EDUCATIONAL SET-UP DRASTICALLY CHANGED

Gilmer-Aiken School Program Is Analyzed

The Gilmer-Aiken school plan, embodied in three bills, finally passed by the 51st legislature and will go into effect when public schools open their doors next fall.

What is the significance of these bills which drastically change the educational set-up?

Bo Byers, an Associated Press staff writer, had this to say in a release last weekend:

You can just about boil it down to this from the viewpoint of legislators who backed the bills: The new program tries to equalize and improve education opportunities for Texas school kids.

Three Objectives Outlined

Opponents say the new system won't be as good as what we've had. Only historians will be able to say which side was right.

The Gilmer-Aiken bills seek to do these three basic things:

1. Unify the school administrative setup at the state level, doing away with alleged conflicts in authority between various ed-

2. Assure school-age children they can have a good, minimum education program nine full months of the year if they want it.
3. Equalize and guarantee the financing of the school program, making all counties pay proportionately according to their ability.

Texas for many years has had an elective state superintendent of education and a board appointed by the governor. The G-A plan reverses the procedure.

Board To Be Elected

Voters will elect a 21-man board — one member from each of the congressional districts — in the state Democratic primaries and general election. The board will appoint a commissioner of education. He must be confirmed by the Senate.

The administrative G-A bill — signed by the governor yesterday — did not receive the required 100 House votes to make it immediately effective. It will take effect 90 days after the legislature adjourns. Within 30 days after that a special election for the first 21-man board will be held. By the time the board appoints a commissioner, it may be November or December.

Meantime, State Auditor, C. H. Caveness, has been authorized by the legislature to put the new program into effect. This in effect deposes State Supt. L. A. Woods. But he is permitted by the G-A bills to remain as advisor to the commissioner until January 1, 1951. That is the date Woods' elective office expires.

Legality Questioned

Legality of the auditor's temporary assignment to get the new school plan rolling has been challenged by several legislators. They say the auditing and administrative jobs are incompatible.

The board of education will determine policy for the public school system. The commissioner will act as their executive officer in applying those policies.

This is supposed to wipe out argument such as has occurred in the past as to what authority the appointed board had over the elected superintendent.

Teachers with bachelor's degrees were boosted to a minimum beginning salary of $2,000 two years ago. Now they are raised to a minimum of $2,403 for a nine-month school year, a month for each year's teaching experience up to 12 years, thus letting them earn a minimum of $3,051 after 12 years.

Teachers with master's degrees will start at a minimum of $2,628. With added allowances for teaching experience, they can draw salaries of at least $4,432 at the end of 12 years.

The Texas State Teachers association figures teachers were earning an average of $1,700 in 1945. The average beginning this fall will be approximately $2,900.

Boy Scouts Are Hosts To Rotary Club On Tuesday

Tuesday seemed to be Youth Day for the Rotarians, who were luncheon guests of the Boy Scouts at Camp Post.

Carter Gene White, who was one of four youths in the state to win a trip to the National 4-H Club encampment in Washington, D. C., June 15-22, was presented with a framed certificate of award by W. O. Allen of Wichita Falls, district manager of the United Gas Pipeline Company which sponsors the trip, and Douglas Hicks of Houston, a representative of the company. The trip and certificate were awarded in recognition of Carter Gene's outstanding ability and leadership in 4-H club work.

It was announced that Carter Gene and three other state winners of the trip would appear on a radio program at College Station at 6 a. m. this morning, and that the broadcast could be heard over WFAA, Dallas, or WOAL, San Antonio. They left immediately after the program on the trip to Washington.

The Rotarians also heard a speech of appreciation from J. G. Cash, who won the club's 1948 scholarship for an outstanding Post High School Senior. He told the club that he plans to use the scholarship at the University of Texas this fall.

Largest WTCC Membership In History Reported Here

Post, which traditionally has a large membership in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, paid for a record number of renewals and new memberships for the coming year, said Max Bentley WTCC organization director and editor of West Texas Today who was here last week.

