city might be found to be in conspiracy with its dog bounty system. Mrs. Hays gave the council copies of the humane society's two-page explanation and page drawing of how to properly construct a carbon monoxide chamber for the gassing of dogs.

Mike Sanchez, city water superintendent who supervises operation of the city dog pound, told Mrs. Hays that the stray dogs in the city's pen are fed and watered "twice a day" — once early in the morning and again in the evening, and that the pen is cleaned every other day.

Councilman Jim Jackson questioned Mrs. Hays closely as to why she and the CHAC had not come to the council in the first place with their dog complaints instead of going to the public with their criticisms.

Mrs. Hays replied that the CHAC couldn't do it. "It's been tried in other cities and didn't work," she commented.

Mayor Giles McCrary commented that "You've got the cart before the horse" in seeking outside advice on the dog situation and taking that to the public without giving the council the courtesy of first bringing any complaints they had to the council.

Gene Gandy opposes Mayor McCrary in only spring race

With the filing deadline but hours away at Dispatch press time Wednesday afternoon, the only contest which had materialized in city and school elections was in the mayor's race.

And it was a rerun of 1973. Mayor Giles C. McCrary, who filed Wednesday morning for a fourth two-year term, is being opposed by Ewell E. (Gene) Gandy.

The local electrician and VFW commander opposed McCrary two years ago with the mayor winning by a 71 vote margin, 284 to 213 with 502 voters going to the polls, which was quite a modest turnout.

All three councilmen whose terms expire next month have filed for re-election. They are Jim Jackson, who seeks the one-year term to the position to which he was appointed to fill a vacancy; Ed Sawyers and Bill Pool, both for additional two-year terms.

There is some "talk" of other candidates filing, but unlike two years ago there is little interest being shown in the city races this year. In 1974's spring election there were 12 candidates for three city council positions.

The filing deadline was yesterday, which means midnight technically, although no candidates have filed after 5 p. m. on closing day for the last several elections.

There are only two candidates for the Post School Trustee positions. Both are incumbents. They are Silas Short for place 6, and John Boren for place 7.

In the school trustee races each candidate must file a specific numbered position. The situation on the board of trustees for the Garza County Hospital District is even worse, although the filing deadline is still four days away.

Three positions on the hospital board need to be filled, and as yet no candidates have filed. The three positions are those of Charlie Brown and Sexton Huntley, whose terms are expiring, and of Dr. Charles Tubbs who is resigning with one year left to serve because he is moving from the community.

183 animals in stock show

Ronnie Dunn, president of the Garza County Junior Livestock Association, told Post Rotarians Tuesday noon in city hall that 183 animals have been entered in this weekend's show.

He urged members to participate in the Saturday afternoon sale by buying animals in the sale ring to encourage youngsters who have raised them for the show competition.

He called the junior livestock program here "one of the best places for boys and girls to learn a winning attitude for life." At the conclusion of his talk, Rotary directors voted $50 from the club treasury for the jackpot for Saturday's sale.

Girl Scout house to be shown Sunday

Post's observance of Girl Scout Week, March 9-15, will begin Sunday afternoon with a 2 to 5 p. m. open house in the new Girl Scout House at 506 West Seventh.

Girl Scouts will serve as hostesses. Crafts and scrapbooks, dating back to 1950, will be displayed. Work on the new Girl Scout facilities began in November of last year when the old Girl Scout hut was sold and moved off the site.

A business building was purchased in Lubbock and moved to the site here in January of this year. A new kitchen was installed with United Fund money. A recreation room and fireplace were added to the building with funds saved by the Girl Scout organization here and through labor donated by many friends, leaders and husbands, and fathers of the Girl Scouts.

Girl Scout Week this year will mark the 25th anniversary of Girl Scouting in Post with 80 girls, 16 leaders, and six troops later with Clint Herring, Giles McCrary, Mrs. James Dietrich, Mrs. Paul Jones, and Mrs. Alton Clary as members.

Junior Livestock Show, fair opens here today

One hundred and eighty-three animals have been entered in the Garza County Junior Livestock Show, opening today, by 82 young exhibitors.

Due to the high cost of feed, there were not enough entries in the horse division to keep it in the show and the number of larger animals — the various beef cattle and the barrows — entered were down compared to last year.

Probably for the same reason, there are more lambs this year than last year as boys and girls prepared animals for the show they could better afford. A total of 84 lambs are entered this year as compared to 57 last year while the beef animals dropped from 33 entries to only 17 and the barrows dropped but not as much to a total of 73.

The swine show, beginning at 7:30 p. m. tonight with the lamb judging Friday night and the beef cattle Saturday morning, starting at 9 a. m. Climax to the show will come Saturday afternoon when 82 of the show's top 82 animals will be auctioned off by Herb Henderson of Wolfroth.

Last year's auction brought a new record of $18,325 paid in premiums for the 78 animals through the ring with every animal being sold at a premium of $200 or more above the floor price per pound. The annual Garza County Fair with 10 classes of competition also will open today in the 4-H building for a three-day run under the sponsorship of the Garza County Home Demonstration Council and member clubs.

Entries are to be received between 8:30 a. m. and 12:30 p. m. today. Fair entries will be judged (See Stock show, Page 12)

The Algerita Benefit Banquet scheduled for next Thursday night in the Junior High gym with John Ben Shepperd of Odessa as the speaker was cancelled yesterday by sponsors due to "unforeseen circumstances."

Taba'na Yuan'e set March 22

The Post Chamber of Commerce for the third year will be sponsoring Taba'na Yuan'e on March 22 in the City-County park.

Frank "Chief" Runkles will again be in charge of the ceremony which will test the wind to find the direction it is blowing at sunrise. The direction of the wind will signify a good or bad crop year, according to Indian Legend.

Bryan J. Williams will again serve as chairman for the event and will be in charge of the breakfast to be served at 6:45 a. m. before the ceremony at sunrise.

Tickets for the ceremony may be purchased from the Chamber office from the directors, or at the bank, also from Twin Fashions, Bryan J. Williams, Jacksons Cafeteria and Rafer's, at $2.50 a plate. The meal will be catered by Jackson's Cafeteria.

Hot controversy in Austin

State senate hearings began this week on 19 bills to provide for the establishment of a Texas utilities commission to control utility rates in the Lone Star state.

Texas is the only state among America's 50 which does not now have such a commission. Among the 19 different bills there is a wide variance on how state controls would apply.

Some specify that the commission would regulate all utilities within Texas. Others specify they would regulate utilities operations in non-incorporated city areas, or would apply only to cities and towns which accept commission controls, thus leaving each the community the choice of whether "to go it alone" or "go it together."

There is such distrust of politicians generally in the aftermath of Watergate that many fear the utilities would soon gain control of a state utility commission and the public really would be "sacked."

If it wasn't for the soaring utility rates — the pass-through of gas purchasing costs to the consumer having boosted gas and electric rates in a steadily rising spiral — and for the inability of towns and cities to negotiate with telephone utilities, the state commission idea wouldn't have surfaced now.

The big pressure for a state utility commission is coming from cities whose gas and electric rates are now sky high, a whole lot higher than those in this West Texas area.

