After 50 years as Post's gift to country music---

Floyd Tillman is still pickin' away

Floyd Tillman, Post's contribution to country music, is still "pickin' and grinnin' in Granite Shoals these days after 50 busy years in the music business. He gained national fame for the country songs he composed and which were sung by some of the nation's greatest singers. The best story of his life The Dispatch has seen was published April 12 in the Marble Falls, Tex., Highlander.

It found its way into Dispatch hands from Roy Brown of Post, who used to "run around" with Tillman when he first learned to pick his guitar in Post.

Here is the story as written by Betty MacNabb: There are folks who will tell you that the plink of a guitar or the whine of a tight-strung fiddle—and just possibly the deep-throated whistle and clackety-clack of an old steam locomotive—are the only sounds outside nature that find an answering chord in every lonesome human soul.

They say that, like wailing wind down a box canyon or booming waves on an empty shore, country music goes straight to the heart and plucks out emotions as new and raw as a spring onion or old and dark as original sin.

Is there anybody anywhere, past the age of 12, who hasn't been despairing enough at some time to think "It makes no difference now what kind of life fate hands me..." or words to that effect?

Or, close to a sweetheart or a child, swallowed a lump in the throat and thought, "I love you so much, it hurts me..."?

The man who first sang those thoughts aloud and inspired a whole generation of musicians like Willie Nelson and Kris Kristofferson to sing their hopes and hurts to the world is pickin' and grinnin' in Granite Shoals these days.

Pickin' because he can't help it—after 50 years in the music business, that guitar seems to have just "grewed" to his hand like the Stetson that restrains a mop of graying ginger hair. And grinnin' because the plaudits and the honors like the Country Music Hall of Fame keep following him here to his Hill Country retreat.

Floyd Tillman was the baby in a brood of 11 when his family came pushing across the Red River from Oklahoma in 1915, cradled among the household goods in two old wagons drawn by a milk cow.

His father, Frank, was a carpenter who had heard that Post Toasties cereal king C. W. Post was building a cotton mill and a town in that pucker country between Lubbock and Sweetwater, where wild and lonely canyons swept up toward the Cap Rock. Frank wanted, and got, one of those boomtown jobs, helping to build the mill.

Good carpenters were in demand everywhere in Texas in those booming pre-World War I days; and while Floyd was still a toddler, the Tillmans moved on to Houston, where Frank helped build wooden Liberty Ships for a couple of years. Then with the war over in 1918, they headed back to Post and the rural environment more to their liking.

Floyd Tillman grew up in a busy, noisy household in Post, working, like his brothers and sisters, from the age of 10 or 12, shining (See Times change, Page 6)

KERRI POOL
Scholarship Winner

$1,000 award to Kerri Pool

Kerri Pool, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.G. Pool Jr., has been awarded a $1,000 scholarship by the National Honor Society and the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

Only 225 graduating seniors from 20,000 schools across the United States are being awarded this honor this spring.

Kerri, who has been active in the Post High School National Honor Society for the past three years, was notified of her selection this week.

Kerri has maintained an average of 95.96 for her high school years and has held various offices and positions of leadership in school including FHA, Student Council, Drama Club, and UIL activities.

She has also been twirler and cheerleader as well as an outstanding member of the basketball and tennis teams. She is also active in church activities at the First Baptist Church and is presently employed as a student aide in the elementary PE program through HECE.

In addition to her achievements, Kerri was judged on a short essay on the designated topic "Why Americans Don't Vote."

Kerri plans to use the scholarship to attend Baylor University.

Absentee voting through Tuesday

Absentee voting for the school trustee runoff election May 5 began Monday and will continue through Tuesday, May 1 in the office of the school superintendent.

Only race still up for decision is position 2 on the board of trustees in which Mrs. Juanella Hays opposes Mrs. Wanda Mitchell, incumbent.

Southland girl to represent Garza

Katrina Chaffin of Southland will be among those honored for outstanding contributions to the Texas soil and water conservation program at a Region I Awards Banquet on May 1. The banquet will be held at 7 p.m. in Lubbock at Texas Tech's University Center Ballroom.

Katrina represents the Garza Soil and Water Conservation District which

17 arrested at party

A private party for Spanish in the Post Community Center Saturday night was reportedly closed early by the party sponsor after 17 participants were arrested for a variety of charges, ranging from drunkenness and disorderly conduct to driving while intoxicated, and spent the rest of the night in jail.

Leslie Looney, 18, high school senior, pleaded guilty in county court Tuesday to a charge of destroying public property in knocking two holes in the center's interior wall.

Judge Giles Dalby fined him $25, ordered him to pay $55 court costs, make restitution of $119.50 for damage he caused the center, and sentenced him to 90 days in jail.

He was ordered to serve 10 days of the jail sentence, beginning May 28, the day after graduation, and was given a one year probation on the remaining 80 days of the jail sentence.

Sheriff Jim Pippin told The Dispatch that sheriff deputies were called to the center for the first time about 10:30 p.m. to break up a fight and that eventually he was called out himself as officers had to return to make other arrests.

POSTINGS

When the city and the county had a joint meeting recently County Judge Giles Dalby, who is also the juvenile judge, said he'd like to discuss "our juvenile problem."

A lot of other things came up that night and the subject never got back to "our juvenile problem."

In view of the tough fine and sentence handed out by Judge Dalby in county court this week, we called up the judge and asked him to give us his viewpoint. We certainly think it is worthy of public consideration.

"I'm concerned," Judge Dalby said, "because the growing number of juveniles (anybody under their 17th birthday is defined by law as a juvenile) brought before me. I have about eight times as many juvenile cases now as I used to have."

"I think maybe I've been too lax in not making sentences severe enough. I'll take my share of the blame for the juvenile problem in that the court has not been an effective deterrent, although my sentences were comparable to other juvenile courts."

"I'm going to get tougher. I'm changing that. If the court can be a juvenile deterrent mine is going to be. The biggest problem is with the kid who is 16 years and 9 months old. In another three months he is going to be treated as an adult in open court, and no more will his records be closed by law to public view."

The Dispatch has tried to follow through on cases, but maybe we are a bit to blame too. We kept asking about the slashed tire case of last February 28 for weeks and action seemed to have stalled. And we forgot to keep checking.

So we checked back this week after talking to Judge Dalby. If the reader will remember three juveniles and one 17 year old youth were involved in slashing tires for a total damage of something over $2,000.

District Judge George Hansard heard the case of the juveniles here April 9, as Judge Dalby stepped aside and found the trio to be "delinquent children", ordered them to pay restitution and put them on probation. Two have made restitution in the amount of $505.53 each and the third was ordered to pay his monthly. There is talk that one may appeal the decision to the state civil appeals court in Amarillo, but it hasn't been done as yet.

The fourth youth involved is Daniel Morrow, who is 17. He was charged in Justice of the Peace Pat Kitchen's (See Postings, Page 12)

Pink ladies to organize

There will be a meeting in an effort to form a Pink Ladies group for Garza Memorial Hospital. It will be held in the Post Community Center at 6 p.m. Thursday, April 26.