Bentley was assisted in collecting the renewals and new memberships by Bill Land, president of the Post Chamber of Commerce, and O. D. Cardwell who worked in the place of John T. Herd, WTCC director who was in Midland.

Renewals were paid by the Algerita Hotel, Bryant-Link Company, S. E. Camp, Post Chamber of Commerce, Collier Drug Company, Connell Chevrolet Company, G. W. Connell, Double U. Company, First National Bank Garza Cooperative Association, Garza Tractor and Implement Company, Graeber Grocery and Market, Greenfield Hardware Company, Haws Department (Continued On Back Page Col 3)

Blueprints To Be Available Here For Storage Bins

Garza County Agricultural Agent Lewis Herron announced this week that the Extension Service has ordered blue prints for emergency wheat storage bins and that they will be available in the PMA office as soon as they arrive here.

Herron has been informed by the Extension Service that 500-bushel capacity grain storage bins or granaries can be built for about 40 cents per bushel capacity. These construction costs can be further reduced by the use of materials that may be available around the farm.

Farmers who get the blueprint are advised to get a local estimate on the cost of construction and then compare this figure with what a pre-fabricated building would cost and take their choice.

Herron said it is well to keep in mind other uses that can be made of such structures after the grain is taken out and plan them for such uses.

One of the qualifications for a government loan is that the grain be stored in bins or granaries where it will not be subject to damage from moisture, insects, rodents or from other causes.

Nine 4-H Girls And Boys To Go To State Meet

Garza County will be represented with a large, active delegation at the Annual State 4-H Round-Up at College Station, June 13-16.

Three girls and six boys and the girls' 4-H sponsor, Mrs. Wilburn Morris, will leave Lubbock Sunday with boys and girls from over the district in three chartered busses. The county agents, Lewis Herron and Mrs. Jewell H. Strasner, George Samson, Alvin Davis and S. D. Strasner will leave by automobile. The 4-H group will return home Thursday, but the adult leaders will stay over until Friday.

Three of the 4-H boys making the trip will be members of the Garza County grass judging team which won first place in the district Saturday at Texas Technological College in Lubbock. They are Jerrel Stone, who was high point man in the district, Barry Ford and Jack Schmidt. They will enter the state contest. The other three boys are Jimmy Moore, who is going as a grass judging alternate, and E. P. Wicker, Jr., and Cletus Graves, delegates.

The girls making the trip will be Glenda Grantham and Sue Stephens, delegates, and Lois Ritchie, who will represent the county in the State Dress Review.

Alvin Davis will appear on the State Round-Up program in a talk about his trip to the National 4-H Congress last year. Samson is making the trip as a leader of long standing in Garza County 4-H activities.

Demonstrations Will Be Given Wednesday

Ted Poage, assistant manager of the Singer Sewing Machine office in Lubbock, and a woman educational supervisor from his office will be here Wednesday to give some free public demonstrations in the homemaking educational laboratory at Post High School, at the invitation of Miss Bessie Pitts who is conducting a class each week for adults in home economics.

The educational supervisor will demonstrate Singer sewing machine attachments and dress forms, and Poage will demonstrate Singer mixers, irons and vacuum cleaners. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

Public Hearing On Paving To Be Held On June 17

A public hearing on a proposed paving project for Precinct 2 will be held in the Commissioners Court Room at 10 o'clock Friday morning, June 17. After the hearing, a date probably will be set for an election for bonds not exceeding $300,000 for the paving of approximately 28 miles.

The proposal calls for paving in southwest Post, in the South Caprock road, in the oil field and in the Graham Community. A chart showing the plan was published in last week's issue of the Post Dispatch.

Tuesday Is Day For Voting On Election For Bonds In New Grade School Project

Property owners in the Post Independent Consolidated School District who have rendered their property for taxation and who have poll tax receipts may vote in the school bond election next Tuesday at the City Hall.

Three issues will be listed on the ballot. The first is a maintenance tax, the second is an assumption of outstanding bonded indebtedness and the levying of the tax in payment thereof and the third is on issuance of the bonds and the levying of the tax in payment thereof.

