Guy Allen wins OS steer roping again

Guy Allen, 23-year-old bridegroom from Santa Anna, Tex., won his second OS Steer Roping Title Sunday afternoon to climax the most successful "OS weekend" in the 11-year history of Jim Prather's benefit for West Texas Boys Ranch.

Allen had a total elapsed time of 73.42 seconds in tripping and tying four steers to edge out runnerup Phil Lynn by little more than half a second.

The Cotulla, Tx., roper had a total time of 73.99 seconds.

Guy Allen won his first OS steer roping in 1978. He also was the world champion steer roper in both 1977 and 1980 and was runnerup for the top honor this year.

The "gate" for the "OS weekend" was the largest in the history of the affair — totaling between 39,000 and 40,000 according to preliminary estimates.

This included 492 paid for the Friday night art preview party at the ranch house, 2,108 for the Saturday events, and another 2,833 for Sunday's schedule.

OS art sales topped the $200,000 mark for the first time in the 10-year history of the art exhibit.

The preliminary total was $200,325, which included the $28,000 realized in the auction of 12 pieces of art at the Friday night preview.

The art sales in 1980 totaled about $182,000.

World champion calf roper, Roy Cooper of Durant, Okla., won the OS calf roping crown Saturday afternoon with a total time of 36.94 seconds on three calves. He also won both the first and third go-rounds with 11.84 seconds in the first and 11.95 in the third.

Another world champion, Tee Wolman of Llano, Tx., teamed with Ricky Green of Stockton, Calif., to win the team roping over 154 other teams with a total time of 34.40 seconds in the three go-rounds.

Jimmy Monroe of Valley Mills, Tx., is the OS barrel racing champ with a total time of 37.18 seconds for two trips around the barrels. Martha Josey of Karnack, Tx., was second in 37.35, and Carol Gossetree of Verden, Okla., third with 37.41.

Groundbreaking for $1,200,000 project in December—

32 housing units approved

An early December groundbreaking in Post for a 32-unit housing project, which will cost an estimated $1,200,000, was indicated Tuesday by HUD officials during a planning conference in the Dallas HUD office.

Don Windham, a member of the Post Housing Authority board, flew to Dallas to attend the conference and flew home late Tuesday afternoon.

The housing project, which has been pending for 17 months, will be located on a 4.8307 acre tract being purchased from Earl Rogers off Avenue S and south of the Tahoka highway. Windham told The Dispatch upon his return to Post that Ed Garcia, multifamily housing representative for HUD, assured those attending the planning conference that federal money is available to fund the project.

The Hoover Construction Company is the general contractor.

Some architectural changes were requested by HUD officials at the Tuesday meeting and the plan changes are expected to be back in the HUD office

Rotary plans pancake feed

The Post Rotary Club will hold its annual benefit pancake supper in the Post community center before the football game with Tahoka Friday evening, Oct. 16.

Tahoka as well as Post fans will be invited to the supper.

Ticket prices will be $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for youngsters under 12. Rotary president Syd Conner announced Tuesday.

The menu includes all the pancakes you can eat plus bacon, syrup, butter, coffee and milk.

Money raised from the supper will go for Garza youth activities.

Most moisture in long time—

3.80 inches in 24 hours here

Post and Garza County received the most moisture in a 24-hour period from 6 a.m. Tuesday to 6 a.m. Wednesday that has been recorded here in a long, long time.

The official measurement for Post was 3.80 inches, according to Nick Vukad, weather observer who was celebrating his birthday Wednesday when he turned the report in early to The Dispatch.

The 3.80 inches brings the total rainfall here in the today.

Two more meetings, a development conference in about a month and a contract signing session, will be required before the groundbreaking.

The Post Housing Authority also has pending with HUD an application for an additional 30-unit rental project for the elderly to be located on the northwest edge of town, and C reroofing and remodeling of the housing authority's 26-unit project which was built back in the 1960s.

