

Lake up 11 feet, but stuck gate brings water emergency to Post

Divers fly in to help

Although the White River Lake has risen a dramatic 11 feet since Sunday to a new all-time high, Post for only the second time since it switched over to a lake water supply in the mid-60's was threatened yesterday with an emergency water shortage.

The other three water district cities — Crosbyton, Ralls, and Spur — all were cut off White River supply lines and reverted to standby water wells.

Oil companies here have been cut off since Monday from getting water for waterflooding purposes and water use at Postex Plant was strictly curtailed by Wednesday morning.

The problem, as Al O'Brien explained it to The Dispatch at noon Wednesday, that all the new water pouring into the lake had stirred up the mud on the lake bottom.

When filtration plant employees attempted to close the gate on the intake from the bottom of the lake the gate stuck and the mud coming in is so great that chemicals used in the filtration plant cannot take enough out for human consumption of the water.

O'Brien had two divers flying in to the Post city-county airport at 1 p. m. Wednesday to dive and attempt to close the stuck gate.

The water district manager said the intake to the filtration plant was designed with two other intakes at two 20-foot intervals above the bottom for use in case of just such muddy conditions.

If the bottom gate can be closed, the filtration plant can resume normal operation through the higher gates only.

Each of the four member cities have had a fire truck at the lake since 6 p. m. Tuesday night pumping clear water from the top of the lake into the filtration plant through 2½-inch hoses.

During the period of the "stuck gate emergency" this has been all the water the plant could process. All of it was coming to Post.

Mayor Giles C. McCrary, who first alerted The Dispatch to the water emergency Wednesday morning, said the water supply here early Wednesday morning got down to a mere 200,000 gallons, but by 11 a. m. the reserve tank supply had climbed back to 360,000 gallons.

He said if the supply started to drop Wednesday afternoon the pressure would be cut drastically to discourage usage and then if necessary some method of emergency water rationing would be instituted.

Thunderstorm downpours at Plainview and elsewhere in the lake's watershed has sent enough water pouring into the lake to raise the lake level 11 feet from Sunday through Wednesday morning.

The lake has never been this full before.

Only in mid-summer of last year was the morning glory, or concrete lake overflow pipe, raised three and one-half feet at the consent of the Texas Water board.

This would increase the size of White River Lake when full from 36,000 to 48,000 acre feet approximately.

Only this week with the June downpours has the lake begun to fill up for the first time since the lake's morning glory was raised.

It had only a foot to go yesterday before it would be full for the first time in its enlarged size. If the water keeps coming in then it will flow over the morning glory (See Water Crisis, Page 12)

Committee named to save Algerita from demolition

A five-man committee was named yesterday by the Garza County Historical Survey Committee to find ways and means to make the old Algerita hotel "safe" so it can be preserved and eventually restored to some useful purpose instead of being demolished by the City of Post.

Committee members are David Newby, chairman, Ed Bruton, Dr. William C. Wilson, Jim Cornish, and George (Scotty) Samson.

Gwen Boren, in announcing the appointment of the committee said that this committee would be the "phase 1 committee" with the task of removing the historic old building from the fire and health hazard category.

She said other committees will study eventual uses for the old stone structure and its more expensive restoration and conversion to some present-day purpose.

Naming of the committee came after a five-woman delegation held a near-hour's discussion with the city council Monday night and won the council's approval to delay demolition of the hotel building, completed in July of 1908, for a reasonable period of time to permit the committee to come up with a feasibility report on a suitable course of action and cost estimate.

(The storm failed to reach the city.)

Chief Trulove explained he was so short-handed after dismissing Patrolman Donald Franklin May 28, that he had been forced to call back to duty Larry Payne who was attending the SPAG police academy training in Levelland.

The chief reported that he had recently employed Jim Howard, a veteran police officer of the Lubbock Police Department and Lubbock County Sheriff's Department, as a patrolman, and more recently has added Richard Keen, a Texas Tech University graduate law student, also as a patrolman.

Howard, according to Trulove, is a widower with two small children who plans to move his mobile home to Post within the next week or so.

The chief said Keen is a former patrolman from the Shallowater Police Department with approximately five months experience. His bachelor's degree in pre-law studies qualifies Keen for certification. Keen is

Burglary alarm proves worth

Two Post young men were apprehended by Police Patrolman Larry Payne inside Harmon's Hamburger Hut shortly after midnight Saturday morning after that business firm's burglar alarm went off.

Payne went to investigate the tripping of the burglar alarm and found Randy Mason and A. D. Taylor inside the building.

Both have been charged with burglary.

Deputy Sheriff Jim Pippin assisted Payne in the burglary probe.

$500 to $600 TAKEN AT WHITE'S

Sledgehammer used to break into store here

Burglars took a sledgehammer and banged their way through a rear wall and into the White Auto Store here sometime over the weekend.

They escaped with merchandise and cash loot totaling between $500 and $600.

Police Chief Jim B. Trulove told The Dispatch yesterday that "a suspect is under investigation" in the case.

He said the sledgehammer was used to batter an entrance through the rear east wall of the store's service department.

27, married, the father of one child, and at the present time resides in Lubbock.

The council to date has authorized Trulove to hire a four-man department including himself, but under the former chief had authorized a five-man force with four patrolmen.

The police chief said his men were now working nine hour shifts.

Councilmen in their discussion of Trulove's request pointed out that it will be difficult to obtain and hold competent police personnel unless both salaries paid and hours worked are competitive with those of other law enforcement agencies in the area.

In presenting his uniform allowance proposal, Trulove said the city presently "owns" the uniforms which had been purchased for other officers but that they "did not fit" any present members of the force.

He suggested a $20 monthly clothing allowance with each officer authorized to order uniforms and equipment not to exceed a cost equal to his net take-home pay for a half month. He would reimburse the city for the cost of uniforms and equipment by endorsing back his uniform allowance check each month.

Then, Trulove pointed out, if a man resigned or was dismissed, whatever pay he had coming would be sufficient to cover any charges still owed on uniforms and equipment.

The uniforms and equipment would belong to the individual (See City Council, Page 12)

Junior high report cards are ready

Junior high students can pick up their report cards at the junior high office, Principal Billy Hahn told The Dispatch yesterday. The computer finally has them ready.

Students will find the office open from 9 a. m. to noon and 1:30 to 3 p. m. weekdays.

McBride rites are conducted here Monday

Funeral services for Theibert A. McBride, 58, former Graham community farmer who was a maintenance employee of the Texas Highway Department here, were conducted at 2:30 p. m. Monday in the First United Methodist Church.

McBride died Saturday in Garza Memorial Hospital following an apparent heart attack.

Born March 13, 1916 in Coleman County, McBride had been a resident of Post and Garza County since 1920.

He was married to Miss Alma Reese in Lubbock Feb. 12, 1938. McBride farmed in the Graham area until 1968 when he moved into Post and became an employee of the highway department. The McBride home is at 123 South Ave. Q.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Alma McBride; one daughter, Mrs. Claud Cranford of Texarkana, Tex.; two sons, Auvy Lee McBride of Brownfield and David of the home; his mother, Mrs. L. E. McBride of Post; six grandchildren; two sisters, Misses Yearl and Vada McBride of Post; and a brother, Arvel McBride of Alvarado. (See McBride Rites, Page 12)

Storms stop water pumps

The power was off to the big pumps at White River Lake for two and one-half hours Monday night, but no serious water problems resulted.