As was outlined in last week's Post Dispatch, the election is for the purpose of obtaining funds to build a new grade school. The bonds, if voted, will be in the amount of $275,000 to mature serially and annually and bear interest at a rate of not more than 3 3/4 per cent per annum.

The first proposition to be voted on is for the purpose of setting the rate in the entire school district at no more than $1.50 on $100 valuation of taxable property. The second proposition is in regard to the $104,500 in outstanding bonds against the present school building.

The present school building has been condemned as unsafe,

Boys Club To Play Slaton, Stage Fun Night, Do Stunt

Seventeen boys were enrolled by press time in the Boys Club which Coach Vernon Ray is supervising for six weeks in the high school gymnasium from 1 until 4 p. m., Mondays through Fridays. As a number of local boys are completing their stays at Camp Post this week, a larger enrollment is expected by next week.

Membership, at one dollar per week per boy, is open to all boys between the ages of 6 and 14 years.

The program includes basketball, volleyball, calisthenics, softball, pitching washers, relay games in which a winner is announced each day, and other sports. The boys will start boxing next week.

The boys will stage a public Fun Night, featuring boxing matches, at some time during the club term, Coach Ray said yesterday. The boys will also play a softball game with the Slaton Boys Club, at a date to be announced later.

Coach Ray is tentatively planning to work up a stunt for the boys to present during the Junior Rodeo in August.

The club is sponsored by the Post Chamber of Commerce.

EDDIE the EDITOR

As I write this, there are no polio cases very close to us—but over at San Angelo, some 125 miles away, the epidemic is raging. By last weekend there were more than 36 polio cases in San Angelo hospital polio wards, and several people had died from the disease.

Also as I write this, some very stubborn flies are biting me on the ankles and buzzing around my ears.

Flies are polio carriers. DDT will kill flies. We have more flies this year than in the past several years because of all the damp and humid weather that we had at the beginning of the fly breeding season.

We've had some telephone calls lately from people wanting to know if anything can be done to eliminate the outdoor toilets around town. One of the calls was from an oil man's wife who is living in the only place she can find to rent, in a neighborhood of outdoor Chick Sales in south Post. She says the odor is so bad, her family can't stand to have the windows open, that the flies are driving her crazy and the house is too hot to live in with the windows shut.

I pass this along, because I am convinced that if we keep yelling for reforms long enough we will get them. Look at the sewer system. It took a long time and lots of ding-donging to get it. Now it looks like we have a chance to get some badly needed paving and the new grade school building that we have needed for so long.

The first thing you know, we'll be getting a hospital here. It takes a long time to promote these things. All the above mentioned projects have been several years in the making.

If we'll get rid of those outdoor toilets and wage a war on these disasterous flies, we won't need a hospital as badly as we might otherwise need it.

But we'll still need a hospital, as anyone will tell you who has had seriously disabled folks in their family. That ambulance ride to Lubbock is mighty long when a person is dying or having a baby.

It looks like the way to get things done is to get busy and do them... like the school board and the Precinct 2 Commissioner have done... and like the Chamber of Commerce and the City of Post have been doing the past few years... and like George Samson has always done in matters pertaining to Garza County's agricultural reputation.

I feel like something will be done about the outdoor toilets before long, and I just know that everybody is going to get busy with the spray guns and DDT, so we won't have so many flies.

Tother day I read this little squib in Charlie Guy's column, and somehow this stuff I'm writing today reminds me of it:

"Hey, Pop," asked the 10-year-old, "what's a 'citizen'?"

A 'citizen,' returned the Old Man, "is an American who demands better schools, better roads, a new postoffice, old age assistance, parity checks — and lower taxes."

Awhile back, when we were running a series of surveys on "What Post Needs," our reporters heard one man answer "A Retail Merchants Association," and this caused us to make a Babson Park, Mass. — When asked as to what industries may have the best long-term future, I always include the Commercial Fishing Industry. This, I know something about, having been born in Gloucester, Mass., the largest fishing port in the United States and having spent all my summers there ever since.