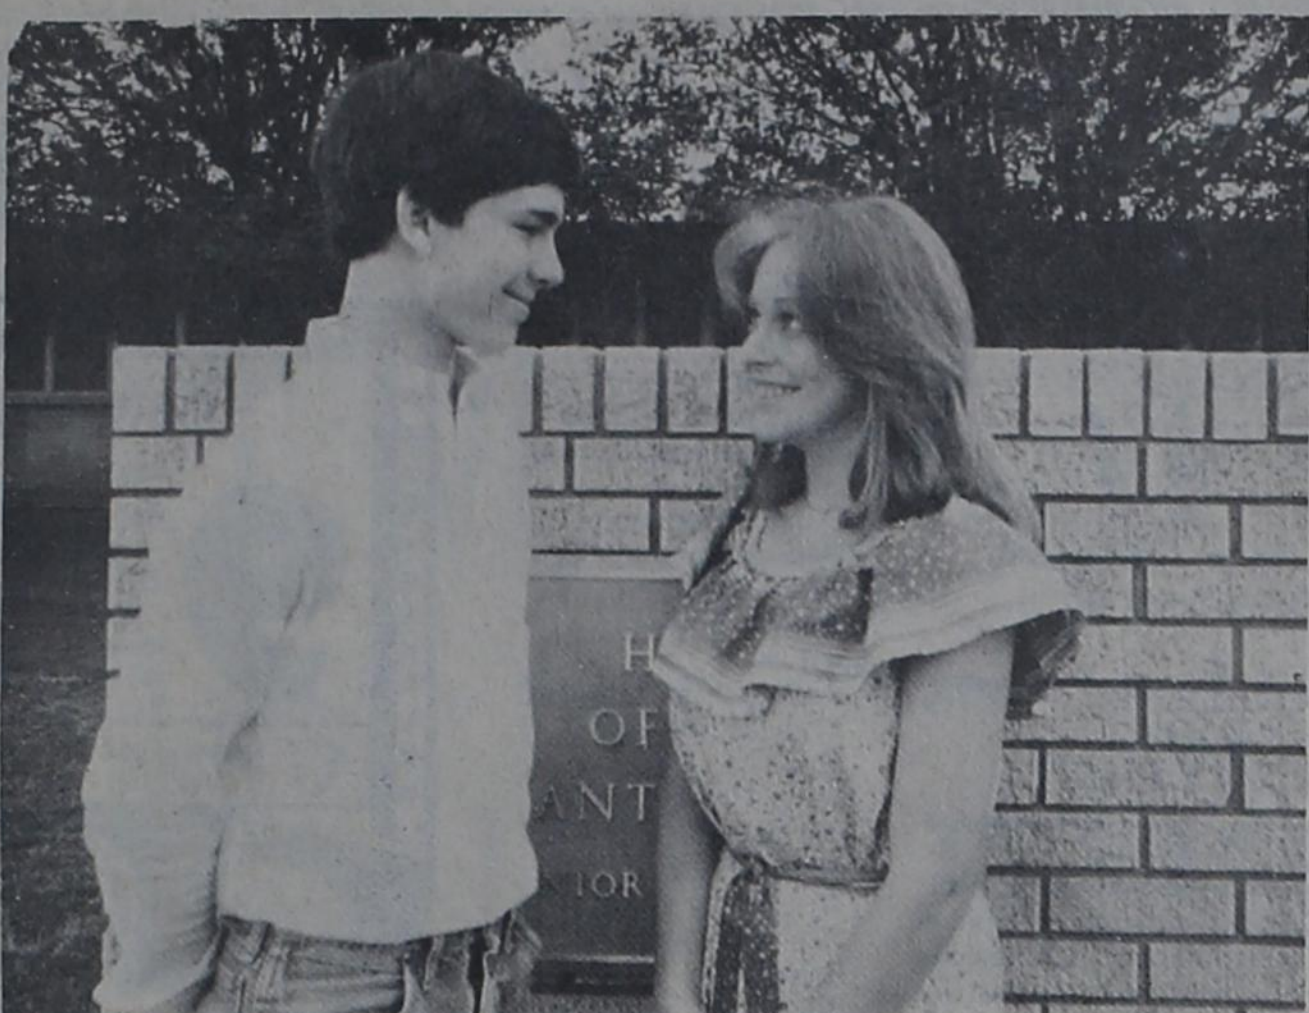

There will be two Pink Ladies from Methodist Hospital in Lubbock to discuss the organization and help organize it.

All interested ladies in Post are welcome to attend this meeting. Further information may be obtained by calling Ed Zintgraff or Lottie Sanders at Garza Memorial Hospital, 495-2828.

Monday last day for exemption

Post school tax assessor-collector Billie Windham reminds school district residents that Monday is the last day to sign up for the school's new homestead residential exemption which will become effective on 1979 taxes.

Mrs. Windham mailed all property owners on school tax rolls notice and necessary forms to sign some weeks ago.

Heat loss photos of Post due soon

Sylvester Canto, comprehensive planning assistant for SPAG at Lubbock, showed Post Rotarians slides of a SPAG project in which homes in all 15 SPAG counties were filmed at night from the air recently by infra-red camera to determine heat loss.

Giles McCrary, who introduced Canto, said maps of post made from the aerial photographs will be available within three to five weeks, so local property owners can determine if their homes are suffering excessive heat loss and need insulation.

Canto and McCrary took turns explaining how to read the aerial photographs. The project was financed by federal HUD funds.

A delegation of seven from the headquarters of Burlington Industries were club guests at the luncheon in the community center and were introduced by Postex Plant Manager Don Smith.

Senior Advocate Catherine Cathcart asked the club to nominate a senior citizen 65 or over for Garza Senior Citizen of the year honors.

5-year-old signup May 4

Parents that have children who will be five years old before or on Sept. 1, and who have never been to school, are requested to bring them to the Post Primary School at 3 p.m. Friday, May 4, to get acquainted and register them for school next fall.

Acting principal Billy Hahn requests that the children should be brought to the east front doors of the primary building where they will be met by their teachers.

Parents will go to the auditorium to meet with Mr. Hahn and register their children for school.

Hahn advises parents: "You will need your child's shot record and a copy of his or her birth certificate before the child enters school."

Kindergarten and first grade will be dismissed at 2 p.m. that day in order for their teachers to get ready for the new students.

Man beaten and robbed of $600

George R. Kersh, a white man from Washington state, was beaten and robbed of around $600 in cash in a motel room here last Thursday night.

Sheriff Jim Pippin said after investigation of the incident warrants charging aggravated assault and robbery were issued for Josh Dubose, 26, of near Austin, and Gazzie Lee Curtis, 21, of Post, both blacks.

Dubose hasn't as yet been arrested but the young woman turned herself in to the sheriff's department

Saturday and was released on a $5,000 surety bond.

Sheriff Pippin said that Kersh was in the High Hat Cafe here and asked for help in getting a motel room here for the night.

He said two volunteered to get him a room and when they got him inside the motel room, the man knocked him down and beat him up and his roll of around $600 was taken.

The sheriff said Dubose also is wanted in Austin for the serving of an armed robbery warrant there.

Garza stays in CETA program

It's annual application time to form a manpower consortium for SETA funds and Garza County, after two years of benefitting, is applying for the third year.

Action to make the application has been taken by the Garza County Commissioners Courts.

Director of the County Affairs Division J.R. Johnson told The Dispatch Tuesday that Garza has received "from $30,000 to $40,000 more a year" in additional federal funds by going the consortium route with the City of Lubbock, Lubbock County and Hale County.

By forming a consortium representing 100,000 or more people, federal funds come directly from the Department of Labor without passing through a state agency and SPAG. This means more direct money because the state does not take some out for supervision and handling.

Although Lubbock County still had to make up its mind Tuesday whether to join the consortium application, Johnson said other applicants already have assured that the federal population requirements will be met.

Booster Club President, Jimmy Redman, introduced Rex "Who" to the approximately 300 athletes, dates, parents and supporters who attended the All-Sports Banquet Monday night in the community center.

Dockery, head coach for Texas Tech University, emphasized four points in his talk to graduating seniors to help make a success out of life. The four were, be a positive rather than a negative, make the most of your abilities, be willing to pay the price, and each one is going to meet success and failure, but remember neither is final.

Following the welcome by Redman, introduction of coaches and wives was given by Coach Jackie Brown. Each coach then introduced players of his or her teams.

Coach Jerry Reynolds introduced the JV and varsity basketball squads, (See All Sports, Page 12)

Tuesday is 'loyalty Day'

Mayor Giles McCrary has issued a proclamation next Tuesday, May 1, as Loyalty Day in Post.

