

Southland school fight looms on consolidation move with Slaton

Big bond issue may come next

"Politics"—for want of a better term—appears to be coming to a boil in the Southland Independent School District this week where a petition signed by 27 voters has forced a March 31 election for the consolidation of the Southland and Slaton school districts.

Spence Bevers, president of the Southland school board, told The Dispatch yesterday that the school board "had nothing to do with the consolidation move" and declared the board was preparing to submit a $500,000 bond issue to school district voters in April to build an entirely new school plant.

"We found when we checked into it that it will be cheaper to build a whole new plant than to redo our present one," Bevers told The Dispatch.

He said school trustees want to keep the Southland school and that he personally was opposed to the consolidation move with Slaton and would fight it.

The petitions for the consolidation election were passed by "two school district men who live in Lynn county" according to Bevers, who said he wished they had come and talked to the board about it first.

"We don't want any hard feelings but this is going to cause a lot of confusion," he added.

Bevers told The Dispatch he doesn't think a majority of the voters will approve the Slaton consolidation move.

"I know the people who live around me in the southeast corner of the district will be against it," Bevers said. While Southland itself is only eight miles from Slaton and 16 from Post, Bevers and many of his neighbors live but nine miles from Post and 12 from Slaton.

Bevers said he didn't know who was writing the consolidation election stories in the Lubbock paper but "they are not giving a true picture of it."

The Southland district lies almost 60 or 70 per cent in Garza County, he pointed out, with only small portions in Lynn and Crosby counties. "They didn't even mention Garza County."

No consolidation move is yet in the wind for Southland to come into the Post school district, but Bevers said as far as Southland school district folks were concerned taxes would be much higher by consolidating with Slaton than with Post.

"The board has looked into all this and had the figures," he explained. "But we felt it would be better to keep our school and build a new plant."

According to Southland School Supt. Ray Simmons the Southland school has an enrollment of 152 students this year and employs 10 teachers besides Simmons. The Southland school district last year had a taxable assessed value of $4,856,000 and a tax rate of $1.50. A simple majority vote is required in both the Southland and Slaton school districts for approval of the consolidation question.

It appears that some school patrons favor hanging on to their school and building a new plant, while others don't want that debt and prefer consolidation. Probably some of the patrons would prefer (See Consolidation, Page 8)

PROPOSAL TO BE ON APRIL 7 BALLOT

Council calls vote on city manager form government

Along with electing a mayor and two councilmen April 7, City of Post voters will also ballot on a proposal to change to a city manager form of government.

The city council adopted a resolution to include the proposal on the April 7 city election ballot at its regular March meeting Monday night.

The council's action came after it was told by City Atty. Pat N. Walker that by adopting the city manager form of government, the council would be able to "go anywhere it wanted to" to hire a city manager. Under the present form of city government, anyone hired for the city manager's position must have been a resident inside the city limits for a period of six months before his election.

The city manager would be the chief administrative officer of the city, seeing to it that all ordinances are enforced, Walker told the council.

The new city manager form of government would also make mandatory the appointment of such city officials as chief of police, city secretary, city attorney, etc.

"These offices are appointive now, but under your present form of government they could be made elective by a petition of the voters," Walker told the council.

The proposal to change to a city manager form of government will appear on the same ballot voters pick up when they go to the City Hall April 7 to vote on a mayor and two councilmen.

In other action Monday night, the council:

—Accepted a bid for purchase of a new street sweeper.

—Condemned nine junk automobiles.

—Voted to pay half the annual cost of the librarian's salary at the Post Public Library.

—Discussed repairing a section of weather-damaged curb in front of Lucas Chevrolet-Olds.

—Decided to have the director of public works to make a survey to determine the measure of compliance with the city's recently amended trash ordinance.

—Authorized the city attorney to draw up an ordinance pertaining to a $3,000 homestead tax exemption for homeowners 65 years of age and over.

—Discussed the stray dog problem and asked the public's (See City council, Page 8)

We think Bryan J. has come up with a really good promotion with the "Taba'na Yuan'e," or Indian sunrise ceremony in city-county park March 22. (That's pronounced, according to Chief Runkles, as "tah bah'nah you ah'nay").

We told Bryan that the only bad point about the whole thing, in being a Chamber of Commerce promotion, would be if the wind blew from the west or southwest that sunrise, meaning "parched or bad crops."

Indian legend or not, a 60-mile-an-hour wind out of the west March 22 wouldn't convince many that a "parched crop" was ahead. Not this year!

THREE-DAY EVENT OPENS TODAY

84 animals to sold in stock show here Saturday

With 82 animals scheduled to go through the show ring—18 more than last year's 64—the eighth annual Garza County Junior Livestock Show and Sale to be held today, tomorrow and Saturday will be the biggest in the history of the event.

Additional weight classes in each division—barrows, lambs and steers—is responsible for the increase in the number of animals to be sold, according to County Agent Syd Conner.

Activities at the 4-H building where the livestock show is to be held, along with the Garza County Fair, actually began late yesterday afternoon with the weighing in of all lambs between 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. Sid Long of Gail classified the lambs.

All other entries were being accepted from 8:30 a.m. until noon today, with the show to open at 7:30 p.m. with the swine judging. There will be four weight classes in the barrow division, with the top eight animals in each class to go on the sale block.

Paul Gross of Lubbock will judge the swine.

Lawrence Winkler of Albany will judge the steers, beginning at 9 a. h. Saturday. There are three weight classes this year—light, medium and heavy—instead of just light and heavy, and the top six steers in each weight class to be eligible for the sale.

There will be a new auctioneer, James Cruce of Kress, for the sale, which starts at 1:30 p.m.

As in the past, the animals shown by the 4-H and FFA members will be auctioned off to the highest bidders. Bidding will be on a dollar basis for each animal, with the dollars bid going as premiums to the owners. If the bidders wish to keep the animals they buy, they must also pay the floor price. The floor price for each division will be set just before the sale begins.

Showmanship, sportsmanship and other trophies are to be awarded (See Stock show, Page 8)

The 4-H Horse Show will be held at 2:30 p.m. Friday in the sale barn.

At 7:30 p.m. Friday, judging of the lambs will begin. Fred Igo of Sterling City is the judge. There will be four breed classes with the top eight lambs in each class going through the sale ring.

COUNTY RANCHER HONORED

Huddleston (left) is presented the "Outstanding Conservation Rancher" plaque by Sam Ellis, SCD board member, at the Garza County Soil and Water Conservation District's annual awards banquet, held at the Garza County Club on March 7. Huddleston is Mrs. Huddleston.

Conservation rancher is awarded board's plaque

Huddleston, who owns and operates approximately 13,000 acres of land in the south-western part of Garza County, was awarded the "Outstanding Conservation Rancher of the Year" at the awards banquet held last night by the Garza County Soil and Water Conservation District at Jackson's Cafeteria.

Checks in the annual contest also were given to Mrs. Huddleston, daughter of Mr. Arthur "Bo" Jackson, and to Mrs. Huddleston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Huddleston, and Lisa Potts.

daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Potts. Cindy and Lisa tied for second place.

SCD board member Sam Ellis, who served as master of ceremonies, awarded the conservation rancher plaque to Huddleston and his wife.

Ellis said the ranch was "something run down" when Huddleston took it over. Since 1970, however, the rancher has implemented a brush control program, grass seeding, improved water system and cross-fencing.

Area cotton gins playing 'catch up' as weather clears

Garza County's "spring 1973 cotton harvest" was reported at its busiest again this week with most area gins working from 12 hours to around the clock, and cotton continuing to pile up on the gin yards.

A Dispatch "gin check" yesterday morning, showed 24,147 bales of Garza cotton ginned to date with 533 more bales of it on the gin yards.

That was an increase of nearly 5,000 bales since the last Dispatch "gin check" Feb. 1 before bad weather—snow and rain, deep and lots of it—shut down the harvest for virtually an entire month.

But prospects appear as good today as when bad weather forced that weeks-ago halt.

Cotton prices have dropped a bit, the mike has sagged too, but all in all what few cards have come back from the government cotton classing offices show the cotton is maintaining a great survival quality this year.

Prospects are still for a new record harvest before everything (See Cotton harvest, Page 8)

Rites conducted for J. F. Storie

Last rites for Joseph Frank "Boots" Storie, 89, a resident of Post and Garza County since 1915, were conducted at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday at the First United Methodist Church, with the Rev. Robert Griffin, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating.

Storie, a retired farmer, died at 11:15 p.m. Sunday in Garza Memorial Hospital following a brief illness.

Born Feb. 17, 1884, in Missouri, he moved from Knox County to Garza County where the family had purchased a farm in the Close City community. He was married to Miss Pearl Lohm on May 16, 1924, at Tahoka. Storie had been a Baptist since childhood.

Survivors include his wife, Pearl; a son, Calvin Storie of Richardson, and two grandchildren.

