt jumped far in front in the first period, finishing the eight minutes of action with a 14 to 5 lead. Post rallied in the second to outthrust the Eagles and close to within 20 to 24 at the intermission.

After a scrambling third period it was 35 to 34 for Roosevelt. In the fourth the Eagles pulled away with a 13 to 8 spurt.

7th grade boys beat Tahoka 23-8

Coach Don Black's seventh grade boys team whipped Tahoka here Monday night, 23 to 8, with Scott Walker tallying 19 of Post's 23 points.

The locals led all the way. The team is 4-4 in district play with only two left, both at home. The first is against Roosevelt Monday night.

If exercise is so great, how come professional athletes are called old age at 35.

Bobby Davis helps to plan coaching clinic

Steve Sloan, Texas Tech's new head football coach, will make a get-acquainted lecture to high school coaches of this region Saturday during the all-day Regional Coaching Clinic at West Texas State University in Canyon.

Bobby Davis, Post athletic director, is one of the three Region I directors of the Texas High School Coaches Association in charge of planning and staging the event. The other two are Jim Warren of Lockney and James Harris of Tascosa.

Football lectures during the clinic include those on Slot I final quarter when the Does stuffed in 31 points in a whirlwind finish to pull well away from Tahoka after leading their opponents throughout the game.

It was 18 to 14 for Post at the end of the first, 35 to 27 at the intermission, and 51 to 42 at the end of the third. Then zap — the Does fired up and made a runaway of it in the fourth, outscoring Tahoka 31 to 9.

Joni Hays had 20 points for Post, Karen Williams, 15, Jenda Gilmore four, and Sandy Bullard two.

Coach Morrow points out that Frenship here Friday night will be a good test as the Does won only 67 to 62 in the first meeting between the two teams.

As for the Slaton closeout on Tuesday night, Morrow says he will have no trouble getting the girls fired up for that one.

Slaton won the first meeting of the two teams by coming from behind on a long fielder with four seconds to play to win by a single point and thus clinch the first half district title.

If the Does can bounce back and take the second meeting on the Tigerettes home floor, Post will win the second half crown and the two clubs will meet in a district playoff.

That is, providing of course, both teams win their fourth starts Friday night.

Coach Morrow sees the Slaton game as a tossup with the two clubs an even match.

Post freshmen boys win in Crosbyton tournament

Jim Hays, 6-1 post man who splits time with Ronnie Bratcher on the post for the Post freshmen cagers, was named the most valuable player of the four-team Crosbyton freshman tournament Saturday as Coach Lane Tannehill's fresh boys won the journey with a 63-46 victory over Crosbyton in the finals.

Randy Baker along with Hays was named to the all-tournament team.

"Hays had a good tournament," Coach Tannehill said. Hays scored 22 points in the two games, his best output of the season with 15 of them coming in the final.

option at Palo Duro by Doug James of Palo Duro. District 3-AAAA coach of the year; practice organization by Greg Sherwood of Spearman, High Plains Coach of the year; and two-platoon system at Plainview by George Kirk of Plainview. District 4-AAAA coach of the year.

Basketball lectures will include: West Texas defense by Ron Ekker, WTSU head basketball coach; and basketball philosophy at Morton by Ted Whillock, coach of the highly successful Morton high cage program.

Victory at Tahoka gets club back in high gear

After rallying in the second half to defeat the Tahoka Bulldogs Tuesday night, 52 to 46, Coach John Alexander's Post Antelopes are shooting to win their last three games and clinch the District 5AA basketball championship.

The Lopes took their first district loss at Roosevelt last Friday night, but the triumph at Tahoka put them into a three-way tie at 2-1 with Denver City and Cooper for the second half lead.

The Lopes face Frenship here Friday night and Denver City here on Tuesday night and then wait a week to close on the following Tuesday night at Slaton.