The Dickens County REA provides the water district with its power and it was knocked out by a storm which meant that no water could be pumped to Post, Ralls, Crosbyton and Spur for that period.

The power loss came around 9 p. m. and the pumps did not resume functioning until shortly before midnight.

City officials in all four towns were alerted to institute water conservation measures to preserve water pressure in case of fire.

Condition of Jerry Tyler 'satisfactory'

The condition of Jerry Tyler, who suffered a broken neck May 27 in a dune buggy accident at White River Lake, was reported yesterday in Methodist Hospital at Lubbock to be satisfactory by his attending physician.

The Post high senior who was to have graduated with honors at commencement here that night has been removed from intensive care and is in Room 425.

Lee Cruse drowned in pool at class party

Lee Cruse, 16, son of Mrs. Henrietta Cruse, was drowned about 8:15 p. m. Wednesday, May 29, at the city-county swimming pool while on a sophomore class party with about 30 of his classmates and faculty sponsors, Jay Wilson and Don Black.

Coach Wilson told The Dispatch other students said they saw Cruse jump off the side of the swimming pool into the water at the deep end.

When they noticed he did not come up, Pool manager Mike

Petty dove down and brought Cruse up. He was assisted by Dale Odum.

Artificial respiration was immediately administered to the youth and was continued until the ambulance arrived and during the ambulance ride to Garza Memorial Hospital but to no avail.

An autopsy was conducted in Lubbock at the request of the attending physician and Justice of the Peace Racy Robinson, but the autopsy report had not (See Lee Cruse, Page 12)

Parts of five fingers lost

Florencio Lopez, 42, of Post, floor hand for the Rocker A Well Service, lost parts of five fingers on his two hands when they were mashed in an oil rig accident at a well location three miles south of Post Friday morning.

He had to have portions of two fingers on one hand and three on the other amputated at Garza Memorial Hospital here as a result of his injuries.

Lopez is expected to be off the job for approximately 60 days. He was still in the hospital Wednesday morning.

New equipment for police here

The Post Police Department has been awarded a technical grant of approximately $1,000 worth of investigative equipment.

Police Chief Jim B. Trulove told The Dispatch that the criminal justice council notified the police department Tuesday of approval of the grant.

The equipment, requested by Trulove, will be picked up by the law enforcement agency in Lubbock.

Bike rodeo winners named

Division winners in the Bicycle Rodeo, sponsored by the El Tejas Club here last Thursday afternoon, were Rhonda Storie and Jeff Lamb in the Pee Wee division, ages 5-8, and Karron Hays and Joel Dobson of the Juniors, ages 9-11.

The four — a boy and a girl in each division — were the top point-getters in the five-event program which comprised the rodeo competition.

The events included balancing at slow speed, steering, circle riding, maneuvering, and braking.

There also were winners for each age division. These included Sean Waters, age 5; Marcie Sneed, 6; Rodney Hays, 7; Renee Mock, 7; Stephen Gandy, 9; Mark Young, 10; and Gerald Seals, 11.

Since there were no eight-year-old entrants, that age-group's prize was awarded to the second high scorer among the seven-year-olds.

Other entrants included Kim Carlisle, Deborah Ann Martinez, Sherrie Lynn Young, Wade Giddens, Michael Young, Vicki Teaff, John Connel, Lynn Courtney, and Gregg Haire.

Each participating youngster was given a certificate of award for participation in the program and a coupon worth a (See Bike Rodeo, Page 12)

Do YOU want to save Algerita?

Saving of the original 30-room Algerita hotel, opened by C. W. Post here in July of 1908, with the possibility of its later restoration and future use came up for 11th hour consideration by the city council Monday night.

A delegation from the Garza County Historical Survey Committee appeared before city officials and urged that demolition of the old stone structure be spared.

Several suggestions were made during the nearly hour-long discussion, but no conclusions were reached as to how the historic old building, now only a crumbling shell of its former grandeur, can be "saved."

The problems are two-fold: money and time. It will take considerable money just to make the building "safe" to its neighbors and remove it from the health and fire hazard category. It would require more — several times as much — to rebuild the interior for any useful purpose.

As to time, the building today is dangerous with its back stone wall cracking and giving signs of collapse, its roof gone, its basement filling with water and refuse, and its floors so rickety that persons have "fallen through them."

The time element is that it can for no extended period of time be left in its present dangerous condition in the middle of Post's business district without real risk involved.

In the period of the last several years, when the old hotel has been in the hands of local taxing units following foreclosure for unpaid taxes, there has been no organized effort to "save" the landmark.

The only real spark of hope given those who want it preserved came last December when Texas Tech architectural students proposed it be restored and converted into a restaurant and museum, the side street be closed to establish a mall, and the Algerita become one of the focal points of a downtown face-lifting to give the business area a new and relaxed western appearance.

That was to be accomplished by federal funding, but as yet Congress has not seen fit to make such funding again available. As Mayor Giles McCrary explained Monday night, the preparation for such a loan request would require considerable planning expense which the city does not feel it should undertake before at least the funds are voted in Washington.

Dr. William C. Wilson brought up an interesting point in the Monday night discussion. He asked how much local citizens want the historic hotel restored — enough to contribute to that restoration.

He said it has become almost our habit to turn to Washington and the federal government for money to fund all kinds of projects. He wondered if Post citizens want to "save" the hotel enough to put up the required funds.

The Dispatch thinks Dr. Wilson is on the right track there. Most historic restoration which has been done in America comes through the organized efforts of those folks who want such restorations hard enough to work together and contribute together for them.

Do we? The only way to find the answer to that question is to begin.

Mayor McCrary proposed Monday night to the historical survey committee that it undertake the planning of a project to "save the Algerita." He pointed out that the city council is not unmindful of Post's historic past and would be willing to go along with a really workable restoration plan which could be adequately financed and enable the city to carry out its responsibility of getting the old hotel structure out of the community danger category.

There is not a lot of time. Some prompt action and some prompt public response is in order if a constructive program for the Algerita is to prevent its demolition.

If you have any workable ideas or funds to contribute to the cause we would suggest you contact members of the historic survey committee who have provided the 11th hour objection to destruction of the hotel and have been asked to provide the city council with a workable solution to this dilemma. — JC

Lots of tomorrows ahead

Saturday marked the beginning of our 18th year of publication of The Post Dispatch and this span of operation, while not any remarkable record for duration, at least should indicate that we are here to stay.

We celebrated by being "out of town" in Denver, Colo., watching our daughter, Susan, receive her master's degree at Denver University.

In many past years when June 1 rolled around, we would editorialize on the beginning of a new "publication year" here at The Dispatch with this journalistic promise or that.

This time, we don't think we need to promise our readers anything. We feel sure you know what to expect when you subscribe — a good "country weekly" that tries to fairly report the local news front.

Over the years, we have had but two objectives in newspapering here — to give you readers the best newspaper we could put together, and to stand up and fight for the causes we believed would be good for Post.

We sincerely believe that putting out a good newspaper in a good small town is a rich reward for any newspaperman and a satisfying life goal in itself.

In this regard, we have been "twice blessed" with the support of two men who have the same keen desire for excellence for The Dispatch and have been willing to work hard to achieve it — Editor Charlie Didway, who is on a well-deserved vacation this week, and Don (Corky) Ammons, our backshop foreman. Both have been with us for all 17 years.

