Cotton Acreage Measurements Will Begin In County Next Wednesday Says PMA

Mike C. Custer, secretary of the Garza county Production and Marketing administration, this week issued a newsletter to cotton farmers stating that cotton measurements would begin next Wednesday.

Personnel who will measure the cotton have attended a school of instruction, Custer said, to acquaint them with instructions governing the current allotment program and efficiency in measuring. Each reporter is to bring one chain man and be assisted by the farmer or his representative when the acreage is measured.

Custer emphasized that a farmer or his representative must be present before the cotton could be measured.

Operators who have overplanted their allotments will receive a notice from the county committee and be given 15 days to dispose of excess acreage. After plowing up the excess, the farmer will report it and put up a fee of $2 per farm or $1 per plot, whichever is greater, to have the farm rechecked.

Should the farmer believe an error has been made in his measurement, he can deposit $5 per farm and $2 per plot for measurement. If the first measurement is wrong, the deposit will be refunded, provided the error is sufficient to bring the farm into compliance.

The county committee will establish a cotton yield on overplanted farms based on the last five years' production. Penalty for overplanting will be the cotton yield multiplied by the excess acreage, multiplied by 50 per cent of parity price on middle 1/3 this cotton June 15. Those who overplant will not be eligible for price supports, Custer said.

New Wheat Acreage Must Be Asked For by June 26

Operators wishing to apply for allotments on "new" wheat farms must apply in writing to the county Production and Marketing committee by June 26, Mike Custer, secretary, announced.

Those receiving a wheat allotment of less than five acres in 1950 will not be listed in 1951 unless they file an application for an allotment, Custer said.

Comanche Oil Corporation May Sponsor Post Millers

A public meeting is being called for 4 o'clock Monday afternoon at the city hall for business men, ball players and fans to meet with Monta Moore to discuss the future of the local baseball club.

Moore is representing Morris G. Spencer, operator, formerly Comanche corporation, who is interested in sponsoring the club. Backers of the Millers said today that the club would probably be reorganized if the oil company would take over. Interest shown by the business men here will decide whether or not the company will sponsor the team.

"We have some good ball players," said A. B. Haws, business man who supports the Millers, "but we are short on pitchers. We have an $8,000 ball park, one of the nicest for a town this size. Oil Belt clubs play a good brand of ball and I am interested in Post keeping up at the top in league play. I would like to see 100 business men attend this meeting."

The public is invited to Monday's session with Monta Moore.

Mahon Announces Support Plan Grain Sorghum

Mahon stated that Presidential approval of the pending measure was expected soon and that within a few hours after the President signs the bill, the grain sorghum loan will be announced. He said that the support price on grain sorghum might possibly be announced before the end of the week.

Residences are being moved in and new businesses established but still the influx of people into Post is unabated.

C. J. Josey has a list including 45 families wanting houses or apartments. Three crews working in the Clairemont oil fields are trying to move in here, he said. People are driving in from Lubbock, Lamesa, Snyder and Falls. Josey, who runs a free rental service, said he had three unfurnished houses for rent Tuesday, all in good sections of town. Rents range from $65 to $75 monthly. A railroad crew is among those who are trying to get housing here, he said.

"We need houses and apartments desperately," said Josey, "but people cannot pay the exorbitant rents being asked. Many of them are finding it cheaper to drive from neighboring towns rather than pay the high rents wanted here. People could get as much return on their investment by renting at a reasonable price as they can by not renting at all. Money that would be spent in Post is being spent elsewhere."

Mallard Supply company, an oil well supply firm, is opening a branch office in the Bingham addition, next to Cameron Lumber yard. Irvin L. Heard is president of the company. Headquarters are in Odessa. Manager of the local office is V. A. Neilson. The business will open formally soon.

Seven businesses have been planned for sites along the Clairemont highway with a number of them already underway. King Bingham said Tuesday that there was plenty of water in his new addition and electricity is available. Gas lines, he said, would be installed soon.

Bingham reported selling a number of residence lots in the new addition, having less than 100 left. Plat has been made of the area.

Business Men Are Urged To Invest in Farms, Bank Accounts

BABSON PARK, Mass.—Many of the letters which come to me from small investors who have not funds enough to subscribe to a reliable Investment Advisory service. These, I try to answer frankly and freely. Recently however, letters are coming from businessmen who haven't had any investment experience, although successful in their own business. With such letters in mind, I am writing this column.

Cash in The Bank
Unless World War III suddenly comes, I see no "business bust" in sight. In fact, so long as the Cold War continues, President Truman may be justified in artificially inflating business to avoid unemployment. Therefore, I see nothing for the businessman to worry about at the moment. On the other hand, someday there will be a "bust" when stock prices and many commodity prices may sell for one half what they are selling for today. This means that a good bank account is the best insurance and investment for a businessman.

Government Bonds
Many successful businessmen have all their money in a factory, or store, or real estate. They have made no provision to enable their family to pay their "death taxes" so-called. As a result, the family has been obliged to sell, or mortgage, the business in order to pay these taxes. If the death should come during a depression, this could be very serious.