Hospital tax rate 8½ cents

First out of the chute with a 1981 tax rate here is the Garza Hospital District with its directors approving 8½ cents per $100 taxable valuation at a special luncheon meeting Monday.

This is considerably below the 12 cent proposed rate used to compute probably hospital taxes when reappraisal notices were mailed to taxpayers late in July.

The unanimous action came after weeks of delay as all local taxing agencies were forced to mark time awaiting completion of the new tax rolls.

Hospital directors also unanimously approved the new hospital budget, calling for the expenditure of $944,822.64.

Board president, Jack Alexander, told the board that the hospital district's taxable valuation has been set at $583,900,000, which is a huge increase over the 1980 taxable valuation both in oil and real property.

He explained that the 8½ cent rate would come the closest of three proposed first seven days of October to 4.14 inches.

While the soaker was great for the cattle ranches, most cotton farmers watched the steady rain Tuesday in dismay. Warm sunshine is what the farmers want now before the start of the 1981 cotton harvest. Widened Broadway was virtually a river here all day Tuesday as southbound US-84 highway traffic sent up sprays of water as they cruised through the business district.

Consequently, tax rates by all units are dropping, even below the proposed rate figures sent out on reappraisal notices in July.

As we understand it here in Texas the fire insurance rates vary from a 25 percent credit to a 25 percent penalty depending upon a community's fire record. Post in a few short years went from the top credit to the bottom penalty. Now we have climbed slowly back to a 5 percent credit.

County Judge Giles Dalby spoke before Post Rotarians Tuesday noon in the community center on the county-wide property reappraisal project just being completed.

He explained many of the problems the appraisal board has faced in getting the appraisal completed.

Dalby said such reappraisals now are required by state law every five years, but the next one will be a lot easier than the 1981 effort, the first year since 1966.

Using 100 percent of value as taxable, Garza County's tax valuation skyrocketed this year from $46 plus million last year to $594,445,065 this year, that is at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday, Dalby said.

Airport report given joint session—

City council sets 18.5 cent tax rate

In their regular October midnight session, the city council Monday night adopted a 1981-82 budget of $911,238, approximately the same as last year's, and an 18.5 cents tax rate.

The new tax rate is less than half of the 40 cent proposed rate shown in reappraisal notices mailed to taxpayers in late July.

In another action, the council accepted the bid of Don's Home Improvement of Post of $10,186 to construct a metal building with two overhead metal doors to house the city's sanitation trucks. Three bids were received.

Bob Macy told a quarterly meeting of the city council and county commissioners court Monday night at city hall that "we're going to lose the north-south runway at the city-county airport within the next year if something isn't done." The chairman of the city-county airport board told the joint session which opened the councils meeting that he had been told during the summer that $310,000 in airport aid has been "earmarked" to the city-county (See City council, Page 16)

Two arrested in stolen car

Two Fort Worth men, Raymond Gibson and Eddie Wayne Goodwin, were arrested here Saturday driving a car stolen in Lubbock County.

They were turned over to the Lubbock County sheriff's department. Gibson is charged with no driver's license, no car (See Two arrested, Page 16)

The Garza County 4-H Annual Achievement Banquet is scheduled for Monday night, Oct. 12 in the Post Community Center. The Gold Star winners, I Dare You Award winners, project pin recipients and year pin recipients will be announced. Leaders will be recognized for their achievements during the past year along with some of the friends of 4-H.

Dr. Elizabeth G. "Bess" Haley will be the speaker. Dr. Haley became dean of the Texas Tech University College of Home Economics in July 1981. She also serves as professor of homes and family life.

Haley earned her bachelor's degree at Louisiana Tech University in Ruston where she was dean and professor of home economics before coming to Texas Tech. She earned her master's and doctor's degrees at Florida State University, Tallahassee.

She joined the Louisiana faculty as an instructor in 1969, was named associate dean in 1974 and dean in 1975. She also taught at Northwestern State University, Natchitoches, La., and was a graduate assistant while studying at Florida State University.