Publishing The Dispatch has not only been "a fun job" for us, but a "young job" for us as well. It does give one a youthful outlook — one rooted to today, and tomorrow, not yesterday.

There have been good days and bad, but looking back over those 17 busy years we conclude that at least the "newspaper parts" of all the days have been good.

Thus we have taken a nine paragraph peek into the past. We end this anniversary effort by emphasizing the future. We are proud to think that The Dispatch and its hometown of Post both continue to get better all the time.

We can trace the newspaper improvements through the years as we scan our bound newspaper files. But we understand the newspaper profession well enough to know we can still improve our product and make The Dispatch better.

And that we intend to do. So keep those news items, those subscriptions, and those ads coming in. — JC

Our contemporaries say . . .

There are sharp differences between the approaches of congressmen and legislators generally to economic issues. One type is much more disposed to place the blame than it is to develop solutions, and since spotting someone to blame has broad appeal among the voters it can be good politics until the time comes that workable solutions are needed. That calls for constructive efforts, the sifting of facts and judgment based upon them. Those who can see nothing but conspiracy behind every economic evil eventually are recognized as politicians first and statesmen — not at all. — Antigo, Wis. Journal.

48 miles of new terraces completed

When the big rain finally comes to Garza County, several more farms will be ready to make better use of the moisture due to new parallel terrace systems.

Junior Hagins, Conservation Technician with the Soil Conservation Service reports approximately 48 miles of parallel terraces have been completed this year in Garza County. These terraces were installed on land farmed by George Miller, Waggoner Johnson, Harlon Morris, Mack Ledbetter and Jim Frather.

These terraces distribute the water more evenly over the land between the terraces and hold needed moisture on the field for crops.

Hagins says the extra time and work in planning and installing a parallel terrace system is well spent. The grid map is made of the finished terrace system is far superior to the old farmer's operation. These terraces are laid out on the land. The finished terrace system is far superior to the old standard terrace systems point rows and uneven moisture distribution.

Hagins says several farmers will be installing parallel terrace systems this year. As conservation practices are installed, all citizens benefit from an improved environment due to conserved moisture soil.

Persons desiring further information on this or any conservation work should contact the local Soil Conservation Service office.

Leo Durocher was wrong.

Baseball manager Leo Durocher once said, "Nice guys finish last." We don't believe it.

That's why we go our our way to be nice to people.

Like the day a woman walked into our office and asked us to sell her an automobile policy. We told the lady that the most economical solution to her problem was simple to include her car on her husband's automobile policy. Since her husband was not a client of ours, we didn't make a penny.

Many people would tell us that doing business like this doesn't make sense.

But we've been doing business like this for the last 20 years.

And it's made us a leader.

Eat your heart out, Leo.

INVASION FOR CHRIST

. . . into the streets and lanes . . .
. . . the highways and hedges . . .

By Oscar Newdiger

"Then the master of the house . . . said to his servant. Go out quickly into the streets and lanes of the city, and bring in hither the poor, and the maimed, and the halt, and the blind. "And the servant said, Lord, it is done as thou hast commanded, and yet there is room. "And the Lord said unto the servant. Go out into the highways and hedges, and compel them to come in, that my house may be filled." (Luke 14:21-23)

It may be felt by some that the Scripture verses above have been sort of worn out by much use. It is true that we have used them a great deal, and at times we may have thought we were fulfilling them. However, it is doubtful if, in these last days at least, we have actually done what the Master intends for us to do in the way of total coverage of the areas open to us.

While it is probably true that Jesus had some reference to the Jews rejection of their great invitation to own their Messiah, and that He was foretelling the opening of the kingdom to the Gentiles, the commandment in our day might well apply to our responsibility to get out and reach people and classes of people, that we have not reached before. So we have to admit that we have worked and reworked certain areas of the town, city, or neighborhood, but have left almost untouched other areas within easy reach. Much time is spent with a few easy contacts, without enough concern and determination to invade the whole area until we can feel reasonably sure that no one has been untouched.

The word invade means to enter forcibly; to crowd into; to throng. It usually denotes such thorough coverage that nothing is left unaffected. Not a destructive invasion, but an invasion of good news — the gospel of the Son of God.

Sympathy's go out to Mrs. Edmund Stolle on the death of her father, Mr. Fred Stienhouser from Wilson. Mr. Stienhouser passed away Friday morning at the Tahoka hospital. Also our deep regrets to the family of Mr. A. A. Rinne, and our apology for this not being mentioned last week. My column is short this week due to the death of my grandmother, Mrs. Mattie McCord, "Granny" as she was known to decedents and all their friends lived a long and full 95 years. The decedents known around here are Willie Thomas and Lena Short daughters, "Sug" Thomas, E. L. and Harry Short and H. B. McCord Jr. and myself, grandchildren. Kelvin Thomas left for Austin along with several Post chorals members to compete in the state contest for chorus. Don't forget the skating party Friday night. We're looking forward to lots of fun. It will be held at the Slaton Rink, located next to the baseball fields. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Simmons will be moving to Hermleigh to accept the Superintendent of schools there. He has been in that position here at Southland during a very stormy time and yet was able to bring about many improvements in the system. Good luck to you both.

AFFECTS INSECTICIDE

The effectiveness of the insecticide you mix with water may depend on the type of water used, points out an entomologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Water from municipal supplies is generally alkaline and thus reduces the effectiveness of many insecticide mixes. Use of distilled water or rain water is generally best in preparing insecticide sprays.

FANCY THAT!

The art of making paper from fibrous matter dates back to the ancient Chinese. Paper didn't become available to the rest of the world until the 8th century A.D., however. In the year 751 the Arabs repelled an attack by Chinese invaders and took a number of prisoners who were skilled in the art of paper-making.

The world's largest paper mill is located in Savannah, Georgia, and has a yearly output of 903,124 tons!

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Motel and Your Car

Melvin's restless night at a motel came to a jarring end when he looked out the window in the morning. His car, which he had parked just outside the room, had disappeared. In fact, he never saw it again.

In due course, he tried to collect reimbursement from the management of the motel.

"I was their guest," he argued in a court hearing, "and my car was on their premises. Therefore, they are legally liable for the loss."

However, the court tossed out Melvin's claim. The court said his argument did not stand up because he had never turned over possession of the car to the management. He had parked the car himself and kept the keys in his pocket.

It is true that motels—and hotels as well—bear a substantial responsibility for the property of their guests. This rule dates all the way back to the Middle Ages in England, when inns were considered a kind of safety zone for the travelling public.

But the rule does not go into effect until the property has been transferred to the possession of the management. In the case of automobiles, possession is ordinarily transferred when the guest surrenders his keys to a company employee.

The exact moment of transfer may become crucial. One woman left her car at the entrance to a hotel and went in to register. When the bellboy asked her for the keys, she replied that she had left them in the ignition.

Shortly afterward, a thief slipped into the car and made off with it.

Had the woman delivered possession of the car to the hotel management, making it responsible for her loss?

A court said yes, even though the keys had never been physically handed over to the bellboy. The court said the woman's words had given him the right to take possession of the car—and along with the right went the responsibility.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

One of the greatest experiences in any youngster's life is summer camp, and the State Health Department is moving forward with a program to make them safer than ever.