Due to rains and winds, our soils and their products of grains, vegetables and livestock are constantly getting reduced in food values. Every day the equivalent of 200 40-acre farms, groves or ranches are washed down rivers into the sea. This further includes much of the millions of bags of fertilizer which have been put on our soils, and the human waste and garbage, from city sewers.

Hence, the ocean products of fish, lobsters and other sea foods are constantly getting richer, while the products of the farms are constantly getting poorer. The time is coming when your descendants must regularly depend upon fish or synthetic foods for proteins and minerals.

The fishing industry is the hope of mankind.

Regulation Of Fisheries
The first duty of the United Nations is to control the oceans. This is something which no one nation can do itself. This could be done largely by regulating trawling and the mesh of all nets used. When the fish need more protection, the United Nations will need only to compel the use of nets with larger meshes, and vice versa.

A female cod fish lays from 1,000,000 to 6,000,000 eggs per year, but owing to "cannibal" fish, careless trawling and the discarding of "baby fish," only a few hundred of these millions of offspring survive. Our commercial fisheries have far greater possibilities than our commercial farms, yet the Government is spending only one dollar to protect our fisheries for each one hundred dollars to help agriculture.

Quality Of Fish
Today, most of the fish is brought into the wharves and handled in a most careless manner. Much fish is cut up or filleted by human hands in unsanitary buildings, and sent to freezers. When you buy frozen fish at the stores, it is just as good as when it was frozen, but it is no better. Neither freezing fish, nor canning fish, makes old fish fresh, nor dirty fish safe. Housewives should therefore look at the brand as a guaranty of its quality and how it has been handled. Wonderful filleting machines are now available, which increase the sanitary and health features of frozen and canned fish.

In the years ahead the quality of fish will be further improved by the use of this and other machines on the boats. The canned and frozen fish will be much fresher than "whole fish." Furthermore, we will some day sterilize fish by electrical treatment and deliver it to you perfectly fresh in cellophane bags. This may take the place of canning and freezing.

Earnings Of Fishermen
Not only has the fishing industry very great opportunities for growth, but even now it is profitable for those who catch and process the best quality of fish. The men who man the vessels now average about $3,500 per year, although many of them are foreigners who cannot read and write. Those who process the fish on shore can earn $50 or more per week by piecework. Fish salesmen can earn from $5,000 to $12,000 per year.

The entire industry is now in its infancy, without regulation or modern machinery. It is the only important industry which offers no training schools. No colleges have courses on fishing and fisheries. We know a little about fish, except wonderful nutritional value. In fact, certain brands of filleted, frozen or canned should be sold in drug stores. Such will do you more good than most medicines at a fraction of the cost! Certainly the industry has a good future for those who will seek quality deal fairly.

Stainless steel boats are coming popular with fishermen because they don't require painting or caulking.

Garza and the World

By EVELYN BOYD

Well, we got the Gilmer-Aiken Bill crammed down our throats and there doesn't seem to be a thing we can do about it, except hope for the best.

This highly controversial bill was passed in great secrecy. Information concerning it was denied the press and school officials over the state, and it will go into effect this fall without the people having had a chance to vote on it. Just how this could happen is what I want our district legislators to explain to me, if they will.

If the article didn't get crowded out, there is elsewhere in this paper some information on this bill, which you should read before continuing with this, even though the information is sketchy.

How this bill will affect Garza County, of course, is not known by this early date. All we have to go on is a tentative figure for reckoning our contribution to the state set-up. By this figure, Garza County's share of the $45,000,000 which the school districts must put into the state fund next year will be $43,011, or approximately a 50-cent tax on the school valuation of the county.

This $45,000,000 will be allocated over the state to provide an equalized minimum educational program in each school. Any school money that we are taxed far above that amount can be kept here to pay off bonds, improve our school facilities and enrich our educational program.