The Dallas News not long ago front-paged a story about homeowners in an outlying area who were having to pay over $200 monthly winter gas bills, about the same amount they had to pay on their new home mortgages.

San Antonio, for example, which operates its own electric utility is having a horrible time trying to buy fuel anywhere and electric rates there are unbelievable.

Just this week House Speaker Bill Clayton in his weekly column to all Texas newspapers said he has opposed a state utilities commission as a legislator in the past and in his present role as house speaker will not take an active role in either side.

He said he always prefers controls to be as close to the people as possible and has advocated in the past, a state-financed corps of rate experts to be made available for advice to towns and cities negotiating rates with utility firms instead of outright state control.

The Lubbock city commission last week rejected the request of its own municipal utility for permitting higher natural gas fuel costs to be passed through to the consumer.

Lubbock's position was that the utilities themselves should absorb some of these costs — that after all they had reported record profits for 1974.

This is one the lawmakers are going to decide. The people won't get a chance to voice their opinions except by writing or telephoning their legislators. It easily could develop into the hottest legislative battle of the session.

Favoring legislative pay boost

Texas legislators claim they now are the poorest paid of all state employees.

They now earn $4,800 annually and receive $12 per day during legislative sessions for personal expenses. But they can't vote themselves a pay boost. Texas voters must do that — and we all will have the opportunity on April 22 when two constitutional amendments come up for decision.

This time voters will be asked to approve a legislative salary boost to $7,200 a year, which would be their first pay raise since 1960 when the $4,800 finally was approved.

Included in the amendment also is a boost in personal expenses from $12 to $30 a day.

Five times have voters voted no to legislative salary increases since 1960 when the current wage was approved.

For the 181 Texas legislators, the process is something like arbitration we've been reading about for major league baseball players. The legislators name their figure and the arbitrator — in this case he is you and I — weigh the facts and choose either the legislator's request or the management figure, which in this case, is the present salary. The arbitrator must choose one or the other. He can't compromise anywhere in between.

In baseball, this works fairly well because the baseball club owner and the player already have haggled since last season over salary terms and failed to reach agreements.

But unlike the baseball procedure, this is not so for the legislators. They have no choice but to come to the voting public for a raise because a constitutional amendment is the only present way they can get one.

Although we agree with Senator Chet Brooks of Houston that it "is poor taste and poor timing" for the legislature to be seeking an increase in a deepening recession, The Dispatch supports the legislative increase.

It's simply a reasonable request.

But that doesn't mean we think it will be approved. Texas voters are hard taskmasters. They'll turn it down, sure as shootin'!

Movies returning to Post

Now Post no longer has a movie theater in operation, the Post Public Library is going to step into the gap and provide movies as well as books for the community.

Library trustees voted last week to use its contributions fund to purchase a movie projector and screen and join the West Texas Library Film Circuit (see front page story.)

The film circuit would make a packet of 10 to 12 films available for use here every 60-day period.

The intention of the trustees is to make the projector and the film available to all who wish to use them without charge. Of course if using organizations want to make contributions to the library in appreciation such contributions would help finance the movies, but payment will not be required.

Of course the library expects to have a "film night" once or twice a month for all comers, but there are so many other community possibilities.

A community projector, outside the Post school system, would make movies available to the youth center, the Post Special School, the older folks at Twin Cedar Nursing Home, the Lorenzo Alexander community center, the Post Rotary Club for luncheon sessions, all local clubs and organizations for programs, to the various rural community centers for "entertainment nights."

Many libraries today are branching out from books and periodicals to include (1) movies, (2) art, and (3) records. In each field the additions would be available for "check out" to library patrons.

Post being without a movie theater, Post library trustees decided to try the movies first.

The Dispatch is convinced it is going to fill a void that needs filling. It's going to be fun when the movies come back to Post.

Statebeat

By KURT E. JOHNSON

AUSTIN — Two heavy issues were prevailing in the state solons last week, and both are certain to affect the lives of Texas citizens at the polls and in the schoolhouses.

Legislators are trying to address school finance reform so as to comply with righting the wrongs of unequal education in various school districts. A federal district court ruled in 1972 that since education is principally a state function, students who live in poorer districts are discriminated against because of fewer resources to finance quality education.

A plan has been submitted by Governor Dolph Briscoe for the reform measure, and sources indicate that it has strong support in both houses. Specifics and particulars will be the main items of debate, since there is strong sentiment against any school tax increase at the same time that taxpayers in the "richer" districts want their own kids to benefit proportionately.

The plan, as submitted by Briscoe, would not provide "pure" equality, but it would be a certain improvement on the present systems.

Teacher salaries are also an issue. In the Governor's proposal, a beginning teacher's salary would be increased from $6,600 to $7,430 per year, while Rep. Dan Kubiak of Rockdale is offering a bill in which the starting salary would be $8,400 per year. Both figures are below the request of the Texas State Teachers Association, which is pushing for a $10,000 minimum.

The principle in school financing reform would amount to having the state subsidize districts with fewer financial resources so that the educational quality would be brought nearer to par with the districts having greater financial blessings.

The whole issue boils down to equalization, and with some of the finer points ironed out a plan is sure to be signed into law which supports the premise of the Rodriguez vs. San Antonio case.

As for teachers' salaries, the increase will probably be less than $1,000 for one school year. Briscoe obviously prefers the most economical principle he can find for state spending.

The real shootout on the House floor took place this week on what has come to be known as the "Bentson Primary Bill." Rep. Tom Schieffer of Ft. Worth introduced the measure, calling for a state primary election which would determine the number of delegates to a presidential candidate could take to his party's national nominating convention.

At a meeting I attended in the office of Rep. Wilhemina Delco of Austin, the discussion accelerated to a near-fistfight level as precinct workers vehemently protested the "winner-take-all" provision of the bill, in which a candidate getting the majority of votes in a district would get all the delegates.

The House has turned around so many times on this bill it probably doesn't know its north from its south by now. On Tuesday, February 25, it voted 75-68 for an amendment which would eliminate the "winner-take-all" provision and give a national convention candidate a proportion of delegates directly related to his percentage of votes.

But then on Thursday (two days later), the same House voted 83-52 to send the bill to the Senate with "winner-take-all" reinserted.

It looks like when the smoke clears Bentson will be going to the Democratic National Convention in '76 with a truckload of delegates. Just exactly what happened between Tuesday and Thursday in the House cannot be proven (and first-person sources are mute), but suspicion has it that the "smoke-filled-room" concept is still living and well in the statehouse.

One question on the anatomy test read: "Which are the last teeth to appear in a person's mouth?" A bright pupil answered, "False."

Readers busy in February

February is the shortest month of the year, but this last one also was one of the "readingest" months of the year too.

Librarian Pee Wee Pierce reported almost a thousand books checked out of the library — 986 to be exact.

This included 808 adult and 178 juvenile books. The adult checkouts included 260 non-fiction, 298 fiction, 135 mysteries, and 74 westerns.

Twenty-eight new books were added to library shelves bringing acquisitions for the year to date to 120. Eight new puzzles also were added.