In the proclamation, Mayor McCrary points out that Loyalty Day is celebrated annually throughout the nation as an incentive for every true American to reaffirm publicly his or her love of flag and country.

"I do urge that all individuals, schools, churches, organizations, business establishments and homes within my official jurisdiction display proud the Falg of the United States of America," Mayor McCrary said, "and do participate in patriotic Loyalty Day activities which are being co-sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and others on May 1."

Behind those bars

One of the worst overall problems of Texas government is that more often than not, the public is unaware of the state's major problems. Overcrowded Texas prisons are a prime example.

It costs $7 daily per inmate to keep more than 25,000 incarcerated behind bars in Texas penal institutions designed for a maximum of 19,000. And that's not counting the construction costs facilities.

The Texas Legislature in the current session is expected to vote something like $300 million to operate the Texas Department of Corrections for the coming biennium, including about $88 million to start construction of a new prison, finish another under construction, and expand the ones it has.

Texas prisoners are doubled up in cells, sleep wall-to-wall on cots in the dormitories, and a final thousand sleep on mattresses on the floor. There's no question something needs to be done.

Not only are Texas prisons overcrowded today, but projections show that by 1986 the state prison population will increase 60 percent — in six years — to 40,366.

The national prison population in the last six years has jumped 50 percent to a total of about 300,000. The growth appears to have already peaked nationally, but there is no end in sight for Texas.

Texas today incarcerates its residents at a rate 47 percent greater than that of the nation as a whole.

The Texas Department of Corrections now has 15 large, rural, maximum-security prisons. It now proposes to build another despite the fact that every set of correctional recommendations drawn up by professional groups, government agencies and presidential commissions in the past 15 years has called for the abandonment of this kind of "rural warehousing" of prisoners and urges no new prisons be built with a capacity of over 500, as compared with the 2,000 sized new rural prison the TDC proposes.

The TDC has constantly refused to enlarge its token work release program — totaling only between 40 and 50 men, no women — although the legislature in 1969 and again in 1977 passed bills encouraging development of such a program.

The Harris County Rehabilitation Center is for sale and could be purchased for a fraction of the cost of a new prison farm (12 million as against 83.5 million). It could house about 1,200 men and be used to establish a real work release program in which carefully selected prisoners would live at the center and work at real jobs in the city for real wages, out of which they would pay for their upkeep, contribute to their dependents' support, and pay restitution to victims of their crimes.

This makes a lot more sense to The Dispatch, but not to the TDC.

Most Texans think that the state needs tough criminal laws and that it needs to put the state's criminals "away" although we certainly know that imprisonment fails to reduce crime and instead has a tendency to breed more of the same.

It costs only 60 cents a day per prisoner to establish a much bigger and better probation program, as compared to 17 a day per prisoners to keep him or her behind bars.

The state's huge appropriation bill should be passed by the house this week, and TDC has won all the money skirmishes on the funding it wants and doesn't want, including $42 million intact to begin construction of its new prison farm and a defeat for those who would have purchased the Harris County Rehabilitation Center for $12 million.

Here in Garza County, with federal "seed funding" we have established a workable probation system and we are being made to "toe the line" to meet visionary new jail standards which certainly benefit the short-time incarceration of many of our citizens in our county jail.

This newspaper wonders why The Texas Department of Corrections is so all-politically powerful that it simply refuses to try to just update about the largest prison system in the nation to the needs of today's modern society.

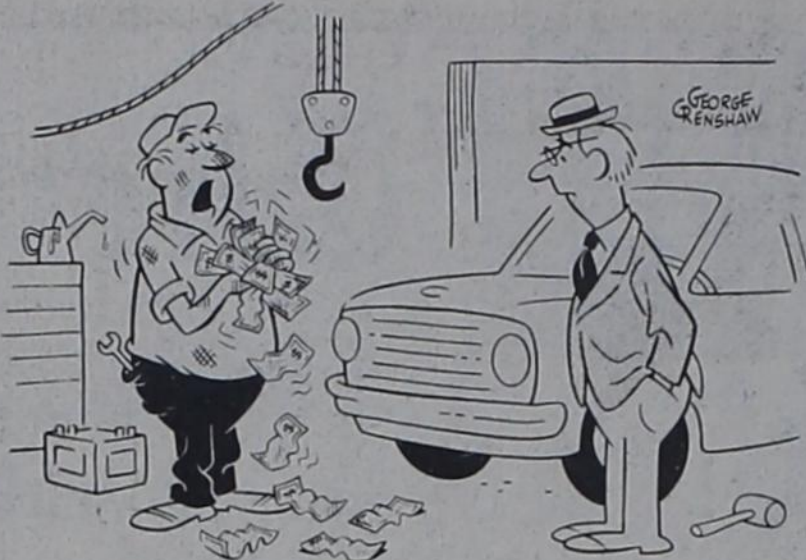

What we'd like to see is an in depth study of the Texas prison system by a qualified public commission to evaluate what we've got and where it should be going.

THANK YOU

To those who vote for me in the recent school board election. I can honestly say we tried and the pleasure of meeting so many nice people really made my efforts worthwhile. A special thanks to Homer Gordon and my parents, J. W. and Bessie Strawn for their financial help in paying for my advertising expenses.

Heavy responsibility lies on the shoulders of our school board members. In the runoff election on May 5, cast your vote for the candidate you feel best able to carry out the duties of this office.

A special thanks to the staff of Garza Memorial Hospital, Dr. Wilson, Dr. Rodriguez and Brother Morgan Ashworth of Calvary Baptist church and all who visited while I was in the hospital and called. May God bless each of you.

I would like to thank everyone for the flowers, visits, cards, prayers, and thoughts during my recent stay in Garza Memorial Hospital. A special thanks to Dr. Wilson and the nurses.
 Bonnie Taylor

We wish to thank our friends, neighbors, and relatives for their concern and prayers while Ray was in the hospital and since he has been home, also the visits and cards. To Dr. Wilson, a special thank you for caring so much. May God bless each of you.
 Ray & Deane Norman

We feel so indebted to our friends and hope to be able to repay each of you, but not for the same reasons, during our stay in the hospital both in Post and Lubbock. We especially want to thank Dr. Wilson and the nurses in Post, whom we know and call by their first names.

We got the same personal treatment at the West Texas Hospital but by strangers. The walls seemed to echo "we want to help you get well." We were particularly grateful for the phone calls, flowers, and visits from Post while we were in Lubbock.

Then when we came home people brought in food, visited and ran errands for us and in so many ways showed their concern. We were reminded of a little boy looking at his many gifts after a tonsillectomy, "it shore did hurt, but I guess it was worth it."

We hadn't realized we have so many friends. To each of you a hearty "Thank you."
 Sincerely,
 Chas. and Bibb Benson

Public Notices

PUBLIC NOTICE PROPOSED RENEWAL OF TEXAS WATER COMMISSION PERMIT NO. 01466

Burlington Industries, Incorporated has applied to the Texas Water Commission for renewal of its permit, which authorizes a discharge of treated industrial wastewater effluent, at a volume not to exceed 2,000,000 gallons per day maximum, from its textile manufacturing plant located approximately one mile south-southeast of the City of Post in Garza County, Texas. The treated industrial wastewater effluent is discharged to Sand Creek; thence into the North Fork of the Double Mountain Fork Brazos River; thence, into the Double Mountain Fork Brazos River, Segment No. 1241 in the Brazos River Basin.

RENEWAL AUTHORITY: Rule 156.25.20.001-004 of the Texas Department of Water Resources.

The permit, if renewed by the Commission, will specify conditions and limitations generally the same as those currently enforced by the existing permit. The expiration date of the existing permit is July 23, 1979. It is proposed that the expiration date be specified as midnight, March 31, 1981.

