New Jaycee Organization Is To Sponsor Clean-Up Drive May 18-22

The city's newest organization, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, voted Monday night to sponsor Post's annual clean-up drive, set this year for May 18-22.

After President Jack Rex told Jaycees at Monday night's meeting that the organization had been requested to sponsor the campaign, the members present voted unanimously to take on the job—their first project since organizing here last Thursday night.

Mayor T. L. Jones has informed members of the organization that they will receive 100 per cent assistance from all departments of the city government in carrying out the clean-up campaign.

Rex appointed Charles T. Meacham, Bud Everett, A. B. Haws, Jr., J. D. Barrow and Malcolm

T. Bull as members of a committee to steer the clean-up project. All other Jaycees will assist in the direction, as well as the actual work, of the clean-up campaign, which is to be climaxed by gathering up and hauling away of accumulated trash on Friday, May 22.

Tuesday afternoon, Meacham, who is chairman of the committee, Everett and Bull discussed the project with Mayor Jones, who outlined the procedure of last year's one-day clean-up drive, which was held on June 4.

During the next few days, Jaycees will contact other organizations of the city to enlist aid in the city-wide campaign. They also will make arrangements for trucks in which to haul away trash, take steps to publicize the drive and make other plans.

It has been decided that workers will meet at 8 o'clock Friday morning, May 22, at the city warehouse and from there will spread out in teams to begin the one-day job of hauling away trash gathered up and piled on alleys during the first three days of the drive.

Everyone, in both the residential and business sections, is urged to have the trash, rubbish, etc., gathered and ready for immediate loading when the trucks come by on Friday. The accumulations will be hauled to the city dump grounds, southwest of town, and burned.

In last year's clean-up drive, the city was divided into two sections for the teams of workers, but this year may be zoned into four sections in plans yet to be made. "It depends on how many workers we're going to have," said one of the Jaycee committee members.

Mayor Jones told the Jaycee committeemen Tuesday afternoon that the city will serve a dinner to the workers at noon on the day the trash is being hauled and that refreshments will be brought around to the teams.

WINNERS TO APPEAR IN RODEO PARADE

Judges Are Appointed For Western Garb Competition

Judges, whose identity will remain unknown, were appointed this week to select the most appropriately dressed citizens during Western Week, May 18-27, preceding the annual Post Stampede and Rodeo.

Cash prizes totalling $30 will be awarded the best-dressed "cowboys" and "cowgirls" during the period, according to

Ralph Kirkpatrick, chairman of the rodeo association's western regalia committee. First, second and third place prizes in the contest will be $15, $10 and $5.

The three winners will be selected from a mong all age groups. "There'll be only one division to the contest," the chairman said.

The judges' procedure will be to compile points during the nine-day period from their observation of those dressed in western garb. At the end of the contest, these points will be compiled by the judges and citizens with the highest point totals will be declared winners.

Kirkpatrick said arrangements will be made for the three winners to appear in the rodeo opening parade at 6 p. m. Wednesday, May 27.

All Post residents will be expected to wear western garb during the period preceding the rodeo, or pay fines ranging from 25 cents upward. The customary penalties in such cases will be imposed on those refusing to wear western regalia or pay the fine, the chairman said.

Other members of the western regalia committee are Jake Heiskill, Clint Herring, Powell Shydes, Jim Hundley, Cy Thaxton and L. E. Webb.

County's Dust Damage Is Among Lightest In Area

Garza County escaped much of the blowing damage occurring in areas to the west and southwest during last week's near-record dust storms, according to County Agent Lewis Heron.

"We caught more soil than we lost," the agent said. "Considerable top-soil was lost in counties to the west and southwest, but heavy damage occurred to only small acreages in Garza County."

Most of the damage resulting in this county was blowing out of the moisture in top-soil prepared for planting, and covering and burning of pasture grass by the blowing sand.

There wasn't a great deal of grass on rangeland when the dust storms hit, and what there was will need plenty of moisture to make a comeback now, the agent said.

Some irrigation farmers above the caprock and in the northwestern part of the county already have planted cotton, but the few stands are none too good, the agent said. He estimates there are 250 irrigation wells in the county this year, an

Deadline Set For Barbecue Tickets

Tuesday, May 12, has been set as the deadline for purchase of tickets to the May 19 barbecue honoring Drs. A. C. Surman and D. C. Williams, pioneer Post physicians.

At a meeting Monday afternoon of Ira L. Duckworth, general committee chairman, and a number of ticket sales committeemen, the deadline date was set and a final meeting of ticket committeemen scheduled for 4 p. m. that day.

"It was reported at Monday afternoon's meeting that approximately 170 tickets had been sold, and it was conservatively estimated that the total will reach 225 by Tuesday's deadline.

Other plans for the barbecue were discussed at Monday's meeting. It will be held at 5:30 p. m. in the Boy Scout mess hall at C. W. Post Memorial Scout Camp. The Rev. Dick O'Brien, Baptist minister of Big Spring, will be the speaker.

Both Dr. Surman and Dr. Williams have practiced medicine in

City Annexation Is Requested By Group

Nine resident property owners of an area just west of the city limits met with the City Council Tuesday night and asked that the area be incorporated into the city.

The area, which is equivalent to about two city blocks north and south and 200 feet east and west, is at the west end of Main Street.

The City Council expressed itself as favoring annexation of the area, but advised the group that it would be necessary to present a petition requesting such action and signed by a majority of qualified voters residing therein. Surveying and platting also would be necessary, they were told.

The area already is served by all utilities except city sewerage service.

Post Lions Club To Select Queen Entry

The Post Lions Club is looking for a queen to represent it June 12-14 at the District 27-1 convention of Lions International at Berger.

Application blanks may be obtained from Les Short, chairman of the club's queen contest committee, at Les Short Buick Co. Contestants must be unmarried and between the ages of 16 and 21.

Those wishing to enter are asked to see the contest chairman as soon as possible. It will be necessary for the judging group to select the queen not later than May 26 in order that she may be entered by June 1 in the district contest at Berger.

Two Convicted After Hearings In Court Term

A new term of Garza County criminal court was continuing today, following two convictions in jury trials Monday and Tuesday.

