

Giddens new principal, teacher contracts voted

3 coaches retained

Post school trustees Tuesday night voted Joe Giddens a one-year contract to become high school principal here next year after Dan Rankin requested of Supt. Bill Shiver that he be reassigned to the elementary principal's vacancy.

After an hour's closed-door discussion, trustees let in the Dispatch reporter to vote 6 to 1 to offer 1979-80 contracts to 62 teachers currently in the Post system and two new teachers, and notices of intent to three others who can't be offered contracts until the state approves funding plans.

Included in this group were three coaches who had been recommended by incoming athletic director David L. Thompson who was in Post Friday interviewing coaches who desired to stay.

The three present coaches who Thompson placed on his new coaching staff are Lane Tannehill, Jerry Reynolds, and Lu Allen.

Giddens, who will take over the high school administrative helm, has been in the Post school system for nine years.

He was recommended to the board by Supt. Shiver who said Giddens' holds a master's degree in education and is fully certified as a school administrator.

Giddens currently heads the junior high athletic program and was responsible for developing Post's first physical education program a few years ago at all grade levels. He has assisted the high school principal here in past years in an "internship" in school administration at that level.

Rankin, who had taught for 13 years at the elementary level before becoming high school principal this year, asked to be transferred to elementary school principal as soon as that vacancy opened up with the resignation of Jack Alexander to enter the banking profession.

He told Supt. Shiver he felt he could make a better contribution at the elementary level because of his background there.

In voting to extend contracts to the 66 teachers, trustees acted on one teacher in a separate motion.

They voted unanimously to extend a contract to Maury Shiver, wife of Supt. Shiver, in a separate motion because the superintendent did not recommend her.

This was because of a recent memorandum from the Texas Education Agency citing an attorney general's 1978 opinion that prevents a school district board of trustees from hiring an individual upon the recommendation of a superintendent who is related to the prospective employee.

"As a result of this advisory," Shiver noted to the board, "I am unable to recommend or not recommend my wife for employment. If the board wants her to teach, it will need to take action without any kind of recommendation from me."

Besides the 62 present teachers who will be extended contracts, the board also voted to extend a 1979-80 contract to Miss Frankie Diane Lewallen as high school speech teacher, and to Mrs. David Thompson, wife of the new athletic

38 ARRESTED SATURDAY NIGHT, AS—

Beer bust costs $957

Thirty-eight persons, 22 of them adults and the rest juveniles, were arrested at 11:30 p.m. Saturday when eight officers swooped down and broke up a keg-of-beer "beer bust" held on unauthorized Double U property south of the ball park.

On Monday morning, 22 adults who had been charged with either public intoxication of making alcoholic beverage available to minors, pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace Pat

Kitchens and paid fines and court costs of $43.50.

That made the "bill" for Saturday night $957.

The 22 juveniles were released to their parents.

Deputy Donnie Walker told The Dispatch, "We just happened onto it."

He said there were no problems in making the mass arrests.

Those arrested drove to the law enforcement building behind the courthouse in a long caravan of cars with a "law car" heading the procession and another bringing up the rear.

Four sheriff deputies and four highway patrolmen were involved in the arrests.

Officers said those arrested included men and women, boys and girls, white, black and Spanish.

The cases were taken into the new precinct 4 justice of the peace court because it was in this precinct the 22 adults had been arrested.

Stenholm terms diesel fuel shortage 'crisis'

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm announced this week that a current shortage of diesel fuel at the time of spring land preparation for farmers is developing into a major crisis and he has called for hearings to begin next week in Washington to examine the problem.

The Dispatch confirmed the diesel fuel shortage in a Tuesday check of the four diesel wholesalers to farmers in the Post area.

One, Punk Peel, Conoco distributor, has been "out" of diesel for ten days and won't get any until after April 1.

The Hackberry Coop Association and the Grassland Butane Co. are both having difficulties getting diesel, but to date have been barely getting by on a load to load basis, with loads running several days to two weeks late.

Only Texaco, Inc., here hasn't experienced any difficulty in obtaining diesel fuel.

Lawrence McDowell, Hackberry manager, told The Dispatch that his organization has "practically been out of diesel" twice during March and if deliveries don't speed up "we'll be out this week."

He said if it hadn't been for rainy weather, Hackberry would have been out. A load expected Tuesday has been on order for two weeks.

McDowell termed the situation "serious" and explained his firm was on a diesel allotment and "we're

Congressman coming to Post Saturday

He will speak at 8:30 a.m. Saturday at a breakfast in Jackson's Cafeteria.

The breakfast is scheduled for 8 a.m. with no advance ticket sale. Everyone who wants to hear the congressman is invited.

The meal is not a fund raiser and each person attending will order and pay for his own breakfast.

3 damage suits and slaying set for trial

Four criminal cases, including one murder, and four civil cases which include three damage suits, are on the docket for jury trial in Garza District Court before Judge George Han-

Members of the new jury panel for the trials are yet to be notified.

Criminal cases include the See Damage suits, Page 12

County names third woman judge here

Zora Robinson was appointed justice of the peace of Precinct 1 Monday by the Garza County Commissioners court to fill the vacancy left by the recent death of her husband, Racy Robinson.

The naming of Mrs. Robinson fills all the lower courts in Garza County with women judges.

Pat Kitchens, former secretary of Racy Robinson's who had been serving as a temporary JP after Robinson's death, was named by the court last week to the newly activated position of justice of the peace precinct 4.

The third woman judge is Mrs. Louise Greene, who presides over the city court.

In their regular meeting this week, the court also set Mrs. Kitchens salary at $6,448 a year to comply with an attorney general's opinion that such salaries must be expressed in an annual amount. This is the same salary as she is being paid on an hourly basis. (See County court, Page 12)

Taba'na Yuan'e wind blows poor forecast

A strong, cold wind was blowing off the Caprock at sunrise last Thursday morning, but it was from the wrong direction again.