No public hearing shall be held on this application for renewal unless a person who has received notice of the proposed renewal has requested a public hearing in writing. A person requesting a public hearing should set out the factual basis of his belief that such renewal should not be granted by the Commission.

If no sufficient request for hearing is received within 30 days of the date of this notice, the permit will be submitted to the Commission for approval of the renewal.

Further information concerning any aspect of the renewal request may be obtained by writing Larry R. Soward, Assistant Chief Hearings Examiner, Texas Water Commission, PO Box 13087, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711. Telephone (512) 475-1311.

Issued this 5th day of April, 1979.

Library Corner

by RUTH B. YOUNG

I'm wondering if it is necessary to list each book put on the library shelves. Most of us are not attracted to statistics, but let it suffice to say we have all of the books on the best seller list.

There is one book of interest to some that is not on any list but was given to the library by Mrs. James Minor. A book entitled "American Soldier", was a gift to the late James Minor, and is a biography of the late World War II veteran, Audie Murphy, who is known as the most decorated of American soldiers. He won every medal of honor given by our government, three from France and one from Belgium.

Every month the library receives several films which are entirely free to the library and to you, as we are a member of the West Texas Film Circuit. As such we can get films on loan so if you will let us know a few days ahead of time, we can have the film you want. We have the screen and projector to loan with the film, everything you will need for an evenings entertainment.

It has been suggested if we can get someone to be responsible for the property, that pictures of interest can be shown at Twin Cedars Rest Home and the Algerita. This has already been done by busy people. All we need is someone to volunteer to be called on when the need arrives.

Don't forget May 8th, when Mrs. Lillian Potts will give a demonstration and lesson on the spinning wheel. It has been predicted the spinning wheel will be the next novelty craft for the weaker sex.

Club going to Crosbyton

The annual Green Thumb Garden Club Pilgrimage has been set for April 28, it was decided during a recent meeting in the bank community room.

The pilgrimage will be to visit the Crosbyton Museum and the newly built solar house in the canyon.

The program, "Perennials" was presented by Mrs. Ida Jones.

Hostess Billie Windham served refreshments to Mrs. Alma Williams, Marjorie Compton, Ida Jones, Gladys Hendrix, Sybil Cockrum, Gladys Blair, Jewel Taylor, Iva Hudman, Roberta Heron, Martha McLendon, Faye Mathis and hostess.

The next meeting will be an installation of new officers May 10 in the home of Mrs. Iva Hudman with Mrs. Gladys Hendrix as co-hostess.

Gift of Life drive will start Sunday

Pat Heidelberg today announced that the Gift of Life Campaign will be held April 29 through May 13 to distribute educational material and organ donor information and receive contributions for the Kidney Foundation of the Texas Panhandle.

Mrs. Heidelberg said 14 million Americans suffer from kidney disease and 54,000 people die each year from kidney and kidney related diseases despite major advances in medical science. At present, over 200 persons have kidney failure and must sustain life by the use of a kidney machine in West Texas.

Much can be done to treat kidney patients through drugs, diet, therapy and the artificial kidney machine, but the hope of life for thousands is a chance for a transplant of a healthy kidney.

Over 4,000 people in Texas need a transplant, but only one out of ten dialysis patients have a related donor. With the many advances science has made in blood testing, tissue typing and organ preservation, kidneys can be successfully transplanted from non-related donors or a cadaver donor. The organ donor program is a top priority of the Kidney Foundation because it is estimated that if just 10 percent of all Americans would make arrangements to donate their kidneys, there would be enough to meet the patient needs.

The Kidney Foundation of the Texas Panhandle is an Affiliate of the National Kidney Foundation. The Foundation is a voluntary health agency and services all cities from Lubbock to the top of the Panhandle of Texas.

Another priority of the Kidney Foundation is patient services. Some of the services offered include information and referral services, help with insurance and Social Security claims, medical alert jewelry, Bloodplan Insurance, emergency transportation, transportation to transplant center, patient packets, emergency financial assistance, patient visitation teams and a lending library.

Mrs. Heidelberg said she feels this campaign deserves the attention and support of every concerned citizen and asks that anyone interested in volunteering to help make this event successful to contact her, or the Kidney Foundation at 355-8913, 2710 Civic Circle, Amarillo, Texas 79109.

Two of his older brothers made music with a guitar and a mandolin, playing at school or church or home when the days work was done. Floyd was soon pickin' along with them and making up new music in his head. By the time he was 15, he was playing behind a fiddler for country dances.

But by then, the times had changed; prosperity had gone and the Depression was just around the corner. When Floyd turned 13 and as soon as he finished sixth grade, he had to quit school for a fulltime job as Western Union messenger boy, at $1 a day. He stayed with the telegraphy company for 3 1/2 years, even learned Morse code and was preparing to be a telegrapher, but about that time the Depression bottom fell out. His $30-a-month wage was cut to $20.

He was 17 years old, supporting himself, contributing to the family support, and he needed more money than that to live. So he picked up his guitar and headed for Houston, where job prospects turned out to be even worse. He hopped a freight train for the 800 miles back home.

The NRA (National Recovery Act) and other initiated government work programs such as CCC (Civilian Conservation Corps) were Floyd Tillman's salvation, as they were for so many young men in the early 1930s. He first got a job near Post $12 a week; then he found a cotton mill job and played music for dances for food and tips. He saved up $20 a week and paid it down on a secondhand A-Model Ford, then headed for San Antonio and the dance halls.

"There were no restrictions to keep teenagers away from alcohol in those days, and when I walked by a little beer joint there in San Antonio and heard some music I liked, I walked in," he remembers.

"There was Adolf Hohner's three-piece band. In those days, bands always played behind a fiddle; but I had heard a jazz trumpet on the radio and worked out a guitar lead, and I asked 'em to let me sit in and play it. Nobody had ever heard of a lead guitar before, but they agreed to try it, and it knocked 'em out," Floyd says, grinning.

The joint's owner, Toby Stultz, said he couldn't afford a fourth musician at $1 a night, so the other three musicians agreed to ante up 25 cents each to bring in the new lead. The whole band wound up playing for 75 cents each a night.

Times got even harder, and in a few weeks the beer joint owner had to let the band go. And once again Floyd Tillman headed back to Post. As things began to ease up, he found a job across the line in New Mexico where an oil boomlet had started, but then he fell ill, entered a hospital and that job disappeared, too.

After he recovered, he headed the A-Model toward Houston again — and this third foray was the one that turned his luck around. Not all at once, but steadily, as though the fates realized it was overdue.

He found a spot at the old Brass Rail where a fiddle and guitar were playing "hillbilly" music. Leon Self and Chuck Keeshan welcomed his new guitar style, and soon he was playing 12 hours a day with them.

"I'd go down about noon, when the lunch crowd came in. We got our food and beer free, and played for the tips," Floyd reminisces. He also got exposure and recognition from a growing audience. Once or twice a week, the band played for free on a local radio station to advertise their availability for outside performances.

Other musicians came to hear the sound at the Brass Rail and remained to play and sin, comers like Moon Mullican and Red Daffin (who broke loose some years later with a classic called "Born to Lose." The Brass Rail band asked Daffin to play with them for the sole — and crass — reason that he owned both a car and a sound system).

Floyd was still writing songs and sometimes he got to play and sing them on the radio. One day he got a phone call; the bandleader whose big band played nightly at the Aragon Ballroom on the corner of Rusk and Fannin had heard his radio performance and liked it. Would he like to play in a big band?

You bet, said Floyd, and for two years he was one of the musicians and featured singers at the old Aragon (which burned to the ground a few years later.)

The band had two girl singers and "whatever they didn't want, they gave to me," Floyd recalls. Bing Crosby, became his idol; and soon he, too, was crooning "Me and the Moon", "Sailboat Full of Dreams" and "Pennies from Heaven."

