Some applied psychology

Gwen and Walter Boren have come up with the yummiest benefit project we've heard about in a long time to raise a thousand dollars for the Garza Museum, now busy with an expensive first-step renovation of the old sanitarium building.

It's their prime rib roast dinner for 12 served in their own home each Thursday evening at 6:30 p. m. with a $15 donation or better to the museum as the price of a fine meal.

You have to make a reservation in advance.

A good dinner appeals to everybody. It's a lot easier to write out a contribution check for a good cause when you're in a contented mood with a full stomach.

We don't know how the Borens go about accepting those contribution checks, but our advice is that they should wait until after the meal to collect them.

We're sure they'll get a whole lot more after the prime rib roast is served and consumed.

America's selfish 'hot foot'

The campaign is on again in several midwestern and western states to defy the threatened loss of federal highway funds and boost their speed limits above the current 55 miles per hour.

The upper house of the Wyoming legislature has passed just such a proposal.

Lawmakers in Oklahoma, Utah, New Mexico, Nevada and North Dakota are talking about raising the speed limit or cutting penalties for speeding violations. A Texas legislator has introduced a similar bill this session.

The wave of protest ignores the facts of life in the case. The first one is that the 55 mph limit does conserve gasoline. The second is a byproduct of that goal — it saves lives too.

The highway death rate has decreased noticeably since the slower speed limit was "laid on" as a matter of national energy policy several years ago.

There is no denying highways in many states — Texas among the leaders — are built for greater speeds, and so are most of the cars Americans drive.

Truth of the matter, it seems to us, is that people tend to think of their own desires first. It is simply inconvenient for most people to drive 55 miles an hour. The principle that it is a gas-saving device imposed to help in a small way ease the nation's gasoline consumption is not even being considered.

Unpopular as this argument may be, no argument about 55 miles per hour speed limits can be fairly considered unless this motivation is taken into account.

The often heard argument of a few years ago that America's gasoline shortage did not exist has sort of "gone away". It was never a valid argument.

To carry the facts further, the practical reason Detroit today is not producing the kind of gas-saving cars this nation now needs is because the driving public simply refuses to buy them.

Other nations make them quite well. Our young people in the cities buy them too because to most of them a car at their point in life is simply transportation and the less cost the better so they can spend the savings on something they more desire.

The plain truth, hard as it is to swallow, is that Americans today appear no more concerned with this nation's energy shortage — especially in oil — than most of our nation's lawmakers who continue to squabble-squabble over every energy issue.

The only progress we have made in recent years to solve the energy crisis is to pour millions of federal tax dollars into "seed programs" with private industry to develop alternate energy sources — such as solar power.

We can applaud President Carter's human rights policy but we have strongly supported the Shah in Iran even though it is obvious to everyone that he no longer has any support among his people. The reason for that is Iran's oil supply which we bring to America via a huge tanker fleet.

The cry here in Texas is to take the "control valve" off this state's oil industry and let it receive the same price for Texas oil as America pays for foreign oil. The politicians won't do this of course because the consumers have a heck of a lot more votes in any November than the oil producers. What this is doing to our national energy policy is of no consequence apparently to anybody.

President Carter's effort to penalize those who drive big cars — gas guzzlers — or the entire driving public for not conserving gasoline via a new gasoline tax — have all been rejected.

America's energy policy today is a crude joke — and getting back to the original subject of this editorial — it all started with the 55 miles per hour speed limit.

Americans refused to accept that, and they've refused just about everything else since that might be for the national good but which might pinch their feet — especially the one that is atop the gas pedal.

"SORRY, RHODES, BUT IF I LET YOU GO HOME I'D HAVE TO DO THE SAME IF ANY EMPLOYEE HAD A HEART ATTACK."

Cotton takes price dive
LUBBOCK — High Plains cotton prices were $5.25 to $13.50 per bale lower the week ended Jan. 18, according to Paul R. Dickson, area director at Lubbock's Marketing Services Offices.

Growers sold mixed lots of mostly grades 42 and better, staples 30-33, mikes 35-49 around 53.35 cents per pound. New crop lots of mostly grades 43 and 53, staples 30 and 31, mikes 35-49 brought about 49.15 cents per pound, Dickson said.

Gins paid High Plains growers $115 to $130 per ton for cottonseed.