Miscellaneous income of $26.33 included $12.60 in overdue book fines and $11.25 in book sales.

Fourteen puzzles were checked out for the month.

PUBLIC NOTICE

SUMMARY OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS SPECIAL ELECTION APRIL 22

NUMBER ONE ON THE BALLOT (S.J.R. No. 3)

Repealing Sections 48a, 48b, 51e, and 51f of Article III and Sections 62 and 63 of Article XVI of the Texas Constitution, Article XVI of the Texas Constitution is amended to read:

Provide for the revision and consolidation of provisions relating to state and local retirement systems and programs and to provide that all general laws that have established retirement systems and optional retirement programs for public employees and officers in effect at the time of the adoption of this constitutional amendment will remain in effect, subject to the general powers of the Legislature.

Provide that the amount a participating officer or employee contributes to the employee retirement system or the teacher retirement system shall be established by the Legislature but may not be less than 6% of current compensation and providing further that the amount contributed by the state may not be less than 6 nor more than 10% of the aggregate compensation paid to participating persons, except that in an emergency, as determined by the Governor, the Legislature may contribute more than 10% of the aggregate compensation paid to participating persons.

Provide that the Legislature shall provide for local retirement systems created by any city or county for its officers and employees and shall further provide for a state-wide system of benefits for officers and employees of counties or other political subdivisions of the State which may voluntarily participate, and

NUMBER TWO ON THE BALLOT (H.J.R. No. 6)

Amending Article Section 24 of the Constitution to:

Provide an increase in salary for members of the Legislature from $400 per month to $600 per month.

Provide an increase in the per diem rate for members of the Legislature from $12 to $30 per day during each Regular and Special Session of the Legislature.

Provide an increase in the transportation allowance for members from per mile to the rate prescribed by law for employees of the State.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it appears on the ballot follows:

"The constitutional amendment setting salaries of members of the legislature at $600 per month and setting per diem of $30 per day during legislative sessions and a mileage allowance at the same rate prescribed by law for state employees."

Dickens Coop gets REA loan
 WASHINGTON, D. C. - Congressman Omar Burleson announces a $66,000 REA loan to the Dickens County Electric Cooperative, Inc., Spur, Texas.
 This REA loan is made at the special interest rate of two per cent because of low consumer density and low revenue.
 The purpose of this loan is to finance service for 24 additional consumers, add 50 miles of distribution line, finance four miles of transmission line and system improvements.
 The counties included in this service are Crosby, Garza, Kent, Stonewall, Dickens, King and Motley.
Membership drive is discussed
 A membership drive was discussed at the regular meeting of the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce, Tuesday noon at the Reddy Room.
 Patsy McCowen, president, presided over the business meeting.
 Members present for the meeting were Mmes. Inez Hartel, Evelyn Neff, Lillian Nance, Ruby Kirkpatrick, Sharon Bruton, Maxine Marks, Geraldine Butler, Joy Greer, Marie Neff, Betty Posey, Patsy McCowen and Iva Hudman.

My Neighbors
 Southland School members of the UIL place in the contest. The results of the contest: Kendon Wheeler, first number sense, first writing, Amanda Wheeler, third in spelling, Randy Wheeler, third in editorial writing, Donna Shelton and Donna Shelton and Cooper placed sixth.
 "Ah, here's my man with his report on our new foolproof safety system."
 About 100 acres of crops in the West and Southwest are now being grown with hydroponic or soilless culture techniques.

A BIG QUESTION? Are your Insurance Rates Deviated (Discounted)? Or do you know? Some premiums are deviated and some are not. Does your agent write his own personal lines insurance (cars, pickups, home, etc.) at the full standard rate or does he take advantage of the Discounted-Deviated rate to save money for himself? Ask your agent. If you don't know if your premium is Deviated-Discounted or not ask us. TOM POWER INSURANCE AGENCY 24 hour telephone service 495-3050, 3051 Post, Texas.

Ukelele group sings 'Sound of Music'

Hymn of the Month. The program study, "The Sound of Music," part III was presented by Mrs. John Alexander.

Mrs. Bo Jackson, music coordinator for the program presented her third grade ukelele students to the club. They included, Belinda Reese, Denise Smith, Rhonda Storie, Patty McCowen, Candee Jackson, Marcie Metzger, Reni Carlisle, Jeff Stalcup, Jeff Lamb, Tod Wilson, Trudy Adams, Vickie Ammons, Jennie Mock, and Michele Hill. The children then entertained the club by singing and playing on their ukeleles several numbers from Rogers and Hammerstein's "The Sound of Music." The numbers included "Do-Re-Me," "Edelweiss," featuring soloist Rhonda Storie, and "My Favorite Things."

Mrs. Jerry Crenshaw was elected to serve in the capacity of second vice president, replacing Mrs. Charles Tubbs. Members present were: Mmes. Mary Alexander, Sharyn Birchfield, Sharon Bruton, Sue Crenshaw, Louise Dietrich, Judy Dobson, Marita Jackson, Patty Kirkpatrick, Maxine Marks, Sue Metzger, Joy Pool, Maury Shiver, Sharlot Sparlin, Sharla Wells, Beth Hamilton, Jeannie Hunsaker, Dorothy McCook, Nancy Shaw, Kay Lamb, Boo Olson and Mrs. Ruby Kirkpatrick.

Program is on early South Plains living

L. Duckworth was president of the Feb. 26th Women's Culture Club meeting in the Post Club. C. Williams, presided at the meeting with the club collect. The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Walter Boren pre-program on "Early Living." Some of the highlights were the early settlers of the south plains, their tents and crude homes. Mrs. Boren also gave a program on C. W. Post, who was responsible for Post City and its developments. His invention of the drink, Postum, and his relations with the farming families were also discussed.

Mrs. R. S. Conners concluded the program with the history of the Early Indians, including the Comanches and Apaches. Refreshments were served to members Mmes. M. J. Malouf, Herman Havis, J. H. Haire, Jack Burress, Willard Kirkpatrick, Ralph Welch, J. F. Storie, Lee Davis Sr., Duckworth and Williams. Guests were Mrs. Walter Boren and Mrs. R. S. Conner.

The next meeting will be at the Club House March 12 with Mrs. J. H. Haire and Mrs. Herman Havis hostesses.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

One of the most heartening success stories in public health is being written in Texas — the dramatic, almost unbelievable decline of immunizable diseases.

In 1974, a combined total of only 641 cases were reported to the State Health Department for diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis, (whooping cough), measles and rubella. And for the second straight year there was no polio reported in the state — another milestone in itself.

While all preventable diseases may never be wiped out, the Texas State Department of Health — along with private physicians — is working toward the goal.

Last year, reports State Health Commissioner Dr. James E. Peavy, was the best year in history in preventing the immunizable diseases. Provisional Health Department reports show no cases of polio, nine cases of diphtheria, four cases of tetanus, 99 cases of pertussis, 212 cases of measles and 317 cases of rubella.

Compare these 1974 figures with those of bad years. Contrast the zero level of polio with 1950 when 2,778 cases and 210 deaths occurred.

Place the nine cases of diphtheria alongside the 5,756 cases reported in 1933. Or the 212 cases of measles which is only a handful in comparison to the 86,086 measles cases reported in 1958.