Block walk Saturday

Becky Warren, who is in charge of the Cystic-Fibrosis drive, has announced there will be a Block Walk, Saturday, Oct. 10, beginning at 8 a.m. for donations to the foundation.

Any interested person, grown-up or child, who would like to volunteer their services for this cause are asked to meet with Mrs. Warren at 916 West 6th, on Saturday at 8 a.m.

All volunteer workers will be wearing name tags to identify them to the residents when they knock on your door.

Flea market here Saturday

The Garza County Junior livestock Association is sponsoring their second flea market for the fall this Saturday at the fair building on US 84.

The flea market will open at 8:30 a.m. through 12 noon. There are 12 booths rented with others expected. The booths will include art, crafts, baked goods, and a gigantic garage sale featuring a large assortment of miscellaneous items.

The 10' x 10' booths may be rented for $10 by phoning Cheryl Walker at 495-2050 or Orabeth White at 327-5344. The rental fee and money from the concession stand will go to the building fund.

Cold drinks, coffee and brownies will be sold in the concession stand.

A new feature this Saturday will be a booth by the GCJLA wives with all proceeds going to the building fund. Anyone having items to donate to the booth are welcome to do so.

Plan now to come out and do some early Christmas shopping or outfit the family for the winter.

Housing manager quits in protest

Mike Custer has resigned as manager of the 24-unit Post Community Housing Association housing project effective Nov. 1, because of new federal regulations which he calls "too tough".

Seven individuals and families who are being forced to move out of apartments in the project certainly agree with him. Four of them are local school teachers.

The regulations which went into effect Sept. 15 prevent anyone earning over $11,200 from renting one of the apartments. They also make some other stringent requirements.

The board will have a month to select his successor.

So far, he still has a waiting list for people who would like to move in.

The housing units were built under a loan from the government but not as low rental housing.

On taxing cattle

In just about four more weeks, Texans will be going — or at least some of them will — to the polls to vote for or against seven state constitutional amendments.

The Dispatch already is receiving considerable mail from pro-ponents or opponents of these seven amendments.

One of them is Proposition No. 5 which proposes to include livestock and poultry with other farm products already exempt from ad valorem taxation by various taxing authorities.

The Texas Constitution says that farm products in the hands of the producer are exempt from all taxation, but in 1976 then Texas Attorney General John Hill ruled that livestock and poultry are not "farm products" and thus could be taxed.

Garza County is a cattle producing county and ranchers have regularly been taxed by the various local taxing units on the number of cattle they have as of Jan. 1 of each year.

With the tax rolls still in the "process of being finalized", The Dispatch can't tell you exactly how much taxable value Garza has in livestock.

Garza County does not tax poultry, but we understand the Southland School District does because of the Cal Maine chicken farm.

School districts losing livestock valuations will be compensated in state aid for an estimated half of their tax losses if the amendment is approved.

Texas is the only one of the seven largest cattle-feeding states that imposes an unconditional property tax on livestock. Thirty-three states exempt livestock either completely or partially placing Texas producers at a competitive disadvantage.

The meat industry contends it is in all voters best interests to approve the amendment because it will help hold down the cost of meat at the super market counter.

The argument here is that the property tax on producers is another cost of doing business and discourages cattle raisers from continuing in the business thus boosting meat costs through the supply and demand formula.

The cattlemen in this instance are in the same position as the farmers. They are a distinct minority. Just as the farmers find themselves in a very depressed business with no cap on production costs, so do the cattlemen.

Will the majority of voters let them off the hook? That depends. The farmers are having little if any luck appealing to lawmakers in Washington to provide some relief because the majority of lawmakers represent the consumers and farm relief means higher farm prices.

The cattlemen say that this isn't the case in Proposition 5 instance, but they may have a difficult time convincing the meat shoppers of this.

Here in Garza County, The Dispatch recommends a favorable vote on Proposition 5. This is ranch country and generally speaking, their best interests are also our best interests.