USDA's High Plains Marketing Services Offices, graded 129,000 samples this week, bringing this season's total to 1,635,000. This compares to 2,892,000 graded by Jan. 19 last year.

Predominant High Plains grades this week were grade 41 at ten percent, grade 51 accounted for nine percent, grade 42 amounted to 40 percent and grade 52 was 25 percent. Thirty-two percent were reduced one grade because of bark.

Twin Cedars Nursing Home News

By FLETA WALLS
Sunday services were brought to us by the Catholic Church with Father Malcolm Neyland officiating. Our residents all enjoyed the services. Next week's service is scheduled to be by the Assembly of God Church.

We have a new temporary resident at Twin Cedars, Arlene Weaver. Arlene has her leg casted so she's staying with us for awhile.

We were sorry of the death of Birdie Mae Hood. Mrs. Hood had been a resident of Twin Cedars for a long time. All of us will miss her.

Visitors at Twin Cedars this past week were Walter and Myrl Mathis, Lucille Walker, the Mosier family, Virginia Terry, Inez McGrew, Ione Hughes, Lottie Sanders, Bill Sanders, Ruby Kirkpatrick, Gerald Clayton, Sybil Cockrum, Carl and Letha Cederholm and Rose Askins.

Visitors and outings are somewhat limited due to the wintry weather. Our residents are really looking forward to the end of this cold weather, as I'm sure everyone else is too.

TEEN SCENE By Norm

The eighth grade girls deserve recognition this week for bringing home the championship trophy in the Lorenzo tournament. CONGRATULATIONS!!

The freshman girls didn't win any honors, but they played one heck of a ballgame Saturday against none other than COOPER and were defeated by one point in their overtime play. TALK ABOUT ROUGH. I think the refs were a little afraid to call ANYTHING. Deann is home from the hospital and will find out today if she gets to play anymore this year. Karen is working out again, so I guess we came out of it alright, considering. There was another girl on our team whose mouth was bleeding. I asked her if she got hit in the mouth, but she said, "no." The Cooper girl stuck her finger in her mouth going for the ball so she bit her, and in return, she got her mouth scratched. If you haven't watched the fresh girls play, you don't know what you're missing. They can play with the best of 'em.

Happy Birthday goes out this week to that cute little girl on Page 5. Don't you think she looks an awful lot like her little brother, Wade! And then there's that junior guy Jimmy Pruitt who celebrated his this week also. HB people.

If you haven't been out to the new stock show barn, you are in for a real treat. The volunteers are too numerous to mention that are working out there preparing it for YOU, the ones that enter the fair and stock show. Sometime when you are riding the streets, for the lack of nothing to do, it wouldn't hurt for you to go out by there and see if you can help them in some small way, or just go by and tell them you appreciate all the countless hours and work they're putting in for you.

The hall of PHS are 14 students short this week because of the Fort Worth Stock Show. I know you miss seeing all the friendly faces of Deb and Jody Palmer, Debbie Tyler, Brent Howard, Brad Greer, Greg Pollard, Danny Gunn, Carlos and Adolpho Varela, Mark Holly, Dena Bridgeman, Steve Kitchens, Lynn Simpson and Jay Lott. The group were accompanied to the exposition by Mr. Howard and Mr. Crownover. Never fear, they'll be back.

Tower seeks FTC curbs

WASHINGTON - Seantor John Tower (R-Tex) today moved to achieve greater Congressional control over the regulations drafted by the Federal Trade Commission.

In introducing the "Federal Trade Commission Regulatory Review Act", Tower said his purpose is to "provide American citizens, through their elected representatives, an effective and democratic means of control over the regulations governing what they can buy and sell in the marketplace."

"The consistent growth of the bureaucracy - particularly the independent regulatory agencies such as the Federal Trade Commission - is leading us down the road to uncontrollable regulation. When the Congress delegates wholesale powers limited only by vague standards, it abdicates the traditional legislative function of democratically determining public policy. The legislative review procedure which would be established under this bill restores to Congress its right to exercise oversight of this delegated power." Tower added.

Under the provisions of Tower's legislation, the FTC would be required to transmit a copy of each substantive rule or regulation to both Houses of Congress. The proposed rules would not become effective if within 90 days both Houses adopt a concurrent resolution disapproving the rule, or, if within 60 days one House adopts a concurrent resolution which is transmitted to the other House and within 30 days the other House does not disapprove the resolution.

