It's a long time since only the rich could afford to enjoy the exotic flavors that spices add to food. It's longer still since Columbus, looking for a short cut to the land of spices, discovered a whole new world by accident. Many a good cook has found that she was discovering a new world when she learned to use spices to advantage. And considering the very low cost of whole assortment of spices, it is a wonder that more women don't use more of them.

You'll find a wide assortment of spices at Piggly Wiggly store and if you don't find the ones you want Paul Jones will be glad to try and get them for you. By

28 Candidates File for District, County, Precinct Offices

Twenty-eight candidates for district, county and precinct offices had announced with the Post Dispatch by this week for the voters to choose from in the July primary.

T. R. Greenfield county Democratic chairman, said that last Saturday was deadline for county and precinct candidates to file.

Sterling Williams of Snyder is a candidate for reelection for state representative for the 118th Legislative district. He is opposed by N. C. Outlaw of Post.

Louis B. Reed of Lamesa is up for reelection as district judge for the 106th Judicial district, opposed by Tom Garrard of Tahoka. Karl Cayton of Lamesa is the sole candidate listed for district attorney.

The sheriff's race has the largest number of candidates, six, followed by Precinct 1 commissioners' race with four candidates. Several incumbents are unopposed.

Miss Vera Gollehon has no opponent in her third race for county treasurer, Dean Robinson is completing his fourth term as county school superintendent and is unopposed in asking for his fifth stint at that office. Ray Smith has been county and district clerk for eight terms and is the only man in the race this year.

David Willis, newcomer to Post is the only candidate for county attorney. Running for county judge, is H. M. Snowden and J. Lee Bowen. Judge Bowen has served six terms as county judge and is asking for his seventh election.

One candidate withdrew from the sheriff's race after announcing in the spring, W. W. Jones. Opposing Sheriff E. M. Bass who is up for his first elected term as sheriff and tax assessor-collector are L. E. (Fay) Claborn, Carl Rains, Howard Freeman, M. L.

Holland and Nathan Mears. Holland is city marshal at present. Mears has served as sheriff previously. Claborn and Freeman have served as deputies under former sheriffs.

Opposing Boone F. Evans for commissioner of Precinct 1 are Earle Thaxton, Ernest Henderson and L. P. Kennedy, Jr. Buck Gossett, Precinct 2 commissioner, has no opponent. Challenging Commissioner W. C. Quisenberry in Precinct 3 is Ozell Wil-hams. Bandy Cash is opposing Sid Cross, incumbent, in Precinct 4.

Justice of the Peace J. D. King is serving his second term in that office. He is opposed this year by Henry Foreman.

Seven of the 16 county and precinct candidates in 1948 were in the sheriff's race. Twenty-two sought county and precinct offices in 1946. In the presidential election year, 1944, there were 19 candidates. A woman,

Mrs. Esma Cash, was the lone candidate for justice of the peace.

Greenfield and the county committee met Monday to apportion the cost of the election among the candidates. Saturday is the last day for candidates to pay their share to the county chairman, Greenfield said.

May 15 was the deadline for filing for district offices and June 5 was the state candidates' deadline for filing.

BLAZING OIL WELL—Searing flames and dense black smoke rise from the Pan-American No. 1 Holley oil well, about 30 miles south of Post. The well erupted burning a geologist to death. Smoke from the well can be seen from here. Nitroglycerin blasts have failed to quench the flame and operators are applying for a permit to dig a hole to drain off this well.

Some 30 Fort Worth Business Men Stop Here on Booster Trip

Some 30 Fort Worth business men stopped here briefly Tuesday morning to begin the first lap of a two-day tour of West Texas and New Mexico.

They came in on a special pullman, attacked to the regular west-bound Santa Fe run and were met by several Post business men at the depot. An air-conditioned bus picked up the men almost immediately and they left for Tahoka. Tuesday's itinerary included O'Donnell, Lamesa, Seminole, Denver City, Lovington and Hobbs, N. M., where the group spent the night.

Last night they completed their tour with dinner in Lubbock and boarded the pullman to return to Fort Worth.

Purpose of the tour, said Charles Cotton, trip secretary, was to discuss matters of mutual interest and advantage between West Texas and Fort Worth. This is the second such tour this year.

George Kelley was trip chairman. Among the others were Stewart Hellman, district attorney; Harry Heinecke and Dub McPhail of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram; L. R. "Dutch" Myer, athletic director at Texas Christian university; and other representatives of major Fort Worth business firms.

Chamber of Commerce President George Samson and Mayor John Herd headed the local group meeting the train. Others present were Lewis Herron, E. F. Schmedt, Shelley Camp, Ollie Weakley, O. D. Cardwell, Tom Power, T. R. Greenfield, Mrs. Sherrill Boyd, Mrs. Tom Power, and others.

Negro Dies After Being Hit by Truck

Leland Stien Garrett, Negro, died in Lubbock Memorial hospital Tuesday morning after he was hit earlier by a butane truck on the Clairemont highway.

The accident occurred about 1:10 o'clock Tuesday morning, 23 miles east of here, three miles over the Kent county line.

Bennett Franklin Dyer was driving the truck which belonged to Star Gas company of Midland. According to Highway Patrolman Rodney Davenport who investigated the accident, Garrett was sitting in the middle of the road and Dyer swerved to miss him, hitting him with the trailer.

Thinking it was a holdup, the truck driver drove on and returned a short time later. Garrett, whose home was in Lubbock, died about 6 o'clock Tuesday morning.

No charges would be filed, Patrolman Davenport said.

Drilling Information In Garza County Remains Tight

New crews continue to move into Post but information on drilling in Garza county is quiet with the oil spotlight shining heavily on surrounding areas.

Announcement was made Thursday of the completion of the R. S. and P. W. Anderson No. 1-A Walker, an extension of their Roker-A-San Andres pool in southeast Garza county. It was completed on the pump for 96 barrels of 37 gravity oil with eight and one-half per cent water in 24 hours. Production is from 2422 feet with a total depth of 2451 feet.

The field is located three and one-half miles west of Justiceburg.

George P. Livermore will drill a 3500-foot wildcat four miles southeast of Justiceburg to be known as the No. 1 Justice Heirs.

J. B. Stoddard of Dallas has staked a 7500-foot wildcat in Kent county, three and one-half miles southeast of Jayton. It will be virtually on the Kent-Stonewall county line. It is six and three-fourths miles from an Aurora Gasoline company wildcat.

Unconfirmed reports credit the J. H. Snowden et al No. 1 Bryan Williams in Lynn county with some oil show above 8600 feet. The well is now in the Canyon reef section, it is believed and drilling is continuing.

Morris G. Spencer, operator, has moved his rotary rig from Lynn No. 5 to C. O. Williams No. 4. After drilling to 2970 feet, Lynn No. 5 is waiting on the cable tools.

Dozen Fines Levied In Justice Court Here

An even dozen fines were assessed in justice of the peace court this week, most of them highway violations, JP J. D. King reports.

Six highway violations for $1 and costs were assessed and one for $5. Three drunks were fined $1 and costs and a fine of $5, and costs was assessed another. A fine of $1 and costs was asked for disturbing the peace.

Wild Bill Elliott To Appear in and Judge Junior Rodeo

Final plans for the 1950 Southwestern Championship Junior Rodeo slated for Aug. 9-12 in the Post Stampede arena here are nearing completion with the acceptance of Wild Bill Elliott for guest appearances.

Alvin Davis, youthful manager of the show, announced that Elliott, western picture star, will appear at all performances of the rodeo and act as judge in the Quarter horse and cutting horse shows. He will be guest of Mr. Ryan and Mrs. Walter Duckworth while here.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Holley Are Held Tuesday

Funeral services were held for Mrs. Emiley Josephine Holley at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the First Methodist church, with the Rev. J. E. Stephens officiating.

A choir sang "The Old Rugged Cross," "Nearer My God To Thee" and "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." Burial was in the cemetery at Justiceburg with Mason Funeral home in charge.

Mrs. Holley died early Sunday following an illness of several months. She was born January 29, 1893 and had lived in Post 25 years. She was a member of the Methodist church.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. "Sherry" Shelton of Post; a son, Haskell Holley of Fort Knox, Ky.; two grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Travis Gilmore, Percy Parsons, Charles Kendrick of Ralls, John Bill Beggs, T. A. Pierce and M. H. Hutto.

Flower girls were Vera King, Maudine Gilmore, Alene Francis, Mrs. Travis Gilmore, Mildred Wilbourn, Mrs. Virgil Priddy, Lottie Jones and Nell Kendrick of Ralls.

Grass Drills To Be Bought By SC District

Three grass drills will be purchased by the Duck Creek Soil Conservation district, Giles McCrary, board member, revealed this week. One of the drills will be used in Garza county.

Money for the drills will come from the check allocated the Duck Creek district by the state legislature. Different makes of drills are being tested at present to determine the one best suited for this area.

A meeting of the board was held in Jayton last Thursday. Plans were submitted and agreements approved. Further disposition of the state check was discussed.

McCrary plans to present a program of soil conservation at a meeting of the Rotary club soon.

Mrs. O. R. Cannon Is Buried Friday Afternoon Here

Last rites for Mrs. O. R. (Billie Bowen) Cannon of LaPray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lee Bowen, were conducted at 2:30 o'clock, Friday afternoon, in the First Baptist church in Idalou, her former home.

The Rev. A. C. Hardin of Sundown read a Scripture, the Rev. T. M. Gillham, pastor of the First Baptist church here, offered prayer and the Rev. Joe Motesenbocker, pastor of the Idalou church, read the obituary and spoke.

Bill Hall Is Chosen As City Policeman

Last week's Dispatch erroneously stated that Bill Hall had been named chief of police. Hall is a city policeman working under City Marshal M. L. Holland.

A city marshal is the same as a chief of police, Holland explained, stating there could not be two of the same thing in a town of this size.

