Conservation District News

Agriculture is dependent directly on the soil. Soil, or more really, topsoil, is the one asset of the farmer. If he has it, he has nothing. For generations, we Americans believed the topsoil of this Nation was inexhaustible. Today, we know that belief was not true. We know that soil resources, with proper use and care, can be exhausted just as we exhaust a vein of oil or pump an oil sand dry. The greatest enemy of topsoil erosion, brought on by man's use of the land, is water. It is not until a moment to consider what happens when rain falls on a field stripped of its topsoil and we begin to understand the flood waters resulting. When water runs over such land, there is little vegetation to break the fall and to retard its run-off. There is no cushioning topsoil to absorb the greater portion of the fall. When a raindrop strikes the surface, the force of impact causes soil particles to be taken into suspension, and it becomes a drop of muddy water. Muddy water enters the pores of the subsoil, as a result only a relatively small amount of the water enters the ground. The remainder flows on the surface, downhill. Soil and water conservation work was recently completed on the Welch Brothers ranch north of Post. Approximately one mile of terraces were recently completed on the Edna McLendon's farm in the Verben community. B. Franklin prefereed prairie for poisoning last week, and he to follow up with poison in this week.

Used Cars To Go Under Price Control Beginning July 10

Beginning July 10, all used passenger cars come under price control, the Office of Price Administration has directed. All sellers—individual owners as well as dealers—come under the program. Ceilings will vary by model, body type and make and will cover about 6,000 models manufactured from 1937 through 1942. There will be an "as is" and a "warranty" price for each model and body type. Ceilings will drop at the rate of four per cent of the "as is" price every six months. Permissible additions to ceiling prices are provided for extra equipment. Separate prices are given for each of three geographical regions. When a sale has been completed, the buyer and seller must fill out a transfer certificate and turn this in to the buyer's local War Price and Rationing Board. Nearly four million motor vehicles went out of use in the United States in 1942 and 1943 and have not been replaced, the Federal Works Agency reports.

"Odd Lot" Shoes To Be Ration-Free July 10 to 29th

An estimated seven million pairs of shoes will be made available to consumers ration-free under a provision releasing a limited quantity of "odd lot" shoes during the three-week period July 10 through July 29, the Office of Price Administration has announced. Included in this release are men's and women's shoes of all sizes, and youths' and boys' shoes of sizes 1 to 6. Since children's and misses' and little boys' shoes were temporarily ration-free in May, they will not be affected by this action. Dealers who sell shoes ration-free under this measure are required to make specified price reductions. Mrs. Calvin Cooper left last week for Washington, D. C. to be with her husband who is now stationed there. Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brown that her nephew, Duke Andrews of Hamden, was killed in action in Italy.

First Aid in the Stratosphere

This wounded aviator lies beside his gun while two buddies administer blood plasma as they wing back to their home field in England. He was wounded during an American bombing of German installations in Northwest France. Back our bombers by buying War Bonds.

If Spilled Blood Bought Bonds, Some Fighting Men Would Own A Million

As I said, I don't think the little bombardier thought about that when a burst of flack somewhere over Germany ripped away the plexiglass nose of his plane and threw him ten feet back into the passageway. What he knew was that his plane was just starting its bombing run and that now was his turn to make the risk of his life and those of the other nine men on that Fortress worth while. He knew that his job was to put those bombs where they'd do the most good and that he was at that moment out of action. Worry, fright and doubt left that bombardier. Through the open nose, freezing, death-dealing wind was whipping at 200 miles an hour. He wasn't injured and he could crawl back into the safety of the fuselage and they could take their bombs back home. No one would blame him for his decision. Or he could climb back over his bombsight and dare those winds. Unhesitatingly he made his choice. His bombs hit the target. When on his home base hours later they lifted him from that battered Fortress, they had to use the delicate touch of a watchmaker. His flesh was frozen a brittle black that cracked away from the bones at every touch. Medical science—its tools financed by War Bonds—has saved the little bombardier's life. Soon he will be over the first shock. Then they can begin to mould him a new face and ears, teach him to use his artificial hands, help him to walk on mutilated feet. He'll have lots of opportunity to lie and think during his long convalescence. Please give him the right things to think about—the thought that you're not shirking your job of buying War Bonds.

By Walter Cronkite
United Press War Correspondent

If spilled blood bought bonds, I know some guys who would own a million dollars worth. Guys like the meek little bombardier of a certain ill-fated Flying Fortress. From a middle western town where a barn burning was high excitement, he came to the war in a world where death and destruction are a part of life. He was scared every time he climbed into his ship. His face turned pale and his lips were always blue. He was scared of the flack and the fighters. He was a worrier and he worried about what he would do if he had to bail out. He worried about his oxygen system failing. He worried about getting caught in a blast of that stratosphere air that is 50 degrees below zero and freezes a finger numb in a minute. But this scared little bombardier had volunteered and they had given him a job to do. Bonds bought by a lot of people back home had given him the best training in the world and the best bombsight ever built. I don't say he consciously thought about those bond buying folks back home when his big test came, but he had thought about them in the past. Those fellows don't think about the things like that in the heat of battle but when they're in a cold Nissen hut and jawing with the other fellows of their crew, they talk about home and the things they want to go back to. They talk about conditions at home and they wonder sometimes if the folks back there appreciate the job they're doing. Sometimes they wonder why Uncle Sam has to beg, plead and cajole folks to buy bonds to back the attack. They don't kick about anything, but sometimes you see a grimace when somebody mentions 'sacrifice' on the home front.

OUTSTANDING ROPERS NOT AVAILABLE FOR JUNE ROPING CONTESTS

The Post Stampede, Inc. announces that there will be no matched ropings in June as was planned. They could not contact two outstanding ropers who had open dates at the same time in June. Plans are being made for a matched roping in July. Bronco riding, steer riding and other rodeo billings are scheduled. The July show will be held at night because war conditions will not permit a roof to be erected over the grand-stand this summer.