Bob Stice, director of music and education for the First Baptist Church, sang "How Great Thou Art" and "In the Garden" at the funeral services, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Glenn Norman. The Rev. Rex Newkirk, pastor of the Trinity Baptist Church, assisted the Rev. Mr. Griffin in the service.

Burial was in Terrace Cemetery under the direction of Huddman Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Wayne Carpenter, Floy Richardson, George Pierce, Wade Terry, Wilbur Williams and Jimmie Redman.

Choir to present musical 2 nights

The musical, "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown," will be presented by the Post High School choir on Thursday and Saturday nights, March 15 and March 17.

Each performance will begin at 7:30 o'clock in the primary school auditorium, according to Georgie M. Willison, choir director.

The cast will be: Charlie Brown, Rodney Compton; Linus, Bill Hudson; Schroeder, Steve Hays; Lucy, Dana Pool; Patty, Sue Britton; Snoopy, Jo Geth Gandy.

Mary Ann Norman will be the accompanist.

O. L. Weakley, 76, dies this morning

O. L. (Ollie) Weakley, 76, of 713 West 7th St., a resident of Post since 1909, died this morning in University Hospital in Lubbock where he had been in critical condition for about two weeks. Funeral arrangements are pending at Mason Funeral Home.

Weakley was a retired banker and realtor and a former mayor of Post. He retired from the First National Bank here with Ira Lee Duckworth several years ago when Irby G. Metcalf Jr., bought the controlling interest in the bank. After that, Weakley and Duckworth went into the real estate and loan business, from which Weakley retired a few years ago.

He was a World War I veteran and active in civic affairs here for many years. Survivors include his wife, Kate, of the home, and two sisters, Mrs. Ray N. Smith of Post and Mrs. Frank Lanotte of Mateca, Calif.

Meals on Wheels' will roll Monday

County's new Hot Meals program for the Senior Citizens program will get under way here with volunteers delivering meals at noon five days a week to persons in their homes. Mrs. Tubbs, chairman of the Meals on Wheels program for the Garza County Community Action organization, has the names of ten senior citizens she plans to deliver meals to.

Meals are needed to be delivered on Mondays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays, and Saturdays.

For the present time, the meals will be purchased from Darby Don's Restaurant for $1 each. The reason meals will be delivered Saturdays instead of Wednesdays is that the restaurant is closed Wednesdays.

The Garza County Community Action Committee, Inc., as a non-profit corporation, has signed a contract to receive $3,000 next week from the South Plains Community Action Association, Inc., to finance the meals for a six-months experimental program here.

Jim Cornish, president of the Garza County Community Action organization, signed the contract here Tuesday afternoon with Howard Madders, executive director of the SP-CAA.

At a final planning session Tuesday night at Darby Don's, the advisory committee for the Hot Meals program will meet. (See Hot meals, Page 8)

Chamber goals can be attained

The Dispatch wishes J. B. Potts well in his leadership of the Post Chamber of Commerce, the presidency of which he took over recently at the annual membership banquet.

The new Chamber president outlined some ambitious goals for the organization, and with the momentum carried over from a successful year in 1972, the chances are good that all, or most, of these goals will be attained under Potts' leadership.

The new president stressed rural involvement, which would make the Chamber more county-wide in scope than it is now or has been in the past.

Other points in his program include pride in the community on the part of members as well as non-members, more housing, overnight camping facilities, new business firms, and a continuation of efforts to get the Post Lake built and to get an interstate highway designation through Post.

It will take the combined efforts of the more than 100 members of the Chamber, as well as the cooperation of the entire community to achieve these goals. Most of all, it will take the total commitment to progress in 1973 asked for by the new president in his acceptance speech.—CD

You're registered—more than likely

With three spring elections coming up less than a month from now—April 7, to be exact—there is still some confusion about the voter registration laws, as well there might be, considering the numerous changes of the last few years.

However, any person who registered for the 1972 voting year does not have to re-register for the April 7 elections, nor for any other elections to be held in 1973 or 1974. The "A Series" registration certificates issued from Oct. 1, 1971, to Jan. 31, 1973, are effective for three full voting years, unless the voter moves out of the county or is convicted of a felony or declared mentally incompetent. These registrations are still valid, even if the voter failed to vote in the primary or general elections in 1972. Any person who voted in the May primary, the June runoff, or the November general election will have his registration extended for one additional voting year.

For persons who did not register in 1972, or for new residents of the county, any application received after Jan. 31, 1973, will receive a "B Series" registration certificate which will be effective as of March 1, 1973. The certificates will be valid for the 1973, 1974 and 1975 voting years.—CD

Predator control bills gaining

The sheep ranchers of Texas appear to be gaining the upper hand in arguments over the control of coyotes and other predators.

In fact, sheep ranchers may be shooting coyotes from airplanes soon if two bills approved last week by a Senate committee become law.

"Without aircraft, you're defenseless," Bert Dennis of Gail told the Senate Resources Committee. Bert Dennis had his brother, John, both well known in Post and Garza County, are two of West Texas' biggest sheep raisers.

The Dennis brothers have lost heavily to coyotes. Bert Dennis told the Senate committee that at least 100 coyotes have been killed recently in a six-mile by 20-mile section of Borden County, and said he could remember years when he lost 25 per cent of his sheep to predators.

The Senate committee also heard from Mark Mertz, spokesman for the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, who said, "A coyote is no more compatible with a sheep than if someone threw a buss in a goldfish bowl."

Only one witness testified against the two predator control bills, and even she agreed with the sponsors that some control is necessary.

But that control should be supervised by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission and not by the Texas Animal Health Commission, Margaret Louise Hill of the Texas League of Conservation Voters said.

She also warned that killing too many coyotes would result in a population explosion of rodents and rabbits, which would eat vegetation and increase the number of acres needed to support a cow or sheep. Colorado has moved to protect coyotes for just this reason, she said.

But, as Sen. Jack Hightower of Vernon reminded the committee, "coyotes are not an endangered species; we're not talking about elimination or extermination, we're talking about control."

There, in a manner of speaking, you have both sides of the question, and it shouldn't be hard for you to tell how we feel about it. We are of the opinion that the only good coyote is a dead one.—CD

County is designated for skin test survey

The Texas State Health Department, TB Control Division, has designated Garza County for one of the first rural skin testing surveys in Region II. Officials reported that an active case of tuberculosis has been reported to the health department this year from Garza County.

Results from a skin testing survey in May, 1972, in Post included tests for 97 citizens. Twenty-seven people, out of 77 tests read, were found to be positive reactors. The largest number who were medically evaluated were in the 61-plus age group, while the largest number placed on chemoprophylaxis were in the 41-50 age group.

Close City has been chosen as the first location for the rural testing program, set for March 14 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the community center there. The Graham community center will be the second location site on March 21.

Mrs. Clifford Sharp, executive, West Texas Area, Texas TB and Respiratory Disease Association, said: "The State Department of Health sees the need for this county-wide testing program for the protection of citizens of Garza County. We hope that by cooperating in the tuberculin skin test survey, Mrs. Dana Feaster, County Extension agent, (Lou) Marks, board West Texas Area, assisting in planning the survey."

"I held out for $300 and got it." Unfortunately, it was a hit and earned Davis $50,000. When the copyright ran out 28 years later, in 1966, Tillman got it back and even today is paid about $2,000 annually in royalties. It has been recorded by virtually everyone at one time or another, Ferlin Husky, Jerry Lee Lewis, the Supremes.

Knowing a little more about the recording game, Tillman kept writing. Later, Davis appeared again and wanted to buy the rights to another Tillman number, "Two More Years and I'll Be Free." Tillman parted with only half, but the song didn't do too well.

Comes World War II and Tillman joins the Army Air Corps to see the world. He composes songs at night and on furlough records them. "They Took Stars Out of Heaven" and "Each Night at Nine" were two of the bigger ones.

"After the war I got my own band together and composed some more songs. Then in 1948, I wrote 'I Love You So Much It Hurts Me.' A year later I wrote my second biggest hit, 'Slippin' Around.' It is still being recorded and even my original is still on sale, although they switched it from a 78 to 45."

In 1950, Tillman scored again "Gotta Get My Baby Back." All told, he published or recorded 212 of his songs, and he has that many more unpublished. "I still write songs because some day there will be a market again for my type of melodies. No, I wasn't born too soon, because today I couldn't get anything published. tant that phone call becomes for libraries such as ours. We can't grow very large. Our population limits what we can afford. But we can be as big as your need—as long as we can still make that phone call.

Here's where budget cutting comes in. Funds for the Library System are being cut back. A bill for library services is presently on the President's desk, but its fate is uncertain. With the economy in the state it's in—and don't ask me what state that is, I still don't understand economics!—no one can predict what will happen to Library money.