The Government agrees however, to take the U. S. Government 2 1/2% bonds due 1967-72 in payment for these taxes at their face value upon death, even if Government Bonds at that time may be selling at a discount. Therefore, businessmen should figure now what their death taxes will be and always keep enough of these Government Bonds on hand to pay their tax in an emergency. These bonds, however, should be the personal property of the man and not owned by his corporation.

Corporation Bonds
These are the bonds which are mostly bonds of utility companies paying only about 3%. They commonly advertised. They are good investments for insurance companies and other institutions, but I see no reason why a businessman should buy any at this time. This also applies to most preferred stock. Even non-taxable bonds are selling too high at the present time. Therefore, I think that the businessman should forget bonds unless they have attractive convertible features.

Merchandise Stocks
Businessmen who want to buy stocks at this time might well consider merchandising stocks, especially those of the leading chain stores. Such corporations have few labor troubles; they do a cash business and have a turnover of 4 or 5 times a year, and if out of debt, they can take care of themselves whether we are entering inflation or deflation.

Let me take this occasion to say that during the next few years the greatest opportunities will come to those employed in selling. It will be easy enough for businessmen to get goods manufactured but the difficulty will be to sell them. Young people who are graduating this month from college and high school will be wise to train to sell, even if it means house-to-house peddling.

Productive Real Estate
As a rule, most businessmen have enough in real estate, but I still feel it a prime investment. Well located suburban acreage should be the most desirable. Small fertile farms near settled communities should be good investments. I like growing woodland which belongs to "no union" and "works" day, night, holidays and Sundays! I don't care much for buildings or houses. Most well located land is constantly growing more valuable; but nearly all buildings there are constantly growing less valuable.

Education and Children
Wise businessmen will liberally invest in the family's health, education and spiritual development. In fact, to be niggardly regarding these things is very dangerous. The truly most important investments are those in the unseen and intangible. There is no use in working hard to make and save money and then have it dissipated by children lacking in good judgment or good religion.

GETTING OUT On the LIMB
by EDDIE the EDITOR

Here it is just six more days until summer and I still have spring fever.

This darned weather has been so fouled up this year though that as the song says, "It might as well be spring" ever since last summer. Somehow, my spring fever lasts the year around anyway. Maybe it is a tropic variety I picked up in the South Pacific and just hasn't got acclimated to Texas yet.

One thing, I know, in any case it is highly contagious and infectious. Everybody in my office has it in varying degrees, mostly acute.

This is vacation season and I sure would like to take one but the only thing wrong, I would be tired when I got back than I was when I left. I figure I would be spent, in every way.

I have never figured out just what you are supposed to do on a vacation. Some people drive madly from daybreak to dark, holding up at night in fancy hotels or grubby tourist courts, depending on the state of their pocketbook.

They speed through the countryside too fast to read even the Burma shave signs, much less see any of the scenery. After two weeks, they are back at work, bragging about how many miles they made a day or how many gallons they got to the mile. For my money they could drive out to the Y and back and have just as much fun.

A type of vacation that I could enjoy would be to be up and go to some quiet spot and fish awhile. The only trouble with that is you always forget the Alka Seltzer and who wants to fish with a hangover.

Some people take vacations by going to visit their folks. This is the poorest kind, in my estimation, next to a 10-day tour of the world. The worst aspect of it is that whatever you save in hotel and food bills eating off your cousins, they make it back and double when they come to see you on their two weeks with pay.

Wonder what the kids do on vacations now besides read funny books and go to the picture show? I never hear of the neighbor boys going crawfishing with a bent pin, a piece of twine and a bacon rind. All the old swimming holes I know of are just about dried up. The ones they have now have concrete bottoms and change the water every day besides making the swimmers wear bathing suits.

One reason I guess I get twice as tired is that these days are long enough for two. By six o'clock the sun is shining brightly and 10,000 trucks have already roared down the highway, so you might as well get up.

It doesn't get dark enough for the chickens to go to roost until 8 or 9 o'clock and I've always prided myself on outlasting any chicken. It sure cuts down on my sack time and wears me out.

I wonder if spring fever is a disease or an excuse. Most of the time I think it is just laziness. Educated people can dress it up and call it lassitude, but I think lassitude is just laziness with a masters' degree.

I don't know why it is but my feet weigh more in the summer than they do in the winter. They're just about twice as hard to pick up.

The agriculture department keeps mailing me bulletins about the bugs. Which is mighty brave of 'em, considering.

However, the public may not realize it, but bugs are worse than ever this year. The warm winter nurtured them tenderly, I suppose. The grasshoppers haven't stopped fiddling since the cotton squared out last year.

Of course, everybody has wanted the recent rains, but they have been a shot in the arm to countless thousands of insects, the government agriculture service says.

I just got the word on thrips. They are continuing to migrate into the cotton and are doing serious damage. But all is not lost.

Many farmers have obtained excellent control, the bulletins say, and serious stunting and deformity of plants has been prevented. So there, you old thrip, you.

Bull weevils are still coming out of hibernation, reliable sources tell me. Now most of what I know about bull weevils makes me feel protective toward the little old critter. I am referring to a song, possibly by Floyd Tillman, which insists the little feller is just looking for a home, just looking for a home.

I always believed in providing homes for the homeless. In spite of the agriculture department. Or maybe because of it. I don't know.