The 99 cases of pertussis in 1974 is small indeed when you consider the 16,590 cases occurring in 1943. The four cases of tetanus reported last year is just a fraction of the 157 cases recorded in 1942.

Remember when rubella — or German measles — was so widespread? Highest total for this disease was in 1970 when 8,408 cases were reported, as opposed to 317 last year.

As immunizations have increased in Texas, the disease levels have moved steadily downward.

When the Texas Legislature in 1971 passed a compulsory immunization law, it contributed greatly to reduction of diseases in the school-age group. Because of the success of the compulsory school immunization program, more attention is directed now toward the pre-schoolers in State Health Department activities. Statistics have shown that outbreaks have repeatedly taken the heaviest toll among children from one to four years.

With almost a quarter-million babies born in Texas each year, it would take only a few years for a giant disease reservoir to be built up — if these children went unprotected.

The State Health Department is making sure this doesn't happen, and its immunization program is primarily aimed toward the pre-schoolers — that large group of youngsters who could be the target for disease.

Among the pre-school group, special emphasis is given the newborns. Federal and state funds have authorized the hiring of a group of Community Service Aides who are stressing the need for early immunization.

When a baby is born in Texas, the Immunization Division gets a computer printout showing the baby's name, parents' names and home address. The Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Health Department provides this information.

Parents of newborns receive a card informing them of immunization schedules and recommending vaccination times. They are asked to return the card and indicate which immunizations have been started.

That's where the Community Service Aides come in. They take referrals from the Immunization Division and attempt to track down those who don't respond. Last year an average of 75 Community Service Aides were employed and assigned to regional and field offices to promote immunizations in the pre-school group.

They received 135,773 new referrals during the year — about 1,800 per aide.

The aides show a high degree of self reliance. Often they don't wait for the computer printouts of new births but get them from local registrars, speeding their contacts with new mothers.

It has taken the combined efforts of health-oriented individuals and groups in both the public and private sector to produce the immunization results which produced such low disease levels in 1974. The State Health Department is hoping for similar results in 1975.

Revolutionary changes resulting from agricultural research in livestock feeding, breeding and marketing have made it possible to put two-fifths more beef on American dinner tables than was available 20 years ago.

Classes begin on alcoholism

Paula Valdez, alcoholism counselor for this area, has announced that classes will be held every first and third Wednesday night for those who want to learn how to help and live with an alcoholic.

The classes will be in the Community Action Center, 804 Pine Street, beginning at 8 p. m. Everyone is welcome.

Mrs. Valdez explained those interested also will learn more about alcoholism and drinking problems.

Mrs. Valdez is available for counseling with all information exchanged being confidential. Her office is at 804 Pine St. in the Community Action Center. The phone is 495-2329.

Some people believe that eating a jackal's heart will cause a child to grow up a coward.

Bobby Gordon in revival

Bobby Gordon, minister of the Lea Street Baptist Church in Dimmitt and formerly of Post, will hold a Youth Emphasis Revival Friday, Saturday and Sunday, March 7, 8 and 9 in the Trinity Baptist Church. The evening services will be held at 7:30 p. m., preceded by prayer service and choir practice at 7 p. m.

Gordon is well known in Post, and many folks will want to come and hear him preach in these revival services.

The singer will be Alan Clay, student at Wayland Baptist College in Plainview.

A nursery will be provided, according to Gene Prevo, pastor of the Trinity Baptist Church.

Baptist group to anniversary service

Several people from Post attended a program celebrating Southern Baptist convention's 50th anniversary, held at Oakwood Baptist Church in Lubbock, Monday.

Believing in the Best

By Edgar L. Fox

And be kind to one another . . . for giving one another . . . Ephesians 4:32. James and Charlie were roommates in the university dorm. They found much in common from the day they first met on the campus. Both were athletes. They had classes together. They became such chums that they were called "campus twins." It was a shock to their friends when their comradeship suddenly came to a dead end. James moved to another room and found another roommate.

Little by little the facts became known. James had received a twenty dollar bill from home. He left it on his desk when he went to class. When he returned, the money was gone. Only he and Charlie had keys to the room. That evening Charlie came back with a new shirt and tie. James was certain Charlie had stolen the money. Charlie flatly denied knowing anything about the money. James did not believe him.

Spring came and a dead oak tree was cut down. When it hit the ground two squirrels scampered away. The boys ran to see the hole where the squirrels had a nest and found three baby squirrels snuggling among the leaves. They found something else: a torn and crumpled twenty dollar bill.

Prayer: Dear Lord, give us constructive imagination and a desire to think the best of those around us. Forgive our cruelty to others, and lead us to be kind to one another. In Christ's name. Amen.

Graham area folks keep on the move visiting

By MRS. GLENN DAVIS
Mrs. Ada Oden and Mrs. Bonnie Johnson visited in Plainview Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Myrtle Hoover in the hospital and later with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Morris in their home. Arthur had been ill, but was better. Mrs. Hoover was doing better also. We wish for them a fast recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Peel had some of their grandchildren visit them over the weekend. They were D'Lynn and Kellis Byrd and Kam Huntley. They took the girls home Saturday afternoon.

Visitors in the Bryan Maxey home over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Maxey and family of El Paso. Mr. and Mrs. Don Maxey and Mrs. Dave Oakley and children of Lubbock were there also.

Mr. and Mrs. James Stone and Mr. and Mrs. Orville Stanley attended the lectureship in Abilene last Monday and Tuesday. They returned home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Clark of Littlefield spent last Monday night with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Cowdrey.

Mrs. Gladys Floyd came home last week from Lubbock where she had been with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sinclair and Jerry Don, after she left the hospital. She is still wearing the cast on her injured leg. A group of relatives and friends visited her last Thursday on her birthday. The Noel Whites, Lewis Masons, Ronnie Graves, the Quannah Maxeys, the Bobby Cowdreys, Mrs. Louis Sinclair, Mrs. Vada McCampbell, Mrs. Judy Bush, and Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Cowdrey were the visitors.

Mrs. Esther Ward is spending some time with her niece, Mrs. Melvin Williams and family after she was dismissed from Garza Hospital. We wish for her that she will soon be well.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fluitt visited Sunday night in Olton with Mr. and Mrs. James Brooks.

Mmes. Iris McMahon, Pearl Wallace, Rene Fluitt, Nita McClellan, Jewell Parrish, visited one afternoon last week with Mrs. Elmer Cowdrey and Mrs. Brenda King. Brenda is a shut in except when she goes to the doctor.

The Bryan Maxeys, the Franklin Maxey family and the Dave Oakley family visited last Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Don Maxey at the children's home in Lubbock. They are new house parents there.

Mr. and Mrs. James Stone visited near Acuff last Wednesday with the Pete Pierce family and found Mr. and Mrs. Pierce ill with the flu.