The smoke from Frank (Chief) Runkles hard-to-start fire indicated the wind was out of the west to northwest.

And that, according to the Indian legend "weather service" which has been checked here each March 22 since 1906, indicates "below average crops" for this area for 1979.

Chief Runkles and Noah Stone, who has been testing the March 22 wind at sunrise for several decades, told The Dispatch that the wind was varying from the northwest to north-northwest, but that at sunrise it was "slightly" out of the west to northwest.

Had the wind been from the northwest it would have decreed an average harvest, according to Indian legend.

The sixth annual Chamber of Commerce sponsored Taba'na Yuan'e ceremony, held on a grassy plot between US-84 and the new junior livestock show facilities, drew a record-sized crowd of about 250 persons.

This was because the Chamber had expanded its favorite publicity project to include an appreciation breakfast for area farmers and ranchers and their wives with local businesses picking up the checks.

Chamber president Larry Willard presided over the drawing of $375 worth of merchandise certificates as door prizes and thanked farmers and ranchers for coming.

Door prizes went to Steven Fluitt, $50 certificate; (See Taba'na, Page 12)

Cathcart appointed new senior advocate

Katharine Cathcart will be Garza County's new senior advocate to administer the federal programs for the aged, beginning last week.

She was appointed to the post, effective April 1, by the Garza County Commissioners Court Monday after winning the senior citizens election from seven other candidates at the Algeria Senior Citizens Center last Wednesday.

She polled 69 votes out of

the 174 cast for 39 percent of the vote.

Enid Gossett gave her a close race, getting 59 votes.

Others receiving votes in the big field were Inez Norris 20, Joann Blacklock 14, Ola Keeton 7, Melodie Holly and Howard Freeman, two each and Maxine Marks 1.

Mrs. Marks who has been serving as senior advocate for the first year of the program withdrew from the field two days before the election but polled one vote anyway.

Mrs. Marks has been named site manager of the Algeria Center by the center's board.

She has been serving as both senior advocate and project director of the center.

In a budget cutting effort the program director position has been abolished by the federal aged program and such duties combined with those of site director.

Cleo Sappington, who has been serving as site director, also applied to the board (See New senior, Page 12)

Here's a new story about a computer error.

When all the lights went out and the power off here in Post about 12:30 p. m. last Friday for 40 minutes, the reason was a computer malfunction.

The malfunction tripped off one of Southwestern Public Service's new coal-fired plants near Amarillo. This created a temporary overload on the entire system which began automatically tripping breakers in various parts of the system to prevent damage.

It took a few minutes to correct the computer malfunction and get all the cut off areas back on the SPS system again.

At least we proved to Harold Lucas last week that Dispatch readers read his car ads. When we failed to correct some twisted prices on his pickups and vans (the right prices were put with the wrong vehicles) in proof reading his big anniversary (See Postings, Page 12)

Search finds downed pilot

An early morning search for a downed Denver City pilot extending over Garza, Crosby and Kent counties Wednesday resulted in the finding of Jerry Roston, 35, in the wreckage of his single engine Cessna plane about 9 a. m. Wednesday.

The automatic distress signal from the wrecked plane was picked up by the CAA at Lubbock regional airport who alerted law enforcement agencies in the three counties.

Garza deputies conducted a blind search in the northeast portion of this county for about eight hours.

Extent of Roston's injuries were unknown here at presstime. He was reported from the crash scene to be seriously hurt and in and out of consciousness when found. He was taken by ambulance to the Crosbyton hospital and then on into Lubbock.

Workshop set on twisters

Bill Couch, meteorologist in charge of the United States Weather Bureau in Lubbock will conduct "a tornado workshop" here next Thursday night in the bank community room.

The one hour and thirty minute presentation is designed primarily for volunteer weather spotters in the Garza area, but any who are interested in becoming more knowledgeable on tornadoes are invited to attend.

The workshop will begin at 7 p.m.

Easter Art Show is set for April 7-8

Post's Easter Art Show, sponsored by the Post Art Guild, is scheduled to be held in the community center Saturday and Sunday, April 7-8, with over $2,000 in purchase and cash awards offered participating artists.

Don Hedgpeth of Midland will judge the annual show this year. Hedgpeth was director of an art museum in Cody, Wyo., and wrote paragraphs on the OS Art Show artists for one of the OS catalogs a few years back.

Entry fees are $4 per painting or sculpture with no limit on the number of entries.

New twist to tax reform

The most interesting of the tax reform bills to be introduced in the current session of the Texas Legislature is one which would bring the City of Post an additional $54,795 in sales taxes.

The bill, introduced in the house by Rep. Ray Keller of Duncanville and in the senate by Bill Meier of Tarrant County, proposed to distribute the one percent city sales taxes back to the communities on the basis of population, instead of returning it to the city in which it was paid.

In other words, Post would get back the sales tax paid by Post folks who run up US-84 to Lubbock to shop.

For Post, a sales tax distribution by population (1960 census figures used) would have brought in $160,211 last year instead of the $105,416 it actually received. The difference is $54,795, which isn't exactly chicken feed. Post could do a lot with increased sales tax returns like that.

The Dispatch heartily endorses the bill.

If the bill isn't cemented into a committee pigeonhole, it could create one of the biggest "shootouts" or "shoutouts" of the session, matching "big city" forces against representatives of the small towns and rural areas.

While the $54,795 would be a bonanza for Post, look for Lubbock and the cities to fight it tooth and toenail, plus whatever else is handy.

Keller points out the present city sales tax distribution is unfair because the shopper who pays the sales tax for a purchase made out of town is "footing the bill for another city", and that represents "taxation without representation."