Recent heavy rains are favorable for the multiplication of leafworms. Just wait until somebody else asks me what do they do on a rainy night in Rio. Best they spray 2-4-D or something.

Excellent control of flea-hoppers is reported by the ag bureau. On the whole, I understand, infestations of this insect remain relatively low. I am sure that the general public will feel much safer when they go to bed at night since that I can report that neither aphids or bollworms are a problem now.

You know, aphids are the dairy cattle of ants. I have been told. It seems that ants put them out to pasture on rosebushes and such and maintain large herds of them. I've always meant to dig up an anthill and examine their pasteurization plant.

I don't know whether or not I should mention it and alarm the public but I got word straight from College Station that one small leafworm larva was found June 1 in San Patricio county. This is clearly a case of infiltration. It seems to me.

If I just knew where San Patricio county is, I could figure it was an invasion by submarine or parachute. I understand infestation is general in Refugio county.

Now I don't know just what we can expect in Garza county, but I think we should be prepared for the very worst. At any time a murderous horde of chewing, chirping crickets may descend on us.

I'm getting my DDT bomb handy.

The four Texas peace officers are T. W. (Buckshot) Lane of Wharton, William F. Crawford of Victoria, Charley H. Meyer of Beaumont and Leonard M. Fisher of Port Lavaca.

"Their experience has yielded some unique and interesting incidents and has resulted in the conclusion that the airplane is a most effective addition to the weapons used in combating crime," the story begins.

It then points out how the flying sheriffs effectively use planes for numerous tasks, including tracking down cattle rustlers.

"Sheriff Crawford advises that he has used his airplane to good advantage in investigating cattle theft cases by being able to survey even remote sections of the country from the air."

"By means of his landing lights he has been able to note the description of the truck and in some instances the license number. He is able to check by police radio to determine the car owner and thus determine quickly and easily whether the truck is on legitimate business or whether it is actually being used in the stealing of cattle.

Both Lane and Crawford reported travel expenses of their office, including transporting of prisoners, is considerably cheaper by plane because of savings in time, involving meals and salaries. They say gas and oil for the plane runs between 5 and 6 cents a mile.

Sheriff Meyer's office is credited with being the first in Texas to maintain a plane, having purchased one in 1947. It usually is piloted by Deputy Glenn Leighton, a Navy veteran. Deputy T. O. Grant acts as communications officer.

Deputy Sheriff Max Council of Port Arthur teams up with Leighton for parachuting jobs, such as the time one of them leaped with food and medicine for a hunter who was lost for two days in a marsh.

Calhoun county has 300 to 400 miles of coast line with numerous off-shore islands. Sheriff Fisher reports he can patrol the whole county in 2 1/2 hours by plane, whereas it takes two weeks by land.

Captain Shoup was engineering officer aboard the USS Minneapolis in the battles of the Coral Sea and Midway, executive officer of the USS Astoria when it was sunk in the Battle of Savo Island, and commanding officer of the USS Clermont in the Okinawa campaign.

At Annapolis, Captain Shoup was the Academy's tennis champion in 1923. Last week his son, Frank, in a tournament at Richmond, Va., won the Southern states high school conference tennis championship and played on the winning doubles team.

Minute Editorial

Hardly 10 people in Garza county paid any attention to the recent Supreme court decision in the Tidelands case. Local people are not even as good as the sluggard in the Bible who said "... a lion is in the streets." All we like sheep continue to rush hell-bent toward socialism or Trumanism, never even knowing the direction we are taking. The United States government made a bargain with Texas when this state joined the Union allowing her to retain title to public lands. Some 100 years later, the United States comes back through its Supreme Court and says Texas does not have title to its public lands, in this case off-shore tidelands, now that these lands have been declared oil rich. What guarantee does the citizen have that his land title is any good should it prove to be of value to the federal government? What good is our vaunted freedom of the speech, the press, our Bill of Rights. These were provisions in a contract adopted almost 300 years ago, known as a Constitution. Who knows at what whim the Supreme Court judges will decide to abrogate the Constitution? And who is to keep them from it? Bad officials, it has been said, are elected by those who fail to vote. Texans have a 20-year record of overwhelming support of national officials whose whims are contrary to our welfare. Texas enjoys being the feeding hand that is bitten by the Democratic party. Every man and woman of voting age has a duty to vote intelligently this year. We are the people the government is by, and of. Indifference is the unforgivable sin of the 20th century. The lion in the streets has become the Federal wolf at the door. We have left the door open.

What Our Contemporaries Are Saying:

JUST TALK—A friend of mine who lives in Waco and with whom I worked on the News-Tribune, in that town, wrote me last week and said that he bought a new automobile and was on his way down to the insurance office to take out some insurance on it when he ran into some wet pavement, and slid into a telephone pole. It cost him about $400.00 to get the car fixed, he had his father with him and the father got his ankle bone broken; when he got home his mother had fallen off a ladder and hurt her legs and had to have a doctor, the water heater blew up and cost him about $200.00, and the only hard luck he has missed is that he has not gotten married yet.

Mrs. I. N. McCrary's House Is Built Around Her Furniture Here

Mrs. I. N. McCrary's house of red brick and Austin stone at the end of West Main street was built specifically around her period furniture.