Record GI insurance dividends for 1979

A record $485 million in dividends will be paid during 1979 to four million veterans holding GI life insurance policies, the Veterans Administration announced today.

In Texas 197,602 insureds will receive $24,668,000. No application is needed, VA Administrator Max Cleland emphasized. Individual policy holders who have kept their GI insurance in force from either World War I, World War II or the Korean Conflict will receive their payments automatically on the anniversary dates of their policies, he said.

The 3,384,000 World War II veterans with current GI insurance policies will receive dividends totaling $433,300,000. The average payment of $128 is up $11 from last year.

Individual amounts will vary from the average, Cleland explained, depending on the type of policy, amount of insurance, age at issue or renewal and the time the policy has been in force.

The 99,800 policy holders from World War I will receive an average of $256 each, up from $224 in 1978, for an aggregate of $25.6 million.

An average payment of $48 will go to 544,000 Korean Conflict veterans who kept their GI insurance in force, an aggregate of $26.1 million. This group received $29 average payment last year.

The 1979 GI insurance dividends, like other insurance dividends, are higher in recent years because the funds on deposit have been earning higher interest. Dividends on VA insurance policies represent a return of funds not needed to pay the cost of the insurance.

Benefiting most from the higher interest rates are those veterans who have converted their insurance plans to permanent type policies rather than continuing the original term policies, Cleland explained.

Poultry still top buy at super market

COLLEGE STATION — Poultry, root vegetables and some processed foods are among budget buys at Texas grocery markets this week, according to Gwendolyn Clyatt.

Current price and quality trends are the following: POULTRY — Attractive prices appear on fryer chickens (whole and parts) and chicken frankfurters. Turkeys, 10 pounds and up, are available. FRESH VEGETABLES — Best values include carrots, turnips, rutabagas, dry onions, potatoes, cabbage and broccoli. All stocks of sweet potatoes now are kiln dried, making them better "keepers." FRESH FRUITS — For economy, fruits "by-the-bag" are usually the best values. Consider apples, oranges and tangelos

Burlington profits up in first quarter

GREENSBORO — Burlington Industries, Inc., reported higher sales and higher net earnings for the first quarter of fiscal 1979 compared to the first quarter of fiscal 1978.

Net sales for the quarter ended Dec. 30, 1978 were $626,423,000 on which the company's consolidated net earnings were $18,675,000 or 67 cents per share. In the comparable period last year, Burlington reported net shares of $591,904,000 on which the company's consolidated net earnings were $14,458,000, or 51 cents per share. Translation of foreign currency items resulted in a charge of eight cents per share in the first quarter of fiscal 1979 completed compared to a charge of 15 cents per share in the same period last year.

Reviewing the company's performance, William A. Klopman, chairman and chief executive, stated, "First quarter operating earnings were essentially in line with our expectations. Net earnings, however, were affected by the problems surrounding the U.S. dollar. Dollar weakness, stemming from bad news about OPEC prices, inflation, and the Iranian crisis just prior to the end of the first quarter, will also cause translation charges to affect our results in the March quarter.

"Apparel fabric markets continued to reflect mixed demand. Textured wovens and uniform fabrics were under the most significant competitive pressure while lightweight spun wovens, knits, worsted fabrics, denim, and corduroy showed a firming trend.

"The home furnishings group reported good results in the aggregate as did Burlington's industrial group.

"Looking ahead, we must note that our results will depend in part on developments in the economy. While some economists are predicting a downturn, signs of a major slowdown, and its adverse effects, have yet to appear."

The Post DQ had 2,812 of the coupons redeemed during the month-long contest.

A group of Athenians were captured and held captive by the Romans. To help pass the time, the Athenians enacted several scenes from plays of Euripides. The Romans were so entranced by the beauty of the verses they held the Athenians as honored guests instead of treating them cruelly as was their custom. Upon their return to Greece, the Athenians rushed to Euripides, telling him of the power his plays had in their treatment while captured.

Farm Topics

SYD CONNER
Garza Extension Agent

SOIL TEST NOW
The most difficult part of soil testing is finding the time to take the samples. Now, while most crops are harvested, farmers should take soil samples so they can get a head start on the 1979 crop year.

"It's just as important for farmers to resample and test fields as it is for those who have never tested their soils at all."

Soils that were tested 5 or 10 years ago provided farmers with recommended fertilizer rates for optimum profit based on soil fertility levels of the individual fields at that time. "However, these test values may have increased or decreased so that old recommendations no longer fit field and crop conditions."