Even if some other team would tie Post for the second half title, the Antelopes would take the championship by virtue of also winning the first half providing they win their remaining games. In other words if a team wins the first half outright and ties for the second half title, no playoff is necessary under league rules. They are the champs.

The Lopes got off to a terrible start at Tahoka Tuesday night. "They were just throwing the ball away," Coach Alexander said, adding that the team turned the ball over 21 times in the first two periods.

Tahoka jumped into a 14-to-10 first period lead and pulled away to a 10-point advantage at 25 to 15 at the halftime intermission.

Post came out in the second half, changing their defense to a 1-3-1 trapping type, and began to take command.

Midway in the quarter with the score knotted at 29 all, Coach Alexander came off the bench to question a foul call against Mike Waldrip for excessive use of elbows in clearing the backboard and the coach was whistled for a technical.

This appeared to fire up the Antelopes who from then on were in complete command of the game at both ends of the court. By the end of the quarter, Post had a 33 to 31 lead. In the last eight minutes, they stuffed in 19 more while Tahoka was held to only 15 points for the entire second half.

"We came out for the second half and quit running, taking the ball down and working for the good shots," Coach Alexander said.

The change in offensive tactics, as well as the new defense, paid off as Post hit 13 of 24 field shots for a 54 per cent accuracy in the second half, as compared to a 25 per cent accuracy on first half shots.

Mike Shepherd led the shooters with 16 points as four of the starters finished in double figures. Bryan Davis had 14 points, Tony Conner 12, and Mike Waldrip 10.

The Lopes controlled the boards all night with Conner taking down 14 rebounds, Davis 13, and Waldrip 11.

Although Frenship currently is in the second half cellar with no victories, Coach Alexander points out they have played a strong game against almost everybody this season.

"They are a strong physical team with good size," Alexander points out and reminds local fans that the Lopes won a 57-52 victory at Frenship after trailing by four with four minutes to play in the first meeting of the two teams.

Then the Denver City game Tuesday night. That probably will be for the second half marbles.

Coach Alexander asked The Dispatch on behalf of the team to thank the fans for their strong support in the recent two road games. "It was fantastic," Alexander said. "We had more fans at each game than either Roosevelt or Tahoka on their home floors."

The coach said he hoped fans would continue to back the Lopes for the finish drive.

"We need the last three and that fan support means so much," Alexander said.

Freshman girls defeat Tahoka

Coach John Morrow's freshman girls defeated Tahoka 44 to 36 at Tahoka Monday night. Nancy Clary was high point scorer for Post with 19 points, followed by Debbie Wyatt with 14 and Karla Kennedy with 11. They will play Roosevelt next Monday night at Roosevelt.

JV girls trounced at Tahoka, 48 to 32

The Post JV girls were defeated 48 to 32 by the Tahoka JV girls at Tahoka in the Tuesday night preliminary.

Tahoka led all the way, 12 to 4 at the quarter, 22 to 9 at the half, and 39 to 13 at the end of the third before putting in the subs.

Donna Ammons and Brenda Weaver each scored 12 for Post.

The Career of a Coach— Desired: wired; hired; inspired; admired; tired; mired; fired.

Post Does whip Roosevelt as King, Hays score big Coach John Morrow's Post Does took control of the game in the second period Friday night to defeat the Roosevelt girls 75 to 49 at Roosevelt.

It was their second win of the second half in district play.

Roosevelt held a slim 17 to 16 lead at the end of the first period, but the Does bolted to a 38 to 31 halftime lead and continued to pull away in the final two quarters, leading 55 to 39 at the end of the third.

Mel King and Joni Hays had big shooting nights for the Does.

Mel scored 12 fielders and 15 out of 17 charities for 35 points. Joni had her best night of the season with 15 fielders and one free throw for 31.

Others scoring for Post were Jenda Gilmore with 10, Karen Williams, Sandy Bullard and Patricia Bilberry with each.