But big bands didn't play country music, the music from the heart — and Floyd, who'd fallen in love a time or two and been jealous, and occasionally been stood up or rejected, was getting more and more frustrated because he couldn't sing what he felt. His mood was pretty much reflected in one song he'd written — "It Makes No Difference Now."

So when he got an offer from a country band (Cliff Bruner & The Texas Wonders) that was making pretty good money, he jumped at it — just so he could sing that song. The year was 1937 and maybe the whole country was feeling that way — because "Makes No Difference Now" hit the Houston music scene like a Texas tornado.

He recorded it in 1938; and Continued on following page

Sold copyright for $300—

(Continued From Page 6) then a young Louisiana politician named Jimmie Davis heard it and came to Houston to offer Floyd $300 for the 28-year-copyright. Floyd sold it and then sat back and watched in astonishment while his hit "went crazy" and Jimmie Davis got elected governor of Louisiana.

Bing Crosby recorded "Makes No Difference" and on the back "San Antonio Rose." It was the first crossover country hit, and soared to the top of the Billboard charts.

After that, despite the fact that he was getting only half a cent a record in royalties from his smash hit, life got a whole lot sweeter. A lot of people wanted to record Tillman's songs — and a lot more wanted to listen to them.

There was just one snag World War II. He went into the Army Air Corps and served three and one-half years, but even there he had to write songs. He was on a furlough when he jotted down "Each Night at Nine" — and was startled and angry when Tokyo Rose and Axis Sally started using it as propaganda to remind American troops how far they were from home and loved ones. Later, though, a lot of lonely GIs thanked him for that reminder of home.

In 1945 he got out and started his own band and wanted to record a number called "I Love You So Much, It Hurts Me" — one he had written before the war. (He swears it was an ode to a '37 Chevrolet; wife Frances shakes her head in utter disbelief.)

"And guess what — my agent turned it down because it was too pop! From too country to too pop in five years! Floyd shakes his head in disbelief. So he held on to "I Love You So Much" until 1948 — and then put it on the tail end of a recording session to fill up some empty grooves.

Connie Boswell heard it and swung it to the top of the Hit Parade; and then Vic Damone and Ray Charles had a go at it, and then Andy Williams and the Mills Brothers and Tennessee Ernie Ford; and finally George Jones and Marie Osmond and Mickey Gilley all took a crack at it. "I Love You So Much, It Hurts Me" is now 30 years old, and it's still selling 750,000 records a year in one version or another.

He wrote "Slippin' Around" and had it censored by a prissy record maker who said listeners would never go for a song about unfaithful marital partners. He wrote "I Gotta Have My Baby Back" and "It Had To Be That Way" and a number of others that could be interpreted as reflections of his emotional ups and downs during that period (but he never discusses his previous marital or extramarital history, except to say that he has two fine sons, Larry and Donny Tillman of Houston.)

By 1950 Floyd Tillman was sitting on top of the world. He had one of the Big Three country bands, and only Eddy Arnold and Hank Williams were getting more than the $500 he received nightly. He had guests on the Grand Old Opry (which, strangely enough, he says he never heard back in Post) and ABC's Ozard Jubilee, was a headliner whenever he chose to appear at the Texas Prison Rodeo or anywhere else.

That's when he decided there was more to life than working every night of it, so he disbanded his group and told the IRS he was quitting the fulltime grind. "I was making more than $50,000 a year back then when a dollar was still money, and Uncle Sam was demanding more than half, and it just didn't seem right," he says today.

He married Frances Woods of Houston in 1962, and they continued to live in Houston and the Bay area for a number of years. Floyd played and sang with other people's bands whenever he chose to; went to Corpus Christi every week or so, at one time was making the trek to Dessau Hall in Austin once a week. Mostly, he wrote and played for his own amusement and discovered he liked to fool around with boats, while Frances fishes. So they picked up stakes and headed for the Highland Lakes.

"We love it here on Lake LBJ, fishing and boating and gardening. Floyd has his music room, all fitted up with a mike and recording equipment and he can play and write all he wants — but we do enjoy going to Austin and Houston and the Bay area, back to the bright lights, every now and then," says Frances.

Floyd is a great favorite of Willie Nelson and Darrel Royal, attends all the picnics (or did) and plays for Willie's charity sessions such as Symphony Square, and at Darrell's Invitational Golf Tournaments. He has appeared a number of times on KLRN's public television entertainment and conversation series and on several interview shows.

And he's waiting for the Census work begins soon

Workers for the U.S. Census Bureau will begin compiling house-by-house address lists within the next few days in Garza County.

"The purpose of the address listing program is to compile a complete list of households in the county for use next year when the 1980 census questionnaire will be mailed to each residence," said Ms. Kelly Epperson, census office manager in Dallas, Texas.

Census workers will be walking or driving on streets and roads in the county to prepare the address lists. They will be knocking on doors and asking householders for a correct mailing address.

Ms. Epperson said residents can identify the census employees by a red, white, and blue census identification card which all will carry. Census workers also will carry 11" by 16" books, or addresses registers, in which the addresses are written.

These address lists will play a vital role in the nationwide 1980 census. They will be used to produce mailing labels for the census questionnaires. Census Day is April 1, 1980.

right time to come to present a different kind of music he's written, a beautiful long classical elegiac called "I Am Music" — a piece that sums up his half-century of contribution in the field of country, or heart music.

Senior play to be May 4

The Post High School senior play "West of Pecos" will be presented next Friday, May 4, in the primary auditorium beginning at 8 p.m.

Eight boys and 12 girls comprise the cast of this three-act comedy.

Jay Lott plays Orin, a young cowboy; Beth Elliott, Zeralda, his sweetheart; Dana Babb plays the part of Mrs. Powers, Orin's mother; Debbie Tyler, Mrs. Oates, Zeralda's mother; Cindy Terry, Mrs. Hayes, a neighbor; Kerri Pool, Snow Feather, an Indian maiden; Danny Gunn, Ranger, the judge's deputy; Nita Jo Gunn, Montana, a young female journalist;

Greg Pollard is Johnny-Behind-The-Ace, a young bad guy; Bryan Compton, Spurs, another bad man; Jody Palmer, first young woman passenger, a hungry traveler; Larisa Shiver, second woman passenger, another hungry traveler; Darrell Reece, Socrates Fogg, a lawyer; Melinda Tatum, Mrs. Fogg, his wife; Shorty Bilberry, Judge Roy Bean; Dale Redman, Cayo Claiborne, Roy's adopted son; Lisa Cowdrey, Lily Langtry, the famed English actress; Belinda Fluitt actress, a young member of the acting troupe; and Rex Cash, Pewtree, villain of the acting troupe.

Taking place in Langtry, Tex., Judge Roy Bean has decreed Orin Powers must hang for shooting up a poster of his beloved Lily Langtry. The sentence has the town of Langtry in a stew. Only one thing will save the unfortunate lad, the appearance of Lily herself.

Reserved tickets are now on sale for $2 and general admission $1. Tickets may be purchased from members of the senior class.

Honor Society may indict 15 soon

Post High School's annual induction ceremony for the National Honor Society will be held during the next few days with the exact time of the ceremony a secret to heighten student interest.

Fifteen students are being considered for membership.

To be eligible for NHS membership consideration, sophomore, junior and senior students must have a cumulative grade average of 90 percent or better and must meet high standards in leadership, service and character.