Thomas Ammons is city pound man. Dogs put in the pound may be vaccinated there on payment of a fee, Holland stated.

Nazarene Church Revival Begins In Post Monday

Services will be held at 7:45 each evening from June 26 to July 2 when Evangelists J. Elton and Margaret Wood conduct a youth revival in the local Nazarene church.

The Rev. Mr. Wood began preaching at the age of 16, doing part-time evangelistic work in high school and college. The two specialize as a preaching, musician and singing team. She is an evangelistic pianist and singer and both play the accordion.

She sang for two years in the cappella choir in Bethany-Pepper College, Bethany, Okla. He was president of the college Gospel team. After leaving college in 1947, he was pastor in Hennessy, Okla., before deciding to devote full time to evangelism.

The Rev. H. E. McClain is pastor of the local church.

ROGER W. BABSON WRITES THIS WEEK:

Theological School Graduates Should Be Used in Business

BABSON PARK, Mass.—I will divert this week's column to what most readers will consider a subject entirely out of my field. Please, however, be patient and read this through. I feel it has an important suggestion to every businessman.

Here Is My Question
In view of a recent talk with President Edward B. Hinkleley of Utopia College, Eureka, Kan., I have been studying the 200 theological schools of the U. S. and Canada. As a rule, they are well operated and fairly endowed; but most often are poorly attended. Perhaps, this is because they think too much concerning the "ministry of preaching" and too little about the "ministry of service."

Now for my question: "Why should these religious schools train men only to serve humanity through the churches,—why not train men also to serve humanity through business? Certainly, almost all business concerns need more religion. They need more praying executives who are interested in rendering more service."

This especially applies to sales managers and their assistants. If they have a product which the public needs, then why not use the power of prayer in its distribution? This may sound strange; but isn't it a fair question?

Consider A Drug Chain
I have in mind a small chain of some 60 well-located drug stores. The president of the company is an honest, hard working man who knows the drug business from A to Z. He can control the buying which is very important—both as to goods selected and the prices paid. But otherwise he is largely dependent upon the present—more or less—indifferent character, energy and desire for service of the managers and clerks of these 60 stores.

When these present store managers—most of whom now are interested only in their monthly pay—should gradually be substituted by bright and ambitious graduates of theological colleges. These would be young men taught to like and help people and to get results through prayer;—truly anxious to aid every one who would come into the stores. Surely the reputation of these stores would rapidly increase.

Likewise these young theological graduates could meet more people and do more good in these drug stores than they could possibly do in a country church. If they want also to preach somewhere on Sundays, this could be arranged. They, moreover, would then preach a better sermon after five days in a prescription drug store serving the sick and friends of the sick. They also would have an opportunity of making friends with young people who congregated at the soda fountains.

Better Opportunities
Such young men, who would begin as clerks, when later promoted to become store managers would employ only similar earnest praying people with a burning urge to be of service. This spirit of helpfulness would both appeal to doctors and give the stores a high standing in the community. They could then afford to sell only the best goods, being always assured of a fair profit. I have used the drug store chain merely as an illustration. The same principle would apply to any store selling honest and useful merchandise. One of two things: Either devoted church employees or else we had better reform our churches. Our present half-way attitude is a great mistake. Theological colleges might correct this.

More Should Attend
Or, such colleges could give a two year course especially to train spiritually-minded young people for business. They thereby could render further service as very few business colleges teach their students how to pray for or serve others. Such courses should naturally have some finance and administration; but these would also be helpful to those who are to enter the ministry of preaching.

Not only does the nation's employment situation depend largely upon its selling organizations, but a preacher's usefulness depends much on his salesmanship abilities. Hence, the basic question:—Do those attending theological colleges really want to help the most people in the most useful ways? If so, more of them should enter spiritually under-staffed businesses rather than overlapping churches.

GETTING OUT On the LIMB

by EDDIE the EDITOR

Some days I feel like it really doesn't pay to get up, with all my troubles and then unless everything is too disgusting, I try to count my blessings.

I guess one thing I can be thankful for is the fact I still need a haircut as often as most men, in spite of a wise part. Any number of better men than I use wax instead of oil on their heads.

Another thing that really makes me happy is the fact that I don't have two telephones to get twice as many wrong numbers late at night as I can with my one.

It is a good thing I am strong and healthy because I put in only 18 or 20 hours a day at my job. That is one of the pleasures I have of being an owner instead of working for the other fellow.

I really feel sorry for the guy who draws a big fat salary and quits and goes home when five or six o'clock comes. He probably has to mow the lawn after supper or play canasta and I know he has to make light conversation. All he has to talk about, I'm sure, is what a stupid old fool his boss is, and, well, I don't have that problem.

He doesn't enjoy coping with the variety of taxes and government forms it is my pleasure to fill out. Somebody takes his income tax out before he ever sees the check and he doesn't get to feel the happiness of making a direct contribution to the government like I do.

If a kind fate were to make the average man supreme ruler over the United Nations, I'm sure he would be thrown for a loss. But I feel certain that I am equipped to take care of anything, including Russia or Truman, with all the experience I have been lucky enough to obtain trying to keep my help satisfied—or merely trying to keep my help.

Maybe one of my major blessings is that I can make the same old billfold do winter and summer year in and year out and don't have to switch my lipstick every time I change my shirt.

Plain brown cowhide is sufficient for me and I don't need a straw bag, a linen bag, a bead bag or even an old tow sack for my change and cosmetics. I can travel light.

I can take pleasure in being of an exclusive group of West Texans—I am not a millionaire and I have no oil wells. I am blessed with plenty of free time to grub around making a living. It doesn't take me all day counting my money in $20 bills.

I am happy that I can appreciate the luxuries of life, still, not having had a surfeit of the finer things. I can sit down to a simple meal of broiled steak, French fried potatoes, green onions, beer and apple pie while Mr. Rockefeller has to be satisfied with strained spinach and tomato puree with maybe a boiled custard for dessert.

I consider it a fine thing that My Dog Bugle is just a dog and doesn't have a long pedigree to give me an inferiority complex. Being a plain dog, he is able to eat plain food such as bones out of hams the Little Woman sometimes boils. Were he some fancy dog, purely bred, I would doubtless have to feed him chopped-up liver and horse meat and go on a vegetable diet myself.

I am happy that I still have my girlish complexion and do not have to resort to hormone creams and liquefying creams and skin freshener. My skin is just as fresh as it was the day I was born, as far as I know, so, for that matter, am I.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Washington Service.

WASHINGTON, —P—Another highly-placed Texan says it's time the Lone Star State exercised its historic right to divide itself into five states.

This time it's Rep. Lloyd Bentsen, Jr., of McAllen, Bentsen's views, expressed in his weekly newsletter, corresponds to a statement made at Amarillo recently by General Ernest O. Thompson of the Texas Railroad Commission.

Both say they are motivated by the same thing: A feeling that eight more votes in the U. S. Senate might give Texas a better chance to retain control of its tidelands. The U. S. Supreme Court ruled recently that the Federal Government has paramount rights to the tidelands.

Although I no longer have a 28-waist, mine is still somewhat less than 44, which, of course, is good since I only have to cut 12 or 15 inches off the legs of my trousers and that concludes the alterations.

My corns bother me only during rainy weather and although that has been often lately, taken on a yearly basis, it doesn't average a great deal of pain. My bunions are negligible and my callouses are few.

I am glad I am still able to walk down town when it is absolutely necessary and am not dependent on one or two cars and a pickup. It is good, I think, that I can keep my feet on the ground and resist the urge to go flying around in an airplane of my own.

Another blessing that I can count is the fact that I haven't built a better mousetrap. I am glad nobody has beat a path to my door because it is hard enough for me to get grass to grow, any way.

I am proud that I do not have a television set. Now that everyone has seen my South Sea pictures, I know all my friends love me for myself. If I had television, I am sure the house would be filled with all kinds of people wanting to see Faye Emerson Roosevelt's plunging neckline—the only thing a Roosevelt ever lowered. But then she has been Mexicanized (Just call me Winchell).

Besides not having any oil wells, I am lucky in not having any cattle or cotton for the government to decide not to support. I don't have to plow up a single stalk or kill a single calf. I'm so lucky, I don't even have to pour out any milk and never have.

Another thing I am proud of and consider myself lucky for is my intelligence in always voting the straight Democratic ticket. I am determined to give aid and comfort to the party whose greatest pleasure lies in taxing me to the saturation point and beyond and stealing my state's public lands.

Another one of my blessings is that no member of my family chews bubble gum, a curse worse than marijuana or the betel nut. I am never startled by bursting bubbles leaving sticky fragments all over my face, since I am not an addict, either.

The Rio Grande valley congressman said: "Apparently this is the time for Texas to exercise the option it retained when it joined up with the Union."

"Now is the time for Texas to break down into five states as is Texas' privilege and send 10 senators to Washington. With 10 senators Texas would have almost one-tenth of the senatorial representation in the country, and perhaps our Northern Democrats would lend a more attentive ear to Texas problems."

"With Alaska poised for admission to the Union, Texas would no longer be the biggest state in the Union anyway after that happened."

"Needless to say Texas would still want to keep the name of Texas. A probable compromise would be to name the five states East Texas, West Texas, Central Texas, South Texas—and, lest our northern friends might think we were too obviously bidding for their support, instead of North Texas we'd call it Upper South Texas."

John Nance Garner, former speaker of the house and later Vice President, used to say Texans ought to consider the idea seriously, because of the extra eight votes they'd get in the Senate. He would concede in the same breath that the chances of such action were pretty remote.

Around the Capital:
The experience of two Texans has been cited by the Veterans administration to show how war-incurred physical handicaps can be overcome.