Health authorities want all these summer memories to be pleasant ones, and the new Texas Youth Camp Safety and Health Act is the vehicle for accomplishing this.

Under the Act passed last year by the 63rd Texas Legislature, an Advisory Council on Youth Camp Safety was created. The State Health Commissioner was delegated as chairman, with 11 persons to be named as members for two-year terms, by the Governor.

The Advisory Council's responsibility includes advising and consulting on policy matters relating to camp activities, particularly on the matter of promulgating youth camp safety standards.

Safety and sanitation are the prime areas for concentrating regulatory and enforcement measures. Campers must be provided a sanitary place to live, as well as a safe one.

The law set out specific areas for drawing up rules and regulations. Included are consideration of adequate and proper supervision in all activities by qualified personnel wherever camp activities are conducted. Proper safeguards for sanitation encompass such areas as: proper procedures for food preparation, and serving, healthful and sufficient water supply, and proper waste disposal.

Safety encompasses such things as proper water safety procedures for swimming pools, lakes and waterways, and safe boating equipment; proper maintenance and safe use of motor vehicles; safe buildings and physical facilities and proper fire precautions; safe equipment used in all recreational pursuits; and proper regard for the number of persons using a facility.

Among the guides used in setting up regulations were the Texas Water Safety Act, a manual on Fire Safety for Suburban Areas Texas, Food and Drug Laws already enforced by the Health Department, and environmental health practices falling under the Health Department.

In the Act is a licensing clause requiring that each camp be inspected and found to conform with provisions of the Act.

Each camp operator is charged with providing each camper with "safe and healthful conditions, facilities and equipment free from recognized hazards which cause or may tend to cause death, serious illness or bodily harm."

The first weight-lifting world championships were held in London in 1891.

Potluck by Mary Chapman

Where is Patricia Hearst? It's been 100 days since the SLA kidnaped her in the middle of May. Turned on the news at 12, twelve and five-thirty, you can hear that Patty and the Harris couple have been married. There were lots of new speculations to begin with but nothing.

Can't imagine why the FBI thinks they're hiding in the Angeles area. Dad, Lorry, and Vicki swear they're staying out in the Sierra Nevada. The fact that Harris is buying heavy socks in Los Angeles in May was the tip-off.

My own theory is that they're somewhere in Big Sur and if I see the FBI that's certainly where I'd look. People have been disappearing there for years. As a matter of fact, no one would even know it if the children didn't swing on the road on vines now when they scare the tourists.

Some think that Patty is dead but that's nothing to get worked about. He also thinks Howard Hughes is dead.

Several friends have mentioned that every time a car with three people — women and one man — is through Post, they give me the once-over. That's not a joke.

Everyone has their own speculations about the case. Patty really kidnapped? If she has been brainwashed? Or is she acting at the point of a gun? Or did she actually kidnap the SLA of her own free will?

There have been many photographs and profiles published of the six SLA members who were killed in the shootout. Miamoon Soltysik, Willy Wolfe, Camilla Hall, Al Wood — and several other group looked and sounded like intelligent, intelligent, intelligent human beings. How and why do people like that do things like that? Why do people like that do things like that? Why do people like that do things like that?

A tragic mystery and it's important that we get answers. Right now, Miss and William and Emily are our only clues. Let's see.

Thursday picnic for graduation school. Picnic will be held Saturday for those enrolled in the Baptist Church's Vacation Bible School this week. Picnic Night will be held at 7 p.m. Sunday to conclude the school.

MRS. GARY LESTER Jacquelyn Ann Moore

Moore-Lester vows pledged at Graham

Miss Jacquelyn Ann Moore and Gary Lynn Lester pledged wedding vows Saturday, June 1 at 6:30 p. m. in the Graham Chapel Methodist Church.

The Rev. Tommy Wilson, pastor of the Methodist Church in Plains, Tex., officiated the double ring ceremony.

The parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Moore of Post. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Billy Lester and the late Mr. Lester of Post.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length formal gown of white sheer silk. The bodice featured an oval shape, both front and back outlined in Victorian lace. The empire waistline was also bordered in lace to emphasize its raised lines. The skirt flowed gracefully from the waist along princess lines, ending in two tiers across the front and forming a train at the back. Her sheer tulle fingertip length veil featured a love knot arrangement done in the Victorian lace. The bridal bouquet featured two blue orchids with spider mums and baby's breath on a white Bible.

Mrs. Gary Workman served as maid-of-honor. Bridesmaids were Tina McAllister, sister of the bride and Carla Brown, of Winters, Tex. They wore formal length pastel shades of blue with long full sleeves of imported organza in a pastel floral design of blues. Each one carried a white daisy.

Miss D'Lane Runkles of Midland served as flower girl and Darrell Becker of Slaton acted as ring bearer.

Candles were lighted by Clay Moore and Tracy McAllister, brothers of the bride.

Gary Workman, served as best man with Gregg Lester, brother of the bridegroom and Dennis Ray as groomsmen.

Ricky Bush and Karl Bruce Hall were ushers.

Wedding music was provided by organist, Boo Olson and Tracy McAllister recited the 13th chapter of Corinthians I.

A reception followed the ceremony in the Graham Community Center. Members of the house party were Mrs. Elizabeth Gannon and Miss Melvina Stewart.

Mrs. Lester is a Post High School graduate of 1972. Lester graduated from Southland High School in 1970 and is presently employed with Mack Terry.

Following a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N. M., the couple will reside on Route 3, Post.

PAY BILLS To Enjoy Continued CREDIT

The credit bureau's message to the consumer is simple. Pay promptly. Spelling it out clearly — never let an account go past due without payment or immediate contact with the creditor.

Never allow an account to become an item charged off to profit and loss. This means that the merchant has given up hopes of collecting and has changed your account from an asset to an expense item. The item is automatically recorded in the files of the credit bureau. There it cannot be changed or altered unless subsequent dealings with the same firm results in a better record.

Never allow an account to be listed in the collection department of the credit bureau. Payments in full will result in better credit reports, but the item must remain on file for many years to come — perhaps for the rest of your life.

Your credit record is a picture of your character and has been found to be an extremely accurate guide to your future actions, particularly pertaining to whether you will pay future contracts and debts.

Keep your picture bright and shining and enjoy all the conveniences of the machine age. You can cut off the advantages of credit buying by disregarding or ignoring warnings of your merchant friends.

WRITES ON DOGS, ETC.
 Dear Editor:

I understand all dogs in Post are to be penned up or tied—not to run loose. Whether this is true or not, I intend to fight any dog in self-defense—with any means I see fit—in order to keep from being bitten by one. I would like to thank Dr. Tubbs for the medicine he gave me to ease the effects of a dog bite I recently received.

I suggest that each dog in Post be taxed one hundred dollars per head, and that teeth be put in the dog law now on the books.

The ground is very dry in Post. So, if you want rain, go some place where you will be alone and pray to God for it, or anything else you have need of. He will reward you openly.

Experts warn against shift to pinto beans

LUBBOCK — Retail prices for dry pinto beans have soared over the dollar a pound mark, causing many High Plains farmers to think seriously about switching to this premier income producer.

"But hold on," says an agricultural economist, "That lowly frijole probably will not produce that $1,000 per acre net profit. And there are sound reasons for this gloomy speculation."