But in November, the issue will be settled in the big Texas metropolitan areas. And in those precincts, the ranchers and the feed lot operators may find it rough going indeed.

"Why don't you go to him in a perfectly straightforward way and lie about the whole thing?"

4-H leaders saluted

"4-H Pathways to the Future" is the theme of this week's National 4-H Week observance.

Nearly five million members make 4-H America's largest out-of-school youth organization and their 567,000 volunteer leaders are the core of this highly successful educational program.

According to Dr. John Pelham, state 4-H leader with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, 4-H reaches boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 19 in every county in the United States and programs similar to 4-H involve nearly 4.5 million youth in 82 other countries around the world.

4-H members learn specific skills in projects such as food nutrition, animal science, forestry, gardening, and many others. They also learn to keep accurate records, make oral presentations and develop life-long management, consumer and communications skills.

They use their skills to contribute to community development through such projects as beautification, historic presentation, work with the elderly, energy conservation, and involvement in civic affairs, Pelham points out.

It's a great program for youngsters and the key to its success here in Garza county and across the country is the contributions made by volunteer adult leaders.

The Dispatch salutes Garza's 4-H leaders for their leadership. We want to say thanks for all the youngsters you're helping today.

Compared to the heat pump, gas heating can save you $226 per year on your utility bills. So if you hear that a heat pump is "more economical", remember, that is comparing it to other electric heating... not to gas! No other heating system even comes close to gas for economy. At Energas, we are committed to help you get the most for your heating dollar. Gas heating, combined with good conservation practices, saves energy, too.

Ghosts who come back to warn

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Ed Wyers new book, Ghost Stories of Texas, is now for sale at The Dispatch for those who would like a hardbound copy of the 50 best Texas ghost stories, including some in this West Texas area. The price is $10.95 plus tax.)

You have friends, I'm sure, who exhibit strong protective tendencies and are quick to warn against impending danger. Many psychics find the same traits compelling those who emerge from the shadows of the spirit world.

One of the most dramatic instances — one difficult to refute — occurred near today's Austin in the 1833 scalping of frontiersman

Josiah Wilbarger. As he lay dying far from help, Wilbarger was kept alive by the insistent voice of his sister. All that night, the same voice told a distant neighbor's wife where their friend could be found, still alive. Thus rescued and recovering, Wilbarger would learn that his sister, far away in St. Louis, had died the day before he rode into ambush.

On dark nights along the Rio Grande at Laredo, a lovely Spanish girl returns repeatedly to warn when bad men cross that river. Long ago the bride-to-be of her family's close friend and neighbor, she was tricked by a bandit and unknowingly caused the death of the man she loved.

Grieving, she killed herself. Thereafter, always in her white wedding gown, she has materialized whenever danger threatens either bank of the river.

Near its Central Texas town, the timbered bottoms of the San Marcos River long hid the ghost of a Confederate trooper. Leaning on his long muzzle-loader, the phantom stood watch at an old bridge east of town. In tattered uniform, he was sighted by so many soldiers from a nearby World War II training facility that the army investigated. The spectre was one of two brothers who swore they would come home from the fighting; this one died in battle. Over the following years, soldiers seemed his target for warning.

Near West Columbia, where the Brazos edges through coastal forests, phantom dogs long have roamed the dense timber where once a great plantation stood. After the Texas evolution, the dictator Santa Anna was confined in this remote place, and a daring plan to free him was thwarted by the mysterious appearance of three wild-looking dogs, crying alarm in the night. The would-be rescuers fled; yet there were no dogs on or near the plantation. In time, these were identified as the hunting hounds of a Texan volunteer who had been killed in the Goliad Massacre. As recently as the 1970's, some West Columbians suspect that wild dogs still roam the forest depths where Santa Anna, executioner of their master, was held captive.