After telling how two ex-G.I.'s in wheel chairs had gone into the jewelry business in Michigan, the VA is a nationally-circulated bulletin said:

"Five hundred miles south, in Dallas, two World War Two veterans who lost most of their eyesight in battle action have opened a restaurant that is netting them good incomes."
One is Quentin King, whose optic nerve was injured when a Jap dive bomber hit the destroyer on which he served. His partner is Clayton Bledsoe, wounded when he stumbled across a German anti-tank mine hidden on a French road.

King started out first, opening a restaurant in Grand Prairie, near Dallas. Last September, after taking in Bledsoe, he opened a restaurant in Dallas. Jointly they bought a second.

"The veterans work hard," the VA continued, "starting at 6 in the morning and closing at 9 or 10 at night. But business is so good they are thinking about purchasing a third restaurant."

Assistant Secretary of State Edward G. Miller, Jr., in charge of inter-American affairs, plans to visit three South Texas cities in July.

En route back to Washington from a visit to Central American Republics and Mexico, he will be in Laredo on July 22 to join in a local celebration honoring a hometown boy who has made good in the diplomatic field. The honoree is Tom Mann, head of the state department's division which handles relations with Mexico, Central America and the Caribbean countries.

Miller will be in Waco on July 24, and in Houston on either the 25th or 26th. He doesn't know yet the exact dates.

The Assistant Secretary of State discussed his tentative plans in an informal coffee session with Bentsen and Rep. John E. Lyle of Corpus Christi in the latter's office at the Capitol.

"This trip to Mexico and back through the Republic of Texas winds up a year of traveling I've done throughout the Western Hemisphere," smiled Miller. "I've saved the dessert for the last."

Born in Puerto Rico, Miller said he feels he is almost a Texan. His two right hand men in the state department are Texans... Mann and Dick Rubottom, a former Corsicana resident; much of his time on Capitol Hill is spent with Texans discussing Mexican relations.

Incidentally, an East Texas girl is a newcomer to state department personnel. Rebecca Gerlach of Livingston, a Baylor U. graduate, is here for an indoctrination course before going

Minute Editorial

We are hoping to see the Post Millers rejuvenated. Not just because we like baseball but because it gives people here something to do. Thus far, no summer athletic program for schoolboys has been set up and until the new band director gets here there is no organized program at all for the school kids. We like baseball better than football or basketball because it is easier for the dullest to understand. We don't expect the Miller managers to find or sign any Joe Dimaggios or Ted Williamses and frankly, we don't care whether or not the Millers win the Oil Belt pennant—which is a good thing. We do like to see the younger players given a chance, as the management has been forced to do during the past few games. We feel that good, young players are the basis of any team. When the stars get old and slow, the young players have the experience to take over, keeping the calibre of the team at a steady peak. Post has a number of good ball-players, but not nine, as the management has learned. In fact, there are times when it is a problem to get nine Millers suited out. Could we have better baseball if we tried to build our teams here rather than depending on hasbears from the West Texas-New Mexico league? Everyone likes to win but it is our feeling that it is better to lose a few games this year while training a dependable, local team for next year. If something doesn't happen we won't have a team at all next year.

What Our Contemporaries Are Saying:

PERMANENT DATE—Another rodeo has come and gone, and everyone around Crosbyton seems to think it was by far the best that has been staged by the Crosbyton Rodeo Association to date. There were bigger crowds despite the fact that two nights were quite blustery; the stock was the best ever seen at a local show; the announcer, Bud Townsend, did an excellent job, and the crowds seem to enjoy themselves thoroughly.

The combination of the rodeo and Crosbyton's anniversary was a wise choice of dates. A celebration and a rodeo go hand in hand, and help to make each event better. All towns staging rodeos in this area should be advised that this is Crosbyton's permanent date for future entertainments.—The Crosbyton Review.

WE FOUND OUT WHY—Last week we asked some editorial "why" as to this business of the county not segregating prisoners in the jail at Crosbyton. We now have an answer. There are four cells in the county jail. At the time a man charged with insanity was confined, there were 16 prisoners. There are only 14 beds for whites. We are further informed that at one time last fall as many as 40 persons were confined in jail space intended for four. Under such crowded conditions it is impossible to maintain segregation of prisoners, and the jail has become a menace to the health and well-being of prisoners. Perhaps it would not be amiss for some of the people of Crosby county who are active in correcting evils existing among "heathens" of a foreign land to take a hand in investigating vile conditions prevailing under their noses.—The Rails Banner.

abroad as a clerical aide in a legation. She doesn't know which one yet.

POLICE CAR EQUIPMENT—Leland A. Hart, sheriff of Floyd county reported Tuesday that his car will soon be equipped with two-way radio on an FM frequency assigned to the state. When the installation is made, Sheriff Hart will be in contact with the Plainview and Lubbock Texas highway patrol at all times. Mr. Hart indicated that Matador, Crosbyton and Dickens also are to have radio equipped cars to aid in their police work.—The Floydada Hesperian.

SIDE VIEWS—A number of farmers in this area are getting sore about the way "booze drinkers" are handling their containers, after same have been emptied. Beer cans are so thick in some places along the country roads that if they were stacked up they would reach clear across the county and back. The beer-drinkers have sunk so low, that they have thrown their cans out at the cemetery north of town. All the farmers agree that something should be done to prevent trash, beer cans and whiskey bottles from being dumped on the roads and private property. We believe a way to stop this would be for the county to place trash barrels along the roads for the cans—of course they would have to be emptied every day.—The Lorenzo Tribune.

JUST TALK—Now that the flying saucers seemed to have slowed down, Antihistamine tablets for colds have proven worthless and Canasta is losing popularity it seems that things are getting back into the same old rut and the first thing we know we'll have another war going just to get something started again. What we need is some men from Mars, a visit from some strange animal from the bowels of the earth or some new movie star.

that don't leak and summer vacations.—The Slaton Slatonite.

DO NOT CARE FOR PHONES—Can it be that the hundreds of farmers living within the area that would be served by the Lamb County Rural Telephone association don't want phone service after all?

Such appears to be the case, or at least the current situation seems to bear it out. Out of 2,600 or 2,700 application blanks sent out a few months ago to prospective telephone subscribers, only approximately 300 have been filled out and returned to the local REA office.

We well remember a year or so ago before federal loans were made available for rural phone projects—that residents in virtually every community in the surrounding area were clamoring at the top of their voices for phone service.—The Littlefield County-Wide News.

YOUR SOUTHWESTERN PUBLIC SERVICE REPRESENTATIVE

One of the most important parts of Public Service is being a part of the community life in the cities and towns we serve. Wherever you find a Public Service representative, you'll find a "good neighbor." You know him... he might go to your church, perhaps his kids play ball with yours, or maybe you worked with him on last year's Red Cross Campaign.

But, whoever he is, you'll find him an active member of your community, truly dedicated to "Public Service"... making certain there is low-cost, dependable electricity to meet every community need... helping to make your community a better place to live.

Miss Ima Jean Gray is superintendent of the Vacation Bible school now in progress at the local Baptist church. Mary Lois McNeely and Mrs. Jack Myers are teachers for the beginner's department; Mrs. C. A. Bloxom and Mrs. Earl Lancaster, primary group; Mrs. L. B. Hambricht and Mrs. Harold Trull are directors of the Juniors; and Mrs. Blanton Martin and Mrs. Grady King are in charge of the intermediate department. Time for the school is from 3 until 6 o'clock each afternoon. Glenda Grantham is pianist. The school will close this weekend.

In observance of Father's Day Sunday at the Baptist church, every Sunday School class was taught by men. At the worship hour, the choir was composed of men.

Miss Mary Lynn Morris of Dallas spent the weekend here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Morris.

Miss Margaret Duff, who is employed in Midland, spent the weekend here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Duff.

Albert Smallwood of Odessa spent the weekend with his parents, the G. N. Smallwoods.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Payne of O'Donnell visited Friday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Trimble and family. Sunday guests of the Trimbles were Mr. and Mrs. Trudy Gray of Meadow and the Bill Trimbles of Slaton.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Boien and baby of Ackerly visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Parker Sunday.

Johnny Haire and Margo Cox of Mexico, who is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Howt Haire and family, rode in the parade at the Frontier celebration in Slaton Saturday. They rode in a small cart drawn by Johnny's small pony. Another Southland resident who participated in the parade was Miss Billie Baker, who is employed in Slaton.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kellum of Sudan spent Wednesday night here with his mother, Mrs. Nettie Kellum. They were en route to San Angelo to visit with the Knox Reagans who formerly lived here.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Pennell left the first of the week for a vacation trip to Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete King and son, Cliff, who recently moved to Slaton from Fort Worth, visited Sunday with Mr. King's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry King.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Allen and baby of Crowslanding, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Harris of Albuquerque, N. M., arrived the first of the week for a visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cederholm and Mr. and Mrs. Riley Howard of Post visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Ferguson.

Visitors in the L. B. Hambricht home Sunday were Mrs. Hambricht's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Mason and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Snelling of Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. John Phillips and son, Don, of Lubbock, Mrs. Richard Byrd of Abilene and Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Hambricht and baby of Midland.

Mr. and Mrs. Hub Haire had as their Sunday guests Mrs. J. H.

Scoutmasters' Knees Need Not Be Revealed

LONDON, June 14—P—A Boy Scout recruitment committee held out an inducement to British men who may be thinking about becoming scoutmasters: they don't have to wear knee pants.

"Shorts do not suit everybody," said the committee, "and no one can do good work while feeling slightly ridiculous."

Sheikh Wants More Jealousy in Egypt

CAIRO, June 14—P—What has become of male jealousy? That's the question Egypt's Chamber of Deputies keeps saying. The questioner is a deputy, Sheikh Mohamed Korany Bey. He took the floor recently to express astonishment that men should allow their wives to dance with other men.

We Need One

"I hadn't thought much about how to go about getting it," said Mrs. Jim Hays, "but I think we need one and I hope we get one soon."