The richer the oil play makes the county, the more we will be called upon to ante up for the general state fund.

It is possible that we can keep our county superintendent, under the new set-up, and I certainly hope so because otherwise we wouldn't be represented in matters that are important to the survey on that subject. We asked two questions that went something like this: "Would you like to see Post have a Retail Merchants Association?" and "Would you be willing to contribute support to a Retail Merchants Association?" A majority of the people answered "YES" to the first question, but began hedging when the subject of supporting it came up.

I think sometimes that the American people are well-launched into another era—that of wanting everything for nothing.

Our surveys have shown that plenty of people want a new grade school building and more paving here. Whether or not they turn out to vote in favor of bonds to support them will indicate how far the Garza County folk have slipped into this new era.

(Assistant Editor's Note: The above column was written before Eddie the Editor took an ambulance ride to the West Texas Hospital, where he had an emergency operation Friday night.)

schools of Garza County.

As you will see in the article mentioned above, the voters will elect a 21-man board—a person from each congressional district—to serve without pay in the administration of the Gilmer-Aiken program.

This means, as I see it, that only a wealthy man—one who needs no income—can afford to serve on the board, and that these men will come from the cities. Every large city in any given district can elect whom it wishes, because of the population distribution. Our board member probably will be a Lubbock man each year and, of course he won't be in a position to know or care about what we need in the Grassburr or Verben School.

This also means that the board of education post will be chiefly a political job, and politics will be a dangerous factor in a set-up in which each county of the state is asked for a different sum of tax money, based upon the school valuation.

It may work out all right, and if the program is administered fairly it surely will result in improved educational facilities for our vast downstate backwoods areas. But I don't see how it will work out, with all the political loopholes that seem evident.

The bill, as I understand it, requires higher standards and calls for better pay for the teachers. On the surface this is very good, and if the politicians will be fair this should greatly benefit the educational system. But, there again, we have loopholes, politics being what it is.

There is nothing in the bill to prevent a local board from hiring an incompetent teacher or one who does not meet the minimum standards. This, of course, has always been a problem but it takes on more importance now that the minimum pay scale has been raised.

I hope that my fears are unjustified, and that the powers in Austin knew what they were doing when they failed to give the public a chance to decide on this program.

A Garza County school official who was a member of the Gilmer-Aiken committee in this district of the school teachers association told me that his con-

Millers With Five Wins And Three Losses Are Fourth In Oil Belt League Standings

The Post Millers with the help of two new recruits from T. C. U. will play Tahoka at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Postex Park. The Millers defeated Slaton, 9-7, Sunday.

The two T.C.U. players looked very good in Sunday's game. James (Curley) Barnett pitched a good game and J. Boyd performed well in the shortstop position.

The Miller's however, got a slow start, making only one hit and no runs before the seventh inning. The hit was made by Walter B. Holland in the fifth. Post got three runs on three hits in the seventh, four runs on two hits in the eighth, and two runs on two hits in the ninth inning. Seven errors were made. Barnett went the route for Post, and Banks was credited with the loss.

Slaton had seven runs, nine hits and five errors.

Still In Cellar

Denver City, currently leading the Oil Belt League with six victories and only one loss, pounded out a 23-8 victory over the cellar-dwelling Brownfield nine Sunday in league play.

Credited with the victory was Davidson, and his teammates gave him good support, collecting 21 base knocks. Brownfield put together nine hits for their eight runs. Leading hitters for Denver City were Woodfin with four for six, Keel with four for seven, Capers with two hits in two times at bat. Russell hit safely twice in four times for Brownfield, and Burnett and Parker had two hits in five trips to the plate.

Seagraves Beats Sundown
Seagraves had little difficulty overpowering Sundown, 12-1, with Faulkner on the mound, and Sundown was left with 13 men stranded on the base paths. The losing pitcher was Medford.

Topping the hitting with three safeties in four times at bat were Faulkner, Raglan, Lawrence and New. Faulkner and Raglan belted home runs in addition to doubles. Smethers and Tuten each got two base knocks in four times at bat for the losers.