Women Voters Outnumber Men By Big Margin

For the first time this country has more women than men of voting age. In fact statistics reveal that there are 600,000. The census bureau passed the word along today with these estimates as of January 1: Men of voting age—44,043,669; Women of voting age—44,662,886; Total—88,606,555. An estimated 7,860,000 men over 21 are in the armed forces. The bureau has no way of estimating how many men in the armed forces will vote, nor how many war workers have temporarily lost their voting franchises by migrating to new areas. The actual number of ballots cast in the 1940 presidential election was 49,815,312, or 62.4 percent. Because of the uncertainties this year, the bureau made up three alternate estimates from which, it said, political forecasters may take their choice. 1. If 75 percent of male civilians, 60 percent of the women and 10 percent of the men in the armed forces vote, the total vote this fall would be 54,897,484. 2. If 65 percent of the male civilians, 60 percent of the women and 30 percent of men in the armed forces vote, the total would be 52,651,117. 3. If 65 percent of male civilians, 50 percent of the women and 30 percent of men in the armed forces vote, the total would be 48,188,828.

Plasma Program Is Established For Civilians

Austin—Texas, one of the first states in the Union to establish a blood plasma program for civilian use, operates, through the State Department of Health, a well equipped and efficiently manned mobile bleeding unit which is sent upon request to any community desirous of its services. Blood plasma banks have been proved an invaluable aid to all towns and hospitals where established. The giving of blood does not cause any ill effects to the donor and blood donors are usually pleasantly surprised at the painless simplicity of the bleeding. The process usually takes about thirty minutes from the beginning of the donation to the resumption of normal activities and is without discomfort to healthy individuals who, incidentally, are the only ones from whom blood is accepted. Regarding the importance of the blood plasma program, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has stated that the man at the front has long since learned to appreciate the value of plasma and would no doubt be grateful to know that it is available for use as needed by the family he has left, and to his home community. Dr. Cox pointed out that the State Department of Health merely collects the blood and processes it into plasma, and then it is returned without cost to the community from which it came. Any civic group or other organization interested in public health may sponsor this program locally. Contact should be made with the local health officer who can make arrangements for this service wherever requested.

County's Bond Sales Lagging

More than one-fourth of the time allowed for the Fifth War Loan drive has passed. Less than one-fourth of the job has been done in Garza county. This was the fact emphasized Monday by the first report on the progress of sales of War Bonds in Garza county in the present drive. The county's quota is $293,000, including $95,000 in E bonds. Sales through Saturday in Garza county totaled $72,000. Campaign officials still are hopeful that quotas will be reached without an all-out drive. Drive officials hope that voluntary buying will be enough to reach the goals. If they don't, a big drive will be necessary. The results of the next few days will decide. That it is necessary to write and speak and plead with Americans to invest their money in war bonds seems strange. We should have enough foresight and old-fashioned thrift to lay away some money for postwar buying of the things we want and need and for providing an education fund for that boy or girl. Americans generally have not made any real sacrifices to buy these bonds of our government. We owe an obligation to those brave men who went ashore in the gray dawn of Tuesday, June 6. We must not forget that many of our loved ones, our neighbors, our friends will not come back from the shores of France. American business, industry and banking have done a remarkable job of buying war bonds. Business men know that these bonds are good. It is the same government that is behind the title to their property that is behind these bonds. The Post Dispatch is offering a $25.00 War Bond to the Boy Scout who sells the most Series E bonds during the 5th War Loan drive, $5.00 in stamps for second; and $2.50 in stamps for third place winner. They will get credit for every order they secure. The Boy Scouts are working at the job of selling the Series E bonds and the competition is keen," reports Scoutmaster Weaver Moreman. Winning of victory is everybody's job and responsibility, so is the promotion and sale and buying of war bonds.

Custom Combine Operators To Be Issued Gasoline

Gasoline will be issued to custom combine operators to permit them to operate in the normal manner as an aid in overcoming the shortage of machinery for harvesting this summer's grain crop, the District Office Of Price Administration in Lubbock has announced. District officials said that an applicant for gasoline to be used for this purpose should file his application with the Ration Board serving the area where he normally keeps his equipment. He should apply for the estimated amount to cover the entire harvest period. Many operators of custom combines often start in one section and move to various regions as the grain ripens, cutting wheat or oats for farmers along the way. If an operator should run out of gasoline during the trip, he must request additional rations from the same Board where he filed his original application, officials said. Jim Williams is transacting business in Brady this week.

ADVISES BUYING EXTRA
EGGS NOW

If every housewife will buy an extra dozen eggs now and store them in her refrigerator she can solve a big storage problem now facing the War Food Administration.
At present, WFA says, there are 1,400 carloads of eggs for which no cold storage space can be found. By using their refrigerators, housewives can make it possible to save 25 million dozen eggs. Egg production has begun to decline seasonally and it will soon be possible to handle all supplies in the usual manner.

BUY THAT INVASION
BOND TODAY

Can we take it? The men running this war have told us again and again that Victory is likely to come slowly, at bitter cost, and attended by heartbreaks all the way. We must take bad news with good—we must never let up—we must keep doing our job and buying more and more Bonds 'til the day when the last enemy lays down his gun. Let's do just that!

Young folks always seem so silly after you've ceased to be one of them.

Scurry County Times— Our
farm homes of tomorrow, in Scurry and neighboring counties, will not only be modern, construction experts tell us, but will have all the conveniences and comforts ordinarily enjoyed by city residents.

Rural homes in the West Texas part of the state have long been open to criticism, both by federal and state agencies, and many rural residences have gained the notoriety of being "shacks and places to put one's bed and clothes."