We are preparing for the worst. We've already had word that alternatives plans are in the hopper to revise the Inter-library loan system. The free phone call may no longer be free. The speed with which requests are filled will necessarily slow down.

The kind of books you can order will have more restrictions. You may have to accept more substitute titles than you did in the past. For the time being it looks very much like library service is going to be an undependable thing. And if you ask me, that's a shame! It's more than a shame, it's frightening.

There's a spirit in our society today that discourages free thought and free enquiry. We are pressed on all sides to conform, to accept the majority opinion, to avoid criticizing the government or public officials. Such a state may be nice for the officials but it threatens the freedom of our citizens.

Traditionally books and libraries have been the necessary corrective to an oppressive society. There the availability of free information has always been guaranteed. You don't have to like what you find there, nor agree with what you read, but the information you need is accessible to all.

The arbitrary cutting down of funds for libraries, with almost no voice crying out in alarm, suggests that we are ready to have this guardian of our freedom wither away. You may not notice any difference immediately but the day could come when your children will look for facts and no longer be able to find them.

Free libraries, libraries with a collection that is uncensored and open to all, will be a thing of the past.

I wish I understood economics! If that is economical who can afford the price? Any way you look at it, the price will be freedom itself.

Looks like rain again! Hope it does stay dry for the farmers. Everyone is doing very well here. Bonnie Medlin is not feeling up to par yet, but is lots better.

Bro. Ford brought a wonderful message Sunday, March 4. A group came with him and sang for us. We really enjoy these people who take time to come to our people who are not able to go to church. (Please, all who come, register so I'll know who came.)

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Inklebarger of Tahoka came to see Mrs. Inklebarger. She also had some visitors Saturday who did not register.

Mrs. Wanda Cox brought us a bird feeder and bird seed from the Garden Club. Thank you so much. I know our people will enjoy watching the birds this spring and summer.

The Robinson family, Katherine and Waggoner Johnson visited Mrs. Ellis.

Mr. and Mrs. Leamon Mathis visited Mr. Brookshire and Preston.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goliehon of Littlefield and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wilson of Slaton visited Bera Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Obert Stevens and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Mienzer, all of Childress, Mr. and Mrs. James Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Mitchell visited Mrs. Mary Alice Mitchell.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Mickey and Mrs. Willie Scarborough visited Ollie Mickey.

Mrs. Ruby Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Gurley and Fleeta Walls visited Mrs. Gurley.

Mrs. Ada Queen received a call the first of the week that her son was in the hospital. Last night (Sunday) she received another call that he was better and might go home soon. It was a great relief for her to hear that he was better.

The ministers visited all of us during the week. We appreciate their calls.

Others visiting were Lee Williams, Patsy Sanderson, Edith Clary, Inez Huntley, Evelyn Jones, Mary Tillman and Lottie Sanders. More came who did not register.

Mrs. C. B. Bilberry visited Mrs. McDougle.

Phone company adopts new method of billing customers—'ficheing'

BROWNFIELD — Personnel in the Brownfield business office of the General Telephone Company of the Southwest began March 1, 1973 "ficheing" (pronounced as fishing) from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Other business offices throughout the company will begin the new program by May.

The odd spelling of "fiche" should give a hint this is not the sport thousands enjoy. Actually, these "fiche" are flat pieces of microfilm which contain hundreds of copies of customer bills. Business offices in San Angelo, Guyton, Okla., Sulphur Springs and Port Lavaca were the first to convert from paper copies of customer bills to microfilmed copies.

C. R. Robison, vice president-service, said the new method of customer record keeping is only one example of the constant efforts to reduce operating costs while improving service. The new record system makes record retrieval more expedient while saving com-panywide in operating expenses. Also, considerable space for storage is saved since one card measuring 4 by 6 1/8 inches contains information that formerly required space measuring 6 by 7 1/4 by 23 inches. Robison said the new concept is part of computer output to microfilm (COM) whereby a picture is made of the customer's bill as it is being printed, which is then reproduced on microfiche. This can be done at speeds 20 to 30 times faster than the impact printer can produce paper copies. The microfiche, each containing up to 800 pages of local statements, are mailed to the business offices in place of the paper copies. Viewers, which resemble a small television set in appearance, are provided to each business office along with a reader-printer which can reproduce paper copies when required.

Robison stated that while the primary savings is in reduced computer time, there are also some benefits to the business offices and to the customers. Studies taken in other companies using microfiche have revealed faster access and restoration of records and the obvious advantage in storage of previous records.

Young speaks on big weekend show

Tommy Young, president of the Garza County Junior Livestock Association, spoke before Post Rotarians at their Tuesday luncheon in City Hall, inviting them all to the upcoming show and their participation in the livestock sale Saturday afternoon.

He explained new rules and classes for this year's show. Jim McGehee, new executive director of the ASCS here, was inducted into the club as a new member by Bob Collier.

Following the luncheon Rotary directors voted $50 from the club funds to be used in the purchase of an animal at the junior livestock sale.

Phyllis Eckols is third in speech

Phyllis Eckols, Post High School senior, won third place in persuasive speaking at an interschool speech meet held recently in Lubbock.

Phyllis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Eckols, was one of a number of Post students taking part in the speech meet. The two students who finished ahead of Phyllis in persuasive speaking were from Class AAAA schools.

Phyllis was to have learned Wednesday what her next stop would be in the speech contest, since her third place win qualified her for further competition.

Blacklock rites held Saturday

Funeral services for Thomas J. Blacklock, 79, a resident of Post and Garza County since 1928, were held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Trinity Baptist Church.

Blacklock, a retired farmer and for many years custodian at the Garza County courthouse, died Wednesday night of last week in St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock, where he had been a patient for about a week.

Born April 21, 1893, in Callahan County, he was married to Miss Fannie Lee Miller, at Levita, in Coryell County, on Sept. 10, 1911.

Surviving are his wife; one son, Roy Blacklock of Cleburne; three daughters, Mrs. Ruby Nell Davis of Post, Mrs. Frances (Pauline) White of Monterey Park, Calif., and Mrs. Claudine Hickerson of Garden Grove, Calif.; three brothers, Virgil and Pat Blacklock, both of Post, and Bill Blacklock of Miles, Tex.; one sister, Mrs. Bessie Franks of Stephenville; 14 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

The Rev. Jimmy McGuire, pastor of Arnett-Benson Baptist Church in Lubbock, officiated at the funeral services, assisted by the Rev. Rex Newkirk, pastor.

Interment was in Terrace Cemetery with Mason Funeral Home directing. Pallbearers were Harold Britton, Sam A. Horton Jr., Wayne Eckols, Marvin Williams, Jim Wells and Bobby Gordon.

MRS. ROY LEE BILBERRY (Geri Sue Baker)

Son of former residents wed in Dallas Saturday, March 3

Miss Geri Sue Baker became the bride of Roy Lee Bilberry, Saturday, March 3 at 2 p.m. in the Oak Cliff Methodist Church in Dallas. The Rev. M. C. Bledsoe, officiated the double ring ceremony.

Graham Thursday Club has all-day luncheon

An all-day covered dish luncheon was held in the home of Mrs. Bernice Propst of Lubbock at the March 1 meeting of the Graham Thursday Club.

The afternoon was spent sewing, visiting and crocheting. Those attending were: Mmes. Myrtice Hoover, Loucille Morris, both of Plainview, Iris McMahon, Ada Oden, Pearl Wallace and Viva Davis.

The next meeting will be March 15.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Peters of Dallas and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Bilberry of Dallas, formerly of Post.

The bride wore a formal gown of lace over satin with an empire waist and full lace sleeves with wide cuffs. Her elbow-length veil of silk illusion fell in a mist around a crown of lace and satin flowers. The bride carried out the tradition of something new, borrowed and blue.

Miss Teresa Eckert of Austin was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Kathie Bilberry of Dallas, sister of the bridegroom, and Christie Baker of Austin, sister of the bride. They each wore formal gowns of blue satin with thin bouffant sleeves.

Miss Shelly Bradshaw of Dallas, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. Her dress was identical to that of the other attendants.

Buster Giles of Dallas served as best man, and groomsmen were Johnny Bilberry, brother of the bridegroom, and Mead Johnson of Dallas.

The bride is a January graduate of Sunset High School in Dallas. The bridegroom attended the Post schools until 1965 when they moved to Dallas. He is a 1969 graduate of Sunset High and is employed with the Haden Door Company in Dallas.

The bridegroom is the nephew of Mrs. Ruth Martin and Mrs. Eugene Martin both of Post.

Xi Delta Rho's Game Day benefit to be March 17

A "Game Day Benefit" will be held Saturday, March 17 from 1 to 5 p.m. in the community room of the bank by the Xi Delta Rho chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

The proceeds from the benefit will go toward the sorority's annual education-project. Games to be played will be bridge, canasta, "42" and others.

The admission will be $1.25 at the door or tickets are available from members. Pie and coffee will be served.