Kay Harrison scored 12 for Roosevelt and Debbie Tramm 15.

JV boys drop game at Roosevelt 38-30

The Post JV boys were blanked in the first period Roosevelt Friday night, although they rallied to lead 22 to 22 at the end of the period, Roosevelt rallied in the final quarter to score a 38 to 30 victory.

Jimmy Dorland led the attack with 10 points.

PHS photography class has busy year

Photography class of Post High School has had three new students enrolled. They are: Jackie Clark, Charlie Clanton, and Jack McDonald. The class is working on the junior year project, along with daily assignments. The class is taking pictures in the school and in the community. One duty of this class is to develop candid pictures for the high school and the community. The class has a lot of cameras and is developing their own.

Mr. George Pierce's photography class, a new addition to the classes at Post High School this year, has been busy all year taking pictures of the various school activities. The photography class's present activity is organizing the Post Junior High Annual. Mr. Pierce said, "Cathy Howell is working very hard in heading up the job of making the Junior High Annual." The reason the photography class is undertaking this project is to raise enough money to pay for a color enlarger, so that next year they will be able to develop color pictures instead of the conventional black and white.

Mr. Pierce also said that three students are working on activities outside of the classroom. Ricky Redman has been taking pictures of the V.O.E. girls at their places of employment. Also, Lorry Chapman and Jimmy Pierce took pictures of the Junior Class play that was presented last Saturday night. All three students received a grade for their work.

Senior Happenings

The Senior class is once again very active! Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday mornings of last week the seniors had tryouts for the play "Be Happy, Go Wacky." There was a very good turnout for tryouts and casting of the parts should be announced this week.

Junior play great! Can seniors top it?

The Junior Class play, "Gold In the Hills, or The Dead Sister's Secret," is now past history. An outstanding play was enjoyed by a large crowd. The students and the director, Miss Dianne Lewallen, should be congratulated on the success of the play. No one knows how much hard work goes into presenting a play except the people involved.

Some of the characters were outstanding and helped to make the play the success that it was. Bryan Davis may decide to go to Hollywood instead of going to pro football. Nan Hair and David McBride may be seen as guest singers at the Hayloft.

Church honors its teachers

Forty-one guests were present Tuesday evening, Jan. 28, at the Post Church of Christ for the annual teachers appreciation banquet held to honor those who have taught through the year and to thank those interested in the education development of the church.

Guest speaker for the evening was Cecil Hutson of Lamesa, who encouraged the group not to let up in their interest of their work for the church. One interesting presentation made during the evening was when each teacher was presented "a shiny red apple" in appreciation for the efforts and hard work that goes into each lesson prepared, through the year.

Lunch Menus

The Post schools lunchroom menus for the following week are as follows:
Monday: Hot dogs with chili, buttered corn, sweet potatoes, sliced peaches, home made buns, half pint milk, mustard and chopped onions.
Tuesday: Lasagna, blackeyed peas, lettuce salad, coconut pudding, cornbread, half pint milk and orange juice.
Wednesday: Turkey and dressing, gravy, green beans, whipped potatoes, applesauce, hot rolls, and half pint milk.
Thursday: Pinto beans, cabbage slaw, mixed greens, jello with fruit, cornbread, half pint milk and orange juice.
Friday: Fish sticks, whole potatoes with cheese sauce, sweet peas, valentine cookies, biscuits, half pint milk and catsup.

The church was organized on Feb. 10, 1965, with 107 charter members. The church will be trying for a record attendance in Sunday School and at the church training.

miles of highways in Bailey, Castro, Crosby, Garza, Hockley, Lamb and Yoakum Counties.

TEXAS TALK
By FRED MYERS

This is the first week of TEXAS TALK and it seems appropriate to take this opportunity to explain a little about the column since now you'll be able to read it here every week.

Through this column, we'll take a look at agriculture. Hopefully, there will be some things you didn't know at all, others you thought you knew but weren't quite sure about and without a doubt there will be observations and definitions some readers know a whole lot more about than the writer.