The house, which she describes as Colonial or Early Georgian, was designed and built by her son, Giles. Lefty Davies was the contractor. Mrs. McCrary has had her yard landscaped but she has not been living there long enough to have a lawn started. She moved here from Fort Worth. The house faces north and an antique Mexican knocker is on the front door. The door leads into an 18x38-foot living-dining room with a large bay window on the north. Walls are painted pale gray as is the attic-type ceiling which is 14 feet high in the center and 12 feet high on the sides.

The gray patterned carpet is the same all over the house. An antique 'rent' or poker table centers the bay window area. At each side are wing-backed chairs upholstered in a blue striped material.

Mrs. McCrary is especially proud of her pictures, each having a significance for her. On one wall of the bay is a shadow-framed plate from her collection of some 400 plates. Opposite it is a plaque of a London castle, made in London.

Chippendale Commodes
Chippendale commodes hold Chippendale lamps with the same pattern on the base that is on willow ware. The blue lamp on the 'rent' table was made from an old rose jar.

Mrs. McCrary's floor furnace for her living room is at the bottom of the gray tile-lined fireplace. The mantel and facing of the fireplace is gray wood.

Above it is a painting from the collection of the famed Samuel Insull who had to sell his personal property after becoming involved in the Tea Pot Dome oil scandals. Framed in an antique baroque frame, it was painted by the American artist, Frederick Ballard Williams.

All of Mrs. McCrary's light fixtures, which were taken from her former home, are imported. Above the Sheraton dining table is a crystal chandelier imported from Czechoslovakia. Chairs to the dining table are Chippendale.

The breakfast in the back of the dining area holds part of Mrs. McCrary's plate collection. It includes a tea set and a number of plates with scenes from the works of Dickens. She has numerous historical and commemorative plates, including George and Martha Washington plates.

All Mahogany Furniture
All of Mrs. McCrary's furniture is mahogany. In one side of the dining area is an unusual round-front serving cabinet. A serving table holds Mrs. McCrary's silver tea service.

A Duncan Phyfe rose-upholstered sofa is in the center of the room. In front of it is a Sheraton coffee table with small silver ash trays embedded along the edges. All the tables are leather covered.

Behind the couch is a mahogany secretary holding French and German bisque figures. Beside the front door is a Chippendale console table with a matching mirror in a carved, ornate frame.

Opposite the sofa are two gold-upholstered Chippendale fireside chairs. Between them is a nest of Chippendale tables in different shapes.

Windows to Floor
Windows in the bay area go to the floor. West of the bay are three big windows placed together. Rose-colored draw draperies cover all. Mrs. McCrary's radio-phonograph combination, after a Colonial style, completes the furniture in this room. Andirons at the fireplace are in Sheffield silver.

The guest room is west of the dining area. It is entered by a gum slab door. All connecting doors in the house are slab. The same carpeting is carried in from the living room. Walls are pale green. The light fixture was imported from Czechoslovakia.

Mrs. McCrary calls attention to the shadow-framed painting, with a second baroque frame. It depicts two girls by a wall and was painted by a foreign artist.

An easy chair is upholstered in the same green-background floral print with burnt-yellow flowers and an off-white stripe which makes the draw draperies for the two windows. This room is 19x20 feet in measurement.

Dresden Lamps on Desk
Besides the twin beds, a delicate desk and chair and a high-boy, there is an antique beige-upholstered rocker and a tier table holding a lamp. Dresden lamps are on the desk. Two closets give guests plenty of space to hang their clothes. One has a full-length mirror on the door.

Guest bathroom is 12x14 feet in dimensions. It is in peach and white, the peach picking up the colors of the bedspreads in the guestroom. Shower-high tile, a new type everlasting steel variety, surrounds the recessed bath tub.

A "stand-up" dressing table with a recessed mirror is built over the dirty-clothes hamper and storage closet. White tile wainscots the walls. Fixtures are white.

"Giles thought of everything," says Mrs. McCrary, "and I really am glad he thought of this." She refers to her sewing room. Located on the east side of the living room, its walls are painted gray. On the floor is blue and gray tile.

From the window, she can look out over the front lawn and see who is coming to call. An ironing board is built-in here for pressing. Storage space is abundant for blankets and out-of-season clothes. On the wall is a floral Mrs. McCrary painting.

Apple Barrel Sewing Box
Mrs. McCrary's sewing box is an old apple barrel. The most interesting piece of furniture in this room is an old carved cedar chest made in the Huntsville penitentiary many years ago.

Mrs. McCrary's bedroom, like the rest of the house is notable for its spaciousness. Dimensions are 20x22 feet. Walls in here are painted gray. All furniture is mahogany. It includes her mother's spool bed, a massive dresser and a chest of drawers as well as tier table holding a cut glass lamp.

A blue couch is in one corner. One chair is a wine-upholstered Duncan Phyfe "gentleman's chair." Draw draperies at the window are in a textured gray material. The carpet carries over from the living room.

Above the head of the bed is another painting, of two children. It is called "Companionship." Another flower picture painted by Mrs. McCrary is above the couch. On the bed is a quilt pieced by Mrs. McCrary from an original pattern. It depicts blue morning glories and yellow jonquils on a white background.

