Statistics show that the average family in a lifetime pays three houses if they rent. That, as a nation, we neglect our property to the extent of $60 million dollars a year.

Home costs more today than it did 10 years ago—according to the inflated dollar—tag. But so do cars, and gas, and groceries and taxes on anything we buy.

If you want to "head first" in a brief and beautiful hair-do, you'll find the advantage of the special permanents and hair cuts offered by the beauty shops up and down Main.

Financier Scores Push for Security at Expense of Independence

On the LIMB by EDDIE the EDITOR

One of my main problems these days is keeping cool. This is in spite of the fact that my office has the best air-conditioning system in town. In fact, my air-conditioning gets so cool sometimes that I could store frozen custard up here with very little loss.

However, the distribution is fixed so it cools off the customers coming in the front office and sometimes leaves me rather overheated working back in the plant.

Sometimes the boys have to make pigs of metal for the typesetting machine and cast stereotypes and the smoke and fragrance are such that the back door has to be opened, thus fouling up the airconditioning.

My friend Cecil Horne, who established the journalism department up at Tech and who is retiring as it's head, to my sorrow, says drink something hot to get cool.

Cecil explains this scientifically by saying that something hot inside the body makes the hot weather outside seem cooler. Or at other times, he says it makes you perspire to drink something hot and when the perspiration evaporates, it cools the skin.

Personally I think Cecil just likes coffee and likes to drink it at any and all times. A good cup of coffee has its place, especially among sober men.

On the other hand, there are those who recommend cool drinks for cooling off. I have been told that one of the best cooling of cool drinks is a mint julep.

However, I understand certain ingredients go with a mint julep. These include such stage properties as a palm leaf fan, a white suit and a state of mind.

I have been told that a mint julep is the most easily made of all drinks, besides milk which you just pour out of a bottle. I understand you take a couple of mint leaves and mash them around in the bottom of a glass, then fill the glass to the top with crushed ice.

Lastly, some of Kentucky's finest is poured in on top and the whole thing is spooned around a little bit with a spoon or muddler as they say nowadays.

I don't believe this would solve my problem. In the first place I haven't been able to locate any palm leaf fans in the local stores. I don't have time to go up to Lubbock or Dallas or even to sit down and order one—besides those activities don't cool me off any.

Then I really can't see wearing a white suit to set type.

I just wouldn't stay white anytime and nothing looks hotter than something that is supposed to be white but is dirty.

Besides all my friends who are Kentucky colonels tell me that juleps are to be sipped and I sure as heck don't have any time for sipping. When it gets cool weather again, I am going to invent me a mint julep holder to be suspended from the typesetting machine and hang down in front of my mouth so I can sip at will. That is one of my projects for keeping cool next summer.

I have thought about an ashtray to catch the charred ends of my cigar, which I plan to attach to this mint julep holder. I have in mind one like those hula hula statuettes you get out of the grab machine that BABSON PARK, MASS.—Webster's Dictionary definition of "Security" includes freedom from fear, freedom from risk, danger, harm or the like.

Is Security Desirable?

I have sometimes heard men say that it was too bad peace didn't seem to provide quite the stimulus for greatness and distinction that war does. War often calls forth not only a man's a bility but his capacity. Dwight Eisenhower has often stated that we human beings could not keep a live if there were no struggle and we were kept in "perfect security." Would Columbus have ever discovered America if he had been seeking freedom from risk? Would Patton have been a great fighting general if he had been afraid to swim the rivers or to storm the bridges with his men? Would Gandhi have been the beloved leader he was to his people if he had sought first of all to protect his own physical life and health?

Ralph Waldo Emerson once said, "Nothing can bring you peace but the triumph of principles." Do we admire or gather inspiration from any of our heroes, poets, or philosophers because they were first seeking security for themselves? James Byrnes in a speech at the last Conference of Southern Governors is reported to have said, in effect, that the people who settled this country did not come here to establish a government. They came to escape the tyrannies of government. They were not seeking security, but an opportunity to enjoy freedom—the freedom of self-development and accomplishment. Today the spirit of self-reliance is unfortunately departing; too many want to lean upon the government; too many are thinking of security instead of opportunity.