Scheduled for trial at 1 o'clock this afternoon is Florentino Hernandez, charged with driving while intoxicated. Cecil Foster is scheduled to be tried at 9 a. m. Friday on a charge of transportation, and at 1 p. m. on a charge of possession of beer for the purpose of sale.

The court term will be recessed Monday and Tuesday for a meeting of the county commissioners' court, but will be resumed at 9 a. m. Wednesday with Jasper Fields facing trial on a transportation charge. Set for hearing at 1 p. m. is Fields' appeal of a justice of peace court judgment on a speeding charge.

At 9 a. m. next Thursday, the case of Raymond Letson, charged with possession of beer and wine, is set for trial. Court will recess the rest of the day while District Judge Louis B. Reed calls his docket, and will be resumed Friday morning.

A jury Monday found Cecil Foster guilty of driving while intoxicated. He was sentenced to 30 days in jail by Judge Oscar Graham. Members of the jury were Ira L. Duckworth, Francis Shannon, C. E. Basinger, Ira

Donor Pledge Cards Are Due Friday For Bloodmobile's Visit To Post On May 13

Indications this week were that Post again will meet its quota of 150 pints of blood when the Red Cross bloodmobile comes here next Wednesday, but sponsors have expressed concern over the slow rate at which the blood donor pledge cards are being returned.

It is necessary that these pledge cards be in by tomorrow's deadline in order that members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary may make up the master schedule for the blood donations.

Ralph Kirkpatrick, chairman of the bloodmobile planning program, urges everyone who has received a pledge card and who wishes to donate blood to return it as soon as possible.

The bloodmobile, which comes here from the North Texas National Defense Blood Center at Fort Worth, will be in the First Methodist Church basement from 10 a. m. until 4 p. m.

Staffs of volunteer workers, directed by members of the American Legion Auxiliary, will be on hand to assist in the six-hour blood-giving program.

A number of the volunteer workers were briefed on their duties by Miss Jean Fitzsimmons, Red Cross field worker, at a meeting here Wednesday afternoon.

A few weeks ago, Dr. Shelton Barcus was here from the Fort Worth blood center and received the promise of local physicians' assistance in the blood donor program during the hours the unit is in Post.

Blood will be accepted from donors between the ages of 18 and 60, but those under 21 are required to have the written permission of their parents. Anyone who has given blood within the past two months, who has had malaria fever within the past two years or who has ever had yellow jaundice will not be accepted as a blood donor.

Permission blanks for parents of those 18 to 21 to sign may be obtained from the chairman.

More Floats Being Sought For May 27 Rodeo Parade

Already shaping up as one of the biggest parades in the history of the Post Stampede and Rodeo, the procession to be staged here Wednesday afternoon, May 27, needs only a few more floats to assure its position as one of the most outstanding in the Southwest.

Expected to contribute to the success of this year's parade is the new route, according to Shelley Camp and Tom Power, committeemen. This year, the parade group will assemble on the farm-to-market road at the football stadium, march east on the Tahoka Highway to the city warehouse, north to Hudman Furniture, east to the railroad, and then back up Main Street, disbanding at the courthouse.

The parade committeemen attended the Post Rotary Club meeting Tuesday and reviewed the history and prestige of the event in pointing out the value of merchants and organizations sponsoring floats in the procession.

Cash prizes of $25, $15 and $10 will be awarded first, second and third place winners in the parade's float division.

The committeemen said Tuesday that floats are expected to be entered by Santa Fe Trailways, Merchant's Motor Lines, Baldrige's Bakery, Brown Bros., et al. City Fire Department, City of Post, T. E. The Jaycees were organized last Thursday night at a meeting in the school cafeteria. Assisting in the organization were several members of the Ralls Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The following officers and directors, elected at last Thursday night's meeting, will be installed on Charter Night:

Jack Rex, president; L. J. Richardson, Jr., vice president; Carroll Bowen, secretary; Percy Parsons, treasurer; James King, state director; and Malcolm Bull, A. B. Haws, Jr., Walter Lee Johnson and J. D. Barrow, directors.

Last Rites Are Held Here For Elzie Franklin

Funeral services for Elzie Lee Franklin, 31, World War II veteran, who died Sunday in Veterans Hospital at Dallas, were conducted at 3 p. m. Wednesday at the Assembly of God Church here. The Revs. Claud E. Holt and J. R. Brincefield officiated.

Mother's Day, our most sentimental holiday, began back in 1914, with President Wilson issuing the proclamation setting aside the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day. So that'll mean lighting up 39 candles for this Mother's Day, with millions honoring their mother or her memory.

Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia, who made countless lectures in her successful campaign to honor mothers, influenced the President to take the proclamation step. All federal buildings were ordered to display the American flag as the nation's first official tribute to motherhood.

Since that time, the observance has grown into one of the most popular on the calendar of holidays. If all the sentiment displayed in honoring mothers could supplant the selfish thoughts of worldly power, think how much better off we'd all be.

We've just spent a nickel for the May 1 issue of the "Antelope Sentinel," Post Grade School paper, and it's about the most wisely-spent nickel from which we've ever jarred loose. After looking through our copy, attractively mimeographed in several colors and full of well-written news, we'll put it up against any grade school paper anywhere.

The occasion for the bright colors in the current issue of the Antelope Sentinel is May Day, and there's a picture of a gaily-festooned may pole on the front cover. Congratulations to Frances Dietrich, editor, all the other staff members, and the faculty sponsors for turning out a paper that would be a credit to any high school.

Of interest to local Junior Rodeo fans will be the news that Billy Kerley, who was named best all-around cowboy at the 1952 Southwestern Championship Junior Rodeo here, enlisted in the Air Force recently and took the jump from the rodeo circuit to feeding about 300 rabbits and dogs for atomic energy experiments in Nevada. Kerley, who took up rodeo while attending Texas Tech, won the bareback goat round and took second place in bull riding, in addition to being named best all-around, at last year's junior rodeo here.

Here is one that's timely, since the Red Cross bloodmobile will be here next Wednesday.

The lady in the Red Cross blood center was abashed when they asked if she had ever donated before. She flushed a bit, said she had, and handed over her donor card.