Mrs. McCrary's closet has sliding doors. The three deep racks of clothes slide out for easy accessibility. Next the clothes closet is a hat and shoe closet, complete with shelves and drawers.

Bath in Blue, White
The bathroom is north of Mrs. McCrary's bedroom and is tiled in blue and white. It is the same size and identical to the guest bath except it has a sit-down dressing table and the color scheme is different. Big linen closets are a feature of this bath.

Across the back of the house behind the living room, is the 14x26-foot sitting room. Walls are painted gray and lined with book shelves. Mrs. McCrary has a number of bookshelves in her bedroom. She has an extensive library of children's books and children from two local families are regular visitors to borrow books.

The floor is in blue and gray tile blocks. Her desk, a secretary type, is out here, as well as the first needle point chair she ever made. An old-fashioned day bed is in one corner. The center of Mrs. McCrary's dining table, which is really a banquet table, serves as a breakfast table in the end of the sitting room next to the kitchen.

On the table are a pair of Italian candlesticks with a matching bowl. A gold-plated antique clock is on one of the open shelves. Mrs. McCrary collects scrapbooks and she even has a special storage space for them. A painting of the ranch house is above the daybed.

Bright Draw Draperies
Draw draperies are a bright print with tomato red and yellow as dominant colors. They cover two glass brick windows, a door to the back yard and a conventional window.

Dimensions of the kitchen which is behind the living-dining area are 14x16 feet. Floor and counter tops are inlaid yellow linoleum-like substance. Walls are white. Cabinets are painted yellow inside.

The sink has a drain board on each side and is in the center of the back wall. Mrs. McCrary has a gas range. Her kitchen table folds up into the wall, concealing shelves holding more of her

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Oh—My Aching Feet!

Other night just as I was settling down with a book and a mellow glass of beer, the wife calls down, "Joe—I almost forgot—you and I are going over to the High School and take dancing lessons!"

Now, I can walk with the best of them, so I put up a quiet struggle against going but it was no use. Turns out it was the class in square dancing. And from the look on some of the other men I judged I wasn't the only one there who had been taken by surprise!

Miss Williams and Curly Lawson taught us what to do with our feet, and before it was over, darn if I wasn't actually enjoying myself. Going back next week, too!

From where I sit, we sometimes get an idea into our head for or against something and then hang onto it for dear life. Whether it's square dancing, or the right to enjoy temperate beer or ale now and then, we owe it to ourselves as Americans to take an open-minded attitude—that's even after we make up our minds about it!

Millers Meet Refiners Here Tonight, To Play Rubber Game with Slaton

Post Millers meet Levelland here tonight for the third time, still looking for a win against the third-place Refiners. Game time is 8:15 o'clock.

Sunday's tilt is a rubber game between the locals and the Slaton Lions. Their lone victory of season came for the Lions June 1 when they trimmed the faltering Millers 8-2. Should the Lions win again, they would probably give up their lease on the cellar in favor of the Millers.

Bud Slatter, former southpaw pitcher for West Texas-New Mexico teams, has been signed to pitch tonight.

Post has lost both previous starts to the Refiners, one here and one in Levelland.

Sunday the locals were defeated by Seagraves. Walter B. Holland held his own in a pitching duel with Oiler Moundsman Hulen Fowler, for six innings. Seagraves scored three runs in the first and one in the second against two for the Millers in the top of the second. Holland held them scoreless until the sixth when another run got by.

The Oiler's blasted Pierce, Holland's relief, off the mound with an eight-run barrage in the seventh. Bill Holcombe took over to be relieved by Jerry Odum.

Fowler retired in the eighth in favor of Lefty Faulkner, after allowing only two runs and five hits. He fanned seven batters. Faulkner gave up the other two Miller scores in the ninth.

3 Hitters Get 6
Holland doubled, Holcombe got two hits and R. F. Josey counted three safeties. For the winners, Faulkner got three hits in five trips. Galey, Deatrage and Ragland got to the Miller hurlers for two hits each, with the last two getting doubles.

Sunday Levelland beat Slaton 23-15 in a scoring melee after coming from behind in the fifth, moving up to third place in Oil Belt standing. Wild scoring was the order of the day with Sundown trouncing Denver City, 26-15.

Post held Sundown to a score of 12-7 Thursday night. Sundown surged ahead with four tallies in the bottom of the first only to see the Millers come back with five runs in the second. The latter half of that stanza saw the league-leaders tie up the score. Sundown got another run in the third and three in the fourth to sew up the game.

Bill Holcombe went all the way for the locals, aided by two singles each from G. R. Pierce and H. Ingram. Holcombe gave up only nine hits to Sundown while his mates got seven off the four opposition hurlers. Bob Bedford, who came on as the third pitcher in the third, was credited with the win.

Acting Manager Jim Hundley is continuing his policy of putting new faces in the line-up which seems to be paying off for the Millers in the better showings they have made lately.

SPORTS

FROM THE... GRANDSTAND

by WILBUR MARTIN
Associated Press Staff

The Associated Press poll for the greatest upset in Texas sports history is completed. There's many an argument. There have been so many upsets.

One of the greatest of them all was Texas' 7-0 victory over Texas A&M in Memorial Stadium at Austin on Thanksgiving Day, 1940.