Sunday luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Quannah Maxey were their children the Noel Whites, Lewis Masons, and the Ronnie Graves families. The Franklin Maxey family visited a short while on their way home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray McClellan and Mr. and Mrs. Mason McClellan and baby were last Saturday luncheon guests in Post with Mr. and Mrs. E. A. King. The Kings had Sunday lunch with the McClellans. Mr. King has been ill for some time and wasn't eating so they are trying to get him back to eating and up and going. Mrs. Ray McClellan cooked the meal Saturday and took it down to the home and they did get him to eat Saturday and Sunday. We wish that he will soon feel much better.

Mrs. Glenn Davis visited near Brownfield Saturday afternoon and Sunday with the Alvin Davis family.

Mr. and Mrs. Quannah Maxey returned home last week from a number of days stay at Delmer Cowdrey.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Found Money

Phyllis was having tea in an open-air cafe when she spied a wallet under a nearby table. A look inside revealed $900 in cash but no identification. Duitfully, Phyllis left the wallet with the proprietor of the cafe, to be held for a possible claimant.

Months passed, and no claimant appeared. Finally Phyllis decided it was now hers to keep. But the proprietor demurred.

"The wallet was found on my premises," he pointed out in a court hearing. "Therefore, unless the original owner shows up, it belongs to me."

However, the court ordered him to hand the wallet and the money over to Phyllis. The court said lost property found in a public place, not traceable to the original owner, may be retained by the finder.

Most courts endorse this rule. Unclaimed money (or other valuables) found in public places, like the lobby of a hotel or the aisle of a supermarket, are usually awarded to the finder rather than the management.

Does it matter if the finder was a company employee? Generally, no.

Thus, a bank teller who found a diamond ring near the entry way was held entitled to keep it as against the bank. So long as it was not part of his job to find lost articles, said the court, he was "on his own" in making this discovery.

It may indeed matter, though, if the item was not technically lost but only mislaid (that is, laid down on purpose, then left behind by mistake).

Such a case arose when a customer in a barber shop noticed a wallet that had been forgotten on a table. When no owner could be located the customer and the barber went to court to settle the right to the wallet.

This time, the court ruled in favor of the barber, not the customer. The court said the fact that the owner of the wallet had originally placed it on the table meant that he had entrusted it to the custody of the shop.

Granbury. They went after receiving word that his sister Mrs. Pearl Graham had received a fractured hip in a fall, and was in the Granbury hospital. Mrs. Graham was recovering well after having surgery. They visited another sister, Mrs. Minnie Overton near there, and visited another sister, Mrs. Ona Berdine in Weatherford.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Peel returned last Friday from San Antonio where they took acupuncture treatments.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lusk took a sight seeing trip last week down in the valley. They visited McAllen and a number of other places. They visited Mrs. Jessie Lusk in San Angelo on their way home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Parrish and Donald visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ambers Parrish and Ronnie.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Moreman of Childress were here Saturday until Monday. They visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Weaver Moreman and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Ledbetter. Other Sunday guests of the Ledbetters were Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Ledbetter.

Mr. and Mrs. Wagoner Johnson visited in Lubbock Sunday evening and attended church services with the Gerald Carpenter family. The Carpenter's son was baptized.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Gene Peel and family and her sister Mrs. Judy Teas and children were Sunday luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Peel. They took the lunch out to the L. H. Peels. Other visitors of the L. H. Peels have been the Douglas Livingstons, Mrs. Jewell Graham, Mrs. Cecil Lee and Mrs. Wade Terry and other relatives. The Delmer Cowdreys and Elmer Cowdreys also visited.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fluitt, Barry Morris and Drew Kirkpatrick were Saturday luncheon guests of the Delwin Fluitt family. They helped Russell celebrate his 12th birthday.

Silas Short spoke Sunday at both services at the Church of Christ in the absence of Homer Jones.

Mrs. Jim Eblen, Jeff and Terri were Sunday guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Stone. They helped Mrs. Eblen celebrate her birthday.

The junior high and high school band students will be attending special band and musical presentations in Lubbock Friday and Saturday (March 7-8). Troy Warren is band director. A school bus will be taken each day.

Survey group has meeting

The Garza County Historical Survey Committee met in regular session Tuesday in the community room of the First National Bank.

Mrs. Gwen Boren, chairman announced that application for placement of the Algerita Hotel and the Old Sanitarium buildings on the National Register of Historic Sites. Request for federal funding for preservation of these two buildings has also been made. The funding request was made through Duncan Muckelroy of the Texas Historical Commission.

Reports were received concerning fund raising projects for the preservation of the Algerita Hotel.

The following members attended the meeting Mrs. Boren, Nita Burress, Winnie Tuffing, Vada McCampbell, Ruby Kirkpatrick, Lottie Shelton, Joy Greer, Evelyn Neff and Maxine Marks.

Perryton grants phone rate hike

PERRYTON — The city council and General Telephone Co. have agreed on an overall 4.3 per cent increase in phone rates here, which figures out a 65 cents per month increase in one party resident phones and a $1.15 additional on business phones.

The council offered the increase only on the basis that General increase rural rates by no more than the city and this was agreed to by General.

These increases are considerably scaled down from the original hikes General sought. Between 50 and 60 thousand bees inhabit one bee colony.

Young couple chased by UFO into Seagraves at 120 miles an hour

DENVER CITY — A young Brownfield married couple claim they were chased at high speeds south from here to Seagraves on US-385 on Tuesday night of last week by an unidentified flying object.

Steven Gayle, nephew of Denver City mayor Ed Gayle, and his wife, Vicki, said the UFO hovered besides their car which was traveling at 120 miles an hour and shined what appeared to be a spotlight inside their car as they sped along.

They said the UFO was only about "two telephone poles in height" above the highway.

They reported to the Denver City Sunday Press, which featured the story at the top of its front page Sunday along with a picture of the young couple, that the UFO craft swung eastward and appeared to land, or at least drop very close to earth, just a mile north of the Seagraves city limits.

A second sighting of what is believed to have been the same craft was made the following night when young Gayle, his father who lives in Denver City, and a third man, Thurman Meyers, went to the spot about 8:30 p. m. to try and see if it could be seen a second time.

The younger Gayle and his wife, told newsmen they were southbound on 385 from their home in Brownfield to Denver City to visit his parents Tuesday evening about 9:30.

Some five miles north of the town, two miles north of the carbon black plant, Gayle said he noticed a strange object rather high in the sky which looked like a "long white light moving at high speed."

He said he called his wife's attention to it and they watched while riding slowly. Finally they came to a stop, leaving the auto engine running and lights turned on. Steven said he got out of the car to watch. The object appeared to stop and, after an instant, "drop straight down like an elevator" to come to a halt at a spot which Gayle thinks was directly over the town of Seagraves. At this point, he said the vehicle turned on what could be described as running lights, one red and the other a blue-green. Shortly after that, the whole thing lighted up with brilliant white lights. The auto still stood with its lights pointing toward Seagraves.

It was at this time, the family declared, the machine gave the appearance of spotting their standing lights and began a movement in their direction. It came on rapidly along the east side of the highway at about the two poles height. The wife began to scream and a dog inside the auto became very upset. Mrs. Gayle said she was trying to tell her husband to "get out of there."

