City and county school officials and trustees are having any thing but a summer vacation Let Us Spray.... requirements of the new Gilmer-Aiken law before the opening of the 1949-50 school term.

The biggest problem at the moment is to get all of the school transfers reported to the county school superintendent, Dean Robinson, during the month of July. All transfers not reported this month will not be redited in the state and county financial apportionment, which is essential for the operation of the schools.

Both Robinson and Post School Supt. G. R. Day are urging all people who are transfering from rural schools to Post to report these transfers this month to Mr. Robinson. Under the Gilmer-Aiken law it is necessary for both receiving and sending schools to get their transfers completed before August 1 in order for the money to be properly distributed.

All of the transfers from the Close City district, except one, have been made through the assistance of the school principal, Mrs. Pearl Davidson, the county superintendent said.

Garza and the World

BY EVELYN BOYD

A college professor, noted in his field but even more noted for his charming children, has said that the most important contribution a father can make to his children is to keep their mother

Nobody can pick a flaw in the above advice. I'd go so far as to apply it to business. If you want a pleasant, efficient secretary, keep her husband and her parents happy—or if you want a pleasant, efficient mechanic, see that his wife is satisfied with his job.

Many a younf man's career has been nipped in the bud because his wife or his mother or, yes, even his father, disapproved of the work he was doing and nagged at him until he either lost interest in the job and was fired or he left it of his own accord in favor of something that would better suit his wife, or his

In my references to employes above, you will note I put pleasant ahead of efficient. The time has now arrived, in this postwar world, when pleasantness is more important in business than efficiency. Nobody wants to trade with a sourpuss, when he can buy a similar product across the street from a fellow who smiles.

I'd like to see us return to the good old days, when we can all ettle down to happily minding our own business without some body telling us how we must spend our money and with only our employer telling us what hours we shall work.

Abraham Lincoln had the right idea when he once said in a speech: "You can-not bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift. You cannot strengthen the weak by weakening the strong. You cannot help little men by tearing down big men. You cannot help the wage earner by pulling down the wage payer. You cannot encourage brotherhood of man encouraging race hatrid. You cannot help the poor by destroying the rich. You cannot establish sound security on borrowed money. You cannot keep out of trouble by spending more than you arn. You cannot build character and courage by taking away man's initiative and independence. You cannot earn. You cannot build charhelp men permanently by doing for them what they could do and should do for themselves."

Remind me to send a clipping of the above to Mr. Truman.

In this connection, I am reminded of some advice H. I. Phillips of the New York Sun wrote to this year's college graduates:

"Life is not a game of gimmegimme. Contrary to impressions, it is not all done by mirrors, radio jackpcts, labor leaders and ex-vice-Presidents .A debt is a debt even if you owe it to yourself. Forty billion dollars are forty billion dollars. Trick bookkeeping is trick bookkeeping. A deficit is not a profit. All employers are not tyrants, heels or schmoos. Sweat is not unconstitutional. Loyalty to a job is a good idea.

Every once in a while, someone tries to entice me te "go to Lubbock," "go to a party" or do something else during the hours that my employer pays me to sit here and bat out copy so that we can keep the typesetter busy during the hours that he is paid to sit at his machine.

Every once in awhile, someone wants to argue with me that owe it to myself to get away from my job more and "besides. it's old-fashioned to stick so closely to a job." They say: Everyone else does it, why not you?" Some have gone so far as to say: "Let your boss fire you. A new job won't be hard to find."

I don't mention the above to get any credit. I don't, in fact, deserve any credit for sticking to my job during the hours for which I am paid to do so. I mention it to call attention to WHAT'S WRONG WITH BUSINESS.

Yours truly is going on vacation for two weeks, complete with husband, Cousin Fred, baby and dog. We'll do more resting than traveling in some cool, secluded spot in New Mexico or Colorado. We hope to get off Saturday afternoon.

While we're gone, this column will carry an attempted interpretation of the proposed amendments to the Texas constitution on which we will be called to vote some time this fall.