Mrs. Paul Jones said, "I think it would be grand! The town really needs one. It will be easy to pay for and probably will be full all of the time."

"I am highly in favor of the plan," remarked Mrs. T. L. Jones. "Very much so. It will be an advantage to the town in every way. It is the sensible way to fight socialized medicine. All club women are for any plan that helps fight socialized medicine."

Mrs. Willard Kirkpatrick gave as her opinion, "I surely think we have a need for one. It is a mighty fine project for Post."

"I think Post really needs a hospital," Mrs. Elmer Long says. "It is a good thing. A lot of people cannot afford to go out of town for hospitalization."

A Grand Thing

"I think it is the grandest thing," says Mrs. M. J. Malouf, enthusiastically. "I'm in favor of it."

James Minor declares, "I'm 110 per cent for it. I was one of the first to start crying for a hospital. I don't know of anything we will ever need worse."

Mrs. Joe Moss, relative newcomer to Post, feels, "I certainly think we need one. It would be especially helpful in emergencies. As I understand it, the tax would be small in proportion to the need to be served."

"I think it will be perfectly wonderful," exclaims Mrs. Bernard Musso, "especially if they have specialists. We need obstetricians and pediatricians. We would certainly patronize it, rather than go to Lubbock."

Too Many Leave Town

"I think we need one," says Mrs. Marvin Hudman. "It would be very nice to have one. So many people have to go out of town. I have been thinking a lot about it and I think we really need one."

Ramsey, Mrs. Winnie Tuffing, Mrs. Bess Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Burgess of Post.

The Rev. Ernest Stewart, jr., of Robert Lee visited Friday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Anderson.

The Rev. J. C. Arnold is in Dallas this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Hollie and daughter, Karen, of Quitman, and Mr. and Mrs. John Lee, jr., and son, John Lee III, of Lubbock spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Lindsey and they visited Palo Duro Canyon Sunday.

Mrs. W. L. Russon of Vernon and Mrs. Bill Hale and children of Dallas visited in the J. Leake home last week. Sunday visitors in the Leake home included Joe Leake and children, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hendrix and son, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Leake and children and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Leake all of Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Huckaby and son of Slaton visited Sunday in the Glen Burton home.

Sunday guests of the J. C. Harrises were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shuttlesworth and son of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Malick and sons of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Harris and family of Ralls, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Reynolds of McCauley, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Reynolds and son of Hale Center, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Johnson of Olney, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Harris and children of Sudan, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Harris of Albuquerque, N. M., Mr. and Mrs. Glen Allen and son of Crowslanding, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McCaskill of Lubbock.

Visitors in the Nellie Mathis home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kasinger and children of Anson, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Kasinger and children of Sweetwater and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hargrove and son, Joe Neil, Mrs. Chaney Miller and son and Mrs. Docia Copeland visited Carlsbad Caverns and in El Paso last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Waltrip and children of Morton visited with Mrs. Waltrip's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lieske, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ding Martin and son, Max of Borger visited in the Ed Martin home Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. V. H. Schultz of Abilene were Sunday guests of Mrs. Bob Sallers. Mrs. Sallers and baby returned with them to Abilene for a brief visit.

ly need one."

Jimmy Hudley said, "I think it is wonderful. Every town should have one."

Mrs. J. E. Parker is emphatically for the proposal. "I'm all for it—the sooner the better. I'm tired going to Lubbock everytime some member of the family needs hospitalization. It is the best idea I have heard in a long time."

"I'm certainly for it," says Mrs. D. C. Roberts, jr. "I don't know any of the details but I think it would be a grand thing."

Mrs. Weldon Rogers is the mother of a new baby born recently in a Slaton hospital. She says, "I'm for it. Post needs a hospital. I had to go to Slaton when my baby was born and of the eight babies in the maternity ward at that time, six of them were from Post. That looks like a hospital is needed here."

"Yes, I am for it," said H. M. Snowden. "It will be a fine thing."

Mrs. A. A. Suits replied, "Personally, I think we need one. But I believe most people would go to Lubbock anyway. It would benefit those who can't."

Colleen Turner, who has been visiting the Wallace Barnetts, returned to her home in Fort Worth Sunday. She accompanied the T. D. Scotts there.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Terry spent the weekend in Canyon with the D. A. Browns and in Amarillo with Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Henderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gollehon of Hereford visited the first of the week with Mr. Gollehon's mother, Mrs. I. L. Gollehon and sister, Vera.

Check Cooker Gauges Says HD Agent Here

Mrs. Jewell Strasner, county home demonstration agent, is warning those who plan to use pressure cookers to check their gauges right away.

"Gauges should be checked at least once yearly," says Mrs. Strasner. "They also respond differently at different altitudes and rather than pick up a book and use directions indiscriminately, it is wise to call the agent and ask about the correct time and pressure for preserving foods in this area."

Mrs. Strasner warned against cooking things for a longer time at a lower pressure than directions ask. Sometimes, she says, the low pressure is not sufficient to kill the bacteria. Under pressure results in spoilage and food value is lost when the pressure is too high, she said.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Crider Come Here In Two Wagons In November, 1916

Miss Minnie Jo Dye, Bride-elect of Archie Huffman, Is Honored at Party

Miss Minnie Jo Dye, bride-elect of Archie Huffman, was honored at a tea-shower from 7 until 9 o'clock Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Edsel Cross.

Hostesses with Mrs. Cross were Mrs. Howard Ferguson and Mrs. Faye Glenn.

Mrs. Cross received guests and presented them to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Ella Dye, and her mother, Mrs. George Huffman, mother of the prospective bridegroom.

Miss Dye wore a white blouse with a grey skirt and white accessories. Her corsage was white carnations.

Appropriate recorded selections were played during the party hours.

The refreshment table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of white daisies. Blue satin streamers lettered "Jo and Archie, June 24" were attached to the centerpiece.

Punch and cake squares iced in blue were served by Misses Bonnie Faye and Ethel Maye Williams.

Mrs. Glenn presided over the gift display.

Twenty six guests were registered by Miss Louise Ferguson.

Miss Dye and Mr. Huffman will be married at 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Calvary Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Crider and their six children moved from McCulloch county to Post in two wagons in November, 1917.

There were not many cars around here in those days, the Criders recall. The family had planned to stop six miles out from town and farm, but a terrible drouth occurred that year.

Mr. Crider, his sons, Walter and Andrew, went to work in the mill for a year. After that, the elder Criders farmed every year but one until 1945.

They owned a farm 16 or 18 miles out of town and lived most of the time in the Verbeno community. A neighbor of theirs in McCulloch county, D. W. Hill, came out to Garza and bought a Double U farm. He then urged them to come out and farm his place. Mrs. Crider's sister was here, working in the mill and she had written to them to come out here.

"We had bought a place in McCulloch county from Mr. Hill, but we had a bad drouth and lost the place," Crider said, "when we didn't make any crop. One year we lived in a tent."

Garza Is Different

"In some ways, Garza county is a lot different from McCulloch," Mrs. Crider added. "Here there are only mesquites and we lived near the river back there and had all kinds of trees. It wasn't much colder here than there and I can't say the sandstorms are any worse."

Mrs. Crider attends the Church of Christ. There has been a church here ever since she came, she recalls. He considers himself a fundamentalist and attends all the churches.

The Criders had six children, bringing them all here from McCulloch. They had four sons and two daughters. All their children but one son attended the local schools. He went to New Mexico and attended school, later becoming a teacher.

Two of their other children live in New Mexico now. They have 17 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

"Post was small when we came here," say the Criders, "with a population of some 1600, compared to 4000 now. Feed prices were really high during the drouth. Food prices have always been a little higher than farther east."

One Boy Trapped

One of the Crider boys trapped in the winter time for pleasure and to earn money. The other children would go swimming and fishing in tanks and draws around Post. The picture show was operating here at that time, so they sometimes attended a movie.

Five of the Crider family had the influenza here during the epidemic of 1918. Dr. J. W. Warren of Snyder, Bob Warren's father, was the only doctor, to care for patients during the epidemic, except for another elderly doctor at Ragtown.

"Dr. Warren rode around in an old Ford and always carried a boy with him," Mrs. Crider recalls. "When he went into the house to make a call the boy got out and repaired the car. Dr. Warren finally took the flu, too, but he stayed in bed only one night."

Mrs. Crider had pneumonia during that time and in 1919 the family contracted typhoid fever. Everyone working at the mill was inoculated, she recalls, with the mill paying half the cost.

The Criders do not feel that Post deserves the bad name it has been given by some.

"It is the best country in Texas—especially for farming," says he. "The people here as a whole are very good people."

As they recall the early days when they first came, the Criders say Post was not a rough place. "There was a round of Ku Klux here," he remembers. "For a long time they didn't have any killings. There have been two or three bad men here but they didn't affect the whole county."

Native Texan

Mrs. Crider is a native Texan, born in Coryell county. He was born in Tennessee and came to Texas when he was 19 for his health. He had hemorrhage of the lung and his family doctor told him his only chance was to go to Texas. Crider is now 78.

He came first to Uvalde county. For a time, he carried the mail from the railroad to the Arnold ranch, about 37 miles. Later, he started teaching school. Mr. and Mrs. Crider were married in Edwards county in February, 1901. Next year they will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

Among the people the Criders remember as being here when they first came were Marshall Mason's father, J. Bird, Carl Clark and Guy Speck. Speck ran a grocery store and the Criders traded with him all the time he was in business.

"He really helped the farming people," said Mrs. Crider. Her husband is blind now. He the will of his great-grandfather, John Lee, sr., of Virginia. Phrasology in the will, he points out, is very different from that used nowadays. Another family heirloom precious to Crider is a letter written by one of his "ancestors in 1833. His great-grandfather was an officer during the revolutionary war.