Farmers who use fertilizer successfully have their fields tested every two to five years. This allows for the detection of declines as well as excessive build-ups. If a field is used for intensive production, a soil test should be run more often. This recommendation also applies for fields with special problems.

Better soil management may have elevated soil fertility levels. If this is the case, a soil test will indicate the need for less fertilizer. If yields above those expected were obtained, an increase in fertilizer application may be needed.

Soil tests cost only a fraction of what is spent on fertilizer application. It's probably the best investment a producer will make. Money spent on the wrong fertilizer could result in less net profit for 1979.

Anyone interested in soil tests can obtain information sheets to accompany soil samples, instructions for sampling and mailing cartons at any County Extension office.

PRUNING TIME
Major pruning on shade trees should be done during the winter months while the trees are dormant. However, before you start whacking away at your favorite tree or shrub, make sure you have a justifiable reason for pruning.

There are a number of reasons for pruning. First and foremost is to maintain a strong framework for the future development of the tree. Other reasons are to reduce the size or to keep the tree within specific bounds and to remove dead, diseased or weak growth as well as broken limbs and rubbing branches. Another reason for pruning is to improve the size and quality

Lawyers get own insurance

AUSTIN — The State Bar of Texas is the third bar association in the nation to offer its membership professional liability insurance through a captive insurance company. Prior to the availability of the newly-formed program about one third or 9000 of the attorneys in the state purchased this type of insurance through a commercial carrier.

Texas Lawyers Insurance Exchange raised 1.5 million dollars in surplus through debentures sold to over 2500 Texas lawyers to create a non-profit captive insurance company. Texas Lawyers Insurance Exchange was established by the State Bar of Texas Insurance Trust to stabilize the rising cost of professional liability insurance.

To participate in the program Texas attorneys who have not purchased debentures will purchase a lifetime $400 membership in addition to annual premiums.

In 1975, to purchase a $100,000 professional liability insurance policy with $500 deductible, it cost a Texas attorney approximately $80 a year. In 1978, the cost of that same policy jumped dramatically to approximately $600 a year.

Unlike the 1975 policy, the 1978 policy came only with the $1000 deductible.

According to the American Bar Association, many other states are expected to form similar programs in the near future.

of flowers and fruit. A final reason is to balance the top growth with the root system at transplanting time.

Unless pruning can be justified for one of these reasons, it is better to place the shears and saw in the shed and obtain the desired exercise by spading the flowerbed.

Some of the general principles that will apply when pruning shade trees include the removal of all dead or diseased wood, broken limbs and weak growth. Also, long, unsightly branches should be shortened or removed as they offer too much resistance to the wind and are frequently subject to storm damage.

Never stub back limbs or branches. Rather, cut back to a main branch or trunk so that there will be no stubs remaining. The so-called stubbing back or topping large branches will result in a proliferation of sucker growth and will leave a wound that is impossible to heal.

Recent research indicates that the use of tree wound paint on wounds is not essential. Woody plants have the ability to wall off the wounded area and will heal over just as effectively without the dressing. However, there is no harm in using a wound paint.

Use a saw or chisel to smooth broken stubs and torn bark to promote healing.

While the homeowner can handle most pruning operations, it may be best to hire a professional arborist or tree surgeon if trees are large or need extensive work.

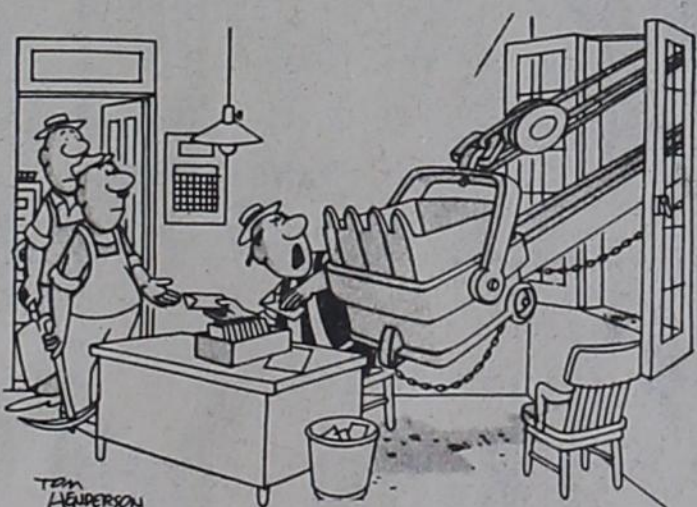

If the tree or shrub being pruned is diseased, it is important to dip pruning equipment in a disinfectant after each cut to kill disease organisms so as to prevent their spread to other portions of the tree or even to other trees. A 10 percent household bleach solution makes a satisfactory disinfectant. This can be prepared by mixing one part of bleach to nine parts of water.