The taxation without representation part of it comes because such a small town shopper in the city has no say at all in how his tax dollars spent away from home are used.

Certainly, the argument is sound enough. But the impact would be so tremendous on financing in the large cities that they simply won't permit the change as long as they have the clout to prevent it. And we are sorry to report they do.

Those of our lawmakers who represent cities as well as many small towns will have a difficult choice to make if that bill reaches the floor. That's why a quiet pigeonhole is our prediction for it.

Along with the announcement of the filing of the bill came some data form them on how the new proposed distribution would help or hurt every community in Texas.

It contained some surprises.

Biggest surprise is that Lubbock isn't pulling this area's shoppers as much as some would believe. Lubbock would lose only a little more than $300,000 in sales taxes. It received $7,591,650 in sales tax return last year and on a population distribution would get $7,285,143.

Post residents roughly are spending two of every three retail dollars in Post. About a third of it goes "up the road." While that may be considered high, look at some of our neighbors:

Crosbyton's sales tax returns would jump 180 percent, Denver City's almost 200 percent, Ralls 115 percent, Spur's 160 percent and Tahoka's 170 percent and Tulia's 82 percent.

Compared to our neighbors Post folks are spending more of their money with hometown merchants than anybody else in this area.

Another factor the reader should consider too is that the farmers and ranchers living outside the cities aren't counted in the distribution by population so that actually each community, large or small, is receiving a portion of the sales taxes these rural folks spend.

This makes Post's spending look even better because a portion of the sales tax distributed on the population formula represents rural spending, not Post spending, just as does the amount Post now receives in sales taxes via a distribution by where they are paid.

Actually, if folks want to pay taxes fairly the sales tax should be distributed on the basis of population. And you won't make your influence as a voter felt unless you write and tell your state representative and state senator so.

The biggest loser in the proposed sales tax distribution by population would be Houston which would lose $33 million from its $88,879,171 of last year. Dallas is next with over $13,000,000 loss from $49,891,958. Surprisingly, San Antonio would gain almost $7,000,000 which proves it is no area trade center.

"Yes, Jones, I'm always only too glad to discuss salaries with any members of our staff here."

There were several new books catalogued and put on the library shelves this past week.

Sam Levenson has had a book published this year entitled "You Don't Have to Be in Who's Who to Know What's What". This book is in his personal compilation of the best wit and wisdom he has come across through the years. It is basically humor but well worth your time. There are many serious facts driven home in a humorous way.

Other non-fiction books are, a self-help diet book by a medical doctor, "Fabulous Fructose Diet"; "The Duel of the Giants" by Drew Middleton; "China and Russia in Asia", also by Drew Middleton. He also is the author of "Can American Win the Next War?"; Other books are, "To Live Until we Say Goodbye" the text written by Elisabeth Kubler-Ross, with photography by Mal Warshaw; this is a biography as is "A Rockwell Portrait" by Donald Walton. The fiction books are, "The Stand", by Stephen King; "A Woman of Quality" by Jan Wescott; "The Flounder" by Gunter Gras; "A Glorious Third" and "The Baby Sitter" written by Andrew Coburn.

Pee Wee also showed me a book for left-handed people. The one she showed me was, "Left-handed Knitting", but there are also instructions for left-handed crochet, needlepoint and embroidery. It does seem we have books for almost any problem, doesn't it?

Tech teams to chase storms

LUBBOCK — While some are always chasing rainbows, several Texas Tech University researchers are preparing to chase 1979's spring storms in the hope of collecting cloud, tornado and hailstorm data.

The researchers, working through the Texas Tech Institute for Disaster Research (IDR), are working on three kinds of studies.

Dr. Richard E. Peterson of the atmospheric science faculty and his graduate students want to document the growth and maintenance of thunderstorms and to learn why certain storms become severe.

Dr. Milton L. Smith of the industrial engineering faculty will be studying hailstone properties and their possible effects, particularly on solar collectors. His work is supported by the Energy Foundation of Texas. For his studies he is counting on research teams retrieving hailstones for him, but he is also asking the public to collect and keep for him large or oddly shaped hail.

Dr. Joseph E. Minor, IDR director, and his colleagues in civil engineering specialize in wind engineering and are most interested in his pictures of ground level wind fields as tornadoes move across the land. Faculty working with him are Drs. James R. McDonald and Kishor C. Mehta.

The ultimate goal of each researcher is to obtain sufficiently complete understanding of severe storms to protect lives and property.

The IDR Storm Chase organization for 1979 will include four teams, each equipped to bring in useful data. Teams of three will rotate duty and no more than two teams are likely to chase one storm. On the chase will be a team director, recorder and cameraman. They will be supported by a fourth team member, the radar observer, stationed at the National Weather Service Office in Lubbock and in communication with the traveling teams.

Teams will have ready to go at a moment's notice equipment including binoculars; motion picture and still cameras; an ice chest with number plastic bags to store hailstones; tape recorders; maps and a compass; CB radio and antenna; stakes and ribbon for marking camera locations for future reference; and rain gear, including hard hats to protect against hail.

The nationally televised Skywarn program will be monitored by team members during the spring season. If threatening weather is predicted, Peterson's group will make a late morning forecast for research teams. Based on that forecast, a decision will be made whether or not to send a radar observer to the Lubbock weather station. Even before severe weather develops, the chase team will be dispatched to be in position to get long distance pictures of cloud formations and to move in as close as possible to eventual wind damage or tornado areas to gather pictures and other data.

Teams do more than watch and wait and take pictures. All data gathered must be documented, either by tape recorder or on data forms during the chase. For each hailstone collected, for instance, researchers must note the hour, date and location it was picked up.

Team training will begin the week of March 26. The active chase period has been set for April 2-20. During May, although students will participate only if their schedules permit, faculty will continue the research.