Research on permanent pastures is under way

LUBBOCK — Energy costs involved in pumping water as well as the depletion of the Ogallala Aquifer may have High Plains farmers looking for alternatives to irrigated agriculture.

A three-year research project, headed by a Texas Tech University range and wildlife doctoral candidate, Kay Marietta of Crockett, could provide farmers with that alternative.

"Irrigated agriculture on the High Plains is becoming very expensive," Marietta said. "We want to provide an economic alternative land use to dryland farming by establishing permanent pastures."

On three experimental plots in Brownfield, Lubbock and the Montgomery Ranch at Most, Marietta has seeded seven species of grass on three different sandy soils to determine which species is most viable on the High Plains.

"What we hope to do is suggest which species work best, when to plant and how to manage them for live-stock production," she said.

Of the grasses, five are introduced species. The native grasses, sideoats grama and switchgrass, are improved selections which are commercially available.

The introduced grasses Marietta is working with include four bluestems from Asia and Russia and one weeping lovegrass variety, a species native to South Africa.

Each plot was seeded in May. Grasses at Brownfield and Lubbock are in excellent condition because of the amount of moisture those areas received this year, she said. "This has been an excellent for establishing good stands of grass. They could be ready for grazing next year," Marietta said.

The grasses, in general, are being tested for the length of time it takes them to grow for grazing purposes, protein yield levels, manageability and, eventually, what type of grazing scheme might work best.

When completed, Marietta

hopes to suggest the grass which takes a limited amount of care and will be able to produce well just on rainfall.

Preliminary reports on Marietta's research should be completed by December.

"Since this year has been so wet it could make a difference in those results," she said. Similar plots will be seeded during the spring of 1982 to test the 12-month weather effects on the grasses.

Dr. Carlton Britton, major professor for Marietta's doctorate degree, said the pasture research will give Texas Tech the answers it needs when High Plains farmers start looking for alternatives to irrigated crops.

"We'll be able to suggest when the farmers are unable to afford gas and water and want to know they can put on their land,"

Britton said.

Permanent pasture grasses can help stabilize the soil and provide a perennial forage for live-stock grazing.

"We want to be ahead of the event when a large portion of the southern High Plains may not be irrigated," he said.

507 library books are checked out

Five hundred and seven books were checked out of the Post Public Library in September to bring the library's circulation total for the first nine months of 1981 to 6,410 books.

The figures were released in the monthly library report Monday by Librarian Pee Wee Pierce.

Fifty-seven new books, 37 of them juvenile and 20 for adults, were added to library shelves during the month to bring acquisitions for the year to 436 books.

The library now has a collection of 13,361 books.

Fifty-five more books were discarded during the month to bring th 876 the number of books removed from the collection this year in the library's continual updating process.

Forty-six reference questions were answered during the month to bring that total for nine months to 357.

Eighteen films were checked out of the library in September and were shown to a total audience of 300 persons.

Fines and book sales for the month totaled $54.85.

A toy lending service is now being offered by the Post Public Library.

One toy per child may be checked out with a month limit.

Seminars sponsored by DEBT on child development and how to use these toys will be conducted in the library.

The first seminar is scheduled for Nov. 5 at 10:30 a.m. All parents are welcome.

Donations of new or used toys for the program are welcomed. Those wishing to do so should contact Kathy Fluit, DEBT coordinator, or Mrs. Pee Wee Pierce at the library.

LUBBOCK — If producer expression of interest at Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. is any indication, the acronym "HVI," meaning High Volume Instrumentation in cotton classing, will soon become a much more familiar term among High Plains cotton producers.

The Lamesa Cotton Classing Office last year became the first of 21 USDA classing offices across the nation to replace the hand and eye with instruments in all of its operations. In addition at least five major textile mills have installed their own instrument evaluation lines.

Producers using the Lamesa classing office generally are said to have been pleased with the results last year. Now other producers on the Plains are hitting PCG with a variety of questions on the subject.

