Drinking ban asked for parks

The city council Monday night authorized the drawing up of an ordinance prohibiting the consumption of alcoholic beverages at the community's three baseball parks and the city-county park.

The action came during a discussion of how to regulate the use of the minor league diamond for play by both small boys and adult softballers. Baseball representatives at the meeting contend some softball players drink alcoholic beverages at the field while waiting for the minor league games to be completed.

Lonnie Gene Peel and Archie Gill appeared before the council for the second straight month in an effort to work out arrangements in advance of the 1980 season to avoid confrontations over the park's use. Dr. William Wilson offered the motion for the ordinance during the discussion and it was adopted by a unanimous vote of the four council members present.

The council indicated it wants to reorganize the park board so a board to operate the baseball fields can then be organized either within or under the park board with all interested parties represented on that board.

Peel said part of the problem is that the softball teams do not appear to have a league organization with officers and it is difficult to find persons who can represent the softball teams to negotiate an agreement on field use.

Peel proposed the minor league have use of the park for the month of June with the softball teams having its exclusive use from July 1 on as well as weekend use only in June. He said this would save the cost of constructing a new park for the exclusive use of the softball teams.

The council held a long discussion on the lack of present parking facilities at the new Huntley Nursing Home which is expected to begin operations in the next few weeks. Hank Huntley, owner and operator of the new facility, did not attend the meeting.

Mayor Giles McCrary was authorized to see what could be done on the situation and council members agreed to hold a special meeting this coming Monday night if necessary.

In other actions, the council:

Accepted the bid of Jones, Boyd and McWilliams of Midland for the oil and gas lease of 72.82 acres of section 1311, T11R1 survey, abstract 38, owned by the city in the old municipal water field, for $77.32 per acre bonus situation consideration, three-sixteenths royalty and $1 per acre annual delay rentals for three years.

125 boys, girls greet Santa Claus

Some 125 youngsters turned out Saturday to visit with Santa Clause at the community center and most of them had their pictures taken sitting on Santa's lap.

This was the first of two Santa visits here as a part of the Post Chamber of Commerce's annual yule promotion. He will be back Saturday afternoon, Dec. 15, but only to walk the downtown streets and hand out candy. No more auto-graphed pictures.

The 40-foot Christmas tree for downtown Post also was trucked in last weekend from New Mexico and erected and decorated with Christmas lights Saturday morning.

The Southwestern Public Service Co. was scheduled to get an electric line to the tree so the lights will be on in time for the first Christmas carol singing around the tree Thursday evening, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The sixth grade band is scheduled to appear first Thursday night with the Pleasant Home Baptist Church choir then leading the singing of Christmas carols.

Caroling around the tree is scheduled for each Thursday night during the Christmas season with different groups appearing at the three caroling sessions.

The new Christmas decorations, purchased by the Chamber, were scheduled to arrive here Wednesday two days late and were scheduled to be put up on Main Street Thursday. A Ceta crew was to put the old pole decorations up along Broadway Wednesday.

Local stores now open nightly until 9 p.m. for the convenience of Christmas shoppers include Wacker's, Hudman Furniture, Jae's, Twins Fashions, Tanner's Trends for Men, and the Radio Shack. Several other stores are remaining open each Thursday night when the carol singing is planned around the downtown Christmas Tree.

The Chamber has a long thank you list for the Christmas tree raising and decorating and for others who helped out during Santa's Saturday visit.

Lloyd Mock brought the tree back from New Mexico and he and Brown Brothers head the "Christmas tree" thank you list. Others include D. E. (Whitey) Morris, Palmer Construction which provided men, trailer, and trucks, the following volunteer firemen who helped decorate the tree: Neal Clary, Bobby Terry, Delbert Rudd, Ted Tatum, Ray Bagby, and Larry Waldrip, with other decorators including Danny Shaw and Charles Hardin.

The "thank you list" for Santa's visit includes Fred Long for picking up and returning the back drop, Billie Long and Nell Matthews for helping set up and decorate at the community center, the Women's Division of the Chamber for donating the Christmas tree, tree decorations, and packages, Hudman Furniture for Santa's easy chair during the long picture session; photographers Ed Neff, Denece Higgins, Zoe Kirkpatrick and Lil Conner for taking all the pictures; Linda Waldrip for serving as cashier; the Radio Shack for the tape player; Wacker's for the Christmas tapes; the fire department for bringing Santa Claus to town on the fire truck; and of course, a very special thanks to Santa Claus.

Fifty-Second Year Post, Garza County, Texas Thursday, Dec. 6, 1979 Number 27

South Plains given new grant—

$89,308 more in 'gas bill aid'

All members of the Mike Flanigan family are sure of one thing about their Christmas Day. They are going to watch the "Good Morning, America" television program on the holiday.

While the family was in Long Beach, Calif., Thanksgiving week for a visit with Mike's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Flanigan, they visited a shopping center in Los Angeles devoted to arts and crafts.

Mike and his three-year-old son, Doug, were riding a miniature train around the shopping center, when little Doug was asked if he wanted to visit Santa Claus.

When he said yes, he was ushered in for a visit with Old St. Nick.

From here on the story is quite a bit different from the usual pre-Christmas Santa Claus story.

This Santa Claus turned out to be the "presidential Santa Claus" since the Truman administration in the early 50's. He visits the White House each holiday season for the children's Christmas party. While he was being interviewed on television he shook hands with little Doug on camera.