Too Many "Dependents"

Who or what has encouraged this leaning, this moral weakness in the United States? Our government itself is encouraging it in every new proclamation. It urges more aid to farmers, more health insurance and employment security. Each and every suggestion amounts to a promise to spend more as a charity to support this group or that—out of the peoples' own hard-earned tax money. Moreover, may I ask if the politicians are doing this for the good of the nation, or to get the votes?

What happens when a man knows he's going to be supported whether he does a good job or a poor one? He loses all incentive to excel. The public must realize by now that too many of their government's employees feel "secure" in their jobs. Yet, they don't have to produce anything which must stand factory or retailer's or consumer's inspection. Even more discouraging is the attitude of some of our youth in the schools. A friend of mine, who is a teacher, says that healthy young men, in their early twenties, claim to be interested only in jobs which will offer them old age pensions and other benefits. As Americans, they should be ashamed of themselves. They should be looking toward jobs where there's a big chance to work up, to earn advancement in an incentive system, not in a "sure thing" system. Pension systems should boom Florida and California real estate; pensions may help level retail sales over a period of years; but most pension systems will never increase the total national income.

Decay or Growth?

Bernard M. Baruch, advisor to Presidents, said in a recent talk that we are swapping our independence for a "false gospel of security", that the greatest threat to our freedom is "too much government". Do the American people want to be treated like babies, to be cared for by their government from the cradle to the grave? What happens to children who are given everything—except responsibility? They come greedy. They come to expect more and more. They become dependent and parasitical. A strong moral fiber and character is never developed at all. There can be no personal or national development without risk, challenge and struggle.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Washington Service.

WASHINGTON, P.—Rep. J. M. Combs of the Sabine-Neches district will tell you that the new tax bill represents five months of hard work by the 25 members of the powerful House ways and means committee. He is the only Texan on the committee.

"It isn't a perfect bill," says the friendly gray-haired former judge and educator, "but we think it is the fairest legislation that could be worked out and still not substantially change the amount of revenue to the government."

The bill provides the first major revision in general taxes since the wartime excise levies were imposed. The measure cuts excise taxes by about one billion dollars a year, reducing the rates on such services and items as transportation, picture shows and cosmetics. Income taxes are raised on large corporations to make up some of this loss.

One loophole-plugging provision would impose levies on unrelated business incomes of educational, charitable and labor organizations. An example was the case of a large Eastern university which had been bequeathed a soft drink bottling company in the South.

"It's hard to imagine how many angles must be considered before you make any change in a tax statute," Combs added. "Therefore, we held hearings so every affected individual or company could present views."

The Texan was one of the leaders in the committee's action in turning down the Truman Administration's request for reduction of the oil depletion allowance rate from 27 1/2 to 15 per cent. Every taxpayer in Texas would have been adversely affected by the proposal, Combs said, adding that it would have slowed oil and gas operations with a resulting loss of general income as well as revenue to the state.

Around The Capital: The nation's taste in seafood has changed somewhat in the past decade, says the Fish and Wildlife Service. It has just published an analysis of surveys conducted in major cities of the nation in 1936 and 1946. Fish filets and shrimp—the most striking examples of the change—are much more popular than they were 10 or 12 years ago.

Houston, Dallas and El Paso were among the cities surveyed. The report shows that Houston went for sea trout, red drum and croakers in 1946. There was no 1936 survey there.

In Dallas the latest survey showed oysters, sea trout and crab meat most popular. In 1936 haddock, oysters and sea trout were the big sellers.

El Paso in 1946 preferred totuava, shrimp and catfish. In 1936 the preference was for sea bass, cabrilla and haddock. Totuava is a Mexican white sea bass; cabrilla also is known as rock or sand bass and comes largely from Mexican waters off lower California.