This was the great A&M team that was Rose-Bowl bound. This was the team with Jarrin' Jawn Kimbrough.

Nearly every sports writer wrote columns about that great upset. Nearly everybody had his own theory of why—at the very outset of play—Texas scored the touchdown that derailed that Rosebowl Express. Why A&M and Kimbrough couldn't make up that deficit.

Just about every reason in the world has been given. But there's another minor mystery attached to this game. As far as we know it has never been satisfactorily explained where the Aggies went after that game.

The night before the morning of the game Austin was thronged with cadets from College Station. Seemingly there were thousands—happy, shouting, confident cadets.

But that was the night before and the morning of the game. By 9 p. m. that night—after Texas beat A&M, 7-0—there were no cadets anywhere.

Gordon Fulcher, then managing editor of the Austin American, practically turned over the newspaper to the sports department that night. Everybody on the paper seemingly wrote a story—game, dressing room, crowd, color, comment.

But nobody explained what happened to the Aggies. How they disappeared so suddenly.

Ten years later it still seems amazing.

Miss Patsy Exum Is Bride Of Cadet Bill Fumagalli

Miss Patsy Jeanne Exum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dial of Roswell, N. M., became the bride of Cadet Captain J. C. (Bill) Fumagalli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Fumagalli, in a garden ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

Lee Henrichs, organist, played a prelude of wedding music and she also accompanied by Henry Blake, jr., who sang "Because" and "Always."

Dr. Austin D. Crile, retired captain of New Mexico Military Academy, performed the double ceremony at 7 o'clock in the evening under an archway decorated with white flowers. Passed flowers were arranged on the side of the altar.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white, ballerina-length, organza, ballerina-length dress with a wide pink tulle train and a wide pink bouquet of white roses and blue delphinium. She carried a pink rose. She wore a pink hat. For the stephanotis in her hair. For the stephanotis in her hair. For the stephanotis in her hair. For the stephanotis in her hair.

Sister of Bride

Miss Tretha Don Exum, maid of honor and sister of the bride, wore a powder blue ballerina-length dress and blue cornflower in her hair. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and blue flowers.

Cadet Captain Buddy Baca of Santa Fe, N. M., attended the ceremony as best man. Ushers were Cadet Captain Gerald Benn of Kansas City, Kan., and Cadet Captain Bud Wortman of Dexter, Mo.

Miss Exum, mother of the bride, wore a blue sheer dress and a corsage of yellow roses and blue delphinium. The bridegroom's mother wore a two-tone rose dress, a rose-trimmed hat and a corsage of orange and yellow flowers.

The bride's parents were hosts of a reception after the wedding. The refreshment table was decorated with a white embroidered lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of roses and delphinium.

Post Residents Favor Hospital Bond Proposal And Plan To Support It in the Election Scheduled in July Primary

Most Post residents are heartily in favor of the hospital bond election and plan to support it in the July election, a survey conducted this week by the Dispatch revealed. The majority felt that the tax increase would be negligible considering the benefit to be had from a hospital here.

When Mrs. Dan Altman was asked if she favored the proposal, she answered, "Yes, and no. As Eddie said in his column, there will be people who will still go out of town to specialists and things. And here is going to be an added tax. I really haven't thoroughly decided just which way I will vote."

"I haven't thought much about it," said Mrs. Jasper Atkinson. "Post really needs a hospital and it would be nice to have one. It would be much more convenient for sick people as well as those who have to wait on them."

John Davis, who has recently returned to Post to live, said, "I don't know much about the plans. I would like to see a hospital here."

"I'm wholeheartedly for it," replied Mrs. Walter Boren. "The town needs it very badly, I believe. If it is possible to get it, I think we should."

Phil Bouchier answered, "I hadn't given it much thought. Our town needs a hospital, there is no doubt about it. I don't know if that is the way to get it, but it is one way."

"I am very positively for it," said Mrs. Sherrill Boyd. "I think the town could have supported one before the boom and can certainly support one now. Taxes will be increased very little as a result. Post will miss a great opportunity if we don't get the hospital now. We will soon have to have one and later it may cost more."

Put me down as 100 per cent for it," Shelley Camp answered. "The main thing wrong here is the distance people have to go to get to a hospital. Proof that we need one is our A-1 priority—if we didn't need it we wouldn't have a priority like that."

James Dietrich's answer was, "I think it would be mighty fine. I'm sure it would work out here."

"I'm for it," announced O. D. Cardwell. "It is a good thing. Every town this size needs one. I don't think it would increase taxes enough to hurt anybody."

Robert Cato also is a supporter of the proposal. "It is much needed," he said. "I think every citizen eligible should get behind it and get it started and completed to be of service to everyone in the county."

"I'm certainly for it," said Robert Cox. "It is a very good idea. I am not informed enough on it and cannot express an opinion," J. W. Crider answered.

"I'm for it," Mrs. G. R. Day stated.

Hadn't Considered It Mrs. Boone F. Evans said, "I haven't given it much consideration. It looks like a good thing. A hospital here would reach and help a good many people who cannot go away to a hospital."

"Well, I think it would be wonderful," said Mrs. Homer Gordon. "Post really needs it. I'm going to do all I can to put it over."