The sorority met Feb. 26 with Mrs. Janella Green as hostess and Mrs. Joyce Teaff as co-hostess. Plans for the benefit were completed during the business session and a donation was taken to purchase a filing cabinet for the special school.

Mrs. Teaff presented the program.

Those attending were: Mmes. Johnnie Francis, Mary Eckols, Joy Orr, Margaret Price, Lois Kennedy, Judy Bradshaw, Doris Giddens, Green and Teaff.

Delegates to HD meeting elected

The delegates who will attend the district meeting to be held in Colorado City on April 5 were elected at a meeting of the Garza County Home Demonstration Council Feb. 28.

Mrs. Lois Fluitt, chairman, presided during the meeting and delegates elected were: Mmes. Louise Robinson of Graham, Hooter Terry of Close City, Mae McMahon of Barnum Springs. The alternates are Mrs. Viva Davis, Mrs. Inez Ritchie and Jewell Long. Also during the business session, plans for the fair, starting March 8 were discussed.

Those attending were: Mmes. Della Davis, Selma Loveless, Shirley Bland, Faye Payton, Lola Peel, Jewell Long, Pearl Wallace, Fluitt, Robinson, Davis and Mrs. Dana Feaster, county agent.

Women's Division talks projects

The Women's Division of the Post Chamber of Commerce will continue to sponsor the Well-Baby Clinic. It was decided in a discussion of the year's projects at a luncheon meeting Tuesday.

The organization also will give away button pins to advertise and boost Post.

The only new committee appointments made were Mrs. Marie Neff to the finance committee and Mrs. Pat Furlong to the Well-Baby Clinic committee. Other committees will remain unchanged from last year.

Those attending were: Mmes. Virgie Young, Maxine Marks, Iris Rogers, Betty Posey, Ruby Kirkpatrick, Evelyn Neff, Pearl Nance, Marie Neff, Patsy McCowen and Inez Hartel.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

"Do You Really Believe in Devils?" will be the subject of Minister Bernard S. Ramsey's sermon at the 11 a.m. worship hour at the First Christian Church this Sunday. The Lord's Supper will also be observed. The usual 7 p.m. home fellowship will be held, with the place to be announced. Wednesday night, March 14, prayer meeting will be held, with the minister continuing his series on the "Life and Teachings of Jesus Christ."

Potluck

By ROSEMARY CHAPMAN

Everybody knows that there used to be a bunch of Indians running around here in Garza County. The problem is, if you're interested in collecting any of the evidence for yourselves these days, the pickings are getting mighty slim.

The drawings on Cow's Head were discovered long ago. Likewise, the grave of the Indian Princess. That leaves arrowheads and other small artifacts, and if you've been arrowhead hunting lately, you know that you don't justacci dentally stumbled across them anymore.

The novice arrowhead hunter, then, could well use some good advice on finding arrowheads, and that is exactly what today's column is about. There's no point in consulting Chief Runkles or Emmett Shedd for tips when you can get them right here in The Post Dispatch.

First of all, in order to find an arrowhead, you must learn to think like an Indian. This may sound difficult but it's not. It just takes practice.

Try it. Play like you're an Indian. O.K.? Food is scarce this winter but you spotted a deer this morning and you've been tracking it all day. At 5:30 p.m. you shoot it with your trusty little bow and arrow. You're hot, dusty, tired, hungry, and thirsty. What do you do next?

Got it? Right! You look for water. Remember, Indians didn't wear shoes in those days so after a long day's hunting, their socks were always filthy. It was very important to an Indian to find water so he could do the laundry.

It's simple, really, to think like an Indian, and now that you know how to, you should be able to find lots of arrowheads. Just look for them wherever an Indian's been.

Indians liked to camp on high ground. That's a good place to look. On the other hand, lots of Indians probably chased buffalo across low ground, so you might look there too. As a matter of fact, there might have been an Indian standing right on the spot where your house is now. Dig.

When looking for arrowheads, proper clothing is a must. Blue jeans, a dirty old shirt, comfy boots and a sunhat are good choices, but the most important items to wear when arrowhead hunting are false eyelashes.

If you run into a cowboy out in the wilderness, he may sneer at you for wearing your false eyelashes. It is important to remember that you are not trying to impress a live cowboy. You are trying to impress a dead Indian. When of Chief Spotted Bottom pulls back the flap of that Great Wig-wam In The Sky and sees you wandering glamorously around his old hunting grounds, he's going to say, "Honey, I left one right over there. Take it and go."

One last word of advice: one should always look for arrowheads on Saturday. If you find one, you can take it to church with you Sunday morning and tell all of your friends, "Look what I found yesterday."

Happy hunting!

Seniors in the Spotlight

By ANN ATEN

TOL THOMAS
Tol, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Thomas, has three sisters. His father is a mailman, and Mrs. Thomas works at the Snack Shack. In Tol's spare time he enjoys riding horses and bulls, but most of all he enjoys chasing girls.

During high school he has participated in FFA, FCA, band, football, basketball, track, and tennis. The one thing Tol enjoyed most about school was playing football and basketball.

Tol thinks that the under-classes can better PHS by being proud of their school, having pride in it, and backing all athletics.

In the future Tol plans to go to college and major in veterinary medicine or animal husbandry.

ANN ATEN

Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Aten. Mr. Aten is a farmer and Mrs. Aten is a housewife. Ann has one brother, Bill. In her spare time she enjoys playing the piano and reading. But she enjoys being with old friends the most. During school Ann has partici-

VISIT IN DETROIT

Mr. and Mrs. Vancil Bowen and their daughter, Gail, visited in Detroit, Tex., over the weekend with the Bownens' daughters and families, and their new granddaughter, Amy Lynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith and son, and Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchell.

VISITS DAUGHTERS

Mrs. Ann Altman visited last week with her daughters and families, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Holliman of Brownwood and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Max Gordon of Stephenville.

pated in FTA and the Spanish Club one year, FHA two years, choir four years, paper staff, and she was chosen "Most Witty". The one thing that she regrets most about school is leaving friends, and not being the person that she could have been.

In the future Ann plans either to go to college or to beauty school in Lubbock.

JOHN JOHNSON

Mr. and Mrs. Wagoner Johnson are the parents of John Johnson. John has one brother, Jerry, and his parents are farmers. In his spare time he enjoys going to rodeos, sports, and raising Hereford cattle. John attends the Methodist church.

The things that John enjoys most about school is being together with friends and being a Senior. He thinks that under-classesmen can make PHS a better place by having more pride in being a student here and having more pride and support for the Antelopes.

After graduation John will attend Tarleton State College and Texas A&M and study veterinary medicine.

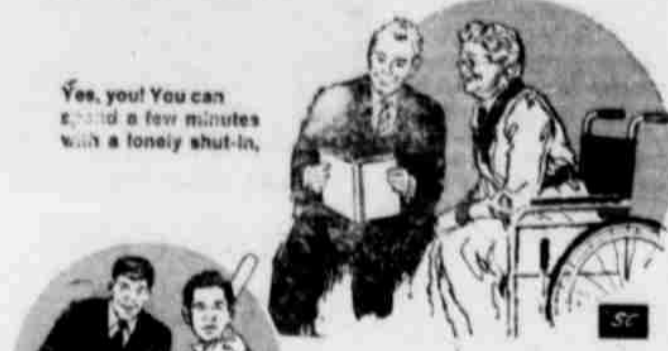

PAM FEAGIN

Pam is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Z. E. Feagin. She has three brothers and one sister. Mrs. Feagin is a housewife and Mr. Feagin works at the Mill. Pam enjoys cooking, sewing and sports in her spare time. Pam attends the Calvary Baptist Church.

During high school Pam has participated in basketball for four years, track, pep squad, and Hero Chapter for two years, and FHA for three years and an officer one year.

In life Pam hopes to become a special education teacher. She plans to attend Odessa Junior College after education.

YOU Can make someone's life happier, richer, and more significant.

Yes, you! You can spend a few minutes with a lonely shut-in.

An afternoon on the playing field.

Or an evening helping a young mind comprehend the wonders of the world about it.

To share your gold is easy; to share your experience, your knowledge, your waking hours — and your love — demands much more; and when you share the richness of these... truly you share your life! The SHARE YOUR LIFE program is suggested by your Kiwanis Club for all men and women of goodwill everywhere.

Outsider Basketball Games

The Southland Seniors want to thank everyone who helped with the outsider basketball games last Tuesday night, Feb. 27. Outsiders who played in the women's game were: Mmes. Carolyn Courtney, Anne Chaffin, Pat Kitchens, Mickey Miles, Libby McGehee, Jean Adamek, Marion Riney, Karen Callaway, and Miss Norma Eckert. The high school girls won, 72-22. Mrs. Janie Abshire was the women's coach.