If you think the next few colamns are dull, just try to imagine what a time I had bogging through them in the first place in an effort to find out what they are all about. You ought to have the courtesy to read what I had the courage to write during all this hot weather, but I won't

While polio is a serious problem and it is the duty of every individual and civic organization to do what it can with the meagre information that's available to combat this dreaded. body-maiming disease, it is disconcerting to see the commercializing that is being done by the many companies that have DDT solutions and spraying equipment to sell. To read and listen to the avalanche of propaganda, which these companies have heaped on the public, one would think that the only way to prevent polio is to have the city "disinfected" by a log from an airplane or some other expensive process. Spraying at best in only a temporary precaution. A good rain can spoil all of the effects. The sensible way to attack polio is to get rid of the outdoor toilets, uncovered garbage cans, weeds and rubbish on vacant lots and other fly-breeders. If every individual will do his part in this respect. Post will be a healthier city and the polio-carrying insects will have to look elsewhere

Weeping Lovegrass Seeds Itself Well

Soil technicians assisting the Duck Creek Soil Conservation District have been asked many times: "will a scattered stand of weeping lovegrass eventually seed itself solid." Looking for the answer this week they counted the seed from one average size weeping lovegrass plant on Cooperator Bobby Pennington's farm seven miles north of Post. This single plant had 10 seed heads and bore 3227 mature seed. Three and four year old plants often have 20 to 30 seed

Lewis West planted the weeping lovegrass in the spring of 1948. Scattered plants survived last summer's drought. The heads of these plants can now be seen waving in the wind over weeds and other vegetation.

The mature weeping lovegrass eeds have begun shattering out on the ground. There is little liklihood that birds or rodents will be able to find the small seed among grains of sand. If rain comes early in the fall the soil men believe the seedling grass plants could become well enough established to survive next winter. Four ounces of seed under fav orable conditions is all that is needed to establish an acre to weeping lovegrass, according to the technicians.

Post Loses Double Header To Seagraves And Slides Down Two Notches In League

Mrs. C. M. Voss Enjoys Trip To Eastern States

Mrs. C. M. Voss, who recently returned from an extended visit in the eastern states, made the following notes about her trip which the Post Dispatch staff thought might be of general interest during toe season when Garza County residents are planning vacations. Mrs. Voss' notes following, in part:

"Leaving Post May 27, my first stop was in Marvell, Ark., where spent four days with a brothin-law, B. A. Anderson, and family and visited friends whom I had met in 1913-14.

"From Marvell, I went to Little Rock, Ark., to visit a niece, Mrs. J. Virgil Highfill, and family. From there, I went to Elizabeth, N. J., where my son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Brauchli, met me. After taking me to dinner, they drove me to their apartment in East Orange, $186,400.00 N. J., then that night they took me on a drive over the beautiful city. We attended their church, the Calvary Methodist on Sunday, and on Monday we went sightseeing in New York City.

Saw Fifty Miles "From the 102nd floor of the Empire State Building, we view-ed the city and saw 50 miles up the Hudson River. On another day, we took a cruise around Manhattan Island. The interesting things we did in New York were too numerous to mention, but one of the most pleasant days was spent on the ocean at Asbury Park. Some highlights included seeing a show, ward, My Son," in the Radio City Music Hall and visiting my daughter's friends who had home television sets.

"After ten days at East Or ange, the Brauchlis took me to Montpelier, Vt., to visit C. M. Voss, Jr., and his lovely wife and and three precious sons and Mrs. Jessie Voss, who had been spending several months there. Margaret and Bob returned home after spending the week-end, and I remained there until Thursday. While there I enjoyed several drives through picturesque Vermont. The drive along the Winooski River was very beautiful, as was the Winooski Gulf, which is flanked by high mountains, beautiful trees and other scenery. At Barre, we saw the largest granite quarry in the world. "I returned to East Orange by niece, Euda Greene. We saw many places of interest in Washington but were disappointed that we could not go into the White House, as it was being remodeled and was not open to visitors.

Toured Washington

"We enjoyed seeing the Main Building of the State Department, the Rawlins Square Park, the Department of Interior building. Constitution Hall, Pan American Building, Constitution Avenue (said to be the most beautiful drive in the world), Museum of Natural History, the Supreme Court, Congressional Library conference table, the original Bill of Rights, the original U. S. Constitution, the Methodist building (for lunch), the Capitol Rotunda, Senate Chamber and Senate Reception Room, the Botanical Garden, U. S. Printing Office, a monastary, the National Episcopal Cathed ral (where we saw a wedding), and we took a ride on the subway from the Capitol to the House Building.