Tahoka Levels Levelland
A real scoring and hitting battle was held between Tahoka and Levelland, but Tahoka got the most hits to win, 12-6, behind the hurling of Holcomb. Whisananti was the loser.

Tahoka got off to a four-run lead in the first inning and scored four in the second to obtain a lead that was never lost. Blair paced the Levelland attack with two hits in three trips, including a double, and Pearey had two for five.

Wielding the stick for Tahoka were B. Rogers, two for five; Hartwick, three for five; Thuren, three for five, and Talkmitt, two for four.

No more games will be played in the Oil Belt League this week out of respect to Blue Graham of Seagraves, player who died Sunday.

The Millers scheduled game with Tahoka last Thursday night was postponed because of the storm which blew up just as the game was opening in the Postex Park.

Because of the early deadline on the Post Dispatch this week it is not possible to report the league conference which was called in Lubbock last night for the purpose of reorganizing the schedule for the remainder of the season. The reorganization move was an effort to schedule more Sunday and fewer week night matches. Details of the meeting will be announced next week.

Oil Belt League Baseball Player Is Death Victim

E. U. (Blue) Graham, 40-year-old Terry County farmer and rancher, died Sunday afternoon at Seagraves shortly after suffering a heart attack during the Seagraves-Sundown Oil Belt League baseball game, the Lubbock Journal reported Monday.

The news item said, in part: "Graham, a veteran South Plains ball player, was at bat in the seventh inning of the game when he suffered the attack at about 5 p.m. He was pronounced dead on arrival at a Seagraves Hospital.

"Curtis Barret of Lubbock who was umpiring the game, said that Graham had just come to bat when the attack occurred. Before the first ball was pitched to him, Graham groaned, twisted to the left and slumped forward on his face. The remainder of the game was cancelled, with Seagraves the winner, 12-10.

"A former professional baseball player, Graham last year managed the Brownfield Bears in the Oil Belt League.

"Funeral services were held Tuesday in the First Baptist Church of Brownfield, and burial was in the Terry County Memorial Cemetery."

Pleasant Valley Small Talk

Last Thursday night's rain and hail put every one in the community to replanting cotton. The storm killed a large number of young turkeys and chickens belonging to Mrs. J. D. Chaffin. Don Hitt of Wolforth has been visiting his cousin, Jerry Hitt.

Mrs. A. R. Robinson and grandsons, Carroll and Ronald Norton, and Mrs. Henry Wheatley and children spent Saturday at the Mackenzie State Park in Lubbock. The Norton Children are staying with Mrs. Robinson while their parents are moving from Snyder to Odessa.

Mrs. Betty Collins, Mrs. Gladys Hitt, Hope Robinson and Mrs. Betty Scott, were installed as officers in the Order of the Eastern Star Chapter at Southland Tuesday evening of last week.

Mrs. J. O. Roberts and son visited last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Foster, in Stephenville. The son remained with his grandparents while his mother is attending school in Denton.

Mrs. Nixon is attending summer school in Brownwood.

Mrs. B. D. Robinson and Mrs. Verba Chase visited Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Whited in Lubbock.

Odus Chaffin of Dallas spent the weekend with relatives here.

Eighteen Hundred South Plains People Receive Benefits From Social Security

If Congress accepts the recommendations of the Social Security Administration there will be very few persons not covered with the benefits of the program, the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal quoted Elliott W. Adams, manager of the Lubbock Social Security office, as saying Sunday. The article said, in part: "In the 19 counties now served by the Lubbock office we have 1,867 persons who are receiving $26,365 each month in insurance benefits," Adams said. "If Congress will extend these benefits to cover farm workers, self-employed, domestic workers and other wage earners we will see a sizable increase in these figures."
Payments Average $14
The figures quoted by Adams represent an increase of 17 per cent in the last ten months. The average payment is about $14 per person.