You would be surprised to learn that only 10 per cent of the farm homes in this trade zone have indoor plumbing, and only 12.2 per cent have adequate lighting facilities—measured in terms of U.
S. Bureau of Standards. One of our biggest jobs after the war will be making our homes livable and bring to those who till the soil the comforts and conveniences that will make farm life appealing to all of those who must come back to civilian pursuits.

"GOING TO TOWN" IN
BOND DRIVE

That rural sections of the United States are "Going to Town" in the Fifth War Loan Drive is suggested by scattered early reports received by the Agriculture Section, War Finance Division, Treasury Department, in Carroll county, Georgia, agriculture's $100,- 000 share of the county was over-sold by $80,000 on June 6, six days before the drive opened. In Alabama, where county farm quotas
are broken down into "Beats," roughly equivalent to townships in other states, several beats had surpassed their quotas. Gregory county, South Dakota, reached its goal two days before the drive officially opened. More than 20,000
farm machinery dealers in the U.
S. have been enlisted as workers
in the Fifth War Loan Drive.

Doolittle Meets Doolittle;
Son Drops In on Father
Tokyo Bombing Hero Has Still Another
Namesake to Greet in Same 8th Air Force

By Ernie Pyle

(Editor's Note: Due to transmission delays, brought on by the volume of invasion dispatches, Ernie Pyle's first report on that historic event have not yet reached this country. The following dispatch was written before the invasion started.)

LONDON.—(by wireless)—Here I've been gallivanting around with lieutenant generals again. If this keeps up I'm going to lose my amateur standing. This time it is Jimmy Doolittle, who is still the same magnifcent guy with three stars on his shoulder that he used to be with a captain's bars.

General Doolittle runs the American Eighth air force. It is a grim and stupendous job, but he manages to keep the famous Doolittle sense of humor about it.

Doolittle, as you know, is rather short and getting almost bald. Since arriving in England from Italy he has diabolically started a couple of false rumors circulating about himself.

One is that his nickname used to be "Curly," and he occasionally throws his head back as though tossing hair out of his eyes. His other claim is that he used to be six feet tall but has worried himself down to his present small height in the past five months.

Ernie Pyle Jimmy Doolittle
has more gifts
than any one man has a right to be blessed with. He has been one of America's greatest pilots for more than 25 years. He is bold and completely fearless. Along with that he has a great technical mind and a highly perfected education in engineering.

In addition to his professional skill
he is one of the most engaging humans you ever ran across. His voice is clear and keen, he talks with animation, and his tone carries a sense of quick and right decision.

He is one of the greatest of storytellers. He is the only man I've ever known who can tell stories all evening long and never tell one you've heard before. He can tell them in any dialect, from Swedish to Chinese.

Above all he loves to tell stories
on himself. Here is an example:
He was at a Flying Fortress base one afternoon when the planes were coming back in. Many of them had been pretty badly shot up and had wounded men aboard.

The general walked up to one plane from which the crew had just got out. The upper part of the tail gun turret was shot away. General Doolittle said to the tail-gunner:
"Were you in there when it happened?"

The gunner, a little peevisly, replied:
"Yes sir."
As the general walked away the snoring gunner turned to a fellow crewman and said in a loud voice:
"Where in the hell did he think I was, out buying a ham sandwich?"

A frightened junior officer, fearing the general might have overheard, said:
"My God, man, don't you know who that was?"
"Sure I know," the tail-gunner
snapped, "and I don't give a damn.
That was a stupid question."

With which Jimmy Doolittle, the least stupid of people, fully agrees when he tells the story.

Jimmy tells these stories wonderfully, with more zest and humor
than I can put into them second-handed. As he says, the heartbreaks and tragedies of war sometimes push all your gaiety down into the depths. But if a man can keep a sense of the ridiculous about himself he is all right. Jimmy Doolittle can.

Lieut. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle, head of the Eighth air force over here,
noticed one day in the roster of officers at his staff headquarters the name of a Captain Doolittle.

The name is not a very ordinary
one, and he made a mental note that some day he would look the fellow up for a little chat. One day not long after that his phone rang
and the voice at the other end said,
"This is Captain Doolittle."

"Oh yes," said the general. "I had noticed your name and I meant to call you up sometime."
"I'd like to come in and see you,"
said the voice at the other end.
"Why yes, do that," the general
said. "I'm pretty busy these days, but I'll switch you to my aide and he'll make an appointment for you."

Glad you called, Captain. I'll look forward to seeing you."
He was just ready to hang up
when the voice came back plaintively
over the phone:
"But Dad, this is me. Don't you recognize me? I've got a package for you from Mom."

The general exploded: "Well why in hell didn't you say so in the first place!"
It was Capt. Jimmy Doolittle Jr., a B-26 pilot in the Ninth air force.
The general hasn't got around yet
to seeing the other Captain Doolittle.
It'll probably turn out to be his brother or something.

The last time I had seen General
Doolittle was some 16 months ago,
way down at the desert airdrome
of Biskra on the edge of the Sahara.
That was when he was running our African bomber force that was plastering the Tunisian ports.

General Doolittle flew in one afternoon from the far forward airdrome of Youks les Bains. The night before his entire crew except for the co-pilot had been killed in a German bombing at the Youks field.

His crew had manned their plane's guns until it got too hot, and then made a run for an old bomb crater 50 yards away. It was one of those heartbreaking freaks of hard luck.
A bomb hit the crater just as they reached it, and blew them all to pieces.

General Doolittle has written hundreds, perhaps thousands, of letters to people who have lost sons or husbands in his air force. But one of the men in that crew was the hardest subject he has ever had to write home about. Here is the reason—

When he led the famous raid on Tokyo, Doolittle had a mechanic who had been with him a long time.
Doolittle was a colonel then. The mechanic went on the Tokyo raid
with him.