Mike was told the interview would be a part of the Christmas morning show of "Good Morning America."

Williams rites held

Funeral services for Wilson D. Williams, 69, retired Garza farmer, were conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday here in the First Baptist Church by the Rev. Glenn Reece.

Williams was found dead last Thursday afternoon in his rural home on route 3. Justice of the Peace Pat Kitchens pronounced his death due to natural causes. Williams was born Dec. 13, 1909, in Howard County and had been a Garza resident for the last 20 years. He served in the United States Air Force during World War II.

Survivors include three daughters, Quay Logan of Odessa, Glenda Gilstrap of Houma, La., and Gayle Stark of Sumter, S.C.; one sister, Gladys Tipton of Post; and several grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Bud (See Rites held, Page 14)

Some $89,308 from the first Energy Crisis Assistance Funds approved last month by Congress have been made available to the South Plains Community Action Association, Inc., of Levelland, Congressman Charles W. Stenholm announced this week in Washington.

Stenholm said this one-time funding "will provide assistance up to $400 per household" to ease energy-related problems.

Garza County is one of eight counties served by the South Plains Community Action Association.

Jerry Linn and Sue Shytle who attended the monthly directors meeting of the SPCAA in Levelland Monday night said the $89,308 was confirmed and with the $10,000 previous received for the same purpose, some $99,308 is currently available to help pay high winter gas bills in the eight-county area.

The Post representatives were told, however, that the present program is being

The new wildcat well is Aikman Petroleum Inc.'s No. 1 Post-Montgomery which produced on test 28 barrels of oil and 20 barrels of water from an interval of 8,222 to 8,239 feet. The well was bottomed at 8,239.

The new wildcat location is that of Fisher-Webb Inc.'s No. 1 Lewis which will be drilled to a planned depth of 7,850 feet

State seeking rehearing—

Motion filed in Walker acquittal

District Attorney Joe Smith of Seminole told The Dispatch this week he has filed a state's motion for rehearing with the clerk of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals in the Pat Walker case.

The criminal appeals court in mid-November reversed Walker's felony theft conviction in the 132nd District Court in Snyder in the fall of 1977.

Trio enters guilty pleas

Three Post men — Joe Perez, Carlos Romero and Valentino Delgado — pleaded guilty in county court Monday to a charge of assault in the beating of two Post Spanish women and were ordered to pay fines and court costs of $161 each and sentenced to five days in the county jail.

The women reported the beatings as taking place somewhere out on the Spur highway the night of Nov. 21. They did not report the beatings to the sheriff's office until the following Tuesday.

The trio was arrested Nov. 30.

Terry Lynn Rushing, 26, of Post was ordered to pay fine and court costs of $215 and was sentenced to five days in jail in county court Monday on the second offense of driving while his license was suspended. The arrest was made by the highway patrol.

Steve Hair, 19, of Post was arrested Monday on a charge of driving while license suspended and was released on a $750 cash bond.

On Tuesday, officers arrested William B. Blevins, 23, who recently moved to Post from Levelland on a Levelland forgery warrant. Levelland officers returned Blevins to Levelland.

The appeals court in its opinion found "the evidence is insufficient to support conviction" in the oil field scrap metal case and reformed the judgement "to reflect a judgement of acquittal."

If the appeals court denies the state's motion for rehearing, it will make Walker's acquittal final. If it grants the motion, however, Walker's original three-year probated sentence would stand.

The Dispatch erred in its original story on the appeal court's reversal two weeks ago when it reported the granting of a motion for rehearing would bring about a new trial. Instead, the (See Motion filed, Page 14)

Drive total is $11,310—

United Fund tops goal

Garza County's 1980 United Fund drive sailed almost 11 percent over its $10,195 goal this week as Campaign Chairman Jim Cornish announced a final total of $11,310.50.

Cornish said the campaign had topped its goal last week but was awaiting receipt from George R. Brown of the largest donation ever received by the United Fund.

Garza named 'disaster area'

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressman Charles W. Stenholm announced this week that the County of Garza has been declared a natural disaster by the Farmers Home Administration of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

This disaster was caused by drought crops and pasture during July 1, 1979 through November 11, 1979.

Farmers in the area may apply for emergency loan assistance to recover physical losses through August 26, 1980 and for production losses through November 26, 1980. Applications should be filed in the County FmHA Office.

Cornish pointed out that the George R. Brown employees here also were 100 percent campaign contributors.

He also lauded the support of Burlington and Postex Plant employees with their total contributions exceeding 20 percent of the drive goal.

Breakdown of contributions by drive divisions included $1,371 from the farm and ranch division, $65 from downtown employes, $6,496 from the business division, $98 from courthouse employes, $395 from private citizens, $1,603 from Postex employes, $299.50 from First National bank employes (also 100 percent), $75.50 from resident engineer's office of state highway department, $49 from hospital employes, $151 from Justiceburg, $15 from one local club, $148 from George R. Brown employes (100 percent), $45.50 from S.C.S. & A.S.C. employes (100 percent), and $500 from Post teachers.

A few more contributions are still awaited.

Jack Alexander, United Fund president, pointed out this week that the amount of money raised above the drive goal will be placed in a United Fund emergency fund for emergency use by local organizations during the year when authorized by the United Fund board of directors.

"When something comes up that the money is needed we will have it ready," Alexander concluded.

Cornish said he wished to thank all drive workers.