Marvin Sartin, area specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, lists these facts:

The dry edible bean crop last year was poor. The acreage in the U. S. was down slightly from the previous year and yields were below average. Consumer interest in protein alternatives was spurred by high meat prices and meat boycotts. Foreign trade in dry beans was surging until the last few months.

"These factors spell increased demand and short supplies, which always create high prices," he says.

The March Planting Intentions Report showed dry bean acreage in the U. S. up almost 300,000 acres from 1973, a 20 per cent increase, Sartin points out. With a return to normal yields and in spite of reduced carryover, the 1974-75 market season could see total supply in dry beans 15 per cent greater than last year.

"Simultaneously, we are currently experiencing low farm prices for both beef and pork. Some reduction in retail meat prices and consumers' adjustment to meat price levels will serve to decrease the demand for protein alternatives. Export of beans has slowed recently, and imports of beans, though small, have risen.

"The ultimate impact of these factors on bean prices is still uncertain. However, it seems safe to think that prices received by growers will be lower this fall even though they will probably not be as low as the 1971-72 period."

In addition to price problems, potential pinto producers also are facing other uncertainties, the economist warns. The culture of this crop on the High Plains is open to question since little research is available. The unavailability of high quality or preferably certified seed of the proper varieties is also a problem, especially at the current costs for seed. Fertility requirements, planting date, irrigation management, and insecticide applications necessary for optimum yields are among the unknown that farmers must deal with.

Sartin figures that the costs of producing pinto beans under irrigation are similar to the production costs for cotton.

"The possibility of using beans as a catch crop following hauled-out cotton looks attractive," he says. "However, late plantings would be handled differently, harvested later, and probably compete with beans produced in Colorado and Idaho. The market price could be substantially lower for these beans compared to beans harvested in early September. Variety selection could partially compensate for the later planting date."

The future of pinto beans on the High Plains is just a guess, he emphasizes. However, beans are adapted over a wide geographical area, and much of this area of adaptation lacks alternative crops as attractive as cotton, grain sorghum, and corn. While beans may work this year, their continued high profitability is questionable.

AMBULANCE SERVICE

DENVER CITY — Thanks to the offer of a private citizen, Denver City now has the services of an ambulance, complete with drivers and attendants, at no cost to the city. Ron Smith, owner of a nursing home here, made the offer after declaring he could see the need. The city now has two first line ambulances and a third which is used by the fire department.

MARKS
In rare instances the surname Marks means "son of Mark," but in most cases the name was first given one who dwelt at the boundary or boundary mark, from the Old English word "mearc."

The name "mark" was frequently employed to designate a boundary in England as well as in other European countries. The boundary lines separating England, Scotland and Wales were known as the "marches" from the word "mearc." The title applied to the guards along these boundary lines was "mearcward," and the name Marks often was acquired by a boundary guard as well as by one who lived at or near the boundary.

The name originally was Mark, but the English were given to adding an "s" to many names to make pronunciation easier, as in the case of the surname Rivers for River. Nearly all surnames went through many changes before finally being stabilized into their present forms. The surname March, while not as numerous as Marks, has the same meaning.

One of the earliest instances of the name on English tax rolls was Willie de la Mark, indicating one named Willie who lived at the mark. The French language was still in vogue in England when hereditary surnames were first coming into common usage, hence the "de las," meaning "at the." In most cases, these prepositions were eventually dropped.

When derived from the personal name Mark, the name can be traced to an early ancestor whose first name was Mark in honor of the evangelist. In such a case, marks means "son of Mark."

Marks was the name of a prominent family in Devonshire County, England, in the 17th and 18th centuries. John Marks of Bideford, Devonshire County, was a noted surgeon in the time of Queen Anne. Other major families of Marks owned estates in Wiltshire, Salisbury and Suffolk counties. The name is rare in Scotland, but is fairly numerous in Ireland, where it is found mainly in County Leitrim.

Jeanette Marks was a noted American poet, playwright and educator. Percy Marks was well known in this country as a novelist and educator. Many Germans named Marx have changed the spelling to Marks in this country.

Marks ranks among the 600 most numerous surnames in the United States, government figures showing an estimated 90,000 persons of the name.

Texas ranchers are at war with noxious brush

Many a new-comer might wonder why destroy these "pretty" trees and "brushes" when this is such a treeless country?

Texas ranchers have been fighting the battle against noxious brush and weeds for many years. The brush problem is one that requires more work each year to stay up with the increase. Some species of brush such as mesquite increase so much each year the control measures barely keep pace.

The fight goes on in Garza County where many ranchers are controlling brush by both mechanical and chemical means, according to J. R. Bell, local Range Conservationist.

First, one fact should be made plain, "We do not need or wish to remove all the mesquite and other related brush species," Bell says. "Heavier infestations do need control. When this country was settled there were few mesquite and noxious brush and weeds on our rangelands. Much of our native grassland has been abused through the years and we now find ourselves with less good grass and more brush and weeds. Much of the valuable soil moisture and nutrients goes to this brush."

By thinning out brush the grass production can in some cases be doubled. There are many actual records kept over the years that bear out this fact. Pounds of beef per acre can be increased which contributes to a more efficient agriculture.

Ranchers have many management tools available to them and brush management is only one. Proper management of rangeland is necessary for maximum sustained livestock production and is beneficial to wildlife population as well.

For additional information regarding brush control and rangeland management, contact the local office of the USDA Soil Conservation.

Over 300 books added at library

Ninety-three new books were added to the shelves of the Post Public Library during May to bring total book acquisitions for 1974 to date to 309, according to the monthly library report released Monday by Librarian Pee Wee Pierce.

A total of 1,113 books were checked out during May to bring circulation for the first five months of the year to 5,011, she also reported.

Of the 1,113 books checked out during the month, 665 were adult books and 448 were for juveniles.

Four books were lost during the month and eight discarded to bring such reductions for the year to 16 lost and 22 discarded, with only three of the lost books being recovered to date.

Miscellaneous revenue for the month totaled $18.85, which included $10.85 for overdue book

The Old Timer

"Brides don't blush. It's just that their faces are flushed with victory."

LUBBOCK — The steady decline of cotton prices since January of this year is of more concern to cotton producers than anything besides the lack of moisture, says Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock.

"With soaring production costs there will be precious little if any profit in cotton production this year unless price prospects improve substantially," he notes.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that spot futures and 1974 contract prices have dropped over 20 per cent in the past four months, and there is no material evidence that the nose dive has ended.

"But there are some in the industry who see a ray of hope for 1974 crop prices," Johnson notes.

Textile industry spokesmen, judging from stories appearing in the Daily News Record and other textile publications, are the most persistent painters of a gloomy price picture.

For example Robert Bendheim, Chairman of the Board of M. Lowenstein and Sons, says cotton could get down in the mid-40 cent range. He presumably was referring to strict low middling inch-and-a-sixteenth, which would mean average qualities grown on the High Plains would sell considerably below that range.

Voicing an opposing view is David Cox, manager of the Economic Research and Development Division of Cotton Incorporated, national producer organization charged with cotton market development, research and promotion.

Cox reasons that while mills have been holding off on purchases of additional cotton in anticipation of further price erosion, "All fundamental economic indicators lead to the conclusion that present and future markets are underpriced." Among the "indicators" he points to continuing tight supplies of synthetic fibers, exports "almost certain to exceed six million bales," and his belief that cotton plantings and production in the U. S. may not reach forecast levels.