One thing is guaranteed... many readers will find something new every week... and to keep things even more interesting you will find an occasional hint about the easy way to solve a problem you may be having around the house or on the farm or ranch. Comments on the column will be appreciated. Anybody's... anytime.

See you here next week when we get down to serious TEXAS TALK.

 from Post to Lubbock where he set up his trucking headquarters at 702 Texas Avenue and rented a little warehouse space. Despite the depression, Dalby's business continued to grow after the move. In late 1934, he purchased a freight line from Lubbock to Floydada and in 1937 he bought out local freight lines to Hale Center and Abenaith which ran both to Lubbock and Amarillo. In 1936, he purchased the truck line from Lubbock to Stamford through Spar and in 1937 bought a half interest in the Lubbock to El Paso line. In 1938 he established the Amarillo to Denver Service and leased the Clovis line and in 1940 purchased the Cecil White lines to Hobbs and merged the White, Lubbock to El Paso and his own Dalby line into Dalby Motor Freight Lines, Inc., with himself as president. Needing more warehouse space and quarters, the Dalby firm moved to a modern home at 2604 Texas Avenue where on two acres of ground were developed 6,000 square feet of warehouse space and a like amount for repair shops for the trucks. By 1941 when World War II came along, the Dalby Motor Freight Lines was considered one of the outstanding regional motor freight services in the nation and he was one of the country's youngest operators. At that time he was operating 26 separate schedules out of Lubbock day and night. His firm had 23 offices scattered over the region, owned seven of its terminals and employed 196 persons. When the second world war arrived, Dalby sold his motor freight line and entered the army transportation corps as a commissioned officer in 1942 to help keep the trucks rolling as this nation turned to the manufacture of all kinds of weapons and war supplies.

By the time the war ended in Europe, he was transportation officer in Denver in charge of transportation over a several state region. He was discharged as a captain in 1944 to civilian status to make a survey of the Transportation Corp's rolling stock across the nation in preparation for the proposed invasion of Japan. He did this on civilian status so he could work with colonels and generals and not be so badly "nut-ranked" had he continued as a captain. When World War II ended, Dalby returned to Lubbock and repurchased what was left of his former company which had gone into bankruptcy in his absence. In 1947, he took his assets and founded T. I. M. E., the motor freight line which under his management became the nation's first transcontinental freight line and eventually grew into the nation's fifth largest. Through a series of mergers and acquisitions, he guided its development for 26 years into a corporation with a multi-million annual revenues and nationwide service.

It's headquarters remained in Lubbock where the Dalbys had their home. Only a year ago did Dalby retire as chairman of the board of the big freight line. It was then T. I. M. E. D. C., the D. C. standing for Denver to Chicago express. Dalby was born in Abilene Sept. 24, 1906. He formerly was a director of the First National Bank here and later became a director of Lubbock's First National Bank. A member of the First Presbyterian Church of Lubbock, he also was a 32nd degree Mason and a Shriner during his career and was one of the early members of the West Texas Museum Association. Survivors, besides his wife, include his one son, County Judge Giles W. Dalby of Post, and a sister, Mrs. Allen (Jewell) Benson of Lubbock. The funeral services Friday were conducted by the Rev. Robert Nicholson, church pastor, with entombment following in Resthaven Mausoleum under the direction of the Rix Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Jim Milam,

Fresh girls drop a pair

The Post freshman girls team lost a pair in the Crosbyton freshman cage tournament last weekend, bowing to Lockney 45 to 36 in the first round and going down before Crosbyton, 37 to 28 in the consolation. Debbie Wyatt, who led the locals in scoring both games with 13 points against Lockney and 11 against Crosbyton, was named to the all-tournament team. In the opening loss to Lockney, Karla Kennedy scored 12 points, Nancy Clary seven, and Dana Giddens the other two.