The men basketball players were: Dennis McGehee, Stanley Abshire, Curtis Abshire, Max Courtney, Cecil Stolle, Johnny Haire, Robert Lee Mock, David Mock, Allen Miles, Valton Wheeler, and Ferrel Wheeler. The outsiders defeated the high school boys 42-34. Max Chaffin was the men's coach.

Referees for the women's game were Coach Donny Windham and Stanley Abshire. Coach Windham and Chaffin refereed the men's game.

The seniors made $140 from admissions, an auction, and the concession stand.

Fourth Grade Field Trip

Mrs. Betty Hall's fourth grade English class saw "Snowball Express" at Showplace 4 in Lubbock, Friday, Mar. 2. Other adults attending were Supt. Ray Simmons, Mrs. Elsin Crawford, and Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Smallwood. Fifteen students made the trip.

According to Mrs. Hall, the class is beginning a unit called, "Let's Talk About Movies." They will be studying the newspaper, the correct use of the telephone, practical math skills, letter writing, and careers in movie management.

Spelling Bee

Five Southland students will compete in the Garza County Spelling Bee at 2:30 p.m. Friday, March 16 in the Post Junior High School library. The students are: Elaine Buxkemper, Katrina Chaffin, Suzie Beck, Curt Wheeler and Nathan Wheeler. Mrs. Peggy Wheeler is the sponsor.

Interscholastic League

Mrs. Carolyn Courtney plans to enter Bobbie Tuttle and possibly two or three other third graders in Interscholastic League story telling competition.

Mrs. Laura Jo Wheeler will sponsor two students in the high school journalism division. Kendon Wheeler will be entered in the headline writing contest, and Johnny Wheeler in feature writing.

Seven students will participate in Interscholastic League spelling competition. In the fifth, sixth grade division, Terry Scott Smallwood, Todd Taylor, and Scott Beck will compete. Suzie Beck plans to spell in the seventh-eighth grade division. Kelly Chaffin, Kendon Wheeler and Jenny Wheeler will compete in the high school spelling contest. Mrs. Laura Jo Wheeler will sponsor these spelling students at the league contests to be held at New Home during the last week in March.

Track Meets

The junior high track meets are as follows:
Earth, March 10; Jayton, March 17; Gail, March 24; Sundown, March 3; Spur, April 6 (District).
The high school track schedule is as follows:

Who Cares? What Difference Does It Make

By George L. Miller

Before morning they were drenched by a sudden rain shower. When her mother chided her for her carelessness the girl replied, "I don't care" and walked away.

A father, on discovering his teenage son had been taking drugs, pleaded with the boy to think what he was doing to himself. "I'm not hurting anyone but myself" the boy replied, "What difference does it make to you?"

A young wife, on discovering that her husband had been systematically stealing from the company for which he worked, was shocked and asked him how he could do such a thing and still live with himself. "Why not?" he answered. "Everybody does it, so who's to care?"

Such answers are sad for they each reveal a sick view of life. It really doesn't matter what we do, nothing matters. That's what each is saying.

For a lot of people it really doesn't matter. Life has no point to it, their decisions don't make a difference. Worst of all, they themselves don't count. They might as well do as they please for no one cares. But what about the rest of us? Do we matter? Do we care?

"It doesn't matter if I slack off on the job today they're not paying me what I'm entitled to anyway."

"There nothing wrong with having a little fun while you're out of town, what the wife doesn't know won't hurt her."

Many of the choices we make could be summed up with the words "Who cares? It's my business, isn't it?" It may be, but if it really doesn't matter what God put his Son on a cross for? Do you suppose he cares?

SPRING FASHIONS CURRENT SCENE
 Every weekend we had last season's mind to turn to fashion as it may have changed. Several magazines say fashion separates will be the key. They can make any fashion statement from quiet.

Looking at the up-coming season, one would think that design had spent time in old-fashioned garb. From pin stripes to stripes, designers are using them in vertical, horizontal and diagonal designs.

What's new for spring are half treatments. Look for stripes and half solid stripes. Cardigan sweaters also are in similar designs—such as side stripes and the other side striped and the other side solid color panels.

Color schemes likewise vary from quiet—navy with white and lavender and white and red, navy and white—also in the season's garments. "Biggy" this year is embroidery and lace which promises to be a spring fashion—for women.

Fashions going dressy are on embroidery. One is the increased popularity of at-home clothes for lounging and entertaining. This caused special trims to add to dressy appearances.

Home sewing is another trend. And finally, people are on the lookout for something different. Embroidery is just as exciting and colorful, with new and surface appeal.

"Big embroidery comebacks" are eyelets, lace, embroidered trims and appliques. Embroidery will appear on checks, plaids, and patterned fabrics. Color is the clean, clear and crisp.

Including men's sports and women's dressier garments will feature it. With about accessories—tailored clothes coming in accessories will go along with a touch of drama.

Coming from the top down, hats belong in the spring picture. Fashion leaders have already had the stretch jersey turban, so they'll add the sharp-lined hats, especially cowboy with hats, scarves remain in the spring picture. Favorite come in every possible arrangement of dots and stripes. If not concerned about the "big thing" any brightly colored will be the small cowboy hat close around the throat

UP FOR NATIONAL HONORS

Baylor coed from Post in nationwide contest

WACO—Two Baylor University coeds have been selected to compete in nationwide contests for honors and scholarships during the national conclave of the Arnold Air Society and Angel Flight March 26-31 in Salt Lake City, Utah.

The coeds are Kathy Luckett and Nancy Norman, who were named area winners in contests sponsored by the two organizations. Their selection came during the organizations' recent area meeting on the campus of the University of Southwestern Louisiana at Lafayette.

Miss Luckett was chosen Arnold Air Society Little Colonel and will be the nominee for the national title of Little General for Area G-2 of the honorary professional organization for outstanding Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) cadets.

Beauty, achievements, scholarship and campus activities of the nominees are considered in selecting the winner, who is considered the most representative member of Angel Flight in the nation.

Angel Flight is the women's honorary service organization sponsored by Arnold Air Society. Miss Norman was chosen to compete for one of three $300 scholarships to be awarded members of Angel Flight at the national conclave.

It was announced during the meeting that the Baylor Arnold Air Society squadron will serve as host for the society's 1974 national conclave to be held next spring in Houston.

Miss Norman, 20, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Norman of 1005 West 10th St. in Post, a 1970 graduate of Post High School, she is a junior elementary education major at the Baptist university.

Col. Warren D. Curton is professor and head of the aerospace studies department, which sponsors Arnold Air Society and Angel Flight at Baylor.

wildlife of a foreign country. These cases illustrate the legal issues that have arisen out of efforts to preserve "endangered species." As a rule, courts have looked with favor upon such efforts.

Nevertheless, if the state may act on behalf of animals, it may also act on behalf of hunters. In another case, lawmakers decided to introduce a special breed of deer into remote sections of the state—for the benefit of sportsmen.

Some residents opposed the plan, partly because of the harm the deer might inflict upon the flora and fauna of the region.

But after a court test, their objections were overruled. The court said the state's police power included the right to make the state more appealing and more profitable as a recreational area.

However, a court ruled that the measure was indeed within the "police power" of the state.

"Protection of animals," said the court, "is necessary not only for their natural beauty and for biological study but (also) for the key role they play in the maintenance of the life cycle."

Not long afterward, a shoe dealer tried another line of attack on the same law.

"It hurts our chances of making a living," said the dealer. "It destroys our property rights without due process of law."

But again the court upheld the legislation. The court said the shoe dealer simply had no "property right" to begin with in the

It's the Law...

ALLIGATOR VS. SHOEMAKER
 With ecology in mind, a state legislature banned the sale of alligator skins within the borders of the state. In short order, a maker of men's shoes went to court with the following objection:

"This law is unconstitutional. True, the state does have the power to protect consumers. But here they are not trying to protect consumers. They are trying to protect alligators. That is beyond the scope of legislative authority."

Variance from cotton dust standards sought

DALLAS — Burlington Industries, Inc., has applied to the Labor Department for a temporary variance from federal job health standards on employee exposure to cotton dust.

In a related action the department announced its denial of Burlington's request for an interim order to permit the company to vary from federal standards pending a decision by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) on its application.

OSHA standards limit employee exposure to raw cotton dust to one milligram of dust per cubic meter of air, based on an 8-hour time-weighted average. Prolonged exposure to heavy air concentrations can cause byssinosis, a disabling lung disease.

In its application, Burlington said its own studies showed that washing or steaming cotton will inactivate the agent in the dust that causes respiratory problems. The company says it knows of no feasible means of complying with the OSHA standard in all areas, despite its use of engineering controls in its plants. The company also says installing a proper steaming procedure in all plants using raw cotton is costly and time-consuming.

Burlington, therefore, is seeking the temporary variance to permit further research with experimental steamers in selected cotton gins. The company said these would remove the irritant before the cotton reaches manufacturing plants.