USDA is predicting a 14 million bale crop of cotton in the U. S. this year. But this may not be taking into account the declining prices that will affect plantings, or the lack of moisture posing a severe threat to cotton production on the High Plains, Johnson says. The High Plains in 1973 produced over 2.9 million 480-pound net weight bales, he notes, which was almost 16 percent of the U. S. crop, "and you can't find anybody now who expects the same area to turn out more than two-thirds that amount in 1974, so Cox may well be correct in expecting the U. S. crop to fall below recent projections."

For the longer term outlook it is noteworthy that 7 of the 10 major cotton producing countries of the world have population growth rates averaging 2.9 percent, which will result in 50 percent increases in their populations within 20 years. To Cox this means they will not be able to meet growing demands for food and fiber at home and at the same time maintain their strong export positions.

In contrast, the U. S. and Russia have populations growing at the rate of only 1.2 percent per year. The remaining country, the People's Republic of China with a growth rate of 1.8 percent, already is a net importer of cotton.

So, Cox concludes, "The prospect for increasing competition among foreign purchasers of U. S. cotton appears certain."

Cardinals hand Tigers first loss of season, 2 to 1

Still one game back in Post Little League play

The Cardinals handed the Little League-leading Tigers their first defeat of the season Tuesday night as Danny Gunn bested Mark Greer in a not-so-often-seen mound duel, 2-1.

The game was held to only four innings because of the long "race track opener" in which the Deers outlasted the Yankees, 27 to 26, in a battle for the other end of the league standings — the cellar.

Both the Cards and the Tigers each picked up six hits with the Cardinals getting both their runs in the second on a single by Lance Dunn, a double by Kevin Craig, and a single by Pat Mitchell. The three hits came in a row with one out.

The Tigers broke through only in the third when Raymond Raymundo singled and was driven home two outs later by Shortstop Brad Greer.

The victory moved the Cardinals into second place a game behind the Tigers. Each club won three and lost one since last Thursday.

The Deers rapped out 27 hits, including six by Mark Holly in six tries, to come from behind with three runs in the bottom of the sixth to win the slugfest.

Ronnie Pierce got four out of five for the winners — but they included two homeruns and a pair of doubles.

Also getting four for the Deers was Rodney Greathouse, the starting pitcher, and three of those were doubles. Picking up three hits apiece were Ronnie Greathouse, Gregory Greathouse, and Ervin Price.

Catcher Gary Lamb was the hitting star for the victorious Yankees with six hits in six tries. His main batting support came from Adrian Landa, the starting pitcher, Gary Baker, and Benny Kennedy, each with three hits.

	W	L	Pct.
Tigers	6	1	.859
Cardinals	5	2	.714
Red Sox	3	3	.500
Dodgers	3	4	.428
Deers	2	4	.333
Yankees	0	5	.000

The Cardinals had to go an extra inning Monday night to push across the winning run in the top of the seventh and defeat the Dodgers, 14 to 13.

A single by Bryan Taylor, two fielder's choices, a walk and an infield error enabled the Cards to plate first baseman Tim Tannehill with the winning run.

The Dodgers came up with 11 runs in the fourth when they sent 19 men to the plate before an infield bouncer with the sack loaded ended it.

Shortstop Charlie Hall, the Dodgers' big hitter with three hits and a walk, got a homerun in the big inning.

The Cards not only got a dozen hits but benefitted materially by seven Dodger errors. Mark Odom batted last for the winners, but batted best, getting three hits in four trips.

Both the Dodgers and the Red Sox had their bats smoking Saturday night in the first game as they slammed out 39 hits between them with the Dodgers hanging on for a 17 to 15 triumph.

Pitcher Ronnie Hall got the only homerun of the game among his three hits for the winners and both Barry Morris and Hiram Martinez each got four for five for the Dodgers.

The Red Sox came up with a seven-run rally and had the tying runs on base with none out in the last of the sixth when the next three batters struck out to end the slugfest.

In the nightcap Saturday the Tigers grabbed their sixth straight with a 16 to 5 victory over the Deers as Pitcher Chris Hall scattered 11 hits to go the route. The losers got all their runs with a fifth inning rally after the Tigers had gone in front by a 10 to 0 score as Hall was equally effective at the plate with three doubles in as many trips. Catcher Ruben Storie and shortstop Brad Greer also had three hits apiece for the winners.

The Cardinals sprayed 24 hits all over the park in Friday night's opener to plaster the Yankees 23 to 12, with shortstop Bryan Taylor leading the robust attack with five hits in six trips, three of them doubles. Pitcher Lance Dunn, who went the route for the winners, got four hits in six trips and plated four runs while catcher Danny Gunn also collected four hits, while Kevin Craig and Tim Tannehill cracked out three each.

For the losers shortstop Benny Kennedy collected three doubles and a single in four trips with one of the two-baggers coming with two mates aboard. Catcher Gary Lamb scored four times for the losers on three hits and a walk in four plate appearances.

Andrian Landa and Benny Kennedy divided the mound duties evenly for the losers with Landa getting the starting call.

In probably the best played game of the week, the Tigers took a tight 4 to 2 decision over the Dodgers in the Friday nightcap as they came up with the deciding two runs in the final frame when pitcher Mark Greer who bested Charlie Hall in a good mound duel led off with a single and came around on Jackie Castleberry's double.

Castleberry then plated the insurance run as Hall settled down to retire the next three batters on a fly to center, an infield grounder, and a strike-out.

The Dodgers showed signs of a rally of their own in the bottom of the sixth when Dana Scott and Ronnie Hall led off with singles, but Greer buckled down to get the side out, the last two batters going down swinging.

The Dodgers got both their runs in the first inning when Hiram Martinez singled and pitcher Hall hit a homerun with two away to score both of them.

The Tigers got one back in the fourth on back to back doubles by Greer and Castleberry, and tied it in the fifth on a double by Steve Curb and a single by Ruben Storie.

The Dodgers sprayed 22 hits Thursday night in the opener in ringing up a comparatively easy 18 to 8 triumph over the Cardinals with shortstop Charlie Hall having a five for five night, including a triple, center-fielder Dana Scott getting four singles, and Barry Morris, pitcher Hiram Martinez, and Allan Carpenter three each.

The Tigers had their easiest outing of the week with a 20 to 3 victory over the Red Sox in the nightcap last Thursday. They did that with a "really big inning," tallying 16 runs in the second as they batted around twice. Chris Hall, Ruben Storie and Mark Greer each got three hits for the winners in their 17-hit barrage.

Ricky Shepherd in All-America book

Ricky Shepherd, the Post Antelopes' all-district guard in basketball, has been named to the Prep All-America Basketball Yearbook for 1973-74, as announced today by the editors of Coach and Athlete Magazine. Shepherd's selection to this prep basketball honor roll makes him eligible for judging in the Prep All-America National Awards — the Prep 100

Squad, the Super Ten Team and Cum Laude.

In cooperation with the Awards Selection Committee, the National Finalists will be announced in the May-June issue of Coach & Athlete.

Nominations for the 1973-74 Prep All-America Basketball program were made last fall by high school coaches and athletic directors, college recruiters and sports writers across the country.