H. J. Dietrich responded, "I think we should have one. There is no use in everyone having to go out of town for minor things. We need one badly. Post had a hospital in the old Colonial apartments when I was a young man. I was a patient there twice. I hated to see it close down."

"This is the first time I have been asked about what I think about it," said Sam Bardwell. "I think those county plans work out well. If we get a hospital, it will be worth while to the county."

Would Be Fine Ira Lee Duckworth said, "I think a hospital would be very fine. We are far behind on such things and it is past time we

Desserts and Main Dishes Are Featured in Recipes Today

Desserts and main dishes to save the busy housewife's time on hot summer days are featured in today's Dispatch collection of recipes from Post women. Mrs. Edd Dye has a recipe for Lemon Pie that goes over big with members of her family. Ingredients include:

- 1 lemon
- 1 cup water
- Mix together the flour or cornstarch, sugar and salt. Add egg yolks and white. Stir in grated rind of half a lemon and the juice of a whole lemon. Add water and cook until thick. Pour in already baked pie shell. For the meringue, Mrs. Dye uses:
- 2 egg whites
- 1/2 cup powdered sugar
- Beat the egg whites and powdered sugar until stiff. Pipe roughly on pie filling and brown slightly in moderate oven. Mrs. Bruce Shepherd has two recipes that are especially nutritious. One, Liver and Vegetables, she likes much better than her husband does. It calls for:

- 1 lb liver cut in bite-size pieces
- 2 tablespoons lard
- 2 cups water
- carrots
- potatoes
- onions
- salt and pepper to taste

Saute liver in lard, then add sufficient vegetables for the number of people who will be served and stew in water until done. Mrs. Shepherd says this method eliminates the sharp liver taste. Another of her favorite recipes is for Chicken Pot Pie. Ingredients include:

- Bony pieces of chicken
- carrots
- onions
- English peas
- salt and pepper to taste
- biscuit topping

Boil chicken until meat comes off bone, then cook carrots and onions in chicken broth. Left over English peas may be added. Put entire mixture in greased casserole and top with thin layer of biscuit dough. Salt and pepper to taste and cook in oven until done.

The T. D. Scott family goes in the class with Devil's Food Cake fans. Mrs. Scott's recipe includes:

- 1 1/4 cups cake flour
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup high grade shortening
- 1 cup milk
- 2 unbeat eggs
- 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted.
- 1/2 teaspoon red food coloring

Sift flour with sugar, baking powder, soda, salt, and add to shortening and 2-3 cup of milk. Beat vigorously with mixer for two minutes, then add remaining milk, eggs and chocolate. Add cake coloring and beat two more minutes. Pour in pans and bake 30 to 35 minutes at 350 degrees Fahrenheit. Mrs. Scott frosts this cake with a Fudge Icing. It includes:

- 2 cups sugar
- 1/4 cup white corn sirup
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 2 squares unsweetened chocolate
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix sugar, sirup, milk, shortening, chocolate and salt, thoroughly. Stir over low heat until chocolate and shortening melt. Stir constantly while rapidly bringing to a boil. Boil one minute. Remove from heat and beat gently until lukewarm. Add vanilla and beat until it begins to lose its glaze and is the consistency to spread.

Mrs. George Tillman has a most timely recipe which she says is exceptionally good and may be used in an all-vegetable dinner for a meat substitute. Baked Yellow Squash, it calls for:

- 1 lb thinly sliced squash
- 4 tablespoons butter
- 1 raw egg
- 1-3 cup cream
- 3/4 cup cracker crumbs
- 1/2 cup grated cheese

Cook squash in small amount of water until tender. Season with salt and pepper and mash. Add butter, egg, cream and cracker crumbs with cheese. Pour into buttered baking dish and grate more cheese over the top. Bake in 375-degree oven until firm.

Mrs. O. L. Jones has a recipe for Stuffed Green Peppers that is a favorite with her family. It calls for:

- 1 cup medium white sauce
- 1 cup whole kernel corn
- 2 cups ground cooked ham
- 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/2 cup buttered crumbs
- 6 green peppers

Combine white sauce, corn, ham and mustard. Fill green pepper shells and sprinkle with buttered crumbs and a dash of paprika. This recipe, Mrs. Jones says, is sufficient for six green peppers. Cook in pan in small amount of water until brown.

Mrs. J. N. Gossett has a new twist for an old favorite dish. She calls it New Method Meat Loaf. Ingredients include:

- 1 lb hamburger meat
- 1 small onion
- 1 can tomato sauce
- 1 bell pepper
- 1 recipe corn bread batter

Fry onions and meat to a golden brown. Add tomato sauce and while this simmers, mix corn bread batter. Arrange green pepper cut in rings on greased pan and pour meat mixture and then batter over it. Bake in a hot oven until brown.

Mrs. G. W. Norris finds that Apple Sauce Cake makes her family call for more. She uses:

- 1 No. 2 can apple sauce
- 2 cups sugar
- 1 cup shortening
- 2 eggs
- 2 teaspoons cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon cloves
- 2 teaspoons soda dissolved in 4 tablespoons hot water
- 2 cups raisins

2 cups broken pecans
4 cups flour
Blend shortening and sugar and add to well-beaten egg. Then stir in applesauce, adding remaining ingredients in order listed with flour being sifted in last, small amounts at a time. Mix well and bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees in a tube pan or one hour in a loaf pan.