"When I came in before," she explained hesitantly, "the doctor said my health record was good and my blood pressure perfect. The nurse who took my blood said I had beautiful veins and the bottle filled quickly. I went away feeling proud and happy."

"Then I got my score card and found I had gotten only a B plus. I don't understand why I didn't get a higher mark."

She felt better when they told her that her "mark" was her blood group, B, and her Rh blood factor, positive—B plus on her donor card.

Our Problem Of Higher Taxes Can Best Be Met By Producing More, Working Harder

BAISON PARK—I can give many economic reasons why taxes should not be cut until the Federal Budget is balanced; but here is why taxes should be cut if possible. In 1940, an average married couple with no children and a net income of $5,000 on their Federal income tax return (after real estate taxes, charities, interest, etc.) had over $4,800 left for themselves. Today, after taxes, a similar couple with a $5,000 net income has only $4,150 left. This perhaps wouldn't be so bad were it not for the fact that their $4,150 buys them only $2,100 worth of goods.

Higher Taxes And Higher Prices
New Deal tax policies, to be sure, seemingly did much to improve the dollar status of many workers. But executives earning over $10,000 were really mowed down. Take the $20,000-a-year man as an example. In 1939-40 he had nearly $18,500 left after taxes. In 1953 he has left only about $14,500. You say you would not mind having even the $14,500! That may be true; but see how the $20,000-a-year man's standard of living has been lowered. Today his $14,500 net buys him only about $7,500 worth of 1939-40 goods!

This same principle applies to corporations. Business has been good for the last dozen years. It was made good by war. With war came the all-out effort to produce weapons. There were few civilian goods, so workers had little to buy. Dollars piled up. When a big supply of dollars started chasing a little supply of goods, trouble began. Prices automatically went up. With increased prices came demands for increased wages to meet the increased prices. And this resulted in increased taxes. As wages and taxes rose higher, employers added wages and tax costs on to production costs. This kind of spiraling has gone on spiraling until prices today are nearly twice as high as they were in 1939-40.

THE NEED FOR BLOOD...

When you give your blood at the Red Cross bloodmobile center here next Wednesday, you won't receive a cent. Your only payment will be the satisfaction of helping others and your country, and maybe someday yourself—and perhaps the reward of a cup of coffee.

The person who receives your gift of blood will get it without charge from the Red Cross. He may, unless he is a soldier, pay a fee to the physician or the hospital administering the blood or blood product. For it is they who must make the tests, and use the skilled judgment to tell whether a patient needs blood, how much, and when.

Residents of Post who have been asked to contribute blood to the nation's plasma reserve should understand why their blood is needed. Despite reports of new processes for making substitutes, whole blood has never been synthesized.

Nor is there a chemical which can take the place of blood plasma. Experiments are continually being made with various substances to discover plasma substitutes, but all tried so far fail to do all that plasma does.

The need for whole blood and blood derivatives is urgent. That is why the Red Cross bloodmobile is coming to Post next Wednesday. All who can should give. Their donation may mean the difference between life and death for a serviceman, a fellow civilian in event of enemy attack, or for himself.

OVER-CROWDED SCHOOLS

Reports of recent enrollment increases in the Post Public Schools indicate that something must "give" within the next few years unless additional room is provided. Enrollment figures alongside statistics showing just how many students the present buildings can adequately accommodate should convince even the most conservative that something must be done to bring about a balance.

In our opinion, one of the many things which have justified the classroom teachers' fight for salary increases is the over-crowded conditions many of them have to contend with in educating our children. That, in itself, makes their job one deserving of more pay.

The Legislature now in session at Austin probably has been asked for more money and given less hints of where it is coming from than any other Legislature in the state's history.

With plans for the annual Post Stampede and Rodeo May 27-30 well under way, one can see small groups (committees) getting together over coffee cups most any morning or evening. Plans made at these informal committee meetings will begin to "jell" as the rodeo dates near, with the result that they'll all come together in time for a western event which will probably be the "biggest and best" ever. The final result will be another shining example of unity in a progressive community.

There is very little difference between foreign dishes and American dishes. They both break easily.

Fun with the horn than a barrel of monkeys. There were a couple, the oldest not over three, in a car parked in front of the office the other afternoon, and they took turn about "lying down" on the horn. It was a lot of fun for everyone, including the youngsters, until their mother got back to the car.

Dr. Glenn Bolton, Albuquerque, N. M., veterinarian, says nervous people make nervous dogs, but I don't agree with the doctor. In fact, I am so much in disagreement with his views, as publicized in an Associated Press release, that I am going to tell you why. First, however, I'm going to tell you a little more of what Dr. Bolton has to say on the subject.

Dr. Bolton says a dog owner suffering from jitters and tension can pass the same jumps on to his dog. A dog definitely can acquire gastric or duodenal ulcers, Dr. Bolton says, as a result of bad handling. "It's an association complex," he explains.

Now using Bugle, the only canine denizen of our household, as a shining example, I am going to tell you some of the reasons I disagree with Dr. Bolton.

In the first place, Bugle never seems eager to share the doghouse with me on those none-too-rare occasions when I am relegated to that part of the domicile. I've known him to go on about his business, roaming the house at will, with never a thought of coming on in to keep me company. Truth of the matter is, instead of sharing my mood on such occasions, he seems to derive a sort of fiendish delight from my predicament. I've even caught him grinning at my plight.

Nor have I ever known Bugle to worry along with me when business was bad. His words of condolence at such times are as infrequent as his bits of advice. He rarely says anything, but I can gather from his attitude that he's thinking, "Go right ahead and worry; they're your ulcers—me, I don't have any, regardless of what the veterinarians say."

Dr. Bolton also says: "If the owner is the kind of person who jumps and rushes to the door when the bell rings, then his dog probably is the kind that leaps to its feet and rushes to the door at its master's heels with a bark harsh enough to drive off a dear friend."

Not Bugle. If it's a magazine or some other kind of salesman at the door I'm trying to get rid of, Bugle is just as likely to try to drag him on in the house as not. If he succeeds in getting him inside, he'll insist on him taking the best chair in the house, then cavort around the room a few times for the visitor's benefit, after which he'll run off to play with the cat and leave the salesman to me.