Some of the other proposed changes that would give the insurance program a more widespread application are:
1. Age of eligibility for women to receive benefits to be decreased from 65 to 60;
2. Permit beneficiaries to earn as much as $50 per month instead of the present limit of $14.99;
3. Raise the rate of benefits from the family maximum of $85 to a possible $150 per month;
4. To help finance the increased payments a worker's earnings would be taxed up to $4,800 per year instead of the current maximum of $3,000.
The payments under Social Security have mounted steadily in times of relatively good production, high wages, and rising prices. The insurance benefits of social security are not affected by economic conditions, Adams points out. Age, the status of widowhood and dependent children are the sole governing factors. The total monthly outlay in the United States at the present time is about $19,750,000, according to a report from Arthur J. Altmeyer, commissioner for social security.
Only some 2,480,000 men and women are now receiving payments on this federal insurance. With more categories covered and with the increased life-span this figure will jump materially within the next decade.
Many Fully Insured
There are several features of the old-age insurance that are new, familiar to a large part of the working public. Most know that they will receive something from the government after they pass age 65. Many widows, children and dependent parents have failed to enter claims. If a wage earner has died there are a number of benefits due his family if he was covered by old-age insurance. A call to Adam's office, 1311 Texas will get the answers to many questions on the subject.
Adams went on to say that the benefits being paid here highlight the family protection that is offered by old-age and survivors insurance. At this time, he said, approximately 58 per cent of the local beneficiaries are children, or mothers with children to care for. The remaining 42 per cent are those who have passed 65 years of age.
In the United States there are 76,900,000 living wage earners who have earned some wage

Texas Highway Map For 1949 Available

The 1949 Texas Highway Map is off the presses ready for free distribution by the Texas Highway Department. Showing 31,000 miles of completed Texas highways, over 30,000 miles paved, the map is illustrated with drawings and 30 full color pictures.
A panel is devoted to travel attractions in Mexico on the Pan-American Highway, with particular attention given to prehistoric ruins. This highway, which dissects Texas, north to south, now runs to Tuxtla, almost in Central America. Texas will be the gateway state in future travel on this international road.
Complete mileage tables of comparative distances between Texas cities and between state capitals outside of Texas to border points in Texas are given. Mileages from Laredo south to points on the Pan American Highway are included. A United States road map, showing major national highways, is on the back of the Texas map.
Governor Beauford Jester's message to Texas travelers prefaces the edition.

It Rained Where It Wasn't Needed And Didn't Rain Where It Was Needed Here

Get the chart out again! Thursday night's cloudburst brought the total rainfall for Post to 12.79 inches so far this year. A total of 3.68 inches of rain fell here in May, according to figures kept by the Double U. Company.

Unofficial reports from various parts of Garza County indicated that Thursday night's rainfall varied from just a trace in some of the Justiceburg pastures where it was needed to almost six inches on the Caprock where it not only was not needed but did quite a bit of damage. Three and thirty-five one hundredths inches fell here.

Most of the Caprock farmers had just finished replanting for the second or third time, when the cloudburst came. One farmer was hunting seed in Post Friday morning to replant his cotton for the fifth time. "I'll replant it one more time after this, if necessary, but if I get rained out the sixth time, I'm quitting," he said.

Post Gets Most
The thunderstorm and electrical display which accompanied Thursday night's rain was scattered over the entire South Plains, the Lubbock Avalanche reported, but the heaviest down-pour was in this vicinity, which also received the heaviest hail. The hail, as well as the water, did some damage in Post, particularly to flower beds and vegetable gardens. Some damage was done to roofs of several residential houses.

The electrical storm effected the electricity service in several parts of town, but no serious damage was reported. Mrs. Tol Thomas had a brief scare when a fire broke out while she was disconnecting her refrigerator during the storm and ignited a nearby wastebasket.

Residents on some of the unpaved streets longed for a boat when they contemplated coming to town after the storm. The water ran above the porches in some parts of town, and into the living rooms and basements of several homes. The worst basement "disaster" probably was at the home of Bill DeWalt, where the living room is in the basement. About six inches of water was pumped out of this room on Friday.