You remember the details of that raid, which have gradually seeped
out. The planes were badly scattered. Some were shot down over Japanese territory. Others ran out of gas. Some of the crews bailed out. Others landed in Russia. The remainder splattered themselves all over the rice paddies of China.

That night Doolittle was lower than he had ever been before in his life. There wasn't any humor in the world for him that night. He sat with his head down and thought to himself.

"You have bailed up the biggest chance anybody could ever have.
You have sure made a mess of this affair. You've lost most of your planes. The whole thing was a miserable failure. You'll spend the rest of your life in Leavenworth for this,
and be lucky to get out of it that easy."

As he sat there this sergeant-mechanic
came up and said:
"Don't feel so bad about it, Colonel."
Doolittle paid no attention. But the sergeant kept at him.

"It's not as bad as it seems. Why, I'll bet you that within a year you'll have a Congressional Medal for it and be a brigadier general."
Doolittle just snorted.

"Well, I'll bet you so," the sergeant said. "And I'd like to ask one thing. As long as you're flying I'd like to be your mechanic."

That finally got inside Doolittle's gloom. Somebody had confidence in him. He began to buck up. So he said:
"Son, as long as I've got an airplane you're its mechanic, even if we live to be a thousand years old."

As you know, he did get a Congressional Medal of Honor, and now he has not only one star but the three of a lieutenant general. And that sergeant, who devoted himself to Colonel Doolittle that miserable night out there in China, was still General Doolittle's mechanic the night they landed at Youks les Bains in February of 1942. He was one of the men who ran for the shell hole that night.

General Doolittle had to write the letter to his parents.

REMEMBER YOUR ABC'S

The wise man gets a roof on his house before it rains. Also he lays aside a few dollars to meet unusual expenditures which are bound to occur. Similar practices involving foresight and thrift are as essential in the largest corporation as in the smallest home.
Thousands of postwar jobs depend on simple ABC lessons in "good housekeeping."

The president of the Missouri
Pacific Lines points out that American railroads are carrying the greatest load in history. Wear and tear on tracks, bridges, locomotives,
cars and other equipment is terrific.
Material and labor for needed
maintenance are not obtainable
now beyond the minimum necessary for safe continued operation. Money for current revenues should be saved to pay for the needed repairs and replacements
when material and labor are available—meanwhile it should be invested in war bonds for war purposes.

But the tax law prevents such savings. If money for needed repairs cannot be spent as it is earned,
it is considered "profit" (by the Federal Treasury) and practically taxed away. But it isn't profit. It is the lifeblood of the railroads. Without repairs and replacements, railroads cease to run.
Congress has been asked to recognize these facts and permit the railroads to put aside sufficient revenue in war bonds to replace the things that are worn out in earning that revenue. Favorable action would mean thousands of jobs for returning fighting men
in the task of restoring railroads,
and in the mills, mines and forests that will furnish materials for the work. It would mean strong postwar railroads.

To tax this "repair money" as profit because the work cannot be done now, threatens the backbone of American transportation.

Col. J. Monroe Johnson, director of the Office of Defense Trans-

The policy, Colonel Johnson said, will remain in effect until

With the invasion under way,
the director pointed out, demands on transportation facilities are increasing. He suggested that all organizations, which have meet-

Conoco Nth oil's special synthetic

Recently Mrs. Wallace Becker wrote her nephew, James, asking if he had ridden in a rickasha, and requesting that he send her a China doll. He answered the question in the affirmative, and added that if her request had come a week earlier, he could have sent the doll, but he was a long way from China by then.

LABOR AND MACHINERY WILL BE NEEDED FOR GRAIN HARVEST IN PANHANDLE

By Wallace Kimbrough, County Agent

The grain harvest is slated to start in the Panhandle between the 20th and 25th of June. According to D. A. Adams, who is in charge of placing combines, tractors, trucks and men in the Texas grain harvest, who reports that the shortage of combines, tractors, trucks and men will be most acute in the five northern counties of Texas. These counties are: Dallam, Sherman, Hansford, Ochiltree and Lipscomb. These counties will start their grain harvest only a few days after it has started in the southern counties of the Panhandle, due to weather conditions.

Anyone who has a combine or a truck they can send to the grain harvest should contact D. A. Adams of Plainview or his local County Agent. This equipment and men are needed, a good crop has been made and it must be saved. Good prices are being paid for custom combining and hauling of grain and good to fair wages are offered for hired help. Let's help save this grain crop and too, this county may be in need of combines, trucks and labor to harvest

BANG'S TESTING OF CATTLE

By Wallace Kimbrough, County Agent

A number of requests have been made to the County Agent to have some veterinarian do some Bang's testing of cattle, especially dairy cattle which supplies the family milk and butter needs.

Dr. A. J. Lewis of Lubbock has been used on the Bang's testing of dairy cattle for Garza county for the last two years. Dr. Lewis has been coming to Garza county when as many as fifty head have been lined up for testing in one day. Where he can get as many as fifty head on one trip his charge has been $1.00 per head.

If you are interested in having your dairy cow tested for Bang's disease, get in touch with the County Agent as he plans to secure a veterinarian to do this work as soon as fifty head can be lined up to be tested in one day.

Bang's may cause the loss of a calf, reduction in milk flow and lead to other diseases in cattle and give undulant fever to the persons using the dairy products from a Bang's reactor.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. (Ice) Jackson of Carlsbad, N. M. spent last week visiting relatives here.

YOUR INVASION!

FROM General Bradley, leading the Invasion ground forces, right through every rank, American men now face a brutal, desperate, able enemy. For this invasion has only begun—before our fighters lies a hard and bloody task, one that demands all their courage, backed by all your faith in their ultimate victory.