On Burlington's request for an interim order, Chain Robbins, Deputy Assistant Secretary of Labor and Administrator of OSHA, said that since OSHA cotton dust standards permit compliance by using personal protective equipment in addition to engineering controls, Burlington may be able to comply with the standard.

"Because of this, it appears that a variance is unnecessary to complete the research project, and therefore the interim order is denied," Robbins ordered.

However, Robbins invited affected employers and employees to submit their views or requests for a hearing by March 9 to the OSHA Office of Standards, Room 500, 400 First Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. 20210.

Robbins said copies of the application, affecting 39 Burlington plants in North and South Carolina, Mississippi, Virginia and Texas, are available for inspection and copying at the OSHA Office of Standards in Washington, D. C., and at OSHA field offices in Charlotte, N. C., Dallas, and Lubbock, Texas, Atlanta, Ga., Philadelphia, Pa., and Richmond, Va. The notice appeared in the Federal Register of Feb. 7, 1973.

County historians host recipients of Chamber awards

Eight speakers, including the "outstanding" award winners at the annual Post Chamber of Commerce banquet, were heard at the March meeting of the Garza County Historical Survey Committee held Tuesday morning in the bank community room.

Mrs. Patty Kirkpatrick, named as outstanding woman of the year, told of her work in the Boy Scout and Girl Scout programs, and also with the special education school.

The Rev. George L. Miller, recipient of the "Man of the Year" award, related some of his experiences as a young preacher, and also of his work with the library and Community Action committee.

Bobby and Jennie Cowdrey, who received the "Farm Family of the Year" award, told of their experiences as farmers and their family, community and church life.

Mrs. Maxine Marks spoke on behalf of the Post Music Club, which was named outstanding organization of the year. The subject of her talk was "Love," and how the love of music has helped influence the young people of the community.

Mrs. Ruby Kirkpatrick reported on the women's division of the Chamber of Commerce and the work it has done since its organization.

Mrs. Joy Parker told of the latest project of the Pink Ladies of the Garza Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, which is to furnish drapes for windows in three rooms of the hospital.

A brief talk on the history and activities of the Woman's Culture Club was made by Nita Burress, president of the club.

City council—

cooperation in helping control it.
—Heard a report that three deep pits in the south part of town had been filled in by the city and decided to take action on a fourth open pit in the same area.

The bid of Plains Machinery Co. of Lubbock, the lowest of two submitted, was accepted for the purchase of a new street sweeper. The new Wayne sweeper will cost the city $19,285, less a $4,240 trade-in allowance for the old sweeper, making the cost less than $15,045. West Texas Equipment Co. was the other bidder.

In voting to pay half the librarian's salary, the council is going along with similar action taken by the county commissioners' court last week. The city will share the annual salary, matching the $1,745.53 voted by the county. The librarian's salary is now being paid by federal funds due for cutoff either June 30 or Aug. 31 of this year.

In voting to condemn the nine junk automobiles, on which 30-day notices of the hearing had been agreed to by the request of two owners of three of the automobiles that they be given more time to remove motors or other equipment from the junkers. They said the inclement weather of the last few weeks had prevented the salvage work they intend to do on the cars before getting rid of them.

The council took no action on a request that the city repair the weather-damaged curb at Lucas Chevrolet-Olds, pending the highway department's decision in its repair work along the same stretch of the highway. It was explained that the curb and gutter repairs cannot satisfactorily be made until other repair work is done in the vicinity of the damaged curb.

The $3,000 tax exemption for declared homesteads of those 65 or over would cost the city only about $600 a year in tax money, the council was told by City Secretary Wanda Wilkerson. Mayor Giles C. McCrary called attention to two sample ordinances sent the city by the Texas Municipal League on the homestead exemptions.

The city attorney was authorized to draw up a similar ordinance for the council's consideration.

Also discussed was elimination of the city property tax, charged on automobiles. Elimination of this tax would cost the city approximately $6,500 a year, the city secretary said.

City employe Mike Sanchez, who attended the meeting in the absence of Pete Maddox, director of public works, who was ill, told the council that the city has filled in the three empty pits at the old elevator property on South "G" Place. Still remaining unfilled is a pit on the property of the Little Foundry, and the council authorized the city attorney to write the manager of the firm asking that they cooperate with the city in getting the pit filled in.

Consolidation—

consolidation with Slaton, others with Post, and some even with Wilcox, depending on their location in the district.

The first determination of majority thinking with come with the Slaton consolidation election March 31. If that goes down to defeat, then the voters will get to decide on a $300,000 new school plant sometime in April.

And if both propositions are defeated, it is difficult to say right now what might happen next.

Following the awards, John Hunter, professor of wildlife management at Texas Tech University, showed slides on wildlife management, many of which are being carried out by the university.

The invocation was by L. G. Thuet Jr. Special guests included members of the Garza County commissioners' court Paul Jones, Ted Aten, Ben Sanchez and Herbert Walls; Jim McGehee, new county executive director of the ASCS; E. A. Howard and Larry Seales, high school vocational agriculture teachers and Mrs. Inez Hartel, former county executive director of the ASCS.

Hunter, the Texas Tech professor, was introduced by J. R. Bell of the Soil Conservation Service.

Activities also begin in the section of the 4-H complex that will house the county fair when the acceptance of entries in the youth division began at 4 p. m. yesterday.

The fair is being sponsored by the Garza County Home Demonstration Council and its members clubs, with Mrs. Della Davis as general chairman.

Adult entries were being accepted from 8:30 a. m. to 12:30 noon today, with judging scheduled to begin at 1:30 this afternoon. The exhibits will be open to the public from 5 p. m. until 9 p. m. today, and 9 a. m. until 9 p. m. Friday, and 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. Saturday.

Trophies will be presented to the high point winners in both the youth and adult divisions, according to Mrs. Dana Feaster, county home demonstration agent. A door prize of Ball jar and lids will be given away at 3 p. m. Saturday in the fair building.

The home demonstration club women will operate a concession stand all three days of the fair.

ons. Since then Stone has been carrying out the "legend" and noting the results.

In a nutshell, the Indian legend says if the wind at sunrise on March 22 is from the east or northeast there will be bumper crops. From the north or northwest crops will be average. Wind from west or southwest means parched fields and had crops. A southeast wind means a poor crop.

Stone carries on the tradition using a smoke fire and plumb bob on a string for direction determination. He has burned the fire 30 minutes before and 30 minutes after sunrise.

Sunrise this March 22 is at 7:02 a. m. officially. The ceremony will start at 6:45 a. m. and continue to approximately 7:15 a. m. following which the park breakfast will be served.

Cotton harvest—

is wound up—late this month or early next.

The Garza cotton production record is something around 28,500 and this appears almost sure to be broken. It looks like the harvest conceivably could still top 30,000 bales for the first time ever.

Some ginners predict "another two weeks of good weather" would see the finish, but a whole two weeks of good weather in a row appears almost too much to expect this crop year.

Here's the harvest story gin by gin:

Storie Gin: Ginning resumed last Friday afternoon with cotton too damp in mornings and farmers harvesting only in afternoons. "We're staying busy," Manager Lonnie Peel reported, with 2,151 bales ginned or tagged out to date. He said it still looks about as good as a month ago when the weather shut-down came.

Close City Gin: 3,800 bales ginned, 140 on yard, resumed ginning last weekend, cotton about same but "maybe a little stalker" according to Gin Manager W. H. Childs. "Two weeks of good weather should see us finished," he added hopefully.

Graham Gin: 5,742 bales ginned, over 100 on yard, started up again last Thursday, went out round-the-clock operation Sunday.

Planters Gin: 3,250 bales ginned, 100 on yard, estimated "700 to 800 bales to go" by Gin Manager Bill Lentz. Operating 12 hours daily with cotton holding up "real good." A fire on a cotton trailer on the gin yard burned up only one bale of cotton. The rest on the five-bale trailer was saved.

Pleasant Valley Gin: 1,978 bales tagged out or ginned, resumed ginning last week, working 12 to 15 hours a day, estimated 1,200 or 1,300 bales to go.

Basinger Gin: 3,500 bales ginned, another 200 on yard, ginning 8 to 12 hours daily, expect to finish with something over 4,000 bales.

Grassland Co-op Gin (one third counted as Garza cotton): 5,674 bales ginned, another 100 on yard. Resumed ginning Saturday and operating 15 hours daily.

Hackberry Gin (half counted as Garza cotton): 6,488 bales ginned, 326 on yard, operating 14 hours daily, expect another 1,200 bales before finish. Quite a bit of rick cotton now being ginned. Cotton testing about same as before from cards back after resumption.

TO UNDERGO SURGERY

Mrs. Andy Stelzer, accompanied by her husband, returned to M.D. Anderson hospital in Houston today where she is scheduled to undergo preventive surgery. The Stelzers returned home from their first visit to Houston last Thursday night after Mrs. Stelzer underwent an examination and was scheduled for the upcoming surgery.