Those who believe HVI would be to their advantage are asking how and how soon can the Lubbock office be converted to instrumentation. Others ask if HVI may not prove to be "just another way to beat our prices down." All ask where PCG stands on the subject.

The latter question yields the easiest answer, says current PCG President Gary Ivey of Ralls. "We will discuss the pros and cons of HVI at our next Board meeting," he says, "but before we take a firm position on HVI the Board will almost certainly want a lot more information than now is available."

PCG is actively seeking that information, Ivey says, calling attention to a meeting of PCG officials September 30 with Jesse Moore, Cotton Division Director of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, Jerome Boyd, Field Director of AMS's Marketing Service Branch, both of Washington, and Mack Bennett, Area Director of the Lubbock classing office.

One problem with HVI that was discussed is the current ability of the instrument lens "computed" grade to replace the classer's call grade. The computed grade does not relate to loan values nor is the marketing system accustomed to its use.

We need a system for translating this computed grade into an equivalent classer's call to eliminate what is now unavoidable duplication, Moore said, "and we hope to have this worked out by the spring of 1982."

Huntsville man winner of beautifying award

AUSTIN — Lady Bird Johnson has honored an individual worker and an entire district of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation for outstanding efforts in beautifying Texas highways.

Raymond Kurtz, DHT maintenance construction supervisor in Huntsville, won the prestigious Lady Bird Johnson Award for his work in beautifying 285 miles of highways in scenic and historic Walker County.

The 12-county San Antonio district, whose operations directed by District Engineer Raymond Stotzer, was named winner of the 1981 Scenic Preservation Award.

During ceremonies at the Lyndon B. Johnson State Park near Stonewall, Mrs. Johnson presented Kurtz with her personal check for $1,000 and a handsome, engraved plaque to commemorate the honor.

Mrs. Johnson gave the Scenic Preservation Award, an unglazed plaque of Texas red clay sculpted by San Antonio artist Nancy Pawel, to Stotzer who accepted on behalf of his entire staff.

Dan A. Harrison, of Rocksprings, runner-up to Kurtz in the individual awards competition, received Mrs. Johnson's check for $500.

Recognized as finalists for the awards were: James B. Adams, Sr. of Junction; J. O. Grimes, of Zavalla; David Hinshaw, of Weatherford, and Claude Sanders, of Post, as well as districts with headquarters in Bryan, Fort Worth, Houston, Odessa and San Angelo.

The awards finalists and winners were selected from nominees representing DHT's 25 districts by a committee of distinguished Texans designated by Mrs. Johnson and chaired by Professor Elo Urbanovsky of Texas Tech University.

Following the awards ceremonies, Mrs. Johnson noted the honorees and some 200 guests at a barbecue luncheon.

The former first lady established the Lady Bird Johnson Award in 1970 and the Scenic Preservation Award in 1979. Nationally noted for beautification efforts, Mrs. Johnson originated the awards to show her appreciation of DHT's ongoing work to protect and spread wild flowers in the state and to preserve and enhance natural beauty along the highway system.

Lopes to Coahoma after idle weekend

One of the major problems facing Coach David Thompson is getting his Post Antelopes ready to invade Coahoma Friday night is how to keep the club from "looking ahead." The following weekend, the Lopes will entertain the Tahoka Bulldogs in probably the toughest test of a tough district slate. Coahoma's Bulldogs have lost four straight games after opening with a win over Walls. They have bowed to Tahoka, Stanton, Sonora and Colorado City. Coahoma has a big line with Manuel Martinez, a quick and hard running 120 pound senior, their top running back Bruce Walker, 140-pound junior, is a capable quarterback.