"In Alexanderia, Va., we saw the Episcopal Christ Church, which was built in 1767, and sat in George Washington's while the church was being decorated for its third wedding that day. We also saw the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, Post moved down a couple of notches in the Oil Belt League standings Sunday by losing a thrilling double header to Seagraves in the Postex Park. Double headers in the league Sunday led to twin victories by three other teams, and the league-leading Denver City team kept its margin over Seagraves.

Denver City walloped Tahoka, 7-2 and 15-10; Seagraves defeat-ed Post, 8-7 and 5-0; Sundown tripped Brownfield, 5-2 and 2-0, and Levelland defeated Slaton 14-10 and 8-5.

Only a game separate Denver City and Seagraves in league standings, and Levelland took over the third place spot with its for the younger boys. Ray Charwins over Slaton. Sundown moved up to fourth.

Post will play Tahoka in the Postex Park tonight beginning Ray, the boys' instructor, said at 8:30 o'clock. Sunday afternoon, the Millers will play Jimmy Minor, Butch Paddock, Brownfield at 3 o'clock in the lo-Carroll Cowley and Gail Letcal park.

It took Seagraves an extra inning to win the first game from Post, and the Millers outhit the winners 11-8. In the eighth frame, Charlie Galey walked, stole second, and scored on a single by New.

Post led most of the game, and the score was tied at 3-3 and 7.7. The Millers tallied three runs in the second which Seagraves matched in the home half of that frame, and Post went ahead with single runs in the fourth and fifth and two in the seventh. Seagraves tied the game in the final frame and took the victory in the extra in-

Lefty Faulkner won the first game for Seagraves, and Charlie Lawrence pitched four-hit ball to take the second.

Last Thursday night's 7-5 defeat over Seagraves was describ ed by one of the fans as a thriller-diller. Curley Barnett did an excellent job of pitching for the Millers and got 12 strikeouts. Faulkner got nine strikeouts for Seagraves.

Scripture:

Two men went up into the temple to pray; the one a Pharisee, and the other a publican. The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself, God, I thank thee that I am not as other men are, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this publican. I fast twice in the week, I give tithes of all that I possess. And the publican, standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes unto heaven, but smote upon his breast, saying, God be merciful to me a sinner. I tell you, this man went down to his house justified rather than the other; for every one that exalteth himself shall be abased; and ed a special religious service for he that humbleth himself shall be exhalted. #### Cover Crops This Fall To Cover Big Acreage In County Early predictions indicate this fall's cover crops will be the largest acreage ever planted in this part of the district. Most of the acreage will be rye. Many cooperators plan on planting a mixture of rye and vetch. Hairy vetch, as a legume, is needed be cause of its ability to add mitrogen to the soil. Vetch acreage will not be as large as rye alone because of the higher cost of seed. District cooperators should progress slower with their vetch acreage until they have mastered the technique of growing this crop. Some of the district cooperators and the acreage they have indicated they plan to plant this fall are: Sam Bevers of Justiceburg, 25 acres of rye and vetch mixture; James C Eubanks and son, Denny, 100 acres of rye; Ralph Welch, 40 acres of rye and vetch mixture; J. L. Williams and son, Ozell, beand daughter of Post were guests in the J. C. Fumagalli Merrill, over 100 acres of rye with from 60 to 80 acres of it rye-vetch mixture; John Davis daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Gene at Polar, 15 acres of rye and vet ch mixture; J. W. McQuien, Bill Norman, Bobby Pennington, T. R. Greenfield and C. P. Reed, plan to make rye plantings but have not indicated an acreage.

District cooperators are using cover crops in their crop rotat-ions to protect their land from erosion, to improve the soil's fertility, to provide grazing for livestock while they are deferring grazing on native pastures, and Jr., and daughter of Amherst for a source of seed to increase

Several Purposes

With increasing dry weather over the country, now is a good ime for ranchers to maintain old or build new fire guards, the Duck Creek District Soil Conservation office advises.

This is especially important this year since, with plenty of spring rans, an abundant growth of grasses and weeds has taken place.

These fire guards also serve as handy roads for fence inspection and maintenance.