That faith will be tested many times in this invasion—in grim struggles, setbacks, possibly even temporary defeats. It will be up to you to remember that early victories usually only mean more savage opposition from a foe made more bitter, more ruthless as the shadow of his doom grows larger—up to you to keep that faith in days and nights of gloom as well as in hours of triumph.

There is little that you can do to show that you realize what they must face, perhaps for many months. But one thing you can do—back the attack with every dollar you can spare! Let the Bonds you buy in this greatest of Drives be the measure of your belief in their ultimate victory!

Specialist Jobs Now Open In WAC

Specialized jobs requiring women of specially trained skills to fill them are waiting for eligible women in the Women's Army Corps, according to word received here today from the United States Army Recruiting Station in the Post Office Building, Lubbock. Medical technicians, Motor Vehicle Drivers, Accountants, Code Clerks, Link Trainer instructors, Photographers, Supply and Stock Clerks and Radio Repair women are just a few of the jobs that need filling at once.

In the Medical Technician branch which consists of X-Ray, Dental, Laboratory and Surgical Technicians, women with no previous experience or training will be accepted for duty at once. Doctors are in such need of these women that they have volunteered to train them at the hospitals where they will work.

Sgt. Cunnison in charge of the Recruiting Station in Lubbock today said: "There are hundreds of eligible women here in the South Plains. Women the Women's Army Corps needs and wants. Women of the highest calibre whom we in the recruiting station want to talk to to tell them about these many opportunities in the WAC. Women all over this district are needed. If they only knew that they could enlist in the Corps now, choose the station they wish, the job of their choice and the branch of service in which they wish to serve... if they only knew what the Women's Army Corps could now offer them, I am sure they would want to join immediately."

"In every city we recruiters have visited we have found dozens of eligible women who we think would be interested if they only knew what the Women's Army Corps could offer them, instead of being disinterested and refusing to find out the details of WAC work and life."

More than 239 different jobs are filled by women in the Army today both here in the United States and in almost every Allied country overseas. Jobs that women have volunteered for and were trained for by the army.

Full information may be secured by writing or visiting the Army Recruiting Office, room 203, Post Office Bldg., Lubbock, Texas. Individual appointments will be arranged at any time.

BUS AND TRUCK TIRE SITUATION IS CRITICAL

Many truck and bus operators of the Southwest are going to find their vehicles at the side of the road without useable tires—if they don't watch out.

That's the warning broadcast by E. B. Mohr, chairman of the Regional Maintenance Advisory Committee of the ODT.

Mr. Mohr, representing business men who are co-operating with the government agency without pay, said in Dallas that official warnings were being disregarded by many users of large size tires.

"It's no joke," the chairman said. "Unless drivers reduce speeds and loads and recap tires when they become smooth, they are going to find themselves going out of business."

Word has been received from the ODT in Washington that the third-quarter allotment of 10-ply-and-over tires in sizes 7.00x20 and up will be far below requirements the next three months.

TEXAS PEACH CROP TO TOP 1,500,000 BUSHELS

The United States Department of Agriculture in a report issued this week forecast Texas peach production at 1,554,000 bushels, more than 850,000 bushels larger than the crop last year. Although an average crop was indicated for the state as a whole, production this year is confined largely to eastern and north central counties. Late freezes damaged peaches in other areas.

The fruit crop in this immediate area was damaged considerably by the freeze.

THE POWER IN SIMPLE LIVING

LESSON TEXT—Daniel 1:8-18. THE GOLDEN TEXT—But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the king's dainties, nor with the wine which he drank.—Daniel 1:8.

"Dare to be a Daniel. Dare to stand alone. Dare to have a purpose firm. Dare to make it known."

Remember how we used to sing it in our Sunday Schools! Possibly some of us still do. The thought of the song assuredly needs to be emphasized anew.

The "times are out of joint." Millions of men and women are meeting new problems and temptations. The standards of life they learned in home and church or Sunday school are not too easy to maintain.

Many are hearing that old excuse for laxity. "Man, you're in the army now," or "Don't forget you're not at home with Mother; you're in the navy." Civilians have similar tempting excuses for careless living, drinking, etc.

Our lesson is a timely one. It presents Daniel as having—

I. A Courageous Purpose (v. 8).

Daniel and his three Hebrew companions were among those carried captive to Babylon. As promising young men, they were selected to receive an education in the wisdom of the land, at the king's expense and in preparation for his service.

The king provided for them the delicacies of his household, thinking thus to keep them strong and in good health. Daniel recognized that many of these things were unclean according to the laws of his people. He also knew that to eat such food and to drink the intoxicants provided for them would be to injure his health and cut down his ability to learn.

It was no easy thing to ask to be excused from what the king had commanded, not to do what everybody else was doing; but Daniel had a courageous purpose "in his heart."

But Daniel had the wisdom to be tactful about his convictions. He went to the king's steward with—

II. A Considered Plan (vv. 9-13).

He had something thoughtfully worked out, a fair proposal which would not endanger the life or standing of the prince who was over them. He proposed a test, and agreed, if it failed, to be subject to further orders. He knew it would not fail.

How often those who have it in their heart to stand true to God against evils, such as beverage alcohol, have no plan in mind, and are only loud and tactless in their condemnation. They make no contribution to the cause. Let us be intelligent and properly prepared.

Daniel's plan put a planned diet and water over against rich foods and wine. It was a case of simple living against "high" living, and the result was a foregone conclusion. Those high in positions of authority in the field of diet tell us again and again that we need simple, well-balanced meals. And science is definite and clear in its condemnation of alcoholic beverages.

Daniel's test period resulted in—

III. A Convincing Proof (vv. 14-16).

Ten days proved the point. Daniel and his friends were fairer and fatter than the others. They were vindicated in their courageous stand for what they believed to be right. Simple living demonstrated its value.