Public participation is helpful, Minor said. If anyone takes tornado pictures or can collect hailstones, the IDR can use the data. Pictures and hailstones should be labeled with time, date and location. Hailstones should be packaged and labeled separately in plastic bags and kept in a freezer until IDR team members can pick them up from the collector. Hail that is golfball size or larger or that has spikes or some other unusual formation is of value.

To notify researchers that photographs or hailstones are available, write or call the Institute for Disaster Research, Department of Civil Engineering, Texas Tech University, Lubbock, Texas, (806) 742-3476.

Fryers, turkeys on market bargain list

COLLEGE STATION — Best buys at Texas grocery markets this week include fryer chickens and turkey, yellow vegetables and some "specials" on processed foods.

Also, special prices appear on some beef and pork cuts, and some fresh fruits have attractive prices, according to Gwendolyn Clyatt.

Mrs. Clyatt is a consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A & M University System.

This week's price-quality trends are the following:

POULTRY — Fryer chickens both whole and parts, have lower prices — along with turkey. All are good values.

FRESH VEGETABLES — Among most economical items are carrots, sweet potatoes, squash and rutabagas. Also, onions, potatoes, cucumbers, and broccoli.

Broccoli, reaching its quality "peak" is best when the bud clusters are tightly closed with no yellow or purple color showing. Choose dark-green or purple stalks and leaves, and be sure stalks are tender-firm but not tough and woody. Cooking greens — collards, spinach, mustard and turnips — have larger supplies and better quality with prices a bit lower.

Eggplant shows larger supplies and some lower prices. Cabbage has high prices and just ordinary quality.

BEEF — Features include chuck roast and steaks, ground beef, sirloin tip roasts, round and rib steaks and beef liver.

PORK — Prices are stable or slightly higher in some markets. Consider quarter-loin cut into chops — with some specials on end chops, rib and loin-end roasts.

Research cuts hit

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The president of the National Cotton Council Monday requested the House Agriculture Appropriations subcommittee to restore funding for important cotton research projects for fiscal 1980.

Hoke Leggett, Hobgood, N.C., producer, expressed deep concern over the Administration's proposed $3.3 million cut in over-all agricultural research and especially over the fact that more than half of the cut or $1.6 million would be in cotton research alone.

He commended the Administration's effort to reduce the budget deficit but noted that research is one of the primary ways of improving productivity and holding down costs. The Administration apparently recognized this fact in other areas, he noted, because seven of ten federal research agencies would receive increased funding in the proposed budget.

In view of the growth in world population and evidence that yields of many crops in this country have reached upper limits, Leggett commented, "It is difficult to understand why, at the same time, agriculture and cotton are receiving severe cuts."

LETTERS to the Editor

PUBLIC COMMENDATION

Dear Editor:

Early in January my daughter Cathy and I were driving from our home in Nampa, Idaho to North Texas State University in Denton, Texas, where she was to enroll as a graduate student. We stayed overnight at Lubbock and started out Wednesday morning Jan. 10th on bare dry roads. Skies were overcast and soon snow began blowing over the road. Shortly after we entered Garza County we hit a slick spot and skidded off the road. When we got back on the road and were preparing to resume our journey, a pick-up and a car smashed into us from the rear.

A deputy sheriff waited with us until the Highway Patrolmen came. They investigated and did all the proper things.

Cathy and I would like to thank the patrolmen for all their extra kindness. They allowed us to stay at the Sheriff's office, helped sort things out of the car before it was towed to the garage, found boxes in which to pack the loose things, took us to the Bus Depot and gave helpful advice. Unfortunately, we were too dazed to remember their names.

We appreciated the lady

LUBBOCK — A Lubbock school teacher has been presented a "Certificate of Accomplishment" for teaching and certifying more than 200 hunter safety students by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Lubbock Regional Law Enforcement Director Weldon Fromm presented the certificate to Jill Jester, 3905 Toledo, Lubbock, as she became one of three women to receive this award in Texas during the last two years.

Jill, a 1969 Texas Tech graduate, has certified 221 HS students since she started teaching the HS course in Boerne school system in 1974.

Jill's HS classes have included archery, fresh and saltwater fishing, camping, hiking, backpacking, first aid, canoeing, camp crafts, orienteering, the Texas Skipper's Course, and the handling, firing, and cleaning of firearms.

Jill has found the hunter safety courses bring the students closer together with no discipline problems in any of the classes or field trips.

SYD CONNER
Garza Extension Agent

The liquidation of the current cattle cycle may be ending and some herd buildup may begin during 1979, believes a livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Dr. Ed Uvacek foresees this possibility after analyzing the latest U.D. cattle and calf inventory report released by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"The most surprising statistic in the report was the five percent drop in the 1978 calf crop compared to 1977," notes Uvacek.

He says this lower calf crop accounted for the large drop in numbers of calves held over on Jan. 1. When compared to the number of cows and heifers that have calved on Jan. 1, the calving percentage is as bad as that reported in 1975 and is only slightly better than the 1977 level.

"Overall, the decrease in cattle and calf numbers during 1978 was much less than in 1977," says Uvacek. "In fact, seven states actually recorded gains."

While total numbers of beef cows were reported down five percent, there were 13 states which had just as many or more beef cows than a year ago. Similarly, even though beef replacement heifers were down six percent nationally, 15 different states reported gains.

Uvacek points out that a substantial proportion of "other heifers" can be shifted into the replacement category if producers so choose. Also, many heifer calves under 500 pounds could find their way into breeding programs during 1979.

"The possibility of a nationwide gain in cattle numbers during this year looks quite likely," contends Uvacek.

How soon can you eat a crop after a material has been applied? That information is also found on the label. On many labels there are special precautions such as washing fruit or not spraying past a certain development stage. Read these warnings closely.