"We had one of the best efforts by workers as a whole this year than we've had for many years," Cornish said.

The successful conclusion of the drive marks the 11th straight year the United Fund has successfully reached its goal.

Museum planning yule open house

The Garza County Museum will host a Christmas Open House, Sunday afternoon, Dec. 9, from 3 to 5 p.m. Everyone is invited to attend the event.

The annual business meeting will be held and new officers will be elected. This meeting will be a short session at the beginning of the open house with the festivities to follow.

Let's 'stay local'

The White House Conference on Library and Information Services held in November found delegates uniting in a call for the federal government to give more financial help to libraries.

Libraries across the country now depend upon city and county property taxes for their principal support and now find themselves hard pressed to keep income abreast of inflationary costs.

Many have been forced to cut services. In California 22 percent of that state's 3,857 libraries have been forced to shut their doors due to lack of funding.

The difficulty in competing for local tax funds is that libraries must go head to head with needs of the police and fire departments and sanitation, and streets, which are generally considered more essential. In times of inflation when every type of governmental unit is hard pressed to maintain their program, it is far more difficult.

Today the federal government pays only 5 percent of national library costs. It is funded down through states with contributions here in Texas helping to finance the operation of the regional libraries to which all libraries can look to for support, advice, and reference books.

The Dispatch hesitates to endorse large scale federal participation in library funding because of the demands from Washington would bring considerable loss of local control.

It is difficult to see that should the federal government fund the Post Public Library that in faroff Washington they could understand our needs.

If that day ever comes, we hope each community and its library will be given the choice to "go national" or "stay local."

The oil compromise

The halls of Congress are seldom places where major national issues are won or lost. In Congress, they are compromised.

The latest compromise which should emerge in the next few weeks, maybe even in time to be tied in Christmas bows, is the windfalls profit tax on crude production.

In this oil producing region, most people hate the thought of such a tax taking profits from the oil industry and pouring them into the boondoggling coffers of government and politicians to be wasted away.

The argument here in this region is to let the oil folks keep their profit and drill for more oil.

But today's is a consumers' world and even all the power the oil industry can marshal — and logical as their argument is — there isn't a chance of scuttling the so-called windfalls profit tax completely.

So the compromise is being worked out with the senate more willing to aid the oil industry than the house where consumers are all powerful.

Senator Lloyd Bensen has authored the amendment on which the oil folks now pin their final hopes. Adopted in the senate, but still facing a hostile house the amendment will exempt the first thousand barrels of oil per day produced by an operator who can qualify as an independent. Integrated oil firms operating at any added level beyond production, would not receive the exemption.

The Bentsen amendment apparently will be subjected to further compromise in efforts to win house approval. It may not be recognizable when it finally emerges with total congress approval.

The national politicians, or at least most of them, have no understanding of America's energy crisis or how to solve it.

Put in simple terms, the windfalls profit tax on crude production will grip the oil industry in the same vice as that of price controls. If the industry is to expand, it must search with its profits. To deny the profits is to deny the search.

Until America changes its energy outlook, the consumers are going to get it stronger and stronger at the pocketbook level. And most of the fault is theirs alone. They will deserve what the get for their selfishness.

The only solution as we see it is for America to change its thinking and support leaders who can make better sense out of our energy issues.

A Christmas assurance

Happily, Christmas is upon us.

We doubt if we could have endured the Iranian crisis, inflation, all the crazy politicians, and the energy shortage much longer except for the arrival of the love and warmth of the Christmas season.

Lights in the night, music in the streets, the holiday social season at every level all help to move us away for a time from the harsher realities of our lives.

Even the television tube brightens a bit for the holidays between showdown football weekends.

In some places it even snows. Fireplaces are lighted and the wood fires crackle and spread their attractive odors on the outdoor air.

The argument we make here is to lay back and enjoy Christmas. Don't humbug it. Put your habit straitjacket aside and give yourself free rein for enjoyment.

The January cold will come soon enough. With the Christmas bills, showdown tax time instead of showdown football, and the tired stomach.

In churches, schools, homes, and stores, the American Christmas is upon us. Program yourself. Don't miss a thing. There will be plenty of time to diet later and cut back on a whole variety of things.

Put a smile on your face, a laugh in your heart and go forth to partake of the joys of Christmas.

Rest assured this old world will have you all straightened out again before noon on Wednesday, Dec. 26.

Farm Labor Position To Be Studied

The National Cotton Council received a notice this week from the Labor Department stating the agency has decided to re-study its position concerning application of the Farm Labor Contractor Registration Act to the operation of cotton gins. The notice stated that enforcement under the act will be suspended in the ginning industry pending the outcome of the study. During the course of the study, the Department will seek the industry's advice.

There were only six such grants delivered in all of the United States, and the South

Bradbury-Mathes vows read here

Norma Bradbury and Guy Mathes exchanged wedding vows Saturday, Dec. 1 in the Trinity Baptist Church in Post.

The Rev. Ralph White officiated the double ring ceremony beneath a champagne carnation covered archway. The couple lit their unity candle at the close of the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bradbury. The groom is the son of Mrs. Viola Mathes of Amarillo.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white organza and cluny lace, featuring a Cathedral train of lace and organza tiers accented with satin ribbon.

The bodice front was overlaid with beaded silk venise lace which extended to outline the Queen Ann neck, accented with long, sheer, Bishop sleeves, appliqued with silk venise lace. Vertical bands of venise lace extended from the waist to hem on the a-line skirt. The veil, trimmed in matching lace fell from a beaded lace covered cap. She carried a bouquet of sonia roses intertwined with gladiolus and babies breath with white and sonia streamers on top of a white Bible.