A bill designed to keep a certain species of giant snails out of this country has been introduced by Rep. Wingate Lucas of Fort Worth and approved by the House Agriculture committee.

"The snails involved are about the size of teacups," he said.

"The are so prolific and devastating they sweep over an area like locusts and leave it as barren as if an enemy had mitted not wearing an undershirt and even went so far as to appear in some movie, title of which I do not now recall, without one.

So you can't say that movies are not advancing culture and civilization.

Maybe it will rain.

Minute Editorial

Taxpayers are a long suffering lot, and on the whole, not very smart. Everytime a citizen turns around he is taxed once or twice. We can stomach the expected graft and wearing away of the tax dollar by friction and we can even let the government do and pay for something private citizens can do and pay for just as well, but when one agency or tax-supported individual tries to duplicate the job of another agency, we feel that that is too much for even Westbrakk Pegler's Faceless Slob the Common Man. When we were going to school, we had the idea that our teachers were supposed to teach certain subjects such as algebra, English or speech. Sponsoring clubs and outside activities was not what we thought they were paid for. Now it is a little bit different. The homemaking teacher in high school is not expected to teach food values, sewing practices and nutrition. She is supposed to plant red roses and spend her evenings filing questionnaires with a tax-supported area and state supervisor, enumerating the red roses she has planted and the cups of tea she has served. And what is the penalty for failure to plant red roses? It could be loss of accreditation for the courses in high school. Paramount duties of the present-day homemaking teacher seems to be horning in on the adequate job being done by the extension service with home demonstration clubs and forcing busy housewives and mothers to attend post-graduate night classes. We realize that any enterprise as large as the government can be unwise and uneconomical. But we do object to being taxed to the point of deprivation to further some government-paid minion's interest in horticulture—not to say to pay for doing the same job twice. When are we going to wake up and cut out this nonsense?

What Our Contemporaries Are Saying:

WUXTRIE!!! —YE COMPLETE ELECTION STORIE—Behold the candidate.

He goeth forth with a pious look, gorged with noble ideals to Serve the Dear Peepul and with a hammer thrower's shake in both hands.

He scattereth campaign cards by the hundreds—yea, even as the thistle-down of ripe dandelions is dif-fused by the vagrant breezes.

He rusheth hither and yon, he burneth much of the essence of been on a scorched earth rampage.

Quite a lot of them have reached this country since the war, he said, some clinging to war material returned from Pacific islands and some brought by soldiers and tourists who were unaware of their potential danger.

"In Africa there are a lot," he added. "But there such natural enemies as tribesmen who eat them keep the number under control.

JUST TALK—There are a lot of folks talking oil around Slaton and it is said that oil royalties are selling at $50 and more per acre and these folks who own a considerable amount of land are looking at new automobiles, taking trips to Cana-yon Reef, the Rucker A-San Adres pool and other complicated terms that leave me cold and interested. # Millers Tie Into Slaton Lions Today, Play DC Here Sunday

Post Millers meet last-place Slaton tonight in the Lions' den when a win for the host team will mean a slight gain in percentage points and push the locals into the cellar.

Slaton beat the Millers once this year and drubbed Seagraves in another tilt. The Millers have three wins to their credit. Sunday the home team meets Denver City in Miller Ballpark. Denver City has forged ahead into second place, swapping berths with Sundown for the fourth rung. Another home game is slated for next Thursday night when Sundown comes here.

The Millers lost both ends of a double-header Sunday at Loveland before a large crowd. Charlie Willis was back

Did you bag a duck last hunting season? Well, most hunters did. They killed 18,500,000 ducks in the 1949-50 season, a million and a half more than the previous year.

Albert M. Day, director of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service, says the liberalized hunting regulations accounted for the increase. He also noted there was decrease of about ten per cent in the number of nimbreds, down to 1,647,000.

Day's office has just released some interesting statistics on the last hunting season. The office checked 87,127 kills and 25,600 hunters contacted after the season closed.