Hot meals—

Meals on Wheels program approved the ten senior citizens submitted by Mrs. Tubbs to become the first subscribers for the program.

Mrs. Tubbs reported some persons wished to pay for their meals and were able to do so, but others were unable to do so and would come under the $3,000 grant allowance.

The committee also decided Mrs. Tubbs was to appoint a committee of three to approve subscribers to be added to the program. It is expected the program here will grow to at least 25 subscribers in the weeks ahead.

Mrs. Dana Feaster, county HD agent, will serve as the nutritionist for the program, and will prepare menus for the hot meals.

The advisory committee decided against use of school lunchroom meals as not exactly the right type for senior citizens and because of the looming summer vacation period, heard a report the hospital must charge $1.50 per meal for meals prepared in the hospital kitchen, and were told by Mrs. Tubbs that no individuals have yet shown interest in the meal preparation at prices the program here can pay under governmental restrictions.

Junior High band in good showing

The Post Junior High School band won a Division I rating in sightreading and a Division II in concert, and three individual members received Division I ratings in solos at the annual Sweetwater Band Festival Saturday. Three other Post band members and a duet were awarded Division II ratings.

The Division I ratings went to Butch Pierce, snare drum solo; David Morrow, flute solo, and Donna Ammons, twirling solo.

Receiving Division II ratings were Tiana Shiver and Dana Giddens, flute solos; Jodine Tipton, clarinet solo, and Susan Jackson and Donna Josey, twirling duet.

The only other band to receive as high a ratings as Post was Sweetwater, which also earned a Division I in sightreading and a Division II in concert. The Roscoe band received two Division II's, Aspermont, two Division IV's, and Rotan a Division IV and Division II.

Teachers in workshop; stock show 'holiday'

Post school students are out of school today and Friday because so many of them participate in the Garza County Junior Livestock Show, but the teachers are still in school.

The teachers are attending a two-day workshop to hear Dr. Cole Murphy of Austin and four of his educational consultants. The workshop deals with management of individualized instruction programs and the development of packet materials.

Lunchroom Menu

Post schools lunchroom menu is for the coming week are as follows:

Monday: Meat loaf, cabbage slaw, whipped potatoes, apricot cobbler, cornbread, half pint of milk.

Tuesday: Cheeseburger, lettuce, tomato, pickles, onions, baked potato, peanut butter cake with icing, half pint milk.

Wednesday: Barbecue on bun, English peas, lettuce salad, jelly with fruit, half pint milk.

Thursday: Turkey enchilada pie, tomato and macaroni, blackeye peas, pear half, half pint milk.

Friday: Hot dogs, Pinto bean salad, lettuce wedge, buttered corn, chocolate chip cookies, half pint milk.

Archers to annual meet

The annual meeting of the Archery Club is to be held at 10 p. m. Sunday, March 11, in the community room of the National Bank. Everyone is invited to attend. An election of officers will be held, and films will be shown as a part of the program.

The club held a meeting Sunday with the following members: Johny Lowe, bowyer; Allan Hays, class; Allan Hays, second; and Troy Ball, class; Andy Felton, class; Bonnie Lowe, class; Evans Heaton, class.

Lopes second in Bulldog Relays; Abernathy is next

Some athletes to stay to exhibit stock

Antelope track and field team was runner-up in Saturday in Division II Bulldog Relays at Slaton, which will compete Friday in the school's invitational meet.

Tannehill said Tuesday "hard to tell" just how well the team would be making the season, since a number of members will be exhibiting in the junior stock show this weekend.

The team, composed mainly of sophomores, made a good showing in the Bulldog Relays at Slaton, winning the 400-yard relay, the 800-yard relay, the 1600-yard relay and the 3200-yard relay. Stamford was first in the 400-yard relay and Haskell third in the 800-yard relay.

Donald, one of Post's double winners, was first in both the 400-yard and 800-yard dashes. He also won the 440-yard relay, finishing second, good for 24 points for the team.

Place winners for the 400-yard relay were Mark Bevers in the 400-yard dash and Roger Pace in the 800-yard dash. The 400-yard relay was won by Pace and three other members of the team, which included Denny Lee, McDonald, and Jerry Tyler.

The 800-yard relay was won by Pace, Roger Pace, and Ricky Blacklock. Blacklock placed second in the 400-yard relay and third in the 800-yard relay.

BULLET POINTS
 - Pace was first mentioned in the 19th century in the context of defeating enemies by other means.

Kelvin Thomas placed third and Joe Moore fifth in the 220-yard dash, with Conoly finishing fourth and Moore sixth in the 100.

Tyler placed fifth and Shepherd sixth in the 440-yard dash. Quarter-miler Ruben Ayala did not compete because of an injury, but is scheduled to run at Abernathy Saturday, Coach Tannehill said.

Andy Torres finished fifth in the mile run, and the mile relay team of Randy Kennedy, Shepherd, Tyler and Bevers placed third with a time of 3:54.0.

Jay Pollard placed third in the shot put with a throw of 40-5, and third in the discus with a heave of 100-11. Pace placed fifth in the discus.

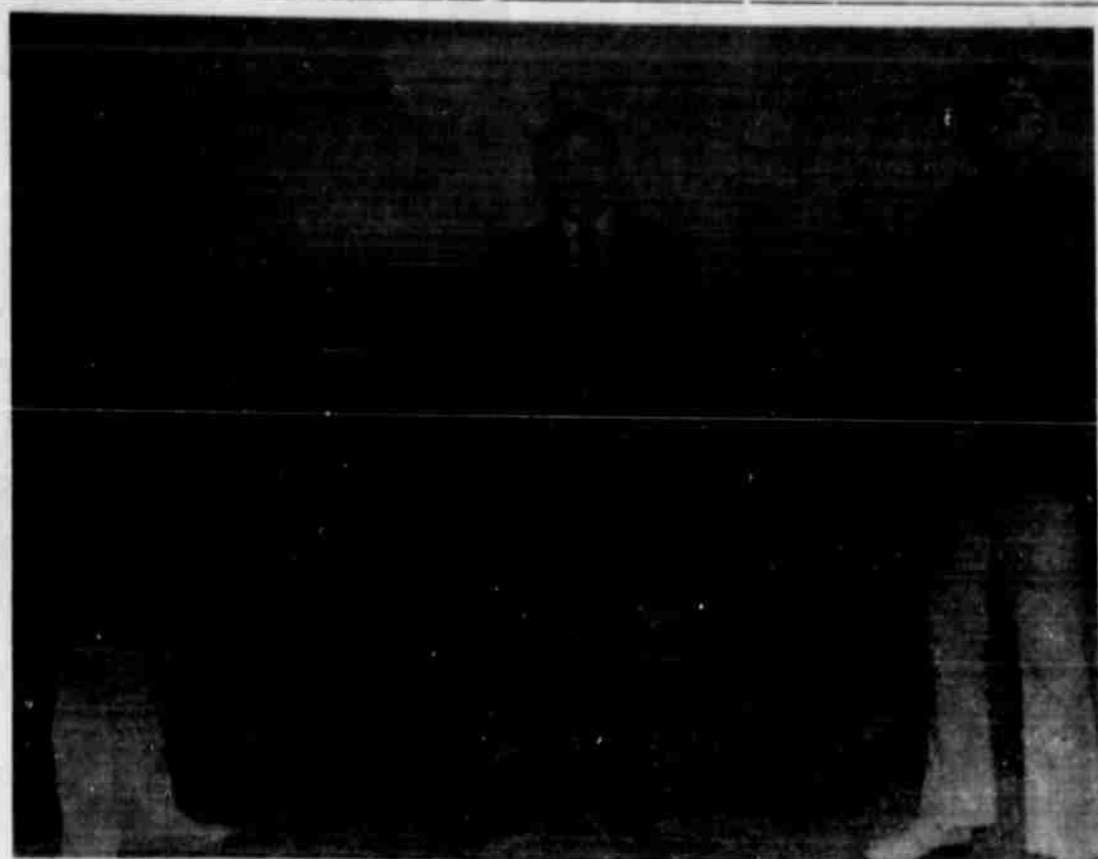

Shepherd won third place in the high jump at 5-4, and third in the long jump with a leap of 18-1½. Danny Lee won fifth in the long jump.

The Antelopes' tentative entry list for the Abernathy meet is as follows:

100-yd. dash: McDonald, Conoly, Moore.
 220-yd. dash: McDonald, Moore, Thomas.
 440-yd. dash: Tyler, Taylor, Ayala.
 880-yd. run: Wyatt, Randy Kennedy, Jerry Johnson.
 Mile run: Bevers, Torres, Jay Kennedy.
 120-yd. high hurdles: Blacklock, Tony Conner, Kirkpatrick.
 330-yd. intermediate hurdles: Blacklock, Terry, Conner.
 440-yd. relay: Tyler, Moore, Conoly, McDonald.
 Mile relay: Shepherd, Ayala, Tyler, Taylor.
 Pole vault: Babb, Sammy Gutierrez.
 High jump: Shepherd, Tyler, Lee.
 Long jump: Shepherd, Ayala, Lee.
 Shot put: Pace, Pollard, Tim Owen.
 Discus throw: Owen, Pollard, Thomas.