The bride carried out tradition with something borrowed wearing a pearl drop pendant necklace, belonging to her mother; something new, her wedding gown; something blue, a blue garter made by her mother; and she wore a penny in her shoe.

Mary Jo Arend of Amarillo served as maid of honor with Janice Bradbury, sister of the bride, and Pat Bradbury, sister-in-law of the bride, serving as bridesmaids. The flower girl was Kelli Light, cousin of the bride.

Best man was Calvin Mathes, brother of the groom of Amarillo. Groomsmen were David Bradbury, brother of the bride, and Douglas Bradbury, cousin of the bride. Ushers were Monte Bain, uncle of the bride and William Light, cousin of the bride.

Theresa Bain, cousin of the bride, served as candle lighter. Music was provided by pianist, Sharla Wells, and Gwen Bain, aunt of the bride, as she sang "The Twenty Third Psalm," "Wedding Song" and "The Wedding Prayer."

A reception followed the ceremony.

After a wedding trip to White City, N.M., the couple will reside in Amarillo.

The bride is a graduate of Post High School and Northwest Hospital School of Nursing. She is a registered nurse at Northwest Hospital in Amarillo.

The groom is a graduate of Amarillo High School.

Guest attended from Amarillo, Wichita Falls, San Angelo, Lubbock, Merkel, Fluvanna, Electra, Crosbyton and New Mexico.

According to a legend of the Guatemalan Mayans, the first four men created were made of corn paste.

Tips on how to be a smart toy shopper

A SMART TOY SHOPPER will buy only top-quality toys that have long-lasting play value as well. This new Tonka Custom Van Shop Builder Playset, for example, is sturdy, has carefully made, simple parts, is attractive and offers unlimited play situations. These are the best buys for the toy dollar this year.

How savvy about toys are you really? As the Christmas rush nears, do you "just want to get it over with" . . . or have you given some thought to the true meaning of toys in your child's development?

Do you succumb easily to the latest fad games (or perhaps your own preferences) . . . or do you wisely select a toy that's appropriate for your child?

Toys take a big bite out of the Christmas budget—which may be smaller this year—so be highly selective in your buying. Here are some guidelines to help you choose from the thousands of toys on the shelves.

This year, buy only top quality toys that will stand up to a child's rough play. Nothing is more discouraging—both to you and your child—than a toy which breaks soon after the wrappings are off.

Take a look at the Tonka line: these toys are built to last—sturdy, safely-made and attractive. They've been handed down from generation to generation, so you can be sure they'll not be tossed out with the holiday decorations.

Also, put your dollars only in toys that have long-lasting and good play value. Consider the new Tonka Builder Playsets. They offer just the right challenge to your child's imagination, no matter what the stage of development.

They're sturdily made, attractive, and each set comes with a Tonka truck that children have adored for years. They're easy to put together so that your child won't be frustrated by complicated instructions or flimsy parts.

There are four Builders Playsets available: the Deluxe Builders Playset makes fun buildings—a Shell gas station, car wash or parking ramp. Other individual sets will make a pizza shop, a custom van shop, or a fire station . . . all familiar places.

Construction toys help develop a child's awareness of the world around him. They not only help increase physical dexterity but teach, in a fun manner and at a pace which the child sets for himself, how to deal with that real world.

A child will turn to these toys which have inherent learning value . . . time after time . . . and will be proud to own them.

So, stick to the high quality toys which have long-lasting play value, and count yourself a smart toy shopper indeed!

Fact and Fiction

Post Public Library News

By MICHAEL SMITH

With the Christmas rush here, it's good to take a breather and relax in a nice, quiet, pleasant place, and the library is just the place. Why not take a leisurely stroll along the shelves and choose a good book to read?

What's New On The Shelves
 "Aunt Erma's Cope Book," by Erma Bombeck, American author and columnist gives good-humored suggestions on how to deal with life. (Non-fiction)
 "James Herriot's Yorkshire," by James Herriot, author of "All Things Bright and Beautiful" and "All Things Wise and Wonderful" takes the reader on a tour of his homeland. (Non-fiction)

"Dancing Disco," by Randy Deats. An illustrated guidebook on disco dancing, which has swept the country. The book gives instructions how to do ten basic dances such as the Latin Hustle, and the New York Hustle. Also included are pointers on dressing for disco, plus four years of disco music are represented, including music by the Bee Gees and Donna Summer. (Non-fiction)

"The Executioner's Song" by Norman Mailer. A

Fictionalized account of the life and execution of Gary Gilmore.

"The Establishment", by Howard Fast. The basis for the recent television series "The Immigrants", the story of the Lavettes family in America following World War II. (Fiction)

Books in the Spotlight
 "Cruel Shoes", by Steve Martin. One of today's zaniest comedians, the "Wild and crazy guy" of "Saturday Night Live" fame, has written a collection of funny and outrageous pieces. The title piece, "Cruel Shoes" tells about a lady, Anna, who is trying on new shoes. Carlo, the shoe salesman, lets her try on every shoe in the store and she still can't make up her mind. Then he tells her there is one more pair in the store, the "cruel shoes". Anna insists on trying them on even after Carlo's repeated discouragements. He brings out the "cruel shoes", an ugly pair of black and white pumps, both left feet, one shoe having a right angle turn with several compartments making the toes point in impossible directions, the other shoe is six inches long, with a rocking-chair curve and a vise and razor blades to hold the foot in place. Anna insists that Carlo put them on her feet even after he begs her not to force him to. So Carlo forces them onto her feet as she screams. She crawls to the mirror in much pain, looks at the shoes, and says that she likes them. She pays Carlo for the shoes and crawls out of the store.