The Bulldogs run a split back offense and a 4-3 on defense. Coach Thompson announced three changes in his starting lineup for the Coahoma game. Richard Cisneros will start at fullback, Melvin Wynne will move from corner on defense to Cisneros' former slot at wing-back, and Dana Scott will start at corner. The Harris Rating System has Post pegged as a 7-point favorite against Coahoma. In other games involving teams in the area or on the Lope schedule, Harris names: Tahoka a 13-point favorite over Dalhart at Tahoka. Denver City a one-point favorite over Roosevelt at Denver City. Kermit a seven-point favorite over Slaton at Kermit. Colorado City a 12-point favorite over Coleman at Coleman. Muleshoe a two-point favorite over Lockney at Lockney. Littlefield is rated by 27 points over Seminole at Littlefield. Post was ranked 24th this week by Harris in the AAA division with a 146 power rating. Tahoka is No. 13 with a 149 power rating. Harris had his worst week of the season in picking AAA winners in this area. He was wrong on Slaton's win over Seminole, Coahoma's loss to Colorado City, and Frenship's surprise of Brownfield. He had two right.

As rehab center benefit— Oilmen planning 'Cajun night'

SNYDER — The Scurry County Chapter of the American Petroleum Institute is sponsoring the second annual "Cajun Night" with Cajun humorist Justin Wilson Thursday, Oct. 15 in the Scurry County Coliseum. This year's dinner and show will be staged in cooperation with the Joint Venture for Crippled Children as a benefit for the West Texas Rehabilitation Center. According to Chapter President Bill Lemen, last year's show with Justin Wilson was so well received that it was the consensus that the event should be moved to the coliseum to accommodate an even larger crowd. The show will draw from as far away as Abilene and the Midland-Odessa area for this delightful brand of Cajun humor. In addition to Wilson's appearance, Snyder's own Cindy Hataway will also perform. The dinner is set for 6:30 p.m. with the entertainment and program to follow. Tickets are priced at $12 and will be available at the door. All proceeds above expenses go to the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, which has a facility in Snyder as well as Abilene and San Angelo.

7th graders lose, 6-0

Cooper's 7th graders took to the air in the second quarter at Cooper last Thursday night to score the only touchdown of the game for a 6-0 triumph over the Post 7th graders. Two 25-yard passes put the ball on the Post five from where another pass got the score. Eddie Moat had a 45-yard scoring run called back in the third period because of a penalty. Post reached the Cooper 15 later in the second half and had a sweep to the Cooper 5 called back by penalty. Moat picked up 68 yards on 14 carries. Middle linebacker Ben Kirkpatrick was the defensive standout. The 7th graders will play Coahoma at Coahoma at 5 p.m. today in their next start.

If you find your initials in the threads of a spider's web, it is said, you will be lucky forever.

OS weekend—

Ricky Boen of Odessa is the OS champion fiddler for the second straight year as he out-fiddled Ricky Turpin, who was second; Weldon Tuprin, third; Pal Stevens, fourth; Troy Eavenson, fifth; and Maxwell Green, sixth.

Second in the team roping were Jack and Jackie Stevenson of Charlotte, Tx., in 40.43 with third going to Clay McKarkindale and Danny Zuniga of Llano in 40.73 seconds.

In the calf roping, D'Lynn Jones of Hobbs was second in the average with a 39.19; Wade Lewis was third in 45.13; and Kent Youngblood fourth in 45.17.

Lewis, who is from Hereford, Tx., won a hand-tooled saddle for having the best combination roping times on three calves and four steers. OS steer roping champ Guy Allen was runnerup for the award, the first time it has been offered at the OS.

One of the most unusual aspects of the Friday night preview party was that Momy Magazine sent out two photographers from New York City to put some of the western touch into a feature on art exhibits and art auctions the magazine was planning.

The two photographers had ordered in a large crane which lowered a picture-taking platform down to 40 feet above the crowd in the OS ranch house yard for some overhead shots of the auction.

They had leased the crane — and just how it got there right on time nobody seemed to know.

The weather was almost perfect with a little shower Saturday morning early helping to settle some of the dust.

A strong wind Sunday afternoon, however, gave the steer ropers plenty of trouble.

An OS announcer Lin Helton said, "The OS never had so many missed throws as they did in that wind Sunday."