Pesticides are safe when used as directed. Therefore, protect yourself and your family by using all pesticides with care.

The best time to prevent bagworm infestations of trees and shrubs, especially evergreens, is now.

The simplest method is to remove old cocoons hanging from tree limbs. He also advises burning or depositing them with trash to be hauled away. If cocoons are dropped on the ground, reinfestation may occur.

This method of control can best be understood by looking at the life cycle of the bagworm. During the winter the cocoon contains only eggs. In the spring, each larva (caterpillar) crawls from the old cocoon and spins its own. It never leaves its cocoon, so it is relatively safe from predation by birds.

As the larva matures, its food supply declines. Upon reaching adulthood, the larva seals the cocoon to form a pupal stage and transforms into an adult moth. The female moth is wingless and does not leave her cocoon. The male is winged and does leave in search of a female.

The male moth dies soon after mating while the female deposits her eggs in the cocoon and then dies. Her remains plug the lower end of the cocoon. The eggs remain in the cocoon until the following spring when the cycle begins again.

When buying a pesticide and again prior to use, be sure to read the label carefully.

A pesticide label contains a considerable amount of beneficial information. First, look for the EPA registration number which will indicate the Environmental Protection Agency has found the material effectively controls certain pests (insects, weeds or diseases.) The number also indicates that the substance is safe to use when directions are followed.

The next thing found on the label is the pest that this material is effective against. Only those pests listed can be controlled with this material.

Rate of materials to use is also on the label. This rate must be followed closely. If you exceed the recommended rate and problems occur, the company is no longer responsible. Also, you waste material and stand a chance of polluting an area with a chemical.

The pesticide label also lists the interval at which the materials should be applied. This may vary with materials but will generally be between five to twenty-one days. The label may indicate that this is a one-time application for a certain pest.

To begin with, I must clear up a misunderstanding.

The answer is NO! NO! NO! The water is NOT contaminated at the Youth Center.

You know how easy it is to get rumors started? Well this all came about last Thursday night when I put a box over the water fountains at the Youth Center, the purpose of which was to keep kids from using the fountains. WHY? You ask? The fountains are leaking at the bottom when they are used and cause a big PUDDLE on the floor.

Well as rumors have it, one question led to another and before the night was over, it got around that the water was contaminated. Believe me, THIS IS NOT TRUE. The water is fine. If you don't believe me, I'll drink it to show you (If you'll mop up the puddle.)

Birthday wishes go to Teresa Davis, Deb Palmer and Nancy Clary who all celebrated theirs last week. I heard Debs and Teresas' on the Jeff and Jane Show last Friday morning.

Lots of college kids were in town last week due to spring break. Visiting about were Raymie Holly, Bruce Waldrip, Mike Waldrip, Kyle Duren, Bryan Elliott, Bud Jones, Rodney Teaff, Jodine Tipton, Sherri York and Bobby Macy.

Jackie Stelzer brought a friend home from Abilene last Saturday. He was not last received at the youth center. Not that Post kids are unfriendly, but most of them don't care for snakes. That's right, Pokey is a little garter snake. Jackie bought it at the mall while in Abilene for the tennis tournament last weekend. I'm sorry Jackie's mother had to find out this way, but better now than when cleaning out his closet.

Rex Cash has a pretty new car. I'm the world's worst at knowing what kind. But it has a sun roof.

Senior play practice is well underway and I think the date has been set for May 4.

Speaking of May 4, the Junior class has something unusual planned for May 5 you can start thinking about. A community dance! That means anyone can come and especially mammas and daddies. It's going to be held at the rodeo ground with a DJ playing the music. You'll hear more about it in the coming weeks.

I'm sorry I don't have a dance planned for this month as yet but am working on it. Maybe soon.

Jay Lott told me to tell everyone he is an avid tennis fan. He was watching the dual meet here Tuesday afternoon against Abernathy.

The track teams are San Angelo bound for the boys and Snyder for the girls this weekend. This will be the last meet for the girls before the district meet at Seminole next Thursday, April 5.

It's time to be thinking of that special date for the All

Fashion Revue set at big farm show

LUBBOCK — Weeks of careful work by seamstresses from throughout West Texas will reap recognition and — for nine winners — $300 in awards at the Natural Fibers Fashion Revue, a feature event on Thursday, April 5, opening day of the second annual south Plains Farm show at the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center.

Entries in the three divisions will be judged during the morning by a panel of sewing and fashion experts. At 2 p.m. in the Civic Center Theater, the contestants will model their creations in a colorful fashion show, which is free to the public, explained Becky Culp, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and contest chairman.

Narrating the show will be television model Debbi Clark. A graduate of Texas Tech, she is familiar to local viewers for appearances on TV as Hemphill Wells "Sugergirl." She works in media communications.

Awards totaling $100 will be presented to the top three entries in each division. Winners in the young teen, teen and adult divisions will receive gift certificates from area merchants. Spectators won't be left out, Mrs. Culp said, with $200 in door prizes to be given away at the fashion show.

The revue is designed to emphasize elements of good clothing construction, home sewing and fashion, as well as the use of natural fibers.

she said. Entries must be made from at least 50 percent cotton, or 50 percent wool, or wool and mohair comprising 50 percent or more of the fabric.

In addition to the fashion revue, the three-day South Plains Farm Show will feature a display of the most modern farm equipment in the world, a public forum on farm financing, a championship micro-mini tractor pulling contest, and two nights of invitational tractor pulling. All events are free to the public with exception of the invitational tractor pulling which will be held in the municipal coliseum.

Repeal is sought on acreage limitation

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 22 (Special) — The National Cotton Council last week urged outright repeal of the 1902 Reclamation Act's acreage limitation and residency requirements, calling them "outdated" and "inequitable" in today's agricultural economy.