Another piece is "Dr. Fritzee's Lucky Astrology Diet." Most women on a diet strive for the perfect weight of seventy-six pounds, and when they get there, they think they are still fat. Dr. Fritzee's diet assures weight loss without feeling hungry. The diet is: for the first month you have an egg, the second month a raisin; for the third month, a pumpkin pie with whipped cream and chocolate sauce. The diet suggests that if after the third month you haven't reached your desired weight, to start cutting off arms and legs to tip the scales just right.

You'll find several more of these hilarious pieces in "Cruel Shoes", a book that is sure to be one-of-a-kind in the field of humor. If you're in a heavy, gloomy mood, "Cruel Shoes," is sure to lighten you up.

"The Christmas Tree Book", by Phillip V. Snyder. This book tells interesting facts of why we have trees in our home at Christmas time, and how this custom began. The decoration of evergreen trees on special occasions was a pagan custom long before the arrival of Christianity. The evergreen tree, green and thriving in a forest of brown and dead vegetation, suggested a magical, mystical power and was often worshipped as an idol. When Christianity did arrive and took root, the decoration of evergreens on special occasions was so ingrained in primitive traditions, that the Catholic Church adopted the evergreen as a symbol of Christ for Christmas.

In early Christian times, "miracle plays" were presented in churches on Christmas for illiterate people who could not read the Bible. An evergreen was decorated with apples in plays about Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden.

According to an old story, the first Christian Christmas tree belonged to Martin Luther, who on one Christmas Eve saw stars gleaming through a fir tree. He chopped it down, took it home and put lighted candles on it, like the stars he had seen, to teach his son that Christ is the light of the world.

The book describes the development of the Christmas tree, the methods of lighting, from candles to modern multicolored electric lights. The book illustrates antique tree ornaments, describes how they were made, and how people of yesteryear decorated their trees with everything from fruits and candy to toys and baubles. This is a good book that makes one appreciate the Christmas tree more as an important part of everyone's holidays.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Is the energy crunch coming again to Texas, land of petroleum and natural gas?

Some say it isn't, some say it is. And a few say it's already here for farmers and ranchers.

Some days ago, Gov. Bill Clements, who had been monitoring the energy situation in Texas, said that gasoline supplies may become tight, but there will be no need to reinstate the odd-even rationing plan of last summer "unless consumers panic and begin topping off their tanks."

Railroad Commissioner John Poerner thinks another crunch is near because of a federal decision to increase production of home heating oil for the northeast states.

Home heating oil is another name for diesel fuel . . . and there's already a shortage of diesel here in Texas, at least for farmers and ranchers.

Several farmers and fuel suppliers testified during a House subcommittee hearing last week that oil firms' manipulations of diesel fuel threatens to drive them out of business.

It seems there is diesel fuel available for them, but it is through irregular channels and for a much prettier price. The farmers openly called the secret channels "the Black Market," which is an inaccurate term.

Since diesel was deregulated last July, there are no government controls to keep the price down. The term "Black Market," as used during the hearing, is a reference to the manipulations by oil firms, which though legal, are done in secret to hike the fuel price and avoid bad publicity.

Several oil company representatives were present to testify they were not secretly directing fuel to the spot market.

So is there a shortage? State Rep. Dan Kubiak, who chaired the subcommittee, said the answer depended on who you believed at the inconclusive hearing—the farmers or the oil companies.

"From the testimony presented, one conclusion is we will not have shortages in the near future. But by all other indications, we will have a shortage—we have one now," Kubiak promised more hearings as the probe continues.

A Presidential Visit

Top Texas Democrats endorsed President Jimmy Carter preparatory to a Dec. 8 visit for his Austin fundraiser.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Speaker of the House Bill Clayton, Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong and State Treasurer Warren G. Harding appeared together to announce their support for Carter.

"President Carter, under very adverse circumstances, has compiled a fine record as president of the United States," Hobby said.

Only a catastrophe, such as a setback in the touchy Iranian situation, will prevent Carter from making the campaign swing through Texas, his supporters say.

... And Presidential Polls

A statewide poll conducted by Texas Monthly magazine indicates Carter, much maligned in Texas, will not fare too badly in this state, but the movers and shakers in both parties are still taking a wait-and-see attitude.

The poll showed Carter trails challenger Teddy Kennedy by one percentage point, 34.6 to 33.7, and that Calif. Gov. Jerry Brown musters only 6.9 percent support.

Kennedy's support came from all large urban areas, except Dallas-Fort Worth, and from minority areas. Carter is backed by conservative Democrats, Kennedy by the liberals, and both have about an equal number of moderates at this point. Veteran observers say look for a real fight.

Among Republicans

According to the poll, former Texas Gov. John B. Connally leads Ronald Reagan, George Bush, and all others in Texas.

Connally mustered 30.3 percent to Reagan's 27.6 percent and Bush's 13.2 percent.

Not unpredictably, Connally called the poll's results "a victory," while his detractors called it "a setback" for him. Connally led in just about every category.