SCRIPTURE:

Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh, when thou shalt say I have no pleasure in them; while the sun, or the light, or the moon, or the stars, be not darkened, nor the clouds return after the rain; in the day when the keepers of the house shall tremble, and the strong men shall bow themselves, and the grinders cease because they are few, and those that look out of the windows be darkened, and the doors shall be shut in the streets, when the sound of the grinding is low, and he shall rise up at the voice of the bird, and all the daughters of music shall be brought low; Also when they shall be afraid of that which is high, and fears shall be in the way, and the almond tree shall flourish, and the grasshopper shall be a burden, and desire shall fail; because man goeth to his long home, and the mourners go about the streets; Or ever the silver cord be loosed, or the golden bowl be broken, or the pitcher be broken at the fountain, or the wheel broken at the cistern. Then shall the dust return to the earth as it was, and the spirit shall return unto God who gave it. Ecclesiastes 12:1-7.

Miss Cecil Lynn was hostess to members of her Sunday School class of the Nazarene church Sunday with a dinner. Guests were Toni Fay and Sandra Palmer, Linda Randolph, Wanda Hawkins, Mary Nell Shepherd and her guest, Melba Lynn Morris of Cropsus Christi.

The Brotherhood organization of the First Baptist church was host for a barbecue Monday evening at the church. Members and their sons attended. Games were enjoyed. One hundred and three attended.

A Vacation Church School will begin June 26 at the First Methodist church and continue through July 1. Registration day is tomorrow and students are urged to begin registering at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. School hours will be from 9:30 until 11:30 o'clock each morning. Bible stories, worship, play periods, games and songs will compose the school's program. Regular Sunday School attendance ages 4-12 from all churches are invited. Mrs. Paul Moore is superintendent of the school and teachers are as follows: Mrs. T. R. Hibbs, juniors; Mrs. L. C. Heron, primary; Mrs. Arlie Gilmore and Mary Eula Trammel, kindergarten; Miss Shirley Schmidt, worship, and Mrs. Max Gordon, pianist.

Mrs. Paul Duren, a Sunday School teacher in the Calvary Baptist church entertained her class with a picnic at her home Monday evening. Attending were LeJuan Davis, Nora Jones, Loretta Blodgett, Joan Odom and Alice Fay Kiker.

The Rev. H. E. McClain, pastor of the Nazarene church returned Saturday from Lubbock Memorial hospital where he underwent surgery on Sunday before.

Forrest Moyer, minister of the local Church of Christ, reported that a good revival meeting is being well attended there this week. Harrell Colliard of Littlefield is doing the preaching and Hubert Arant of Lubbock is directing the song service. The guest speaker will tell this evening at 8 o'clock "Why as a Baptist Preacher I became a Member of the Church of Christ." The public is cordially invited to hear this and other messages.

The First Baptist church will be represented at the RA junior boy's camp which opens Monday at the South Plains Assembly grounds near Floydada.

The Calvary Baptist RA's met Monday afternoon with 10 members attending. After the meeting they played the First Baptist RA's in baseball and won 9-3.

Nine members of the Calvary Baptist GA's met Tuesday afternoon for mission study.

Guys And Gals

—by gay nettie

It is rumored (and we believe it) that Bonnie Gary is engaged to our old friend and former co-worker, Joe Duren who now lives in Pueblo.

J. D. Covington of Canyon was the young man we saw escorting Frances Benson around town recently. Frances accompanied her folks to Kansas last week for a vacation. They made the trip in a new Mercury.

LeVonne Ferguson of Southland is the cute girl Junior Malouf is dating often these days.

Gene Young attended a band clinic at Texas Tech in Lubbock last week.

Am Floyd went to Canyon last week to visit with her college roommate, Martha Norman.

Jimmy Bird gave Peggy Wilson an engagement ring recently.

Gene's Miniature Links is one of the town's newest businesses and Gene Rylant, the owner, is probably the youngest businessman. We have been told that Tommy Graham is Gene's best customer.

Jimmy Bird placed in the roping contest at Slaton Saturday, at Claremont at the rodeo there last weekend, and won a match roping with Red Whatley at Falls Sunday. He will rope at Tahoka next Sunday against Bill Teague.

Colleen McCarty of Saratov, Calif., visited over the weekend with Sue Gilliam. Colleen's mother and sister, Peggy, and Joan Most were guests in the Gilliam home Monday.

Dub Grey won a match roping against Jack Allison at Tahoka Sunday.

Kathryn Childress of Abilene spent the weekend here.

Haskell Odom and Faye Ruth Hamilton are working at Hamilton Drug as of this week.

Maxine McMillan of Fort Neches is spending the week with Dolores Moore. Maxine and Dolores were roommates at the University of Texas last term.

Joe Coyle Fleming of Southland left Sunday for Amarillo where he is employed by the J. I. Case company. July 1, the company will send him to Wisconsin for a training course. Joe was graduated from Tech in May.

Frank Gilliam made the honor roll the last half of the second semester at Howard-Payne college in Brownwood, we learned this week.

Wonder if Don Lehrenz baked on his four-day trip to Collina, O? It seems that the new top Don ordered for his Buick convertible never did come and he left without it.

Three Activities Set for Brownies During Summer

Three major activities have been planned as the summer program for the Brownie troop sponsored by Mrs. Giles McCrary and Mrs. Irvin Scarbrough.

One activity is slated each month. They will include a Lubbock to visit dairies, bakeries, places, and an investigative sorter when the troop gets its charter from national headquarters.

Projects for the girls during the summer months are embroidery, string capstows and learning the girl scout laws and promise. Several members of this troop will be ready for flyups next fall, Mrs. McCrary said.

Leaders and co-leaders were elected Wednesday night when the local Girl Scout Troop 1 divided into patrols at their meeting at the city hall.

Joyce Phariss was elected leader of the Flower patrol, with Charlene Baker, co-leader. Connie Margie King heads the Excellent 8 patrol, assisted by Ann Osborn. Frances Dietrich is leader of the Bird patrol and Linda Lott is co-leader.

Next week, each patrol will choose a goal for a proficiency badge, each working on a different one. Some girls have already passed their proficiency badge tests.

Mary Ann Bowen has received her proficiency badge for drawing and painting; Frances Dietrich for rabbit raising; and Joyce Phariss, cooking. Connie King and Ann Osborn taught the troop a game for their second class requirements. Next week, two more girls will teach a game for the game and sports requirement for the second class badge.

Barbara Ann Jackson, who has moved here from Abilene, was invested into the troop.

Gilliland-Dowling Vows Solemnized Thursday Evening

Miss Norma Jean Gilliland of Tulsa, Okla., became the bride of Bob Dowling of Justiceburg, the evening of June 15, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Key at Justiceburg.

The Rev. D. W. Reed, Baptist minister, of Garnolia performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dowling, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom, were the couple's only attendants.

Mrs. Bill Tilton Is Party Honoree

Mrs. Bill Tilton of Lubbock, the former Miss Polly Cook, was honored at a tea-shower from 2:30 until 5 o'clock, June 13, in the home of Mrs. Carl Jones in the Garnolia community.

Hostesses with Mrs. Jones were Mrs. Bert Cash, Mrs. Edd L. Gossett and Mrs. J. R. Durrett.

The refreshment table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of gladioli, daisies and baby breath, and candelabra. Cake squares, nuts, mints and punch were served by Mrs. Lowell Sweeten of Odessa, sister of the honoree and Miss Dot Jones.

Twenty-two guest registered.

Hughes Installed As OES Associate Patron

The Order of the Eastern Star met in the Masonic hall Tuesday evening with Mrs. Charlie Bird, worthy matron, and Dick Allen, worthy patron, presiding.

Carl Hughes was installed as associate patron Tuesday evening, as he was unable to attend the installation ceremony held last month.

Agent, Clubwomen To Attend Meeting

Mrs. Jewell Strasser, county home demonstration agent, will go to Lubbock June 30 for a meeting which will complete plans for the 4-H camp.

Mrs. R. A. McLaurin, council chairman, and Mrs. Sid Cross, Texas Home Demonstration association chairman, will accompany Mrs. Strasser. The meeting will be held in the Hilton hotel at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Earl Hodges Family Lives in Ranch Style House on Tyler

The white siding ranch style house with a shingle roof on South Tyler and the Tahoka highway has been the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hodges and daughters since April.

Guests enter the white slab front door which opens to the east. A large plate glass picture window overlooks the front lawn. A blond table holds a maroon lamp with a maroon shade trimmed in chartreuse. Draw draperies at the window are rose green and yellow flowers on a beige background.

Wall paper is beige and silver on an off-white background. Furnishings are blond ranch style. Upholstery is beige with a small figure. There is a couch with two matching easy chairs and a similarly-upholstered.

A square blond coffee table, a console radio, a green floor lamp and another blond end table complete the furnishings. A gold clock with a horse beside it is on the table. Hodges is interested in horses and this interest is shown throughout the house.

Oil Painting

Above the radio is an oil painting given Mrs. Hodges for an anniversary present. Salmon-colored irises with rose tones and soft greens, it blends with the wallpaper and draperies.

Dimensions of the dining room are 14x14 feet. It is papered the same as the living room. A double window on the east is covered with Venetian blinds over which is a green swag. Blinds and the green swag is on the single window on the north.

Beneath the double window is a large bunk with storage space beneath. The dining room suite is limed oak, in a modern style. The table extends. Chair seats are covered in green leatherette. A blond buffet or china cabinet is on the west wall with two glass-colored shelves. A green buffet or china cabinet is on the west wall with two glass-colored shelves. A green lamp is on it.

Mrs. Hodges displays her pottery in the corner china closet.

Dimensions in the kitchen are about 12x16 feet with water closet. Walls are plastered above the white tile board wainscoting with a stripe and plaid paper. Blue inlaid linoleum is on the floor and on the counter tops.