Parents Are Worried
Telephone communications between Post and Lubbock were disrupted by the storm Thursday night but were in working order by Friday morning. The telephone service to the Boy Scout Camp, where approximately 125 boys from several South Plains towns were staying, was disrupted for a longer period, providing anguish on the part of the boys' parents who were unable to find out whether or not the Scouts had sufficient shelter. The camp, however, had adequate shelter facilities for the boys—who ordinarily sleep in tents at the camp.

The thunderstorm activity first started boiling up on the South Plains about 5:45 p.m. in the northeast. Huge thunderheads which formed and boiled up with currents created an unusual sight, then thundershowers started falling to the southeast.

Oldtimers discussing the storm in downtown Post Friday morning could not remember when a thunderstorm had lingered as long here.

Financing of public education in the past has been done with no statistical regard to the comparative ability of counties to pay.

The G-A plan makes use of an economic index—a principal long used by business firms—in measuring the wealth of each community in proportion to the total wealth of all counties.

This index is in the form of a percentage figure. It will determine how much each school district must raise locally for its education program.

Factors determining the economic index are assessed county valuations, county school population, and income for the county.

The income is measured by value added by manufacture, minerals produced, agricultural products, and payrolls for retail, wholesale, and service establishments. Figures on these items are available in reports of federal and state agencies such as the census division of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Indices already have been worked out for each county for use the next two school years. After that the commissioner of education will work out new indices every four years.

G-A calls for school districts to raise a total of $45,000,000 in local funds. This is one-fourth the $180,000,000 overall cost of the program as originally estimated by people who worked out the plan.

Resolutions introduced in the House and Senate of the 50th legislature two years ago for appointment of a committee to study the needs of the Texas school system.

The three bills soon to become law embody the basic recommendations offered by the committee after 18 months of study.

Cotton Classing Again Available Free Of Charge

Plans for handling the 1949 cotton classing and market news services available to farmers without cost under the Smith-Doxey Act were announced here today by Lell O. Buchanan, in charge of the Lubbock office of the cotton branch, Production and Marketing Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"Farmers should apply for these services just as they did last year," Buchanan said. To be eligible for the free cotton classing and market news services, he pointed out that farmers must meet these requirements:

1. belong to a group of farmers organized to promote the improvement of cotton; 2. plant part of his acreage in the variety of cotton adopted by the group; 3. file an application as soon as the cotton is planted.

TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Four Post firemen will attend the state firemen's convention in Galveston June 14, 15 and 16. They are Homer McCrary, fire chief; Dick Woods, fire marshal, and Marshall Gibson and Jess Compton, delegates from the Post Volunteer Fire Department.

ANOTHER TRASH FIRE

As a fresh windstorm reached a high peak Sunday night, the Post Volunteer Fire Department was called to see about a trash fire in north Post. The fire was under control when the firemen arrived.

Groups in this area should mail their application to their local county agent or to 1701 Avenue H, Lubbock, Tex.

"To make sure farmers secure all the benefits due them under this program, their group application should reach our office by July 15," Buchanan said. However, applications will be accepted until August 15.

Picturesque... But a Construction Obstacle!

West Texas has some of the most beautiful country in the world. Beautiful fields of wheat, cotton and many other crops that help feed and clothe the nation... and, too, it has picturesque canyons, rocky terrain, sunken lakes around which cattle graze and many other beautiful scenes comparable to any that a world traveler could describe.

Although beautiful—they are pipe line construction obstacles.

To maintain good gas service, pipe line construction and maintenance and repair crews cross many canyons and other natural obstacles.

This year we will invest over $2,225,000.00 to build new pipe lines and other facilities. Several miles of these new lines will be laid in solid rock. This means dynamite crews will have to clear a ditch for the lines, but this will be but one of many construction obstacles they will overcome.

Pipe line construction and pipe line maintenance and repair are but few of many functions of West Texas Gas Company... all of which are designed to furnish good gas service, high in quality, low in price... the best bargain in your family budget.