In a theoretical matchup, either Carter or Kennedy would beat Connally or Reagan, if the election were held today.

Carter was preferred over Connally by 51.7 to 48.3 percent, and topped Reagan 50.2 to 49.8 percent.

Kennedy beat Connally 51.9 to 48.1 percent, and took Reagan 55.2 to 44.8 percent.

Every political group one can imagine within both parties is finding silver linings in the poll, which seems to have a bit of credibility among politicians.

No one is denying Texas will have a horse race on its hands. It may well come to pass that Texas will be the primary battleground to decide the outcome.

AG Opinions

In a legal opinion issued last week, Attorney General Mark White ruled a police officer has no statutory right to appeal a disciplinary suspension of 15 days or less.

Congressman

Charles W. Stenholm

Congressional Comment

WASHINGTON, D.C. —

A $1.5 billion stamp of approval of poor management practices and non-competitive wage increases is currently being pushed through Congress. Supported by the Administration and carefully marshaled by a powerful — and expensive — lobbying effort, the Chrysler "bailout" sets an unwise, open-ended precedent, and is, in my opinion, a classic government "boondoggle."

There is no doubt that the mammoth manufacturer is in trouble. And both management and labor have to take their share of the blame for those problems. Poor management practices will put the firm in the red to the tune of nearly $700 million on every vehicle it sells this year. Yet, the company's cash registers have racked up sales of $65 billion since 1974, with a cumulative net loss of $665 million. That, to me, suggests that major surgery is necessary, such as dropping some product lines, closing inefficient plants or development of a new, more selective, competitive marketing strategy.

These are precisely the kinds of drastic steps that other failing firms are forced to undertake every day. Are we in essence saying that henceforth but a hearing may be required for a suspension resulting from charges which affect an officer's professional reputation.

White also ruled: —If a justice of the peace issues a search warrant returnable to him, the complaint alleging an offense discovered through the search need not be filed with him.

—Issuance of revenue bonds by an industrial development corporation will not violate the Constitution.

—The Railroad Commission has the authority and the duty to set rates for a specialized motor carrier operating under the authority of a seasonal agricultural license.

any company and its workforce big enough and capable of mounting a strong enough lobbying campaign can be exempted from competition and can avoid the pain and inconvenience of reorganization when costs get out of hand, products don't sell, or large losses mount up?

On the other side of the Chrysler see-saw, the United Auto Workers (UAW) did the firm the "big favor" of limiting their pay increases to a cost-of-living allowance that will give the average assembly line worker at least a $10,000 raise during the next three years and, if inflation continues at the present 13 percent rate, an increase of $13,500.

I know of very few people in the 17th Congressional District that are going to be looking at a 30 percent-plus increase in wages in the next three years, yet this is what the UAW are saying that they are sacrificing and this is why we in the Congress should vote to give $1.5 billion of taxpayer's money to Chrysler.

One of the strongest arguments in favor of the bailout is the reported loss of 400,000 to 600,000 jobs. But these numbers reflect merely a gross inventory of existing payroll at Chrysler, its dealers and suppliers and secondarily related firms.

These jobs would be threatened only in the event of a complete and total liquidation, which is only a risk, not a certainty. Automotive industry jobs are likely to shift, not disappear, however. Even if Chrysler fails completely, the total number of U.S. vehicle sales is not likely to decline measurably, meaning no net loss of jobs downstream of the factory gate — truckers, dealers, mechanics and so forth — which represent better than 20 percent of the total.

In short, the advocates are confusing the possibility of temporary employment turnover with permanent net job losses. If the free enterprise system is to work, you must preserve the right to fail as well as succeed. My vote on the Chrysler bailout is "NO".

Ginners not to be cited

MEMPHIS — The National Cotton Council has received a letter from officials of the U.S. Labor Department stating that cotton ginners temporarily will not be cited under provisions of the Farm Labor Contractor Registration Act.

The Council earlier had objected to Labor Department enforcement of the new law, because farmers, ginners, and certain other employers are exempt.

Herbert J. Cohen, assistant administrator of the Labor Department's wage and hour division, said in the letter that certain sections of the law were under review. "Based on this review, it has been decided to restudy the department's position and to issue a clear opinion on these sections of the act."

He added, "Until such time as the department issues the opinion, enforcement activity under the act will be suspended in the cotton gin industry."

Cohen's letter also said advice and assistance from ginners will be sought by the department during the course of the study. He indicated that the Labor Department plans to meet with ginners "to facilitate achieving maximum voluntary compliance with the act."

After numerous ginners were cited for failing to register, the Council urged the Senate to intervene and 52 Senators signed a letter to Labor Secretary Ray Marshall expressing their concern over enforcement activities against exempt employers.

The Council said it will continue to monitor developments and will work with Labor Department officials to seek permanent relief for ginners and other agricultural employers.

Stenholm on SB committee

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressman Charles W. Stenholm Thursday (November 29) was approved by the Democratic Policy and Steering Committee for membership on the Small Business Committee of the U.S. House of Representatives.

Stenholm's appointment to the committee must still be confirmed by the full Democratic Caucus, which is currently scheduled to meet December 12.

Stenholm, who has served as a member of the House Agriculture Committee and the Post Office and Civil Service Committee since coming to Congress in January, said the Small Business Committee had originally been his second choice selection.