Norm Cash inks pact; gets salary increase

Veteran first baseman Norm Cash signed his 1973 contract with the Detroit Tigers last week, receiving a reported slight raise from the $75,000 he earned last year.

The 38-year-old Cash, a native of Justiceburg and a graduate of Post High School, batted .259 with 22 home runs last year.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Bandy Cash of Justiceburg, the Detroit first baseman is a Fort Worth banker in the off-season.

Frosh girls' statistics released by Wilson

Joni Hays with 226 points in 12 games for a 19-point average was the high scorer for this season's Post freshman girls' team, according to statistics released by Coach Jay Wilson.

Kim Mitchell was second high scorer with 201 points for a 17-point average, and the other starting forward, Pat Bilberry, scored 61 points.

Other freshman forwards and their scoring totals included: Stella Torres, 28 points, 10 games; Cathy Howell, 12 points, eight games; Genetta Kennedy, 11 points, nine games, and Linda Wynne, two points, six games.

Among the forwards, Joni was also the leading rebounder, averaging four a game. Kim led in field goal percentage with 42 per cent and also in free throw percentage with 45 per cent.

The team's leading rebounder was guard Glenna Bevers with 50 in 12 games. Next was Terri Greene with 42, followed by Jenny Miller with 25; Lesa Haley, 20; Christy Davis, 10; Pam Carpenter and Becky Heaton, two each, and Susan Gary, one.

Glenna also led in steals with 37, closely followed by Terri's 34 and Jenny's 22. Among the forwards, Joni Hays came up with 35 thefts of the ball and Pat Bilberry with 24.

The freshman girls won seven games and lost five. They finished third in the district with a 6-4 record, behind Slaton and Cooper. In that order.

Post scored a total of 531 points for a 44 per game average to their opponents' 444 for a 37 per game average.

The team won second place at Wilson in the only tournament in which it competed.

Ten 4-Hers show stock at Houston

Eight of 10 Garza County 4-H Club members won places with their animals at the Houston Livestock Show last week, according to County Agent Syd Conner, one of a group of adults who accompanied the 4-H members.

The highest place won by a Garza County youngster was a fourth place to Debbie Craddock of Southland for her Hampshire barrow.

Others placing in the swine division were Tony Conner, 19th with his Duroc, and Stephen Myers, 18th with his Chester White.

In the steer division, Tony Conner placed eighth with his light Simmental and 26th with his heavy Hereford; Rusty Conner, 11th with his light Simmental; Stephen Myers, 12th with his light Angus and 13th with his light Limousin, and Cindy Bird, 19th with her heavy Hereford. Jay Young placed 21st with his Hereford heifer.

In market lambs, Jimmy Dorland placed 14th with his Medium Wool and Mike Dye, 27th with his Southdown.

Others showing were Pat Mitchell and John Johnson.

2 'Lopes and 2 Does named All-District

The Post Antelopes and Does each landed two players on the All-District 5AA honor teams selected at a meeting of district coaches and other school officials at Tahoka Wednesday night of last week.

Post senior Steve Hays was an unanimous choice for the all-district boys' team, as was Bruce Shores of Denver City. Reggie Moore of Post also was selected to the 11-man all-district aggregation, and junior Ricky Shepherd received honorable mention.

Forward Melanie King and guard Jan Hall were the Post Does making the all-district girls' team, with guards Ann Mitchell and Pam Feagin receiving honorable mention.

Ties in the voting resulted in the naming of an 11-member all-district boys' team.

Others making the team besides Hays, Moore and Shores were: Lyndal Trout and Robert Qualls, both of Denver City; Jay DePanion of Freshship, Larry Washington and Phil Whaley, both of Slaton; Lance Hlavaty of Cooper, Dale Campbell of Roosevelt and Phil McClendon of Tahoka.

Receiving honorable mention along with Post's Ricky Shepherd were Gary Lehnert of Denver City, Kenneth Bobo of Roosevelt and John Thomas of Tahoka.

Forwards making the all-district girls' team besides Melanie King were Karla Kitten and Gretta Strickland, both of Slaton, Marlyse Payton of Cooper and Denise Kinsler of Freshship.

Making the team at guards besides Jan Hall were Kay Stephens, Johnston and Gipson, all of Slaton, Patton of Roosevelt and Chandler of Tahoka.

Need seen for control of Brown Recluse spider

AUSTIN — Spring, with its attendant crawly pests, is not too far off.

Texasans are becoming increasingly concerned about one pest in particular — the brown recluse spider.

A brochure from the U. S. Department of Agriculture says that the brown recluse has been in North America for centuries, but until 1957 it was not known that it had a poisonous bite.

The little spider is not aggressive. It prefers to hide in dark, quiet places. But it will sometimes bite if handled, or when it is trapped in clothing.

Normal reactions to the bite include intense local pain, a blister, inflammation of the affected area and an ulcerated sore.

The bite of this pest is especially dangerous to children, to the elderly and to those in poor physical condition. However, fatalities from the bite of the brown recluse are very rare.

The mature brown recluse spider, also called the "brown spider" or "fiddleback spider," has a body about ½ inch long and 3-16-inch wide. Its legspan is about the size of its back.

The bite from the spider is usually followed by intense pain. Sometimes the victim is not immediately aware that he has been bitten, and an hour or more may pass before he experiences discomfort.

The first visible symptom of brown recluse poisoning is a small white blister at the site of the fang punctures. The affected area enlarges and becomes inflamed. Eventually, affected tissues begin to die and peel away.

If you think you have been bitten by a brown recluse spider, get immediate medical attention. Keep calm and, if possible, try to find the spider that bit you — positive identification of the spider by an expert can be helpful.

Although there is no specific antidote for the bite of the brown recluse spider, patients have responded well to steroids, antihistam-imes and antibiotics.

Immediately after being bitten: —Apply ice packs to the area surrounding the bite. —Apply an antiseptic solution to the fang punctures to help prevent infection.

Do not treat the wound as you would a snake bite. Do not cut the fang punctures. Do not apply suction. Do not employ a tourniquet.

The Department of Agriculture brochure says an insecticide called lindane is effective in controlling this pest. It should be sprayed along baseboards, behind furniture and pictures, beneath boxes and around other objects which serve as hiding places.

You should limit the amount of lindane you use. Do not spray large surfaces such as walls, floors or ceilings.

The brochure warns lindane users to follow directions on the insecticide package carefully, taking note of the cautions listed.

Junior High and frosh teams compete Friday

Three Post track teams—the 7th and 8th grades and freshmen—will compete Friday in an invitational track and field meet at Freshship High School in Wolfforth.

Preliminaries are scheduled to start at 9 a.m. and the finals shortly after noon.

The Freshship meet will be the first of the season for the three Post teams.

News from the Graham community

By MRS. GLENN DAVIS
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Babb and sons, James and Ronald, attended funeral services for Fred's sister, Mrs. Gertie Yaw, recently in McKinney.

The farmers in the community are real busy pulling cotton. They just get to pull in the afternoon because of the high humidity in the mornings. The sunshine is so wonderful.

Sunday luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Thuyt Sr. were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Thomas, Mrs. Larry Noland, Mr. and Mrs. John Drake of Hereford, Mr. and Mrs. Waggoner Johnson and family and Wayne Thomas and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gossett visited the Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Yates

last Thursday. Mrs. Rene Fluit and Mrs. Nita McClellan visited Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Ada Oden visited Saturday morning. Rev. Yates entered Garza Memorial Hospital Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Quannah Maxey returned home last Friday from a visit with relatives in Granbury and Weatherford.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason McClellan and Mr. and Mrs. Delwin Fluit visited in Big Spring Saturday morning with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith and family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bush visited Friday afternoon in the Elmer Cowdrey home.

Fifty-two people attended the potluck supper in the Graham community center Friday. Three new members were elected to the board. It was time to pay the dues. Mrs. Noel White took contributions for the March of Dimes. A program of instrumental music and singing and also a reading were given.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fluit had their three grandchildren spend Saturday night with them.

David Hooten spoke at both services Sunday at the Church of Christ in Graham in the absence of Homer Jones.

Mrs. Rene Fluit visited Sunday afternoon in Tahoka with her mother, who was celebrating her birthday. Seventy relatives gathered to help her celebrate.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gossett visited Sunday afternoon in Mrs. R. L. Cummings' family of Lubbock visited with her parents, Mr. James Stone.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mountain Home, Ark., and Mrs. James Stone evening.