Herman Propst, Anson, Tex., cotton producer who testified for the Council, also told the Senate Subcommittee on Energy Research and Development that limitations on leasing represent a dangerous concept. He said this restriction had never been contemplated under the 1902 Act until proposed in regulations by Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus in late 1977.

"In effect, this would actually place a Washington-mandated limitation on farm size," Propst stated. "With modern agriculture changing so rapidly, who can say that 1,280 acres — or any number for that matter — will not be as obsolete a few years hence as 160 acres is now?"

The Texas producer maintained that an individual farmer should be allowed under the law to use his managerial talents and financial resources to the extent that he — and not the government — determined to be feasible.

"To do less is to hamper seriously the total productive capability of U.S. agriculture," he added.

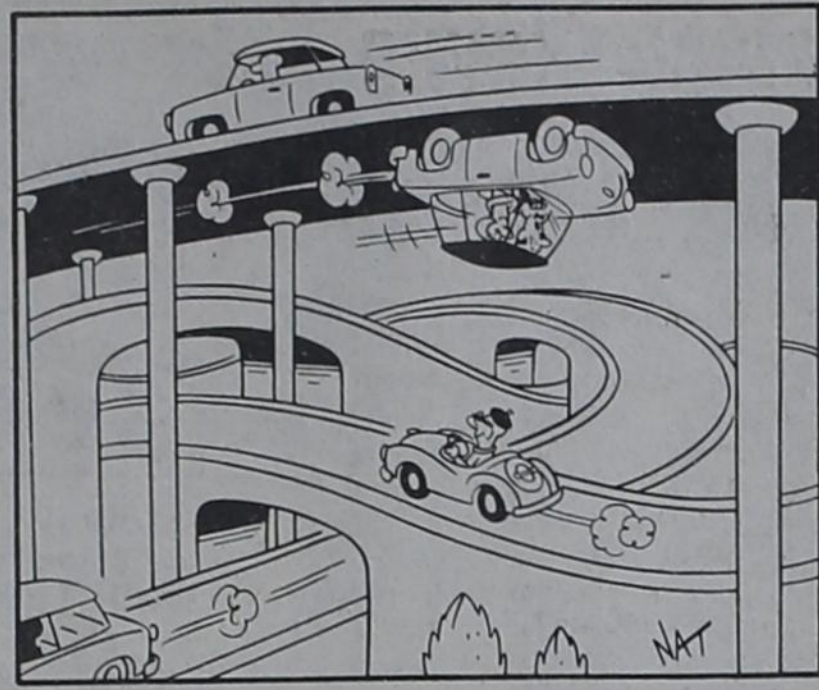

Propst also said there is concern in all areas of the Cotton Belt that acreage limitations might be applied to irrigated farms drawing water from Corps of Engineers flood control projects. As an example, he cited a court decision which placed the Pine Flat Dam in California under reclamation law restrictions. The dam had been built by the Corps of Engineers as a water storage facility.

"The easiest way to avoid the application of this precedent to other Corps projects is to repeal the acreage limitations altogether," Propst said.

Pointing out that the 77-year old law is outdated and inequitable, Propst said farmers have had to enlarge their operations many times over the level prevalent at the turn of the century in order to produce food and fiber in the variety and quantity consumers demand and at the price they are willing to pay.

He cited a Council economic study which concludes that forcing farm size down to the level proposed by the Interior Department would result in "substandard income or even bankruptcy for farmers and reduced supplies and higher prices for consumers."

In conclusion, Propst told the committee that a rigid acreage limit at any level is "totally out of tune with the American principle that a person's opportunity should be restricted only by his ability."

"I still think you took the wrong turnoff at that last cloverleaf."

Girl, 9, who saved granddad is 'hero'

HOUSTON — A nine-year-old central Texas girl, whose resourcefulness and courage under pressure made the difference between life and death for her grandfather, has received the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council's "Rural Heroism Award."

Wendy Harmon was a third-grade student last March when her grandfather, 68-year-old rancher Archie Wright, was gored by a cow. The Gatesville youngster made a nine-mile drive in a pickup to town, an action credited with saving his life.

Presentation of the plaque was made Monday at the Texas Safety Association's 40th annual meeting.

Wendy's previous driving experience in helping feed the cows in her grandfather's pastures paid off when Archie Wright was gored by a cow on his ranch 12 miles southwest of Gatesville March 18, 1978. Seriously injured, he managed to get 100 yard toward his house and yell to Wendy and a classmate, Amy Edwards, who were playing in the backyard.

Scared and barely able to see over the steering wheel, Wendy backed the pickup out of the vehicle shed, and she and Amy managed to get Wright into the cab. While Amy telephone Wendy's mother, Mrs. Lynda Lynch, who works in Gatesville, Wendy drove nine miles to the outskirts of Gatesville, where her mother met them and completed the drive to the Coryell Memorial Hospital.

The doctor said that Wright would not have lived another ten minutes, and Wendy Harmon is credited with making the difference.

"I told myself I could do it," she said. "I knew I had to."

Rockefeller, according to the ENTERTAIN legend, once invited Will Rogers to his estate for a weekend. There were numerous guests and Rockefeller did not fail to show off Rogers. Rockefeller received a rather steep bill from Rogers for services as a professional entertainer. He called Rogers, protesting, "I didn't engage you as an entertainer. I invited you as a guest." Rogers replied, "When people invite me as a guest they invite Mrs. Rogers too. When they ask me to come alone, I go as a professional entertainer."