He became frightened as the craft approached and later said he felt it meant to harm them. He told of leaping into the drivers seat and, as the car was headed south on the paving, of taking off at high speed. He declared he was running at 120 plus miles per hour and the craft moved easily alongside with its white light (like a large spotlight) shining toward them. Mrs. Gayle said she was screaming and the light was shining inside their car and the dog was making noises. Gayle, asked what the machine sounded like said he didn't actually know. "It was too noisy inside."

The couple went on into Seagraves after what they believe to have been a threat, passed. They stopped at a drive-in, after failing to find a police officer, and told some people about it then with others drove back along the highway to try and see what could be found. Mrs. Gayle stressed a fact, she did not want to return to the scene.

Wednesday the couple went, with newsmen, back to the spot but could find nothing. That evening Gayle, who was still not satisfied took his father and Meyers and returned to the area.

The elder Gayle said they spotted the object about a mile north of the carbon black plant — that they saw what appeared to be a red ball of fire shoot from the white lights about a mile high. The fireball shot from the southeast and about five seconds later they spotted a flying object going past moving in a northeasterly direction with bright lights glowing. The senior Gayle said the object was very large with white lights about a mile high.

A later check with Seagraves people turned up nothing and, so far as is known at this time, no one else saw the object at either time. However, this is the third time such an object has been reported in that immediate area within the past few months. Each time by people considered reliable. Still at another time last summer on a Sunday afternoon, a number of folk reported seeing some sort of strange unidentified flying, brightly lighted, object in the skies near Seagraves.

As It Looks From Here

By OMAR BURLESON
WASHINGTON, D. C. — People's complaints about obscene and indecent material on television are paying off. By reason of these complaints and pressure from Congressional sources, the Federal Communications Commission will seek legislation making it a crime to show these programs.

A ten-page report to Congress on the broadcasting of violent, indecent and obscene material proposes to close what the Commission believes to be a loophole in Federal law which makes it a crime to use indecent language in broadcasting.

Under present law, the FCC says it is uncertain whether the Commission has authority to proceed against video depiction of obscene and indecent material. The report does not specifically say what kind of programming would be considered indecent. In the past, some Commissioners have expressed concern that X-rated movies might be shown on television and some have already been shown. The report points to recent guidelines the Commission issued in a decision involving complaints against a New York radio station which had broadcast during mid-afternoon a sexy program in what they considered to be vulgar terms. The Commission ruled that in that case it would not permit indecent language to be broadcast during hours when children might be listening. One Commissioner wrote in the report that there should be no specification as to time. "To me," the Commissioner said, "the language used in this case has absolutely no place on the air whether it be 2 p. m. or 2 a. m."

In the past the problem has been, can the Government regulate and limit programs under the provision of the First Amendment to the Constitution guaranteeing freedom of speech. Under this Constitutional provision, it is sensitive for the Government to get into the business of determining what is offensive and what is not and this has been a hangup in trying to reach solutions to the problems of some broadcasting.

The National Association of Broadcasters' Television Code Review Board has adopted guidelines which will come before the broadcasting industry in April. In reviewing the reform proposal by the industry, the FCC has already said that it will not provide absolute assurance that children or particularly sensitive adults will be insulated from objectionable materials. The Commission says, however, that the new commitments by the broadcasting industry suggest it is prepared to regulate itself to bring about improved conditions. It goes on to say that if this were done to the proper extent, legislation may not be necessary.

One of the commissioners who is a former broadcaster himself said that to try to set specific rules or setting aside certain times when more objectionable programs may be shown is not the answer. He said that "garbage is garbage" and, under no stretch of the imagination, should filth be permitted to be broadcast in the context of literary, artistic, political or scientific value.

The commission's report and the proposed guidelines of the broadcasting industry are expected to be examined this month during Congressional hearings on how well the Federal Communications Commission is doing its job. It is hoped that the broadcasting industry in consultation and cooperation with the FCC will come up with an agreement to clean up the airways and that, preferably, strict legislation will not be necessary. Government intervention and more control is not desirable if the problem can be resolved otherwise. Even drafting legislation for this purpose will be difficult in defining limits under the First Amendment of the Constitution.

This would make the cost to the Post Public Library $500 for the first year and $250 annually thereafter.

After the trustees voted to use gift funds to join the circuit for the first year and purchase a sound projector and screen, Justice said another small library was joining so packets could be divided and both small libraries supplied their first films within a few weeks.

Most of the circuit's films are in color and range in length from eight to 35 minutes. Currently, the film library consists of 200 titles.

They are not all educational movies by any means.

For example, they are indexed for subject matter as 16 on animals and animal stories, 24 are animations, eight on arts and artists, three on biography, including Hemingway, Will Rogers, and Andrew Wyeth; 30 children's films; 17 comedies; nine on communications and human relations; six on conservation; one on drugs; nine on ethnics; eight folk and fairy tales; 19 on history and culture; two horror and mystery; one on literature; 20 as movie nostalgia, including films of W. C. Fields, Our Gang, Laurel-Hardy, Charlie Chaplin, Buster Keaton, and the Marx Brothers; eleven on sports; five on religion; dozens on travel in the U. S., Canada, Europe, Asia and the southern hemisphere.

Oh yes, the circuit has three westerns, including the Great Train Robbery.

Representatives of all circuit members will meet in Abilene next month to view some 60 new films and select the circuit's purchases for 1975.

Post library loan-movies are expected to be ready within a few weeks.

When the first circuit film packet is received, titles included will be announced and Librarian Pee Wee Pierce will schedule the films and projector's use.

Jim Cornish, chairman of the library trustees, said that any organizations using the films regularly which would like to contribute to the library's movie operations fund could do so, but no charge is planned for use of film and projector.

"Our library has been built and developed on the donations of time and money by our citizens and we feel that community gifts can support this new library service," Cornish said.

"sewed up" several children who had been attacked by strays, but not one child who was hurt bringing in a stray to collect the bounty.

Councilman Ed Sawyers asked Mrs. Hays, "What's the use of worrying about the pens if we can't pick up stray dogs or kill them?"

Mayor McCrary then reviewed the city's dog bounty problem. He termed it "a relatively successful" method with no trouble being reported and nobody getting bitten bringing in the dogs.

"We have had only one pet put to sleep in the four years of the bounty system and that pet was kept in the pound for over a week without any inquiry from its owner," McCrary said.

He said there have been only "half a dozen instances" in four years of children taking pets out of yards to collect the bounty and when these cases crop up the parents are notified and the police are brought into it.

He termed the "dog problem" in general "a real difficult situation" because city ordinance requires pets be either kept in a fenced yard or under leash, but most dog owners don't observe these provisions and let their pets roam.

"Whether you're for or against dogs, it's a very controversial subject," he said.

Jackson wanted to know of Mrs. Hays "if we should call you every time we clean the dog pens or feed and water the dogs so you or your group could come down and see if we are being done?"

Mrs. Hays said that wouldn't be necessary.

Wells asked the council to table the dog problem and discuss it in two weeks at the council's "work session."

Mayor McCrary invited Mrs. Hays to return to the council with "detailed recommendations" for any changes in the city's handling of the dog problem.

In the meantime, the city is no longer paying dog bounties for the picking up of stray dogs. City Manager Maddox stopped the bounties last Thursday after The Dispatch story of possible conspiracy.