Mrs. Floyd Verner, another newcomer to Post, moving here from Amarillo, has an original recipe for Fried Shrimp. Seafood lovers should enjoy it as much as Mrs. Verner's family does. Her recipe which serves four includes:

- 1 1/2 lbs shrimp
- cold milk
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- flour
- meal
- cooking oil

Remove shells from shrimp, split clear through and remove vein. Wash, then soak two hours in milk and baking powder solution to cover. Remove and drain, then salt. Dip in half flour and half meal mixture, using ice pick to handle. Fry golden brown in deep cooking oil. Serve with French fries and mixed vegetable salad.

Mrs. D. C. Williams and daughter, Mrs. Warren Yancey, left Monday for Rayne, La., to visit their daughter and sister, Mrs. James Arceneaux and son, Jay.

Mrs. A. B. Cason and son and Mrs. Cason's mother, Mrs. M.erry, of Abilene spent the first of the week visiting here.

Avid Aphid Gets Into Insecticide Curtain

RIVERSIDE, Calif., June 14—P—"WANTED: An iron curtain, or something, to stop the green peach aphid." No such public appeal has been made by the University of California citrus experiment station here, but neither have its experts been able to halt the spread of the green peach aphid.

This creature flies through clouds of insecticide without turning a hair, spreading a virus that causes cantaloupe mosaic. This is a disease which on two recent occasions has ruined a third of the early melon crop hereabout.

Garza Countians Plant Grasses In SC Program

Grass plantings made in the Duck Creek Soil Conservation district during the late spring are coming along nicely, conservationists say.

After a dry spring, 1026 acres of abandoned fields were planted to grass. These grasses were sand lovegrass, weeping lovegrass, native bluestem mixture, blue grama and Buffalo grass mixture, sideoats grama, blue grama and native bluestems.

Rex Welch of the Grassburr Community planted an abandoned field on his ranch back to grass. He used a native bluestem mixture on a 10-acre portion of the field. Welch has planted a portion of this field each year since 1947. At the present time he has over 100 acres in a good stand. He will be able to harvest a seed crop within the next few weeks.

N. J. Lanotte Starts Business in 1921 And Is Still Selling Iron Bedsteads Here

N. J. Lanotte has seen the full circle in bedroom furniture since 1921 when he entered the furniture business here.

He started out selling iron bedsteads and cane bottom chairs and now, he says, the demand for iron bedsteads has come back.

Lanotte came to Post in 1916. He first operated a grocery store. In 1921 he bought out a small furniture stock from Jim Range.

His business has been in the same location since. It has always been a furniture and hardware business since its beginning.

"I had a very limited stock to start with," Lanotte says. "Most of my business was in second hand furniture. However, I sold some cane bottom chairs, cheap mattresses and such."

He gradually enlarged his stock, buying the adjoining building around 1930. Now he handles Crosley appliances as well as Modern Maid and Anderson stoves. He has been a Crosley dealer for about four years. The first stoves he sold were wood and coal oil burners—gas had not been installed in Post at the time.

Now, Lanotte says, he sells more bedroom suites than any other thing. He deals directly with the factories in Virginia and the Carolinas. Even the couches he sells can be made into beds. He does not handle high grade living room suites but keeps his merchandise in a lower price range.

"However," he says, "the cook stove I handle is one of the best makes on the market."

Besides his second-hand stock in the early days, he got his new merchandise shipped by train from Dallas. He still does most of his business with the JOHNNY MACK BROWN—The ninth annual ABC rodeo slated at Jones Stadium will feature Western Star Johnny Mack Brown. Dates set for this year are June 21-24. Proceeds of the rodeo go to the Lubbock Boys' Club.

Lubbock ABC Rodeo To Feature Johnny M. Brown

Johnny Mack Brown, former All-American football player, now starring in western movies, will be the featured star when the Lubbock American Business club unveils its ninth annual Boys' Club Rodeo June 21.

Brown will make public appearances at all four of the shows, June 21-24. Roscoe Armstrong's bucking Ford will be featured, as well as the Kitchenettes, a trampoline act with three girls, and a working exhibition of sheep herding by collie dogs.

Rodeo profits go into the capital building fund for the Lubbock Boys' club. More than $3,500 in prizes will be offered to competing cowboys. General admission seats are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children. Reserved box seats are $2.40, tax included.

Reds Call Their Berlin 'Democratic'

BERLIN, June 14—The word "Russian" has recently acquired a new synonym here. It is "democratic." Signs have been erected proclaiming the Russian sector of Berlin as the "democratic sector."

Russian-controlled newspapers have adopted the idea. Also, the Russian-controlled radio refers to itself as the "democratic radio."

This is opposed to the American, British and French sectors of the city, which are designated, individually and collectively, as the "gangster sectors" or the "terror sectors." Those freshly-painted "democratic sector" signs were up on the borders between the Russian and American sectors of the city only a few days before they were attacked and defaced. Night-time operators knocked down some of them. On others they crossed out the word "democratic" and substituted "oppressed."

Thereupon the Communists ordered their so-called "people's police" to detail special patrols for guarding the signs.