Short bill would expell

AUSTIN — Senator E. L. Short, District 28, has introduced a measure in the Texas Senate which would call for the expulsion of certain foreign students from public institutions of higher education who are convicted of offenses under certain sections of the penal code or Texas education code.

Short's proposal states that the governing board of a public institution of higher education shall, following a conviction, expel from that institution any student who is a citizen of a country other than the United States attending the institution under a nonimmigrant visa issued by the immigration and naturalization service.

Short stated, "Expulsion of any foreign student from our institutions would result as a matter of course, following conviction of disorderly conduct, rioting, obstructing highways or other passage ways, disrupting a meeting or procession, desecration of a venerated object, or intentional and reckless destruction of property."

"I was quite disturbed by the recent disturbances of Iranian students in Beverly Hills, California and the alleged threat of armed demonstrators headed from Houston to Lubbock this past weekend," Short said. "These continuous threats to people and property by foreign students who are in our country to acquire an education can no longer be tolerated in our society," he continued.

Short's senate district includes Lubbock temporary home of the son of the displaced Iranian Shah, who is undergoing pilot training at Reese Air Force Base. Lubbock was the scene of recent demonstrations against the Shah.

Bill Crane's rites held

A large delegation of friends from Post attended funeral services in the First Christian Church of Odessa Tuesday for John W. (Bill) Crane, 34, former Postex department manager here.

Crane died of a heart attack Saturday at his home in Elberton, Ga. At the time of his death he was the plant superintendent of Burlington's Calhoun Falls plant.

Crane served here as department manager of three different Postex Plant departments at various times. He was manager of the Hall plant in Memphis, returned to Post, and was promoted to the Calhoun Falls plant two years ago.

While a Post resident he served as a deacon, elder and Sunday School superintendent of the First Christian Church here and was a member of the Post Lions Club.

He is survived by his wife, Lynda; three children, Larry, Lisa and Eric, all of the home; and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Crane of Odessa. He was a native of Odessa.

Burial was in an Odessa cemetery.

A memorial fund is being established for Crane's children by his many friends. Those wishing to make contributions to it should contact Jack Alexander at the bank.

Local theft 'planned'

Talk about a planned crime . . .

Ed Isaacs reported to the sheriff's office Jan. 17 somebody had stolen the car keys from his wife's 1973 Oldsmobile parked in the driveway at their local home.

The investigating deputy advised him to get the ignition changed.

Last Saturday night, the thieves came back with the keys — and stole the car.

Congressional Comment

By Rep. Charles Stenholm

WASHINGTON, D. C. — I come to Washington with feelings of optimism and appreciation — appreciation for the people who sent me here and optimism for the people whom I will work with in the 96th congress.

I am happy to be a part of the younger and increasingly more conservative leadership of this country. This leadership has been elected by constituencies that are frustrated by inflation, excessive regulation and high taxes.

The people of this land desire stability and a chance to live more productive and satisfying lives. Too often this has proven an illusion. Discontent has been so widespread that many writers have called this the era of the "tax revolt."

The 95th congress reacted to their cries — although with some reluctance. An airline deregulation bill was passed that sunset a whole government agency and will do much to increase competition and decrease air fares. Congress also passed a budget that had a deficit $20 billion lower than the

Tax reduction-

Mrs. Windham anticipates considerable public confusion over this and also over the possible additional $5,000 exemption for those 65 and over.

The school tax assessor points out that enabling legislation must be voted out of the legislature and signed by the governor before an additional homestead exemption for up to $5,000 more may be secured for the aged.

The amendment only authorized the legislature to grant an added homestead exemption to the aged on the school taxes if it saw fit to do so.

Latest word from Austin is that all such enabling legislation on the "tax cut" amendment is not expected to even come out of committee before March 1.