They were asked to nominate candidates having the best record of local achievement on their teams or in their areas. Criteria by which these local basketball players were nominated included outstanding athletic ability based on career records, sportsmanship, leadership and service to both team and community.

Each local winner's athletic achievements will be presented in the 1973-74 Prep All-America Basketball Award Yearbook to be published in August.

Shepherd started on the 'Lope basketball team his sophomore junior and senior years and was the team's leading scorer last season. Besides being selected all-district, he made honorable mention on the All South Plains selections.

Lynn beats Post for South Plains lead

Lynn County edged out Post, 6 to 5, here Monday night in South Plains 16-18 Babe Ruth League play to take a commanding lead in the three-team circuit and push Manager Richard Dudley's locals into a tie with Brownfield for the bottom rung at 1-2.

Lynn County has a 3-1 record, their only loss coming at the hands of the Post club in the first meeting between the two clubs.

Richard Dudley went the route for the locals and gave up only three hits but a pair of walks in the fifth led to the winning run.

Post's six entries in the state UIL vocal and instrumental music contests at the University of Texas at Austin Monday all received ratings of 3.

The group returned home late Tuesday afternoon, accompanied by Georgie Willson and Supt. and Mrs. Bill Shiver.

In these contests the students compete in a single class of competition without division by school enrollment. Five ratings are given in the judging range.

Participating from Post as regional winners were Sherril Guichard, flute soloist; Guichard, Tiana Shiver and Dana Pool, flute trio; Cy Willson, piano soloist; Kelvin Thomas, tenor soloist; and Nancy Reno and Dana Pool, soprano soloists.

Indians beat Sox to grab Babe Ruth lead

The "streaking" Indians scored two victories this week — one of them being the first loss for the previously unbeaten White Sox — to move around the Sox into first place by half a game by virtue of having played one more game than the White Sox and winning it.

Both the two top contenders scored easy victories Tuesday night after the Indians had scored a 7 to 5 triumph over the White Sox Saturday night.

The White Sox took a 14 to 3 win over Southland in the Tuesday opener and the Indians followed with a 14 to 4 thumping of the Cubs, the only other Babe Ruth club above the .500 mark and in contention.

In fact, the Cubs were right in the middle of a three-way race with the Sox and Indians until the big loss Tuesday night.

The Cubs held a 1 to 0 lead going into the fourth, but the Indians broke out their bats to score three in the fourth, four in the fifth, six in the sixth and the final run in the seventh.

Kyle Duren and Ricky Sanchez combined to pitch the season's first no-hitter for the Indians over the Cubs. Duren started and went five innings and Sanchez finished up.

The Cubs got ten runners aboard, however, on eight walks, a fielder's choice, and an error to manage four runs.

Duren with three doubles in four trips was the hitting star for the winners.

In the White Sox victory, Catcher Steve Hair got three doubles in five trips and Shortstop Raymie Holly got a pair of singles and a two-bagger in four official efforts.

The Indians came from behind with a three-run rally in the seventh to hand the White Sox their first loss of the season, 7-5, Saturday night and temporarily move around the Sox into first place along with the Cubs with 4-1 records.

Singles by Bryan Compton and Larry Harper were mixed with two White Sox infield errors and an interference call by the White Sox catcher Kyle Duren at the plate to produce the tying and winning runs.

Ricky Sanchez, who pilched the final two innings for the Indians after Duren had hurled the first five, got credit for the big victory.

The White Sox picked up single runs in the first, second, third, fourth and sixth innings on six hits.

Duren got a home run with one aboard in the first for the longest blow of the game and also singled in the third.

The Cubs took a pair from Southland last week, grabbing a 21-10 slugfest victory on Thursday night and then winning on a forfeit Saturday night.

Southland managed three hits, but got dozen walks and a hit as three Cub throwers wild, but hard to hit.

After the Cubs scored 11 in the first inning, it was exactly a close game.

The other Thursday game saw the White Sox to a 14 to 3 win over the Sox for their third straight bowing to the Indians.

Pitcher Ronnie Bratcher the first five innings by winners and Raymie finished up in the sixth, winners collected 12 hits in four scattered singles in many innings for the losers.

Jeff Greene, Dan Sway and Mark Williams did mound duties for the losers the Sox blowing the game open with a nine-run lead in the top of the sixth.

230 boys, girls busy in recreation program

Over 230 youngsters are busy this week with a wide variety of activities in the county sponsored 1974 summer recreation program with youngsters signing up.

Program director Joe Giddens said boys and girls who enroll can do so any day through Thursday at the office in the elementary school.

"We're down a little in enrollment from last year," Giddens told The Dispatch yesterday afternoon, "but we're picking up more every morning."

Giddens is pleased with the heavier enrollment this year, especially in the seventh grade and above whereas in the past summers the enrollment was mostly the smaller boys and girls.

Between 65 and 70 are signed up for a new drama class and groups are working to stage a musical for the community's Fourth of July celebration.

The summer program is so popular it includes use of the school gyms, the school courts, the track, the ball field, the swimming pool, the Caprock golf course, the Teen Center for drama, and crafts.

The four morning activities begin at 8, 9, 10 and 11 Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday mornings. Three class periods were used last summer.

Activities for the boys in the program include tumbling and pole, golf, football and basketball, track, basketball, swimming, tennis, dodgeball, and crafts and drama.

The girls' program includes swimming and trampoline, golf, tennis, cheerleading, basketball, arts and crafts, drama and games.

The summer recreation program will continue through July.

8 ministers at meeting of alliance here

Kenneth Metzger reported on the "chaplaincy program" at Garza Memorial Hospital at the meeting of the Post Ministerial Alliance last Thursday morning at the Trinity Baptist Church.

He said the program has been helpful and that he is working up a new program schedule. The eight ministers attending voted to purchase a "chaplain" sign to wear on shirt or coat of minister serving as hospital chaplain for the week.

Edgar L. Fox was asked to serve as coordinator for Twin Cedars Nursing Home.

George L. Miller submitted his resignation as vice president of the alliance as he will be leaving Post in July for a new position as a campus pastor in Oklahoma. Several ministers expressed appreciation to him for helping "kick off" the alliance and in other efforts here.

The next meeting of the alliance will be Sept. 26. Also attending the session were S. J. Bruton, Philip Daniels, Jim O'Connor, Glenn Reece, and Gene Prevo. Mr. Prevo as the host minister conducted the devotional.

Members of the team are: Cindy Bird, Andy Williams, Tony Conner, Jerry Johnson and Dennis McDonald. The Garza County team is coached by Extension Agent Syd Conner.

Accompanying the team to the state finals are Mr. and Mrs. Wagoner Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Syd Conner.

12 teachers at summer school

Twelve Post teachers are attending summer school during the vacation period, all at Texas schools.

The twelve include: Kathleen Doherty, Joe Giddens, Marsha Norman, George Pierce, Scott Rombokas, and Jim Swofford, all at Texas Tech University.

Jackie Brown, East Texas State University at Commerce; Sara Holder, Abilene Christian College; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Buchanan, University of Texas at Austin; Dianne Lewallen, UIL Workshop at the University of Texas at Austin; and Mrs. Geoff E. Murphy at the University of Texas at El Paso.

Dr. Tubbs calls for rabies vaccination drives in Post

Dr. Charles Tubbs told Post Rotarians in a luncheon talk Tuesday on a variety of medical subjects that "we should be having drives here to get dogs and cats vaccinated for rabies."