City Council —

the city to its old water field were opened with the bid going to C. E. Taylor of Levelland for $4,200.

Heard Harold Lucas propose some guidelines for the city council to follow in placing city insurance, which included specifying that all insurance companies selected be limited to financial ratings of A plus AAAAA, specifying every servicing local agent be established for at least five years to determine adequate policy servicing, and reserving the right to accept or reject any and all insurance proposals.

Lucas emphasized that the agent who places a large amount of business with an insurance firm has a better opportunity to secure a good settlement at a time of loss. He explained Lubbock observes the five years requirement.

The local insurance man also gave councilmen copies of the city's full fire insurance coverage, which showed a total three year premium of $3,680 or $1,226.67 annually, with the agency commission on such coverage only about $240. He pointed out this isn't much business to divide up and still receive good servicing.

The council discussed the guidelines suggested by Lucas and decided to write the Texas Municipal League for its recommendations on how to handle insurance and its suggested minimum ratings for insurance companies.

James Mitchell and Arnold Parrish were reappointed to the Post Housing Authority Board. A resolution was adopted

Girl Scouts —

Scout Hut and the present location was given the council by Brown Brothers through E. R. (Buster) Moreland.

Two years later an open house was held in the converted building. That was 20 years ago in 1955.

In January of 1960, the Post Girl Scout organization became part of the Girl Scouts' Caprock Council.

New in 1975, the Scouts Post neighborhood organization includes:

Finance committee: Vada Clary, Dr. B. E. Young and Giles McCrary.

Service Unit Chairman: Patty Kirkpatrick.

Building committee: Patty Kirkpatrick, Carol Peppers and Nell Clary.

Leaders: Brownie troop No. 115, Janie Davis; Brownie Troop No. 267, Shirley Storie and Patsy McCowan; Junior troop No. 168, Loretta McElroy; Junior troop No. 273, Patty Kirkpatrick; Junior troop No. 348, Judy Smith; and Cadettes, Nell Morris and Carolyn Franklin.

Besides the Sunday afternoon open house, other features of Girl Scout Week include the windup of the annual Girl Scout cookie sales and the Girl Scouts' annual Father-Daughter Banquet, which will be held at 7 p. m. Saturday, March 15, in the school lunchroom with Shirley Storie and Patsy McCowan as co-chairmen.

Members of the first Scout committee will be Banquet honored guests.

Be secure with Series H Bonds

When you come into some money, your problem may be how to keep it. Series H Bonds could be your best choice. They're absolutely secure. And you get current interest mailed to your door every six months, at a rate averaging 6% annually when held to 10-year maturity.

Preserve your capital

Capital? That's exactly what your new money is. So, preserve it with Series H Bonds. No ups and downs. Always worth what you paid. Actually, Series H Bonds are one of the safest ways to keep your principal intact.

Get income as it's earned

Steady, dependable income. Twice a year. And here's a way to get interest checks every month, if you'd like. Just buy an H Bond a month for six consecutive months. That way, you'll have a regular come guaranteed.

Purchase $500 to $5,000

Your banker has purchase applications for Bonds. At face value $500, $1,000, and $5,000. There's an annual purchase limitation of $10,000 ($20,000 with a co-owner).

So why worry? Even little. Because with Bonds, you always back what you paid.

Plus an income you can count on.

Fashion FORECASTS

WHAT TO EXPECT AT LEISURE

Leisure suits have taken men's wear by storm. They're being seen everywhere and on everyone. This plaid double knit of Fortrel polyester by Biltwell is not a sign of men's desire to dress down, but a reflection of their interest in dressier sportswear. This coincides with the movement in clothing towards a more elegant, sophisticated look. In fact, leisure suits are a revolt not only against drab clothing, but also against sloppy, unimaginative sportswear.

Lopes open track season with second at Brownfield

Post scores 70 with 7 pointmakers at home

Lope Tannehill's Post track team opened its season Saturday by scoring a second in a six-team Division III of the state relays, despite the fact seven point-getters made the trip along with other possible winners in late season. The Whirlwinds ran the first place trophy points.

The team followed with 70 points at O'Donnell had third place in the 400 yard dash, 57, Slaton 41.

Tannehill was well with the Lopes' showing with emphasis. "Our competitive."

The missing Saturday points McDonald, Ante- who probably added 25 points to the total with a pair of relays and the final leg of the relay. He came up with the bug Saturday.

The Lopes pulled down only 10 points in the meet — a disappointing win in the 100 yard dash in 2:05.5, and Price leaping 19 feet.

Discus, Garland Dudley, fifth, 128 feet, 8 inches; and Dusty Webb, sixth, 126 feet, one inch.

When the final event of the meet came along — the mile relay — the Antelopes had to place two places ahead of O'Donnell to beat them out for second. Post came in fourth and O'Donnell finished sixth to give the locals a four-point margin in the final point totals.

One Post school track record was set when Davis, just out of a basketball uniform, took third place in the 120 yard high hurdles in 15.8 seconds, the fastest any Lope has ever covered the distance.

ARCHERY CLUB OFFICERS—These are the new officers elected by the Post Archery Club at its annual meeting. Left to right, Donnie Stelzer, holdover director; Bobby Snow, president; DaRita Snow, secretary-treasurer; Herman Guthrie, vice president; and Boog Holly, new director for two-year term.

MOST VALUABLE MEMBER—Dr. Harry Tubbs is shown holding the most valuable member plaque of the Post Archery Club, which was presented to him Saturday.

Bobby Snow heads Post Archery Club

Bobby Snow was elected president of the Post Archery Club at its annual meeting Saturday afternoon in the bank community room with approximately 25 members on hand.

Other officers named were Herman Guthrie, vice president; DaRita Snow, secretary-treasurer. Boog Holly was elected a board member for a two-year term. The holdover director is Donny Stelzer.

The Bowhunter of the Year award was presented to Will Parker by Allan Hampton, bowhunting committee chairman.

Dr. Harry Tubbs was presented the most valuable member award.

The next tournament is scheduled for Sunday, March 16.

The next tournament is scheduled for Sunday, March 16, beginning at 2 p. m. Everyone is invited and everyone's attendance is appreciated.

Dimmitt whips Coahoma 76-57 Lineup given for Lorenzo

The season of the Coahoma Bulldogs lasted just one more game than that of the Antelopes last week.

The Dimmitt Bobcats, top AA club on the South Plains, ended it for Coahoma in the first round of the regional tourney in Lubbock Friday, 76 to 57, before rolling on to the regional crown and a berth in the state meet this weekend.

Dimmitt whipped Childress 69 to 62 in the regional finals.

Dimmitt broke open the game against Coahoma in the second period when they pulled away from a 12 to 10 first period lead to go 39 to 27 up at the half, and then added four additional points to that advantage in each of the last two periods.

It will be another week yet before Coach Lane Tannehill can get his track team at full strength for weekend competition. That will see the defending district champions at the West Texas Relays.

Several team members will not make the trip to Lorenzo this weekend for the Lorenzo track meet because of having animals in the Garza County Junior Livestock Show here.