"Due to the importance of agriculture in the 17th District, the Ag Committee was my first selection," Stenholm said. "But, as a predominately rural area with over 8,000 small businesses and over 12,000 farms, I have always felt that I could make a real contribution to the Small Business Committee. The Small Business Administration, which makes operating loans to both businesses and farms, is administered by the Committee."

All legislation regarding the welfare of small businesses and their participation in Federal programs and contracts is referred to this committee prior to full House consideration.

"I'll see that and raise you three billion."

It's easy to see where many of our priorities are.

The children of today are looking to us for ways they can prepare for their own style of life . . . families . . . and job opportunities.

To help, we'll need more electricity. It's true, electricity will play a big role toward helping expand the job market to include these adults of tomorrow.

The modern use of electricity has contributed to a better educational system to prepare our young people for the new experiences yet to come.

Almost 10 years ago, the folks at Southwestern Public Service wanted to make sure there was enough electricity to keep today's wage earner working. They decided that the fuel used in their power plants should be coal because, coal would be more abundant and cheaper to use than the conventional fuel . . . natural gas.

Now, Southwestern Public Service has a new coal plant in operation and more on the way. Yes, coal plants will help stabilize fuel costs while providing a long-term, reliable, energy source to provide electricity.

It's good to be able to tell someone what they can depend on.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

LUBBOCK — Micronaire values on the 1979 High Plains cotton crop to date have been highly disappointing to producers and more than a little surprising to cotton technologists.

Farmers, seeing almost every boll open on every stalk in their fields at the beginning of the harvest, naturally expected at least reasonably good mike readings.

No less fooled were those who study micronaire and monitor the growing conditions that control it. They predicted that from 30 to 45 percent of the crop would mike in the premium range of 3.5 to 4.9 micrograms.

Instead, a much smaller 14 percent of the first 479,189 bales classed by the High Plains' four classing offices through November 23 fell in that category. Only cotton classed at the Lamessa office, where a little over 28 percent has miked 3.5 to 4.9, even approached the early predictions.

In retrospect, researchers now theorize that the low mike is attributable to the cumulative effect of several factors not given the proper weight in former calculations.

To begin with, they say, the crop was late, setting most of its fruit in August. Weather-induced late plantings in parts of the area and seedling disease problems in other areas prevented all but a minimum of fruiting in July.

But when squares and blooms did appear, the thinking goes, conditions were almost ideal and plants set and retained an abnormally high number of forms that were later unable to do the job adequately.

A sequence of three events, coupled with the crop's late start, are blamed for the preponderance of under-sized bolls, many of them opening prematurely, that brought on the poor mike readings.

normal taproots. Then around mid-September there was a period when plants, already straining under an unusually heavy fruit load, suffered a mild "shock" from low temperatures. The final blow came when additional rainfall failed to appear and the crop went into moisture stress in the latter part of September and early October.

Dr. James Supak, Area Extension Cotton Agronomist is also cautioning producers about the quality of planting seed that might be saved from this year's crop. "There is a strong possibility," he states, "that even seed showing good germination will not have the seedling vigor required to produce and hold a stand under early-season conditions that often occur on the Plains."

JV boys 4th in tourney

Coach Arcadio Rivera's JV boys finished fourth in their first tournament of the season at Lorenzo Saturday after losing to Floydada 61 to 46.

The boys had two players in double figures with Gary Lamb scoring 22 and Dana Scott 14 in their loss.

The JV opened the tournament with a close victory over Lockney 54 to 52.

After falling behind 18 to 23 at the half, they outscored Lockney by one in the third 14 to 13, but added 22 in the final period to 16 for the losers.

Scoring for Post in this one was Odell Curtis with 23 points, Roy Gonzales had 12 Gary Lamb 10, Dana Scott had seven and Brad Greer two.

The win placed them in the winner's bracket against the tough Abernathy team and they lost that one 62 to 20. Curtis again led the scoring with 7, Greer had four, Lamb had three, and Scott, Gayland Murphy and Gonzales each had two.

Politics is such a torment that I would advise every one I love not to mix with it. - Thomas Jefferson.

FOR A SMALL MONTHLY CHARGE, SHE COULD'VE ANSWERED IT BY THE DRYER.

Every time Barbara Phillips' phone rings, it's long distance—the distance from her to her phone, that is.

If you spend a lot of time running to the phone, maybe you're in the running for an extension phone. For much less than you'd expect, you can start reaching for your phone. Whether you're stuck in the laundry room, glued to the TV or deep in sleep.

What's more, you know you've got a phone that's as reliable as the phone company. So the next time you run to the phone, call your General Telephone business office. And make it the last time.

City council—

Discussed drawing up of a set of cemetery regulations, specifically as it would concern the development of a new area in the cemetery. The council ordered no further sales in the new area until the regulations could be worked up and adopted. Mrs. Maxine Marks, a council member, volunteered to work with the city staff in drawing up some cemetery regulations for consideration at next week's meeting if called.

The council approved the annual bill of the Post Volunteer Fire Department for the year ending Dec. 1, 1979, in the amount of $7,037. This includes $4,125 for 58 city fires, $2,286 for 38 county fires, $546 at $1 per man for fire drills, and $350 for the department's annual banquet.

Approved the renewal of ambulance malpractice insurance with the Tom Power Agency at a cost of $667.75.

Reaffirmed that the city pays half of all law enforcement costs as per agreement with the county.