"I don't like to give humans a series of 14 painful shots to prevent rabies after a dog bite," the young physician said. He pointed out that El Paso had an outbreak of rabies in December of last year and another has been reported in New Mexico.

Record 96 points scored; rodeo fatality reported

DENVER, Colo. — One bull rider set a record, another died of arena injuries in recent rodeo competition, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said.

John Quintana, 1972 world champion bull rider from Creswell, Ore., scored a record 96 points on one of the top bulls in the sport at the Hellorado rodeo in Las Vegas, Nev., which ended over the Memorial Day weekend.

Quintana rode a bucking, spinning bull named "Number 17," owned by Beutler Brothers and Cervi of Sterling, Colo. The bull has a lengthy record of honors for his bucking abilities including the title Top Bucking Bull of the 1972 National Finals Rodeo. The bull was voted third best bull at the 1973 Finals.

Quintana rode Number 17 to the whistle to collect $1,086 in prize money. He had held the record of the highest-scored ride previously, after marking 94 points on the now-retired bull "V-61," owned by Minick Rodeo Company of Saginaw, Texas. This was during the Gladewater, Tex., rodeo in June, 1971.

Jack Himes of Beulah, Colo., marked 95 points on "Double Ought," also owned by Beutler Brothers and Cervi, during the New Mexico State Fair rodeo in Albuquerque in September, 1972. Himes held the record until Quintana's ride in Las Vegas.

The rodeo world was elated with the score, and equally saddened at the death May 19 of Scott Newby of Ontario, Ore. Newby was killed at the Cloverdale, B.C., rodeo, which ended May 20, when a bull he was riding bucked him off and stepped on his head. Newby had been a "permit-holder" in the Association since 1973.

Old Building —

(Continued From Page One) two-story stone building is that it is badly in need of reroofing, its basement is full of water, and the back stone wall on the alley is in a hazardous condition.

The historical survey committee discussed the situation at its regular meeting in the community room Tuesday morning and decided to move as quickly as possible, after Mayor Giles C. McCrary had proposed Monday night at the council meeting that the historical survey group take the community lead in efforts to figure out an acceptable way to save the old building.

The delegation from the historical survey group appearing before the council included Winnie Tuffing, Inez Hartel, Marie Neff, Ruby Kirkpatrick and Gwen Boren.

They came to the council session armed with a letter from Truett Lattimer, executive director of the Texas Historical Commission in which Lattimer said "I strongly endorse your effort to save and preserve the old Algerita Hotel" which Lattimer termed "undoubtedly one of the most, if not the most, historically important structure in Post."

"It would indeed be a tragedy for these roots to be eradicated through the needless destruction of the hotel," the state commission director wrote.

"If this building can be saved," he said, "I would be happy to propose its nomination to the National Register of Historic Places at the next meeting of the Texas Board of Review of National Register nominations."

Tom Bouchier told those attending the historical survey committee meeting Tuesday morning that the cost of putting on a new roof, fixing the back wall, and pumping out the basement water to make the hotel "safe" to its neighbors and passersby would not be nearly as much as had been estimated at the city council meeting the night before.

At the council meeting, Councilman William Wilson told the delegation he would like to know if local folks are interested enough in preserving the hotel to contribute to a fund for "saving" it.

What brought the delegation to the council session was the city's action a month ago to see if other local taxing units would help pay a share of the considerable cost of demolishing the old stone hotel.

Water Crisis —

If it would come in too fast it would also go around the dam on the west side via the emergency spillway which has never been used since lake construction was completed.

A few more Plainview downpours though — and it might be.

Lee Cruse —

Cruse was reported to have been ill with a virus last week before the swimming party.

Petty told The Dispatch he did not believe Cruse had been in the water over two minutes when he was brought up.

Cruse, who lived with his mother at 603 South Ave. H, had been a resident of Post for 12 years. He was born in Lubbock July 12, 1957.

Survivors, besides the mother, include two brothers, Marion Dean Cruse Jr., and Joe Nathan Cruse, both of the home; and Alice Marie Cruse, Iva Robinson, Henrietta Cruse and Carylton Sue Cruse, all of Post.

Lee played high school football, mostly on the junior varsity, and was a member of the Antelopes' district championship track team.

Funeral services were conducted in the Post Church of Christ at 2:30 p. m. Saturday by Larry Hambrick.

Palbearers, all classmates of Lee's, were Edward Price, Donnell Harper, Grayling Johnson, Les Allen, Mike Shepherd and David McBride.

Burial was in Terrace Cemetery under the direction of the Hudman Funeral Home.

City Council —

The council say the new uniform allowance will take effect in July at the start of the city's new budget year — so new uniforms should be seen here on officers within a few weeks.

In other actions Monday night, the city council:

Tabled, at the suggestion of Mayor Giles C. McCrary until the July meeting, any action on the proposed ordinance submitted by the Southwestern Public Service Co. for an electric rate increase. McCrary said the council needed to hold a "work session" with City Attorney Pat N. Walker on various points in the ordinance.

Approved the federal flood insurance program available to Post as this community has been designated by a federal agency as a flood area and city action was required to enable any local citizens to qualify for the federal flood insurance program.

Approved by resolution, city participation in the new law enforcement network equipment purchase which Mayor McCrary termed "a real bargain."

The city and county together will receive some $51,197 worth of installed communications equipment with the criminal justice division picking up $38,397.75 of this cost and the city and county together contributing only $12,799.25, most of it being paid by the county. Total city cost was estimated at between $1,300 and $1,500.

The council also held a near hour-long discussion with a five-woman delegation from the Garza County Historical Survey Committee on ways and means to possibly restore the historic Algerita Hotel in downtown Post to some useful purpose instead of demolishing it.

Bike Rodeo —

Judges for the rodeo were Nancy Wallace, Kathi Rankin, Sharlot Sparlin, Janie Dickson and Jan Hunter.

Postings —

—O—
We told Gene this week he'd gotten all the rest he could expect for the rest of the summer and now he could work, work, — and work.

—O—
With free coffee and doughnuts for all this morning, Gene shouldn't be short on "customers." Gene's on the main highway now and it will be interesting to see if he can hold up under the rush — providing there is enough gasoline to create the traffic.

—O—
We think the 11th hour effort by the historic survey committee to save the old Algerita hotel will be a winner.

—O—
In the first place as David Newby, the chairman of the new "first phase committee" to work out ways and means to make the old stone structure safe, says it will cost a lot less money to put on a roof, pump out the water, and patch the back wall than to tear it down and haul all that stone away.

—O—
He says it just makes good economic sense to save it until a good community use can be found for the building.

—O—
You know, we had an irate reader call up the paper some months back to tell us we didn't know what we were writing about when we wrote that old stone structure was the original Algerita Hotel built by C. W. Post in 1907-08. The caller said the original hotel was the more "European looking" hotel down by the Santa Fe tracks which went up in flames a few years back.

—O—
Well, we were right and the caller was wrong.

—O—
True, they called that hotel down by the tracks the Algerita and the one in the same block with The Dispatch, the Ameen Hotel, but historically the old hotel uptown is the original and the one by the tracks was the Algerita Hotel No. 2. And we would like somebody to tell us when No. 2 was built and by whom — we suspect by C. W. Post, no less, but when and why.