Mrs. Windham says she has a lot of questions to have answered officially herself in the application of the amendment. She said it is too early to estimate how much of a loss in taxes the $5,000 homestead exemption is going to mean to the Post Independent School District.

Two other possible tax cuts may come from the amendment: (1) taking up to two family cars off the school tax rolls, and (2) evaluating farm land for tax purposes on the basis of income it produces instead of on its market value.

The legislature in its enabling legislation may take the cars off the tax rolls constitutionally, but is not forced to do so.

That may or may not mean some more tax savings in 1979.

Taxing farm land on its production instead of market value is contained on the amendment, but it remains for the legislature to provide the formula for exactly how such new taxable valuations are to be determined.

The legislature also is considering using a sizable portion of the state's estimated surplus for 1979 to reimburse school districts for their tax losses through the homestead exemptions and other possible tax losses.

But that's no certainty until the voting buttons are finally pressed in both houses.

It looks like 1979 is going to be a hectic tax year for not only school district taxpayers but for the school districts as well.

Anyway, Mrs. Windham is taking the first step this week in mailing out notices on the new homestead exemptions and affidavit forms to be filled out and returned.

Rental property of course does not qualify for such exemptions.

In a public notice, also in today's Dispatch, Mrs. Windham officially announces the steps for taxpayers to take who qualify for the new homestead exemptions.

This is one public notice sure to attract close reader scrutiny.

administration had predicted.

Certainly these pieces of legislation are important in analyzing the direction of congress, but more significant is what the 95th Congress did not pass; regulatory nightmares such as hospital cost containment, the Consumer Protection Agency, the Labor Reform Act, and Cargo Preference never received final approval. Several fiscally extravagant measures such as counter-cyclical funds, welfare reform, and national health insurance also did not pass.

Our job will be to continue this trend.

Government regulation can be averted by sunseting such agencies as OSHA, the Consumer Products Safety Commission, and the Department of Energy; together with limiting the authority of the IRS, EPA, and FTC, among others, to interfere uneconomically in people's lives and businesses.

Federal spending can, and must, be reduced in many places. We also need to furnish better services in areas that only the government can provide — services such as defense, construction of highways and public works can be more cost effective.

While serving in this body my goals will be to reduce government spending and regulation; work toward a sound agricultural policy that will provide a reasonable return on investment for our farmers; and take the government out of the energy industry allowing market forces to guarantee a supply and price we can afford.

Hopefully, with your help, we can accomplish these goals. Now is not a time for the paternalism of Big Government but the rugged individualism of private initiative. Our foremost goal should be to insure that each person is allowed to reap the benefits of his labor without the government constantly standing in the way.

Bank drive-in-

The expanded drive in facilities were installed to give customers who prefer to stay in their cars faster banking services.

The City of Post has purchased the bank's old drive in window and it is being installed this week — during some of the coldest weather of the winter — on the driveway on the west side of city hall. Water customers will then be able to pay water bills without city employees having to open a window to grab their checks.

Five wrecks in five hours

State Highway Patrolman Louis Cardinal worked five wrecks in five hours Monday morning before the slickest ice of the winter season was melted off US-84 and US-380 by a warming sun.

Despite several overturned cars, only two people were injured neither serious enough for hospitalization.

They were two of a party of six from Laredo who were riding in an old pickup with camper which overturned about 6:30 a. m., three and one-half miles northwest of Post on US-84.

Injured were two of the persons riding in the camper. According to Cardinal when the pickup rolled after skidding on the ice, a washing machine being carried in the camper landed on top the injured pair.

Ronald K. Webb of Post was uninjured when his car rolled over two miles northwest on US-84 at 7:55 a. m., and Gregory Brent Taylor of Lubbock also was uninjured when his pickup slid and rolled over at 10 a. m. five miles northwest on US-84.

There wasn't enough damage in the other accidents, Cardinal said, to require a report ($250 damage or more.)

School board meets Tuesday

School trustees at their February meeting at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday will consider contract extensions for Principals Dan Rankin of the high school and Lee Davis Jr., of junior high.

No recommendation will be made at this time to fill the elementary school principalship caused by the resignation of Jack Alexander to become an officer of the First National Bank.

The resignation is effective Tuesday. Billy Hahn will fill the vacancy at present.

Also on the trustees' agenda is consideration of the Pritchard and Abbott contract for the next two years, a progress report on the junior high project from Joe Hall, and authorizing an order for the spring election of school board members in April.