The service found: States in the Pacific Flyway had 21 per cent of the hunters and 23 per cent of the kill. In 1948 this flyway had 19 per cent of the hunters and 27 per cent of the kill.

The Central Flyway states had 24 per cent of the hunters and 18 per cent of the kill, a reduction of three per cent in hunters but an increase of four per cent in kill compared to the previous season.

The Mississippi Flyway states had 42 per cent of the hunters and 46 per cent of the kill, representing a one per cent increase in hunters and a five per cent increase in kill over 1948.

The Atlantic Flyway states had 12 per cent of the hunters and 12 per cent of the kill. In 1948 they had 13 per cent of the hunters and ten per cent of the kill.

Preston Mathis Builds Home on West Eighth, a White Shingle Bungalow

The white shingle bungalow on West 8th was built by Preston Mathis. A few touches are yet to be added to the interior and the foundation and part of the skeleton is all that has been done to the garage yet. A small back porch will give access to the double garage which will have a north door and a window about halfway down.

The house faces north on the corner of West 8th and North Street. It is a harmony of colonial and modern in decoration and furnishings.

Woodwork is finished in a natural varnish. Mrs. Mathis takes credit for finishing it. Walls in the 15x24-foot living-dining room are papered in a soft, pale green as is the ceiling. The three windows in the room are covered by Venetian blinds and nylon draperies.

Modern-style overstuffed chair and couch are rose beige. A platform rocker is covered in a bright floral print picking out all the colors Mrs. Mathis is emphasizing in the room—rose, yellow, green and brown.

Dining Area

The dining area is at the east end of the room. In the center of the wall is the dark gate-leg table after the Sheraton style, which seats 12 when extended.

A small colonial style shelf rack holds part of Mrs. Mathis' cup collection on one side of the table. Other china pieces are in a cabinet on the south side of the dining table. They include an old platter which belonged to her grandmother and a delicate Japanese tea set, among other things.

A modern desk is at the front of the room and in one corner is a carved library table. The radio is on a pie crust table which matches the coffee table. Tables at each end of the sofa match the dining table and were gifts.

Green shaded lamps with white bases are on each of these. The ceiling fixture is crystal-like. Behind the living room is a 4x16-foot hall, connecting the two bedrooms. It is papered in a soft green with a brighter green leaf pattern.

Linen Closet

A linen closet with shelves above and drawers below is in gives illumination for applying makeup. Cabinets are painted white. A light will be placed above the sink the matching kitchen ceiling fixture.

The sink is double. In one of the upper cabinets, Mrs. Mathis keeps her best pottery and her crystal. Dishes are in the other top shelves and groceries and utensils are placed below.

At the back of the room space has been left for an automatic washing machine. Towel racks are nearby.

The Mathises moved in their house June 5. He built the house. They were assisted by Irvin Scarbrough in drawing the plans. Scarbrough built the kitchen cabinets and helped Mathis when he got in a tight spot with the rest of the construction.

Paul's Prevision Of Approaching Death

I charge thee therefore before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and the dead at his appearing and his kingdom; Preach the word: be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all long suffering and doctrine. For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears; And they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned into fables. But watch thou in all things, endure afflictions, do the work of an evangelist, make full proof of thy ministry. For I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand. I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith; Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing. 11 Timothy 4:1-8.

The Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Cockrell and children left Monday for a vacation trip to Savannah, Ga. They will be gone two weeks. The Rev. E. C. Rainey of Lubbock will preach Sunday at the Methodist church.

The weeks of June 26-July 15 are camp weeks for members of all the Baptist churches in this district. The Rev. T. M. Gillham, pastor of the First Baptist church and L. W. Dalby took 24 junior boys for last week to the Plains Baptist Assembly grounds near Floydada for the camp program. Hot July days bring salads to the fore as a prime mealtime favorite. Desserts are a close second, crowding the favorites any season of the year. Mrs. Ralph Welch has a recipe for a Summer Salad that is most popular with her family during these hot days. Ingredients are:

1 can tomato soup sufficient water to make 2 cups liquid.