Small Windows

At the two small windows in the corner of the double sink are white Priscilla half-curtains. Cabinets are on each side of the sink above and below the counter. The refrigerator is on one side. Mrs. Hodges' gas range with a ventilator hood is on the other.

In the center of the floor is the white and blue enamel breakfast table with chrome and plastic chairs. A double window is on the west side of the kitchen covered with blinds and white Priscillas.

Waterfall Furnishings

Furnishings in this room are blond waterfall. They include a bed, a nightstand, a chest and a vanity with a large mirror. Another small night table that the Hodges' have had for sometime is in their bed room, along with a cedar chest and a maple library table which belonged to Mrs. Hodges when she was a child.

Rowena's Room

Rowena, the Hodges' older daughter, has the southwest bedroom at the back of the house. Dimensions are about 12 by 14 feet here. Walls are papered in a blue and gray tweed-textured paper. Chinese red throw rugs are on the floor, matching the soft chenille bedspread which is also Chinese red.

Water Lilies

Wallpaper depicts salmon-colored water lilies on a peach back background. Matching towels are used for accents. Above the dirty clothes closet is a closet for towels and soap.

Thelma Lee, the younger daughter, is 10 years old and in the fifth grade at school. Her bedroom is at the front of the house and is the same size as her sister's.

Mr. and Mrs. Delmo Gossett and daughter and Mrs. Donald Windham and son of Post, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Cowdrey were Sunday dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Cowdrey in the Graham community.

A family piece, an old-fashioned wooden rocking chair given the Hodges' by an aunt is also in the kitchen. Mrs. Hodges also keeps her sewing machine in the kitchen.

The master bedroom is just south of the kitchen. Wallpaper is green with yellow and white flowers. Mrs. Hodges crocheted the lace that trims her white Priscillas at the double windows in this room. She also crocheted the white spread on the bed.

Large Closets

Her closet is large with racks and shelves.

Before the Hodges moved into the house, the Keith Kempa lived there. It has been built something more than a year. Hardwood polished floors are a feature of each room except the kitchen and bath.

Grass is growing and a good lawn has been established in the front and back yards. Several shrubs and flowers have been set out, including crape myrtle and violets.

Hodges plans to build a garage and also a barbecue pit in the backyard, later.

Rowena thinks the nicest thing about the new house is having her own room.

Housewives Have a Month Before Canning Season To Get Equipment, Storage Ready and Inventory Needs

Justiceburg News

Please Send News Not Later Than Monday to
MRS. GEORGE EVANS
Justiceburg Correspondent

Housewives still have a month until canning season opens. Mrs. Jewell Strasser, county home demonstration agent, reminds, and that is plenty of time to get equipment ready.

Mrs. Strasser lists eight major steps in getting ready for canning. First, she suggests planning better balanced food preservation. This includes a balance between meat, fruits and vegetables in regard to their use, a larger variety of each and a greater proportion of higher nutrient foods.

By the last point, she means, says Mrs. Strasser, fewer pickles and more beans, peas and corn.

Second step in the major preparation program is to use equipment more wisely. This includes better management of equipment on hand. Mrs. Strasser points out that cookers should be tested, as well as cleaned and stored properly and used according to directions.

Clean, Store Properly

Sealers also benefit from proper cleaning, oiling and storage. Waterbath canners can be checked. Now is the best time, believes Mrs. Strasser, to buy frozen food units. Prices are right and the housewife has plenty of time to make a selection that is best for her needs.

"Make an inventory and find out what equipment you will have to buy," the agent suggests. "Then get your jars, lids, rings and extra canning equipment now. Have everything on hand so you won't have to stop right in the middle of canning and go to town for something."

Mrs. Strasser's club members also stress sharing equipment to make the canning process simpler and easier for each person.

Third main point the agent brings out is the selection and handling of better quality food for canning. She emphasizes getting the right varieties and stressing speed, cleanliness and coöperation in handling foods.

Follow Safe Methods

"Fourth," says Mrs. Strasser, "follow safe and approved methods in canning, freezing, storing root vegetables, curing and storing meats and pickling and preserving."

The fifth point in the agents plan is the encouragement of canning centers which ties in with the equipment sharing program.

Sixth, she suggests building and improving storage facilities. All foods should be stored in a cool, dry place after canning. It is a good idea, the agent points out, to check storage space for leakage, especially when the area under the sink is used as a pantry.

"The best canned food is wasted if it is not prepared and served well and attractively," Mrs. Strasser believes. "While canning the foods check possible recipes for use in serving them. This refers to any kind of food preservation."

Pass On Information

The last point Mrs. Strasser emphasizes is one of the tenets of home demonstration work: Pass the accurate, worthwhile information you have on to others.

After the housewife has observed all these positive plans, Mrs. Strasser has a list of "don't" she has found helpful in food preservation. They include don't use imperfect foods or cracked or chipped jars. Don't use caps or closures that were not made for your brand of jars. Never delay canning after the food has been picked. Do not overpack jars. Do not let the filled jars stand before processing. Be careful not to underprocess. Do not store canned foods in damp places.

County Reaches 63 Per Cent Of Bond Goal

Garza county has reached 62 per cent of its 1950 Savings Bond sales quota of $5,877,000 at the end of the fourth week, state officials revealed.

T. R. Greenfield is county chairman. Bonds in the amount of $5,587.50 have been sold here. The drive ends officially July 4.

Aluminum Foil Test Is Popular at Roundup

One of the exhibits most popular with Garza county girls and women at the 4-H Roundup in College Station last week was the aluminum foil cooking demonstrations, Mrs. Jewell Strasser, agent, said.

The group learned that aluminum foil is especially good to wrap foods in to cook out. A suggested meal included wrapping a hamburger patty, onions, carrots and potatoes separately in the heavy foil, then wrapping each serving together and cook it about 20 minutes on hot coals.

Since the foil cools quickly, Mrs. Strasser says, each person can unwrap and eat his own right away. Food can be served in the wrap.

Foil also is useful in wrapping some foods for freezing in a freezing unit. Food may be covered with the foil for storage in the refrigerator when a refrigerator dish is not available. It prevents drying out.

Americans Like Greek ECA Farm Program

ATHENS, June 21—P—Four American farm leaders, following a four-day inspection of Marshall Plan agricultural projects in Greece, have commended ECA's "grass roots" approach to farmers and their problems.

"There seems to be a very genuine, and successful, attempt to bring the American farm program right down to the individual farmer most intimately concerned," declared Allan Kline, of Chicago, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Included in the group with Kline were James C. Patton, of Denver, president of the National Farmers Union; Jess Sanders, of Washington, special assistant to the president of the National Grange; and John H. Davis, of Washington, executive secretary of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives.

16 Rainbow Girls Go To Mineral Wells To Attend The Annual Grand Assembly

Mrs. Cannon's Rites

(Continued From Page One) choir. Special music was "Precious Memories" a duet by two former members of the Girls' Auxiliary which Mrs. Cannon actively worked with when she lived in Idalou.

A short graveside service was held in Terrace cemetery at 5 o'clock with the Rev. Mr. Gillham officiating. Burial was under the direction of Hudman Funeral Home.

Mrs. Cannon died at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening in a Uvalde hospital after a farm worker had found her unconscious at her home early in the afternoon. Her death was attributed to poisoning from inhaling DDT fumes after spraying insects in her home.

She was born January 16, 1923. A 1941 graduate of Post high school she attended Draughon's Business college in Lubbock for a year. During the war she worked in the office of the local rationing board. She and Orland R. Cannon were married May 16, 1943 in the First Baptist church here in a double wedding ceremony with her sister, June, and John Sutton.

As a member of the Baptist church since she was nine years old, Mrs. Cannon taught a Sunday School class, served as GA counselor and organized the first Young Women's auxiliary at Idalou which is known as the "Billie Cannon YWA."

Survivors include her husband; three daughters, Linda, age 6, Kerry Ann, age 4, and Jane, 1; her parents; three sisters, Mrs. Sutton, Mrs. Max Ward and Miss Susie Bowen; two brothers, Carroll and J. Lee, jr., her parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Cannon of Idalou; a brother-in-law, Garland Cannon of Idalou and a sister-in-law.

Pallbearers and flower girls were former members of the RA, GA and YWA organizations of the Idalou Baptist church.

Visitors in the C. P. Jones home Sunday were Mrs. Jones' mother, Mrs. A. V. Caldwell, and two sisters and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fenton and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Clements and daughter of Snyder.

Sixteen Post girls, members of the Order of the Rainbow, returned Thursday from the Grand Assembly of Texas at Mineral Wells, where Daisy Holly and Shirley Schmidt were initiated into the Grand Cross of Colors, an honorary group.

The girls, accompanied by their mother advisor, Mrs. Julius Fumagalli, went to Mineral Wells, June 11, on a chartered bus. Eight girls and a sponsor, from the Slaton chapter also were on the bus. They stayed in the Baker hotel, assembly headquarters.

Sunday night the girls attended church services at the Municipal Auditorium where a special service was held for them. Monday the group swam, went sight-seeing and shopped. Tuesday morning, the formal opening of the 27th annual session of the Grand Assembly of Texas was held.

Tuesday afternoon Miss Holly and Miss Schmidt were initiated into the honorary group. They were chosen for their diligent Rainbow work. All members of the Grand Assembly were honored at a banquet in the hotel annex Tuesday night. During the banquet, gifts were presented to the grand officers. A business meeting followed.

Wednesday morning, Miss Holly and Miss Schmidt attended the Grand Cross of Colors breakfast. They heard the Rev. Mark Sexton, founder and supreme recorder of the order, speak. A business meeting was held that morning when officers were elected and grand appointments were read.

After the public installation of officers Wednesday night, the group attended a formal dance at the Municipal auditorium.