Damage suits 3 coaches stay---

(Continued From Page One) trial of William Reed, who allegedly shot his wife, Alberta Hill Reed, to death here Oct. 29, 1978; a theft by appropriation case against Eugene H. Williams in which 36 bales of cotton worth $8,840.69 were allegedly appropriated from a gin customer; charges of burglary with intent to commit theft and forgery of a $30 check against Gary Allen Seals; and a charge of hindering a secured creditor against Richard White for allegedly taking a TV set and stereo out of state.

The three damage suits include:

A $68,000 damage suit brought by Mr. and Mrs. Clay B. Johnson of Post against the Barber Oil Exploration, Inc., of Dallas which allegedly through negligence contaminated 85 acres of Garza farm land. The Johnsons are seeking damages of $800 an acre.

A suit for personal injury in which Linda Curb Boles seeks $40,000 in damages from Wesley G. Morris for a parking lot accident in which the plaintiff suffered injuries when pinned between two vehicles Oct. 3, 1977.

A damage suit seeking $68,100 brought by Bonnie Louise Medlin of Post against Myra Burdean Soice of Wichita, Kansas, for injuries suffered in a farm to market road intersection collision between cars driven by the two women Nov. 21, 1977, in Garza County. The plaintiff seeks damages for injuries to herself and car damage as a result of alleged negligence by the defendant.

The other civil suit is an appeal to set aside an award brought by the Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. vs. Jose Aamora.

Diesel short-

Mrs. C.O. McCleskey of Grassland Butane told The Dispatch that diesel supplies have become a problem and that their firm has had to "go through Austin for an increased allotment."

The firm was scheduled to receive a load of diesel that day a week late.

Congressman Stenholm said in a statement mailed from Washington that an investigation by his own staff has shown that the northern and western parts of the nation are experiencing an almost complete loss of diesel fuel.

He said he has received numerous calls from distributors who have been unable to secure diesel to meet present needs.

The congressman said "our inquiries have revealed that suppliers holding 50,000 gallons of diesel only three days ago have now sold these supplies to speculators and thus have been withdrawn from the market."

Stenholm attributes much of the crisis to the overregulation of the petroleum industry by the Department of Energy and other agencies.

Miss Lewallen, who directed Post one-act plays to district honors and beyond twice, has been teaching for the last two years at Floydada but wants to return to Post.

Trustees also approved two changes in the teachers contracts for the new school year which the board's attorney put into legal language Wednesday morning.

The first would require teachers to return their signed contracts by May 15 with failure to do deliver by that date "constituting a refusal of the employment by the teacher."

The other provides that in the event a teacher voluntarily resigns his or her position during the term of the contract without complying with the requirements of Section 13.116 subsection (a) or (b) of the Texas Education Code, teacher will not be entitled to receive any accrual or unpaid monies or salaries over and above the portion of teacher's salary paid by the state of Texas.

Supt. Shiver told The Dispatch Wednesday the two new paragraphs to the contracts will be submitted to the state commissioner of education for his approval.

The two paragraphs will be included in new contracts offered teachers but if the commissioner makes changes new contracts would then be issued immediately.

County court-

Discussed but took no action on the park board's request for bids to make swimming pool repairs in advance of the summer season. The court must decide how much the county's share will be this year for park upkeep and operation.

Truett Hutto of the Caprock Telephone Co. appeared before the court to discuss his firm's future plans to bury telephone cables on the Verbena exchange. The county will take action on the matter at its April 9 meeting.

The court renewed the lease on 189 acres of Bailey County land with Jim Claunch, for two years retroactive to Jan. 1 for $3 and acre.

Postings-

(Continued From Page One) ad, Harold and his salesmen got all kinds of calls, especially on the $12,000 van sale priced at "$4,911.11." We explained to Harold that we did it just so he'd know folks were reading his ad. The prices have been corrected in his ad this week.

And just for the record, when an error has been made in price in an advertisement, the firm doesn't have to stand behind the mistaken price. In other words, you can't sue Harold for that van as one woman threatened to do — and win.

R.G. (Wilke) Wilkerson reports that the Caprock buzzards — just like those famous swallows of Capistrano — came back this spring on schedule, March 15. Wilke has been keeping an eye on those buzzards for the last nine years. He says they head south on Oct. 15 and return on March 15 each year. Wilke takes some kidding on his buzzards, which reminds me some Texas town was setting up a promotional event for their buzzards this year, but we forget which one.

Several Teachers, including Warren Hart, Wynn Robinson, Philip Alford and Robert Lockwood, besides others who have already announced departure plans, have asked not to be reconsidered for employment here the next school year.

High school teachers who were voted to receive 1979-80 contracts include Jerry Reynolds, Carolyn Black, George Pierce, Pat Thompson, Richard Wheelus, Sharon Lockwood, Joy Pool, Florence King, Sandra Alexander, Linda Linn, Carolyn Sawyers, Marion Wheatley, N.R. King, Suzanne Hudman, Geoff Murph, Christine Morris, Rhonda Alford, Ann Burkhard, Larry Crowover, E. A. Howard and Lane Tannehill.

Junior high teachers to receive contracts are Mary Lee Wristen, Mrs. Lane Tannehill, Sara Holder, Mrs. Danny Shaw, Mrs. Dan Rankin, Mrs. Ron Webb, Mrs. Terrell Williams, Mrs. Johnny Hasselmeier, Mrs. Ed Northam, Mrs. Byron Burkhard, Scott Rombokas, Tom Lewis and Dennis Ward.

Elementary teachers to be extended contracts are Mrs. Mary M. Norman, Mrs. Dorothy McCook, Mrs. Edna Owen, Mrs. Lucille McBride, Mrs. Doris Giddens, Mrs. Maury Shiver, Mrs. Martha Hart, Miss Connie Flores, Mrs. Rowena Pierce, Mrs. Shirley Ward, Mrs. Leecy Lott, Nancy Vaughn, Mrs. Jill Jones, Miss Patricia Hammons, Mrs. Marita Jackson, Carrol Shell, Mrs. Shari Pool, Mrs. Carlene Kyle, Mrs. Ida Jones, Mrs. Sue Cornell, Mrs. Patricia Reynolds, Mrs. Rebecca Haney, Mrs. Judy Brown, Mrs. Janie Andrews, Jennifer Rice and Gwen Crouch.