1 package of lemon gelatin
1 1-2 cups chopped celery
1 tablespoon minced onion.
3 tablespoons chopped green pepper
3-4 cup American cheese, grated

Heat tomato soup and add water and gelatin. Place in refrigerator until partially congealed. Add remaining ingredients and pour into molds to finish setting. Serve on lettuce leaf with mayonnaise.

Mrs. Duke Travis lists Poinsettia Cake as her favorite recipe. It includes:

3 cups cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1-2 teaspoon salt
3-4 cup shortening
1 3-4 cups sugar
3 eggs, unbeaten
1 1-4 cups sweetmilk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour once, measure and add baking powder and salt. Sift together three times. Cream shortening. Add sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. Add one egg at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Add flour alternately with milk. Beat until smooth each time. Add vanilla. Bake in layers in a 300 degree oven until done.

Mrs. Travis recommends using your favorite frosting on this cake. The type she uses calls for.

Orange juice
Mix small amounts of butter and whipping cream with sugar. Add enough orange juice for spreading consistency.

Vegetable Salad is a frequent item on the summer menu at the Weldon Rogerses. To make it, Mrs. Rogers uses:

1 envelop unflavored gelatin
1-4 cup cold water
1 cup hot water
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1-4 cup vinegar
1 large carrot
1 small onion
1-3 medium cucumber
2 stalks celery
1-4 green pepper

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add hot water, sugar, salt, lemon juice and vinegar. Stir until clear, then place in refrigerator. Slice vegetables, then mix into gelatin when it becomes sirup-like. Pour into mold. Chill until firm. Turn out on a platter and garnish with salad greens.

Mrs. Ola McMahon has a recipe for Buttermilk Pie, an inexpensive lemon pie. Recipe includes:

2 egg yolks, lightly beaten
1 cup sugar, added slowly
2 tablespoons melted butter
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup buttermilk
1 tablespoon lemon extract
Mix together and pour into baked pie shell. Top with meringue made from egg whites and bake.

Pineapple Cake is a top dessert with Mrs. Carl Clark and her family. Ingredients are:

2 cups flour
2 1-2 teaspoons baking powder
3-4 teaspoons salt
1-2 cup shortening
1 1-4 cups sugar
3-4 cups sweetmilk
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 egg whites

Mix ingredients together in the customary manner and bake in two layers. For icing Mrs. Clark uses:

1-4 cup sugar
3 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
2 egg yolks
1 cup grated pineapple

Cook sugar, flour, milk and egg yolks until thick, then add pineapple. Place between layers and on top and sides of cake.

Mrs. H. E. McClain recommends her Imperial Sunshine Cake because it is cheaply and easily made and may be used with or without icing. Ingredients are:

1 1-2 cups sugar
1-2 cup water
6 eggs beaten separately
1-2 teaspoon salt
1 cup cake flour
3-4 teaspoon cream of tartar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Boil sugar and water until a thread is formed as it drops off spoon. Pour hot sirup in a fine stream over beaten whites to which salt has been added. Beat until cool, then add well-beaten egg yolks. Sift flour and measure. Add cream of tartar and sift three times. Fold very carefully into egg mixture and add vanilla extract. Pour into an ungreased tube pan and bake 50 to 60 minutes in a moderate oven, 325 to 350 degrees. Invert to cool.

Mrs. Jake Webb has the requirements for a gracious gesture on a hot summer day when friends come to call. She serves Date Sticks with cold drinks. Mrs. Webb also has another recommendation for these—they are easily made and keep indefinitely in the ice box. Ingredients are:

1 package dates
1 cup sugar
1 cup nuts
1 1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
1 teaspoon baking powder
pinch salt

Whip eggs and add sugar, whipping together. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together and add to eggs and sugar. Combine with vanilla, nuts and dates. Bake at 350 degrees in a 10-inch square pan. Ice while hot with a mixture of powdered sugar. Cut in sticks.