"On the other hand," says Dr. Bolton, "if the master is casual about answering a ring and just saunters to the door, the dog will be casual, too. In fact, he might even sleep through the whole thing."

Once again, that's where Bugle lets Dr. Bolton down. If I saunter to the door in my most casual and gracious manner to let in one or more of the little woman's friends, Bugle, instead of sleeping through the whole thing, is just as liable as not to scamper between my legs, upset the callers and then tramp all over them before dashing back into or around the house and leaving me to make a lame-brain out of doing the apologizing.

Nope, I can't agree with Dr. Bolton that dogs worry right along with their owners. I worry about not getting any rain. The only thing along that line Bugle worries about is when's he going to get wet when it's dry and when's he going to get dry when it's wet. Bugle is a whole lot like Mexican Joe—don't get no worries, don't get no woes. If he's got any ulcers, he ain't saying anything about them.

Our Contemporaries Are Saying:

Sometimes We Wonder

Sometimes we wonder why we work as hard as we do—and wonder about some of our friends, too. The other day we read this explanation in an exchange coming to our desk. It was from the biography of a successful American business man: "I was born in the country, where I worked like a horse so I could live in the city, where I worked like a horse so I could live in the country!"—The Hamlin Herald.

Sort Of Rugged People

West Texans may be sort of rugged people of boots, beer, beef and bingo. When it comes to good humor West Texans top the world. Blown about for two days with sand shutting off the sun, dirt lashed by a 65-mile per hour wind through every crevice, people here have laughed and made funny stories of it. They have grinned at each other as the force from our area's worst sand storm in generations has pushed them crazily along. They have wise-cracked their ways through the days—Colorado City Record.

Still Another Worry

Television isn't old enough in this area for this to happen yet, but it is something parents can think over and watch for. According to one of the world's leading orthodontists, television malocclusion may soon inflict its damage on the younger generation. Do your youngsters cradle their jaws in their hands while watching TV? If they do, then they are exerting pressure that tends to push the eye-teeth out of position, and in turn the whole dental arch may become irregular. Just something for parents who don't have anything else to worry about to think over.—The Brownfield News.

High Rent In Snyder

Rental prices in Snyder are higher than anywhere in Texas, according to an announcement made by the Department of Commerce. The average rents in Texas, according to the Bureau, ranged from a low of $13.43 a month in Newton County to $54.13 a month in Scurry County. Midland County had the highest median value of owner-occupied dwellings in the state, $8,519. The low was $1,373 in Zavala County.—The Scurry County Times.

He's Half American

They are sure going to a lot of trouble over there in England to train horses not to be scared of blaring bands and cheering crowds, as the queen rides by for the official coronation. While on the subject of the queen, we noted that she had old Winston Churchill kneel down "to her day and whammed him over the head, or was it his shoulder, and then told him he was "Sir Winston Churchill." Well, we don't know of any other Britisher we'd rather see Knight of the Garter, shoe string, and what have you. He's a half American, you know.—The Terry County Herald.

EATS POISONED WIENERS—Thomas Page Eaton, 2, became the victim of poisoned wieners tossed into his back yard at Houston. After the boy ate the poisoned food, his mother, Mrs. Mary Eaton, 29, gave her son a home-made antidote and rushed him to a doctor's office for a stomach pumping.

Easy-Going Minister Has Extended His Radio Programs To Canada And Alaska

ABILENE GP—Jim Nichols is no arm-waving, shouting evangelist. He is a six-foot three-inch West Texan who speaks softly of God.

His light brown hair is curly, with white and straight, his eyes clear, it could be that he is too handsome, if so, that is an obstacle he has overcome.

His church is the Church of Christ. It has no central organization, no national leader, no national treasury. Each church chooses its own preacher and goes its own way. That, too, is a problem he has overcome.

A year ago Nichols launched a national radio program over the American Broadcasting Company from the Highland Church of Christ here. Elders of the church were in charge. But it was Nichols who wrote 60,000 letters, drove 21,000 miles through the Southwest and raised the necessary $250,000.

The quarter million dollars was not handed over by a few millionaires. The largest donation was $2,900. The smallest was $2.50. "We are just a small congregation," said a letter from Tennessee. "Just ten of us, but we sure want to do all we can. We will try and help five dollars a month." Thus it went mostly the widow's mite multiplied a thousandfold.

Since then, every Sunday, Nichols and James D. Willeford, like Nichols a graduate of Abilene Christian College here, have preached over 105 ABC outlets.

This month in Abilene, the evangelistic program grew. A contract was signed which boosts the number of stations to 241, including three in Canada and three in Alaska. Forty-six states are represented. The new contract was effective Sunday, Feb. 15.

The 30-minute program is called "The Herald of Truth" and is the first nationwide radio program ever produced by the churches of Christ. It is heard in Texas (and throughout the central standard time zone) from 1 p. m. to 1:30 p. m.

Nichols began preaching at the age of 15 in a small Brown-wood church. His father, member of the Abilene Christian College faculty had died three years earlier. His mother became a school

Girl Who Was Sent Home For Smoking Is Remembered On "Taking A Walk"

GALVESTON, GP—Galveston remembers Mrs. Herbert Brownell as a rugged individualist who was suspended from Texas State College for Women at Denton for smoking a cigarette.

They also remember that she won re-admission to TSCW, became president of her senior class—and walked out on the graduation exercises.

All this happened, of course, before the former Texas girl met and married the young lawyer who is serving as U. S. Attorney General under the Eisenhower administration.

Mrs. Julius Herman, one of her school chums here, describes Doris Brownell as "a rugged individualist, who would never sacrifice principle for popular opinion or would be swayed by pressure."

She had freckles, bangs, big expressive eyes and a slightly up-tipped nose when she attended Bell High School in Galveston. Her individualistic ways did not always please her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. McCarter, then Galveston residents.

It was while home for the holidays from TSCW that Doris decided she would have a try at the new fad—smoking a cigarette. It was a daring and bold step. And someone saw her. She was suspended from TSCW. Friends persuaded school authorities to let her come back. During her senior year in 1926, a new school president was named, and there was much turmoil in the school. As senior class president, Doris approached the new school head and suggested he refrain from mentioning the school's troubles in his commencement address.