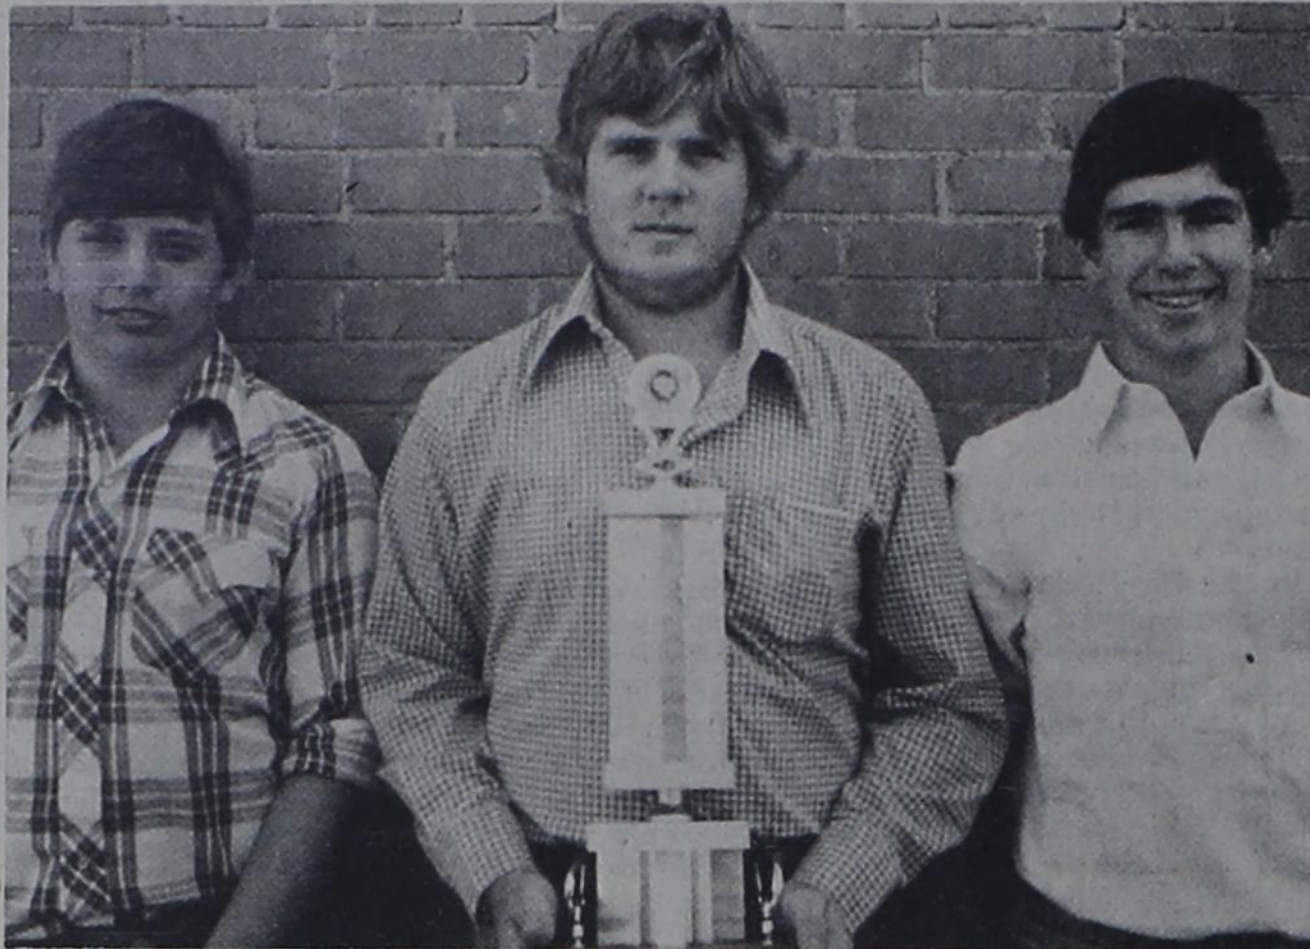

Leadership is based on the student's participation in two or more community or school activities, or election to an office. To meet the service requirement, students must have been active in three or more service projects in the school and community. Character is measured in terms of integrity, behavior, ethics and cooperation with both students and faculty.

Mrs. Linda Linn and Mrs. Joy Pool are the current NHS advisors.

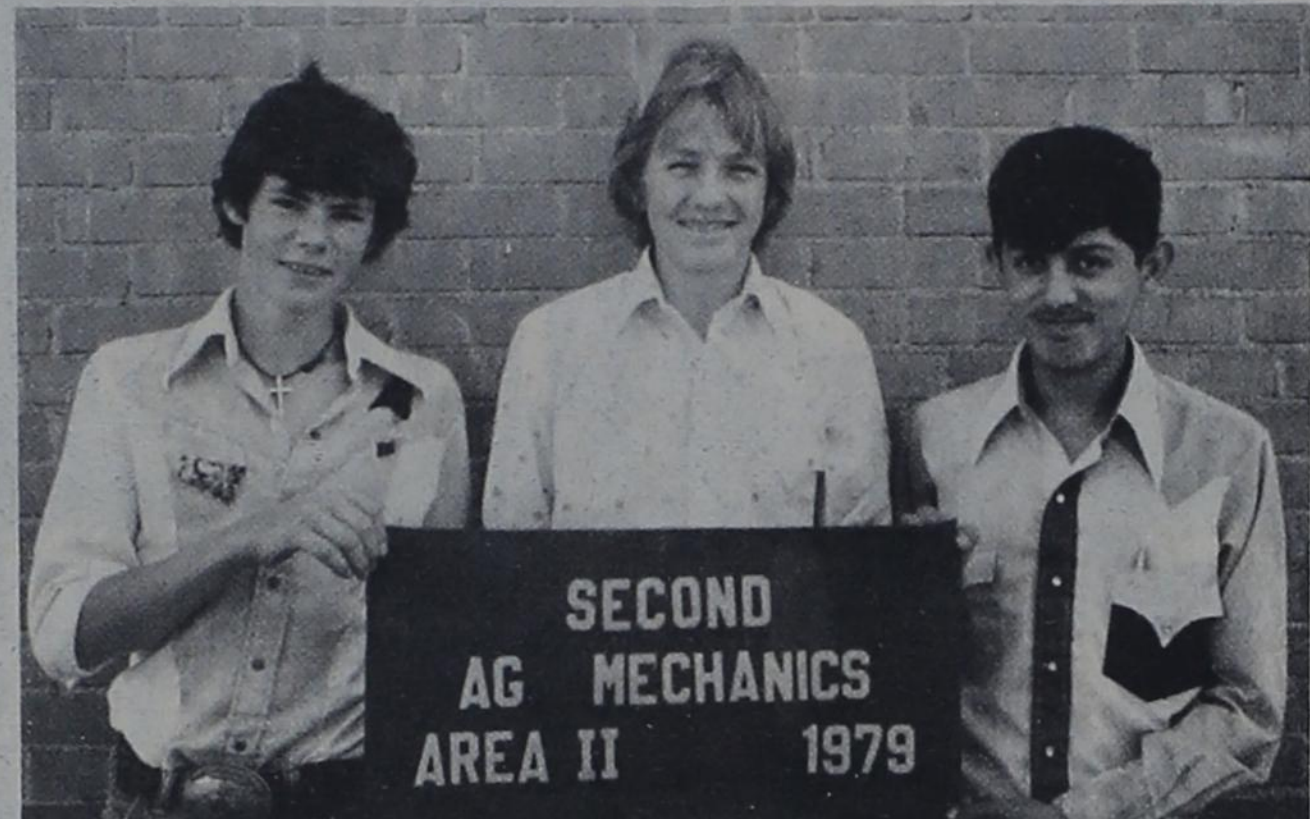

Post student duo 'outstanding'

SNYDER — Carita Wood and Ricky Nelson of Post were among the Western Texas College students receiving recognition at the annual Awards Day ceremonies recently.