Coach Tannehill said his probably lineup for the Lorenzo meet will include:

440 Relay: Alfred Pena, Edward Price, Joe Moore and Dennis McDonald.
800 Yard Run: Chris Wyatt, Jay Kennedy, Randall Wyatt.
120 Yard High Hurdles: Jackie Blacklock, Mike Waldrip and Jimmy Dorland.
100 Yard Dash: McDonald, Dudley, Moore, and Price.
440 Yard Dash: Pena.
330 Yard Intermediate Hurdles: Blacklock, Dorland and Waldrip.
220 Yard Dash: McDonald and Bruce Sanderson.
Mile Run: Ralph Howell and Joel Nesmith.
Mile Relay: Pena, R. Wyatt, Moore, C. Wyatt with Price as alternate.
Long Jump: Price, Dorland and Tony Conner.
Pole Vault: Dorland and Bruce Sanderson.
High Jump: Dale Odom, Waldrip and Conner.
Discus: Garland Dudley, Dusty Webb and Danny Saldivar.
Shot Put: Saldivar, Odom and Dudley.

FCA tourney meet tonight

Thursday night, March 6, there will be a meeting for representatives of basketball teams entered in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes tournament to be held March 20, 21 and 22.

Syd Wyatt has asked that a representative of each team be present at this meeting at 7:30 in the high school gym. Rules and regulations will be discussed.

Annual credit meet March 14

LUBBOCK — Approximately 800 farmers and ranchers from a nine-county area are expected for Lubbock Production Credit Association's annual meeting at 10 a. m., March 14, in Lubbock Municipal Coliseum.

Keynote speakers for the Friday morning session is Dr. Tyrus R. Timm, research economist and professor of agricultural economics at Texas A&M. Timm will talk on the future of agriculture, according to PCA President Alton Strickland.

A highlight of the meeting will be election of two directors by the association's membership. Candidates for Place 1 are incumbent, A. B. Roberts of Hockley and Lamb counties, and Dalton Redman of Cochran County. Place 2 nominees are incumbent, Keith Young and S. M. Handson Jr., both of Gaines County.

A meal for participants follows the business session.

Lubbock PCA has members in Cochran, Crosby, Gaines, Garza, Hockley, Lubbock, Lynn Terry and Yoakum counties.

Foster homes sought for children here

Letters were mailed to local churches last week by the State Department of Public Welfare asking for interested families here to become licensed foster homes.

A foster home is used by the Department whenever children are removed from homes because of severe emotional stress, economic difficulty or countless other problems which interfere with the family relationship. When such problems begin to be a threat to a child, the State has no choice but to act for the welfare of the child. As a result, children are removed from their homes and must have a home available to them on a temporary basis.

Many believe that these children are taken to "children's homes," but the vast majority are placed in foster homes. The only expense involved for a family to become a licensed foster home is that of a medical examination for each family member. The State pays a foster family $3 daily per child and the clothing and medical expenses of each foster child is absorbed by the State.

At present there are twelve children in foster care from Garza County, 73 per cent of which are Anglo and 25 per cent are Mexican-American. Where possible the State will provide a foster home of the same race as the foster child.

At present, as many as eight to ten children a week are being placed in foster care in the Lubbock area, therefore the need for reliable foster homes is great. All foster homes are available for use by other counties which makes the demand for foster homes a state-wide concern.

Mrs. Nora Stinson, an area Foster Home Worker, will be in Post on Friday, March 14th. She will be at the State Welfare Offices, 115 North Ave. N, from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Anyone interested in speaking with Mrs. Stinson is welcome to contact Shirley Hays 496-2454 at the Welfare Offices, or to contact Mrs. Stinson on March 14th.

CHAC to meet Tuesday night

The Citizens for Humane Animal Control will meet next Tuesday night in the Reddy Room at 7:30 p. m.

The discussion will include writing a second presentation for the next city council meeting.

Mrs. Shirley Hays said the club needs to consider what responsibilities it is willing to carry in regards to the city facilities.

Also it will be decided what the club expects of the city, and specific and detailed solutions to Post's current animal control problem will be outlined for the councilmen.

All interested citizens are welcome.

Supermarkets feature four popular foods

COLLEGE STATION — Four popular food items will highlight supermarket offerings this week, one observer predicted.

"Consumers can look for unusually heavy supplies of beef, potatoes, dry onions and fresh pears," Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said.

"Beef prices are something to cheer about," the Texas A&M University System specialist added. "For shoppers who have a little extra money, this is a good time to put some steaks into the freezer for summer."

"Good values also can be found on chuck cuts, ground beef, round steak and liver."

The pork market fluctuated during the past week with a tendency toward lower prices, the specialist said, noting that, seasonally, this is the time of year for pork. She reported good values on loin cuts, center-cut chops, liver and Boston butt roasts.

Chicken and turkey reflect "attractive" price levels in some markets, and eggs will be abundant at low seasonal prices in upcoming weeks, Mrs. Clyatt said.

"At produce counters, citrus fruits have the spotlight. Supplies of grapefruit are steady, and quality is excellent in most cases. Also, oranges are in peak season, D'Anjou pears will be in heavy supply through March."

"Economical vegetable selections include squash, rutabagas, carrots, sweet potatoes, broccoli, cabbage, celery, and cooking greens — as well as potatoes and dry yellow onions."

CONSUMER WATCH-WORDS: Frozen shrimp supplies are heavy and will be one of the better shellfish buys of the Lenten season.

VISITS HERE

Vivian Basquez Jr., a former resident of Post and a former student of Post High School visited Sunday afternoon with the Arnold Sandersons and Bruce and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Bird and family. The Basquez family lived on the Sanderson Ranch for 10 years before moving to Teague, Texas.

LETTERS To the Editor

WAS THIS INTENTIONAL

Dear Editor:

I would like to tell the people of Post about a personal experience that proves to me that we need some improvements in the way our city handles dogs.

My children and I, and neighbors across the street, witnessed what I believe was the intentional running down of our family pet.

What makes it worse is that the man who ran over our dog was a city policeman. He made no attempt to avoid the dog, even though he was traveling very slowly. He made no attempt to stop after hitting the dog, despite my screaming and the presence of several witnesses.

The policeman was pursued by my husband for several blocks, and after a second attempt to catch him, he finally did. The man did not admit to even seeing the dog, much less running over him. I am quite sure that the patrol car's window was down at the time the dog was hit, and I'm sure that the sound of hitting the dog was heard by the patrolman. Also, I was at the edge of the road, yelling a warning before the dog was hit, and yelling for him to please stop afterward.

What worries me is this: If people are going to be so negligent as to knowingly run down a child's pet and not admit it, much less apologize for it, what kind of respect do they have for life? If a pet is going to be run down in the presence of its owners, what would happen to a child if he had run after his pet? If an object as big as a dog wasn't seen, would an object the size of a child be ignored, too?

If that patrolman has a vision problem, he doesn't need to be driving a car. Our children will not learn much respect for the law when they witness such negligence. This world is a little short on respect for life, all forms of life, and if we learn to respect something as small as a dog, maybe we can learn to respect the lives of people as well.