But he did not keep his word and instead spoke at length of the school's troubles. Doris rose from her seat and walked out. Her classmates followed.

The degrees were distributed later.

Judicial District Change Proposed

Garza County would be dropped from the 106th Judicial District if the statewide judicial redistricting bill which passed the House recently is given by final approval.

Garza County would become a part of the 132nd District, now composed of Borden and Scurry counties. That would leave Dawson, Gaines, Lynn, Terry and Yoakum counties in the 106th District.

Present districts, it is explained, are based on the 1930 federal census.

With Garza County removed from the 106th District, it would leave five counties with a total population of 56,498. The 132nd District, by the addition of Garza County, would have a population of 30,166. The figure is below average for judicial districts, but the oil boom in the area has resulted in so much litigation that the docket of the 132nd is extremely heavy.

Civil Backlog Jams Dockets In Nine Harris County Courts

HOUSTON (AP)—The "law's delay" continues to be no idle phrase in Harris County. A citizen with a civil suit is lucky if he can get his case to trial in district court within 18 to 24 months after it is filed.

Of the 17,117 cases pending at the end of 1952, 5,761 were divorce suits. Nobody gets very concerned about these. Most judges frankly would rather not try them. As it was, they did grant 5,777 divorces last year.

Of ever trying them but simply as part of their strategy in settlement negotiations or to beat a statute of limitations. Some, after filing a case, are inclined to let it lie while nature takes its course.

Winding Up Sports Activity

Lubbock, May 4.—Texas Tech will participate in the 1952-53 sports activity with a Border Conference in Abilene Friday and Saturday.

Track and tennis will participate. Also, Athlete Director DeWitt Weaver, Dr. J. William Davis, faculty athletic chairman, will attend business meetings.

Walker's golfers are given a chance to repeat as runners-up in Hardin-Simmons. A fourth is the best Lubbock can hope for in and George Philbrick can see a possible third place finish.

Accelerated interest in the sports is developing at and Red Raider officials predicting better things by spring.

Track particularly is expected soon. Westbrook was not hired until after school had started fall, too late to talk with prospective track men. Currently has assurances from several flight West Texas performers who could provide a strong push for a title winner within a year or two.

to inability to field a team of men over 30, the $100 O. C. Garner Appliance Company had offered as a prize to the team finishing the season on top in a 11-game series between "oldsters" and "youngsters" would be used instead for the benefit of the young team, providing they "hold together" through the baseball season.

"These young players have a lot of natural ability and are showing a great deal of interest," Garner said. He added that he believes they can develop into one of the best teams in the city's history.

The manager said three or four more suits are needed for the squad and invites Post merchants to purchase the suits with the privilege of including their firm's name on the uniform.

Members of the squad worked out at 6 p. m. Tuesday and are to practice again at 6 p. m. today. Any player interested in trying out for the squad is invited to show up at the diamond.

SECTION TWO

Dry Weather Is No Good For Hounds' Noses On Coon Hunt

The wily raccoon, which spends the day in a tree or a hole in the ground, then comes out at night to forage for food, provides sport for local nimrods in an area where there isn't much else to hunt.

One of the most active local hunters is 15-year-old Dicky Beggs, Post High School student and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Beggs. Dicky's enthusiasm for coon hunting is shared by several of his friends and by all of his coon hounds.

Most of the time Dicky and his hounds aren't on the trail of the slippery coons, they are looking ahead to such events as the recent West Texas Coon Hunters Association meeting at Silver Falls, near Crosbyton.

Three of Dicky's hounds—Red, Blucher and Susie—finished 1, 2 and 3 in drag races held at the coon hunters' get-together near Crosbyton. In a drag race, the dogs follow the trail after a coon hide has been dragged along the ground and then tossed into a tree.

To the hounds, of course, it's just like being on the trail of a coon and they set off in fine fettle and finer voice. Their disappointment comes later after they've "treed" the quarry and nothing shakes out of the tree except the coon skin.

Dicky plans to enter his five hounds in the contests coming up soon in the Palo Duro Canyon, near Amarillo.

Since mid-January, Dicky and his hunting companions have caught 15 coons with the aid of their hounds. They have a number of favorite hunting spots, some nearby and others as far away as the Beggs Ranch, 20 miles east, and on the Salt Fork in the Verbena Community.

The dry, dusty weather of the past few weeks has cut down on the coon hunters' sport. The coons come out the same as they always do, since they still have to eat, but the dogs can't pick up their scent when the ground is too dry.

Dicky says the main thing he has to guard against when hunting coons is accidental poisoning of the dogs through eating poisoned bait or setting off cyanide gas guns put out for coyotes.

There are effective antidotes for most poisoned bait, but once a hound gets a full dose from a cyanide gun, he's just a "gone dog," to quote one of Dicky's hunting companions.

Dicky's hounds are Rusty, a half Walker and half July; Susie, a Black and Tan; Sweetwater, also a Black and Tan; Blucher, a Blue Tick, and Red, a Red Bone. Blucher, at four years, is the oldest, and Sweetwater, nine months, is the youngest.

The hound named Red is a female and that's the name Dicky insists on, although his mother told the Post Dispatch photographer that she has her own name for Red—"Bugle Ann."

'Man With Many Jobs' Predicts 1953 Stampede And Rodeo Will Rank With Best

The voice you hear as the parade winds through the business section here Thursday afternoon, May 27, to open the annual Post Stampede and Rodeo will be that of Walter S. Duckworth, prominent Post businessman and vice president of the rodeo association.

Duckworth has been parade announcer for the past several years and will be again this year unless his duties as rodeo "veep" and chairman of three committees take up all his time. He heads the concessions, sprinkling of arena and grounds and livestock feed committees.

Duckworth says another good rodeo is assured this year and that he sees no reason why it can't be the best one ever held here. "Our show is always a fast one—one of the best in the country," he said.

He says one reason he thinks it will be a better show is because the rodeo stock will be new, mean and ornery. Completion of improvements now under way at the rodeo grounds also will contribute toward a thoroughly enjoyable Western event, Duckworth believes.

Men like Duckworth, who are interested in making the Post Stampede and Rodeo second to none, are responsible for the consistent success of the annual event, which is scheduled this year for four days—Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 27-30.