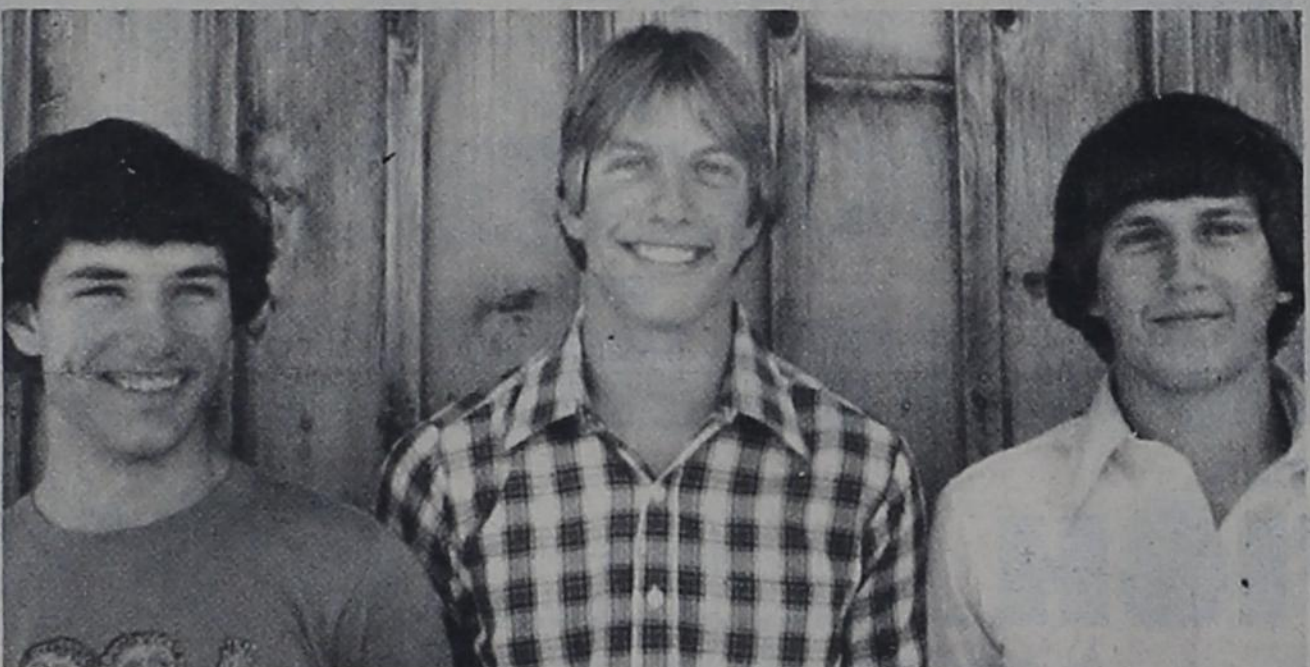

Ms. Wood was cited as an outstanding sophomore biology student, while Nelson was named Outstanding Male Law Enforcement student.

STATE QUALIFIERS — The Farm Management Team will compete at the state level Saturday, April 28 at Texas A&M. Shown l to r, Lynn Simpson, Shorty Bilberry and Dale Redman who won fourth at Tarleton earlier in the year and Bilberry was named fourth high point individual. The team will leave Post Friday accompanied by Mr. E. A. Howard.

THIRD TEAM TO COMPETE — The Post Vo. Ag. Department will have three teams in state competition Saturday at Texas A&M University. Shown l to r, Kelly Baker, Danny Gunn and Darrell Reece who will compete in Floriculture in the Horticulture Division. These boys qualified for state after participation in Tarleton in February. Also on the team but not shown is Terry Odom. — (Staff Photo)

Kerri Pool to state UIL

Kerri Pool was named second place winner in the Ready Writing contest during the regional UIL Literary Meet held at Texas Tech Saturday, April 21 and will advance to the state meet in Austin May 3-5.

Other Post High students entered in the regional meet were Trushell Marts, Kevin Craig, and Amy Thuett in spelling and plain writing and Holly Giddens entered the typing division.

Coaches for the teams were Mrs. Linda Linn, Mrs. Suzanne Hudman and Mrs. Carolyn Black, respectively. Mrs. Pat Thompson also accompanied the group.

Slaton Art Show set for May 12

SLATON — The ninth annual Slaton Art Show, sponsored by the Women's Division of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce, will be held in Slaton's Lubbock Country Club House here May 12 from 1 to 4:30 p.m. There will be $510 in five juror awards and $610 in 13 purchase prizes ranging from $35 to $100. Duward Campbell of Lubbock will judge the show.

It started a wee bit late, but the dance was held and a good crowd was on hand. Before you ask, the next one is the "End of School" dance with KSEL and John Steel May 26.

The count down has begun until May 25.

Graduation announcements arrived this week, so writer's cramp will be the complaint of many seniors.

GREAT NEWS!! Jeff Williams is home and doing great.

Happy Birthday this week to Lana Dunn, Bud Jones and Kelly (I call him Punkin') Baumann on his 18th.

On the Spring Break News last week, I inadvertently left Lea Ann Babb as going to Possum Kingdom with Dana and Amy Babb and Shorty Bilberry flew to A&M during the sand storm and got all fixed up with his apartment for next fall. Oh yes, it's overlooking POOL SIDE.

Congratulations to Kerri Pool for being awarded her scholarship and for her finish in the regional UIL Literary Meet and to the Vo. Ag. boys who will be attending state competition this weekend.

The band is participating in contest at Abernathy today and I wish them the best and they will be leaving Friday morning for Six Flags on their band trip. LOOK OUT SIX FLAGS.

The Drama Club had an all night bowling party in Lubbock last Friday night. Attending were Cindy Terry, Tim Tatum, Jay Young, Benny Jackson, Donna Baumann, Randy Hudgens, Leanna Davis, Rhonda Rogers, Judy Morris, Lance Dunn, Sheryl Anderson, Jody Palmer, Debbie Tyler, Mr. and Mrs. Alford and Christie Morris. I hope I didn't leave anyone out. I assume they had a great time by the look in their eyes Saturday morning. All had what you call DROOPY eyelids.

The boys regional qualifiers will participate in Lubbock Friday and Saturday. Let's be there to cheer

FHA group to convention

Representatives of the Post Future Homemakers of America Chapter will be attending the 1979 state meeting of the Texas Association of FHA, along with over 7,000 members and advisors from across the state.

"Today's Youth Forming Tomorrow" is the theme of the 1979 meeting, which will be held at the Tarrant County Convention Center in Fort Worth, April 26-27.

Attending from Post will be Cindy Terry, Lisa Cowdrey, Nita Jo Gunn, Beth Elliott, and advisors, Mrs. Marion Wheatley and Mrs. Carolyn Sawyers.

Installation of the 1979-80 state officers will climax the Friday evening session.

If any of you animal lovers out there would like to have a cute, lovable, furry animal, I can help you out. We are now being eaten out of house and home by six of the cutest little kittens you have ever seen. They would someone a nice graduation gift!!!

They range in all colors, male and female. I said we had six (if we can find them all). Donna was showing us how she could play the baritone scale early Monday morning and when she struck up, the kittens struck out for parts unknown. We still can't find two of them. If anyone is interested, PLEASE, PLEASE call me.

Volleyball meet here on weekend

The annual Dalby Cattle Co. Volleyball Tournament will be held here in the Post Middle School gym, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 26-28, with a field of 12 women's teams and eight men's competing.

Games will start at 6 p.m. Thursday and Friday nights and at 11 a.m. Saturday. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. A concession stand will operate for each of the three tournament sessions.

The Dalby team has been playing in volleyball tournaments the last two months. To date they have won first in the Spur Fire Department tournament and at Matador, runnerup honors at Southland and O'Donnell and a third in the Spur PTO tourney.

Plumbing of Crosbyton, Petty Farmers of New Home and Hester's Office Center of Lubbock.

Women's teams entered in the tourney include two Post teams, Holly's and Dalby Cattle Co., and Lauder Gin of Tahoka; Cook Pump Service, Tahoka, Slide Coop Gin, New Home, Aspermont, Farmers Coop, O'Donnell, Citizens State Bank, Slaton, Flanigan's, Tahoka, Rainbow, Crosbyton, Western Implement of Meadow and Southland Delinting of Southland.