Referred back to Jack Hair his request for a building permit to erect a 30 by 40 foot steel building with concrete floor at his residence to serve as a garage for his boat and camping trailer. The council asks Hair to first check the building proposal against any deed restrictions which might be in effect on his residential property.

A super selection of gift ideas to please everyone on your list

If you've got a Christmas list a mile long, and only a handful of ideas for presents, here are some gift suggestions suitable for every member of the family.

They should help to make each gift special and Christmas shopping a little easier.

Preschoolers

Choosing presents for children can often leave you limp with frustration.

When shopping for toys, your job will be simplified by keeping in mind the child's age and development, the safety of the toy, and its various play functions.

One to three year olds use toys to make discoveries about the world around them and increase their motor skills. This age group likes surprises and toys with hidden parts, so one gift choice could be Baby Elephant from Kusan.

Baby Elephant has three storage drawers in its side that youngsters open by matching up the color and shape-coded keys.

Road America 500 is another exciting toy for preschoolers. A special crank "chain drive" enables them to enjoy the thrills of racing cars without electricity or batteries.

Three and four year olds like toys that can be taken apart and put back together again. A real classic is the "Cootie" game introduced by Schaper Toys over 30 years ago.

Cootie is still teaching children fundamentals such as taking turns, colors and numbers, as each player races to finish adding legs, eyes, antennae and so on to his or her Cootie.

School-age children

A toy that will provide limitless creative play is the Playmobil System of "little people," from Schaper Toys.

"Little people" come in ten themed sets, such as Farmers, Cowboys and Firefighters, complete with appropriate accessories.

Kids can use the toys to act out real-life activities, or use their imagination and create any number of fantasy situations.

For children over four, keep in mind they have definite tastes and probably a staggering collection of playthings.

With the science fiction craze still going strong, a space-related toy is sure to be a hit, especially if it's one of the year's most unusual toys.

For instance, Fantom 4, from Schaper, is a hovercraft that kids launch on a fan-powered flight.

After charging up at its "base station," Fantom 4 floats on a cushion of air 1/4" off any flat surface for up to 2 minutes.

The fan that lifts the hovercraft off the ground is designed to be completely safe—even if a child sticks a finger in it!

A game that will keep kids active and enthused for hours is "LeapFrogs," also from Schaper Toys. The pond-shaped game board has "lily pads" that hold ten bright green frogs.

A wind-up mechanism starts the action, and causes the frogs to leap unpredictably into the air, as players try to catch them in their plastic nets.

A new gift idea that can be enjoyed by children and adults alike is "Vic, the Voice-Controlled Vette."

A remote control toy that is activated by the human voice, Vic responds to any spoken command to go forward or backward and turn in a circle. Kids from 5 to 95 will love calling Vic and watching him respond.

Dad

If you find it harder to choose gifts for men than for women, your thinking is probably stuck in the ties and belts section of the department store.

If so, you should realize one of the best ways to get to a man's heart is through his liquor cabinet. The true beer connoisseur appreciates that imported beers, particularly German brews, are superior.

So, a gift of a case of St. Pauli Girl German beer is sure to please Dad's taste buds this Christmas.

Clean, light tasting and brewed without chemicals or preservatives, St. Pauli Girl ranks among the top five imported beers in the U.S.

If the man of the house is a Scotch whisky lover, he'll love a gift of Glen Moray single malt Scotch.

Until recently, the best of the Highland single malt whiskies have been consumed only in local Scottish pubs near the distillery in which they're brewed.

But now, Americans can enjoy the taste of single malt Scotch, just in time for the gift-giving season. Single malt Scotches are only for those who truly love the taste of Scotch, so a gift of Glen Moray will truly delight and impress the connoisseur on your Christmas list.

Mom

Something to keep in mind when shopping for Mom is that women comprise the single largest category of wine drinkers in the country today.

A gift of Folanari Italian wines will meet all of Mom's requirements for a quality wine. Three popular table wines are Folanari Soave, Valpolicella and Bardolino, any of which would be perfect to serve with that special holiday dinner.

Or, two new Folanari wines are now available: Verona Red and Verona White, which are similar in taste to the Soave and Valpolicella, and perfect as menu and inspire new ones, whether Mom uses the original Liqueure Galliano or Amaretto di Galliano and Sambuca di Galliano as well.

Whole family

A most thoughtful gift from Santa is one that the whole family can enjoy. An exciting new catching and throwing game, Crazy Kones by Cosom will definitely fit the bill.

Consisting of two catching kones and one kone to throw back and forth, the game can be played in a variety of ways for loads of fun to be enjoyed by all.

To make a variety of dishes even more appealing, Mom will love a gift of Galliano liqueurs.

These "Italian Classics" will complement any Christmas party wines.

The AMA points out that contrary to popular belief, shaving does not affect the texture, color or rate of hair growth.

Motion filed—

District Attorney Leland Greene of Snyder told The Dispatch this week that he either had made a mistake or The Dispatch had misunderstood him in noting that granting of the rehearing motion would bring another trial.

It's easy to follow the crowd.

It's tougher to lead it.

These people knew how to use spiritual strength to make things better. And they tell us about a force in this universe that gives balance to life. Read the Bible. You'll discover it isn't as old-fashioned as you think.

Your "with-it" crowd isn't always the smartest. So why follow it?

If you want to know what's really happening today, read a 3,000-year-old book. The Bible.

It's about people just like you. Sometimes confused, frightened, weak. Sometimes making wrong decisions.

Keep the force with you. Read the Bible.