The trio receiving notices of intent are Mrs. Wanda Resendez, Mrs. Marilyn Beard and Mrs. Walter Didway.

New senior-

Hours at federal minimum wages for the site director also have been trimmed from 40 to 25 hours weekly by the federal programmers.

The selection of Mrs. Marks for the position was made by secret ballot at a meeting of the nine-member board in the home of Mrs. Ruby Kirkpatrick, its chairman, late Monday afternoon.

Seven of the board were present with the vote tally being 4 to 2 for Mrs. Marks with the chairman, who votes only in case of a tie, not voting.

Homebaked French Bread Can Be Last Minute Treat

Serve a warm, crusty loaf of homebaked French bread to dress up a meal for family or guests. Or turn the loaf into garlic toast, just like your favorite steak house serves. Both of these hot breads can even be last minute inspirations when you start with ready-to-bake refrigerated buttermilk or country style biscuits. Because these biscuits carry a "use by" date on every can, you can keep a supply in the refrigerator for hot bread any time.

As a bonus, along with great eating you get important B vitamins and iron from the enriched flour used in refrigerated biscuits.

QUICK FRENCH BREAD

2 cans (10 biscuits each) Pillsbury Refrigerated Buttermilk or Country Style Biscuits
1 egg white, slightly beaten
Sesame seed

Heat oven to 350° F. Separate each can of biscuit dough into 10 biscuits. Stand biscuits on edge on ungreased cookie sheet; press together and shape ends to form a loaf. Brush lightly with egg white. Sprinkle with sesame seed. Bake at 350° F. for 30 to 35 minutes or until deep golden brown. Serve warm. 14 slices.

GARLIC TOAST

Cut baked Quick French Bread into 1/2-inch slices. Brush sides of each slice generously with bottled Italian dressing. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake at 400° F. for 5 minutes; turn and bake another 5 minutes or until crisp and golden. 28 slices.

Boosters to meet Monday

The Antelope Booster Club will have a meeting Monday, April 2 at 7 p.m. in the community room of the bank for the purpose of finalizing plans for the All-Sport Banquet.

The banquet is to be held Monday night, April 23 with tickets now on sale for $6 from the members of the Lions Club. Tickets may also be purchased from Jimmie Redman and Martha Compton.

Rex Dockery of Texas Tech University will be guest speaker for the banquet which will honor all Post school athletes.

Rotarians shown poisonous snakes

Dr. Richard Lockwood, vice president of the Texas Tech University Medical School, spoke before Post Rotarians at their Tuesday luncheon and showed slides on his hobby, herpetology. That's the study of snakes and reptiles.

Dr. Lockwood showed slides of all kinds of poisonous snakes, including several varieties of rattlesnakes.

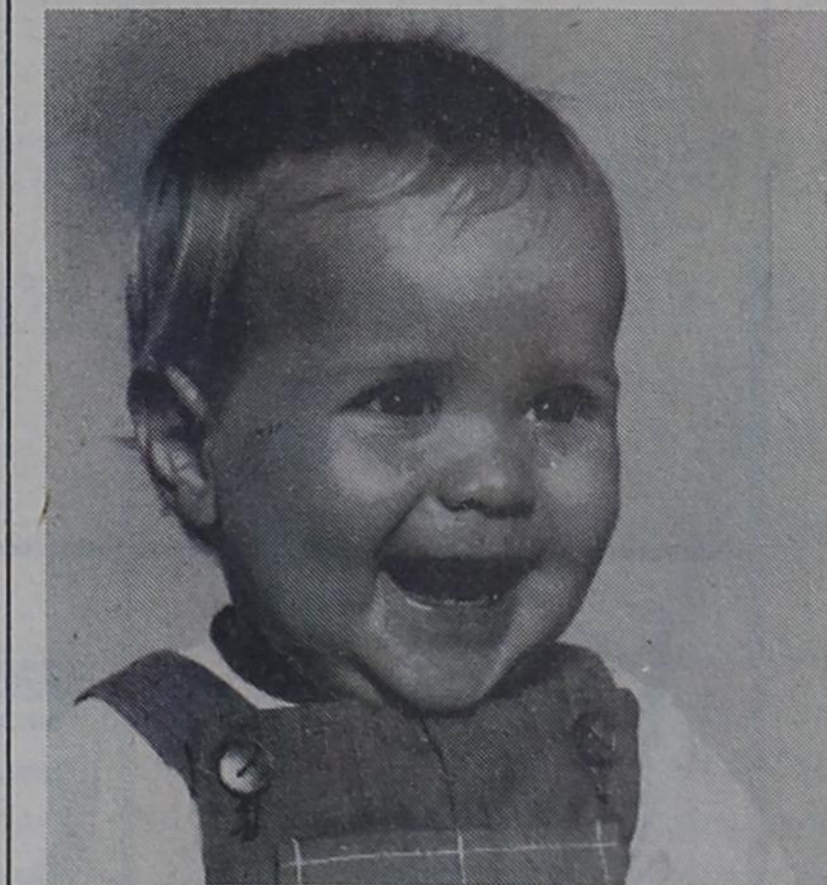

He told Rotarians the diamondhead rattler found in this West Texas region is one of the two more dangerous snakes on the North American continent.

Businessmen manned the serving line for the Jackson-catered breakfast. Some 230 were served breakfast. Others attended the Taba'na Yuan'e ceremony, including three television crews, who did not stay for breakfast.