The trip was expense-free for the girls attending. They were Miss Schmidt, Janie Shepherd, Billie Nichols, Miss Holly, Agnes Dodson, Lou Ann King, Wilma Jean Welch, Jane Shepherd, Betty Huddleston, Mildred Boren, Delores Beauchamp, Anita Kennedy, Joyce Short, Barbara Northcutt, Willie Ann Mathis and Gail Askins.

Wild Bill Elliott--

Tentative judges for the contest are Elliott and Novis Rodgers, cutting horse; and Bobby Gray of Ft. Worth, Betty Rush of Levelland and LeDrew Arrott of Bronte, other rodeo events. Riding judges will be selected by riders competing.

Admission price will be 75 cents for children and $1.25 for adults. Davis pointed out that this is the lowest charge by any major rodeo for adult admissions. The Quarter Horse show will be free.

Following each night performance, a dance will be held on the newly-enlarged concrete slab at the arena. Top South Plains bands will play for these, said Davis. Gulf Oil company of Houston is furnishing the sound system for the show.

The Thursday afternoon of the show there will be a matched roping between Mrs. Jerry Dusek of Van Court, 1949 champion calf roper of the professional Girl's Rodeo association and Helen Hightower of Garden City, top junior girl roper in the Southwest. Each will rope and tie five calves.

On Friday afternoon, there will be a match between Bob Russell of Fife, president of the National High School Rodeo association and one of the top junior ropers in the Southwest, and an adult roper who has not been chosen yet.

"Purpose of these matches," said Davis, "is to show the ability of the junior ropers in comparison to adult performers."

On each of the two afternoons, there will be a matched jeep roping.

Several riding groups have accepted invitations to ride in the opening parade at 6 o'clock the afternoon of August 9. They include the Will Rogers Range Riders of Amarillo, the Longhorn Riding club of Graham, Midland, Lubbock and Seminole Sheriff's Poses and the Post Stampede Cowboys.

The junior association is giving trophy awards for the winning riding groups, the winning junior riders, the winning floats and the winning high school bands. Plans are being made for the largest parade ever to be held in Post or on the South Plains.

LANDLORDS GET EXTRA RENT

SINGAPORE, June 14—If you live in a house owned by a Chinese or Arab landlord in Singapore you will be obliged to pay 37 months rent every three years.

Reason: The landlords follow the Chinese and Arabic calendars which have nine extra days a year. This makes one extra month every three years.

Future of Millers Remains Undecided After Monday Meeting of Business Men

Future of the Post Millers remains undecided after a meeting of business men Monday afternoon at the city hall.

A. B. Haws acted as chairman. Jim Hundley told of appearing before the chamber of commerce recently and asking for help for the ball club, being told to try to get what was formerly Comanche Oil corporation to take over.

"The club needs help and needs it badly," said Hundley. Monta Moore, representing Morris Spencer, operator, formerly Comanche Oil corporation, replied that his company was interested in the club, but that they looked on it as a community project. "Comanche will be glad to help as a member of the community. We will do our part as a member of the business community," Moore said.

Sam West, Oil Belt League president, attended the meeting and said he would hate to see Post put out of the league.

Walter B. Holland, a regular player as well as a business-man supporter, stated that the crux of the situation was the need of money by the locals. He pointed out that Slaton was in the same condition as Post, because of lack of support by the business men. The remaining four teams in the league are supported by oil companies, he said.

L. J. Richardson and Burnon Haws called attention to the drop in the gate recently. Monk Gibson asked if Post's admission was not the highest in the league and if it would not be better to lower the ticket cost to get more people out.

Shelley Camp proposed hiring a man to contact all local merchants for a donation of $10. Walter Caffey volunteered to take one side of Main Street and solicit donations. Neither of these suggestions was acted upon.

Following a suggestion by Tom Power, Richardson moved that the ball players get together and reorganize, choosing a player-manager from among themselves. Power seconded this motion and it passed.

Others present included O. G. Hamilton, Bill Land, Duke Travis, Rex Everett, R. J. Hundley, Pete Kennedy, Paul Jones, Roy

Williams, A. C. Thomas, Billy Patty, John Herd, Ollie Weakley, R. E. Josey and a reporter.

Golden Anniversary Set in Minneapolis

NEW YORK, June 21. (AP)—The golden anniversary edition of the U. S. amateur golf championship will be staged this year at the Minneapolis Golf club, Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 21-26.

The championship will be entirely at match play, after the original entry list is trimmed to 210 by sectional qualifying rounds of 36 holes at stroke play. Former USGA and British amateur champions, the 1949 Canadian amateur champion and winners of the USGA amateur public links and junior amateur championships are exempt from sectional qualifying.

Charles R. Coe, of Oklahoma City, Okla., won the championship last year at the Oak Hill Country Club, Rochester, N. Y.

Football Players Try For Sense of Humor

NEW YORK, June 21. (AP)—Football may be all blood, sweat and tears to a lot of players, but George Ratterman and Buddy Young, who figure to be the top offensive threats of the New York Yanks, can get a laugh out of it.

Asked on publicity questionnaires what positions they'd go out for if they had it to do over again, Ratterman replied "publicity director," and Young, who stands five feet, five inches tall and weighs 160 pounds, wrote "guard."

Johnny Wyrostek Steals Seven a Year

CINCINNATI, June 21. (AP)—Johnny Wyrostek's stolen base totals during the last four years undoubtedly are the most consistent in baseball.

The Cincinnati outfielder swiped exactly seven bases during each of the last four seasons, in 1946 and 1947 with the Phillies and the last two campaigns with the Reds.

Millers Meet Denver City, Sundown Plays Here Sunday

Post Millers will journey to Denver City tonight for another try at an Oil Belt win. Sunday the Millers meet Sundown here again.

Next game here is June 29 with Seagraves and another game is not officially scheduled here until July 9.

Sunday saw the Millers win their third Oil Belt league game, defeating Slaton 6-5 in the last inning of a fast, good game in Miller ballpark.

A wild pitch with two out and two men on gave the game to the locals. The Millers tied up the score in the eighth and Bill Holcombe came home with the winning run in the ninth. Post scored two runs in the first and two in the sixth.

Slaton pushed ahead with five tallies in the seventh. Walter B. Holland was the winning pitcher and Williams caught for Post. Jimmy Richards and Earsley formed the Lion battery. Holland got two doubles and Holcomb doubled.

After dropping a makeup game to Slaton Saturday, giving the Lions their second win of the season, Levelland humbled the Sundown Oilers 15-7 Sunday. This brings the Refiners into a tie with Denver City for third place and leaves them only a half game behind the league-leading Oilers.

At the same time, Denver City got to Seagraves 27-14, making the Oilers still trail Sundown by a half-game for the lead.

Last Thursday night Levelland smeared the Millers 20-3 in the local arena. Bob Glass, lefthander, coasted to victory with heavy support from his hitting mates. Bud Slatter and Bill Holcomb pitched for the locals.

Slaton was defeated Thursday night by Denver City and Seagraves stopped Sundown, 9 to 6.

Quick now, if your golf shot landed in a trap of soft sand nuzzling the green how would you get it out?

Polly Riley, one of the nation's best women golfers, putted out in this instance and to our wide-eyed question explained why.

"The sand is so soft that if you tried to blast it out, you probably wouldn't. With a putter you may not be so accurate but you get it out."

This was just one instance in Women's Trans-Mississippi gold tournament where a duffer could pick up a lot of practical tips by keeping his eyes open.

Going a step beyond this, we trailed seven matches in the second round of this blue-ribbon tournament at Dallas recently with the purpose of picking up secrets of success conversationally dropped by the players.

"Hear you're going to move into your new house," Betty Dodd of San Antonio said to Mrs. L. M. Keating of Houston just after she smacked one down the middle about 175 yards.

"Should be soon," said Mrs. Keating and then she duplicated the drive. "The yard's finished now."

"That didn't tell me how they managed to stay in the fairway."

"If you get 'em in there you're supposed to get 'em out," said Miss Riley as she chipped from beside a barbed wire fence on to the green.

Oh, but how?

Not a single player discussed the subject.

As a matter of fact, no player talked about golf during the match.

"Good shot," or "Look at that" was about it.

Which was kind of disappointing. We would have liked to have had Beverly Hanson or Mary Ann Villegas explain how they one-putted so many greens. Especially those 20-foot ones.

Peanuts Lowrey Plays All Slots but Catcher

CINCINNATI, June 21. (AP)—Harry (Peanuts) Lowrey, outfielder for the Cincinnati Reds, has played seven different positions during his career in organized baseball.

Lowrey has done everything that can be done on a ball field except pitch and catch. And in his high school days, at Hamilton high in Los Angeles, Lowrey pitched the team to the city championship.

LARGE INFESTATION EXPECTED

Garza County Agent Gives Insect Control Methods, Warnings

Some infestation of thrips and flea hoppers is already apparent in Garza county, says L. C. Herron, county agent, and greater cotton insect infestation is expected because of the mild winter.

Herron has three pamphlets in his office available to farmers who are plagued or expect cotton insects. Two are on control and one is on identification.

Two methods of control are effective, Herron said, early season control and late season control. Early season control stops cutworms and armyworms, boll weevils, thrips, aphids and flea hoppers. On cutworms and armyworms treatment may be begun whenever needed. Best time to begin control on boll weevils, thrips, aphids and hoppers is at the usual chopping time.

Two Programs Good
Farmers have found both dust and spray programs effective. Dust applications, says Herron, should be made when the air is calm or nearly so. The presence of dew is unnecessary but the application should be repeated if washed off within 24 hours.

Spray applications may be made at any time the wind does not exceed 15 to 20 miles per hour. For early season treatment using ground equipment, Herron said one nozzle per row is sufficient. As the plants become larger, more nozzles should be used, up to three. Two to eight gallons per acre should be sprayed on at 60 pounds pressure.

The county agent recommends that spray booms be attached to the back of the tractor for safety measures. Airplanes are also effective for applying poison. When airplanes are used, the operator is warned to make sure the swaths meet or overlap. Flagger the swaths give best results with airplane poisoning.