Think what a fine testimony the experience of Daniel must have been in that great group of young princes who were at the king's table. So we also may give good witness for our Lord by our loyalty to right standards. Often it is true that those who outwardly scoff at them are secretly moved to respect those who consistently stand for what they believe.

We need to cultivate in our young people the high courage which will enable them to stand against the constant temptation to partake of alcoholic beverages and to face with intelligent courage the clever propaganda of the liquor sellers.

Note that Daniel and his friends did not lose by their decision—they gained. They reached—

IV. A Commendable Position (vv. 17, 20).

At the end of the training period the king gave these young men examinations. Note that in technical knowledge, "I. Q." and in personal characteristics, Daniel and his comrades were superior to all the rest. That is in accord with the findings of modern science in the matter of the use of liquor.

It is not almost unbelievable then that the advertising of the liquor interests, suggesting that liquor is a desirable thing from a personal, social, and business viewpoint, is permitted? The facts are all on the other side.

Strange too is the tolerant attitude of our nation and especially of many in the church toward that which is known to be destructive and detrimental. It is an appalling commentary on the extent to which our standards have been lowered or forgotten.

VICTORY HINTS

Boiled Custard

To get a smooth, thick boiled custard this is what home economists advise: Cook slowly over a low heat, stir until custard coats the spoon, then remove from range and pour into serving dishes. Should custard curdle while cooking because of too-intense heat, take it off the range immediately, put in a pan of cold water and beat with a rotary egg beater.

Bargain In Health

Because cottage cheese is such a bargain in health, home economists recommend using it as often as possible in sandwiches and salads. And for a change, they season it with chopped chives or peanuts or finely-minced leaves.

Cords Bruise Easily

Don't let electric cords get knotted or twisted, and don't shove them into a drawer any-which-way. Such rough treatment wears out the insulation and leads to exposed wires and possible shock or to short circuits and blown fuses. Coil permanently attached cords loosely around appliance when not in use—wait until appliance cools, of course. Hang extra cords over a thick wooden peg.

The next meeting will be on June 27 with Mrs. Carl Fluitt as hostess. Miss Manley will meet with us and give a demonstration on dress forms.

Everyone is urged to come and bring a neighbor with you. It is very discouraging on the hostess for such a few to turn out. So if we are going to continue with our HD club lets all take to going and if we are not lets drop the whole thing and let the supervisor spend more time in the communities that are more interested. —Reporter

THIS YEAR,

. . . it is estimated two and a half million cars will go to the scrap pile . . . with the death rate steadily increasing, as cars grow older.

At the present accelerating rate, the number of cars in operation will reach the danger point of 20,000,000 about the middle of next year. Should the number of usable cars fall below this figure our transportation system will be imperiled,—the war effort seriously affected.

In the face of these facts, every car owner should assume the responsibility of keeping his car on the job. For, truly, the destiny of each car rests in the hands of its owner.

Reemployment Provisions For Returning War Veterans Are Outlined and Analyzed

With the constant increase in the number of returning veterans of World War II, individual problems are now naturally arising in connection with their reinstatement in former jobs, it was disclosed by General J. Watt Page, State Selective Service Director.

The directive, issued in the form of a memorandum for the guidance of local boards and the reemployment committees attached to the boards, outlines the policies and principles governing administration of the reemployment provisions of the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940, he said.

The memorandum analyzes each section of the Act as it applies to reemployment of veterans. It outlines the principles to be followed in determining the "permanent" or "temporary" nature of employment, deals with problems affecting qualifications of veterans for reinstatement and the duties and obligations of employers, and answers questions concerning seniority rights.

Highlights of the memorandum include:

Eligible for benefits under the Act are persons who entered the Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard (male or female) subsequent to May 1, 1940, but the veterans seeking benefits must have a "certificate" indicating satisfactory completion of service in the armed forces.

Members of the Coast Guard auxiliary are not eligible, nor do the reemployment provisions apply to employees of States, although the Act declares it to be the sense of Congress that such persons should be restored to their former positions or to positions of like seniority, status and pay. The policy of the Selective Service System is to render all possible aid to such persons.

Conscientious objectors have no reemployment rights under the law and the Selective Service System has no responsibility to aid them in regaining former positions or obtaining new positions.

The Act requires the veteran to make application for reemployment "within 40 days after he is relieved from training and service." This is mandatory and compliance is essential if the veteran is to enforce his reemployment rights over the objection of the employer.

A veteran, in order to claim reinstatement in a position, must be qualified to perform the duties of position, and this is a question of fact to be determined by common sense and experience. The employer cannot set up arbitrary or unreasonable standards. The real question is "Can the veteran do his job in the manner in which he did it before he left?" So long as there is any doubt the veteran is entitled to a chance to prove that he can do so. If unable to qualify for an upgraded job, he is, nevertheless, entitled to a position equal in seniority, status and pay to the one which he left.

A veteran is entitled to reinstatement in his former position or one of like seniority, status and pay, even though such reinstatement necessitates the discharge of a nonveteran with greater seniority.

A veteran is entitled to his former position or one of like seniority, status and pay, and may refuse another, even though the pay is greater and offers other advantages.

A veteran is entitled to his former position or one of like seniority, status and pay, and may refuse another, even though the pay is greater and offers other advantages.

Seniority rights accumulate during the veteran's period of active service in the armed forces in the same manner as they would have accumulated had he remained continuously at work in his civilian occupation.

In the case of jobs created by war expansion, the "permanent" or "temporary" character of the job likewise depends upon the facts and circumstances in each individual case.

The memorandum further points out that:

A veteran entitled to reemployment rights has recourse in the courts to recover back pay, even after reinstatement if it was improperly delayed or postponed by the employer.