Armed Forces Day Planned at RAFB

Underlying the theme of "Power for Peace," Reese Air Force Base officials are rapidly preparing final plans for a mammoth "open house" celebration to be held Armed Forces Day, Saturday, May 16.

Army, Navy and Air Force exhibits of special equipment, jet and conventional aircraft on display and aerial flyovers will be part of the demonstrations shown the public with the opening of the main gates at 11 a. m.

One of the day's features will be an artillery demonstration by Army personnel from Fort Sill, Okla. The troops and their "big guns" should provide spectators with many thrills during their exhibition.

U. S. Air Force and Navy aircraft will be included in the display of air might. Visitors will have the opportunity of getting a close-up view of training, transport and combat aircraft.

In the air, several flying demonstrations are planned, including formation flyovers of B-25's, T-28's, F-86's and T-33's. Loudspeakers on the flight line will be coordinated so that spectators may hear the actual radio procedures between aircraft and the Reese control tower.

"Why I Gave Blood"

Sergeant Douglas A. Fleischhauer

Korean War Veteran, "Interviews" Four Americans at a New York Blood Donor Center.

"Is the need for blood urgent? All I know is what I saw—in Korea. Guys being brought in and—well, it was like a miracle seeing them brought back to life with blood given by some American 7,000 miles away! If blood can do that—no just in Korea, but anywhere it's needed—then giving blood is an A-1 priority job for all of us.

"When I got back home, I wanted to visit a blood donor center . . . to see what goes on . . . to see what kind of people give blood . . . and why.

"I went. And I saw. The place was calm and quiet. And friendly. Without knowing each other, people talked like they were old friends. Seems like they were waiting for someone to ask them why they were rolling up their sleeves . . . and giving blood . . ."

to see what goes on . . . to see what kind of people give blood . . . and why.

"I went. And I saw. The place was calm and quiet. And friendly. Without knowing each other, people talked like they were old friends. Seems like they were waiting for someone to ask them why they were rolling up their sleeves . . . and giving blood . . ."

"Biggest Battle Still Ahead!"

MARCIA STRAUSS, a nurse in a military hospital, told Sgt. Fleischhauer: "You saw it in Korea. I see it here, in my hospital, every day . . . men whose fighting days are over, yet their biggest battle—the battle for life itself—is still being fought. You can't watch that—as I have—and not come here to give blood."

"There's a Home Front, Too!"

RALPH FOLZ, a brawny-armed steelworker, said: "They say we need so much blood. I think to myself—I work in a defense plant. Supposing a guy gets hurt bad. He's helping the guys in Korea, right? It's important having him on the job, right? They can send my blood wherever they need it most."

"Some Day I Might Need It!"

NANCY RACKETT, an attractive secretary, said: "I'm a Civil Defense worker. Many times I've thought, supposing we are attacked here . . . then what? People don't stop to think. They think there's not much fighting these days so why give blood. What I think is some day I might need it."

"It's Like Voting!"

RICHARD GAY, businessman, spoke up: "I thought while I'm here I'll give up: 'I thought while I'm here I'll give up. You know, you live in a town. You belong to a church, a lodge, a parents' group. You're a citizen, you've got certain obligations and privileges. Just voting. Giving blood is like voting. It's an obligation and a privilege."

Parents of 108 children who are starting to school for the first time next September have been invited to bring their children to the Post-Grade School Round-up Friday for a period of one day, closely paralleling the day of school.

Principal Ellis M. Mills said the program for the children will include stories, games and art projects and that each child will bring a box of crayons.

Participation of the children is to begin at 8:30 a. m., and the parents are invited to bring the enrollment cards which are being filled out with birth date, home address and telephone number. After they are filled, the children will be placed and assigned to a teacher for the day.

Following the children's assignments, parents will gather in an auditorium for a program. A school nurse, Mrs. Peggy Pett, will discuss health problems and assist in filling out health cards.

TIPS FROM YOUR COUNTY AGENT

By JESSIE PEARCE

I was at Grassburg last Friday checking pressure gauges on canners for the women in the community. Those women are going to have their equipment ready when the first food from their gardens is ready to can. Mrs. J. G. Stewart has tender greens almost big enough to eat and to can. The people who have water to irrigate gardens have them growing despite the blowing sand.

Now is the time to check your canning equipment to see that it is in proper working order. A gauge that does not register correctly can cause all of the food processed under pressure to spoil. There is equipment in the extension office for checking these gauges. If the gauge on your canner hasn't been checked within the last two years, it should be done. Now don't wait until the day before you plan on using your canner to do this. Talk to the other woman in your community to see how many of them need to check canner gauges. Set a date and place to check all gauges, then contact me for the testing equipment.

As you are checking your canning equipment look to see what replacements or repairs are needed. If a handle is missing from your canner, by all means replace it before you start the canning season. It is almost impossible to handle a hot canner with only one handle and not run a risk of scalding yourself. Clean the petcock and pressure release according to directions which came with your canner. Incidentally, if you have just those directions for use and care, write the manufacturer for a new copy.

Now that you have checked your canner and know that it is in perfect working condition, take a look at some other equipment. Do you have a pair of tongs for removing hot jars from the canner? If not, this is a piece of equipment you need. You might look at your old ones to be sure they are in good condition.

Check your supply of jars and lids. Make a written inventory so you will know later on how many jars and rings you have available without getting them out again. You won't want to buy all of the caps you will need at once, but you will want to keep enough on hand that you

Wheat Acreage Reports Needed in Case Crop Allotments Are Declared In 1954

Mike E. Custer, secretary of the Garza County Production Marketing Administration, announces that the county PMA committee has received a memorandum of the announcement of Secretary of Agriculture Benson that the department is planning to start immediately the preliminary work necessary for acreage allotments and marketing quota programs on the 1954 and transmitted to the State PMA office by the last of May.

Secretary Benson indicated that the final decision on whether acreage allotments and marketing quotas are to be effective on next year's wheat crop will be made later when more is known about the supply and prospective demand situation. These decisions and proclamations for 1953 crop wheat must be made not later than July 1, 1953, for marketing quotas, and July 15, 1953, for acreage allotments.