Five Per Cent DDT
Five per cent DDT is an effective dust for cutworms and armyworms, Herron said. Others suggested are 10 per cent toxaphene or five per cent chlordane at 20 pounds per acre. For boll weevil, thrips, aphids, and flea hoppers, the agent suggests 20 per cent toxaphene with 40 per cent sulfur at seven to 10 pounds per acre, in seven day intervals.

Early season spraying of cutworms and armyworms is effective with toxaphene or DDT at one to two pounds per acre. The concentration is reduced to 3-4 to 1-2 pounds per acre at seven day intervals for the other cotton insects.

Late season control program is applied as needed. Treatment depends on the degree of infestation. When there is 25 to 35 per cent infestation of boll weevil, cotton can be effectively dusted with 20 per cent toxaphene or 40 per cent sulfur at 10 to 15 pounds per acre of calcium arsenate at 7-10 pounds per acre at five day intervals. Toxaphene at a two to three pounds per acre concentration is an effective spray when used at five day intervals, Herron said.

Nuisance Already
Flea hoppers, which according to Herron, are already a nuisance here, can be treated later in the season when there is as much as a 25-35 per 100-terminal infestation. Terminals are on check plants at strategic spots in the field.

Dusting may be done, said Herron, with a mixture of five per cent DDT and 75 per cent sulfur or 10 per cent toxaphene and 40 per cent sulfur at 10 pounds per acre, seven to 10 day intervals. Toxaphene or DDT spray at three-quarters of a pound to the acre will be sufficient when applied at five day intervals, Herron pointed out.

Bollworms can be controlled when eggs and four or five worms are found per 100 terminals. The same dust controls them that controls boll weevils in the same strength at five-day intervals. A spray effective for boll weevils also kills bollworms. Leafworm control is also the same as for boll weevils. When worms first appear, the control program should be begun.

Aphid Control
Late season aphid control should begin when honey-dew first appears. A knock out dust of three per cent gamma benzene hexachloride with five per cent DDT and 40 per cent sulfur is effective. Spray of a half-pint per acre of 40 per cent TEPP is highly effective, but must be used with care because of its toxicity to man and other higher animals.

Red spider control should begin when leaves begin to turn yellow or rusty brown. Dust of 20 to 25 pounds per acre of sulfur is effective and the same spray as for the aphid will do the job, Herron stated.

When damaging infestation of lygus and rapid plant bug occurs early in the season, the same dust and spray program used on flea hoppers will get rid of them. Stink bugs may be treated when damaging infestation occurs with 20 per cent toxaphene and 40 per cent sulfur or 3-5-40 mixture dusted at seven day intervals. Toxaphene, DDT or 2-1 mixture at two to three pounds per acre make a good spray.

Grasshopper Plague
Grasshopper infestation, sometimes the most dreaded and damaging, should be controlled as soon as a damaging infestation appears. The same dust for stink bugs or a 10 per cent chlordane-sulfur mixture should be applied at 20 pounds to the acre is effective with grasshoppers.

A spray of toxaphene or chlordane at one and one half to three pounds per acre concentration will control grasshoppers, Herron said.

Early season control assures early fruiting. The last application should be made not later than the appearance of the first bloom and at least 30 days before bollworms usually appear. Avoid treatment during the 30-day period as it may cause a worse infestation.

Late season control, Herron reminds, depends on the severity of the infestation and should be followed as needed.

Plowing Under

Plowing under cotton stalks immediately after harvest and before the first frost in the fall has proved to be an effective method of reducing the bollworm population the coming spring. This forces the boll weevil into a starvation period before entering winter quarters. It also prevents a buildup of late weevil infestation the next spring.

These programs have an advantage on individual fields, but Herron points out, the greater advantage is through a community or county-wide program. Early season control should be stopped 30-days before the bollworms appear, he emphasized.

Both early and late season control program increase yields. Weekly infestation counts may be made for flea hoppers when the cotton is big enough and old enough to produce squares. The farmer should examine the main stem terminal bud of 100 plants—about three or four inches of the top of the plant, recording the number of adults and nymphs. Examinations should be made at representative points in the field.

Farmer Responsible
"The farmer himself is responsible for controlling the insects in his field," Herron said. "The profits will accrue to him and it is up to him both to check and control."

Weekly examinations should be made for boll weevils after squaring has begun generally. Records should be made by walking diagonally across the field to establish the check points. The farmer should pick about 100 squares as he walks, one-third grown or larger. Examine the squares for weevil punctures, then take appropriate control action.

Examinations for bollworm eggs should begin here about the third week in July, Herron said, or when corn silks begin to dry. Examination method is same as for flea hopper. Eggs are white and about the size of mustard seed. No time should be lost in obtaining control after eggs and four or five young worms are found on the terminals.

BITS OF NEWS—Gathered Over Town

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cox and daughter, Lyn Allyn, Mrs. Mable Alvis and granddaughter, Jill Allen of Winfield, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Hendrix and family and Mrs. W. H. Porter and family of Lubbock went to Mackenzie park in Lubbock Sunday for a picnic and reunion.

Jack Henry of Floydada was a weekend visitor in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Herd.

Recent dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Land were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Moss of Post and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Land, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Land, Opal Land, Ethel Mae Williams and Harry Land, all of Lamesa.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hall of Pasadena, Calif., are visiting friends here this week. They will visit in Rotan and Lubbock before returning to California.

Mrs. C. A. Batchelor Came to Post With Daughter to Work in Mill Here

Mrs. C. A. Batchelor came to Post in 1927 with her adopted daughter to work in the mill. Her home had been in Commerce but because she was a widow, she worked in Greenville and Dallas. She came to Post partly for her health and partly because her daughter, at present Mrs. Hoover Rogers, and she had worked in mills previously. They read about the mill here and decided to come out here to work.

Before coming to Post, Mrs. Batchelor had answered an ad for a housekeeper for a rancher's family near Rotan. The first day she was there all the children in the family got drunk on home brew, she says. Deciding that was no place for her, on pay day she called the mill here and got a job.

"Trees were all down the center of Main Street when we came" Mrs. Batchelor remembers. "However, there were so few trees everywhere else that it really seemed strange. It felt odd to look as far as you could see with never even a tree to stop your eye."

Mrs. Batchelor got hurt at the mill and had to quit her job there. Later, she worked at the Rogers and Algerita hotels. When she and her daughter came here, they boarded at a hotel in what is now the Calvary Baptist church. A Mrs. Nation ran it.

Worked in Card Room
Felix Richardson was the foreman for the card room where Mrs. Batchelor worked, running drawing and working on the spooler. A man named Nickens was foreman of the spinners where Mrs. Batchelor's daughter worked.

At that time, says Mrs. Batchelor, the regular working day was nine hours.

Sandstorms really worried the East Texan when she first came here. She recalls the first one she experienced.

"We were going from the mill to the hotel for lunch. It was so black you couldn't see where you were going," she says. In East Texas she was accustomed to electrical storms and was afraid, but since being in Post she has not been bothered about such as that.

After Mrs. Batchelor quit at the mill, her daughter got married. They rented a four-room furnished house for $10 a month.

A Methodist most of her life, 75-year-old Mrs. Batchelor joined the Nazarene church in 1943. "The people were so friendly and so good to come to see me when I was sick that I felt like I ought to," she said. Last September, she and her husband rejoined the Methodist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Batchelor were married in 1929. Her first husband died when their adopted daughter was only 19 months old. She and her daughter thought Post was very lonesome. Drove to Caprock

"Most of the time we sat around the hotel when we were off work," she said. "Sometimes we went for drives out to see the caprock and out to the lake."

Mrs. Batchelor recalls seeing an old, old lady known as Grandma Donaldson baptized in the lake. It took two preachers to hold her, she recalls.

A bank, the First State, was where Graeber's now is, Mrs. Batchelor recalls, and the post-office was where the Garza hotel is now when she came here. They were building on the Methodist church at that time. A variety store was run by a woman, located beside what is now Parker's bakery. Everything was much higher in price here than in East Texas, Mrs. Batchelor says.

The Baptist church was where the Nazarene church now is and the Nazarene church was located in the flower shop, Mrs. Batchelor recalls that Dr. D. C. Williams taught school in her hometown, Commerce, before he came here.

Her husband came to Post to work in the mill in 1916. The jail was a small building that resembled a doghouse, he recalls. At that time, says Batchelor, the post office was where Maggie's Beauty shop now is.

Boxes Easily Rented
Post office boxes could be rented then for the asking, Batchelor says. Today there is a long waiting list of 20 to 50 names before a newcomer can get a box.

Post really seemed like the wild and woolly west to the Batchelors. He recalls thinking at any time the city would go under martial law. He remembers a double murder resulting from a counterfeit ring as well as other purple pages of Garza county's past.

An incident Mrs. Batchelor recalls is when a local man took his children to the dump yard and allowed them to eat some of the refuse. The children became sick and one of them died.

Since being in Post, Mrs. Batchelor has returned home to East Texas for only three visits. Relatives come here to visit her each summer. Her daughter lives near Lubbock now and the two do not spend much time together.

Mrs. Batchelor still is not reconciled to the sandstorms.

Rural Population Decreases Steadily

Although the population of Texas is steadily increasing, the farm and ranch population is decreasing, County Agent Lewis Herron points out.

According to figures compiled by Joe Stokes, student at Texas A&M who lives at Hale Center, only 23 per cent of the total Texas population lives on the farm, while in 1940, 33 per cent of the population lived on farms.

Stokes, formerly of Garza county, told Herron that results of a questionnaire revealed this migration was caused by poor rural roads, low level of living, acquisition of farm land by city farmers, high cost of farm labor and the changing system of agriculture.

The questionnaire further revealed that those who left the farm went into industrial or oil-field work.