A veteran entitled to reemployment may not be discharged from his restored position "without cause within one year after restoration." The question of what constitutes "cause" is to be determined by "standards of common sense" and is to be measured by "practices and customs generally acceptable in industry or practices and customs in common and accepted use in the particular place of employment."

A veteran who has been reinstated in his former position cannot within one year be displaced by another, on the ground that the latter has greater seniority rights.

A soldier who is placed in an inactive status and transferred to the Enlisted Reserve Corps, at his own request, on the condition that he will engage in essential industry, loses his reemployment rights if he does not apply to his former employer for reinstatement within 40 days after his transfer.

When it is claimed that a veteran has waived his reemployment rights, the waiver must be proved by clear and positive evidence. The burden of proof is upon the employer to prove a voluntary waiver by the veteran.

The veteran's medical history and diagnosis, as contained in the Report of Separation provided to the Selective Service System, has been determined to be confidential and may not be disclosed or furnished to or examined by any person, including the veteran, other than those in the Selective Service System who have reason for the use of such information. Such information is the property of the War and Navy Departments, respectively, and any registrant or other person desiring such information will be referred to the branch of service from which the veteran has been separated. An employer has no right to establish as a condition precedent to a veteran's reinstatement in his former position that he sign a waiver of his rights to keep his medical history and diagnosis confidential, or to insist as a condition precedent to reinstatement that the veteran authorize the employer to secure such information from the War or Navy Department.

General Page said that Local Boards and their reemployment committees have been instructed to submit to the Veterans Personnel Division at State Selective Service Headquarters all cases where there is doubt as to a veteran's rights. Where the need for legal proceedings is indicated, he said, the file will be sent to National Headquarters for review and forwarding to the Department of Justice for proper action.

Never mind the sympathy—he doesn't want it! In his mind, he did his duty, and part of his duty was stopping an enemy bullet.

You have a duty, too, in this war. Part of your duty is to buy War Bonds with every dime and dollar you can.

So simply say "thanks" to a wounded soldier, by buying your full share of War Bonds in the Fifth War Loan. Don't expect credit—you can't match his sacrifice by merely lending your money. But don't be ashamed, either—if you've done your duty, you've shown your gratitude—the way he wants you to.

Say "thanks" to every American soldier—double the Bonds you bought before.

McCord Makes Formal Statement

District Attorney Rollin McCord has authorized the Dispatch to publish his formal statement in behalf of his candidacy for reelection. Mr. McCord was elected District Attorney in 1940, being the last candidate to announce for that office, he led the ticket over four worthy opponents in the first primary by 399 votes and won the nomination in the run-off primary by almost 1500 votes majority. Prior to serving as district attorney, he served four years as county attorney of Lynn county. Mr. McCord has made a splendid record as District Attorney of this district and enjoys the respect and confidence of all who have worked with him. He is 40 years of age and lives with his wife and two children in Tahoka. His formal statement follows:

"If re-elected District Attorney, I shall continue to vigorously enforce the laws of our state to all alike regardless of race, creed or color and co-operate and work in harmony with our jurors, peace officers and court officials. I promise you the same honest, efficient administration.

ROLLIN McCORD

"During the time served as your district attorney, I have tried approximately 400 felony cases and have only lost five. Three persons were given life sentences in the penitentiary and two others 99 years each. Of the many cases appealed to our highest court at Austin, only two have been sent back for re-trial and not one case has been ordered dismissed by that court.

"I have been ever mindful of the wasted time and delay occasioned by many courts in the trial of cases and have tried and disposed of all cases as quickly as possible, having tried as many as four separate cases before juries in one day. It being necessary that we save not only our tax dollars but our jurors time so badly needed for the war effort. I believe that I can be of service to this district by the experience gained as your district attorney and the many years that I have been in the active practice of law.

"I deeply appreciate the honors you good people have bestowed upon me and also the encouragement of so many friends throughout the district in my race for reelection. May I respectfully ask that you carefully investigate my record as a public official and also my private life as a citizen of Lynn county since 1916.

ROLLIN McCORD

Here's Gulf's Protective Maintenance Plan..

BEFORE THIS WAR IS OVER, there may be only two kinds of people in America...

- 1. those who can still get to work in automobiles, 2. those who are forced to walk.

If you want to be in the fortunate group who will still be riding to work in automobiles, join Gulf's "Anti-Breakdown" Club today. How do you do it? Just come in for Gulf's Protective Maintenance Plan!

This plan was conceived by experts in car care. Gulf developed it because car maintenance is a most important civilian job. (The Government says civilian car maintenance is one of the services essential to winning the war, because 8 out of 10 war workers use automobiles to get to work.)

1 It protects your car at 39 DANGER POINTS! GULF'S Protective Maintenance Plan includes Gulfex Registered Lubrication which reaches up to 39 vital engine, chassis, and body points. Six different Gulfex Lubricants reduce wear.

2 It gives you a CLEANER, smoother running motor! GIVE your car a good motor oil and change regularly. Gulf offers two outstanding oils... Gulfpride, "The World's Finest Motor Oil," and Gulfube, an extra-quality oil that costs a few cents less.

3 It stretches your 'N' coupons! AIR-FILTER and spark-plug cleaning, and radiator flushing help give better mileage. A clean air filter plugs increase power; a clean radiator prevents overheating.

...for better car care today... to avoid breakdowns tomorrow!