It will be necessary for all operators to report their wheat acreage in order to be in line for a wheat allotment. If allotments are declared, Custer said that it will be necessary for operators to submit these reports during the month of May, since all reports must be summarized won't have to drop everything and make a trip to town for jar caps when you start canning. Last but not least, be sure that you have reliable instructions for canning. Bulletins are available in my office that give the latest methods. Drop by and ask for a copy.

Texas Delegates To National 4-H Camp In Washington On June 17-24 Selected

Texas 4-H Club members will be represented at the 1953 National 4-H Club Camp to be held in Washington, D. C., June 17-24, by four veteran members. They are Troy Lee McNeill of Floyd County, Johnny Halbert of Nacogdoches County, Yvonne Allen of Denton County and Ruth Anderson of Nueces County.

Floyd Lynch, state 4-H leader for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says the delegates were selected on the basis of their outstanding leadership, community service and achievements in 4-H club work.

All are Gold Star members and each has won district or statewide recognition for leadership and achievement. Collectively, they have completed 30 years of active participation in 4-H demonstration and activity work. All have held many offices in their local, county, district and state 4-H organizations and currently all are serving as junior leaders in their respective local 4-H clubs.

While in Washington, they'll visit the different branches of the Federal government, government offices and many of the national shrines. Agriculture will not be left out of their busy schedule. The USDA's great research center at Beltsville, Maryland, will be visited as will the Department of Agriculture. The theme of the camp is "Know Your Government."

Funds for the all-expense trips are being provided by the United Gas Pipeline Company, Inc., says Lynch.

In addition to their outstanding 4-H records, each has found time to give assistance to younger 4-H members and to participate in school, community and church activities. Local county extension agents have supervised their work in the counties with assistance from local adult leaders.

SIGNING PROCLAMATION—Shown above is Gov. Allan Shivers, surrounded by Soil Conservation Service officials, signing the proclamation for the observance of May 3-9 as Soil Conservation District Week in Texas.

Soil Conservation District Week Being Observed This Week Throughout Texas

In recognition of the work that has been done in Texas in the last 12 years by the 166 soil conservation districts, covering approximately 95 per cent of the land area of Texas, Gov. Allan Shivers has designated this week, May 3-9, as Soil Conservation District Week in the state.

The governor's proclamation follows: "Each year thousands of acres of our soil suffer from wind and water erosion, vast areas of our range and timber land become more depleted and large quantities of our water resources are lost, all to the detriment of Texans. "The rich soils and abundant water supplies of this great State of Texas were created to benefit mankind through the material blessings of food and fiber. During the past 13 years, 166 soil conservation districts, covering approximately 95 per cent of the land area of Texas, have been organized under State law to combat soil and water losses. These soil conservation districts and the Texas landowners who operate them, assisted by the many organizations concerned with conservation of our soil and water resources are proving that known conservation techniques and practices will stabilize our soil, conserve our water and render each acre of land more productive.

"Soil and water conservation is bringing economic benefit to all Texans, and it is fitting that all groups and individuals, whether government, civic or private, should assist in this program and its observance.

"Therefore, I, as Governor of the State of Texas, do hereby designate the period of May 3-9, 1953, as Soil Conservation District Week."

ALLAN SHIVERS

The Duck Creek Soil Conservation District, of which the Post Work Unit is a part, was organized shortly after the program went into effect. Garza County was annexed to the District in 1940, but the Post Work Unit was not established until August of 1941.

John Davis of Polar, on Sept. 15, 1941, was the first to sign an agreement with the local work unit District, which includes all of Garza County and west Kent County.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Carr of Friona were recent guests of the G. E. Fleming and H. V. Williams families.

Sandra Martin Is Contest Winner

Sandra Martin, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Alphon G. Martin, won first prize Friday night in the amateur talent contest sponsored by the Post Junior 4-H Club. She sang "Mother Machree."

Second place winner was Sherry Custer, who sang "Knock Knock Susie," and Kay Hedrick won third place with the song, "The Man Who Invented Kissing."

The three winners received gift certificates presented by local merchants. There were 31 contestants.

A feature of the show was "Dixie Boy" Jordan, KWFT radio entertainer. He sang, recited poetry and told funny stories. Recordings he made of some of the amateur contestants' numbers will be broadcast Saturday over station KWFT, Wichita Falls.

Judges for the amateur talent contest were Mrs. Hardy Smith and George "Scotty" Samson. Proceeds from the show will go into the 4-H Club's fund, according to Maritta Pennell, who was chairman for the affair.

Location Is Spotted For Shallow Wildcat

Location for a shallow wildcat to be drilled in the south-central portion of Garza County has been spotted by Duncan Drilling Co. of Big Spring.

The firm's No. 1-A Kirkpatrick is to be dug to 3,500 feet for tests of the Clear Fork. Rotary tools will begin at once.

Drill site is 330 feet from south and 3,170 feet from east lines of Section 8, Block 2, GH&H Survey, five miles south of Post.

Three other locations have been staked in the county during the past few days. One is Tobe Foster 2 Alice Williams, 660 feet from north and east lines of Section 19, Block 6, H&GN Survey, two miles southeast of Justiceburg. Rotary tools are to be used to drill to 7,500 feet.

Tobe Foster 1 P&SFR Co. has been staked 660 feet from south and west lines of the northeast quarter of Section 19, Block 6, H&GN Survey, two and one-fourth miles southeast of Justiceburg. Rotary tools are to be used to a depth of 7,500 feet.

The prospector is 440 feet from south and 2,200 feet from west lines of Section 1208, H&OBR Survey, six miles northwest of Post.

How Do You Thank 'Somebody' For Blood?

Sgt. John Kehoe
U. S. Marine Corps, Finds the Answer at His Local Blood Donor Center

"I could see the corpman kneeling over me. The blood plasma was running down through a tube into my arm and he said everything was going to be O. K. I was walking across an enemy mine field in Seoul when one exploded and a piece of shrapnel caught me in the leg. "Got enough of that stuff?" I asked him, pointing to the blood. "I guess we never have enough," he said, "but you can thank somebody for this pint."

"How do you thank 'somebody' for blood? For saving your life? When I got back home, I discovered the answer at my local blood donor center. There's only one way to say thanks—by giving some of your own blood."