Red Steagall and Johnny Gimble both gave top drawer performances at the Saturday and Sunday barbecues respectively and Steagall and his Coleman County Cowboys drew a large turnout to the Saturday night dance at the Post community center.

The second OS colt sale drew plenty of crowd but lacked some in bidders.

No final tally on the financial outcome of the "weekend" will be available for the next few weeks. A lot of paper work and bill paying is still coming up.

Just how much the contribution will be to West Texas Boys Ranch at San Angelo won't be known until all those bills are paid.

The barbecues both days drew big crowds.

The four winners in each of the four steer roping go-arounds are as follows:

First, Jim Davis of Pecos, first, 15.78; James Allen, 17.70; Guy Allen, 17.84; and Arnold Felts of Mutual, Okla., the 1981 world steer roping champ, 18.31.

Second, Mack Altizer of Del Rio, 15.15; Terry McGinley of Keystone, Neb. 15.65; Jimmy Brazile of Grover, Tx., 15.88; and Kelly Corbin of Deleware, Okla., 16.65.

Third, H. L. Todd, 14.90; Guy Allen, 15.33; Rod Pratt of Burlington, Colo., 16.63; and James Allen, 17.72.

Fourth: Jim Davis, 15.74; James Allen, 16.41; R. L. Todd, 17.15; and Guy Allen, 17.75.

Postings—

L. D. and Elsie Mae Jackson are going to slow down a little, and will operate the Rocket Motel across the street from the cafeteria. They've earned a little "take it easy" time after almost 15 years of operating the cafeteria, with LD's illness and all.

City council—

Estimated costs for overlaying the runway have more than doubled in the six years that the local airport has been awaiting its turn for federal and state funds, he pointed out.

Macy said it would take $350,000 to $400,000 to get the airport "back in shape" and that airport engineers had listed $1,982,849 for actual airport needs here, but that he didn't expect to receive what he termed "the whole package" which included widening and lengthening the main runway and adding improved lighting.

The Garza-Post airport is now near the top of the list of airports awaiting aid funds.

The city and county have been trying for the last two years to manage some way to finance major airport repairs. Both city and county have budgeted some money for the airport work, but don't have nearly enough to do it without major aid funding.

County commissioners agreed to furnish a new car for the sheriff's department as the city is going to spend $20,000 or more to buy a new air conditioner for the community center.

Sheriff Jim Pippin had requested two new vehicles.

Everette Windham, manager of George R. Brown operations here, appeared before the council and court to request permission to drill a well on the south side of park lake near the road leading off US-84 to the Garza County Service Center.

There were no objections and he was told to proceed with advertising the request so a public hearing could be called.

Harvey Morton, attorney for the city, told the joint session that the Texas Municipal League expects federal revenue sharing to be phased out in 1983-84. The league office in Austin advised taxing units dependent upon such funds to Olegario Romero Jr. and John Sartuche were arrested last Wednesday on charges of burglary of a building in connection with the recent theft of a stereo from the Southland school. Sartuche is out on $10,000 bail bond and Romero is still in the county jail.

Julio Aguayo paid fine and court costs of $31.50 on each count of having no driver's license and failure to keep right.

Robert Van Raff was released on a $1,000 surety bond after being charged Tuesday with assault.

A Garza deputy was to fly to Des Moines, La., today to return Robert Abbott to Post to face charges of passing some $1,500 in worthless checks. Abbott has waived extradition.

Charles Wayne Harper and Jessie Lee Taylor were taken to the state penitentiary at Huntsville Monday to begin serving their prison sentences. The deputy who took them had "car trouble" all the way down and reported more on the return trip.

Armando Gonzales paid $56 in fine and court costs in JP court on charges of public intoxication and fleeing officers.

issue time warrants if the revenue sharing for the new fiscal year is not upcoming. After the joint session adjourned, the council approved increasing the rental on the large hard surfaced area in the community center to $150 with a required $100 damage deposit. The county already has approved the increase.