First turkey hunt success

LUBBOCK — The first weekend of a three weekend spring turkey hunt has netted six hunters with gobblers on the Gene Howe and Matador wildlife management in northwest Texas.

Each WMA had three gobblers bagged by permit holders as 17 sportsmen made the hunt on the Matador area and ten sportsmen arrived for the hunt on the Gene Howe area.

A 20-lb. gobbler was bagged by permit holders as 17 sportsmen made the hunt on the Matador area and 10 sportsmen arrived for the hunt on the Gene Howe area.

A 20-lb. gobbler was the largest bird bagged according to Vernon Morse, Howe area manager and was harvested by E.B. Telford of Amarillo. One hunter traveled all the way from Point Blank, Tex., located near Conroe for the hunt.

The spring hunts will continue through May 5 for additional permit holders. Only shotguns are allowed for the hunt making it necessary for the hunters to either call or get the wise old gobblers to come within range.

Most of the hunters saw turkeys according to Charles Boyd, Matador area manager, and all enjoyed the first spring turkey hunt ever held in the Panhandle-South Plains.

Lithography was invented by Alois Semefelder around the turn of the 19th century.

Regional to begin Friday

The regional qualifiers for the Post Antelopers will begin their preliminaries Friday at 3:30 p.m. with the 440 relay.

The prelims for the 120 high hurdles will be held at 3:50; the 330 hurdles at 4:45 and mile relay at 5:25.

On Saturday, the long jump will be held at 11 a.m. with finals in the running events starting at 1:30 with the relay and ending with the mile relay at 3:05 p.m.

All events will be held at the Texas Tech Track behind Jones Stadium.

LL tryouts start Monday

Youngsters 9-12 years old are reminded of the tryouts for the Little League season beginning next Monday, April 30.

Also, those not trying out on either day set aside, are not eligible to participate in Minor League play.

Monday is set for 9-10 year olds, Tuesday 11-12 year olds and Wednesday is make-up day for those who missed either day.

Wardens aid in disaster

WICHITA FALLS — Several Texas game wardens were assigned to Wichita Falls area to assist in curfew patrol and search for potential storm victims following the disastrous tornado that struck there recently.

The Lubbock law enforcement region furnished 13 men over a weeks period as clean-up operations and nightly patrols continue in Wichita Falls.

Although the warden's prime duties are game, fish and water safety enforcement, they are trained in disaster relief wherever it occurs in Texas.

The wardens patrol vehicle and radio equipment were utilized to relay messages between the Wichita Falls police department, county sheriffs' officers and the Alcohol Beverage Commission personnel.

Her phone is ringing. Unfortunately it's ringing in the kitchen.

If she had an extension phone in the bedroom, she not only wouldn't have to get out of bed, she wouldn't even have to open her eyes.

General Telephone offers extensions in a wide range of styles and colors. And each and every phone is backed by all our years of experience.

Extension phones are a convenience you deserve and they're not expensive. Just a few dollars per month and think of all the legwork they'll save you.

You can't be two places at once. But your phone can.

GTB EXTENSION PHONES

As life following a disaster routine of clean-up and rebuilding, the wardens will head back to their assigned district.

Senior Round-up will be May 15-16

LUBBOCK — Senior citizens in the 15-county South Plains area will celebrate "Senior Round-up 1979" in Lubbock's Fair Park Coliseum May 15-16.

The agenda for this year's round-up includes the presentation of the outstanding senior citizen awards, the health fair, the senior olympics, musical activities, and a dance.

Round-up registration begins at 1 p.m. Tuesday, May 15, and will be followed by the health fair. An awards banquet that evening will honor outstanding 1979 senior citizens, followed by singing, and a "swing your partner" dance.

The senior olympics are scheduled for the morning of May 16, starting at 10 a.m. Elder athletes will compete in a walking marathon, horseshoe toss, five-member balloon bust relay, bean bag throw, softball toss, giant tricycle race and the wheelchair race.

Awards will be presented winners after lunch and then the round-up will close at 2 p.m. with a group sing.

Hope Johnson into Alpha Chi

Andrea Hope Johnson of Post was one of the 42 students recently initiated into Alpha Chi, the campus-wide national honor society at West Texas State University.

Students who become members of Alpha Chi are lifetime members. They receive notation on their transcripts and become eligible for local and national scholarships which Alpha Chi offers each spring.

Miss Johnson is a junior generic special education major and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Johnson.

Two die in plane crash

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Thomas left Post Wednesday morning for Camarillo, Ca., to attend funeral services for his brother, Charlie L. Thomas and his son, Larry.

The two were fatally injured in a private plane crash in Squaw Valley at Lake Tahoe this week.

Thomas, 57, was retired from the Navy and civil service and had been a pilot for six years.

His son, Larry, 22, was a college student.

Survivors besides the brother in Post include his wife, one daughter and one grandchild.

Funeral services were pending.

we pay taxes, too... 10-million dollars worth!

At Southwestern Public Service Company, we know that what's good for the communities we serve is also good for SPS. When the communities grow and prosper, so does SPS. The taxes paid by the citizens and SPS contribute to this growth and prosperity. In 1978, Southwestern Public Service Company paid approximately $34,000.00 in ad valorem and street and alley rental taxes in Garza County alone. In the 45,000 square mile area it serves, SPS paid a total of 10-million dollars in these taxes from the revenue we received from our customers. Southwestern and its customers, through taxes paid, make things happen in our communities.

Coach John Morrow introduced the varsity Doe squad and recognized Lisa Cowdrey, all district and Dana Bird and Kerri Pool for honorable mention. He also introduced the JV girls and asked the freshmen girls team to stand in a group and recognized them for winning their district.

Coach Pat Thompson recognized the varsity and JV tennis teams, Coach Black the varsity girls track team and recognized Donna Baumann as regional qualifier and Kathryn Bullard as alternate.

Prior to Coach Tannehill introducing the varsity boys track squad, four senior boys presented Tannehill with a special award of a "gas can and used tools." The award was made because during the track season, Tannehill and his squad ran out of gas twice and had bus trouble on two other occasions.

Tannehill then introduced the track squad and regional qualifiers, Jackie Ayala, Bryan Compton, Cliff Kirkpatrick, Alonzo Luna, Johnny Ray Williams and Dale Redman as alternates.

Following introduction of athletes, Ronnie Dunn, vice president of the Booster Club presented Jimmy Redman with a plaque in appreciation for his leadership to the club.

Georgie Willson provided the dinner music while freshmen athletes served a barbecue supper, catered by Jackson's.

Athletes honored by the banquet included:

has been heavily criticized in many parts of the country as extremely wasteful due to mishandling, the program here in Post has been well managed through Johnson's office and a lot accomplished.

The two-step conversion of the former 4-H building in city-county park into offices was a prime example.

Another good one is now under way in the operation of the city-county park and preparations of the swimming pool for 1979 summer operations.

Johnson says all the work to get the pool ready to open will be completed within the next two weeks, including compliance with all the new safety requirements.

The park also has been given what amounts to a "spring cleaning" via CETA crew work.

Johnson points out turning this work into a CETA project is going to save both the city and county money they would otherwise have spent on the preparations.

court March 20 with felony vandalism and released on $500 bond in connection with the tire slashing case. His case awaits grand jury action.

It is not a pleasant thing to report in the paper on juvenile problems. The law prevents their records from being open to our scrutiny. But we can follow through when the juveniles become adults in the eyes of the law at 17, and painfully or not we are trying to do so. As Judge Dalby says, putting the names in the paper "is a real deterrent too."

The Sequoia tree is named for Sequoia, an American Indian who developed an Indian writing system suitable for printing.