Postcard addressed to Pfc J. J. J. APO 9000 c/o Postmaster New York City. Recipient: Jim. Text: Dear Jim: Sorry this letter is late, but I'm up to my ears in the 5th War Loan Drive. As head of the town's committee, I'm busy almost every waking moment selling bonds. This is, by all odds, the most critical period of the war. Everything is at stake - everything. (As if I needed to tell you that.) Our quota calls for two billion dollars more in this loan than the last - everyone's got to buy two or three times more than he's ever bought before - if things are to go as we solemnly pray they should. Thank God most of the people I talk to seem to realize the critical need. They do without things they actually need in order to plunk down another hundred or two. I guess they feel as I do. With a man you love over there, the least you can do is your utmost. I want you to know, Jim, that the folks here at home are with you - and their money is fighting with you - every last dollar they can scrape up. Mother and I send love. Dad.

It's Time To...

WORM and VACCINATE YOUR HENS

FRY FEED and HATCHERY

What can you say to a wounded soldier?

Never mind the sympathy—he doesn't want it! In his mind, he did his duty, and part of his duty was stopping an enemy bullet.

You have a duty, too, in this war. Part of your duty is to buy War Bonds with every dime and dollar you can.

So simply say "thanks" to a wounded soldier, by buying your full share of War Bonds in the Fifth War Loan. Don't expect credit—you can't match his sacrifice by merely lending your money. But don't be ashamed, either—if you've done your duty, you've shown your gratitude—the way he wants you to.

Say "thanks" to every American soldier—double the Bonds you bought before.

McCord Makes Formal Statement

District Attorney Rollin McCord has authorized the Dispatch to publish his formal statement in behalf of his candidacy for reelection. Mr. McCord was elected District Attorney in 1940, being the last candidate to announce for that office, he led the ticket over four worthy opponents in the first primary by 350 votes and won the nomination in the run-off primary by almost 1500 votes majority. Prior to serving as district attorney, he served four years as county attorney of Lynn county. Mr. McCord has made a splendid record as District Attorney of this district and enjoys the respect and confidence of all who have worked with him. He is 40 years of age and lives with his wife and two children in Tahoka. His formal statement follows:

"If re-elected District Attorney, I shall continue to vigorously enforce the laws of our state to all alike regardless of race, creed or color and co-operate and work in harmony with our jurors, peace officers and court officials. I promise you the same honest, efficient administration.

ROLLIN McCORD

"During the time served as your district attorney, I have tried approximately 400 felony cases and have only lost five. Three persons were given life sentences in the penitentiary and two others 99 years each. Of the many cases appealed to our highest court at Austin, only two have been sent back for re-trial and not one case has been ordered dismissed by that court.

"I have been ever mindful of the wasted time and delay occasioned by many courts in the trial of cases and have tried and disposed of all cases as quickly as possible, having tried as many as four separate cases before juries in one day. It being necessary that we save not only our tax dollars but our jurors time so badly needed for the war effort. I believe that I can be of service to this district by the experience gained as your district attorney and the many years that I have been in the active practice of law.

"I deeply appreciate the honors you good people have bestowed upon me and also the encouragement of so many friends throughout the district in my race for reelection. May I respectfully ask that you carefully investigate my record as a public official and also my private life as a citizen of Lynn county since 1918.

ROLLIN McCORD

S/Sgt. Douglas Tipton, of the Marines, left last Wednesday after spending a 14 day furlough here visiting his mother, Mrs. J. D. Tipton, and his sisters. He will visit a brother in Ft. Worth before reporting to a station in North Carolina. Sgt. Tipton was in Pearl Harbor when it was bombed and he has been in Guadalcanal 2 years.

JOIN GULF'S "Anti-Breakdown" Club TODAY!

BEFORE THIS WAR IS OVER, there may be only two kinds of people in America...

1. those who can still get to work in automobiles,
2. those who are forced to walk.

If you want to be in the fortunate group who will still be riding to work in automobiles, join Gulf's "Anti-Breakdown" Club today. How do you do it? Just come in for Gulf's Protective Maintenance Plan!

This plan was conceived by experts in car care. Gulf developed it because car maintenance is a most important civilian job. (The Government says civilian car maintenance is one of the services essential to winning the war, because 8 out of 10 war workers use automobiles to get to work.)

Here's Gulf's Protective Maintenance Plan..

1 It protects your car at 39 DANGER POINTS!

GULF'S Protective Maintenance Plan includes Gulfex Registered Lubrication which reaches up to 39 vital engine, chassis, and body points. Six different Gulfex Lubricants reduce wear.

2 It gives you a CLEANER, smoother running motor!

GIVE your car a good motor oil and change regularly. Gulf offers two outstanding oils... Gulfride, "The World's Finest Motor Oil," and Gulfube, an extra-quality oil that costs a few cents less.

3 It stretches your $'coupons!

AIR-FILTER and spark-plug cleaning, and radiator flushing help give better mileage. A clean air filter makes gas burn more economically; clean plugs increase power; a clean radiator prevents overheating.

4 Get an appointment at your GULF STATION!

TO HELP YOUR Gulf Dealer do a thorough job on your car, make an appointment. Phone or speak to him at the station. Then you should encounter no delay when you get Gulf's Protective Maintenance Plan... 11 services in all!

GULF Gasoline powers the attack... Don't waste a drop!

Dear Jim:

Sorry this letter is late, but I'm up to my ears in the 5th War Loan Drive.

As head of the town's committee, I'm busy almost every waking moment selling bonds. This is, by all odds, the most critical period of the war. Everything is at stake—everything. (As if I needed to tell you that.) Our quota calls for two billion dollars more in this loan than the last—everyone's got to buy two or three times more than he's ever bought before—if things are to go as we solemnly pray they should.

Thank God most of the people I talk to seem to realize the critical need. They do without things they actually need in order to plunk down another hundred or two. I guess they feel as I do. With a man you love over there, the least you can do is your utmost.

I want you to know, Jim, that the folks here at home are with you—and their money is fighting with you—every last dollar they can scrape up. Mother and I bend low.

Dad.