Who are the "somebodies" who give blood? All kinds of people—veterans, businessmen, farmers, clerks—everybody!

And why do they give blood? A refugee who lived through the bombing of Berlin knows "it could happen here." A graying mother who never forgets the day her daughter's party dress caught fire remembers "there just wasn't enough blood in our local blood bank to save her." An anxious father who is expecting a long overdue letter from his boy in Korea feels "he might need it."

Yes, all kinds of people give blood for all kinds of reasons. But whoever gives it—for whatever reason—that they can be sure of. As long as the priceless, painless gift of blood may mean the difference between life and death for any American anywhere... including you and me... the need for your blood is urgent!

Mesquite Spraying Being Considered

Inquiries are being received at the Garza County Production Marketing Administration office regarding the practicability of carrying out the practice of controlling mesquite by airplane spraying this year, according to Mike E. Custer, secretary.

After attending a meeting conducted by a mesquite spraying consultant, Custer said he considers it probable that the PMA committee will agree with the consultant that it is not advisable for operators in this vicinity to carry out this practice due to the extreme drought and the possibility that no good will be derived from the spraying under present weather conditions.

However, Custer said that the committee has made no decision regarding this matter at the present time, but probably will do so at the next committee meeting.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the concluding article in a series on the situation facing cotton producers in 1953 and the immediate years ahead. The information is being presented by the Extension Service at the request of the Secretary of Agriculture. The aim of the Extension Service is to keep the facts and situation before the producers so they can make their own decisions.)

An attempt has been made to point out through questions and answers some of the important factors that should be considered in "sizing up" the cotton outlook in order that farmers may have a better basis to make their own decisions.

Questions And Answers

Q. What about price supports for the 1953 upland crop?

A. The U. S. Department of Agriculture announced on Feb. 26, 1953, that the minimum level of price support of 1953-crop upland cotton, basis middling 1/8 inch, will be 30.80 cents per pound, gross weight. This is 90 per cent of the current parity price of 34.22 cents per pound. In the event that 90 per cent of parity on Aug. 1, 1953, (the beginning of the 1953 marketing year), is higher than the level announced on Feb. 26, 1953, the levels of price supports will be increased accordingly.

Based on the above announcement, the 1953-crop upland cotton, basis middling 1/8 inch, will probably be supported at approximately 31.5 cents per pound, gross weight. However, this has not been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, but will be at a later date.

There will be no marketing quotas on the 1953 cotton crop.

Q. Will the 1953 cotton plantings be considered in calculating state and county acreage allotments and individual farm allotments in 1954 if acreage controls are resumed?

A. Under the present law and if acreage controls should be resumed for the 1954 cotton crop, the 1953 plantings will not be included in calculating state and county acreage allotments. But, the 1953 plantings may have a definite bearing on acreage allotments in 1954 for some individual farms of the state unless the law is changed.

However, unless the law is revised, 1953 plantings would be included in calculating state and county acreage allotments for the 1955 crop.

Q. Will production costs increase or decrease in 1953?

A. The price-cost squeeze for cotton producers will probably be tighter in 1953. Labor, machinery, motor fuels, fertilizers and miscellaneous farm supplies will probably average slightly higher in 1953. However, the prices of insecticides will not be much different from those of 1952.

Q. Can individual producers grow other crops which will return net profits equal to cotton?

A. Several factors affect returns from cotton and other crops. Generally, in areas and on farms that produce at least one-third bale per acre, cotton is likely to yield highest profits on extensive acreage. This would assume efficient methods being used both for cotton and any alternative crops.

Q. If 1953 cotton production in the U. S. is reduced, what are some of the overall advantages which are likely to result?

A. Some of the advantages which might result from having only 12 to 12½ million bales produced in 1953 are:

1. The average price received for cotton might be higher.
2. Less burdensome stocks likely would be placed under CCC loan, to depress prices in the future.
3. Less restriction to growers in handling acreage planted to cotton in 1954 and subsequent seasons.

4. For producers who are also livestock raisers, feed output would be larger, assuring better supplies than existed in the past two seasons.

5. Labor supplies for harvesting the crop would be more nearly adequate—lessening harvesting risk and costs.

'Golds' Defeat 'Blacks,' 6-0, Friday In Grade School Spring Training Tilt

The 7th and 8th grade football squads concluded spring training Friday night with a practice game in which the Golds edged out the Blacks, 6-0.

The game was hard-fought throughout, with the only counter coming late in the contest on Noel White's 25-yard run on a quarterback keeper play.

Prior to White's touchdown run, both teams had threatened, driving to each other's two-yard lines.

James Williams and Kenneth Martin were captains of the winning Gold team, while Jerry Hays and Donald Ammons captained the Blacks.

Coach V. F. "Bing" Bingham said nine 7th graders and 21 8th graders were on the spring training squad, and that most of the boys looked like "good material" for future Post Antelope teams. The 8th graders will be eligible for next season's varsity squad.

Youngsters Begin Baseball Season

Coach V. F. "Bing" Bingham is under way this week with a junior baseball program, which he says will be continued throughout the summer "in one form or another."

While no official announcement has yet been made, it is possible that a youth recreation program will be sponsored here again this summer. If so, the junior baseball program will be tied in with it, Bingham said.

Plans are, the coach said, to organize a league for play this summer. About 24 youngsters are playing and plans are to match games with Lubbock boys' teams later in the season.

The coach also said that arrangements would be made to play games here in late afternoon or early evening so adult baseball fans may attend.

Workouts are being conducted on the diamond near the schools.

Operetta Is Set For Next Monday

Approximately 30 second grade pupils will present the operetta, "Over the Garden Wall," at 8 p. m. Tuesday, May 12, in the Post Grade School auditorium.

Characters in the play, which takes place in front of an old garden wall, include Boy Blue, Mistress Mary, Mr. Sun and the Sunbeams, Flowers, Flower Fairies, Butterflies, the Dawn, the Bluebird and a Gnome.

"The public is invited to attend and the price of admission is your good will," said one of the operetta's sponsors.

Second grade teachers are Mrs. L. H. Welch, Mrs. Sol Davis and Miss Bonnie McMahon.
